c Or, like a tooth.

5 The one rocke stretched from þ North towarde Michmash, and the other was from the South toward Gibeah.

6 And Jonathan sayde to the pong man that bare his armour, Come, and let vs goe ouer vnto the garison of these [d] vnciscumcised: it may be that the Lord will worke with vs: for it is [e] not hard to the Lord [f] to saue with many, or with few.

b To wit, the Philistims.

e Or, none can let the Lord.

f 2. Chron. 14. 11.

7 And he that bare his armour, said vnto him, Doe all that is in thine heart: go where it pleaseth thee: beholde, [g] I am with thee as thine heart desireth.

g I will followe thee whither so euer thou goest.

8 Then said Jonathan, Beholde, we goe ouer vnto those men, and will shew our selues vnto them.

9 [h] If they say on this wise to vs, Tarie vntil we come to you, then we will stand still in our place, and not go vp to them.

h This he spake by the Spirit of prophecie, forasmuch as hereby God gaue him assurance of the victorie. 1. Mac. 4. 30.

10 But if they say, Come vp vnto vs, then we will goe vp: for [i] the Lord hath deliuered them into our hand: and this shal be a signe vnto vs.

11 So they both shewed them selues vnto the garison of the Philistims: and the Philistims said, Beholde, the Ebrewes come out of the [k] holes wherein they had hid them selues.

k Thus they spake contemptuously, and by derision.

12 And the men of the garison answered Jonathan, and his armour bearer, and saide, Come vp to vs: for we will shewe you a thing. Then Jonathan said vnto his armour bearer, Come vp after me: for the Lorde hath deliuered them into the hand of Israel.

13 So Jonathan went vp vpon [l] his handes and vpon his feete, and his armour bearer after him: and some fell before Jonathan, and his armour bearer slewe others after him.

l That is, he crept vp, or went vp with al haste.

14 So his first slaughter which Jonathan & his armour bearer made, was about twentie men, as it were within halfe an acre of land which two oxen plowe.

g The second was when they slewe one another, and the third when the Israelites chased them.

15 And there was a feare in the hoste, and in the fielde, and among all the people: the garison also, and they that went out to spoyle, were afraide them selues: and the earth [h] trembled: for it was stricken with feare by God.

h In that the insensible creatures tremble for feare of Gods iudgemẽt, it declareth how terrible his vengeance shalbe against his enemies.

16 ¶ Then the watchmen of Saul in Gibeah of Beniamin saw: and beholde, the multitude was discomfited, and smitten as they went.

17 Therefore saide Saul vnto the people that were with him, Search nowe, and see, who is gone from vs. And when they had nombred, beholde, Jonathan and his armour bearer were not there.

18 And Saul said vnto Ahiah, Bring hither the Arke of God (for the Arke of God was at that time with the children of Israel)

19 ¶ And while Saul talked vnto þ priest, the noyse, that was in the hoste of the Philistims, spred farther abroade, and encreased: therefore Saul said vnto the Priest, i Let the Ephod alone: for I haue no leasure nowe to aske counsel of God, Nomb. 27.21. Iud.7.21,22. 2.chro.20.23.

Priest, i Withdrawe thine hand.

20 And Saul was assembled with all the people that were with him, & they came to the battel: and behold, * euery mans sword was against his fellow, and there was a very great discomfiture.

21 Moreouer, the Ebrewes that were with the Philistims before time, and were come with them into al partes of the hoste, euen they also turned to be with the k Israelites that were with Saul and Ionathan.

k Though before for feare of the Philistims they declared themselues as enemies to their brethren.

22 Also all the men of Israel which had hid themselues in mount Ephraim, when they heard that the Philistims were fledde, they followed after them in the battel.

23 And so the Lord saued Israel that day: and the battell continued vnto Bethauen.

24 ¶ And at that time the men of Israel were pressed with hunger: for Saul charged the people with an othe, saying, l Cursed be the man that eateth " foode till night, that I may be auenged of mine enemies: so none of the people tasted any sustenance.

l Such was his hypocrisie and arrogancie, that he thought to attribute to his policie & which God had giuen by the hand of Ionathan.

" Ebr.bread.

25 And all they of ꝑ land came to a wood, where hony lay vpon the ground.

26 And the people came into the wood, and beholde, the hony dropped, and no man moued his hand to his mouth: for the people feared the m othe.

m That is, the punishment, if they brake their othe.

27 But Ionathan heard not when his father charged the people with the oth: wherfore he put forth the end of the rod that was in his hand, and dipt it in an hony combe, and put his hande to his mouth, and his n eyes receiued sight.

n Which were dimme before for wearines and hunger.

28 Then answered one of the people, and sayde, Thy father made the people to sweare, saying, Cursed be the man that eateth sustenance this day: and the people were * faint.

* Or, wearie.

29 Then said Ionathan, My father hath troubled the lande: se now how mine eyes are made cleare, because I haue tasted a litle of this hony:

o By making this cruel lawe.

30 How much more, if the people had eaten to day of the spoyle of their enemies which they founde? for had there not bene nowe a greater slaughter among the Philistims?

31 ¶ And they smote the Philistims that day, from Michmash to Aialon: and the people were exceeding faint.

32 So the people turned to the spoyle, & toke shéepe, and oxen, and calues, & slew them on the ground, and the people did eate them * with the blood.

Leuit.7.26.& 19. 26.deut.12,16.

33 Then men told Saul, saying, Beholde, the people sinne against ꝑ Lorde, in that they eate with the blood. And he said, Ye haue trespassed: prouide a great stone vnto me this day.

p That & blood of the beastes & shalbe slaine, may be pressed out vpon it.

34 Againe Saul said, Go abroad among the people, & bid them bring me euery man his ore, and euery man his shéepe, and slay them here, and eate and sinne not against the Lord in eating with the blood. And the people brought euery man his ore in his hand that night, and slewe them there.

35 Then Saul made an altar vnto the Lord, & that q was the first altar that he made vnto the Lord.

q Or, of that sort began he to build an altar.

36 ¶ And Saul said, Let vs goe down after the Philistims by night, and spoile them vntil the morning shine, and let vs not leaue a man of them. And they said, Doe whatsoeuer thou thinkest best. Then said the Priest, Let vs draw néere hither vnto God.

9 To aske counsel of him.

37 So Saul asked of God, saying, Shal I goe downe after the Philistims? wilt thou deliuer them into the hands of Israel? But he answered him not at that time.

38 ¶ And Saul saide, * All ye " chiefe of the people, come ye hither, and knowe, and sée by whom this sinne is done this day.

39 For as the Lorde liueth, which saueth Israel, though it be done by Ionathan my sonne, he shall die the death. But none of all the people answered him.

40 Then he said vnto al Israel, Be ye on one side, and I and Ionathan my sonne will be on the other side. And the people said vnto Saul, Doe what thou thinkest best.

41 Then Saul said vnto the Lord God of Israel, Giue r a perfit lot. And Ionathā and Saul were taken, but the people escaped.

r Cause the lot to fall on him & hath broken the oth: but he doth not consider his presumption in commanding the same othe.

42 And Saul said, Cast lot betwéene me and Ionathan my sonne. And Ionathā was taken.

43 Then Saul said to Ionathan, Tel me what thou hast done. And Ionathan tolde him, and said, I tasted a litle hony with the ende of the rodde, that was in mine hand, and loe, I must die.

44 Againe Saul answered, God doe so and more also, vnles thou die the death, Ionathan.

45 And the people said vnto Saul, s Shal Ionathan die, who hath so nought ly deliuered Israel? God forbid. As the Lord liueth, there shall not one heare of his head fal to the ground: for he hath wrought with God this day. So the people deliuered Ionathan that he died not.

s The people thought it their duetie to rescue him, who of ignorance had but broken a rashe law, & by whom they had receiued so great a benefite.

46 Then Saul came vp from the Philistims: and the Philistims went to their owne place.

47 ¶ So Saul held the kingdome ouer Israel, and fought against al his enemies on euery side, against Moab, & against the childre of Ammon, & against Edom, and against the kings of Zobah, and against the Philistims: and whither soeuer he went, he * handled them as wicked men.

* Or, ouercame them.

48 He gathered also an hoste and smote t Amalek, & deliuered Israel out of the hands of them that spoyled them.

t As the Lorde had cōmanded, Deut.25.17.

49 Now the sonnes of Saul were Ionathan, " and Ishui, and Malchishua: and the names of his two daughters, the elder elder was called Merab, and the ponger was named x Michal.

x Which was the wife of Dauid, Cha. 18.27.

50 And the name of Hauls wife was Ahinoam the daughter of Ahimaas: and the name of his chiefe captaine was y Abner the sonne of Ner, Hauls vncle.

y Whom Ioab the captaine of Dauid slew, 2.Sam.3.27.

51 And Kish was Hauls father: and Ner the father of Abner was the sonne of Abiel.

52 And there was soze warre against the Philistims all the dapes of Saul: and z whomsoeuer Saul sawe to be a strong man, and meete foz the warre, he tooke him vnto him.

z As Samuel had forewarned, Chap. 8.11.

CHAP. XV.

3 Saul is commanded to slaye Amalek, 9 He spareth Agag and the best thinges. 19 Samuel reproueth him. 28 Saul is reiected of the Lord, and his kingdome giuen to another. 33 Samuel heweth Agag in pieces.

1 AFterwarde Samuel sayde vnto Saul, * The Lord sent me to anoint thee King ouer his people, ouer Israel: nowe therefoze a obey the vopce of the wozdes of the Lord.

Chap.9.16.

a Because he hath preferred thee to this honour, thou are bound to obey him.

2 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, I remẽber what Amalek did to Israel, * howe they laid waite foz them in the way, as they came vp from Egypt.

Exod.17.14. numb.24.20.

3 Now therefore goe, and smite Amalek, and destroy pe all that pertemeth vnto them, & haue no compassion on them, but b slay both man and woman, both infant & suckling, both oxe, and sheepe, both camel, and asse.

b That this might be an example of Gods vẽgeace against them that deale cruelly with his people.

4 And Saul assembled the people, and c nombzed the in Telaim, two hundzeth thousand footmen, and ten thousande men of Iudah.

Or, knewe their number by the lambes, which they brought.

5 And Saul came to a citie of Amalek, d and set watch at the riuer.

Or, sought in the valley.

6 And Saul said vnto the e Kenites, Go, depart, & get you downe from among the Amalekites, lest I destroy you with them: foz ye shewed d mercie to all the children of Israel, when they came vp from Egypt: and the Kenites departed from among the Amalekites.

c Which were the posteritie of Iethro Moses father in law.

d For Iethro came to visite them, and gaue them good cõsel, Exod. 18.19.

7 So Saul smote the Amalekites from Hauilah as thou cõmest to Shur, that is before Egypt,

8 And tooke Agag the King of the Amalekites aliue, and destroyed all the people with the edge of the swoꝛd.

9 But Saul & the people spared Agag, & the better sheepe, and the oxen, and the fat beastes, and the lambes, and all that was good, and they would not destroy them: but euery thing that was vile & nought worth, that they destroyed.

10 ¶ Then came the wozde of the Lord vnto Samuel, saying,

11 Ie e repenteth me that I haue made Saul King: foz he is turned from me, and hath not performed my commandements. And Samuel was moued, & cryed vnto the Lord all night.

e God in his eternall counsell neuer changeth nor repenteth, as verse 29 though he seemeth to vs to repent, when any thing goeth contrarie to his temporal election.

12 And when Samuel arose early to meet Saul in the morning, one told Samuel, saying, Saul is gone to Carmel: and behold, he hath made him there a place, from whence he returned, and departed, and is gone downe to Gilgal.

13 ¶ Then Samuel came to Saul, and Saul saide vnto him, Blessed be thou of the Lord, I haue fulfilled the f commandement of the Lord.

f This is the nature of hipocrits to be impudent against y truth, to condemne others, and iustifie themselues.

14 But Samuel saide, What meaneth then the bleating of the sheepe in mine eares, and the lowing of the oxen which I heare?

15 And Saul answered, They haue brought them from the Amalekites: foz the people spared the best of the sheepe, and of the oxen to sacrifice them vnto the Lozde thy God, & the remnant haue we destroyed.

16 Against Samuel saide to Saul, Let me tell thee what the Lord hath sayde to me this night. And he sayde vnto him, Say on.

17 Then Samuel saide, When thou wast g litle in thine owne sight, wast thou not made the head of the tribes of Israel? foz the Lozde anointed thee King ouer Israel.

g Meaning, of base condition, as Chap. 9.21.

18 And the Lord sent thee on a iourney, & said, Goe, and destroy those sinners the Amalekites, and fight against them, vntill thou destroy them.

19 Now wherefoze hast thou not obeyed the vopce of the Lozde, but hast turned to the pray, and hast done wickedly in the sight of the Lozde?

20 And Saul saide vnto Samuel, Yea, I h haue obeyed the vopce of the Lord, and haue gone the way which the Lord sent me, and haue brought Agag the King of Amalek, and haue destroyed the Amalekites.

h He standeth most impudently in his owne defence both against God and his owne conscience.

21 But the people tooke of the spoyle, sheepe, and oxen, and the chiefest of the thinges which shoulde haue beene destroyed, to offer vnto the Lozde thy God in Gilgal.

22 And Samuel said, Hath the Lozde as great pleasure in burnt offrings and sacrifices, as when the vopce of the Lozde is obeyed? beholde, * to obeye is better then sacrifice, & to hearken is better then the fatte of rammes.

Eccles.4.17. hose. 6.6, 7. mat. 9.13. & 12.7.

23 Foz i rebellion is as the sinne of witchcraft, and transgression is wickednesse and idolatrie. Because thou hast cast away the wozde of the Lord, therefoze he hath cast away thee from being king.

i God hateth nothing more then the disobedience of his cõmandement, though the intent seeme neuer so good to man.

24 Then Saul said vnto Samuel, I haue sinned: foz I haue transgressed the commandement of the Lozde, & thy wozdes, because I feared the people, and obeyed their vopce.

25 Now therefoze, I pray thee, take away my k sinne, and turne againe with me, that I may woyshyp the Lord.

k This was not true repentance, but dissimulation, fearing the losse of his kingdome.

26 But Samuel saide vnto Saul, I will not returne with thee: foz thou hast cast away the wozd of the Lozde, & the Lozde hath cast away thee, that thou shalt not be king ouer Israel.

27 And as Samuel turned himselfe to go go awap, he caught the lap of his coate, and it rent.

28 Then Samuel said vnto him, The Lord hath rent the kingdome of Israel from thee this dap, and hath giuen it to thy l nepghbour, that is better then thou.

29 For in deede the m strength of Israel will not lye nor repent: for he is not a man that he should repent.

30 Then he saide, I haue sinned: but honour me, I pray thee, before the Elders of my people, and before Israel, and turne againe with mee, that I may worship the Lord thy God.

31 ¶ So Samuel turned againe, & followed Saul: & Saul worshipped the Lord.

32 Then said Samuel, Bring ye hyther to me Agag the King of the Amalekites: and Agag came vnto him n pleasantly, and Agag saide, Truely the o bitternes of death is passed.

33 And Samuel saide, p As thy sworde hath made women childles, so shall thy mother be childeles among other women. And Samuel hewed Agag in pieces before the Lord in Gilgal.

34 ¶ So Samuel departed to q Ramah, and Saul went vp to his house to Gibeah of Saul.

35 And Samuel came no more to r see Saul vntill the dap of his death: but Samuel mourned for Saul, & the Lord s repented that he made Saul King ouer Israel.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Samuel is reproued of God, and is sent to anoint Dauid. 7 God regardeth the heart. 13 The spirite of the Lord commeth vpon Dauid. 14. The wicked spirit is sent vpon Saul. 19 Saul sendeth for Dauid.

1 THe Lorde then saide vnto Samuel, Howe long wilt thou mourne for Saul, a seeing I haue cast him away frō reigning ouer Israel? fill thine horne with oyle and come, I will sende thee to Ishai the Bethlehemite: for I haue prouided me a King among his sonnes.

2 And Samuel said, How can I goe? for if Saul shall heare it, hee will kill mee. Then the Lorde answered, Take an heifer" with thee, and say, I am come b to do sacrifice to the Lord.

3 And call Ishai to the sacrifice, and I will shewe thee what thou shalt do, and thou shalt anoint vnto me him whome I name vnto thee.

4 So Samuel did that the Lorde bade him, and came to Beth-lehem, and the Elders of the towne were c astonied at his comming, and saide, Commest thou peaceably?

5 And he answered, Yea: I am come to do sacrifice vnto the Lord: sanctifie your selues, and come with mee to the sacrifice. And he sanctified Ishai & his sonnes, and called them to the sacrifice.

6 And when they were come, hee looked on Eliab, and saide, Surely the Lordes d Anointed is before him.

7 But the Lord said vnto Samuel, Looke not on his countenance, nor on p height of his stature, because I haue refused him: for God seeth not as man seeth: for mā looketh on the outward appearace, but the Lord beholdeth the e heart.

8 Then Ishai called Abinadab, & made him come before Samuel. And he saide, Neither hath the Lord chosen this.

9 Then Ishai made Shammah come. And he saide, Neither yet hath the Lord chosen him.

10 Againe Ishai made his seuen sonnes to come before Samuel: and Samuel saide vnto Ishai, The Lorde hath chosen none of these.

11 Finally, Samuel sayde vnto Ishai, "Are there no more children but these? And he sayde, There remaineth yet a little one behinde, that keepeth the sheepe. Then Samuel said vnto Ishai, f Sende and fet him: for we will not sit downe, till he be come hither.

12 And he sent, & brought him in: and he was ruddie, and of a good countenance, and comely visage. And the Lorde said, Arise, and anoint him: for this is he.

13 Then Samuel tooke the horne of oyle, and anointed him in the middes of his brethren. And the g Spirite of the Lorde came vpon Dauid, from that dap forward: then Samuel rose vp, and went to Ramah.

14 ¶ But the Spirit of the Lord departed from Saul, & an h euil spirite sent of the Lord vexed him.

15 And Sauls seruantes saide vnto him, Beholde nowe, the euill spirite of God vexeth thee.

16 Let our lorde therefore commaunde thy seruauntes, that are before thee, to seeke a man, that is a cunning player vpon the harpe: that when the euill spirit of God commeth vpon thee, he may play with his hande, and thou mayest be eased.

17 Saul then said vnto his seruāts, Prouide me a man, I pray you, p can play wel, and bring him to me.

18 Then answered one of his seruantes, and said, Behold, I haue seene a i sonne of Ishai, a Bethlehemite, that can play, and is strong, valiant & a man of warre and wise in matters, & a comely person, and the Lord is with him.

19 ¶ Wherefore Saul sent messengers vnto Ishai, and said, Send me Dauid thy sonne, which is with the sheepe.

20 And Ishai tooke an asse laden with bread, and a flagon of wine and a kidde, and sent them by the hand of Dauid his sonne vnto Saul.

21 And Dauid came to Saul, and k stood before him: and he loued him very well, and he was his armour bearer.

22 And Saul sent to Ishai, saying, Let Dauid nowe remaine with me: for hee hath found fauour in my sight.

23 And so whē the euil spirit of God came vpon Saul, Dauid tooke an harpe and played

CHAP. XVII.

1 The Philiſtims make warre againſt Iſrael. 10 Goliath defieth Iſrael. 17 Dauid is ſent to his brethrē. 34 The ſtrength and boldneſſe of Dauid. 47 The Lord ſaueth not by ſworde nor ſpeare. 50 Dauid killeth Goliath, and the Philiſtims flee.

1 NOw the Philiſtims gathered their armies to battel, and came together to Shochoh, which is in Iudah, & pitched betweene Shochoh and Azekah, in the coaſt of Dammim.

2 And Saul, and the men of Iſrael aſſembled, and pitched in the valley of Elah, and put themſelues in battell arap to meete the Philiſtims.

3 And the Philiſtims ſtoode on a mountaine on the one ſide, and Iſrael ſtood on a mountaine on the other ſide: ſo a valley was betweene them.

4 ¶ Then came a man betweene them a both out of the tentes of the Philiſtims, named Goliath of Gath: his height was ſixe cubites and an hand breadth,

5 And had an helmet of braſſe vpon his head, and a b brigandine vpon him: and the weight of his brigandine was fiue thouſand c ſhekels of braſſe.

6 And he had d bootes of braſſe vpon his legges, and a ſhielde of braſſe vpon his ſhoulders.

7 And the ſhaft of his ſpeare was like a weauers beame: & his ſpeare head weyed ſixe hundreth ſhekels of yron: and one bearing a ſhield went before him.

8 And he ſtoode, & cryed againſt the hoſte of Iſrael, and ſaid vnto them, Why are ye come to ſet your battel in arape? am not I a Philiſtim, and you ſeruants to Saul? chuſe you a man for you, and let him come downe to me.

9 If he be able to fight with me, and e kil me, then will we be your ſeruantes: but if I ouercome him, & kil him, then ſhal ye be our ſeruants, and ſerue vs.

10 Alſo the Philiſtim ſayde, I defie the hoſte of Iſrael this day: giue me a man, that we may fight f together.

11 When Saul and all Iſrael heard thoſe wordes of the Philiſtim, they were diſcouraged and greatly afraide.

12 ¶ Now this Dauid was the g ſonne of an Ephrathite of Beth-lehem Iudah, named Iſhai, which had eight ſonnes: and h this man was taken for an olde man in the dayes of Saul.

13 And the three eldeſt ſonnes of Iſhai went and followed Saul to the battell: and the names of his three ſonnes that went to battell, were Eliab the eldeſt, and the next Abinadab, and the thirde Shammah.

14 So Dauid was the leaſt: and the three eldeſt went after Saul.

15 Dauid alſo i went, but he returned from Saul to feed his fathers ſheepe in Beth-lehem.

16 And the Philiſtim drewe nere in the morning, and euening, and continued fourtie dayes.

17 And Iſhai ſaid vnto Dauid his ſonne, k Take now for thy brethren an Ephah of this parched corne, & theſe ten cakes, and runne to the hoſte to thy brethren.

18 Alſo carie theſe ten freſh cheeſes vnto the captaine, and looke how thy brethren fare, and receiue their l pledge.

19 (Then Saul and they, and all the men of Iſrael were in the valley of Elah, fighting with the Philiſtims)

20 ¶ So Dauid roſe vp early in the morning, and left the ſheepe with a keeper, and tooke and went as Iſhai had commanded him, & came vnto the compaſſe of the hoſte: and the hoſte went out in arap, and ſhouted in the battell.

21 For Iſrael & the Philiſtims had put themſelues in arap, armie againſt armie.

22 And Dauid left the thinges, which he bare, vnder the hands of the keeper of the m cariage, & ranne into the hoſte, & came, and aſked his brethren n how they did.

23 And as he talked with them, beholde, the man that was betweene the two armies, came vp, (whoſe name was Goliath the Philiſtim of Gath) out of the armie of the Philiſtims, & ſpake o ſuch woordes, and Dauid heard them.

24 And all the men of Iſrael, when they ſawe the man, ran away from him, and were ſore afraid.

25 For euery man of Iſrael ſaide, Haue ye not this man that cometh vp? euen to reuile Iſrael is he come vp: & to him that killeth him, wil the King giue great riches, and wil giue him his p daughter, yea, and make his fathers houſe q free in Iſrael.

26 ¶ Then Dauid ſpake to the men that ſtoode with him, and ſaide, What ſhalbe done to the man that killeth this Philiſtim, & taketh away the r ſhame from Iſrael? for who is this vncircumciſed Philiſtim, that he ſhould reuile the hoſt of the liuing God?

27 And the people anſwered him after this maner, ſaying, Thus ſhal it be done to the man that killeth him.

28 And Eliab his eldeſt brother heard when he ſpake vnto the men, and Eliab was very angrie with Dauid, and ſaid, Why cameſt thou downe hither? and vnto whom haſt thou left thoſe few ſheepe in the wildernes? I know thy pride and the malice of thine heart, that thou art come downe to ſee the battel.

29 Then Dauid ſaid, What haue I now done? Is there not a s cauſe?

30 And he departed from him into the preſence of another, & ſpake of the ſame maner, and the people anſwered him according to the former wordes.

31 ¶ And they that heard the woords which Dauid ſpake, rehearſed them before Saul, which cauſed him to be brought.

32 So Dauid ſaid to Saul, Let no mans heart heart faile him, because of him: thy seruant will goe, and fight with this Phi-listim.

33 And Saul saide to Dauid, Thou art not [k] able to goe against this Philistim to fight with him: for thou art a boy, and hee is a man of warre from his youth.

34 And Dauid answered vnto Saul, Thy seruant kept his fathers sheepe, & there came a [l] lyon, and likewise a beare, and tooke a sheepe out of the flocke,

35 And I went out after him and smote him, and tooke it out of his mouth: and when he arose against me, I caught him by the bearde, and smote him, and slue him.

36 So thy seruant slue both the lyon, and the beare: therefore this vncircumcised Philistim shalbe as one of them, seeing he hath railed on the hoste of the liuing
God.

37 ¶ Moreouer Dauid said, The Lord that deliuered me out of the pawe of the lyon, and out of the pawe of the beare, he will deliuer me out of the hande of this Philistim. Then Saul said vnto Dauid,
[m] Go, and the Lord be with thee.

38 And Saul put his rainent vpon Da-uid, and put an helmet of brasse vpon his head, and put a brigandine vpon him.

39 Then girded Dauid his sworde vpon his rayment, and [n] began to goe: for he neuer proued it: and Dauid said vnto Saul, I can not go with these: for I am not accustomed. wherefore Dauid put them off him.

40 Then tooke he his [n] staffe in his hand, and chose him fiue smooth stones out of a brooke, and put them in his shepheards bag or scrippe, and his sling was in his hande, and he drewe neere to the Philistim.

41 ¶ And the Philistim came and drewe neere vnto Dauid, & the man that bare the shield went before him.

42 Now when the Philistim looked about and saw Dauid, he disdained him:
for he was but yong, ruddie, & of a comly face.

43 And the Philistim saide vnto Dauid, am I a dog, that thou comnest to me with staues? And the Philistim [o] cursed Dauid by his gods.

44 And the Philistim sayde to Dauid, Come to mee, and I will giue thy flesh vnto the fowles of the heauen, and to the beastes of the field.

45 ¶ Then saide Dauid to the Philistim, Thou comnest to me with a sword, and with a speare, and with a shielde, but I come to thee in the name of the Lord of hostes, the God of the hoste of Israel, whom thou hast rayled vpon.

46 This [p] day shall the Lord close thee in mine hand, and I shall smite thee, and take thine head from thee, and I will giue the karkeses of the hoste of the Philistims this day vnto the fowles of the heauen, and to the beastes of the earth, that all the world may know that Israel hath a God.

47 And that all this assemblie may know, that the Lorde saueth not with sworde nor with speare (for the battell is the Lordes) and he will giue you into our handes.

48 And when the Philistim arose to come and drawe neere vnto Dauid, Dauid [q] hasted and ranne to fight against the Philistim.

49 And Dauid put his hande in his bag, and tooke out a stone, and slang it, and smote the Philistim in his forehead, that the stone sticked in his forehead, and he fell groueling to the earth.

50 So Dauid [r] ouercame the Philistim with a sling and with a stone, and smote the Philistim, and slue him, when Da-uid had no sword in his hand.

51 Then Dauid ranne, and stood vpon the Philistim, and tooke his sword & drewe it out of his sheath, and slue him, and cut off his head therewith: So when the Philistims sawe, that their champion was dead, they fled.

52 And the men of Israel and Iudah arose, and shouted, & followed after the Philistims, vntill they came to [s] valley, and vnto the gates of Ekron: and the Philistims fell downe wounded by the way of Shaaraim, euen to Gath and to Ekron.

53 And the children of Israel returned from pursuing the Philistims, & spoy-led their tents.

54 And Dauid tooke the head of the Phi-listim, and brought it to Ierusalem, and put his armour in his [t] tent.

55 ¶ When Saul sawe Dauid goe forth against the Philistim, he saide vnto Abner the captaine of his hoste, Abner, [u] whose sonne is this yong man? and Abner answered, As thy soule liueth, O king, I can not tell.

56 Then the king sayde, Enquire thou whose sonne this yong man is.

57 And when Dauid was returned from the slaughter of the Philistim, then Abner tooke him, and brought him before Saul with the head of the Philistim in his hand.

58 And Saul saide to him, Whose sonne art thou, thou yong man? And Dauid answered, I am the sonne of thy seruant Ishai the Bethlehemite.

a His affection was fully bent toward him.

2 And Saul tooke him that day, and woulde not let him returne to his fathers house.
3 Then Jonathan and Dauid made a couenant: for he loued him as his own soule.
4 And Jonathan put off the robe that was vpon him, and gaue it Dauid, and his garments, euen to his sworde, and to his bowe, and to his girdle.
5 And Dauid went out whithersoeuer Saul sent him, and behaued him selfe b wisely: so that Saul set him ouer the men of warre, and he was accepted in the sight of all the people, and also in the sight of Sauls seruants.
6 ¶ When they came againe, and Dauid returned from the slaughter of the c Philistim, the women came out of all cities of Israel, singing & dauncing to meete King Saul, with timbrels, with instruments of ioy, and with rebeckes.
7 And the women " sang by course in their play, and sayde, * Saul hath slaine his thousand, & Dauid his ten thousand.
8 Therefore Saul was exceeding wroth, and the saying displeased him, and he sayde, They haue ascribed vnto Dauid ten thousand, & to me they haue ascribed but a thousande, & what can he haue more saue the kingdome?
9 Wherefore Saul d had an eye on Da-uid from that day forward.
10 ¶ And on the morowe, the euill spirite of God came vpon Saul, and he * pro-phecied in the middes of the house: and Dauid played with his hand like as at other times, and there was a speare in Sauls hand.
11 And Saul tooke the speare, & sayde, I will smite Dauid through to the wal. But Dauid auoided twise out of his presence.
12 And Saul was afraied of Dauid, because the Lord was with him, and was departed from Saul.
13 Therefore Saul put him from him, and made him a captaine ouer a thousande, and he went f out and in before the people.
14 And Dauid behaued him selfe wisely in al his wayes: for the Lord was with him.
15 Wherefore when Saul sawe that he was very wise, he was afraied of him.
16 For all Israel & Judah loued Dauid, because he went out & in before them.
17 ¶ Then Saul said to Dauid, Beholde mine eldest daughter Merab, her I will giue thee to wife: onely be a valiant sonne vnto me, and g fight the Lordes battels: for Saul thought, Mine hand shall not be vpon him, but the hand of the Philistims shalbe vpon him.
18 And Dauid answered Saul, What am I? & what is my life, or the familie of my father in Israel, that I should be sonne in law to the King?
19 Howbeit when Merab Sauls daughter should haue bene giuen to Dauid, h she was giuen vnto Adriel a Meholathite to wife.
20 ¶ Then Michal Sauls daughter loued Dauid: and they shewed Saul, and the thing pleased him.
21 Therefore Saul sayde, I wil giue him her, that she may be a i snare to him, & that the hand of the Philistims may be against him. Wherefore Saul sayde to Dauid, Thou shalt this day be my sonne in law in the one of the twains.
22 And Saul commanded his seruants, Speake with Dauid secretly, & say, Be-holde, the king hath a fauour to thee, and all his seruants loue thee: be nowe therefore the Kings sonne in law.
23 And Sauls seruaunts spake these words in the eares of Dauid. And Da-uid sayde, k Seemeth it to you a light thing to be a Kings sonne in lawe, seeing that I am a poore man and of smal reputation?
24 And then Sauls seruants brought him word againe, saying, Such words spake Dauid.
25 And Saul said, This wise shall ye say to Dauid, The King desireth no dowrie, but an hundreth foreskinnes of the Philistims, to be auenged of the Kings enemies: for Saul thought to make Dauid fall into the hands of the Philistims.
26 And when his seruants tolde Dauid these words, it pleased Dauid wel, to be the l Kings sonne in lawe: & the dayes were not expired.
27 Afterward Dauid arose with his men, and went and slewe of the Philistims two hundreth men: & Dauid brought their foreskinnes, & m they gaue them wholy to the King that he might be the Kings sonne in lawe: therefore Saul gaue him Michal his daughter to wife.
28 Then Saul saw, and vnderstood that the Lord was with Dauid, and that Michal the daughter of Saul loued him.
29 Then Saul was more and more " afraid of Dauid, and Saul became al-way Dauids enemie.
30 And when the Princes of the Philistims went forth, at their going forth o Dauid behaued himselfe more wisely then all the seruants of Saul, so that his name was much set by.

CHAP. XIX.

2 Jonathan declareth to Dauid the wicked purpose of Saul. 11 Michal his wife saueth him. 18 Dauid commeth to Samuel. 23 The Spirit of prophecie commeth on Saul.

1 Then Saul spake to Jonathan his sonne, and to all his seruants, that they should a kil Dauid: but Jonathan Sauls sonne had a great fauour to Dauid.
2 And Jonathan tolde Dauid, saying, Saul my father goeth about to slay thee: nowe therefore, I pray thee, take heed vnto thy selfe vnto the morning, & abide in a secret place, and hide thy selfe.
3 And I wil go out, and stand by my father in the fielde where thou b art, & wil commune with my father of thee, and a Before Saul sought Dauids life secretly, but now his hypocrisie burseth forth to open crueltie.

b That I may giue thee warning what to do.

I will see what he saith, and will tel thee.
4 ¶ And Jonathan spake good of Dauid vnto Saul his father, & said vnto him, Let not the King sinne against his seruant, against Dauid: for he hath not sinned against thee, but his workes haue bene to thee verie good.
5 For he "did put his life in danger, and slew the Philistim, & the Lord wrought a great saluation for all Israel: thou sawest it, and thou reioycedst: wherfore then wilt thou sinne against innocent blood, & slay Dauid without a cause?
6 Then Saul hearkened vnto the voyce of Jonathan, and Saul c sware, As the Lord liueth, he shall not die.
7 So Jonathan called Dauid, & Jonathan shewed him all those woordes, and Jonathan brought Dauid to Saul, & he was in his presence as in times past.
8 ¶ Againe the warre began, and Dauid went out and fought with the Philistims, & slew them with a great slaughter, and they fled from him.
9 ¶ And the euill spirit of the Lord was vpon Saul, as he sate in his house hauing his speare in his hand, and Dauid d played with his hand.
10 And Saul intended to smite Dauid to the wall with the speare: but he turned aside out of Sauls presence, & he smote the speare against the wall: but Dauid fled, and escaped the same night.
11 Saul also sent messengers vnto Dauids house, to watch him, and to slay him in the morning: and Michal Dauids wife told it him, saying, If thou saue not thy selfe this night, to morow thou shalt be slaine.
12 So Michal e let Dauid downe through a windowe: and he went, and fled, and escaped.
13 Then Michal tooke an image, & layed it in the bed, and put a pillowe stuffed with goates heare vnder the head of it, and couered it with a cloth.
14 And when Saul sent messengers to take Dauid, she said, He is sicke.
15 And Saul sent the messengers againe to see Dauid, saying, Bring him to me in the f bed, that I may slay him.
16 And when the messengers were come in, behold, an image was in the bed, with a pillow of goats heare vnder the head of it.
17 And Saul saide vnto Michal, Why hast thou mocked me so, and sent away mine enemie, that he is escaped? And Michal answered Saul, He saide vnto me, Let me go, or else I will kill thee.
18 ¶ So Dauid fled, and escaped, & came to Samuel to Ramah, and told him all that Saul had done to him: and he and Samuel went and dwelt in g Naioth.
19 But one tolde Saul, saying, Behold, Dauid is at Naioth in Ramah.
20 And Saul sent messengers to take Dauid: and when they saw a company of Prophets prophecying, & Samuel standing h as appointed ouer them, the Spirit of God fell vpon the messengers of Saul, and they also prophecied.
21 And when it was tolde Saul, he sent other messengers, and they prophecied likewise: againe Saul sent the thirde messengers, and they prophecied also.
22 Then went he him selfe to Ramah, and came to a great well that is in Sechu, and he asked, and said, Where are Samuel and Dauid? and one sayde, Behold, they be at Naioth in Ramah.
23 And he i went thither, euen to Naioth in Ramah, & the Spirite of God came vpon him also, and he went prophecying until he came to Naioth in Ramah 24 And he stript off his k clothes, and he prophecied also before Samuel, and fell l downe naked all that day and all that night: therefore they say, m Is Saul also among the Prophets?

CHAP. XX.

Jonathan comforteth Dauid. 3 They renue their league. 33 Saul woulde haue killed Jonathan. 38 Jonathan aduertiseth Dauid by three arrowes, of his fathers furie.

AND Dauid a fled from Naioth in Ramah, and came and said before Jonathan, What haue I done? what is mine iniquitie? and what sinne haue I committed before thy father, that he seeketh my life?
2 And he sayde vnto him, God forbid, thou shalt not die: beholde, my father will doe nothing great nor small, but he will "shew it me: and why should my father hide this thing from me? he will not do it.
3 And Dauid sware againe and sayde, Thy father knoweth that I haue found grace in thine eyes: therefore he thinketh, Jonathan shal not know it, lest he be sorie: but in deede, as the Lord liueth, and as thy soule liueth, there is but a b steppe betweene me and death.
4 Then saide Jonathan vnto Dauid, Whatsoeuer thy soule" requireth, that I will do vnto thee.
And Dauid saide vnto Jonathan, Behold, to morowe is the c first day of the moneth, and I should sit with the King at meat: but let me go, that I may hide my selfe in the fieldes vnto the third day at euen.
6 If thy father make mention of me, then say, Dauid asked leaue of me, that he might go to Beth-lehem to his own citie: for there is a d peerely sacrifice for all that familie.
7 And if he say thus, It is well, thy seruant shall haue peace: but if he be angrie, be sure that wickednesse is concluded of him.
8 So shalt thou shewe mercie vnto thy seruant: * for thou hast ioyned thy seruant into a couenant of the Lord with thee, and if there be in me iniquitie, slay thou me: for why shouldest thou bring me to thy father?
9 ¶ And Jonathan answered, God kepe that that from thée: for if I knew that wickednes were [c] cõcluded of my father to come vpõ thée, would not I tel it thée?

10 Then said Dauid to Ionathan, Who shall tell me? howe shall I knowe, if thy father answere thée cruelly?

11 And Ionathan said to Dauid, Come and let vs goe out into the fielde: and they twaine went out into the field.

12 Then Ionathan said to Dauid, O Lord God of Israel, when I haue groped my fathers mind to morowe at this time, or with him this thrée dayes, and if it be wel with Dauid, and I then send not vnto thée, and shewe it thée, 13 The Lorde do so and much more vnto Ionathan: but if my father haue mind to doe thee euil, I will shewe thee also, and send thee awaye, that thou maist go in peace: and the Lord be with thee as he hath bene with my father.

14 Likewise I require not whiles I liue: for I doubt not but thou wilt shewe me the mercie of the Lord, [h] that I die not.

15 But I require that thou cut not off thy mercie from mine house for euer: no, not when the Lorde hath destroyed the enemies of Dauid, euery one from the earth.

16 So Ionathan made a bond with the house of Dauid, saying, Let the Lord require it at the hands of Dauids enemies.

17 And again Ionathan sware vnto Dauid, because he loued him (for he loued him as his owne soule)

18 Then said Ionathan to him, To morowe is the first day of the moneth: and thou shalt be [i] looked for, for thy place shalbe emptie.

19 Therefore thou shalt hide thy self three dayes, then thou shalt go downe quickly and come to the place where thou diddest hide thy selfe, when this matter was in hand, and shalt remaine by the stone "Ezel.

20 And I wil shoote three arrowes on the side thereof, as though I shot at a marke.

21 And after I wil send a boy, saying, Go, seeke the arrowes. If I say vnto the boy, Hee, the arrowes are on this side thee, bring them, and come thou: for it is "wel with thee and no hurt, as the Lord liueth.

22 But if I say thus vnto the boy, Behold, the arrowes are beyond thee, goe thy way: for the [i] Lorde hath sent thee away.

23 As touching the thing which thou and I haue spoken of, beholde, the Lord be betweene thee and me for euer.

24 ¶ So Dauid hid him selfe in the fielde: and when the first day of the moneth came, the king sate to eate meate.

25 And the king sate, as at other times vpon his seate, euen vpon his seate by the wall: and Ionathan arose, & Abner sate by Sauls side, but Dauids place was emptie.

26 And Saul spake nothing that day: for he thought, Some thing hath befallen him, though he were [k] cleane, or els because he was not purified.

27 But on the morowe which was the second day of the moneth, Dauids place was emptie againe: and Saul said vnto Ionathan his sonne, Wherefore commeth not the sonne of [l] Ishai to meate, neither yesterday nor to day?

28 And Ionathan answered vnto Saul, Dauid required of me, that he might goe to Beth-lehem, 29 For he said, Let me go, I pray thee: for our familie offereth [m] a sacrifice in the citie, and my brother hath sent for me: therefore now if I haue found fauour in thine eyes, let me go, I pray thee, and see my [n] brethren: this is the cause that he commeth not vnto the kings table.

30 Then was Saul angrie with Ionathan, & said vnto him, Thou [o] sonne of the wicked rebellious woman, doe not I knowe, that thou hast chosen the sonne of Ishai to thy confusion and to the confusion and shame of thy mother?

31 For as long as the sonne of Ishai liueth vpon the earth, thou shalt not be stablished, nor thy kingdome: wherefore now send and fet him vnto me, for he "shall surely die.

32 And Ionathan answered vnto Saul his father, and said vnto him, Wherefore shall he [p] die? what hath he done?

33 And Saul cast a speare at him to hit him, whereby Jonathan knew, that it was determined of his father to slay Dauid.

34 ¶ So Jonathan arose from the table in a great anger, and did eate no meate the second day of the moneth: for he was sorie for Dauid, and because his father had reuiled him.

35 On the next morning therefore Jonathan went out into the fielde, [q] at the time appointed with Dauid, and a litle boy with him.

36 And he said vnto his boy, Runne now, seeke the arrowes which I shoote, and as the boy ranne, he shot an arrowe beyond him.

37 And when the boy was come to the place where the arrowe was that Jonathan had shot, Jonathan cried after the boy, and said, Is not the arrow beyond thee?

38 And Jonathan cryed after the boy, [r] Make speed, haste & stand not still: and Jonathans boy gathered vp the arrowes, and came to his master.

39 But the boy knew nothing: onely Jonathan and Dauid knewe the matter.

40 Then Jonathan gaue his "bow and arrowes vnto the boy that was with him, and said vnto him, Go, carie them into the citie.

41 ¶ Assone as the boy was gone, Dauid arose out of a place that was towarde the [s] South, and fell on his face to the ground, & bowed him selfe three times: and they kissed one another, and wept both

CHAP. XXI.

1 Dauid fleeth to Nob to Ahimelech the Priest. 6 He getteth of him the shewbread to satisfie his hunger. 7 Doeg Sauls seruant was present. 10 Dauid fleeth to King Achish. 13 And there faineth himselfe mad.

1 THen came Dauid to [a] Nob, to Ahimelech the Priest, and Ahimelech was astonied at the meeting of Dauid, and said vnto him, Why art thou alone, and no man with thee?

2 And Dauid sayde to Ahimelech the Priest, The [b] king hath commanded me a certaine thing, and hath said vnto me, Let no man knowe whereabout I send thee, and what I haue commanded thee: & I haue appointed my seruants to such and such places.

3 Now therefore if thou hast ought vnder thine hand, giue me fiue cakes of bread, or what commeth to hand.

4 And the Priest answered Dauid, and said, There is no common bread vnder mine hand, but here is [a] halowed bread, if the young men haue kept themselues, at least from [c] women.

5 Dauid then answered the Priest, and said vnto him, Certeinly women haue bene separate from vs these two or three dayes since I came out: and the [d] vessels of the yong men were holie, though the way were prophane, and how much more then shal euery one [e] be sanctified this day in the vessell?

6 So the Priest gaue him halowed bread: for there was no bread there, saue the shewe bread that was taken from before the Lord, to put hote bread there, the day that it was taken away.

7 (And there was the same day one of the seruants of Saul [f] abiding before the Lord, named Doeg the Edomite, the [g] chiefest of Sauls heardmen)

8 And Dauid sayd vnto Ahimelech, Is there not here vnder thine hand a speare or a sword? for I haue neither brought my sword nor mine harnes with me, because the kings businesse required haste.

9 And the Priest said, The sword of Goliath the Philistim, whome thou slewest in the [*] valley of Elah, beholde, it is wrapt in a cloth behinde the [i] Ephod: if thou wilt take that to thee, take it: for there is none other saue that here: And Dauid sayde, There is none to that, giue it me.

1 Dauid hideth himselfe in a caue. 3 Mary that were in trouble came vnto him. 9 Doeg accuseth Ahimelech. 18 Saul causeth the Priests to be slaine. 20 Abiathar escapeth.

1 DAuid therefore departed thence, and saued him selfe in the caue [a] of Adullam: and when his brethren and all his fathers house heard it, they went downe thither to him.

2 And there gathered vnto him all men that were in trouble and all men that were in det, and all those that were vexed in minde, and he was their [*] prince, and there were with him about foure hundreth men.

3 ¶ And Dauid went thence to Mizpeh in [b] Moab, and said vnto the king of Moab, I pray thee, let my father and my mother come and abide with you, till I know what God will doe for me.

4 And he [c] brought them before the king of Moab, and they dwelt with him all the while that Dauid was in [d] the hold.

5 And the Prophet Gad said vnto Dauid, Abide not in the holde, but depart and goe into the land of Judah. Then Dauid departed & came into the forest of Hareth.

6 ¶ And Saul heard that Dauid was [e] discouered, and the men that were with him, and Saul remained in Gibeah vnder a tree in Ramah, hauing his speare in his hand, and all his seruants stoode about him.

7 And Saul said vnto his seruants that stood about him, Heare now, ye sonnes [f] of Jemini, will the sonne of Jshai giue euery one of you fieldes & vineyards: will he make you all captaines ouer thousands, and captaines ouer hundreths:

8 That all ye haue conspired against me, and there is none that telleth me that my sonne hath made a couenant with the sonne of Jshai: and there is none of you that is sorie for me, or sheweth me, that my sonne hath stirred vp my seruant to lie in waite against me, as appeareth this day.

9 ¶ Then answered Doeg the Edomite (who was appointed ouer þ seruants of Saul) and sayde, I sawe the sonne of Ishai when he came to Nob, to Ahimelech the sonne of Ahitub, 10 Who asked counsel of þ Lord for him and gaue him vitails, and he gaue him also þ sworde of Goliath the Philistim.
11 Then the king sent to call Ahimelech the Priest, the sonne of Ahitub, and all his fathers house, to wit, [h] the Priestes that were in Nob: and they came al to the king.
12 And Saul said, Heare now thou sonne of Ahitub. And he answered, Here I am, my lorde.
13 Then Saul said vnto him, Why haue ye conspired against me, thou and the sonne of Ishai, in that thou hast giuen him vitaile, and a sword, and hast asked counsell of God for him, that he should rise against me, and lie in waite as appeareth this day?
14 ¶ And Ahimelech answered the king, and said, Who is so faithfull among all thy seruants as Dauid, being also the kings sonne in lawe, and goeth at thy commandement, and is honourable in thine house?
15 [i] Haue I this day first begun to aske counsel of God for him? be it farre from me, let not the king impute any thing vnto his seruant, nor to all the house of my father: for thy seruant knewe nothing of all this, lesse or more.
16 Then the king said, Thou shalt surely die, Ahimelech, thou, and al thy fathers house.
17 And the king said vnto the [l] sergeants that stoode about him, Turne, and slay the Priestes of the Lord, because their hande also is with Dauid, and because they knewe when he fled, and shewed it not vnto me. But the seruants of the king [k] would not moue their hands to fall vpon the Priestes of the Lord.
18 Then the king saide to Doeg, Turne thou and fall vpon the Priestes. And Doeg the Edomite turned, & ran vpon the Priestes, and slewe that same day foure score and fiue persons that did weare a linen Ephod.
19 Also Nob the citie of þ Priests smote he with the edge of the sword, both mã and woman, both child and suckeling, both ore and asse, and sheepe with the edge of the sword.
20 But one of the sonnes of Ahimelech the sonne of Ahitub (whose name was Abiathar) [l] escaped & fled after Dauid.
21 And Abiathar shewed Dauid, that Saul had slaine the Lordes Priestes.
22 And Dauid sayde vnto Abiathar, I knewe it the same day, when Doeg the Edomite was there, that he would tell Saul. I am the cause of the death of all the persons of thy fathers house.
23 Abide thou by me, & feare not: for [m] he that seeketh my life, shal seeke thy life also: for with me thou shalt be in safegard.

CHAP. XXIII.

Dauid chaseth the Philistims from Keilah. 13 Dauid departeth from Keilah, and remaineth in the wildernes of Ziph. 16 Ionathan comforteth Dauid. 28 Sauls enterprise is broken in pursuing Dauid.

1 THen they told Dauid, saying, Behold, the Philistims fight against [a] Keilah, and spoile the barnes.
2 Therefore Dauid asked counsel of the Lord, saying, Shal I go and smite these Philistims? And the Lorde answered Dauid, Goe and smite the Philistims, and saue Keilah.
3 And Dauids men said vnto him, See, we be afraied here in [b] Judah, howe much more if we come to Keilah against the hoste of the Philistims?
4 Then Dauid asked counsel of the Lord againe. And the Lorde answered him, and said, Arise, go downe to Keilah: for I wil deliuer the Philistims into thine hand.
5 ¶ So Dauid and his men went to Keilah, and fought with the Philistims, and brought away their cattell, and smote them with a great slaughter: thus Dauid saued the inhabitants of Keilah.
6 (And when Abiathar the sonne of Ahimelech [c] fled to Dauid to Keilah, he brought an [c] Ephod [c] with him)
7 ¶ And it was tolde Saul that Dauid was come to Keilah, & Saul said, God hath deliuered him into mine hand: for he is shut in, seeing he is come into a citie that hath gates and barres.
8 Then Saul called all the people together to warre, for to go downe to Keilah, and to beseige Dauid and his men.
9 ¶ And Dauid hauing knowledge that Saul imagined mischiefe against him, said to Abiathar the Priest, [d] Bring the Ephod.
10 Then said Dauid, O Lord God of Israel, thy seruant hath heard, that Saul is about to come to Keilah to destroy the citie for my sake.
11 Wil the lords of Keilah deliuer me vp into his hande? and will Saul come downe, as thy seruant hath heard? O Lorde God of Israel, I beseech thee, tell thy seruant. And the Lord said, He will come downe.
12 Then said Dauid, Will the [e] lordes of Keilah deliuer me vp, and the men that are with mee, into the hande of Saul? And the Lorde saide, They will deliuer thee vp.
13 Then Dauid and his men, which were about sixe hundreth, arose, and departed out of Keilah, and went [f] whither they could. And it was told Saul, that Dauid was fled from Keilah, & he left off his iourney.
14 And Dauid abode in the wildernes in [g] holdes, and remained in a mountaine in the wildernesse of Ziph. And Saul sought him euery day, but God [h] deliuered him not into his hand.

15 And Dauid saw that Saul was come out for to seeke his life: and Dauid was in the wildernes of Ziph in the wood.
16 ¶ And Jonathan Sauls sonne arose and went to Dauid into the wood, and comforted "him in God, 17 And said vnto him, Feare not: for the hande of Saul my father shal not finde thee, and thou shalt be f King ouer Israel, and I shall be next vnto thee: and also Saul my father knoweth it.
18 So they twaine made a couenant before the Lorde: and Dauid did remaine in the wood: but Jonathan went to his house.
19 ¶ Then came vp the Ziphims to Saul to Gibeah, saying, Doeth not Dauid hide him selfe by vs in holds, in the wood in the hill of Hachilah, which is on the right side [g] of Jeshimon?
20 Now therefore O King, come downe according to all that thine heart can desire, and our part shall be to deliuer him into the Kings handes.
21 Then Saul said, h Be ye blessed of the Lord: for ye haue had compassion on me.
22 Go, I pray you, and prepare yet better: knowe and see his place where he "haunteth, & who hath seene him there: for it is sayde to me, He is subtile, and craftie.
23 See therefore, and knowe all the secret places where he hideth him selfe, and come ye againe to me with the certainties, and I will go with you: and if he be in the [h] lande, I will search him out throughout all the thousands of Iudah.
24 Then they arose & went to Ziph before Saul, but Dauid and his men were in the wildernes of Maon, in the plaine on the right hand of Jeshimon.
25 Saul also and his men went to seeke him, and they tolde Dauid: wherefore he came down vnto a rocke, and abode in the wildernes of [i] Maon. And when Saul heard that, he followed after Dauid in the wildernes of Maon.
26 And Saul and his men went on the one side of the mountaine, and Dauid and his men on the other side of the mountaine: and Dauid made haste to get from the presence of Saul: for Saul and his men compassed Dauid and his men rounde about, to take them.
27 But there came a [k] messenger to Saul, saying, Haste thee, & come: for the Philistims haue inuaded the land.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 Dauid hid in a cane spareth Saul. 10 He sheweth to Saul his innocencie. 18 Saul acknowledgeth his fault. 22 He causeth Dauid to sweare vnto him to be fauourable to his.

1 AND Dauid went thence, and dwelt in [a] holdes at En-gedi.
2 When Saul was returned from the Philistims, they tolde him, saying, Beholde, Dauid is in the wildernesse of [b] En-gedi.
3 Then Saul tooke three thousand chosen men out of all Israel, & went to seeke Dauid and his men vpon the rockes among the wilde goates.
4 And he came to the sheepe coates by the way where there was a cane, and Saul went in "to do his easement: and Dauid and his men sate in the "inward parts of the cane.
5 And the men of Dauid saide vnto him, See, the day is [c] come, whereof the Lord said vnto thee, Beholde, I will deliuer thine enemie into thine hand, and thou shalt do to him as it shall seeme good to thee. Then Dauid arose and cut off the lappe of Sauls garment priuily.
6 And afterward Dauid [d] was touched in his heart, because he had cut off the lappe which was on Sauls garment.
7 And he said vnto his men, The Lorde keepe me from doing that thing vnto my master the Lords anointed, to laye mine hand vpon him: for he is the Anointed of the Lord.
8 So Dauid ouercame his seruāts with these words, and suffred them not to arise against Saul: so Saul rose vp out of the cane and went away.
9 ¶ Dauid also arose afterwarde, & went out of the cane, & cried after Saul, saying, O my lord ỳ king. And when Saul looked behind him, Dauid inclined his face to the earth, and bowed himselfe.
10 And Dauid said to Saul, [e] Wherefore giuest thou an eare to mens wordes, that say, Behold, Dauid seeketh euill against thee?
11 Behold, this day thine eyes haue seen, that the Lorde had deliuered thee this day into mine hand in the cane, & some bade me kil thee, but I had compassion on thee, and sayde, I will not laye mine hand on my master: for he is the Lords Anointed.
12 Moreouer my father, behold: behold, I say, the lappe of thy garment in mine hand: for when I cut off the lap of thy garment, I killed thee not. Vnderstand and see, that there is neither euill nor wickednes in me, neither haue I sinned against thee, yet thou huntest after my soule to take it.
13 The Lord be iudge betweene thee and me, and the Lord auenge me of thee, and let not mine hand be vpon thee.
14 According as the [f] old prouerbe saith, Wickednes proceedeth from the wicked, but mine hand be not vpon thee.
15 After whom is ỳ King of Israel come out? after whom doest thou pursue? after a dead dog, and after a flea?
16 The Lord therefore be iudge, & iudge betweene thee & me, and see, and pleade my cause, and "deliuer me out of thine hand.

19 And thou hast shewed this day, that thou hast deale well with me: for asmuch as when the Lord had closed me in thine handes, thou killedst me not.
20 For who shall finde his enemie, and let him depart "free? wherefore the Lord render thee good for that thou hast done vnto me this day.
g Though this tyrant sawe and confessed the fauour of God toward Dauid, yet he ceased not to persecute him against his owne conscience.
21 For now behold, I s know that thou shalt be king, and that the kingdome of Israel shalbe stablished in thine hand.
22 Sweare now therefore vnto me by the Lord, that thou wilt not destroy my seede after me, and that thou wilt not abolish my name out of my fathers house.

1 Samuel dieth. 3 Nabal and Abigail. 38 The Lorde killeth Nabal. 43 Abigail and Ahinoam Dauids wiues. 44 Michal is giuen to Phalti.

Chap. 28. 3. & 1. Sam. 1 46. 1 3, 20.

1 THen * Samuel died, and all Israel assembled, and mourned for him, and buried him in his a owne house at Ramah. And Dauid arose and went downe to the wildernes of Paran.

a That is, among his own kinred.

b Maon & Carmel were cities in the tribe of Iudah. Carmel the mountaine was in Galile.

2 Now in b Maon was a man, who had his possession in Carmel, and the man was exceeding mightie and had three thousand sheepe, & a thousand goates: and he was shering his sheepe in Carmel.
3 The name also of the man was Nabal, and the name of his wife Abigail, and she was a woman of singular wisdom, and beautifull, but the man was churlish, and euil conditioned, and was of the familie of Caleb.
4 And Dauid heard in the wildernesse, that Nabal did shere his sheepe.
5 Therefore Dauid sent ten yong men, and Dauid said vnto the yong men, Go vp to Carmel, and goe to Nabal, and aske him in my name "howe he doeth.

"Ebr. of peace.

c Some reade, so maiest thou liue in prosperitie & next yere, both thou, &c.

"Ebr. for life.

6 And thus shall ye say c "for salutation, Both thou, and thine house, and all that thou hast, be in peace, welth and prosperitie.
7 Beholde, I haue heard, that thou hast shearers: now thy shepherds were with vs, and we did them no hurt, neither did they misse any thing all the while they were in Carmel.
8 Aske thy seruants and they will shewe thee. Wherefore let these yong men finde fauour in thine eyes: (for we come in a good season) giue, I pray thee, whatsoeuer d commeth to thine hand vnto thy seruants, and to thy sonne Dauid.

d Whatsoeuer thou hast ready for vs.

9 ¶ And when Dauids yong men came, they told Nabal all those wordes in the name of Dauid, and held their peace.
10 Then Nabal answered Dauids seruants, and sayde, Who is Dauid? and who is the * sonne of Iishai? there be many seruants nowe a dayes, that breake away euery man from his master.

e Thus § couetous wretches, in steade of relieuing the necessitie of Gods children, vse to reuile their persons and condemne their cause.

11 Shall I then take my bread, and my water, and my flesh that I haue killed for my sherers, and giue it vnto men, whom I know not whence they be?
12 ¶ So Dauids seruants turned their way, and went againe, and came, and tolde him all those things.
13 And Dauid sayd vnto his men, Girde euery man his sworde about him. And they girded euery man his sword: Dauid also girded his sworde. And about foure hundreth men went vp after Dauid, and two hundreth abode by the "carriage.

"Ebr. vessell.

14 Now one of the seruants told Abigail Nabals wife, saying, Beholde, Dauid sent messengers out of the wildernes to salute our master, and he "railed on them.

"Eb. drone them away.

15 Notwithstanding the men were very good f vnto vs, and we had no displeasure, neither missed we any thing as long as we were conuersant with them, when we were in the fields.

f When we kept our sheepe in § wildernes of Paran.

16 They were as a wall vnto vs both by night and by day, all the while we were with them keeping sheepe.
17 Now therefore take heede, & see what thou shalt do: for euil "will surely come vpon our master, and vpon all his familie: for he is so wicked that a man can not speake to him.

"Ebr. is accomplished.

18 ¶ Then Abigail made haste, and tooke two hundreth "cakes, and two bottels of wine, and fiue sheepe readie dressed, and fiue measures of parched corne, and an hundreth g stanes of raisins, and two hundreth of figges, and laded them on asses.

"Ebr. bread.

g Or, clusters.

19 Then she sayd vnto her seruants, Goe ye before me: beholde, I will come after you: yet shee tolde not her husband Nabal.

h Because shee knewe his crooked nature, that he would rather haue perished, then consented to her enterprise

20 And as she rode on her asse, she came downe by a secrete place of the mountaine, and beholde, Dauid and his men came downe against her, and she met them.
21 And Dauid said, In deed I haue kept all in vaine that this fellowe had in the wildernesse, so that nothing was missed of all that pertained vnto him: for he hath requited me euil for good.
22 So and more also doe God vnto the enemies of Dauid: for surely I will not leaue of all h he hath, by the dawning of the day, any that i pisseth against a wal.

i Meaning by this prouerbe, that he would destroy both final and great.

23 And when Abigail sawe Dauid, shee hasted and lighted off her asse, and fell before Dauid on her face, and bowed her selfe to the ground, 24 And fel at his feete, and sayd, Oh, my lord, I haue committed the iniquitie, and I pray thee, let thine handes maybe speake "to thee, and heare thou the wordes of thine handmaide.

25 Let not my lorde, I pray thee, regarde this wicked man Nabal: for as his name is, so is he: [s] Nabal is his name, and folie is with him: but I thine hand-maid saw not the yong men of my lord whom thou sentest.
26 Now therefore my lord, as the Lorde liueth, and as thy soule liueth (the Lord, I say, that hath withholden thee from comming to shed blood, and that [i] thine hand should not saue thee) so now thine enemies shall be as Nabal, and they that intend to doe my lord euil.
27 And now, this [t] blessing which thine handmaid hath brought vnto my lord, let it be giuen vnto the yong men, that "follow my lord.
28 I pray thee, forgiue [p] trespas of thine handmaid: for the Lord will make my lord a [k] sure house, because my lord fighteth the battels of the Lorde, and none euill hath bene found in thee" in all thy life.
29 Yet [l] a man hath risen vp to persecute thee, and to seeke thy soule, but the soule of my lord shalbe bound in the [m] bundel of life with the Lord thy God: and the soule of thine enemies shal God cast out, as out of the middle of a sling.
30 And when the Lord shal haue done to my lord all the good that he hath promised thee, and shal haue made thee ruler ouer Israel, 31 Then shal it be no griefe vnto thee, nor offence of mind vnto my lorde, that he hath not shed blood causelesse, nor that my lord hath [n] not reuenged himselfe: and when the Lord shal haue dealt well with my lorde, remember thine handmaide.
32 Then Dauid sayd to Abigail, Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, which sent thee this day to meete me.
33 And blessed be thy counsell, and blessed be thou, which hast kept me this day from comming to shed blood, [o] and that mine hand hath not saued me.
34 For in deede, as the Lord God of Israel liueth, [p] who hath kept me backe from hurting thee, except thou haddest hasted and met me, surely there had not bene left vnto Nabal by the dawning of the day, any that pisseth against the wall.
35 Then Dauid receiued of her hand that which she had brought him, and sayd to her, Goe vp in peace to thine house: behold, I haue heard thy voyce, and haue
"granted thy petition.
36 ¶ So Abigail came to Nabal, and behold, he made a feast in his house, like the feast of a King, and Nabals heart was merry within him, for he was very drunken: wherefore she tolde him [q] nothing, neither lesse nor more, vntill the morning arose.
37 Then in the morning when the wine was gone out of Nabal, his wife tolde him those wordes, and his heart died within him, and he was like a [r] stone.
38 And about ten dayes after, the Lorde smote Nabal, that he died.
39 ¶ Now when Dauid heard, that Nabal was dead, he said, Blessed be the Lord that hath [s] iudged the cause of my rebuke of the hand of Nabal, and hath kept his seruant from euil: for the Lord hath recompensed the wickednesse of Nabal vpon his owne head. Also Da-uid sent to commune with Abigail to [t] take her to his wife.
40 And when the seruants of Dauid were come to Abigail to Carmel, they spake vnto her, saying, Dauid sent vs to thee, to take thee to his wife.
41 And she arose, and bowed her selfe on her face to the earth, and sayd, Behold, let thine handmaid be a seruant to wash the feete of the seruants of my lord.
42 And Abigail hasted, and arose, and rode vpon an asse, and her fiue maides" followed her, and she went after the messengers of Dauid, and was his wife.
43 Dauid also tooke Ahinoam of [u] Iezreel, and they were both his wiues.
44 Nowe Saul had giuen [x] Michal his daughter Dauids wife to Phalti the sonne of Laish, which was of [y] Gallim.

of Hachilah before [c] Jeshimon?
2 Then Saul arose, and went downe to the wildernesse of Ziph, hauing three thousand [a] chosen men of Israel with him, for to seeke Dauid in the wildernes of Ziph.
3 And Saul pitched in the hill of Hachi-lah, which is before Jeshimon by the way side. Nowe Dauid abode in the wil-dernesse, and he sawe that Saul came after him into the wildernes.
4 (For Dauid had sent out spies, and vnderstoode, that Saul was come [d] in very deed)
5 Then Dauid arose, and came to the place where Saul had pitched, and when Dauid beheld the place where Saul lay, and [e] Abner the sonne of Ner which was his chiefe captaine, (for Saul lay in the fort, and the people pitched roumde about him)
6 Then spake Dauid, and sayde to Ahimelech the [f] Hittite, and to Abishai the sonne of Zeruiah, brother to [g] Joab, saying, Who will goe downe with me to Saul to the host? Then Abishai said,
I will goe downe with thee.
7 So Dauid and Abishai came downe to the people by night: and behold, Saul lay sleeping within the fort, and his

a Or, bolster.

8 ¶ Then said Abishai to Dauid, God hath closed thine enemie into thine hand this day: now therefore, I pray thee, let me smite him once with a speare to the earth, and I will not smite him d againe.

d Meaning, he would make him sure at one stroke.

9 And Dauid saide to Abishai, Destroye him not: for who can laye his hand e on the Lords anointed, and be guiltes?

e To wit, in his owne priuate cause: for Iehu slewe two kings at Gods appointment, 2. King. 9. 24.

10 Moreouer Dauid said, As the Lord liueth, either the Lord shall smite him, or his day shall come to dye, or he shall descend into battell, and perish.

11 The Lord keepe me from laying mine hand vpon the Lordes anointed: but, I pray thee, take now the speare that is at his head, and the pot of water, and let vs go hence.

12 So Dauid tooke the speare & the pot of water from Sauls head, and they gate them away, & no man sawe it, nor marked it, neyther did any awake, but they were all a sleepe: for b the Lord had sent a dead sleepe vpon them.

b Ebr. the heauie sleepe of the Lord was fallen vpon them.

13 Then Dauid went into the other side, and stood on the top of an hil a farre off, a great space being betweene them.

14 And Dauid cried to the people, and to Abner the sonne of Ner, saying, c Hearest thou not Abner? Then Abner answered, & said, Who art thou that cryest to the king?

c Ebr. Answerest.

15 ¶ And Dauid said to Abner, Art not f a man? and who is like thee in Israel? wherefore then hast thou not kept thy lorde the king? for there came one of the folke in to destroy the king thy lord.

f Esteemed most valiant, & meete to saue the king?

16 This is not well done of thee: as the Lorde liueth, ye are g worthy to die, because ye haue not kept your master the Lords anointed: and now see where the kings speare is, and the pot of water that was at his head.

g Ebr. sonnes of death.

17 And Saul knew Dauids voyce, & said, Is this thy voyce, h my sonne Dauid? And Dauid saide, It is my voyce, my lord O king.

h Hereby it appeareth, that the hypocrite persecuted Dauid against his owne conscience, and contrarie to his promes.

18 And hee saide, Wherefore doeth my lorde thus persecute his seruant? for what haue I done? or what euill is in mine hand?

19 Nowe therefore, I beseeche thee, let my lorde the king heare the wordes of his seruant. If the Lorde haue stirred thee vp against me, i let him smell the sauour of a sacrifice: but if the children of men haue done it, cursed be they before the Lorde: for they haue cast me out this daye from abiding in the inheritance of the Lorde, saying, Goe, serue other k gods.

i Hereby he hath as much as lay in them, they compelled him to idolatrie, because they forced him to flee to the idolaters.

k As much as is laye in them, they compelled him to idolatrie, because they forced him to flee to the idolaters.

20 Now therefore let not my blood fal to the earth before the face of the Lorde: for the king of Israel is come out to seeke a flea, as one would hunt a partriche in the mountaines.

21 Then said Saul, I haue sinned: come againe, my sonne Dauid: for I will doe thee no more harme, because my soule was l precious in thine eyes this day: beholde, I haue done foolishly, and haue erred exceedingly.

l Because thou sauedst my life this day.

22 Then Dauid answered, and said, Beholde the kinges speare, let one of the yong men come ouer and fet it.

23 And let the Lorde rewarde euery man according to his m righteousnes & faithfulnes: for the Lorde had deliuered thee into mine handes this day, but I would not laye mine hande vpon the Lordes Anointed.

m To wit, of innocencie towarde Saul, not defending his iustice in the sight of God, in whose presence none is righteous, Psal. 14. 3. and 130. 3.

24 And beholde, like as thy life was much set by this day in mine eyes: so let my life bee set by in the eyes of the Lorde, that he may deliuer me out of all tribulation.

25 Then Saul sayde to Dauid, Blessed art thou, my sonne Dauid: for thou shalt do great things, and also preuaile. So Dauid went his way, and Saul returned to his n place.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Dauid flieth to Achish King of Gath, who giueth him Ziklag. 8 Dauid destroyeth certaine of the Philistims. 10 Achish is deceiued by Dauid.

1 AND Dauid sayde in his heart, I shall nowe a perishe one day by the hande of Saul: is it not better for me that I saue my life in the lande of the Philistims, & that Saul may haue no hope of me to seeke me any more in all the coastes of Israel, and so escape out of his hand?

a Dauid distrusteth Gods protection, & therefore fleeth vnto the idolaters, who were enemies to Gods people.

2 Dauid therefore arose, and he, and the fiue hundreth men that were with him, went vnto Achish the sonne of Maoch king of Gath.

3 And Dauid b dwelt with Achish at Gath, he, and his men, euery man with his household, Dauid with his two wiues, Ahinoam the Iezreelite, and Abigail Nabals wife the Carmelite.

b Thus God by his prouidence changeth the enemies hearts, & maketh them to fauour his, in their necessitie.

4 And it was told Saul that Dauid was fled to Gath: so he sought no more for him.

5 And Dauid sayde vnto Achish, If I haue nowe founde grace in thine eyes, c let them giue me a place in some other citie of the countrey, that I may dwell there: for why should thy seruant dwell in the head citie of the kingdome with thee?

c Let thine officers appoint me a place.

6 Then Achish gaue him Ziklag d same day: therefore Ziklag pertaineth vnto the kings of Iudah vnto this day.

d Ebr. the number of the dayes.

7 ¶ And e the time that Dauid dwelt in the countrey of the Philistims, was foure moneths and certaine dayes.

e These were the wicked Canaanites, whom God had appointed to be destroyed, 8 Then Dauid and his men went vp, and inuaded the f Geshurites, and the Girsites and the Amalekites: for they inhabited the lande from the beginning, from the way, as thou goest to Shur, euen vnto the land of Egypt.

f Or, Gezrites.

9 And

9 And Dauid smote the land, and left neither man nor woman aliue, and tooke sheepe, and oxen, and asses, and camels, and apparell, and returned and came to Achish.

10 And Achish said, [a]Where haue ye bene a rouing this day? And Dauid answered, Against the South of Judah, and against the South of the [c]Jerahmeelites, & against the South of [d] Kenites.

11 And Dauid saued neither man nor woman aliue, to bring them to Gath, saying, Lest they should tell on vs, and say, So did Dauid, and so will be his maner all the while that he dwelleth in the countrey of the Philistims.

12 And Achish beleeued Dauid, saying, [b]He hath made his people of Israel vtterly to abhorre him: therefore shee shall be my seruant for euer.

[c] Which were a family of the tribe of Iudah, 1. Chro. 2. 9.

[b] Or, he doeth surely abhorre his people.

CHAP. XXVIII.

2 Dauid hath the chiefe charge promised about Achish. 8 Saul consulteth with a witch, and she causeth him to speake with Samuel, 18 Who declareth his ruine.

1 NOwe at that time the Philistims assembled their bandes and armie to fight with Israel: therefore Achish saide to Dauid, [a]Be sure, thou shalt go out with me to the battell, thou, & thy men.

2 And Dauid saide to Achish, Surely thou shalt knowe what thy seruant can do. And Achish said to Dauid, Surely I will make thee keeper of mine heade for euer.

3 [b](Samuel was then dead, and all Israel had lamented him, and buried him in Ramah his owne citie: & Saul had [b] put away the sorcerers, and the soothsayers out of the land)

4 Then the Philistims assembled them selues, and came, and pitched in Shunem: and Saul assembled all Israel, & they pitched in Gilboa.

5 And when Saul sawe the hoste of the Philistims, he was afraid, & his heart was sore astonied.

6 Therefore Saul asked counsell of the Lorde, and the Lorde answered him not, neither by dreames, nor by [c] Vrim, nor yet by Prophets.

7 ¶ Then saide Saul vnto his seruants, Seeke me a woman that hath a familiar spirit, that I may goe to her, & aske of her. And his seruantes sayde to him, Beholde, there is a woman at En-dor that hath a familiar spirit.

8 Then Saul [d] changed him selfe, & put on other rayment, and he went, and two men with him, & they came to the woman by night: and he said, I pray thee, coniecture vnto me by the familiar spirit, and bring me him vp whom I shall name vnto thee.

9 And the woman saide vnto him, Beholde, thou knowest what Saul hath done, howe he hath destroyed the sorcerers, & the soothsayers out of the lande: wherefore then seekest thou to take me in a snare to cause me to dye?

10 And Saul sware to her by the Lorde, saying, As the Lord liueth, no [a] harme shall come to thee for this thing.

11 Then said the woman, Whom shall I bring vp vnto thee? And he answered, Bring me vp [e] Samuel.

12 And when the woman sawe Samuel, shee cryed with a loude voyce, and the woman spake to Saul, saying, Why hast thou deceiued me: for [f] art Saul.

13 And the King said vnto her, Be not afraide: for what sawest thou? And the woman saide vnto Saul, I sawe [g] gods ascending vp out of the earth.

14 Then he said vnto her, What facion is he of? And she answered, An olde man commeth vp lapped in a mantell: and Saul knewe that it was [f] Samuel, and he enclined his face to the grounde, and bowed him selfe.

15 ¶ And Samuel sayde to Saul, Why hast thou disquieted mee, to bring mee vp? The Saul answered, I am in great distresse: for the Philistims make warre against me, & God is departed from me, and answereth me no more, neither [h] by Prophets neither by dreames: therefore I haue called thee, that thou maiest tell me, what I shall do.

16 Then sayde Samuel, Wherefore then doest thou aske of mee, seeing the Lorde is gone from thee, and is thine enemie?

17 Euen the Lorde hath done to [i] him, as hee spake [h] by mine [h] hande: for the Lorde will rent the kingdome out of thine hande, and giue it thy neighbour Dauid.

18 Because thou obeydst not the voyce of the Lorde, nor executedst his fierce wrath vpon the Amalekites, therefore hath the Lorde done this vnto thee this day.

19 Moreouer the Lorde wil deliuer Israel with thee into the handes of the Philistims: [k] and to morow shalt thou and thy sonnes be with me, and the Lord shal giue the hoste of Israel into the handes of the Philistims.

20 Then Saul fell straight way all along on the earth, and was sore [l] afrayde because of the wordes of Samuel, so that there was no strength in him: for he had eaten no bread all the day nor all the night.

21 Then the woman came vnto Saul, & saw that he was sore troubled, and said vnto him, See, thine handmaid hath obeyed thy voyce, and I [k] haue put my soule in mine hand, and haue obeyed thy words which thou saidest vnto me.

22 Now therefore, I pray thee, hearken thou also vnto the voyce of thine handmaide, and let me set a morsell of bread before thee, that thou maiest eat and get thee strength, and go on thy iourney.

CHAP. XXIX.

4 The princes of the Philiſtims cauſe Dauid to be ſent backe from the battel againſt Iſrael, becauſe they diſtruſted him.

1 SO the Philiſtims were gathered together with all their armies m Aphek: and the Iſraelites pitched [a] by the fountaine, which is in Iezreel.

a Or, in Ain.

2 And the [b] princes of the Philiſtims went forth by [c] hundreths and thouſands, but Dauid and his men came behinde with Achiſh.

b Or, captaines. c According to their bands, or enſignes.

3 Then ſaide the princes of the Philiſtims, What doe theſe Ebrewes here? And Achiſh ſaid vnto the princes of the Philiſtims, Is not this Dauid the ſeruant of Saul the king of Iſrael, who hath bene with me theſe dayes, [d] or theſe yeres, & I haue found nothing in him, ſince he [e] dwelt with me vnto this daye?

d Meaning, a long time, that is, foure moneths & certain dayes, Chap. 27. 7. e Ebr. fell, as Gen. 25. 18. 1. Chro. 12. 19.

4 But the princes of the Philiſtims were wroth with him, and the princes of the Philiſtims ſaid vnto him, [f] Send this fellow backe, that he may goe againe to his place which thou haſt appointed him, and let him not goe downe with vs to battel, leſt that in the battel he be an aduerſarie to vs: for wherewith ſhould he obtaine the fauour of his maſter? ſhould it not be with the [g] heads of theſe men?

f Would not Saul receiue him to fauour, if he could betray vs? Chap. 18. 7. and 21, 11. g That is, was conuerſant with me.

5 Is not this Dauid, of whom they ſang in daunces, ſaying, [h] Saul ſlewe his thouſand, and Dauid his ten thouſands?

h Ebr. Saul hath ſmitten.

6 Then Achiſh called Dauid, and ſayd vnto him, As the Lord liueth, thou haſt bene vpright & good in my ſight, when thou [i] wenteſt out and in with me in the hoſte, neither haue I founde euill with thee, ſince thou cameſt to me vnto this day, but [k] the princes doe not fauour thee.

i That is, ſeruant with me. k Ebr. thou art not good in the eyes of the princes.

7 Wherefore nowe returne, and goe in peace, that thou diſpleaſe not the princes of the Philiſtims.

8 And Dauid ſayd vnto Achiſh, But what haue I done? and what haſt thou found in thy ſeruant as long as I haue bene with thee vnto this day, that I may [l] not goe and fight againſt the enemies of my lord the king?

l This diſſimulation cannot be excuſed: for it grieued him to goe againſt the people of God.

9 Achiſh then answered, and ſaid to Dauid, I knowe thou pleaſeſt me, as an Angel of God: but the princes of the Philiſtims haue ſaide, Let him not goe vp with vs to battel.

10 Wherefore nowe riſe vp early in the morning with thy [m] maſters ſeruants that are come with thee: and when ye be vp early, aſſoone as ye haue light, depart.

m With them that fled vnto thee from Saul.

11 So Dauid and his men roſe vp early to depart in the morning, & to returne into the land of the Philiſtims: and the Philiſtims went vp to Iezreel.

CHAP. XXX.

1 The Amalekites burne Ziklag. 5 Dauids two wiues are taken priſoners. 6 The people woulde ſtone him. 8 He aſketh counſel of the Lorde, and purſuing his enemies recouereth the pray. 24 He deuideth it equally, 26 And ſendeth part to his friendes.

1 BVt when Dauid and his men were come to Ziklag [a] the third day, the Amalekites had inuaded vpon the South, euen vnto Ziklag, & had [b] ſmitten Ziklag, and burnt it with fire, a After that he departed from Achiſh. b That is, deſtroyed the citie.

2 And had taken the women that were therein, priſoners, both ſmall and great, and ſlewe not a man, but caried them away, and went their wayes.

3 So Dauid and his men came to the citie, and behold, it was burnt with fire, and their [c] wiues, & their ſonnes, and their daughters were taken priſoners.

c For theſe onely remained in the citie, when the men were gone to warre.

4 Then Dauid and the people that was with him, lift vp their voices and wept, vntil they could weepe no more.

5 Dauids two wiues were taken priſoners alſo, Ahinoam the Iezreelite, and Abigail ſ wife of Nabal ſ Carmelite.

6 And Dauid was in great ſorow: for the people [d] entended to ſtone him, becauſe the hearts of all the people were vexed euery man for his ſonnes and for his daughters: but Dauid comforted him ſelfe in the Lord his God.

d Thus we ſee, that in troubles & aduerſitie we doe not conſider gods prouidence, but like raging beaſtes forget both our owne dutie & conteine 7 And Dauid ſayde to Abiathar the Prieſt Ahimelechs ſonne, I pray thee, bring me the Ephod. And Abiathar brought the Ephod to Dauid.

8 Then Dauid aſked counſel at the Lord, ſaying, Shall I follow after this company? ſhall I ouertake them? And he answered him, Follow: for thou ſhalt ſurely ouertake them, and [e] recouer all.

Gods appointment ouer vs,

e Though God ſeeme to leaue vs for a time, yet if we truſt in him, we ſhalbe ſure to finde comfort.

9 So Dauid and the fyre hundreth men that were with him, went, and came to the riuer Beſor, where a part of them abode:

10 But Dauid and foure hundreth men followed (for two hundreth abode behinde, being too wearie to goe ouer the riuer Beſor)

11 And they founde an Egyptian in the field, and brought him to Dauid, & gaue him [f] bread and he did eate, & they gaue him water to drinke.

f God by his prouidence both prouided for the neceſſitie of this poore ſtranger, and made him a guide to Dauid to accompliſh his enterpriſe.

12 Alſo they gaue him a fewe figges, and two cluſters of raiſins: and when he had eaten, his ſpirit came againe to him: for he had eaten no bread, nor dronke any water in three dayes, and three nightes.

13 And Dauid ſaid vnto him, To whom belongeſt belongest thou? and whence art thou? And he saide, I am a pong man of Egypt, and seruant to an Amalekite: and my master left me three dayes agoe, because I fell sicke.

14 We roued vpon the South of Chereth, & vpon the coast belonging to Iudah, and vpon the South of Caleb, and we burnt Ziklag with fire.

15 And Dauid said vnto him, Canst thou bring me to this company? and he said, e Sweare vnto me by God, that thou wilt neither kill me, nor deliuer me into the handes of my master, & I will bring thee to this companie.

e For othes were in al ages had in most reuerence euen among the heathen.

16 ¶ And when he had brought him thither, beholde, they lay scattered abroad vpon al the earth, f eating & drinking, and dancing, because of all the great pray that they had taken out of the land of the Philistims, and out of the land of Iudah.

f The wicked in their pompe and pleasures consider not the iudgement of God, which is then at hand to smite them.

17 And Dauid smote them from the twilight, euen vnto the euening g of the next morow, so that there escaped not a man of them, sane foure hundreth pong men, which rode vpon camels, and fled.

g Some read, & vnto the morow of ỹ two euenings: that is, three dayes.

18 And Dauid recouered all that the Amalekites had taken: also Dauid rescued his two wiues.

19 And they lacked nothing, small or great, sonne or daughter, or of the spoile of all that they had taken awap: Dauid recouered them all.

20 Dauid also tooke all the shéepe, and the oxen, & they drawe them before his cattel, and said, This is Dauids h pray.

h Which the Amalekites had taken of others, & Dauid from them besides the goods of Ziklag.

21 ¶ And Dauid came to ỹ two hundreth men ỹ were to weake for to follow Dauid: whom they had made also to abide at the riuer Besor: & they came to meet Dauid, & to méete the people that were with him: so when Dauid came néere to the people, he saluted them.

22 Then answered all the euil & wicked of the men that went with Dauid, and sayd, Because they went not with vs, therefore wil we giue them none of the pray, that we haue recouered, saue to euery man his i wife & his children: therefore let them carp them awap & depart.

i Vnder these are comprehéded ỹ cattel & goods, which appertei-ned to euery mã.

23 Then said Dauid, Ye shal not doe so, my brethren, with that which the Lord hath giuen vs, who hath preserued vs, and deliuered the companie that came against vs, into our handes.

24 For who will obey you in this matter? but as his part is that goeth downe to the battel, so shal his part be, that tarryeth by the stuffe: they shal part alike.

m Some referre these wordes to Dauid, that he alledged an olde custome and lawe, as if it were written, It is both nowe and hath bene euer.

25 m So from that day forward he made it a statute & a lawe in Israel, vntil this day.

26 ¶ When Dauid therefore came to Ziklag, he sent of the pray vnto the Elders of Iudah and to his friendes, saying, See, there is a blessing for you of the spoile of the enemies of the Lord.

27 He sent to them of Beth-el, & to them of South Ramoth, & to them of Jattir, 28 And to them of Aroer, and to them of Siphmoth, and to them of Eshtemoa, 29 And to them of Rachal, & to them of the cities of the Jerahmeelites, and to them of the cities of the Kenites,

30 And to them of Hormah, and to them of Chor-ashan, and to them of Athach, 31 And to them of Hebron, and n to al the places where Dauid and his men had haunted.

n Shewing him selfe mindful of their benefits towardes him.

4 Then said Saul vnto his armour bearer, r Drawe out thy sword, and thrust me thorough therewith, least the vncircumcised come & thrust me thorough and mocke mee: but his armour bearer would not, for he was sore afraid. Therefore Saul tooke a sword and fel vpon it.

r So we see that his cruel life had a desperate end, as is commonly seene in thē that persecute the childrē of God.

5 And when his armour bearer saw that Saul was dead, he fell likewise vpon his sword, and died with him.

6 So Saul died, & his three sonnes, and his armour bearer, and al his men that same day together.

THE ARGVMENT.

THis booke and the former beare the title of Samuel, becauſe they conteine the conception, natiuitie and the whole courſe of his life, and alſo the liues and actes of two Kings, to wit, of Saul & Dauid, whom he anointed and conſecrated kings by the ordinance of God. And as the firſt booke conteineth thoſe thinges, which God brought to paſſe among this people vnder the gouernement of Samuel and Saul: ſo this ſeconde booke declareth the noble actes of Dauid, after the death of Saul, when hee began to reigne, vnto the ende of his kingdome: and howe the ſame by him was wonderfully augmented: alſo his great troubles and dangers, which he ſuſteined both within his houſe and without: what horrible and dangerous inſurrections, vprores, and treaſons were wrought againſt him, partly by falſe counſellers, fayned friendes and flatterers, and partly by ſome of his owne children and people: and how by Gods aſſiſtance he ouercame all difficulties, and enioyed his kingdome in reſt and peace. In the perſon of Dauid the Scripture ſetteth foorth Chriſt Ieſus the chiefe King, who came of Dauid according to the fleſh, and was perſecuted on euerie ſide with outwarde and inwarde enemies, as well in his owne perſon, as in his members, but at length he ouercommeth all his enemies, and giueth his Church victorie againſt all power both ſpirituall and temporall: and ſo reigneth with them, King for euermore.

CHAP. I.

4 It was tolde Dauid of Sauls death. 15 He cauſeth him to be ſlaine that brought the tydings. 19 He lamenteth the death of Saul and Ionathan.

1 AFter the death of Saul, whē Dauid was returned frō the ſlaughter of the Amalekites & had bene two daies in Ziklag,

1. Sam. 30. 17.

2 Beholde, a man came the thirde day out of the hoſte from Saul with his [a] clothes rent, and earth vpon his head: and when he came to Dauid, he fell to the earth, and did obeiſance.

a Seeming to lament the ouerthrow of the people of Iſrael.

3 Then Dauid ſaide vnto him, Whence commeſt thou? And he ſaide vnto him, Out of the hoſte of Iſrael I am eſcaped.

4 And Dauid ſaide vnto him, What is done? I pray thee, tell me. Then he ſaid, that the people is fled from the battell, & many of the people are ouerthrowen, & dead, and alſo Saul and Ionathan his ſonne are dead.

5 And Dauid ſayde vnto the yong man that tolde it him, Howe knoweſt thou that Saul and Ionathan his ſonne be dead?

6 Then the yong man that tolde him, anſwered, [b] As I came to mount Gilboa, beholde, Saul leaned vpon his ſpeare, & lo, the charets and [a] horſemen followed hard after him.

b As I fled in the chaſe.

a Or, captaines.

7 And whē he looked backe, he ſawe me, & called me. And I anſwered, Here am I.

8 And he ſaide vnto me, Who art thou? And I anſwered him, I am an [c] Amalekite.

c He was an Amalekite borne, but renounced his countrey and ioyned with the Iſraelites.

9 Then ſaide hee vnto me, I praye thee, [a] come vpon me, & ſlay me: for anguiſh is come vpon mee, becauſe my [d] life is yet whole in me.

a Or I ſtand vpon.

d I am ſorie, becauſe I am yet aliue.

10 So [a] I came vpon him, and ſlew him, and becauſe I was ſure that he coulde not liue, after that he had fallen, I tooke the crowne that was vpon his head, & the bracelet that was on his arme, and brought them hither vnto my lord.

a Or I ſtood vpon him.

11 Then Dauid tooke hold on his clothes, [a] and rent them, and likewiſe all the mē that were with him.

a Chap. 3. 31. & 13. 31.

12 And they mourned and wept, & faſted vntill euen, for Saul and for Ionathan his ſonne, & for the people of the Lorde, and for the houſe of Iſrael, becauſe they were ſlaine with the ſwoorde.

13 ¶ [a] Afterward Dauid ſaid vnto the yong man that told it him. Whēce art thou? And he anſwered, I am the ſonne of a ſtranger an Amalekite.

a After the lamentation he examined him againe.

14 And Dauid ſaide vnto him, [a] Howe waſt thou not afraid, to put forth thine hande to deſtroye the Anointed of the Lord?

a Pſal. 105. 15.

15 Then Dauid called one of his yonng men, and ſaide, Goe neere, and fall vpon him. And he ſmote him that he died.

16 Then ſayde Dauid vnto him, [f] Thy blood be vpon thine owne heade: for thine owne mouth hath teſtified againſt thee, ſaying, I haue ſlaine the Lordes Anointed.

f Thou art iuſtly puniſhed for thy faute.

17 ¶ Then Dauid mourned with this lamentation ouer Saul, and ouer Ionathan his ſonne,

CHAP. II.

4 Dauid is anointed king in Hebron. 9 Abner maketh Ish-bosheth king ouer Israel. 15 The battel of the seruants of Dauid and Ish-bosheth. 32 The burial of Asahel.

a By the meanes of the hie Priest, as 1.Sam.23.2.& 2.sam.5.19.

1 AFter this, Dauid a asked counsell of the Lord, saying, Shall I goe vp into any of the cities of Judah? And the Lord said vnto him, Go vp. And Dauid said, Whither shall I go? He the answered, Vnto b Hebron.
2 So Dauid went vp thither and his two wiues also, Ahinoam the Jzreelite, and Abigail Nabals wife the Carmelite.
3 And Dauid brought vp the men that were with c him, euerie man with his houshold, and they dwelt in the cities of Hebron.

b Which citie was also called Kiriath-arba, Iosh.14.15.

c In the time of his persecution.

4 ¶ Then the men of Judah came, and there they anointed Dauid king ouer the house of Judah. And they tolde Dauid, saying, * that the men of Jabesh Gilead buried Saul.

*1.Sam.31.13.

5 And Dauid sent messengers vnto the men of Jabesh Gilead, and saide vnto them, Blessed are ye of the Lord, that ye haue shewed such kindenes vnto your lord Saul, that you haue buried him.
6 Therefore nowe the Lorde shew mercie and d trueth vnto you: and I will recompense you this benefite, because ye haue done this thing.
7 Therefore nowe let your handes be strong, and be you valiant: albeit your master Saul be dead, yet neuertheless the house of Judah hath anointed mee e king ouer them.
8 ¶ But Abner the sonne of Ner that was captaine of Sauls host, tooke Ish-bosheth the sonne of Saul, and brought him to Mahanaim, 9 And made him king ouer Gilead, and ouer the Ashurites, and ouer Jzreel, and ouer Ephraim, and ouer Beniamin, & ouer f all Israel.
10 Ish-bosheth Sauls sonne was fourtie yere olde when he began to reigne ouer Israel, and reigned two yeere: but the house of Judah followed Dauid.
11 (And the time which Dauid reigned in Hebron ouer the house of Judah, was seuen yere and sixe moneths.)

e So that you shall not want a captaine and a defender.

g After this time was expired, he reigned ouer all the countrie 33. yeres, Chap.5.5.

12 ¶ And Abner the sonne of Ner, & the seruantes of Ish-bosheth the sonne of Saul wet out of Mahanaim to Gibeō.
13 And Joab the sonne of Zeruiah, and the seruantes of Dauid went out and met one another by the poole of Gibeon: and they sate downe, the one on the one side of the poole, and the other on the other side of the poole.
14 Then Abner sayde to Joab, Let the yong men nowe arise, and h play before vs. And Joab said, Let them arise.
15 Then there arose & went ouer twelue of Beniamin by number, which perteined to Ish-bosheth the sonne of Saul, & twelue of the seruants of Dauid.
16 And euery one caught i his felowe by the heade, & thrust his swoyde in his felowes side, so they fell downe together: wherefore the place was called k Helkath-hazzurim, which is in Gibeon.
17 And the battell was exceeding sore that same day: for Abner and the men of Jsrael l fell before the seruantes of Dauid.
18 And there were three sonnes of Zeruiah there, Joab, and Abishai, and Asahel. And Asahel was as light on foote as a wilde roe.
19 And Asahel followed after Abner, and in going he turned neither to the right hand nor to the left from Abner.
20 Then Abner looked behinde him, and saide, Art thou Asahel? And he answered, Yea.
21 Then Abner said, Turne thee either to the right hande or to the left, and take one of the yong men, and take thee his * weapons: but Asahel would not depart from him.
22 And Abner said to Asahel, Depart frō me: l wherefore shoulde I smite thee to the grounde? Howe then shoulde I be able to holde vp my face to Joab thy brother?
23 And when he would not depart, Abner with the hinder ende of the speare smote him vnder the m fift ryb, that the speare came out behinde him: and he fell downe there, and dyed in his place. And as many as came to ye place where Asahel fel downe and died, stood still.
24 Joab also and Abishai pursued after Abner: & the sunne went downe, when they were come to the hill Ammah that lieth before Giah, by the way of ye wilderne of Gibeon.
25 And the children of Beniamin gathered them selues together after Abner, & were on an heape and stoode on the top of an hill.
26 Then Abner called to Joab and said, Shall the * swoyde deuoure for euer? knowest thou not, that it will be bitternes in the latter ende? howe long then shall 27 And Ioab said, As God liueth, if thou hadest not [e] spoken, surely euen in the morning the people had departed euery one backe from his brother.

28 ¶ So Ioab blewe a trumpet, and all the people stode still, and pursued after Israel no more, neither fought they any more.

29 And Abner and his men walked all that night through the [f] plaine, & went ouer Iorden, & passed through all Bithron till they came [g] to Mahanaun.

30 Ioab also returned backe from Abner: and when he had gathered all the people together, there lacked of Dauids seruants nineteene men and Asahel.

31 But the seruants of Dauid had smitten of Beniamin, and of Abners men, so that they [p] hundreth and three score men died.

32 And they toke vp Asahel, and buried him in [p] sepulchre of his father, which was in Beth-lehem: and Ioab and his men went all night, and when they came to Hebron, the day arose.

CHAP. III.

1 Long warre betweene the houses of Saul and Dauid. 2 The children of Dauid in Hebron. 12 Abner turneth to Dauid. 27 Ioab killeth him.

1 THere was then [a] long warre betweene the house of Saul and the house of Dauid: but Dauid waxed stronger, and the house of Saul waxed weaker.

2 ¶ And vnto Dauid were children borne in Hebron: his eldest sonne was Amnon of Ahinoam the Izreelite,

3 And his second, was [b] Chileab of Abigail the wife of Nabal the Carmelite: and the third, Absalom the sonne of Maacah the daughter of Talmai the king of Geshur,

4 And the fourth, Adonijah the sonne of Haggith, and the fifth, Shephatiah the sonne of Abital,

5 And the sixt, Ithream by Eglah Dauids wife: these were borne to Dauid in [c] Hebron.

a That is, without intermission induring two yeeres, which was the whole reigne of Ish-bosheth.

b Who is called also Daniel, 1. Chro. 3. 1.

c Within seuen yeeres and sixe moneths.

6 ¶ Nowe while there was warre betweene the house of Saul & the house of Dauid, Abner made al his power for the house of Saul.

7 And Saul had a concubine named Rizpah, the daughter of Aiah. And Ish-bosheth said to Abner, Wherefore hast thou gone in to my fathers concubine?

8 Then was Abner very wroth for the wordes of Ish-bosheth, and said, Am I a [d] dogs head, which against Iudah do shewe mercie this day vnto the house of Saul thy father, to his brethren, and to his neighbours, and haue not deliuered thee into the hand of Dauid, that thou chargest me this day with a faulte concerning this woman?

d Doest thou esteeme me no more the a dog, for al my seruice done to thy fathers house?

e We see howe the wicked can not abide to be admonished of their faultes, but seeke their displeasure, which goe about to bring them frō their wickednes.

9 [e] So do God to Abner, and more also, except, as the Lord hath sworne to Dauid, euen so I do to him,

10 To remoue the kingdome from the house of Saul, that the throne of Dauid may be stablished ouer Israel, and ouer Iudah, euen from Dan to Beer-sheba.

11 And he durst no more answere to Abner: for he feared him.

12 ¶ Then Abner sent messengers to Dauid [f] on his behalfe, saying, Whose is the land? who should also say, Make couenant with me, & behold, mine hand shall be vnto thee, to bring all Israel vnto thee.

f Or, secretly.

13 Who sayd, Well, I wil make a couenant with thee: but one thing I require of thee, that is, that thou see not my face except thou bring Michal Sauls daughter when thou comest to see me.

14 ¶ Then Dauid sent messengers to Ish-bosheth Sauls sonne, saying, Deliuer me my wife Michal, which I marped for [g] an hundreth foreskins of the Philistims.

g 1. Sam. 18. 25, 27.

15 And Ish-bosheth sent, and toke her from her husband [h] Phaltiel the sonne of Laish.

h 1. Sam. 25. 44.

16 And her husband went with her, and came weeping behind her, vnto Bahurim: then sayde Abner vnto him, Goe, and returne. So he returned.

17 ¶ And Abner had [i] communication with the Elders of Israel, saying, Ye sought for Dauid in times past, that he might be your king.

i Rather for malice that he bare toward Ish-bosheth, the for loue he bare to Dauid.

18 Nowe then doe it: for the Lord hath spoken of Dauid, saying, By the hand of my seruant Dauid I will saue my people Israel out of the handes of the Philistims, and out of the hands of all their enemies.

19 Also Abner spake [k] to Beniamin, and afterward Abner went to speake with Dauid in Hebron, concerning al that Israel was content with, and the whole house of Beniamin.

20 So Abner came to Dauid to Hebron, hauing twenty men with him, and Dauid made a feast vnto Abner, and to the men that were with him.

21 Then Abner said vnto Dauid, I will rise vp, & go gather all Israel vnto my lord the King, that they may make a couenant with thee, & that thou mayest reigne ouer all thine heart desireth. Then Dauid let Abner depart, who went [l] in peace.

l Or, without harme.

h From warre against the Philistims.

23 When Ioab, and all the hoste that was with him were come, men tolde Ioab, saying, Abner the sonne of Ner came to the King, and he hath sent him away, and he is gone in peace.

i Here appeareth the malicious minde of Ioab, who woulde haue had the King to slaye Abner for his priuate grudge.

24 Then Ioab came to the King & sayd, [n] What hast thou done? beholde, Abner came vnto thee, why hast thou sent him away, and he is departed?

25 Thou knowest Abner the sonne of Ner:

Ner: for he came to deceiue thée, and to know thy outgoing & ingoing, and to know all that thou doest.

26 ¶ And when Ioab was gone out from Dauid, he sent messengers after Abner, which brought him againe from the wel of Sirah vnknowing to Dauid.

27 And when Abner was come againe to Hebron, * Ioab tooke him aside in the gate to speake with him peaceably, and smote him vnder the fift rib, that he died, for the blood of * Asahel his brother.

28 ¶ And whē afterward it came to Dauids eare, he said, I and my kingdome are k giltles before the Lorde for euer, concerning the blood of Abner ꝑ sonne of Ner.

29 Let the blood fall on the head of Ioab, and on all his fathers house, that the house of Ioab be neuer without some that haue running issues, or leper, or that leaneth on a staffe, or that doeth fall on the swoorde, or that lacketh bread.

30 (So Ioab and l Abishai his brother slewe Abner, because he had slaine their brother Asahel at Gibeon in battel)

31 And Dauid said to Ioab, and to al the people that were with him, Rent your clothes, and put on sackecloth, & mourne m before Abner: and king Dauid him selfe followed the beare.

32 And when they had buried Abner in Hebron, the king lift vp his voyce, and wept beside the sepulchre of Abner, and all the people wept.

33 And the king lamented ouer Abner, and said, Dyed Abner n as a foole dyeth?

34 Thine hands were not bound, nor thy fete tyed in fetters of brasse: but as a man falleth before wicked men, so didest thou fall. And all the people wept againe for him.

35 Afterward al the people came to cause Dauid eate o meate while it was yet daye, but Dauid sware, saying, So doe God to me and more also, if I taste bread, or ought els till the sunne be downe.

36 And al the people knew it, & it ꝑ pleased them: as whatsoeuer the king did, pleased all the people.

37 For all the people and all Israel vnderstood that day, how that it was not the kings dede that Abner the sonne of Ner was slaine.

38 And the king said vnto his seruants, Know ye not, that there is a prince and a great man fallen this day in Israel?

39 And I am this day weake and newly annointed king: and these men the sonnes of Zeruiah be to * hard for me: the Lord reward the doer of euill according to his wickednes.

CHAP. IIII.

Baanah and Rechab slay Ish-bosheth the sonne of Saul. 12 Dauid commandeth them to be slaine.

1 AND when Hanls a sonne heard that Abner was dead in Hebron, then his hands were b feble, and all Israel was afraid.

2 And Hauls sonne had two men that were captaines of bandes: the one called Baanah, & the other called Rechab, the sonnes of Rimmon a Beerothite of the children of Beniamin, (for c Beeroth was reckened to Beniamin,

3 Because the Beerothites d fled to Gittaim, & soiourned there, vnto this day.)

4 And Ionathan Hauls sonne had a sonne that was lame on his fete: he was fiue yere olde when the tidings came of Haul and Ionathan out of Israel: then his nurse tooke him, and fled away. And as she made haste to flee, the childe fell, and began to halte, and his name was Mephibosheth.

5 And the sonnes of Rimmon the Beerothite, Rechab and Baanah went and came in the heate of ꝑ day to the house of Ish-bosheth (who slept on a bed at noone)

6 And beholde, Rechab and Baanah his brother came into the middes of the house, as they e would haue wheat, and they f smote him vnder the fift rib, and fledde.

7 For when they came into the house, he slept on his bed in his bed chamber, and they smote him, and slewe him, and beheaded him, & tooke his head, and gate them away through the * plaine all the night.

8 And they brought the head of Ish-bosheth vnto Dauid to Hebron, and sayde to the king, Beholde the head of Ish-bosheth Hauls sonne thine enemie, who sought after thy life: and the Lord hath auenged my lorde the king this day of Haul and of his sede.

9 Then Dauid answered Rechab & Baanah his brother, the sonnes of Rimmon the Beerothite, and said vnto them, As the Lord liueth, who hath deliuered my soule out of all aduersitie,

10 When one * tolde me, and sayde that Saul was dead, (thinking to haue brought good tidings) I toke him and slewe him in Ziklag, who thought that I would haue giuen him a reward for his tidings:

11 How & much more, when wicked men haue slaine a righteous person in his owne house, and vpon his bed: shall I not nowe therefore require his blood at your hand, & take you from the earth?

12 Then Dauid commanded his yong men, and they slewe them, and cut off their hands and their fete, and hanged them vp ouer the poole in Hebron: but they tooke the head of Ish-bosheth, and buried it in the sepulchre of * Abner in Hebron.

1.Chron.14.12.

22 Again the Philistims came vp, & spred themselues in the valley of Rephaim.

23 And when Dauid asked counsell of the Lord, he answered, Thou shalt not goe vp, but turne about behinde them, and come vpon them ouer against the mulberie trees.

24 And when thou hearest the noyse of one going in the toppes of the mulberie trees, then remoue: for then shall the Lord go out before thee, to smite the host of the Philistims.

[g] Meaning, the valley of gyants, which Dauid called Baal-perazim because of his victorie.

25 Then Dauid did so as the Lord had commanded him, and smote the Philistims from Geba, vntill thou come to [h] Gazer.

[h] Which was in the tribe of Beniamin, but the Philistims did possesse it.

CHAP. VI.

3 The Arke is brought forth of the house of Abinadab. 7 Vzzah is striken, & dieth. 14 Dauid danceth before it, 16 And is therefore despised of his wife Michal.

1 AGaine Dauid gathered together all the * chosen men of Israel, euen thirtie thousand,

[6] Or, chiefe.*

2 * And Dauid arose & went with all the people that were with him * frō Baale of Iudah to bring vp frō thence the Arke of God, whose name is called by the name of the Lord of hostes, that dwelleth vpon it betweene the Cherubims.

1.Chro.13.5,6.

[a] This was a citie in Iudah called also Kiriath-iearim, Ios.15.9.

3 And they put the Arke of God vpon a newe cart, & brought it out of the house of Abinadab that was in [b] Gibeah. And Vzzah and Ahio the sonnes of Abinadab did driue the newe cart.

[b] Which was an hie place of the citie of Baale

4 And when they brought the Arke of God out of the house of * Abinadab, which was at Gibeah, Ahio went before the Arke,

1.Sam.7.2.

5 And Dauid and all the house of Israel * played before the Lord on all instrumēts made of fierr, and on harpes, and on Psalteries, and on timbrels, & on cornets, and on cymbals.

[c] Praised God, & sang Psalmes.

6 ¶ * And when they came to Nachons threshing floore, Vzzah put his hand to the Arke of God, & helde it: for the oxen did shake it.

1.Chro.13.10.

7 And the Lord was very wroth with Vzzah, & God [d] smote him in the same place for his fault, and there he dyed by the Arke of God.

[d] Here we see what danger it is to folow good intentions, or to doe any thing in Gods seruice without his expresse word.

8 And Dauid was displeased, because the Lord had * smitten Vzzah: and he called the name of the place [e] Perez Vzzah vntill this day.

Ebr. made a breach.*

[e] Or, the diuision of Vzzah.

9 Therefore Dauid that day feared the Lord, and said, How shall the Arke of the Lord come to me?

10 So Dauid would not bring the Arke of the Lorde vnto him into the citie of Dauid, but Dauid carried it into the house of Obed-edom * a Gittite.

[f] Who was a Leuite, and had dwelt in Gittaim, 1.Chron. 15,21.

11 And the Arke of the Lord continued in the house of Obed-edom ꝑ Gittite, three moneths, and the Lord blessed Obed-edom, and all his houlholde.

12 ¶ And one tolde king Dauid, saying, *The Lord hath blessed the house of Obed-edom, and all that he hath, because of the Arke of God: therefore Dauid went and f brought the Arke of God from the house of Obed-edom, into the citie of Dauid with gladnesse.

13 And when they that bare the Arke of the Lorde had gone sixe paces, he offred an ore, and a fat beast.

14 And Dauid daunced before the Lorde with all his might, & was girded with a linnen g Ephod.

15 So Dauid and all the house of Israel, brought the Arke of the Lorde with shouting, and sound of trumpet.

16 And as the Arke of the Lord came into the citie of Dauid, Michal Sauls daughter looked through a windowe, and saw king Dauid leape, and daunce before the Lorde, and she h despised him in her heart.

17 And when they had brought in the Arke of the Lord, they set it in his place, in the middes of the Tabernacle that Dauid had pitched for it: then Dauid offred burnt offrings, & peace offrings before the Lord.

18 And assoone as Dauid had made an ende of offring burnt offringes & peace offringes, he * blessed the people in the Name of the Lord of hostes, 19 And gaue among all the people, euen among the whole multitude of Israel, as well to the women as men, to euery one a cake of bread, and a piece of flesh, and a bottell of wine: so all the people departed euery one to his house.

20 ¶ Then Dauid returned to i blesse his house, & Michal the daughter of Saul came out to meete Dauid, and saide, O howe glorious was the king of Israel this day, which was uncouered to day in the eyes of the maydens of his seruants, as a k foole uncouereth himselfe!

21 Then Dauid said unto Michal, l It was before the Lord, which chose me rather then thy father, & all his house, & commanded me to be ruler ouer the people of the Lord, euen ouer Israel: and therefore will I play before the Lord, 22 And will yet be more vile then thus, & will be low in mine owne sight, & of the very same mayde seruants, which thou hast spoken of, shal I be had in honour.

23 Therefore Michal the daughter of Saul had l no child, unto the day of her death.

CHAP. VII.

2 Dauid would build God an house, but is forbidden by the Prophet Nathan. 8 God putteth Dauid in minde of his benefites. 12 He promiseth continuance of his kingdome and posteritie.

1 Afterward when ꝑ king sate in his house, & the Lord had giue him rest round about from all his enemies,

2 The king said unto Nathan the Prophet, Behold, nowe I dwell in an house of cedar trees, and the Arke of God remaineth within the a curtaines.

3 Then Nathan said unto the king, Go, and do all that is in thine heart: for the Lord is with thee.

4 ¶ And the same night the worde of the Lord came unto Nathan, saying,

5 Go, and tell my seruant Dauid, Thus saith the Lord, b Shalt thou builde mee an house for my dwelling?

6 For I haue dwelt in no house since the time that I brought the children of Israel out of Egypt unto this daye, but haue walked in a tent and tabernacle.

7 In all ꝑ places wherein I haue walked with all the children of Israel, spake I one c word with any of the tribes of Israel whē I cōmanded the Iudges to feed my people Israel: for I said, Why build ye not me an house of cedar trees?

8 Now therefore so say unto my seruant Dauid, Thus saith the Lorde of hostes, *I tooke thee from the sheepecoate following the sheepe, that thou mightest be ruler ouer my people, ouer Israel,

9 And I was with thē whersoeuer thou hast walked, & haue destroyed all thine enemies out of thy sight, & haue made thee a d great name, like unto the name of the great men that are in the earth.

10 (Also I will appoint a place for my people Israel, & will plant it, that they may dwell in a place of their owne, and moue e no more, neither shall wicked people trouble them any more as before time, 11 And since the time that I set Iudges ouer my people of Israel) and I will giue thee rest from al thine enemies: also the Lorde telleth thee, that he will make thee an house.

12 *And whē thy dayes be fulfilled, thou shalt sleepe with thy fathers, and I will set up thy seede after thee, which shall proceede out of thy body, and will stablish his kingdome.

13 *He shal build an house for my Name, & I will stablish the throne of his kingdome for euer.

14 * I will be his father, & he shall be my sonne: and * if he sinne, I will chasten him with the f rod of men, and with the plagues of the children of men.

15 But my mercie shal not depart away from him, as I tooke it from Saul whome I haue put away before thee.

16 And thine house shalbe stablished & thy kingdome for euer before thee, euen thy throne shalbe stablished for euer.

17 According to all these wordes, & according to all this vision, Nathan spake thus unto Dauid.

18 ¶ Then king Dauid went in, & sate before the Lorde, and saide, Who am I, O Lorde God, & what is mine house, that thou hast brought me hitherto?

19 And this was yet a smal thing in thy sight, O Lord God, therefore thou hast spoken

CHAP. VIII.

Dauid ouercommeth the Philiſtims, and other ſtrange nations, and maketh them tributaries to Iſrael.

1 Chron. 18.1. Pſal. 60.2.

1 AFter p this nowe, Dauid ſmote the Philiſtims, & ſubdued them, and Dauid tooke q the bridle of bondage out of r the hand of the Philiſtims.

2 And he ſmote Moab, and meaſured them with a corde, and caſt them downe to the ground: he meaſured them with s two cordes to put them to death, and with one full corde to keepe them aliue: ſo became the Moabites Dauids ſeruants, and brought giftes.

3 ¶ Dauid ſmote alſo Hadadezer the ſonne of Rehob king of Zobah as hee went to t recouer his border at the riuer u Euphrates.

4 And Dauid tooke of them a thouſand & ſeuen hundreth horſemen, and twentie thouſande footemen, and Dauid x deſtroyed all the charets, but he reſerued an hundreth charets of them.

5 ¶ Then came y the Aramites of z Damaſek to ſuccour Hadadezer king of Zobah, but Dauid ſlew of the Aramites two and twentie thouſand men.

6 And Dauid put a gariſon in c Aram of Damaſek: and the Aramites became ſeruants to Dauid, d and brought gifts. And the Lorde ſaued Dauid whereſoeuer he went.

7 And Dauid tooke the ſhieldes of golde that belonged to the ſeruants of Hadadezer, and brought them to e Ieruſalem.

8 And out of Betah, and Berothai (cities of Hadadezer) king Dauid brought exceeding much braſſe.

9 ¶ Then Toi king of f Hamath heard how Dauid had ſmitten all the hoſte of Hadadezer, 10 Therefore Toi ſent Ioram his ſonne vnto king Dauid, "to ſalute him, and to "g reioyce with him becauſe he had fought againſt Hadadezer, and beaten him (for Hadadezer had warre with Toi) who h brought with him veſſels of ſiluer, and veſſels of golde and veſſels of braſſe.

11 And king Dauid did dedicate them vnto the Lord with the ſiluer and golde that he had dedicate of all the nations, which he had ſubdued:

12 Of i Aram, and of Moab, and of the childien of Ammon, and of the Philiſtims, and of Amalek, and of the ſpoyle of Hadadezer the ſonne of Rehob king of Zobah.

13 So Dauid gate a name after that he returned, & had ſlaine of the Aramites in the k valley of ſalt eightene thouſand men.

14 And he put a gariſō in Edom: throughout all Edom put he ſouldiers, and all they of Edom became Dauids ſeruāts: and the Lorde kept Dauid l whitherſoeuer he went.

15 Thus Dauid reigned ouer all Iſrael, and executed m iudgement and iuſtice vnto all his people.

16 And Ioab the ſonne of Zeruiah was ouer the hoſte, and Iehoſaphat the ſonne of Ahilud was n recorder.

17 And Tadok the ſonne of Ahitub, & Ahimelech the ſonne of Abiathar were the Prieſts, and Seraiah the ſcribe.

18 And Benaiah the ſonne of Iehoiada o and the h Cherethites and the Pelethites, and Dauids ſonnes were chiefe rulers.

CHAP. X.

4 The messengers of Dauid are villainously entreated of the king of Ammon. 7 Ioab is sent against the Ammonites.

1 After this, the [*] king of the children of Ammon died, and Hanun his sonne reigned in his stead.

*1. Chron. 19. 2.

2 Then said Dauid, I will shew kindnes vnto Hanun [b] sonne of Nahash, as his father [*] shewed kindnes vnto me. And Dauid sent his seruants to comfort him for his father. So Dauids seruāts came into the land of [c] children of Ammon.

a The children of God are not vnmindful of a benefite receiued.

*Ebr. In thine eies doeth Dauid.

3 And the Princes of the children of Ammon sayde vnto Hanun their lorde, [*] Thinkest thou [c] Dauid doeth honour thy father, that he hath sent comforters to thee? hath not Dauid rather sent his seruants vnto thee, [b] to search the citie, and to spie it out, and to ouerthrow it?

b Their arrogāt malice would not suffer them to see the simplicitie of Dauids heart: therefore their counsel turned to the destruction of their countrey.

4 Wherefore Hanun tooke Dauids seruants, and shaued off the halfe of their beard, and cut off their garments in the middle, euen to their buttocks, and sent them away.

5 ¶ When it was told vnto Dauid, he sent to meete them (for the men were exceedingly ashamed) and the king said, Tarie at Iericho, vntill your beardes be growen, then returne.

6 ¶ And when the children of Ammon saw that they [c] stanke in the sight of Dauid, the children of Ammon sent and hired the [d] Aramites of the house of Rehob, and the Aramites of Zoba, twentie thousand footemen, & of king Maacah a thousande men, and of Ish-tob twelue thousand men.

c That they had deserued Dauids displeasure, for the iniurie done to his ambassadours.

[*] Or, Syrians.

7 And when Dauid heard of it, he sent Ioab, and all the hoste of the strong men.

8 And the children of Ammon came out, and put their armie in arap at the entring in of the gate: and the Aramites of [d] Zoba, and of Rehob, & of Ish-tob, and of Maacah were by themselues in the fielde.

d These were diuers partes of the countrey of Syria, whereby appeareth that the Syrians serued, where they might haue entertainment, as now the Sweitzers doe.

9 When Ioab saw that the front of the battell was against him before and behind, he chose of all the choice of Israel, and put them in arape against the Aramites.

10 And the rest of the people he delinered into the hande of Abishai his brother, that he might put them in arap against the children of Ammon.

11 And he said, If the Aramites be stronger then I, thou shalt helpe me, & if the children of Ammon be too strong for thee, I will come and succour thee.

12 Be strong and let vs be valiant for [e] our people, & for the cities of our God, and let the Lord doe that which is good in his eyes.

e Here is declared wherefore warre ought to be vndertaken: for the defence of true religion & Gods people.

13 Then Ioab, and the people that was with him, ioyned in battell with the Aramites, who fled before him.

14 And whē the children of Ammon saw that the Aramites fled, they fled also before Abishai, and entred into the citie. So Ioab returned from [b] children of Ammon, and came to Ierusalem.

15 ¶ And when the Aramites sawe that they were smitten before Israel, they gathered them together.

16 And [*] Hadarezer sent, and brought out the Aramites that were beyond the [†] Riuer: and they came to Helam, and Shobach the captaine of the hoste of Hadarezer, went before them.

*Or, Hadadezer. †Or, Euphrates.

17 When it was shewed Dauid, then he gathered [f] al Israel together, & passed ouer Iorden and came to Helam: and the Aramites set them selues in arap against Dauid, and fought with him:

f Meaning, the greatest part.

18 And the Aramites fled before Israel: and and Dauid destroyed a seuen hundreth charets of the Aramites, & fortie thousand horsemen, and smote Shobach the captaine of his hoste, who dyed there.

19 And when all the kings, that were seruants to Hadarezer, sawe that they fell before Israel, they made peace with Israel, & serued them. And the Aramites feared to helpe the children of Ammon any more.

CHAP. XI.

1 The citie Rabbah is besieged. 4 Dauid committeth adulterie. 17 Vriah is slaine. 27 Dauid marrieth Bath-sheba.

a The yeere following about the spring time. 2.Chr.20.1.

1 AND when the yere was a expired in the time when Kings goe forth to battell, Dauid sent *Joab, and his seruaunts with him, and all Israel, who destroyed the children of Ammon, and besieged Rabbah: but Dauid remained in Jerusalem.

b Whereupon he vsed to rest at after noone, as was read of Ishbosheth, Chap. 4.7.

2 ¶ And when it was euening tide, Dauid arose out of his b bed, and walked vpon the roofe of the kings palace: and from the roofe he sawe a woman washing her selfe: and the woman was very beautifull to looke vpon.

3 And Dauid sent & inquired what woman it was: and one sayd, Is not this Bath-sheba the daughter of Eliam, wife to Vriah the *Hittite?

c Who was not an Israelite borne, but converted to the true religion. Leuit.15.19. and 18.19.

4 Then Dauid sent messengers, & tooke her away: and she came vnto him and he lay with her: (now she was *purified from her vncleannes) and she returned vnto her house.

d Fearing least she should be stoned according to the Law.

5 And the woman conceiued: therefore she sent and d tolde Dauid, and sayd, I am with childe.

6 ¶ Then Dauid sent to Joab, saying, Send me Vriah the Hittite. And Joab sent Vriah to Dauid.

7 And when Vriah came vnto him, Dauid demanded him how Joab did, and how the people fared, and howe the warre prospered.

e Dauid thought that if Vriah lay with his wife, his fault might be cloked.

8 Afterward Dauid said to Vriah, e Go downe to thine house, & wash thy feete. So Vriah departed out of the Kinges palace, and the King sent a present after him.

9 But Vriah slept at the doore of the kings palace with all the seruants of his lord, and went not downe to his house.

10 Then they told Dauid, saying, Vriah went not downe to his house: and Dauid saide vnto Vriah, Commest thou not from thy iourney? why didst thou not go downe to thine house?

f Hereby God would touch Dauids conscience, that seeing the fidelitie and religion of his seruite, he would declare himselfe so forgetfull of God & iniurious to his seruant.

11 Then Vriah answered Dauid, f The Arke & Israel, & Judah dwell in tents: and my lord Joab & the seruants of my lord abide in the open field: shall I then go into mine house to eat & drinke, & lye with my wife? by thy life, & by the life of thy soule, I will not do this thing.

12 Then Dauid said vnto Vriah, Tarye yet this day, and to morow I will send thee away. So Vriah abode in Jerusalem that day, and the morow.

13 Then Dauid called him, & he did eate and drinke before him, & he made him drunke: & at euen he went out to lie on his couche with the seruants of his lord, but went not downe to his house.

g He made him drinke more liberally then he was wont to do, thinking hereby he would haue lyen by his wife. *Ebr.for-yng.

14 And on the morow Dauid wrote a letter to Joab, & sent it by the hande of Vriah.

15 And he wrote thus in the letter, g Put ye Vriah in the forefront of the strength of the battell, and recule ye backe from him, that he may be smitten, and die.

h Except God continually vphold vs with his mightie spirite, we most perfectsal headlong into all vice and abomination.

16 ¶ So when Joab besieged the citie, he assigned Vriah vnto a place, where he knew that strong men were.

17 And the men of the citie came out, & fought with Joab: and there fell of the people of the seruaunts of Dauid, and Vriah the Hittite also dyed.

18 Then Joab sent & told Dauid all the things concerning the warre, 19 ¶ And he charged the messenger, saying, when thou hast made an end of telling all the matters of the war vnto the king,

*Or, thou shalt doe this, &c.

20 *And if the kings anger arise, & that he say vnto thee, Wherefore approched ye vnto the citie to fight? knewe ye not that they would hurle from the wall?

i Meaning, Gideon, Iudg.9. 52.53.

21 Who smote Abimelech sonne of i Jerubbesheth? did not a woman cast a piece of a milstone vpon him from the wal, & he dyed in Thebez? why went you nye the wall? Then say thou, Thy seruant Vriah the Hittite is also dead.

22 ¶ So the messenger went, & came & shewed Dauid all that Joab had sent him for.

23 And the messenger sayd vnto Dauid, Certainly the men preuailed against vs, and came out vnto vs into the field, but we "pursued them vnto the entring of the gate.

*Ebr.were against them.

24 But the shooters shot from the wall against thy seruants, & some of the kings seruants be dead: and thy seruant Vriah the Hittite is also dead.

25 Then Dauid said vnto the messenger, k Thus shalt thou saye vnto Joab, Let not this thing trouble thee: for the sword deuoureth "one as well as an other: make thy battell more strong against the citie & destroy it, & encourage thou him.

k He dissembleth with the messenger, to the intent that neither his cruell commandement, nor Joabs wicked obedience might be espied.

*Ebr.so and so.

26 ¶ And when the wife of Vriah heard that her husband Vriah was dead, shee mourned for her husband.

27 So when the mourning was past, Dauid sent & tooke her into his house, and shee became his wife, and bare him a sonne: but the thing that Dauid had done, "displeased the Lord.

1 Dauid reproued by Nathan confesseth his sinne. 18 The child conceiued in adulterie, dieth. 24 Salomon is borne. 26 Rabbah is taken. 31 The citizens are grieuously punished.

1 THen the Lord a sent Nathan vnto Dauid, who came to him, and said vnto him, There were two men in a Because Dauid lay now drowned in sinne, the louing mercie of God, which suffereth not his to perish, waketh his conscience: by this similitude, and bringeth him to repentance.

one citie, the one rich, & the other poore,
2 The riche man had exceeding many sheepe and oxen:
3 But the poore had none at all, saue one litle sheepe which he had bought, and nourished vp: and it grew vp with him, and with his children also, and did eate of his owne morsels, and dranke of his owne cup, and slept in his bosome, and was vnto him as his daughter.
4 Now there came a [a] stranger vnto the riche man, who [b] refused to take of his owne sheepe, and of his owne oxen to dresse for the stranger that was come vnto him, but tooke the poore mans sheepe, and dressed it for the man that was come to him.
5 Then" Dauid was exceeding wroth with the man, & said to Nathã, As the Lorde liueth, the man that hath done this thing," shall surely die,
6 And he shall restore the lambe * foure folde, because he did this thing, and had no pitie thereof.
7 Then Nathan sayde to Dauid, Thou art the man. Thus sayth the Lord God of Israel, * I anointed thee King ouer Israel, & deliuered thee out of the hand of Saul,
8 And gaue thee thy lordes [b] house, and thy lordes [c] wiues into thy bosome, and gaue thee the house of Israel, & of Iuda, and wolde moreouer (if that had bene too litle) haue giuen thee [d] such and such things.
9 Wherefore hast thou despised the commandement of the Lord, to do euill in his sight? thou hast killed Uriah the Hittite with the sword, & hast taken his wife to be thy wife, & hast slaine him with the sword of the * children of Ammon.
10 Nowe therefore the sword shal neuer depart from thine house, because thou hast despised mee, and taken the wife of Uriah the Hittite to be thy wife.
11 Thus sayth the Lorde, Behold, I will raise vp euill against thee out of thine owne house, & will * take thy wiues before thine eyes, and giue them vnto thy neighbour, and he shall lye with thy wiues in the sight of this [f] sunne.
12 For thou diddest it secretly: but I will do this thing before all Israel, & before the sunne.
13 Thē Dauid said vnto Nathã, * I haue sinned against the Lorde. And Nathan saide vnto Dauid, The Lorde also hath put away thy sinne, thou shalt not die.
14 Howbeit because by this deede thou hast caused the enemies of the Lorde to [b] blaspheme, the childe þ is borne vnto thee shall surely die.
15 ¶ So Nathã departed vnto his house: & the Lord stroke the child that Uriahs wife bare vnto Dauid, and it was sicke.
16 Dauid therefore besought God for the childe, and fasted and [i] went in, and lay all night vpon the earth.
17 Then the Elders of his house arose to come vnto him, and to cause him to rise from the ground: but he woulde not, neither did he eate [k] meat with them.
18 So on the seuenth day the childe dyed: and the seruants of Dauid feared to tell him that the childe was dead: for they said, Behold, while the child was aliue, we spake vnto him, and he would not hearken vnto our voyce: how then shal we say vnto him, The child is dead," to vexe him more?
19 But when Dauid saw that his seruãts whispered, Dauid perceyued that the childe was dead: therefore Dauid sayde vnto his seruants, Is the childe dead? And they said, Yea is dead.
20 Then Dauid [l] arose from the earth, & washed and anointed him selfe, and changed his apparel, and came into the house of the Lord, and worshipped, and afterward came to his own house, and bade that they should set bread before him, and he did eate.
21 The said [m] his seruãts vnto him, What thing is this that thou hast done? thou diddest fast & weepe for the childe, while it was aliue, but when the childe was dead, thou diddest rise vp, and eat meat.
22 And he said, While the child was yet aliue, I fasted, & wept: for I saide, Who can tel whether God will haue mercie on me, that the childe may liue?
23 But now being dead, wherefore should I now fast? * Can I bring him againe [n] any more? I shal go to him, but he shal not returne to me.
24 ¶ And Dauid comforted Bath-sheba his wife, and went in vnto her, and lay with her, * and she bare a sonne, and [o] he called his name Salomõ: also the Lord loued him.
25 For the Lord had sent" by Nathan the [p] prophet: therefore [q] he called his name Iedidiah, because the Lord loued him.
26 ¶ Then Joab fought against Rabbah of the children of Ammon, & tooke the [r] citie of the kingdome.
27 Therefore Joab sent messengers to Dauid, saying, I haue fought against Rabbah, & haue taken the citie of [r] waters.
28 Nowe therefore gather the rest of the people together, and beseige the citie, that thou mayest take it, least" the victorie be attributed to me.
29 So Dauid gathered all the people together, and went against Rabbah, and besieged it, and tooke it.
30 * And he tooke their kings crowne frõ his head, (which waied a talẽt of gold, with precious stones) and it was set on Dauids head: and he brought away the spoyle of the citie in exceeding great abundance.
31 And he carped away the people that was therein, & put them vnder [t] sawes, and vnder ꝑon harowes, and vnder axes of ꝑon, and cast them into the tyle kyne: euen thus did he with all the cities of the children of Ammon. Then Dauid and all the people returned vnto Jerusalem.

CHAP. XIII.

14 Amnon Dauids ſonne deſileth his ſiſter Tamar.
19 Tamar is comforted by her brother Abſalom.
29 Abſalom therefore killeth Amnon.

1 NOw after this ſo it was, that Abſalom þ ſonne of Dauid hauing a fayre ſiſter, whoſe name was [a] Tamar, Amnō þ ſonne of Dauid loued her.

a Tamar was Abſaloms ſiſter both by father and mother, and Amnons onely by father.

2 And Amnon was ſo ſore vexed, that he fel ſick for his ſiſter Tamar: for ſhe was a [b] virgin, & it ſeemed hard to Amnon to doe anp thing to her.

b And therefore kept in her fathers houſe, as virgins were accuſtomed.

3 But Amnon had a friend called Jonadab, the ſonne of Shimeah Dauids brother: & Jonadab was a verp ſubtil man.

4 Who ſayd vnto him, Whp are thou the kings ſonne ſo leane from dap to dap? wilt thou not tell me? Then Amnon anſwered him, I loue Tamar mp brother Abſaloms ſiſter.

c Here we ſee þ there is no enterpriſe ſo wicked, that can lacke counſel to further it.

5 And Jonadab ſaid vnto him, [c] Lie down on thp bed, and make thp ſelfe ſicke: and when thp father ſhall come to ſee thee, ſay vnto him, I prap thee, let mp ſiſter Tamar come, and giue me meate, and let her dreſſe meate in mp ſight, that I may ſee it, and eate it of her hand.

6 ¶ So Amnō lay down, & made himſelfe ſicke: & when the king came to ſee him, Amnon ſaid vnto the king, I prap the, let Tamar mp ſiſter come, & make mee a couple of [d] cakes in mp ſight, that I may receiue meate at her hand.

d Meaning, ſome delicate & daintie meate.

7 Then Dauid ſent home to Tamar, ſaying, Goe now to thp brother Amnons houſe, and dreſſe him meate.

8 ¶ So Tamar went to her brother Amnons houſe, and he lay downe: and ſhe tooke [e] floure and knead it, and made cakes in his ſight, & did bake the cakes.

e Or, paſte.

9 And ſhe tooke a pan, & [f] powred them out before him, but he would not eate. Then Amnon ſaid, Cauſe ye euerp man to go out from [g] me: ſo euerp man went out from him.

f That is, ſhe ſerued them on a diſh.

g For ſ wicked are aſhamed to do that before men, which they are not afraid to commit in the ſight of God.

10 Then Amnō ſaid vnto Tamar, Bring the meat into the chamber, that I may eate of thine hande. And Tamar tooke the cakes which ſhee had made, and brought them into the chamber to Amnon her brother.

11 And when ſhe had ſet them before him to eate, he tooke her, and ſayd vnto her, Come, lie with me, mp ſiſter.

12 But ſhe anſwered him, Nap, mp brother, doe not force me: for no ſuch thing [a] ought to be done in Iſrael: commit not this folly.

Leuit. 18. 9.

a Or, how ſhall I put away my ſhame.

13 And I, [a] whither ſhall I cauſe mp ſhame to goe? and thou ſhalt be as one [g] of the fooles in Iſrael: now therefore, I prap thee, ſpeake to the king, for hee will not denie me vnto thee.

g As a lewd and wicked perſon.

14 Howbeit he would not hearken vnto her voyce, but being ſtronger then ſhe, forced her, and lay with her.

15 Then Amnon hated her exceedingly, ſo that the hatred wherewith he hated her, was greater then the loue, wherewith he had loued her: and Amnon ſaid vnto her, Vp, get thee hence.

16 And ſhe anſwered him, [a] There is no cauſe: this euil (to put me away) is greater then the other that thou didſt vnto me: but he would not heare her.

a Or, for this cauſe.

17 But called his [a] ſeruant þ ſerued him, and ſayd, Put this woman nowe out from me, and locke the doore after her.

a Or, boye.

18 (And ſhee had a garment of [b] diuers colours vpon her: for with ſuch garments were the kings daughters that were virgins, apparelled) Then his ſeruant brought her out, and locked the doore after her.

b For that which was of diuers colours or pieces, in thoſe dayes was had in greateſt eſtimation, Gen. 37. 3. iudg. 5. 30.

19 And Tamar put aſhes on her head & rent the garment of diuers colours which was on her, & layd her hand on her head, and went her way crying.

20 And Abſalom her brother ſayd vnto her, Hath Amnon thy brother bin with thee? Now pet be [i] ſtill, mp ſiſter: he is thy brother: let not this thing grieue thine heart. So Tamar remained deſolate in her brother Abſaloms houſe.

i For though he conceiued ſudden vengeance in his heart, yet he diſſembled it til occaſion ſerued, & comforted his ſiſter.

21 ¶ But when king Dauid heard all theſe things, he was verp wroth.

22 And Abſalom ſayd vnto his brother Amnon neither good nor bad: for Abſalom hated Amnon, becauſe he had forced his ſiſter Tamar.

23 ¶ And after the time of two yeres, Abſalom had ſheepſhearers in [a] Baal-haſor, which is beſide Ephraim, and [k] Abſalom called all the kings ſonnes.

a Or, in the plains of Haſor.

k To wit, to a banket, thinking thereby to fulfill his wicked purpoſe.

24 And Abſalom came to the king and ſayd, Beholde nowe, thy ſeruant hath ſheepſhearers: I prap thee, that the king with his ſeruants would goe with thy ſeruant.

25 But the king anſwered Abſalom, Nap mp ſonne, I prap thee, let vs not go all, leaſt we be chargeable vnto thee. Yet Abſalom lay ſore vpon him: howbeit he would not goe, but [a] thanked him.

a Ebr. bleſſed.

26 Then ſaid Abſalom, But, I prap thee, ſhall not mp brother [l] Amnon goe with vs? And the king anſwered him, Whp ſhould he goe with thee?

l Pretending to the king, that Amnō was moſt deare vnto him.

27 But Abſalom was inſtant vpon him, and he ſent Amnon with him, & all the kings children.

28 ¶ Nowe had Abſalom commanded his ſeruants, ſaying, Marke now when Amnons heart is merie with wine, & when I ſay vnto you, Smite Amnō, kill him, feare not, for haue not [m] I commanded you? be bold therefore, & play the men.

m Such is the pride of the wicked maſters, that in all their wicked commandemēts they think to be obeyed.

29 And the ſeruants of Abſalom did vnto Amnon, as Abſalom had commanded: and all the kings ſonnes aroſe, and euerp man gate him vp vpon his mule, and fled.

30 ¶ And while they were in the way, tpdings came to Dauid, ſaying, Abſalom hath ſlaine all the kings ſonnes, & there is not one of them left.

31 Then the king aroſe, and tare his garments, and lay on the [n] ground, & all his ſeruants ſtoode vp with their clothes rent.

n Lamenting, as he that felt the wrath of God vpon his houſe, Chap 12. 10.

32 And Jonadab the ſonne of Shimeah Dauids brother anſwered and ſaid, Let not my Lorde ſuppoſe that they haue ſlaine all the yong men ꝑ kings ſonnes: for Amnon onely is dead, "becauſe Abſalom had reported ſo, ſince he forced his ſiſter Tamar.

"Ebr. becauſe it was put in Abſalams mouth.

[a] Or, but.

34 ¶ Then Abſalom fled: and the yong man that kept the watch, lift vp his eies, and looked, and behold, there came much people by the way of the hill ſide [a] behinde him.

[a] Or, one after another.

35 And Jonadab ſaid vnto the king, Behold, the kings ſonnes come: as thy ſeruant ſaid, [o] ſo it is.

o That onely Amnon is dead.

36 And aſſoone as he had left ſpeaking, behold, the kings ſonnes came, and lift vp their voices, and wept: and the king alſo & all his ſeruants wept exceedingly ſore.

37 But Abſalom fled away, and went to [p] Talmai the ſonne of Ammihur king of Geſhur: and Dauid mourned for his ſonne euery day.

p For Maachah his mother was the daughter of this Talmai, Chap. 3. 3.

38 So Abſalom fled, & went to Geſhur, and was there three yeeres.

39 And king Dauid [a] deſired to goe forth vnto Abſalom, becauſe he was pacified cõcerning Amnon, ſeeing he was dead.

2 And Joab ſent to Tekoah, & brought thence a "ſubtile woman, and ſaid vnto her, I pray thee, faine thy ſelfe to mourne, & nowe put on mourning apparel, and [b] anoynt not thy ſelfe with oyle: but be as a woman that had now long time mourned for the dead.

d Becauſe he hath ſlaine his brother, he ought to be ſlaine according to the law, Gen. 9. 6. Exod. 21. 12.

8 And the king ſaid vnto the woman, Go to thine houſe, and I will giue a charge for thee.

9 Then the woman of Tekoah ſaid vnto the king, Vpon me my lord, O king, this [e] treſpas be on me, and on my fathers houſe, and the king and his throne be [a] giltleſſe.

e As touching the breach of the law which puniſheth blood, let me beare the blame.

10 And the king ſaid, Bring him to me that ſpeaketh againſt thee, and he ſhall touche thee no more.

11 Then ſaid ſhe, I pray thee, let the king [f] remember ꝑ Lord thy God, that thou wouldeſt not ſuffer many reuengers of blood to deſtroy, leſt they ſlay my ſonne. And he anſwered, As the Lord liueth, there ſhal not one heare of thy ſonne fal to the earth.

f Sweare that they ſhal not reuenge ꝧ blood, which are many in nomber.

12 Then the woman ſaide, I pray thee, let thine handmaide ſpeake a worde to my lord the king. And he ſayd, Say on.

13 Then the woman ſayde, [g] Wherefore then haſt thou thought ſuch a thing as againſt the people of God? for why doeth the king, as one which is faultie, ſpeake this thing, that he wil not bring againe his baniſhed?

g Why doeſt thou giue contrarie ſentence in thy ſonne Abſalom?

14 For we muſt needes die, and we are as water ſpilt on the grounde, which can not be gathered vp againe: neither doth God [a] ſpare any perſon, yet doeth he appoint [b] meanes, not to caſt out from him, him that is expelled.

[a] Or, accept.

h God hath prouided wayes (as ſanctuaries) to ſaue them oft times, whome man iudgeth worthie death.

i For I thought they would kill this mine heire.

16 For the king will heare, to deliuer his handmaid out of the hand of the man that would deſtroy me, & alſo my ſonne from the inheritance of God.

17 Therefore thine handmaid ſaid, The word of my lord the king ſhall nowe be "comfortable: for my lord the king is euen as an [k] Angel of God in hearing of good & bad: therefore the Lord thy God be with thee.

18 Then the king anſwered, and ſaid vnto the woman, Hide not from me, I pray thee, the thing that I ſhall aſke thee. And the woman ſayd, Let my lord the king nowe ſpeake.

19 And the king ſayd, Is not [l] the hand of Joab with thee in all this? Then the woman anſwered, and ſayd, As thy ſoule liueth, my lord the king, I will not turne to the right hand nor to the left, from ought that my lord the king hath ſpoken: for euen thy ſeruant Joab bade me, and he put all theſe wordes in the mouth of thine handmaid.

l Haſt not thou done this by the counſel of Ioab?

m By ſpeaking rather in a parable then plainly.

21 ¶ And the king ſaide vnto Joab, Beholde nowe, I haue [a] done this thing: goe then, and bring the yong man Abſalom againe.

[a] Ihaue granted thy requeſt.

22 And Joab fell to the grounde on his face, & bowed him ſelfe, & [b] thanked the King. Then Joab ſayde, This day thy ſeruant knoweth, þ I haue found grace in thy ſight, my lord the King, in that the king hath fulfilled the requeſt of his ſeruant.

[b] Ebr. bleſſed.

23 ¶ And Joab aroſe, and went to Geſhur, & brought Abſalom to Jeruſalem.

24 And the king ſayde, Let him [c] turne to his owne houſe, and not ſee my face. So Abſalom turned to his owne houſe, and ſaw not the kings face.

[c] Couering here by his affection, & ſhewing ſome part of iuſtice to pleaſe the people.

25 ¶ Nowe in all Iſrael there was none to be ſo much praiſed for beautie as Abſalom: from the ſole of his foot euen to the top of his head there was no blemiſh in him.

26 And when he polled his head, (for at euerie yeres ende he polled it: becauſe it was to heauie for him, therfore he polled it) he weyghed the heare of his head at two hundreth [p] ſhekels by the kings weight.

[p] Which weyed 6. li. 4. ounces after halfe an ounce the ſhekel.

27 And Abſalom had three ſonnes, and one daughter named Tamar, which was a faire woman to looke vpon.

28 ¶ So Abſalom dwelt the ſpace of two yeeres in Jeruſalem, and ſawe not the kings face.

29 Therefore Abſalom ſent for Joab to ſend him to the King, but he would not come to him: and when he ſent againe, he would not come.

30 Therefore he ſaid vnto his ſeruantes, Beholde, Joab hath a [a] fielde by my place, & hath barley therein: goe, & ſet it [q] on fire: and Abſaloms ſeruants ſet the field on fire.

31 Then Joab aroſe, & came to Abſalom vnto his houſe, & ſaid vnto him, Wherefore haue thy ſeruantes burnt my fielde with fire?

32 And Abſalom anſwered Joab, Beholde, I ſent for thee, ſaying, Come thou hither, & I will ſend thee to the king for to ſay, Wherefore am I come from Geſhur? It had bene better for me to haue bene there ſtill: now therefore let me ſee the kings face: and [r] if there be any treſpaſſe in me, let him kill me.

[r] If I haue offended by reuenging my ſiſters diſhonour: thus the wicked iuſtifie them ſelues in their euill.

33 Then Joab came to the king, and told him: & he called for Abſalom, who came to the king, & bowed himſelfe to þ groũd on his face before the king, and the king kiſſed Abſalom.

2 And Abſalõ roſe vp early, & ſtode hard by the entring in of þ gate: & euery man that had any [a] matter, and came to the king for iudgement, him did Abſalom call vnto him, and ſaid, Of what citie art thou? & he anſwered, Thy ſeruant is of one of the [b] tribes of Iſrael.

[a] Or, controuerſie.

b That is, noting of what citie or place he was.

3 Then Abſalom ſaid vnto him, Hee, thy matters are good & righteous, but there is no man deputed of the King to heare thee.

4 Abſalom ſaide moreouer, [c] Oh that I were made iudge in the land, that euery man which hath any matter or controuerſie, might come to me, that I might do him iuſtice.

c Thus by ſlander, flattery and faire promiſes & wicked ſeeke preferment.

5 And when any man came nere to him, and did him obeiſance, he put forth his hand, and tooke him, and kiſſed him.

6 And on this maner did Abſalom to all Iſrael, that came to the King for iudgement: ſo Abſalom [d] ſtale the heartes of the men of Iſrael.

d By intiſing them from his father to him ſelfe.

7 ¶ And after [e] fortie yeres, Abſalom ſaid vnto the king, I pray thee, let me goe to Hebron, and render my vowe which I haue vowed vnto the Lord.

e Counting from the time that the Iſraelites had aſked a king of Samuel.

8 For thy ſeruant vowed a vowe when I remayned at Geſhur, in Arã, ſaying, If the Lord ſhal bring me againe in deed to Jeruſalem, I will [f] ſerue the Lord.

f By offring a peace offring, which was lawfull to do in any place.

9 And þ King ſaid vnto him, Go in peace. So he aroſe, and went to Hebron.

10 ¶ Then Abſalom ſent ſpies throughout all the tribes of Iſrael, ſaying, When ye heare the ſounde of the trumpet, ye ſhall ſay, Abſalom reigneth in Hebron.

11 ¶ And with Abſalom went two hundreth men out of Jeruſalem, that were [g] called: & they went in their ſimplicitie, knowing nothing.

g And bid to his feaſt in Hebron.

12 Alſo Abſalom ſent for Ahithophel the Gilonite Dauids counſeller, frõ his citie Giloh, while he offred ſacrifices: & the treaſon was great: for the people [h] increaſed ſtill with Abſalom.

h Ebr. went and increaſed.

13 ¶ Thẽ came a meſſenger to Dauid, ſaying, The hearts of the men of Iſrael are turned after Abſalom.

14 Then Dauid ſayde vnto all his ſeruantes that were with him at Jeruſalem, Vp, & let vs flee: for we ſhall not eſcape from [h] Abſalom: make ſpeed to departe, leſt he come ſuddenly & take vs, & bring euil vpon vs, & ſmite the citie with the edge of the ſword.

Gath,

Gath, went before the king.

19 Then saide the king to l Ittai the Gittite, Wherefore commest thou also with vs? Returne and abide with the king, for thou art a stranger: depart thou thereforе to thy place.

20 Thou camest yesterday, and should I cause thee to wander to day & goe with vs? I will goe whither I can: therefore returne thou, and carry againe thy m bre-thren: mercie and n trueth be with thee.

m Meaning, the of his familie.

n God requite thee thy friendship and fidelitie

21 And Ittai answered the king, & sayde, As the Lorde liueth, and as my lord the king liueth, in what place my lorde the king shalbe, whether in death or life, euen there surely will thy seruant be.

22 Then Dauid sayd to Ittai, Come, and go forward. And Ittai the Gittite went, and all his men, and all the children that were with him.

23 And all o countrey wept with a loud voyce, & o all the people went forwarde, but the king passed ouer the brooke Kidron: and all the people went ouer toward the way of the wildernes.

o To wit, the six hundreth men.

24 ¶ And loe, Zadok also was there, and all the Leuites with him, p bearing the Arke of the couenant of God: and they set downe the Arke of God, & Abiathar went q vp vntil the people were al come out of the citie.

t Ebr. I worship.

28 Behold, I will tarry in the fieldes of the wildernesse, vntill there come some word from you to be tolde me.

29 Zadok therefore and Abiathar caried the Arke of God againe to Jerusalem, and they taried there.

30 And Dauid went by the mount of Olines and wept as he went vp, & had his head u couered, & went barefooted: and all the people that was with him, had euery man his head couered, & as they went vp, they wept.

u With ashes & dust in signe of sorow.

31 Then one tolde Dauid, saying, Ahithophel is one of them that haue conspired with Absalom: & Dauid saide, O Lorde, I pray thee, turne the x counsell of Ahithophel into foolishnes.

x The counsel of the crafty worldlings doth more harme then the open force of the enemie.

32 ¶ Then Dauid came to the toppe of the mount where he worshipped God: and beholde, y Hushai the Archite came against him with his coate torne, and hauing earth vpon his head.

y Though Hushai dissembled here at the kings request, yet may we not vse this example to excuse our dissimulation.

33 Vnto whom Dauid saide, If thou goe with me, z shalt be a burthen vnto me.

z But if thou returne to the citie, & saye vnto Absalom, I will be thy a seruant, O king, (as I haue bene in time past thy fathers seruant, so will I now be thy seruant) then thou maiest bring me b to confusion of Ahithophel to nought.

36 Behold, there are with them their two sonnes: Ahimaaz Zadoks sonne, & Jonathan Abiathars sonne: by them also shall ye send me euery thing that ye can heare.

2 And the king saide vnto Ziba, What meanest thou by these? And Ziba said, They be c asses for the kings houshold to ride on, & bread and dried figges for the yong men to eate, & wine, that the faint may drinke in the wildernes.

c Commonly there are no viler traitors then they which vnder pretence of friendship accuse others.

3 And the king saide, But where is thy masters sonne? Then Ziba answered the king, Behold, he remaineth in Jerusalem: for he said, This day shall the house of Israel restore me the kingdome of my father.

4 Then said d the king to Ziba, Behold, thine are all that pertained vnto Mephibosheth. And Ziba sayd, e I beseeche thee, let me find grace in thy sight, my lord, O king.

5 ¶ And when king Dauid came to f Bahurim, behold, thence came out a man of the family of the house of Saul, named Shimei the sonne of Gera: and he came out, and cursed.

f Which was a citie in the tribe of Beniamin.

6 And he cast stones at Dauid, & at all the seruants of king Dauid: and all the people, & all the men of warre were on his g right hand, and on his left.

g That is, round about him.

7 And thus said Shimei when he cursed, Come forth, come forth thou h murtherer, and h wicked man.

h Ebr. man of blood.

8 The Lorde hath brought vpon thee all the i blood of the house of Saul, in whose stead thou hast reigned: and the Lorde hath delinered thy kingdome into the hand of Absalom thy sonne: and behold, thou art taken in thy wickednes, because thou art a murtherer.

i Ebr. man of Belial.

9 Then said Abishai the sonne of Zeruiah vnto the king, Why doeth this k dead dog curse my lord the king? let me go, I pray thee, and take away his head.

k Reproching him as though by his meanes Ish-bosheth and Abner were slaine. 1 Sam. 24.15. and chap. 3.8.

10 ¶ But the king saide, What haue I to doe with you, yee sonnes of Zeruiah? for for he curseth, euen because the Lorde hath [f] bidden him curse Dauid: who dare then say, Wherefore hast þ done so?

11 And Dauid saide to Abishai, and to all his seruantes, Beholde, my sonne which came out of mine owne bowels, seeketh my life: then howe much more now may this sonne of Jemini? Suffer him to curse: for the Lorde hath bidden him.

12 It may be that the Lorde will looke on [g] mine affliction, and doe me good for his cursing this day.

13 And as Dauid and his men went by the way, Shimei went by the side of the mountaine ouer against him, and cursed as he went, and threwe stones against him, and cast dust.

14 Then came the King and all the people that were with him wearie, and refreshed themselues [h] there.

15 ¶ And Absalom, and all the people, the men of Israel came to Jerusalem, and Ahithophel with him.

16 And when Hushai the Archite Dauids friend was come vnto Absalom, Hushai said vnto Absalom, "God saue the King, God saue the King.

17 Then Absalom said to Hushai, Is this thy kindnes to thy [i] friend? Why wentest thou not with thy friend?

18 Hushai then answered vnto Absalom, Nay, but whom þ Lord, and this people, and all the men of Israel chuse, his will I be, and with him will I dwell.

19 And "moreouer vnto whome shall I do seruice? not to his sonne? as I serued before thy father, so will I before thee.

20 ¶ Then spake Absalom to Ahithophel, Giue counsell what we shall doe.

21 And [k] Ahithophel said vnto Absalom, Go in to thy fathers concubines, which he hath left to keepe the house: & when all Israel shall heare, that thou art abhorred of thy father, the handes of all that are with thee, shalbe strong.

22 So they spred Absalom a tent vpon the top of the house, and Absalom went in to his fathers cõcubines in the sight of all Israel.

23 And the counsell of Ahithophel which he counseled in those dayes, was like as one had asked [l] counsel at the oracle of God: so was all the counsel of Ahithophel both with Dauid and with Absalom.

CHAP. XVII.

7 Ahithophels counsell is ouerthrowen by Hushai. 14 The Lord had so ordained. 19 The Priests sonnes are hid in the well. 22 Dauid goeth ouer Iordan. 23 Ahithophel hangeth himselfe. 27 They bring vittailes to Dauid.

1 MOreouer Ahithophel said to Absalom, "Let me chuse out nowe twelue thousand men, and I will vp and follow after Dauid this night,

2 And I will come vpon him: for he is wearie, and weake handed: so I will feare him, and all the people that are with him, shall flee, and I will smite the King onely,

3 And I will bring againe all the people vnto thee, and when al that returne, (b the man whome thou seekest being slaine) all the people shalbe in peace.

4 And the saying "pleased Absalom wel, and all the Elders of Israel.

5 Then said Absalom, Call now Hushai the Archite also, and let vs heare likewise "what he sayeth.

6 So when Hushai came to Absalom, Absalom spake vnto him, saying, Ahithophel hath "spoken thus: shal we do after his saying, or no? tell thou.

7 Hushai then answered vnto Absalom, The counsell that Ahithophel hath giuen, is not [c] good at this time.

8 For, saide Hushai, thou knowest thy father, and his men, that they be strong men, and are chafed in minde, as a beare robbed of her whelpes in þ fielde: also thy father is a valiant warriour, & will not [d] lodge with the people.

9 Beholde, he is hid now in some cane, or in some place: and though some of them be ouerthrowe at the first, yet the people shall heare, and say, The people that folow Absalom," be ouerthrowen.

10 Then he also that is valiant, whose heart is as the heart of a lion, shall "shinke & faint: for all Israel knoweth, that thy father is valiant, and they which be with him, stout men.

11 Therefore my counsell is, that all Israel be gathered vnto thee, from Dan euen to Beer-sheba as the sande of the sea in nomber, and that thou go to battell in thine owne person.

12 So shall we come vpon him in some place, where we shall finde him, & "we wil vpon him as the dew falleth on the grounde: and of all the men that are with him, we will not leaue him one.

13 Moreouer if he be gotten into a citie, then shall all the men of Israel bring ropes to that citie, and we will drawe it into the riuer, vntil there be not one small stone found there.

14 ¶ Then Absalom and all the men of Israel said, The counsell of Hushai the Archite is better, then the counsell of Ahithophel: for the Lorde had "determined to destroy the [d] good counsell of Ahithophel, that the Lord might [e] bring euill vpon Absalom.

15 Then said Hushai vnto Zadok and to Abiathar the Priestes, Of this and that maner did Ahithophel and the Elders of Israel counsel Absalom: and thus and thus haue I counselled.

16 Nowe therefore sende quickely, and shewe Dauid, saying, Tarie not this night in the fields of the wildernes, but rather get thee [f] ouer, lest the king be deuoured & all the people that are [g] him.

18 Neuertheleſſe a yong man ſaw them, and tolde it to Abſalom: therefore they both departed quickly, and came to a mans houſe in Bahurim, who had a well in his court, into the which they went downe.

h Thus God ſendeth ſuccour to his in their greateſt dangers 19 And h the wife toke and ſpred a couering ouer the welles mouth, & ſpred grounde corne thereon, that the thing ſhould not be knowen.

i The Chalde text readeth, now they haue paſſed the Iorden.

21 And aſſone as they were departed, the other came out of the well, & went and tolde King Dauid, and ſaide vnto him, Vp, and get you quickely ouer the water: for k ſuch counſell hath Ahithophel giuen againſt you.

k To wit, to purſue thee with all haſte.

22 Then Dauid aroſe, and all the people that were with him, & they went ouer Jorden l vntil the dawning of the day, ſo that there lacked not one of them, that was not come ouer Jorden.

l They trauailed all night, and by morning had all their companie paſſed ouer.

23 ¶ Nowe when Ahithophel ſawe that his counſel was not followed, he ſadled his aſſe, and aroſe, and he went home vnto his citie, & put his houſhold in order, and m hanged himſelfe, & dyed, and was buried in his fathers graue.

24 ¶ Then Dauid came to Mahanaim. And Abſalom paſſed ouer Jorden, he, and all the men of Iſrael with him.

25 And Abſalom made Amaſa captaine of the hoſte in the ſtead of Joab: which Amaſa was a mans ſonne named Ithra an Iſraelite, that went into Abigal the daughter of n Nahaſh, ſiſter to Zeruiah Joabs mother.

n Who was alſo called Iſhai Dauids father.

26 So Iſrael and Abſalom pitched in the land of Gilead.

1 THen Dauid a nombred the people that were with him, and ſet ouer them captaines of thouſands and captaines of hundreths.

a For certaine of the Reubenites, Gadites, and of the halfe tribe, could not beare the inſolencie of the ſōne againſt the father, and therefore ioyned with Dauid.

2 And Dauid ſent forth the thirde parte of the people vnder the hand of Joab, and the thirde part vnder the hande of Abiſhai Joabs brother the ſonne of Zeruiah: and the other third part vnder the hande of Ittai the Gittite. And the King ſaide vnto the people, I will goe with you my ſelfe alſo.

3 But the people anſwered, Thou ſhalt not go forth: for if we flée away, they will not regarde vs, neither will they paſſe for vs, though halfe of vs were ſlaine: but thou b art nowe worth ten thouſand of vs: therefore now it is better that thou ſuccour vs out of the citie.

b Signifying, that a good gouernour ought to be ſo deare vnto his people, that they will rather loſe their liues, then that ought ſhould come vnto him.

4 Then the King ſaid vnto them, What ſeemeth you beſt, that I will do. So the King ſtoode by the gate ſide, and all the people came out by hundreths and by thouſands.

5 And the King commanded Joab and Abiſhai, and Ittai, ſaying, Entreat the yong man Abſalom gently for my ſake, and all the people heard when the King gaue all the captaines charge cōcerning Abſalom.

6 So the people went out into the fielde to meete Iſrael, and the battel was in the c wood of Ephraim:

7 Where the people of Iſrael were ſlaine before the ſeruants of Dauid: ſo there was a great ſlaughter that day, euen of twentie thouſand.

8 ¶ For the battel was ſcattered ouer all the countrey: and the wood deuoured much more people that day, then did the ſworde.

9 ¶ Now Abſalom met the ſeruants of Dauid. And Abſalom rode vpō a mule, and the mule came vnder a great thicke oke: and his head caught holde of the oke, and he was taken vp || betweene the heauen and the earth: and the mule that was vnder him went away.

16 Then Ioab [d] blewe the trumpet, & the people returned from pursuing after Israel: for Ioab held backe the people.
17 And they tooke Absaloim, and cast him into a great [e] pitte in the wood, & laied a mightie great heape of stones vpō him: & all Israel fled euery one to his tent.
18 Nowe Absalom in his life time had taken and reared him vp a pillar, which is in the [*] kings dale: for he said, I haue no [f] sonne to keepe my name in remembrance. and he called the pillar after his owne name, and it is called vnto this day, Absaloms place.

20 And Ioab sayde vnto him, Thou [g] shalt not be the messenger to day, but thou shalt beare tydinges another time, but to day thou shalt beare none: for the kings sonne is dead.
21 Then saide Ioab to Cushi, Go, tell the King, what thou hast seene. And Cushi bowed him selfe vnto Ioab, and ran.
22 Then sayd Ahimaaz the sonne of Sadok againe to Ioab, What, I pray thee, if I also runne after Cushi? And Ioab sayde, Wherefore now wilt thou runne, my sōne, seing that thou hast no tidings to bring?
23 Yet what if I runne? Then he saide vnto him, Runne. So Ahimaaz ran by the way of the plaine, and ouerwent Cushi.
24 Nowe Dauid sate betweene the two [h] gates. And the watchman went to the toppe of the gate vpon the wall, and lift vp his eyes, and saw, and behold, a man came running alone.

27 And the watchman saide, [*] Me thinketh the running of [i] formost is like the running of Ahimaaz the sonne of Sadok. Then the King saide, He is a [i] good man, and commeth with good tidings.
28 And Ahimaaz called, and sayde vnto the king, Peace be with thee: and he fell downe to the earth vpon his face before the king, and said, Blessed be the Lorde thy God, who hath [*] shut vp the men that lift vp their hands against my lord the king.
29 And the king saide, Is the yong man Absalom safe? And Ahimaaz answered, When Ioab sent the kings [k] seruant, & me thy seruant, I sawe a great tumult, but I knewe not what.
30 And the king said vnto him, Turne aside, & stand here. so he turned aside and stood still.

33 And the king was [l] moued, & went vp to the chamber ouer the gate, & wept: & as he went, thus he sayde, O my sonne Absalom, my sonne, my sonne Absalō: would God I had dyed for thee, O Absalom, my sonne, my sonne.

11 But King Dauid sent to Zadok and to Abiathar the e Priestes, saying, Speake vnto the Elders of Iudah, and say, Why are ye behinde to bring the king againe to his house, (for the saying of all Israel is come vnto the king, euen to his house)

14 So he bowed the hearts of all the men of Iudah, as of one man: therefore they sent to the king, saying, Returne thou with all thy seruants.

15 ¶ So the king returned, and came to Jorden. And Judah came to Gilgal, for to go to meet the king, & to conduct him ouer Jorden.

16 ¶ And g Shimei the sonne of Gera, the sonne of Jemini, which was of Bahurim, hasted and came downe with the men of Judah to meete King Dauid.

17 And a thousande men of Beniamin with him, and * Tiba the seruant of the house of Saul, and his fifteene sonnes and twentie seruants with him: & they went ouer Jorden before the king.

18 And there went ouer a boate to carie ouer the kings houshold, and to do him pleasure. The Shimei the sonne of Gera fell before the king, when he was come ouer Jorden.

19 And said vnto the king, Let not my lord impute * wickednes vnto me, nor remember the thing that thy seruant did h wickedly when my lorde the king departed out of Jerusalem, that the king should take it to his heart.

20 For thy seruaunt doeth knowe, that I haue done amisse: therfore behold, I am the first this day of all the house of i Joseph, that am come to go downe to meete my lord the king.

21 But Abishai the sonne of Zeruiah answered, and saide, Shall not Shimei die for this, because he cursed the Lords anointed?

22 And Dauid said, What haue I to doe with you, ye sonnes of Zeruiah, that this day ye should be aduersaries vnto me? shall there any man dye this day in Israel? for doe not I knowe, that I am this day king ouer Israel?

23 Therefore the king said vnto Shimei, Thou shalt k not die, and the king sware vnto him.

24 ¶ And Mephibosheth the sonne of Saul came downe to meete the King, & had neither washed his feete, nor dressed his beard, nor washed his clothes from the time the king departed, vntill he returned in peace.

25 And l when he was come to Jerusalem, & met the King, the king said vnto him, Wherefore wentest not thou with me, Mephibosheth?

26 And he answered, My lorde the king, my seruant deceiued me: for thy seruant saide, I would haue mine asse sadled to ride thereon for to go with the king, because thy seruant is lame.

27 And hee hath * accused thy seruaunt vnto my lord the King: but my lord the king is as an m Angel of God: do therefore thy pleasure.

28 For all my fathers house were * but dead men before my lorde the king, yet didest thou set thy seruant among them that did eate at thine owne table: what right therefore haue I yet to crye any more vnto the king?

29 And the King sayde vnto him, Why speakest thou any more of thy matters? I haue said, Thou, and Tiba deuide the o lands.

30 And Mephibosheth said vnto the King, Yea, let him take all, seeing my lord the king is come home in peace.

31 ¶ Then Barzillai the Gileadite came downe from Rogelim, and went ouer Jorden with the King, to conduct him ouer Jorden.

32 Now Barzillai was a very aged man, euen fourescore yere old, and he had prouided the King of sustenance, while hee lay at Mahanaim: for he was a man of very great substance.

33 And the King sayde vnto Barzillai, Come ouer with me, and I will feede thee with me in Jerusalem.

34 And Barzillai sayde vnto the King, p How long haue I to liue, that I should go vp with the king to Jerusalem?

35 I am this day fourescore yere olde: & can I discerne betweene good or euill? Hath thy seruant any taste in that I eat or in that I drinke? can I heare any more the voyce of singing men and women? wherefore then should thy seruant be any more a q burthen vnto my lord the king?

36 Thy seruant will go a litle way ouer Jorden with the king, and why wil the king recompense it me with such a reward?

37 I pray thee, let thy seruant turne back againe, that I may dye in mine owne citie, & be buried in the graue of my father and of my mother: but behold thy seruant r Chimham, let him goe with my lord the king, and doe to him what shall please thee.

38 And the king answered, Chimham shal go with me, and I will doe to him that thou shalt be content with: & whatsoner thou shalt s require of me, that will I doe

1 Sheba raiſeth Iſrael againſt Dauid. 10 Ioab killeth Amaſa traiterouſly. 23 The head of Sheba is deliuered to Ioab. 23 Dauids chiefe officers.

1 THen there was come [a] thither a wicked man (named Sheba the ſonne of Bichri, a man of Iemini) and he blewe the trumpet, & ſaide, We haue no part in [b] Dauid, neyther haue we inheritance in the ſonne [c] of Iſhai: euery man to his tents, O Iſrael.

2 So euery man of Iſrael went from Dauid and followed Sheba the ſonne of Bichri: but the men of Iudah claue faſt vnto their king, from [d] Iorden euen to Ieruſalem.

3 When Dauid then came to his houſe to Ieruſalem, the king tooke the ten women his [e] concubines, that he had left behind him to keepe the houſe, and put them in warde, and fed them, but lay no more with them: but they were incloſed vnto the day of their death, liuing in widowhoode.

4 ¶ Then ſaid the king to [e] Amaſa, Aſſemble me the men of Iudah within three dayes, and be thou here preſent.

5 So Amaſa went to aſſemble Iudah, but he taried longer then the time which he had appointed him.

6 Then Dauid ſaid to Abiſhai, Nowe ſhall Sheba the ſonne of Bichri doe vs more harme then did Abſalom: take thou therefore thy [f] lordes ſeruants & follow after him, leſt he get him walled cities, and eſcape vs.

7 And there went out after him Ioabs men, and the [g] Cherethites and the Pelethites, and all the mightie men: and they departed out of Ieruſalem, to follow after Sheba the ſonne of Bichri.

8 When they were at the great ſtone, which is in Gibeon, Amaſa went before them, and Ioabs garment, that he had put on, was girded vnto him, & vpon it was a ſwoorde girded, which hanged on his loynes in the ſheath, and as he went, it vſed to fall out.

9 And Ioab ſaide to Amaſa, Art thou in [h] health, my brother? And Ioab tooke Amaſa by the beard with the right hand to kiſſe him.

10 But Amaſa tooke no heede to the ſwoorde that was in Ioabs hand: for therewith he ſmote him in the fift rib, & ſhed out his bowels to the ground, and [i] ſmote him not the ſecond time: ſo he died. then Ioab & Abiſhai his brother followed after Sheba the ſonne of Bichri.

11 And one of Ioabs men [k] ſtoode by him, and ſaide, He that fauoureth Ioab, and he that is of Dauids parte, let him go after Ioab.

12 And Amaſa wallowed in blood in the middes of the way: and when the man ſawe that all the people ſtoode ſtill, he removed Amaſa out of the way into the fielde, and caſt a cloth vpon him, becauſe he ſawe that euery one that came by him, ſtoode ſtill.

13 ¶ When he was removed out of the way, euery man went after Ioab, to follow after Sheba the ſonne of Bichri.

14 And he went through all the tribes of Iſrael vnto Abel, and [l] Bethmaachah and all places of Berim: they gathered together, & went alſo after him.

15 So they came, and beſieged him in Abel, neere to Bethmaachah: and they caſt vp a mount againſt the citie, & the people therof ſtoode on the ramper, and all the people that was with Ioab, [k] deſtroyed and caſt downe the wall.

16 Then cryed a wiſe woman out of the citie, Heare, heare, I pray you, ſay vnto Ioab, Come thou hither, that I may ſpeake with thee.

17 And when he came neere vnto her, the woman ſaid, Art thou Ioab? And he anſwered, Yea. And ſhe ſaid to him, Heare the wordes of thine handmaide. And he anſwered, I do heare.

18 Then ſhe ſpake thus, [l] They ſpake in the old time, ſaying, They ſhoulde aſke of Abel, and ſo haue they continued.

19 I am [m] one of them, that are peaceable & faithfull in Iſrael: and thou goeſt about to deſtroy a citie, & a mother in Iſrael: why wilt thou deuoure the inheritance of the Lord?

20 And Ioab anſwered, and ſaide, God forbid, God forbid it me, that I ſhould deuoure, or deſtroy it.

21 The [n] matter is not ſo, but a man of mount Ephraim (Sheba the ſonne of Bichri by name) hath lift vp his hande againſt the King, euen againſt Dauid: deliuer vs him onely, & I will depart frō the citie. And the woman ſaid vnto Ioab, Behold, his head ſhalbe throwen to thee

2 Then the King called the Gibeonites, and said vnto them (Nowe the Gibeonites were not of the children of Israel, but * a remnant of the Amorites, vnto whome the children of Israel had sworne: but Saul sought to slay them for his zeale towarde the children of Israel and Judah)
3 And Dauid said vnto the Gibeonites, b What shall I do for you, and wherewith shall I make the atonement, that ye may bleste the inheritance of the Lord?
4 The Gibeonites then answered him, We will haue no siluer nor gold of Saul nor of his house, neither for vs shalt thou kill c any man in Israel. And he said, What ye shall say, that will I doe for you.
5 Then they answered the King, The man that consumed vs, and that imagined euil against vs, so that we are destroyed from remaining in any coast of Israel,
6 Let seuen men of his d sonnes be deliuerd vnto vs, and we will hang them vp e vnto the Lord in Gibeah of Saul, the Lordes chosen. And the King sayde, I will giue them.
7 But the King had compassion on Mephibosheth the sonne of Jonathan the sonne of Saul, because of the * Lordes othe, that was betweene them, euen betwene Dauid and Jonathan the sonne of Saul.
8 But the King toke the two sonnes of Rizpah the daughter of Aiah, whom she bare vnto Saul, euen Armoni and Mephibosheth, and the fiue sonnes of f Michal, the daughter of Saul, whom she bare to Adriel the sonne of Barzillai the Meholathite.
9 And he deliuered them vnto the hands of the Gibeonites, which hanged them in the mountaine before the Lorde: so they " died all seuen together, and they were slaine in the time of harnest: in the g first daies, and in the beginning of barley harnest.
10 Then Rizpah the daughter of Aiah toke h sackecloth and hanged it vp for her vpon the rocke, from the beginning of harnest, vntill i water dropped vpon them from the heauen, & suffred neither the birdes of the aire to "light on them by day, nor beasts of the field by night.
11 ¶ And it was tolde Dauid, what Rizpah the daughter of Aiah the concubine of Saul had done.
12 And Dauid went and toke the bones of Saul and the bones of Jonathã his sonne from the citizens of Jabesh Gilead, which had stolen them from the strete of Beth-shan, where the Philistims had * hanged them, when the Philistims had slaine Saul in Gilboa.
13 So he brought thence the bones of Saul and the bones of Jonathan his sonne, and they gathered the bones of them that were hanged.
14 And the bones of Saul and of Jonathan his sonne buried they in the countrey of Benjamin in Zelah, in the graue of Kish his father: and when they had performed all that the King had commanded, God was then k appeased with the land.
15 ¶ Againe the Philistims had warre with Israel: & Dauid went downe, & his seruants with him, & they fought against the Philistims, & Dauid fainted.
16 Then Ishi-benob which was of the sonnes of l Haraphah (the head of whose speare waped three hundreth m shekels of brasse) euen he being girded with a newe sworde, thought to haue slaine Dauid.
17 But Abishai the sonne of Zeruiah succoured him, & smote the Philistim, and killed him. Then Dauids men sware vnto him, saying, Thou shalt goe no more out with vs to battel, lest thou quench the * light of Israel.
18 ¶ And after this also there was a battel with the Philistims at * Gob, then Sibbechai the Hushathite slewe Saph, which was one of the sonnes of Haraphah.
19 And there was yet another battell in Gob with the Philistims, where Elhanah the sonne of Jaare-oregim, a Bethlehemite slewe n Goliath the Gittite: the staffe of whose speare was like a weauers beame.
20 Afterward there was also a battel in Gath, where was a man of a great stature, and had on euery hand six fingers, and on euery foote sixe toes, foure and twentie in number: who was also the sonne of Haraphah.

2 Dauid after his victories praiseth God. 8 The anger of God toward the wicked. 44 He prophesieth of the reiection of the Iewes, and vocation of the Gentiles.

1 AND Dauid spake the wordes of this a song vnto the Lord, what time the Lorde had deliuered him out of the hands of all his enemies, and out of the hand of Saul.
2 And he said, * The Lord is my b rocke & my fortresse, and he that deliuereth me.
3 God is my c strength, in him wil I trust: my shielde, & the horne of my saluatiõ, my hie tower & my refuge: my Sauiour, thou hast saued me from violence.
4 I will call on the Lord, who is worthy to be praised: so shal I be safe from mine enemies.
5 For the d pangs of death haue compassed me: the floods of vngodlines haue made me afraid.
6 The sorowes of hell grane compassed me about: the snares of death ouertooke me.
7 But in my tribulation did I call vpon the Lorde, and crye to my God, & he did heare my voyce out of his temple, & my cry did enter into his eares.
8 Then the earth trembled & quaked: the foundations of the heauens mooued, & shooke, because he was angry.
9 e Smoke went out at his nostrels, and consuming f fire out of his mouth: coles were kindled thereat.
10 He f bowed the heauens also, & came downe, & darkenes was vnder his feete.
11 And he rode vpon a Cherub and did flie, and he was seene vpon the winges of the winde.
12 And he made darkenesse a tabernacle rounde about him, euen the gatherings of waters, and the cloudes of the aire.
13 At the brightnesse of his presence h the coles of fire were kindled.
14 The Lord thundred from heauen, and the most hie gaue his voyce.
15 He shot arowes also, and scattred the: to wit, lightning, and destroyed them.
16 The i chanels also of the sea appeared; euen the foundations of the world were discouered by the rebuking of the Lord, & at the blast of the breath of his nostrels.
17 He sent from aboue, and tooke me: he drewe me out of many waters.
18 He deliuered me from my strong enemie, and from them that hated me: for they were too strong for me.
19 They k preuented me in the day of my calamitie, but the Lord was my stay.
20 And brought me forth into a large place: he deliuered me, because he fauoured me.
21 The Lorde rewarded me according to my l righteousnesse: according to the pureues of mine handes he recompensed me.
22 For I kept the wayes of the Lorde, & did not m wickedly against my God.
23 For all his lawes were before me, & his statutes: I did not depart therefrom.
24 I was vpright also toward him, and haue kept me from my wickednes.
25 Therefore the Lord did reward me, according to my righteousnes, according to my pureues before his eyes.
26 With the godly thou wilt shewe thy selfe godly: with the vpright man thou wilt shew thy selfe vpright.
27 With the pure thou wilt shew thy self pure, and with the n froward thou wilt shew thy selfe froward.
28 Thus thou wilt saue the poore people: but thyne eyes are vpon the haute to humble them.
29 Surely thou art my light, O Lord: & the Lord will lighten my darkenes.
30 For by thee haue I broken through an hoste, and by my God haue I leaped ouer a wall.
31 The way of God is o vncorrupt: the word of the Lord is tryed in the fire: he is a shield to all that trust in him.
32 For who is God besides the Lord? and who is mightie, saue our God?
33 God is my strength in battel, and maketh my way vpright.
34 He maketh my feete like p hindes feete, and hath set me vpon mine hie places.
35 He teacheth mine hãds to fight, so that a bowe of q braste is broken with mine armes.
36 Thou hast also giuen me the shielde of thy saluation, and thy louing kindnes hath caused me to increase.
37 Thou hast enlarged my steppes vnder me, and mine heeles haue not slid.
38 I haue pursued mine enemies & destroyed them, & haue not turned againe vntill I had consumed them.
39 Yea, I haue consumed them & thrust them through, and they shall not arise, but shall fall vnder my feete.
40 For thou hast girded me with power to battel, & them that arose against me, hast thou subdued vnder me.
41 And thou hast giuen me the neckes of mine enemies, that I might destroy the that hate me.
42 They looked about, but there was none to saue them, euen vnto the r Lord, but he answered them not.
43 Then did I beate them as smal as the dust of the earth: I did treade them flat as the clay of the strete, and did spread them abroad.
44 Thou hast also deliuered me from the contentions of my s people: thou hast preserued me to be the head ouer nations: the people which I knewe not, doe serue me.

14 And Dauid was then in an holde, and the garrison of the Philistims was then in Beth-lehem.

15 And Dauid h longed, and said, Oh, that i one would giue me to drinke of the water of the well of Beth-lehem, which is by the gate.

i Being ouercome with weatrines and thirst.

16 Then the three mightie brake into the hoste of the Philistims, and drewe water out of the well of Beth-lehem that was by the gate, and tooke and brought it to Dauid, who would not drinke thereof, but k powred it for an offring vnto the Lord, k Brideling his affection, & also defiring God not to be offended for that rash enterpise.

17 And said, O Lord, be it farre from me, that I shoulde do this. Is not this the blood of the men that went in ieopardie of their liues? therefore he would not drinke it. These things did these three mightie men.

38 Ira the Ithrite: Gareb the Ithrite:
39 Vriah the Hittite, * thirtie and seuen in all.

* These came to Dauid and helped to restore him to his kingdome.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 Dauid nombreth the people to be nombred. 10 He repenteth, and chuseth to fal into Gods hands. 15 Seuentie thousand perish with the pestilence.

1 AND the wrath of the Loyd was * againe kindled against Israel, & he moued Dauid against them, in that he said, Go, nomber Israel and Iudah.
2 For the king said to Joab the captaine of the hoste, which was with him, Goe speedily nowe through all the tribes of Israel, from Dan euen to Beer-sheba, and nomber ye the people, that I may know the number of the people.
3 And Joab sayde vnto the king, The Loyde thy God increase the people an hundreth folde mo then they be, & that the eyes of my lord the king may see it: but why doeth my lord the King desire this thing?
4 Notwithstanding the kings word preuailed against Joab & against the captaines of the hoste: therefore Joab and the captains of the hoste went out from the presence of the king, to nomber the people of Israel.
5 And they passed ouer Jorden, and pitched in Aroer at the right side of the citie that is in the middes of the [b]valley of Gad and toward Jazer.
6 Then they came to Gilead, & to [c] Tahtim-hodshi, so they came to Dan-Jaan, and so about to Zidon.
7 And came to the fortresse of [a] Tyrus & to all the cities of the Hiuites and of the Canaanites, & went toward the South of Judah, euen to Beer-sheba.
8 So when they had gone about all the lande, they returned to Jerusalem at the ende of nine monethes and twentie dayes.
9 And Joab delinered the nomber and summe of the people vnto the king: and there were in Israel [d] eight hundreth thousand strong men that drew swords, and the men of Judah were * fiue hundreth thousand men.
10 Then Dauids heart smote him, after that he had nombred the people: and Dauid said vnto the Loyde, I haue sinned exceedingly in that I haue done: therefore nowe, Loyde, I beseche thee, take away the trespasse of thy seruant: for I haue done very foolishly.
11 And when Dauid was vp in the morning, the word of the Loyd came vnto the Prophet Gad Dauids [e] Seer, saying, 12 Go, and say vnto Dauid, Thus saith the Loyde, I offer thee three thinges, chuse thee which of them I shall do vnto thee.
13 So Gad came to Dauid, and shewed him, and said vnto him, Wilt thou that * seuen yeres famine come vpon thee in thy land, or wilt thou flee three monethes before thine enemies, they following thee, or that there be three dayes pestilence in thy land? now aduise thee, and see, what answere I shall giue to him that sent me.
14 And Dauid said vnto Gad, I am in a wonderfull strait: let vs fall now into the hand of the Loyd, (for his mercies are great) and let me not fall into the hand of man.
15 So the Loyd sent a pestilence in Israel, from the morning euen to the time appointed: and there died of the people from [h] Dan euen to Beer-sheba seuentie thousand men.
16 And when the Angel stretched out his hand vpon Jerusalem to destroy it, the Loyd [i] repented of the euil, & said to the Angel that destroyed the people, It is sufficient, [i] hold nowe thine hand. And the Angel of the Loyd was by the threshing place of Araunah the Jebusite.
17 And Dauid spake vnto the Loyd (when he saw the Angel that smote the people) and said, Beholde, I haue sinned, yea, I haue done wickedly: but these sheepe, what haue they [k] done? let thine hand, I pray thee, be against me and against my fathers house.
18 So Gad came the same day to Dauid, & said vnto him, Go vp, reare an altar vnto the Loyd in the threshing floore of Araunah the Jebusite.
19 And Dauid (according to the saying of Gad) went vp, as the Loyd had commanded.
20 And Araunah looked, & saw the king and his seruants coming toward him, and Araunah went out, and bowed himselfe before the king on his face to the ground, 21 And [l] Araunah said, Wherefore is my lord the king come to his seruant? Then Dauid answered, To bye the threshing floore of thee, for to builde an altar vnto the Loyd, that the plague may cease from the people.
22 Then Araunah said vnto Dauid, Let my lord the king take & offer what seemeth him good in his eies: beholde the oxen for the burnt offring, & chaffes, & the instruments of the oxen for wood.
23 (All these things did Araunah [m] as a king giue vnto the king: and Araunah said

THE FIRST BOOKE OF THE KINGS.

THE ARGVMENT.

BEcause the children of God should looke for no continuall rest and quietnes in this world, the holy Ghost setteth before our eyes in this booke the varietie and change of things, which came to the people of Israel from the death of Dauid, Sálomon and the rest of the Kings, vnto the death of Ahab, declaring how that flourishing kingdomes, except they be preserued by Gods protection, (who then fauoureth them when his worde is truely set forth, vertue esteemed, vice punished, and concorde maineined) fall to decay and come to nought: as appeareth by the deuiding of the kingdome vnder Roboam, and Ieroboam, which before were but all one people, and nowe by the iust punishment of God were made two, whereof Iudah and Beniamin clawe to Roboam: and this was called the kingdome of Iudah, and the other ten tribes helde with Ieroboam, and this was called the kingdome of Israel. The King of Iudah had his throne in Ierusalem, and the king of Israel in Samaria, after it was built by Amri Ahabs father And because our sauiour Christ according to the flesh should come of the stocke of Dauid, the genealogie of the Kings of Iudah is here described, from Salomon to Ioram the sonne of Iosaphat, who reigned ouer Iudah in Ierusalem, as Ahab did ouer Israel in Samaria.

CHAP. I.

3 Abishag keepeth Dauid in his extreme age. 5 Adoniiah vsurpeth the kingdome. 30 Salomon is anointed king. 50 Adoniiah fleeth to the altar.

1 NOwe when King Dauid was [a] old, & striken in yeres, they couered him with clothes, but no [b] heate came vnto him.
2 Wherefore his seruants sayd vnto him, Let there be sought for my lorde the king a yong virgin, & let her [1] stand before the king, and cherish him: and let her lie in thy bosome, that my lorde the king may get heate.
3 So they sought for a fayre yong maide throughout all the coastes of Israel, and found one Abishag [c] a Shunammite, and brought her to the king.
4 And the maide was exceeding fayre, & cherished the king, & ministred to him, but the king knewe her not.
5 ¶ Then Adoniiah the sonne of Haggith exalted himselfe, saying, I will be king. And her gate him charets and horsemen, and [d] fiftie men to runne before him.
6 And his father wonde not displease him from his [e] childehoode, to saye, Why hast thou done so? And he was a verie goodly man, and his mother bare him next after Absalom.
7 And [f] he tooke counsel of Ioab the sonne of Zeruiah, and of Abiathar the Priest: and they [g] helped forward Adoniiah.
8 But Zadok the Priest, & Benaiah the sonne of Iehoiada, and Nathan the Prophet, and Shimei, and Rei, and the men of might, which were with Dauid, were not with Adoniiah.
9 Then Adoniiah sacrificed sheepe and oxen, and fatte cattell by the stone of Zoheleth, which is by [1] En-rogel, and called al his brethren the kings sonnes, and all the men of Iudah the Kinges seruants, 10 But Nathan the Prophet, and Benaiah, and the [h] mightie men, and Salomon his brother he called not.
11 Wherefore Nathan spake vnto Bathsheba the mother of Salomon, saying, Hast thou not heard, that Adoniiah the sonne of Haggith doth reigne, and Dauid our Lord knoweth it not?
12 Now therefore come, and I will now giue thée counsell, howe to saue thine owne life, and the life of thy sonne Salomon.
13 Go, and get thée in vnto king Dauid, and say vnto him, Diddest not thou, my lorde, O king, sweare vnto thine handmaid, saying, Assuredly Salomon thy sonne shall reigne after me, and he shall sit vpon my throne? Why is then Adoniiah king?
14 Beholde, while thou yet talkest there with the king, I also will come in after thee, and [i] confirme thy wordes.
15 ¶ So Bath-sheba went in vnto the king into the chamber, & the king was verie olde, and Abishag the Shunammite ministred vnto the king.
16 And Bath-sheba bowed and made obeysance vnto the king. And the king said, What is thy matter?
17 And she answered him, My lord, thou swarest by the Lord thy God vnto thine handmaid, saying, Assuredly Salomon thy sonne shall reigne after me, and he shall sit vpon my throne.
18 And beholde, nowe is Adoniiah king, and now, my lord, O king, thou knowest it not, k By declaring such things, as may further the same.

l The king being wome with age, could not attend to the affaires of the realme, and also Adoniiah had many flatterers which kept it from the king.

19 And he hath offred many oxen, & fatte cattel, and sheepe, and hath called all the sonnes of the king, and Abiathar the Priest, and Joab the captaine of the hoste: but Salomon thy seruant hath he not bidden.

20 And thou, my lorde, O king, knowest that the eyes of all Israel are on thee, that thou shouldest tell them, who should sit on the throne of my lord the king after him.

21 For els when my lorde the king shall sleepe with his fathers, I and my sonne Salomon shall be [k] reputed "vile.

k And so put to death as wicked transgressers. "Ebr. sinners.

22 And loe, while he yet talked with the king, Nathā also the prophet came in.

23 And they tolde the king, saying, Behold, Nathan the Prophet. And when he was come in to the king, he made obeysance before the king vpon his face [l] to the ground.

l Acknowledging him to be the true & worthy king appointed of God as the figure of his Christ.

24 And Nathan sayd, My lord, O king, hast thou said, Adonijah shal reigne after me, and he shall sit vpon my throne?

25 For he is gone down this day, & hath slaine many oxen, and fatte cattell, and sheepe, and hath called all the kinges sonnes, and the captaines of the hoste, & Abiathar the Priest: and beholde, they eat and drinke before him, & say, "God sane King Adonijah.

"Ebr. let the King Adoniah liue.

26 But me thy seruant, and Tadok the Priest, and Benaiah the sonne of Jehoiada, and thy seruāt Salomon hath he not called.

27 Is this thing done by my lord [m] king, and thou hast not shewed it vnto thy [m] seruant, who should sit on the throne of my lord the king after him?

m Meaning, that he ought in such affaires enterprise nothing, except he had consulted with the Lord.

28 ¶ Then king Dauid answered, & said, Cal me Bath-sheba. And she came into the kings presence, and stood before the king.

29 And the king sware, saying, As the Lorde liueth, who hath redeemed my soule out of all aduersitie, n Moued by the Spirit of God so to do, because he foresawe that Salomon should be the figure of Christ.

30 That as I [n] sware vnto thee by the Lorde God of Israel, saying, Assuredly Salomō thy sōne shall reigne after me, and he shall sit vpon my throne in my place, so will I certainely do this day.

31 Then Bath-sheba bowed her face to the earth, and did reuerence vnto the king, and saide, God saue my lord king Dauid for euer.

32 ¶ And king Dauid said, Cal me Tadok the Priest, and Nathan the Prophet, & Benaiah the sonne of Jehoiada. And they came before the king.

33 Then the king said vnto them, Take with you the [o] seruants of your lorde, and cause Salomon my sonne to ryde vpon mine owne mule, and carry him downe to Gihon.

o Meaning, the kings seruants, and such as were of his garde.

34 And let Tadok the Priest & Nathan the Prophet anoynt him there king ouer Israel, and blowe ye the trumpet, and say, God saue king Salomon.

35 Then come ye after him, that he may come and sit vpon my throne: & he shal he king in my stede: for I haue [p] appointed him to be prince ouer Israel & ouer Judah.

"Ebr. commanded

36 Then Benaiah the sonne of Jehoiada answered the king, and sayde, So be it, and the Lorde God of my lord the king [q] ratifie it.

"Ebr. say so.

37 As the Lorde hath bene with my lord the king, so be hee with Salomon, and exalt his throne aboue the throne of my lord king Dauid.

38 So Tadok the Priest, & Nathan the Prophet, & Benaiah the sonne of Jehoiada, & the Cherethites & the Pelethites went downe, & caused Salomon to ryde vpon king Dauids mule, and brought him to Gihon.

39 And Tadok the Priest tooke an horne of [r] oyle out of the tabernacle, & anointed Salomon: and they blew the trumpet, and all the people sayde, God sane king Salomon.

p Wherewith they accustomed to anoint the Priests and the holy instrumēts, Exod. 30.23.

40 And al the people came vp after him, and the people piped with pipes, & reioyced with great ioye, so that the earth [s] rang with the sound of them.

"Ebr. brake.

41 ¶ And Adonijah & all the ghestes that were with him, heard it: (and they had made an end of eating) and when Joab heard the sound of the trumpet, he said, What meaneth this noyse and vproze in the citie?

42 And as he yet spake, behold, Jonathan the sonne of Abiathar the Priest came: and Adonijah saide, Come in: for thou art "a worthy man, and bringest good tydings.

"Ebr. a man of power.

43 And Jonathan answered, and said to Adonijah, Verely our lord king Dauid hath made Salomon king.

q He praised Jonathan thinking to haue heard comfortable newes, but God wrought things contrary to his expectation, and so did beate downe his pride.

44 And the king hath sent with him Tadok the Priest, and Nathan the Prophet, and Benaiah the sonne of Jehoiada, and the Cherethites, and the Pelethites, & they haue caused him to ryde vpon the kings mule.

45 And Tadok the Priest, & Nathan the Prophete haue anoynted him king in Gihon: and they are gone vp frō thence with ioy, and the citie is mourd: this is the noyse that ye haue heard.

46 And Salomon also sitteth on [t] throne of the kingdome.

47 And moreouer [t] kings seruants came [u] to blesse our lorde king Dauid, saying, God make the name of Salomon more famous then thy name, and exalte his throne aboue thy throne: therefore the king worshipped vpon the [x] bed.

r To salute him and to pray and praise God for him.

s He gaue God thankes for the good successe.

48 And thus said the king also, Blessed be the Lorde God of Israel, who hath made one to sit on my throne this day, euen in my sight.

49 Then al the ghestes that were with Adonijah, were afraid, and rose vp, and went euery man his way.

t Which Dauid his father had built in ſ floore of Araunah, as 2.Sam.24.25.

50 ¶ And Adonijah fearing the presence of Salomon, arose and went, and tooke holde on the hornes of the [y] Altar.

51 And one tolde Salomon, saying, Beholholde, Adoniah doeth feare king Salomon: for lo, he hath caught holde on the hornes of the altar, saying, Let king Salomō sweare vnto me this day, that he will not slaye his seruant with the swoorde.

52 Then Salomon said, If he will shew himself a worthy man, there shalnot an heare of him fal to the earth, but if wickednes be found in him, he shall die.

53 Then king Salomon sent, and they brought him from the altar, & he came and did obeisance vnto king Salomō. And Salomon saide vnto him, Goe to thine house.

1.Sam.2.31,35.

28 ¶ Then tidings came to Ioab: (for Ioab had a turned after Adoniah, but he turned not after Absalom) & Ioab fled vnto the Tabernacle of the Lorde, and caught hold on the hornes of the altar.

a He tooke Adoniahs part when he would haue vsurped ỹ kingdom, Chap. 1.7.

29 And it was told king Salomon, þ Ioab was fled vnto the Tabernacle of the Lord, & behold, he is by the b altar. Then Salomon sent Benaiah the sonne of Iehoiada, saying, Go, fall vpon him.

b Thinking to be saued by the holines of ỹ place.

30 And Benaiah came to the Tabernacle of the Lorde, and sayde vnto him, Thus sayth the king, Come out. And he said, Nay, but I will die here. Then Benaiah brought the king worde againe, saying, Thus said Ioab, and thus he answered me.

31 And the king said vnto him, Do as he hath sayd, and c smite him, & burie him, that thou mayest take away the blood, which Ioab shed causeles, from me and from the house of my father.

c For it was lawful to take the wilful murtherer from the altar, Exod.21.14.

32 And the Lord shal bring his blood vpō his owne head: for he smote two men more righteous and better then he, and slew them with the sworde, & my father Dauid knewe not: to wit, d Abner the sonne of Ner, captaine of the hoste of Israel, and e Amasa the sonne of Ither captaine of the hoste of Iudah.

3.Sam.3.27.

2.Sam.20.10.

33 Their blood shal therefore returne vpon the f head of Ioab, & on the head of his seede for euer: but vpon Dauid, and vpon his seede, and vpon his house, and vpon his throne shall there be peace for euer from the Lord.

f Ioab shall be iustly punished for the blood that he hath cruelly shed.

34 So Benaiah the sonne of Iehoiada went vp, and smote him, and slew him, and he was buried in his owne house in the wildernes.

35 And the king put Benaiah the sonne of Iehoiada in his roume ouer the hoste: & the king set Sadok the g Priest in the roume of Abiathar.

g And so tooke the office of the hie Priest from the house of Eli, and restored it to the house of Phinehas.

36 ¶ Afterward the king sent, and called Shimei, and said vnto him, Build thee an house in Ierusalem, & dwel there, & depart not thence any whither.

37 For that day that thou goest out, and passest ouer þ riuer of Kidron, know assuredly, that thou shalt die þ death: thy blood shalbe vpon thine owne head.

38 And Shimei sayd vnto the king, The thing is good: as my lord the king hath sayd, so wil thy seruant do. So Shimei dwelt in Ierusalem many dayes.

39 And after three yeres two of the h seruāts of Shimei fled away vnto Achish sonne of Maachah king of Gath: and they told Shimei, saying, Beholde, thy seruants be in Gath.

h Thus God appointeth the wayes & meanes to bring his iust iudgements vpō the wicked.

40 And Shimei arose, & sadled his asse, & went to Gath to Achish, to seeke his seruants: & i Shimei went, & brought his seruants from Gath.

i His couetous minde moued him rather to venture his life, then to lose his worldly profite, which he had by his seruants.

41 And it was told Salomon, that Shimei had gone from Ierusalem to Gath, and was come againe.

42 And the king sent and called Shimei, and said vnto him, Did I not make thee to sweare by the Lord, and protested vnto thee, saying, That day that thou goest out, and walkest any whither, know assuredly that thou shalt die the death? And thou sadest vnto me, The thing is good, that I haue heard.

43 Why then hast thou not kept the othe of the Lord, and the commaundement wherewith I charged thee?

44 The king said also to Shimei, k Thou knowest all the wickednes whereunto thine heart is priuy, þ thou didst to Dauid my father: þ Lord therfore shal bring thy wickednes vpon thine owne head.

k For though thou wouldest deny, yet thine owne conscience would accuse thee, for reuiling and doing wrong to my father, 2.Sam.16.5.

45 And let king Salomon be blessed, and the throne of Dauid stablished before the Lord for euer.

46 So the king commaunded Benaiah the sonne of Iehoiada: who went out and smote him that he died. And the l kingdome was m stablished in the hand of Salomon.

1 SAlomon a then made affinitie with Pharaoh king of Egypt, and tooke Pharaohs daughter, and brought her into the b citie of Dauid, vntil he had made an ende of building his owne house, and the house of the Lord, and the wall of Ierusalem round about.

b Where altars were appointed before the temple was built: to offer vnto the Lord.

c For his father had commanded him to obey the Lord and walke in his wayes, Chap.2.3.

3 And Salomon loued the Lord, walking in the ordinances of Dauid his d father: onely he sacrificed and offred incense in the hie places.

d For there the Tabernacle was, 2.Chro.1.3.

4 And the king went to e Gibeon to sacrifice there, for that was the chiefe hie place: a thousande burnt offrings did Salomon offer vpon that altar.

5 In Gibeon the Lord appeared to Salomon in a dreame by night: and God sayd, Aske what I shall giue thee.

6 And Salomon said, Thou hast shewed vnto thy seruāt Dauid my father great mercie, f when he walked before thee in trueth, and in righteousnes, and in vprightnes of heart with thee: and thou hast g kept for him this great mercie, & hast giuen him a sonne, to sitte on his throne, as appeareth this day.

f Or, as he walked.

g Thou hast performed thy promise.

7 And nowe, O Lorde my GOD, thou hast made thy seruant king in steade of Dauid my father: and I am but a yong h childe, and knowe not howe to i go out and in.

h That is, to behaue my selfe in executing this charge of ruling.

8 And thy seruant is in the middes of thy people, which thou haſt choſen, euen a great people, which cannot be tolde nor nombred for multitude.

g Which are ſo many in nomber.

10 And this pleaſed the Lord well, that Salomon had deſired this thing.

11 And God ſayde vnto him, Becauſe thou haſt aſked this thing, and haſt not aſked for thy ſelfe long life, neither haſt aſked riches for thy ſelfe, nor haſt aſked the life of thine *enemies, but haſt aſked for thy ſelfe vnderſtanding to heare iudgement, h That is, that thine enemies ſhould die.

12 Beholde, I haue done according to thy wordes: lo, I haue giuen thee a wiſe and an vnderſtanding heart, ſo that there hath bene none like thee before thee, neither after thee ſhall ariſe the like vnto thee.

Mat. 6. 33. wiſd. 7. 11.

13 And I haue alſo * giuen thee that, which thou haſt not aſked, both riches & honour, ſo that among the Kings there *ſhalbe none like vnto thee all thy dayes.

*Or, hath bene none.

14 And if thou wilt walke in my wayes, to keepe mine ordinances and my commandements, *as thy father Dauid did walke, I will prolong thy dayes.

Chap. 15 5.

15 And when Salomon awoke, behold, it was i a dreame, and he came to Ieruſalem, and ſtood before the Arke of the couenant of the Lord, and offred burnt offrings and made peace offrings, and made a feaſt to all his ſeruants.

i He knew that God had appeared vnto him in a dreame.

16 ¶ Then came two *harlots vnto the King, and k ſtoode before him.

*Or, vitailers.

k By this example it appeareth that God kept promes vnto Salomon in granting him wiſedome.

17 And the one woman ſayde, Oh my lorde, I and this woman dwell in one houſe, and I was deliuered of a childe with her in the houſe.

18 And the third day after that I was deliuered, this woman was deliuered alſo: and we were in the houſe together: no ſtranger was with vs in the houſe, ſaue we twaine.

19 And this womans ſonne died in the night: for ſhe ouerlay him.

l She ſtale the quicke childe away, becauſe ſhe might both auoyde the ſhame & puniſhment.

20 And ſhe roſe at midnight, & l toke my ſonne from my ſide, while thine handmaid ſlept, & laide him in her boſome, & layd her dead ſonne in my boſome.

21 And when I roſe in the morning to giue my ſonne ſucke, beholde, he was dead: and when I had wel conſidered him in the morning, behold, it was not my ſonne, whom I had borne.

22 Then the other woman ſaid, Nay, but my ſonne liueth, and thy ſonne is dead: againe ſhe ſaid, No, but thy ſonne is dead, and mine aliue: thus they ſpake before the king.

m Except God giue iudges vnderſtanding, the impudencie of the treſpaſſer ſhal ouerthrowe the iuſt cauſe of the innocent.

23 Then ſayd the king, She ſayth, This that liueth is my ſonne, and the dead is thy ſonne: and the other ſaith, Nay, but the dead is thy ſonne, and the liuing is my ſonne.

24 Then the King ſayde, m Bring me a ſworde: and they brought out a ſworde before the king.

25 And the king ſaid, Deuide ye the liuing childe in twaine, and giue the one halfe to the one, & the other halfe to the other.

26 Then ſpake the woman, whoſe the liuing childe was, vnto the king, for her compaſſion was kindled towarde her ſonne, and ſhe ſaid, Oh my lord, giue her the liuing child, and n ſlay him not: but the other ſaid, Let it be neither mine nor thine, but deuide it.

n Her motherly affection herein appeareth, that ſhe had rather indure the rigour of the Law, the ſee her child cruelly ſlaine.

27 Then the king anſwered, and ſayde, Giue her the liuing child, and ſlay him not: this is his mother.

28 And all Iſrael heard the iudgement, which the king had iudged, & they feared the King: for they ſawe that the wiſedome of God was in him to do iuſtice.

20 Iudah and Israel were many, as the sand of the sea in number, f eating, drinking, and making merry.
21 * And Salomon reigned ouer all kingdomes, from the g River vnto the lande of the Philistims, and vnto the border of Egypt, and they brought presentes, and serued Salomon all the dayes of his life.
22 And Salomons vitailes for one day were thirtie "measures of fine floure, & threescore measures of meale:
23 Ten fat oxen, and twentie oxen of the pastures, and an hundreth sheepe, beside hartes, and buckes, and bugles, and fat fowle.
24 For he ruled in all the region on the other side of the River, frō Tiphsah euen vnto * Azzah, ouer all the h kings on the other side the River: and hee had peace round about him on euery side.
25 And Iudah and Israel dwelt without feare, euery man vnder his vine, & vnder his figtree, from i Dan, euē to Beer-sheba, all the dayes of Salomon.
26 ¶ And Salomon had * fourtie thousand stalles of horses for his charets, & twelue thousand horsemen.

CHAP. V.

1 Hiram sendeth to Salomon, and Salomon to him, purposing to builde the house of God. 6 He prepareth stuffe for the building. 13 The number of the workemen.

1 AND Hiram king of * Tyrus sent his seruantes vnto Salomon, (for hee had heard, that they had anoynted him king in the rowme of his father) becausse Hiram had euer loued Dauid.
2 * Also Salomon sent to Hiram, saying,
3 Thou knowest that Dauid my father could not build an house vnto þ Name of the Lorde his God, for the warres which were about him on euerye side, vntil the Lord had put * them vnder the soles of his feete.
4 But now the Lord my God hath giuen mee * rest on euerye side, so that there is neither aduersary, nor euill to resist.
5 And beholde, I purpose to builde an house vnto the Name of the Lorde my God, * as the Lorde spake vnto Dauid my father, saying, Thy sonne, whome I will set vpon thy throne for thee, hee shall builde an house vnto my Name.
6 Now therefore commaunde, that they hewe me cedar trees out of Lebanon, & my seruants shalbe with thy seruants, and vnto thee will I giue the b hire for thy seruants, according to all that thou shalt appoint: for thou knowest that there are none among vs, that can hewe timber like vnto the Sidonians.
7 ¶ And when c Hiram heard the wordes of Salomon, he reioyced greatly, & said, Blessed bee the Lorde this day, which hath giuen vnto Dauid a wise sonne ouer this mightie people.
8 And Hiram sent to Salomon, saying, I haue considered the thinges, for the which thou sentest vnto mee, and will accomplish all thy desire, concerning the cedar trees and firre trees.
9 My seruants shal bring them down frō Lebanon to þ sea: & I will conuey them by sea * in rafts vnto þ place that thou shalt shew me, and will cause them to be discharged there, and thou shalt receiue them: nowe thou shalt do me a pleasure to minister foode for d my family.

CHAP. VI.

1 The building of the Temple and the forme thereof.
12 The promes of the Lord to Salomon.

2. Chro. 3. 1.

1 And [a] in the foure hundreth & foure score yeere (after the children of Israel were come out of the lande of Egypt) and in the fourth yeere of the reigne of Salomon ouer Israel, in the moneth [b] Zif, (which is the second moneth) he built the [c] house of the Lord.

a Which moneth conteineth part of April and part of May.

2 And the house which king Salomon builte for the Lorde, was three score cubites long, & twentie broad, and thirtie cubites hie.

b Whereby is ment the Temple & y oracle.

3 And the [d] porche before the Temple of the house was twentie cubites long according to the breadth of the house, and ten cubites broad before the house.

c Or the court where the people praied, which was before the place where the altar of burnt offrings stood.

4 And in the house he made windowes, [1] broad without, and narow within.

[1] Or, to open and to shut.

5 And by the wall of the house hee made [1] galleries rounde about, euen by the walles of the house rounde about the Temple & [d] the oracle, and made chambers round about.

[1] Or, lofted.

d Whence God spake betweene the Cherubims, called also the most holy place.

6 The nethermost gallerie was fiue cubites broad, and the middlemost fiue cubites broade, and the third seuen cubites broade: for he made [e] restes rounde about without the house, that the beames should not be fastened in the walles of the house.

e Which were certaine stones comming out of the wall, as staies for the beames to rest vpon.

7 And when the house was built, it was built of stone perfit, before it was brought, so that there was neither hammer, nor axe, nor any tole of yron heard in the house, while it was in building.

8 The doore of the middle [1] chamber was in the right side of the house, and men went vp with winding staires into the middlemost, and out of the middlemost into the third.

[1] Or, gallerie.

f In Exodus it is called the Tabernacle: and the Temple is there called the sanctuarie, and the Oracle the most holy place.

9 So he built the [f] house and finished it, & sieled the house being bawted with sieling of cedar trees.

10 And he built the galleries vpon all the wall of the house of fiue cubites height, and they were ioyned to the house with beames of cedar.

11 And the word of the Lord came to Salomon, saying,

12 Concerning this house which thou buildest, if thou wilt walke in mine ordinances, and execute my iudgements, and keepe all my commandements, to walke in them, then wil I perfourme mine to thee my promes, [g] which I promised to Dauid thy father.

2. Sam. 7. 13.

13 And I wilbe dwell among the children of Israel, and will not forsake my people Israel.

g According as he promised vnto Moses, Exod. 25. 22.

14 So Salomon built the house and finished it,

15 And built the walles of [h] house within, with boardes of cedar tree from the pauement of the house vnto [h] the walles of the sieling, & within he couered them with wood, and couered the floore of the house with plankes of firre.

h Meaning, vnto the roofe, which was also sieled.

16 And hee buylte twentie cubites in the sides of the house with boardes of cedar, from the floore to the walles, and he prepared a place within it for the oracle, euen the most holy place.

17 But the [i] house, that is, the temple before it, was fourtie cubites long.

18 And the cedar of the house within was carued with [1] knoppes, and graue with flowres: all was cedar, so that no stone was seene.

i For when he spake of y house in the first verse, he ment both y oracle and the Temple.

[1] Or, wilde cucumbers.

19 Also he prepared the place of the oracle in the mids of the [k] house within, to set the Arke of the couenant of the Lord there.

k That is, in the most inwarde place of the house.

20 And the place of the oracle within was twentie cubites long, & twentie cubites broad, and twentie cubites hie, and hee couered it with pure golde, and couered the altar with cedar.

21 So Salomon couered the house within with pure gold: & he [1] shut the place of the oracle with chaines of golde, and couered it with gold.

[1] Ebr. he drewe through chains of golde before.

22 And hee ouerlaied all the house with golde, vntil all the house was made perfite. Also he couered [l] whole altar, that was before the oracle, with gold.

l Meaning the altar of incense, Exod. 30. 1.

23 And within the oracle hee made two Cherubims of [1] olive tree, ten cubites hie.

[1] Or, pine tree.

24 The wing also of the one Cherub was fiue cubites, and the wing of the other Cherub was fiue cubites: from the vttermost part of one of his wings vnto the vttermost part of the other of his wings, were ten cubites.

25 Also the other Cherub was of ten cubites: both the Cherubims were of one measure and one sise.

26 For the height of the one Cherub was ten cubites, & so was the other Cherub.

Exod. 25. 20.

27 And he put the Cherubims within the inner house, [m] and the Cherubims stretched out their wings, so that the wing of the one touched the one wall, and the wing of the other Cherub touched the other wall: & their other wings touched one an other in the middes of the house.

m For the other which Moses made of beaten gold, were taken away with the other iewels by their enemies, whom God permitted diuers times to ouercome them for their great sinnes.

28 And hee [n] ouerlaied the Cherubims with gold.

29 And hee carued all the walles of the house round about with grauen figures of Cherubims and of palme trees, and grauen graues flowres within and without.

30 And the floore of the house he couered with golde within and without.
31 And in þ entring of the oracle he made two doores of oliue tree: and the vpper post and side postes were fiue square.
32 The two doores also were of oliue tree, and he graued them with grauing of Cherubims and palme trees, & grauen flowres, and couered them with golde, and laped [a] thinne golde vpon the Cherubims and vpon the palme trees.
33 And so made he for þ doore of the Temple, postes of oliue tree foure square.
34 But the two doores were of firre tree, the two sides of the one doore were [b] roild, and the two sides of the other doore were round.
35 And he graued Cherubims, and palme trees, and carued flowres, and couered the carued worke with golde, finely wrought.
36 ¶ And he built the [c] court within with three rowes of hewed stone, & one rowe of beames of cedar.
37 In the fourth yere was the foundation of the house of the Lorde laied in the moneth of Zif:
38 And in the eleuenth yere in the moneth of [p] Bul, (which is the eight moneth) he finished the house with all the furniture thereof, and in euery point: so was he seuen yere in building it.

a So that the facion of the carued worke might stil appeare.

1 BVt Salomon was buylding his owne house [a] thirtene yeres, & [a] finished all his house.
a After he had built the Temple.
2 He built also an house [b] called the forest of Lebanon, an hundreth cubites long, and fiftie cubites broade, and thirtie cubites hie, vpon foure rowes of cedar pillars: & cedar beames were laied vpon the pillars.
b For the beautie of the place and great abundance of cedar trees that went to the building thereof, it was compared to mount Lebanon in Syria: this house he vsed in sommer for pleasure and recreation.
3 And it was couered aboue with cedar vpon the beames, that lay on the fourtie and fiue pillars, fiftene in a rowe.
4 And þ windowes were in three rowes, and windowe was [c] against windowe in three rankes.
c There were as many, and like proportion on the one side as on the other, and at euery ende euen three in a rowe one aboue another.

6 And he made a porch of pillars fiftie cubites long, and thirtie cubites broad, and the porch was before [d] them, euen before them were thirtie pillars.
d Before the pillars of the house.
7 ¶ Then he made a porche [e] for the throne, where he iudged, euen a porch of iudgement, and it was seled with cedar from pauement to pauement.
e For his house, which was at Ierusalem. Chap. 3. 1.
8 And in his house, where he dwelt, was an other hall more inwarde then the porche which was of the same worke. Also Salomon made an house for Pharaohs daughter (* whome he had taken to wife) like vnto this porche.
9 All these were [*] of costly stones, hewed by measure, & sawed with sawes within and without, from the foundation vnto [f] the stones of an [g] hand breedth, and on the outside to the great court.
* Or, precious.
f Which were restes and stayes for the beames to lye vpon.
g Or, span.
10 And the fundation was of costly stones, and great stones, euen of stones of tenne cubites, and stones of eyght cubites.
11 & Aboue also were costly stones, squared by rule, and boards of cedar.
g From the foundation vpward.
12 ¶ And the great court rounde about was with three rowes of hewed stones, and a rowe of cedar beames: [h] so was it to the inner court of the house of the Lord, and to the porch of the house.
h As the Lordes house was built, so was this: onely the great court of Salomons house was vncouered.
13 ¶ Then king Salomon sent, and fet one Hiram out of [i] Tyrus.
i Thus when God wil haue his glorie set forth, he raiseth vp men and giueth them excellent giftes for the accomplishment of the same, Exo. 31. 2, 3 14 He was a widowes sonne of the tribe of Naphtali, his father being a man of Tyrus, and wrought in brasse: [k] he was ful of wisdome, and vnderstanding, and knowledge to worke al maner of worke in brasse: who came to king Salomon, and wrought all his worke.
k Or, Zor.
15 ¶ For he cast two pillars of brasse: the height of a pillar was eightene cubites, & a threde of twelue cubites did compasse [l] either of the pillars.
l Ebr. the second.
16 And he made two [m] chapiters of molten brasse to set on þ toppes of the pillars: the height of one of the chapiters was fiue cubites, and the height of the other chapiter was fiue cubites.
m Or, pummels.
17 He made grates like networke, and [n] wythen worke lyke chaines for the chapiters that were on the toppe of the pillars, euen seuen for the one chapiter, and seuen for the other chapiter.
n Or, cordes like chaines.
18 So he made the pillars & two rowes of pomegranates rounde about in the one grate to couer the chapiters that were vpon the top. And thus did he for the other chapiter.
19 And the chapiters that were on the toppe of the pillars were after [k] lilye worke in the porch, foure cubites.
k As was seene commonly wrought in costly porches.
20 And the chapiters vpon the two pillars had also aboue, [o] ouer against the belly [p] within fnet worke pomegranates: for two hundreth pomegranates were in the two rankes about vpon [l] either of the chapiters.
o Or, round about the middes.
p Or, beyond.
l Ebr. the second.
21 And he set vp the pillars in the [q] porch of the Temple. And when he had set vp the right pillar, he called the name ther- of [m] Jachin: and when he had set vp the left pillar, he called the name thereof [n] Boaz.
q Which was in the inner court betweene the Temple and the oracle.
m That is, he wil stablish, to wit, his promes towarde this house.
n That is, in strength.
22 And vpon the toppe of the pillars was worke of lilies: so was the workemanship of the pillars finished.
23 ¶ And he made a molten [o] sea ten cubites wide from brim to brim, rounde in compasse, & fiue cubites hie, and a line of thirtie cubites did compasse it about.
o So called for the hugeneſſe of the veſſel.
24 And vnder the brimme of it were knoppes like wilde cucumers compassing it rounde about, tenne in one cubit, two rankes of knoppes were cast when it was molten.

two rowes of knoppes were caſt, when it was molten.

25 It ſtoode on twelue bulles, three looking toward the North, & three toward the Weſt, and three toward the South, & three toward the Eaſt: & the ſea ſtoode aboue vpon them, and all their hinder partes were inward.

26 It was [a] an handē bredth thicke, and the brim thereof was like the worke of the brim of a cup with flowres of lilies: it contayned two thouſand [p] Baths.

27 ¶ And he made tenne baſes of braſſe, one baſe was foure cubites long, & foure cubites broad, and three cubites hie.

28 ¶ And the worke of the baſes was on this maner, They had borders, and the borders were betwene the ledges:

29 And on the borders p were betweene the ledges, were lyons, bulles & Cherubims: and vpon the ledges there was a baſe aboue: and beneath the lyons and bulles, were additions made of thinne worke.

30 And euery baſe had foure braſen wheeles, and plates of braſſe: and the foure corners had [t] vnderſetters: vnder the caldron were vnderſetters molten at the ſide of euery addition.

31 And [q] the mouth of it was within the chapiter & aboue to meaſure by the cubite: for the mouth thereof was rounde made like a baſe, and it was a cubite & halfe a cubite: and alſo vpon the mouth thereof were grauen workes, whoſe bordērs were foure ſquare, and not round.

32 And vnder the bordērs were foure wheeles, & the axeltrees of the wheeles ioyned to the baſe: and the height of a wheele was a cubite and halfe a cubite.

33 And the facion of the wheeles was like the facion of a charet wheele, their axeltrees, & their naues & their [s] felloes, and their ſpokes were molten.

34 And foure vnderſetters were vpon the foure corners of one baſe: and the vnderſetters thereof were of the baſe it ſelfe.

35 And in the top of the baſe was a rounde [r] compaſſe of halfe a cubite hie round about: and vpon the top of the baſe the ledges thereof and the bordērs thereof were of the ſame.

36 And vpon the tables of p ledges thereof, & on the bordērs thereof he did graue Cherubims, lyōs & palme trees, on the ſide of euery one, and addicions rounde about.

37 Thus made he the ten baſes, They had all one caſting, one meaſure, & one ſyſe.

38 ¶ Then made he [f] ten caldrons of braſſe, one caldron contayned fourtie Baths: and euery caldron was foure cubits, one caldron was vpon one baſe throughout the ten baſes.

39 And he ſet the baſes, fiue on the right ſide of the houſe, and fiue on the left ſide of the houſe. And he ſet the ſea on the right ſide of the [t] houſe Eaſtwarde toward the South.

40 ¶ And Hiram made caldrons, and beſoms, and baſens, & Hiram finiſhed all the worke that he made to King Salomon for the houſe of the Lord:

41 To wit, two pillars and two bowles of the chapiters that were on the top of p two pillars, & two grates to couer the two bowles of the chapiters which were vpon the toppe of the pillars,

42 And foure hundreth pomegranates for the two grates, euen two rowes of pomegranates for euery grate to couer the two bowles of the chapiters, that were vpon the pillars.

43 And the ten baſes, and ten caldrons vpon the baſes,

44 And the ſea, and twelue bulles vnder that ſea,

45 And pottes, and beſoms and baſens: & all theſe veſſels, which [u] Hiram made to King Salomon for the houſe of the Lord, were of ſhining braſſe.

46 In the playne of Iordē did the King caſt them in [x] clap betwene Succoth and Zarthan.

47 And Salomon left to weigh all the veſſels becauſe of the exceeding abundance, neither coulde the weight of the braſſe be counted.

48 So Salomon made all the veſſels that perteined vnto the houſe of p Lord, the [x] golden altar, and the golden table, whereon the ſhew bread was,

49 And the candleſtickes, fiue at p right ſide, and fiue at the left, before the oracle of pure gold, & the floures, & p lampes, and the ſnuffers of golde,

50 And the bowles, & and the hookes, & the baſens, & the ſpoones, and the aſhpannes of pure golde, and the hinges of golde for the doores of the houſe within, euen for the moſt holy place, and for the doores of the houſe, to wit, of p Temple.

51 So was finiſhed all the worke that King Salomon made for the houſe of the Lorde, and Salomon brought in the thinges which [a] Dauid his father had dedicated: the ſiluer, & p gold, & the veſſels, and laied them amōg the treaſures of the houſe of the Lord.

CHAP. VIII.

4 The Arke is borne into the Temple. 10 A cloude filleth the Temple. 14 The King bleſſeth the people.

1 Then [a] King Salomon aſſembled the Elders of Iſrael, euen all the heades of the tribes, the chiefe fathers of the children of Iſrael vnto [b] him in Ieruſalem, for to bring vp the Arke of the couenant of the Lorde from the citie of Dauid, which is Zion.

2 And al the men of Iſrael aſſembled vnto king Salomon at the feaſt in the moneth of [b] Ethanim, which is the ſeuenth moneth.

3 And all the Elders of Iſrael came, and the Prieſts tooke the Arke.

4 They bare the Arke of the Lorde, and they bare the Tabernacle of the Congregation a For Dauid brought it from Obed-edom and placed it in the Tabernacle which he had made for it, 2. Sam. 6. 17.

b Conteyning part of September, and part of October, in the which moneth they helde three ſolemne feaſtes, gregation, and all the holy vessels that were in the Tabernacle: those did the Priests and Leuites bring vp.

5 And king Salomon & all the Congregation of Israel, that were assembled vnto him, were wt him before the Arke, offring sheepe and beeues, which could not be told, nor nombred for multitude.

e That is, the Kohathites, Nom.4.5.

6 So the e Priestes brought the Arke of the couenat of the Lorde vnto his place, into the oracle of the house, into the most holy place, euen vnder the wings of the Cherubims.

7 For the Cherubims stretched out their wings ouer the place of the Arke, and the Cherubims couered the Arke, & the barres thereof aboue.

d They drewe them onely out so farre as they might be seene: for they might not pul them altogether out, Exod.25.15.

8 And they d drewe out the barres, that the endes of the barres might appeare out of the Sanctuarie before the oracle, but they were not seene without: and there they are vnto this day.

e For it is like that ỹ enemies, when they had the Arke in their handes, tooke away the rod of Aaron & the pot with Man. Exod.40.34.

9 Nothing was in the Arke e saue the two tables of stone which Moses had put there at Horeb, where the Lorde made a couenant with the children of Israel, when he brought them out of the lande of Egypt.

10 And when the Priests were come out of the Sanctuarie, the * cloud filled the house of the Lord.

2.Chro.6.1.

11 So that the Priests could not stand to minister, because of the cloude: for the glorie of the Lorde had filled the house of the Lord.

12 Then spake Salomon, The Lord * said, that he would dwell in the darke cloud.

f He spake according to the tenor of Gods promes, which was conditional ly, that they should serue him aright.

13 I haue built thee an house to dwell in, an habitation for thee to abide in for f euer.

14 ¶ And the king turned his face, and blessed all the congregation of Israel: for all the congregation of Israel stoode there.

15 And he said, Blessed be the Lorde God of Israel, who spake with his mouth vnto Dauid my father, and hath with his hand fulfilled it, saying, 16 Since the day that I brought my people Israel out of Egypt, I chose no citie of all the tribes of Israel, to builde an house that my Name might be there: but I haue chosen * Dauid to be ouer my people Israel.

2.Sam.7.12.

17 And it was in the heart of Dauid my father to builde an house to the Name of the Lord God of Israel.

18 And the Lord said vnto Dauid my father, Where as it was in thine heart to builde an house vnto my Name, thou diddest well, that thou wast so minded:

19 Neuertheles thou shalt not builde the house, but thy sonne, that shall come out of thy loynes, he shall builde the house vnto my Name.

* Or, confirmed.

20 And the Lorde hath made * good his word that he spake: and I am risen vp in the rowme of Dauid my father, & sit on ỹ throne of Israel, as the Lorde promised, and haue builte the house for the Name of the Lord God of Israel.

21 And I haue prepared therein a place for the Arke, wherein is the g couenant of the Lord which he made with our fathers, when he brought them out of the land of Egypt.

g The two tables wherein the articles of the couenant were written. 2.Chro.6.13.

22 ¶ Then Salomon stoode before * the altar of the Lorde in the sight of all the Congregation of Israel, and stretched out his hands toward heauen, 2.Mac.2.8.

23 And sayde, * O Lorde God of Israel, there is no God like thee in heauen aboue, or in the earth beneath, thou that keepest couenant and mercie with thy seruantes that walke before thee with h all their heart, h Vnfainedly & without all hypocrisie.

24 Thou that hast kept with thy seruant Dauid my father, that thou hast promised him: for thou spakest vt thy mouth, and hast fulfilled it with thine hand, as appeareth this day.

25 Therefore now, Lorde God of Israel, keepe with thy seruant Dauid my father that thou hast promised him, saying, * Thou shalt not want a man in my sight to sit vpon the throne of Israel: so that thy children take heed to their way, that they walke before me, as thou hast walked in my sight.

Chap.2.4.

26 And nowe, O God of Israel, I praye thee, let thy worde bee verified, which thou spakest vnto thy seruãt Dauid my father.

27 i Is it true in deed that God wil dwel on the earth? beholde, the heauens, and the heauens of heauens are not able to containe thee: howe much more vnable is this house that I haue builte?

i He is rauished with the admiration of Gods mercies, who being incomprehensible & Lord ouer all, will become familiar with men.

28 But haue thou respect vnto the prayer of thy seruant, and to his supplication, O Lord my God, to heare the crye & prayer which thy seruant prayeth before thee this day:

29 That thine eyes may be open toward this house, night and day, euen toward the place whereof thou hast saide, * My Name shalbe there: that thou mayest hearken vnto the prayer which thy seruant prayeth in this place.

Deut.12.11.

30 Heare thou therefore the supplication of thy seruant, and of thy people Israel, which pray in this place, & heare thou * in the place of thine habitation, euen in heauen, & whē thou hearest, haue mercy.

* Or, from.

31 ¶ When a man shall trespasse against his neighbour, and k he laye vpon him an othe to cause him to sweare, and * the swearer shall come before thine altar in this house, k To wit, the iudge, or neighbour.

* Exo. the 20.

32 Then heare thou in heauen, and l do & iudge thy seruants, that thou condemne the wicked to bring his way vpon his head, and iustifie the righteous, to giue him according to his righteousnes.

l That is, make it knowen.

33 ¶ When thy people Israel shalbe ouerthrowen before the enemie, because they haue sinned against thee, & turne againe to thee, & * confesse thy Name, and pray and make supplication vnto thee in this house, m Acknowledge thy iust iudgement, & praise thee.

34 Then

34 Then heare thou in heauen, and bee mercifull vnto the sinne of thy people Israel, and bring them againe vnto the lande, which thou gauest vnto their fathers.

n So that there be a drought to destroy the fruites of the land.

35 ¶ When heauen shalbe n shut vp, and there shalbe no raine because they haue sinned against thee, and shal pray in this place, and confesse thy Name, and turne from their sinne, when thou doest afflict them,

36 Then heare thou in heauen, and pardon the sinne of thy seruantes & of thy people Israel (when thou hast taught them the good way wherein they may walke) and giue raine vpon the lande that thou hast giuen to thy people to inherite.

37 ¶ Whē there shalbe famine in the land, when there shalbe pestilence, whē there shalbe blasting mildewe, grashopper or caterpiller, when their enemie shall besiege them in the "cities of their land, or any plague or any sickness,

38 Then what prayer, and supplication soeuer shall be made of any man or of all thy people Israel, when euery one shall know the plague in his owne o heart, & stretch forth his hands in this house, o For such are most meete to receiue Gods mercies.

39 Heare thou thē in heauē, in thy dwelling place, and be mercifull, & doe, & giue euery man according to all his waies, as thou knowest his heart, (for thou only knowest the hearts of all the children of men)

40 That they may feare thee as long as they liue in the land, which thou gauest vnto our fathers.

p He meaneth such as should be turned from their idolatry to serue the true God.

41 Moreouer as touching the p stranger that is not of thy people Israel, who shal come out of a farre countrey for thy Names sake,

42 (When they shall heare of thy great Name, & of thy mighty hande, & of thy stretched out arme) and shall come and pray in this house,

43 Heare thou in heauen thy dwelling place, and doe according to all that the stranger calleth for vnto thee: that all the people of the earth may knowe thy Name, and feare thee, as doe thy people Israel: and that they may knowe, that thy q Name is called vpō in this house which I haue built.

q That this is y true religion wherewith thou wilt be worshipped. Dan.6.10.

45 Heare thou then in heauen their praier and their supplication, and * iudge their cause.

46 If they sinne against thee (* for there is no man that sinneth not) and thou be angry with them, and deliuer them vnto the enemies, so that they carry thē away prisoners vnto the lande of the enemies, either farre or neere,

47 Yet * if they turne againe vnto their heart in the lande (to the which they be caried away captiues) and returne and praye vnto thee r in the lande of them that caried them away captiues, saying, We haue sinned, we haue transgressed, and done wickedly,

*Or, if they repent.

r Though the Temple was the chiefe place of prayer, yet he secludeth not them, that being let with necessity call vpon him in other places.

48 If they turne againe vnto thee with all their heart, and with all their soule in the lande of their enemies, which ledde them away captiues, and praye vnto thee towarde s the way of their lande, which thou gauest vnto their fathers, and toward the city which thou hast chosen, and the house, which I haue built for thy Name, s As Daniel did, Dan.6.10.

49 Then heare thou their prayer & their supplication in heauen thy dwelling place, and * iudge their cause,

*Or, auenge their wrong.

50 And be mercifull vnto thy people that haue sinned against thee, and vnto all their iniquities (wherein they haue transgressed against thee) and cause that they, which led them away captiues, may * haue pitie and compassion on them:

t He vnderstood by faith, y God, of enemies wold make friends vnto them that did conuert vnto him.

51 For they be thy people, and thine inheritaunce, which thou broughtest out of Egypt from the middes of the yron fornace.

52 Let thine eyes be open vnto the praier of thy seruant, & vnto the prayer of thy people Israel, to hearken vnto them, in all that they cal for vnto thee.

53 For thou didst separate them to thee from among all people of the earth for an inheritance, as thou spakest by the hand of Moses thy seruant, when thou broughtest our fathers * out of Egypt, O Lord God.

Exod.19.6.

54 And when Salomon had made an ende of praying all this * prayer & supplication vnto the Lorde, he arose from before the altar of the Lorde, from kneeling on his knees, and stretching of his hands to heauen, u Salomon is a figure of Christ, who continually is the Mediator betweene God & his Church.

55 And stoode and blessed all the Congregation of Israel with a loude voyce, saying,

56 Blessed bee the Lorde that hath giuen rest vnto his people Israel, according to all that he promised: there hath not fayled one worde of all his good promise which he promised by the hand of Moses his seruant.

57 The Lord our God be with vs, as hee was with our fathers, that he forsake vs not, neither leaue vs, 58 That he may x bowe our hearts vnto him, that wee may walke in all his wayes, & keepe his commandements, and his statutes, and his lawes, which he commanded our fathers.

x He concludeth that man of him selfe is enemie vnto God, and y all obedience to his law proceedeth of his mere mercie.

59 And these my wordes, which I haue prayed before the Lord, be nere vnto the Lorde our God day and night, that hee defend the cause of his seruant, and the cause of his people Israel * alwaye as the matter requireth,

60 That all the people of the earth may may knowe, that the Lorde is God, and none other.

61 Let your heart therefore be perfit with the Lorde our God to walke in his statutes, & to kepe his commandements, as this day.

2.Chron.7.4. 62 ¶ Then the king and all Israel with him offered sacrifice before the Lorde.

63 And Salomon offered a sacrifice of peace offrings which he offred vnto the Lord, to wit, two and twentie thousande beues, and an hundreth & twentie thousande sheepe: so the king & all the children of Israel dedicated the house of the Lord.

y Before the oracle, where the Arke was.

64 The same day did the king halow the middle of the court, that was before the house of the Lord: for there he made burnt offrings, & the meate offring, and the fat of the peace offrings, because the brasen altar that was before the Lord, was too litle to receiue the burnt offrings, and the meate offrings, and the fatte of the peace offrings.

2.Chron.7.7.

65 And Salomon made at that time a feast, & all Israel with him, a very great Congregation, euen from the entring in of z Hamath vnto the riuer of Egypt, before the Lord our God, a seuen dayes and seuen daies, euen fourteene daies.

z That is, from North to South: meaning, all the countrey.

66 And the eight day he sent the people away: & they b thanked the king & went vnto their tentes ioyous and with glad heart, because of all the goodnes that the Lorde had done for Dauid his seruant, and for Israel his people.

a Seuen dayes for the dedication, and seuen for the feast.

b Or, blessed.

CHAP. IX.

1 The Lorde appeareth the second time to Salomon. 11 Salomon giueth cities to Hiram. 20 The Canaanites become tributaries. 23 He sendeth forth a nauie for golde.

2.Chron.7.11. 1 When a Salomon had finished the building of the house of the Lord, & the kings palace, and all that Salomon desired and minded to doe, Chap.3.5. 2 Then the Lorde appeared vnto Salomon the second time, as he b appeared vnto him at Gibeon.

3 And the Lorde saide vnto him, I haue heard thy prayer and thy supplication, that thou hast made before me: I haue halowed this house (which thou hast built) to a put my Name there for euer, and mine eyes, and mine heart shall be there perpetually.

Chap.3.29. Deut.12.11. a If thou walke in my feare, and withdraw thy selfe from the common maner of men, which followe their sensualitie.

2.Sam.7.12. 1.Chro.22.10. b God declareth that disobedience against him is the cause of his displeasure, and so of all miserie.

5 Then will I stablishe the throne of thy kingdome vpon Israel for euer, as I promised to Dauid thy father, saying, a Thou shalt not want a man vpon the throne of Israel:

6 But if ye and your children turne away from me, and will b not kepe my commandements, and my statutes, (which I haue set before you) but go & serue other gods, and worship them,

7 Then will I cut off Israel from the land, which I haue giuen them, & the house which I haue halowed a for my Name, will I cast out of my sight, and Israel shal be a c prouerbe, and a common talke among all people.

Ierem.7.14. c The world shall make of you a mocking stocke for the vile contempt and abusing of Gods most liberall benefits.

Deut.29.24. Ierem.22.8.

9 And they shall answere, Because they forsooke the Lorde their God, which brought their fathers out of the land of Egypt, and haue take hold vpon other gods, and haue worshipped them, and serued them, therefore hath the Lorde brought vpon them all this euill.

10 a And at the ende of twentie yeres, when Salomon had builded the two houses, the house of the Lorde, and the kings palace,

2.Chron.8.2.

11 (For the which Hiram the king of a Tyrus had brought to Salomon timber of cedar, and firre trees, and golde, & what soeuer he desired) Then king Salomon gaue to Hiram twentie cities in the land of b Galil.

a Or, Zur.

b Or, Galile.

12 And Hiram came out fro Tyrus to see the cities which Salomon had giuen him, and they pleased him not.

13 Therefore he said, What cities are these which thou hast giuen me, my brother? And he called them the lande of a Cabul vnto this day.

a Or, dirtie, or, barren.

14 And Hiram had sent the king a fiue score a talents of golde.

d For his tribute toward the building.

15 ¶ And this is the cause of the tribute whp King Salomon raysed tribute, to wit, to builde the house of the Lord, and his owne house, and a Millo, & the wall of Jerusalem, and Hazor, and Megiddo, and Gezer.

e The common talent was a bour three score pound weight.

f Millo was as the towne house or place of assemblie, which was open aboue.

16 Pharaoh King of Egypt had come vp, and taken Gezer, and burnt it with fire, & slewe the Canaanites, that dwelt in the citie, and gaue it for a present vnto his daughter Salomons wife.

17 (Therefore Salomon built Gezer and Beth-horon the nether,

18 And Baalath and Tamor in the wildernes of the land,

19 And all the cities a of store, that Salomon had, euen cities for charets, & cities for horsemen, and al that Salomon desired and would build in Jerusalem, and in Lebanon and in al the land of his dominion)

g Cities for his munitions of warre.

20 All the people that were b left of the Amorites, Hittites, Perizzites, Hiuites, and Iebusites, which were not of the children of Israel:

h These were as bondmen & payed what was required, either labour or money.

21 To wit, their children that were left after them in the land, whom the children of Israel were not able to destroy, those did Salomon make tributaries vnto this day.

22 But of the children of Israel did Salomon a make no bondmen: but they were men men of warre and his seruants, and his princes, and his captaines, and rulers of his charets and his horsemen.

23 These were the princes of the officers, that were ouer Salomons worke: euen i fiue hundreth and fiftie, and they ruled the people that wrought in the worke.

i The ouerseers of Salomons workes were deuided into three partes: the first contained 3300, the second 300, & the third 250, which were Israelites: so heere are cõtained the two last partes, which make 550. looke more 2.Chro.8.10.

24 ¶ And Pharaohs daughter came vp from the citie of Dauid vnto the house which Salomon had built for her: then did he build Millo.

25 And thrise a yere did Salomon offer burnt offrings and peace offrings vpon the altar which he built vnto the Lord: and he burnt incense vpon the altar, that was before the Lorde, when he had finished the house.

26 ¶ Also king Salomon made a nauie of shippes in Ezion-gebr, which is beside Eloth, and the brinke of the redde Sea, in the lande of Edom.

27 And Hiram sent with the nauie his seruants, that were mariners, and had knowledge of the sea, with the seruants of Salomon.

28 And they came to Ophir and fet from thence k foure hundreth & twenty talets of gold, & brought it to king Salomon.

CHAP. X.

1 The Queene of Saba commeth to heare the wisdome of Salomon. 13 His royal throne. 23 His power and magnificence.

2.Chron.9.1. matt.12.42. luke.11.31.

1 AND the * Quéne of a Sheba hearing the fame of Salomon concerning the name of the Lorde, came to proue him with hard questions.

a Iosephus saith that shee was Queene of Ethiopia, and that Sheba was the name of y chiefe citie of Meroe, which is an yland of Nilus.

2 And she came to Ierusalem with a very great traine, & camels that bare swete odours, and gold exceeding much, & precious stones: & she came to Salomon, & communed with him of all that was in her heart.

3 And Salomon declared vnto her al her questions: nothing was hid frõ y king, which he expounded not vnto her.

4 Then the Quéne of Sheba sawe all Salomons wisedome, & the house that he had built, b That is, the whole order, & trade of his house.

5 And the b meat of his table, and the sitting of his seruãts, and the order of his ministers, and their apparell, and his drinking vessels, & his burnt offrings, that he offred in the house of the Lord, & * she was greatly astonied.

*Ebr. there was no more spirit in her.

6 And she saide vnto the King, It was a true worde that I heard in mine owne land of thy sayings, & of thy wisdome.

c But much more happie are they, which heare the wisdome of God reuealed in his worde.

7 Howbeit I beleued not this report, til I came, & had seene it with mine eyes: but lo, the one halfe was not tolde me: for thou hast more wisedome and prosperitie, then I haue heard by report.

8 Happie are thy men, happie are these thy seruants, which stande euer before thee, and heare thy * wisedome.

d It is a chiefe signe of Gods fauour, when godlie & wise rulers sit in the throne of iustice.

9 Blessed be the Lorde thy God, which d loued thee, to set thee on the throne of Israel, because the Lorde loued Israel for euer and made thee king, to doe * equitie and righteousnes.

c This is the cause, why Kings are appointed.

10 And she gaue the king fiue score talents of golde, and of swete odours exceeding much, and precious stones. There came no more such abundance of swete odours, as the Quéne of Sheba gaue to king Salomon.

11 The nauie also of Hiram (that caried gold frõ Ophir) brought likewise great plentie of * Almuggim trées from Ophir and precious stones.

2.Chro.9.10.

12 And the king made of the Almuggim trees pillars for the house of the Lord, & for the kings palace, and made harpes & psalteries for singers. There came no more such Almuggim trees, nor were any more seene vnto this day.

13 And king Salomon gaue vnto the Queen of Sheba, whatsoeuer she would aske, besides that, which Salomõ gaue her * of his kingly liberalitie: so she returned and went to her owne countrey, both she, and her seruants.

* Ebr. by the hand of the King.

14 ¶ Also the weight of golde, that came to Salomon in one yere, was fiue hundreth, three score & fiue * talents of gold,

* Exod.25.39.

15 Besides that he had of marchant men & of the marchandises of them that sold spices, & of all the kings of Arabia, and of the princes of the f countrey.

f To wit, of Arabia, which for the great abundãce of al things was called, happie.

16 And king Salomon made two hundreth targets of beaten golde, fiue hundreth shekels of gold went to a target:

17 And three hundreth shieldes of beaten golde, three pound of golde went to one shielde: and the king put them in the * house of the wood of Lebanon.

Chap.7.2.

18 ¶ Then the king made a great throne of yuorie, & couered it with g best golde.

19 And the throne had fiue steppes, and the toppe of the throne was rounde behinde, and there were h stapes on either side on the place of the throne, and two lyons standing by the stapes.

g As the chiefe bowes, or places to leane vpon.

20 And there stoode twelue lyons on the fiue steppes on either side: there was not the like made in any kingdome.

21 And all king Salomons drinking vessels were of golde, & all the vessels of the house of the wood of Lebanon were of pure gold, none were of siluer: for it was nothing esteemed in the dayes of Salomõ.

22 For the king had on the sea the nauie of Tharshish with the nauie of Hiram: once in three yeere came the nauie of * Tharshish, & brought golde and siluer, yuorie and apes and peacockes.

h By Tharshish is meant Cilicia, which was abũdãt in varietie of precious things.

23 So king Salomon exceeded all the kings of the earth both in riches and in wisedome.

24 And all the worlde sought to see Salomon, to heare his wisedome, which God had put in his heart.

25 And they brought euery man his present, vessels of siluer, and vessels of gold, & raiment, & armour, & swete odours, horses, and mules, from yere to yere.

26 The Salomõ gathered together * chariots and horsemen: and he had a thousande and foure hundreth charettes, and

2.Chro.1.14.

and twelue thousand horsmen, whom he placed in the charet cities, and with the king at Ierusalem.

*Or, he made siluer as plenteous as stones.

27 And the king * gaue siluer in Ierusalem as stones, and gaue cedars as the wilde sycamores that growe abundantly in the plaine.

*Or, for the compasse of the Kings marchants did receiue a number at a price.

28 Also Salomõ had horses brought out of Egypt, & fine linen: * the kings marchants receiued the linen for a price.

29 There came vp & went out of Egypt some charet, worth sixe hundreth shekels of siluer: that is, one horse, an hundreth and fifte, and thus they brought horses to all the kings of the Hittites and to the kings of Aram by their * meanes.

CHAP. XI.

1 Salomon hath a thousande wiues and concubines, which bring him to idolatrie. 14 His God raiseth vp aduersaries against him. 43 He dieth.

Deut 17.17. eccles.47.19,20.

1 BVt king Salomon loued * many * outlandishe women: both the daughter of Pharaoh, & the womẽ of Moab, Ammon, Edom, Zidon and Heth, a Which were idolaters.

Exod.34.16.

2 Of the nations, whereof the Lorde had said vnto the children of Israel, * Goe not ye in to them, nor let them come in to you: for surely they will turne your hearts after their gods. to them, I saye, did Salomon ioyne in loue.

*Or, Queenes.

3 And he had seuen hundreth wiues, that were * princesses, & three hundreth * concubines, and his wiues turned awaye his heart.

b To whom appertained no dowrie.

4 For when Salomon was olde, his wyues turned his hearte after other gods, so that his heart was not * perfect with the Lord his God, as was the heart of Dauid his father.

c He serued not God with a pure heart.

Iudg.2.13.

5 For Salomon followed * Ashtaroth the god of the Zidonians, & d Milcom the abomination of the Ammonites.

d Who was also called Molech, verse 7. reade 2. Kings.23.10.

6 So Salomon wrought wickednesse in the sight of the Lord, but continued not to followe the Lorde, as did Dauid his father.

7 Then did Salomon build an hie place for Chemosh the * abomination of Moab, in the mountaine that is ouer against Ierusalem, and vnto Molech the abomination of the children of Ammon.

e Thus the Scripture termeth whatsoeuer man doeth reuerence & serue as God.

8 And so did he for all his outlandishe wiues, which burnt incense and offred vnto their gods.

9 Therefore the Lorde was angrie with Salomon, because he had turned his heart from the Lorde God of Israel, * which had appeared vnto him twise, Chap.3.5. & 9.2. Chap.6.12.

10 And had giue him a * charge concerning this thing, that he shoulde not follow other gods: but he kept not that, which the Lorde had commanded him.

11 Wherefore the Lord said vnto Salomon, For asmuch as * this is done of thee, & thou hast not kept my couenant, and my statutes (which I commanded thee) * I will surely rent the kingdome from thee, & will giue it to thy seruant.

f That thou hast forsaken me and worshipped idoles.

Chap.12.15.

12 Notwithstanding in thy dayes I will not doe it, because of Dauid thy father, but I will rent it out of the hand of thy sonne:

13 Howbeit I will not rent all the kingdome, but will giue one * tribe to thy sonne, because of Dauid my seruant, & because of Ierusalem which I haue chosen.

g Because the tribes of Iudah and Beniamin had their possessions mixed, therefore are here take as one tribe.

14 ¶ Then the Lord stirred vp an aduersarie vnto Salomon, euen Hadad the Edomite, of the kings * seede, which was in Edom.

h Of the king of Edoms stock.

15 * For when Dauid was in Edom, & Ioab the captaine of the host had smitten all the males in Edom, and was gone vp to burie the * slaine, i Of the Edomites.

16 (For six moneths did Ioab remaine there, and all Israel, till he had destroyed all the males in Edom)

17 Then this Hadad * fled and certaine other Edomites of his fathers seruãts with him, to go into Egypt, Hadad being yet a little childe.

k Thus God reserued this idolater to be a scourge to punish his peoples sinnes.

18 And they arose out of Midian, and came to Paran, and tooke men with them out of Paran, & came to Egypt vnto Pharaoh king of Egypt, which gaue him an house, and appointed him victuales, and gaue him land.

19 So Hadad * found great fauour in the sight of Pharaoh, and he gaue him to wife the sister of his owne wife, euen the sister of Tahpenes the Queene.

l God brought him to honour that his power might be more able to compasse his enterprises against Salomons house.

20 And the sister of Taphenes bare him Genubath his sonne, whõ Tahpenes weaned in Pharaohs house: and Genubath was in Pharaohs house among the sonnes of Pharaoh.

21 And when Hadad heard in Egypt, that Dauid slept with his fathers, and that Ioab the captaine of the host was dead, Hadad said to Pharaoh, Let me depart, that I may goe to mine owne countrey.

22 But Pharaoh said vnto him, What hast thou lacked with mee, that thou wouldest thus goe to thine owne countrey? And he answered, Nothing, but in any wise let me goe.

23 ¶ And God stirred him vp another aduersarie, Rezon the sonne of Eliadah, which * fled from his lord Hadadezer king of Zobah.

2.Sam.8.3.

m When Dauid had discomfited Hadadezer and his armie.

24 And he gathered men vnto him, & had bene captaine ouer the company, whẽ Dauid slewe them. And they went to Damascus, and dwelt there, * and they made him king in Damascus.

n To wit, the men whom he had gathered vnto him.

25 Therefore was he an aduersarie to Israel all the dayes of Salomon: besides the euill that Hadad did, he also abhorred Israel, and reigned ouer Aram.

26 ¶ * And Ieroboam * the sonne of Nebat an Ephrathite of Zereda Salomons seruant (whose mother was called Zeruah a widow) lift vp his hand against the king.

2.Chro.13.6.

27 And this was the cause that he lift vp his hand against the king, When Salomon built Millo, he repared the broken places of þ citie of Dauid his father.

28 And this man Ieroboam was a man of strength and courage, and Salomon seeing that the yong man was meete for the worke, he made him [o] ouerseer of all the labour of the house of Ioseph.
29 And at that time, when Ieroboam went out of Ierusalem, the Prophete Ahiah the Shilonite found him in the way, hauing a newe garment on him, & they two were alone in the fielde.
30 Then Ahiah caught the newe garment that was on him, and [p] rent it in twelue pieces, 31 And said to Ieroboam, Take vnto thée ten pieces: for thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Beholde, I will rent the kingdome out of the hands of Salomon, & will giue ten tribes to thee.
32 But he shall haue one tribe for my seruant Dauids sake, and for Ierusalem the citie, which I haue chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, 33 Because they haue forsaken me, and haue worshipped Ashtaroth the god of the Zidonians, and Chemosh the god of the Moabites, and Milcom the god of the Ammonites, and haue not walked in my wayes ([*] to doe right in mine eyes, and my statutes, and my lawes) as did Dauid his father.
34 But I will not take the whole kingdome out of his hand: for I will make him prince all his life long for Dauid my seruants sake, whome I haue chosen, & who kept my commandements and my statutes.
35 [*] But I will take the kingdome out of his sonnes hande, and will giue it vnto thee, euen the ten tribes.
36 And vnto his sonne will I giue one tribe, that Dauid my seruant may haue a [q] light alway before me in Ierusalem the citie, which I haue chosen me, to put my Name there.
37 And I will take thee, and thou shalt reigne, [*] euen as thine heart desireth, & shalt be King ouer Israel.
38 And if thou hearken vnto all that I commande thee, and wilt walke in my wayes, & doe right in my sight, to keepe my statutes & my commaundements, as Dauid my seruant did, then will I be with thée, & builde thee a sure house, as I built vnto Dauid, and will giue Israel vnto thee.
39 And I will for [r] this afflict the seede of Dauid, but not for euer.
40 ¶ Salomon sought therefore to kil Ieroboam, & Ieroboam arose, & fled into Egypt vnto Shishak king of Egypt, & was in Egypt vntil [s] death of Salomo.
41 And the rest of the woordes of Salomon, and all that he did, and his wisedome, are they not written in the [t] booke of the actes of Salomon?

1 Rehoboam succedeth Salomon. 8 He refuseth the counsell of the Ancient. 20 Ieroboam reigneth ouer Israel. 21 God commandeth Rehoboam not to fight. 28 Ieroboam maketh golden calues.

1 AND [*] Rehoboam went to Shechem: for all Israel were come to Shechem, to make him King.
2 And when Ieroboam þ sonne of Nebat heard of it (who was yet in Egypt, [*] whither Ieroboam had fled frō king Salomon, and [a] dwelt in Egypt)
3 Then they sent and called him: & Ieroboam and all the congregation of Israel came, and spake vnto Rehoboam, saying,
4 Thy father made our [] yoke grieuous: now therefore make thou the grieuous seruitude of thy father, & his yoke which he put vpon vs, [] lighter, and we will serue thee.
5 And he said vnto them, Depart yet for three dayes, then come againe to me. And the people departed.
6 And King Rehoboam tooke counsell with the old men that [*] had stand before Salomon his father, while he yet liued, & said, What counsell giue ye, that I may make an answere to this people?
7 And they spake vnto him, saying, If thou be a [b] seruant vnto this people this day, and serue them, and answere them, and speake kind words to them, they wilbe thy seruants for euer.
8 But he forsooke the counsel that the old men had giuen him, and asked counsell of the yong men, that had bene brought vp with him, and waited on him.
9 And he said vnto them, [c] What counsell giue ye, that we may answere this people, which haue spoken to me, saying, Make the yoke, which thy father did put vpon vs, lighter?
10 Then the yong men that were brought vp with him, spake vnto him, saying, Thus shalt thou say vnto this people, that haue spoken vnto thee, and sayde, Thy father hath made our yoke heauy, but make thou it lighter vnto vs: euen thus shalt thou say vnto them, My [*] least part shall be [d] bigger then my fathers loynes.

15 And the king hearkened not vnto the people: foz [a] it was the ordinance of the Lord, that he might perfozme his saying, which the Lord had spoken by [*] Ahiiah the Shilonite vnto Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat.

16 So when all Israel saw that the king regarded them not, the people answered the king thus, saying, What portion haue we in [f] Dauid? we haue none inheritance in the sonne of Iishai. To pour tents, O Israel: nowe see to thine owne house, Dauid. So Israel departed vnto their tents.

17 Howbeit ouer the children of Israel, which dwelt in the cities of Iudah, did Rehoboam reigne still.

18 ¶ Now the king Rehoboam sent Adoram the receiuer of the tribute, and all Israel stoned him to death: then king Rehoboam [*] made speede to get him vp to his charet, to flee to Ierusalem.

19 And Israel rebelled against the house of Dauid vnto this day.

20 ¶ And when all Israel had heard that Ieroboam was come againe, they sent and called him vnto the assemblie, and made him king ouer all Israel: none followed the house of Dauid, but the tribe of Iudah [*] onely.

21 And when Rehoboam was come to Ierusalem, he [h] gathered all the house of Iudah with the tribe of Beniamin an hundreth and fourescore thousand of chosen men (which were good warriours) to fight against the house of Israel, and to bring the kingdome againe to Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon.

22 [*] But the worde of God came vnto Shemaiah the [i] man of God, saying,

23 Speake vnto Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon king of Iudah, and vnto all the house of Iudah and Beniamin, and the remnant of the people, saying,

24 Thus saith the [k] Lord, Ye shall not go vp, nor fight against pour brethren the children of Israel: returne euery man to his house: foz this thing is done by me. They obeyed therefore the worde of the Lord and returned, and departed, according to the worde of the Lord.

25 ¶ Then Ieroboam built Shechem in mount Ephraim, and dwelt therein, and went from thence, and built Penuel.

26 And Ieroboam thought in his heart, Now shal the kingdome returne to the house of Dauid.

27 If this people go vp and doe sacrifice in the house of the Lord [l] at Ierusalem, then shall the heart of this people turne againe vnto their lord, euen to Rehoboam king of Iudah: so shall they kill me and goe againe to Rehoboam king of Iudah.

28 Whereupon the king tooke counsell, and made two calues of gold, and sayd vnto them, [m] It is too much foz pou to goe vp to Ierusalem: behold, O Israel, thy gods, which brought thee vp out of the land of Egypt.

29 And he set the one in Beth-el, and the other set he in Dan.

30 And this thing turned to sinne: foz the people went (because of the one) euen vnto Dan.

31 Also he made an [n] house of hie places, and made priestes of the lowest of the people, which were not of the sonnes of Leui.

32 And Ieroboam made a feast the [o] fifteenth day of the eight moneth, like vnto the feast that is in Iudah, and offred on the altar. So did he in Beth-el, and offered vnto the calues that he had made: and he placed in Beth-el the priestes of the hie places, which he had made.

33 And he offered vpon the altar, which he had made in Beth-el, the fifteenth day of the eight moneth (euen in the moneth which he had forged of his owne heart) and made a solemne feast vnto the children of Israel: and he went vp to the altar, to burne incense.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Ieroboam is reprehended of the Prophet. 4 His hande driueth vp. 15 The Prophete is seduced, 24 And is killed of a lion. 33 The obstinate of Ieroboam.

AND behold, there came [a] a man of God out of Iudah (by the commaundement of the Lorde) vnto [b] Beth-el, and Ieroboam stoode by the altar to offer incense.

2 And he cried against the altar by the commaundement of the Lord, and sayd, O altar, altar, thus sayth the Lord, Behold, a childe shalbe borne vnto the house of Dauid, [*] Iosiah by name, and vpon thee shall he sacrifice the priestes of the hie places that burne incense vpon thee, and they shall burne mens bones vpon thee.

3 And he gaue a signe the same time, saying, This is the [c] signe, that the Lorde hath spoken, Behold, the altar shall rent, and the ashes that are vpon it, shal [d] fall out.

4 And when the king had heard the saying of the man of God, which he had cried against the altar in Beth-el, Ieroboam stretched out his hand from the altar, saying, [e] Lay holde on him: but his hand which he put foorth against him, dried vp, and he could not pull it in againe to him.

5 The altar also clane asunder, and the ashes fell out from the altar, according to the signe, which the man of God had giuen by the [*] commaundement of the Lorde.

6 Then the King answerd, and sayd vnto the man of God, [*] I beseeche thee, pray vnto the Lord thy God, & make intercession for me, that mine hand may be restored vnto me. And the man of God besought the Lorde, and the kings hand was restored, and became as it was afore.

7 Then the king sayde vnto the man of God, Come home with me, that thou mayest [a] dine, and I wil giue thee a reward.

8 But the man of God sayde vnto the king, If thou wouldest giue me halfe thine house, I would not goe in with thee, neither would I eate bread nor drinke water in this place.

9 For so [a] was it charged me by the worde of the Lord, saying, [f] Eate no bread nor drinke water, nor turne againe by the same way that thou camest.

10 So he went another way and returned not by the way that he came to Beth-el.

11 ¶ And an old Prophet dwelt in Beth-el, and his sonnes came, and tolde him all the workes, that the man of GOD had done that day in Beth-el, and the wordes which he had spoken vnto the king, tolde they their father.

12 And their father said vnto thē, What way went he? and his sonnes [b] shewed him what way the man of GOD went, which came from Judah.

13 And he sayd vnto his sonnes, Saddle me the asse. Who sadled him the asse, and he rode thereon, 14 And went after the man of God, and found him sitting vnder an oke: and he sayd vnto him, Art thou the man of God that camest from Judah? And he sayd, [c] Yea.

15 Then he said vnto him, [g] Come home with me, and eate bread.

16 But he answered, I may not returne with thee, nor goe in with thee, neither wil I eate bread nor drinke water with thee in this place.

17 For it was charged me by the worde of the Lord, saying, Thou shalt eate no bread, nor drinke water there, nor turne againe to goe by the way that thou wentest.

18 And he sayd vnto him, I am a Prophet also as thou art, and an [h] Angel spake vnto me by the word of the Lord, saying, Bring him againe with thee into thine house, that he may eate bread and drinke water: but he lied vnto him.

19 So he went againe with him, and did eate bread in his house, and dranke water.

20 And as they sate at the table, the word of the Lord came vnto the Prophet, that brought him againe.

21 And he cryed vnto the man of GOD that came from Judah, saying, Thus sayth the Lord, [i] Because thou hast disobeyed the mouth of the Lord, and hast not kept the commaundement which the Lord thy God commanded thee, 22 But camest backe againe, and hast eaten bread and drunke water in the place (whereof hee did say vnto thee, Thou shalt eate no bread nor drinke any water) thy carkeis shall not come vnto the sepulchre of thy fathers.

23 ¶ And when he had eaten bread and drunke, he sadled him the asse, to wit, to the Prophet whome he had brought again.

24 And when he was gone, [k] a lion met him by the way, and slewe him, and his body was cast in the way, and the asse stoode thereby: the lion stoode by the corps also.

25 And behold, men that passed by, sawe the carkeis cast in the way, and the lion standing by the corps: and they came and tolde it in the towne where the olde Prophet dwelt.

26 And when the Prophet, that brought him backe againe from the way, heard thereof, he sayd, It is the man of God, who hath bene disobedient vnto the commaundement of the Lord: therefore the Lorde hath delivered him vnto the Lion, which hath rent him and slaine him, according to the word of the Lord, which he spake vnto him.

27 ¶ And he spake to his sonnes, saying, Saddle me the asse. And they sadled him.

28 And he went and found his body cast in the way, and the asse and the lion stoode by the corps: and the lion had [l] not eaten the body, nor torne the asse.

29 And the Prophet tooke vp the bodie of the man of God, and laid it vpon the asse, and brought it againe, and the olde Prophet came to the citie, to lament and burie him.

30 And he laid his body in his [m] owne graue, and they lamented ouer him, saying, Alas, my brother.

31 And when he had buried him, he spake to his sonnes, saying, When I am dead, burie ye me also in the sepulchre, where in the man of God is buried: lay my bones beside his bones.

32 For that thing which he cried by the word of the Lord against the altar that is in Beth-el, and against all the houses of the hie places, which are in the cities of Samaria, shall surely come to passe.

33 Howbeit, after this, Jeroboam [n] conuerted not from his wicked way, but turned againe, and made of the lowest of the people Priestes of the hie places. Who would, might [o] consecrate him selfe, and be of the Priestes of the hie places.

34 And this thing turned to sinne vnto the house of Jeroboam, euen to roote it out, and destroy it from the face of the earth.

1 AT that time Abiiah the sonne of Ieroboam fell sicke.
2 And Ieroboam said vnto his wife, Vp, I pray thee, [a] and disguise thy selfe, that they knowe not that thou art the wife of Ieroboam, and go to Shiloh: for there is Ahiiah the Prophet, which told me [*] that I should be king ouer this people.
3 And take ["] with [b] thee ten loaues and [*] craknels, and a bottel of honie, and go to him: he shall tell thee what shall become of the yong man.
4 And Ieroboams wife did so, & arose, & went to Shiloh, and came to the house of Ahiiah: but Ahiiah could not see, for his ["] sight was decaped for his age.
5 Then the Lorde said vnto Ahiiah, Beholde, the wife of Ieroboam commeth to aske a thing of thee for her sonne, for he is sicke: thus & thus shalt thou say vnto her: for when she commeth in, she shall feigne her selfe to be [c] another.
6 Therefore when Ahiiah heard the sound of her feete as she came in at the doore, he sayde, Come in, thou [d] wife of Ieroboam: why feynest thou thus thy selfe to be another? I am sent to thee with heauie tydings.
7 Go, tell Ieroboam, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Forasmuch as I haue exalted [e] thee from among the people, and haue made thee prince ouer my people Israel,
8 And haue rent the kingdome away from the house of Dauid, and haue giuen it thee, and thou hast not bene as my seruãt Dauid, which kept my commaundements, and followed me with all his heart, and did onely that which was right in mine eyes,
9 But hast done euill aboue all that were before thee (for thou hast gone & made thee other gods, and [f] molten images, to prouoke me, and hast cast me behinde thy backe)
10 Therefore beholde, I will bring euill vpon the house of Ieroboam, and will cut off from Ieroboam him that [*] pisseth against the wall, & wel him that is shut vp, as him that is left in Israel, & will swepe away the remnant of the house of Ieroboam, as a man swepeth away doung, till it be all gone.
11 The dogges shall eat him of Ieroboams flocke that dyeth in the citie, and the foules of the aire shall eat him that dyeth in the fielde: [i] for the Lord hath said it.
12 Vp therefore and get thee to thine house: for when thy feete enter into the citie, the child shall die.
13 And all Israel shall mourne for him, & burie him: for he only of Ieroboam shal come to the graue, because in him there is founde [k] some goodnes toward the Lord God of Israel in the house of Ieroboam.
14 Moreouer, the Lord shall stirre him vp a king ouer Israel, which shall destroy the house of Ieroboam in that dape: [l] what? yea, euen now.
15 For [p] Lord shall smite Israel, as whē a reede is shaken in the water, and he shal weed Israel out of this good land, which he gaue to their fathers, and shal scatter them beyonde the [m] Riuer, because they haue made them groues, prouoking the Lord to anger.
16 And he shal giue Israel vp, because of the sinnes of Ieroboam, who did sinne, and [n] made Israel to sinne.
17 ¶ And Ieroboams wife arose, and departed, and came to Tirzah, and when she came to the threshold of the house, the yong man dyed, 18 And they buried him, & all Israel lamented him, according to the worde of the Lord, which he spake by the hande of his seruant Ahiiah the Prophet.
19 And the rest of Ieroboams actes, how he warred, and how he reigned, behold, they are written in the booke of [p] Chronicles of the kings of Israel.
20 And the dayes which Ieroboam reigned, were two and twentie yeere: & hee [o] slept with his fathers, & Nadab his sonne reigned in his stead.
21 ¶ Also Rehoboam the sonne of Salomo reigned in Iudah. Rehoboam was one and fourty yere old, when he began to reigne, and reigned seuenteene [p] yeere in Ierusalem the citie, which the Lorde did chuse out of all the tribes of Israel, to put his Name there: and his mothers name was Naamah an Ammonite.
22 And Iudah wrought wickednes in the sight of the Lorde: and they prouoked him more with their sinnes, which they had committed, [q] then all that which their fathers had done.
23 For they also made them hie places, and images, and groues on euery hye hill, and vnder euery greene tree.
24 There were also Sodomites [r] in the lande, they did according to all the abominations of the nations, which the Lord had cast out before the children of Israel.
25 ¶ And in the fift yere of king Rehoboam, Shishak king of Egypt came vpagainst Ierusalem, 26 And tooke the treasures of the house of the Lord, & the treasures of the kings house, and tooke away all: he carried away all the shields of golde [*] which Salomon had made.
27 And king Rehoboam made for them brasen shieldes, and committed them vnto the hands of the chiefe of the gard, which waited at the doore of the kings house.
28 And when the king went into the house of the Lorde, the gard bare them, and brought them againe into the gard chamber.

2 Three yeere reigned he in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Maachah the daughter of ⁱ Abishalom.

3 And he walked in all the sinnes of his father, which he had done before him: and his heart was not perfite with the Lord his GOD as the heart of Dauid his father.

4 But for Dauids sake did the Lord his God giue him a ᵏ light in Ierusalem, and set vp his sonne after him, & stablished Ierusalem,

5 Because Dauid did that which was right in the sight of the Lord, and turned from nothing that he commanded him, all the dayes of his life, ˡ saue only in the matter of Uriah the Hittite.

6 And there was warre betwene Rehoboam & Ieroboam as long as he liued.

7 The rest also of the actes of Abiiam, & all that he did, are they not written in the ᵐ booke of the Chronicles of ᵖ kings of Iudah? there was also warre betweene Abiiam and Ieroboam.

8 And Abiiam slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the citie of Dauid: and Asa his sonne reigned in his steade.

9 ¶ And in the twenty yeere of Ieroboam king of Israel reigned Asa ouer Iudah.

10 He reigned in Ierusalem one & fourtie yeere, & his ᶜ mothers name was Maachah, the daughter of Abishalom.

11 And Asa did right in the eyes of the Lord, as did Dauid his father.

12 And he tooke away the Sodomites out of the lande, and put away all the idoles that his fathers had made.

13 And he ᵈ put downe ⁿ Maachah his mother also from her estate, because she had made an idole in a groue: and Asa destroyed her idoles, and burnt them by the brooke Kidron.

14 But they put not downe the hie places. Neuertheles Asas heart was ᵒ vpright with the Lord all his dayes.

15 Also he brought in the holie vessels of his father, and the thinges that he had dedicated vnto the house of the Lord, siluer, and gold and vessels.

16 ¶ And there was warre betwene Asa & Baasha king of Israel all their dayes.

17 Then Baasha king of Israel went vp against Iudah, and built ᵖ Ramah, so that he would let none goe out or in to Asa king of Iudah.

18 Then Asa tooke all the siluer and the golde that was left in the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the kings house, and deliuered them into the handes of his seruantes, and king Asa sent them to ᵠ Ben-hadad the sonne of Tabrimon, the sonne of Hezion King of ʳ Aram that dwelt at Damascus, saying,

19 There is a couenant betweene me and thee, and betweene my father and thy father: behold, I haue sent vnto thee a present of siluer and gold: come, breake thy couenant with Baasha king of Israel, that he may ˢ depart from me.

20 So Ben-hadad hearkened vnto king Asa, & sent the captaines of the hostes, which he had, against the cities of Israel, and smote Ion, and Dan, and Abel-beth-maachah, and all Cinneroth, with all the land of Naphtali.

21 And when Baasha heard thereof, he left building of Ramah, and dwelt in Tirzah.

22 Then king Asa ᵗ assembled all Iudah, ᵘ none excepted, & they tooke the stones of Ramah, & the timber thereof where with Baasha had built, and king Asa built with them Geba of Beniamin & Mizpah.

23 And the rest of all the acts of Asa, and all his might and al that he did, and the cities which he built, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Iudah? but in his olde age he was diseased in his ˣ feete.

24 And Asa slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the citie of Dauid his ʸ father. And Iehoshaphat his sonne reigned in his stead.

25 And Nadab the sonne of Ieroboam began to reigne ouer Israel the seconde yeere of Asa king of Iudah, and reigned ouer Israel two yeere.

26 And he did euill in the sight of ᶻ Lord, walking in the way of his father, and in his sinne wherewith he made Israel to sinne.

27 And Baasha ᵃ sonne of Ahijah of the house of Issachar cõspired against him, and Baasha slewe him at Gibbethon, which belonged to the Philistims: for Nadab and all Israel laid siege to Gibbethon.

28 Euen in the third yeere of Asa king of Judah did Baasha slay him, and reigned in his stead.

6 So Baaſha ſlept with his fathers, and was buried in Tirzah, and Elah his ſonne reigned in his ſteade.

7 And [c] alſo by the hand of Iehu þ ſonne of Hanani the Prophet, came the worde of the Lord to Baaſha, and to his houſe, that he ſhould be like the houſe of Ieroboam, euen for all the wickednes that he did in the ſight of the Lord, in prouoking him with the worke of his hands, and becauſe he killed [d] him.

8 ¶ In the fire and twentie yeere of Aſa king of Iudah began Elah the ſonne of Baaſha to reigne ouer Iſrael in Tirzah, and reigned two yeere.

9 And his ſeruant Zimri, captaine of halfe his charets, conſpired againſt him, as he was in Tirzah drinking, till he was drunken in the houſe of [*] Arza ſteward of his houſe in Tirzah.

10 And Zimri came and ſmote him and killed him in the ſeuen & twentie yeere of Aſa king of Iudah, and reigned in his ſteade.

11 ¶ And when he was king, and ſate on his throne, he ſlew all the houſe of Baaſha, not leauing therof one to piſſe againſt a wall, neither of his kinſfolkes nor of his friends.

12 So did Zimri deſtroy all the houſe of Baaſha, according to the worde of the Lord, which he ſpake againſt Baaſha by the hand of Iehu the [e] Prophet, 13 For all the ſinnes of Baaſha, & ſinnes of Elah his ſonne, which they ſinned and made Iſrael to ſinne, and prouoked the Lord GOD of Iſrael with their vanities.

14 And the reſt of the actes of Elah, and all that he did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Iſrael?

15 ¶ In the ſeuen and twentie yeere of Aſa king of Iudah did Zimri reigne ſeuen dayes in Tirzah, & the people was then in campe [g] againſt Gibbethon, which belonged to the Philiſtims.

16 And the people of the hoſte heard ſay, Zimri hath conſpired, and hath alſo ſlaine the king. Wherefore all Iſrael made Omri the captaine of the hoſte, king ouer Iſrael that ſame day, euen in the hoſte.

17 Then Omri went vp frō Gibbethon, and all Iſrael with him, and they beſieged [h] Tirzah.

18 And when Zimri ſawe, that the citie was taken, he went into the palace of the kinges houſe, and [*] burnt him ſelfe, and the kings houſe with fire, and ſo died,

21 Then were the people of Iſrael deuided into two partes: for [i] halfe the people followed Tibni the ſonne of Gnath to make him king, and the other halfe followed Omri.

22 But the people that followed Omri, preuailed againſt the people that followed Tibni the ſonne of Gnath: ſo Tibni dyed, and Omri reigned.

23 In the one and thirtie yeere of Aſa king of Iudah began Omri to reigne ouer Iſrael, and reigned twelue yeere. Fiue yeere reigned he in Tirzah.

24 And he bought the mountaine [*] Samaria of one Shemer for two talents of ſiluer, and built in the mountaine, and called the name of the citie, which he built, after the name of Shemer, lord of the mountaine, Samaria.

12 And she sayde, As the Lord thy God liueth, I haue not a cake, but euen an handful of meale in a barrell, and a little ople in a cruse: and beholde, I am gathering [g] a fewe stickes for to goe in, and dresse it for me and my sonne, that we may eate it, and [h] die.
13 And Eliah sayde vnto her, Feare not, come, doe as thou hast sayde, but make me thereof a litle cake first of all, and bring it vnto me, and afterward make for thee, and thy sonne.
14 For thus sayth the Lord God of Israel, [i] The meale in the barrell shall not be wasted, neither shal the ople in the cruse be diminished, vnto the time that the Lord send raine vpon the earth.

g God receiueth no benefite for the vse of his, but he promiseth a most ample recompence for the same.

h That is, till he had raine and foode on the earth.

i Or, that he died.

i God would trie whether she had learned by his merciful prouidence to make him her onely stay & comfort.

k He was afrayd lest Gods Name should haue bin blasphemed and his ministers contemned, except he should haue continued his mercies, as he had begd them, specially while he there remained.

24 And the woman saide vnto Eliah, Now I know that thou art a man of God, and that the worde of the Lorde in thy mouth is true.

I So hard a thing it is to depend on God, except we be confirmed by myracles.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Eliah is sent to Ahab. 13 Obadiah hideth an hundreth Prophets. 40 Eliah killeth all Baals prophets. 45 He obtaineth raine.

1 AFter many dayes, the worde of the Lorde came to Eliah, in the [a] third yere, saying, Go, shew thy self vnto Ahab, & I will send raine vpon the earth.

a After that he departed frō the riuer Cherith.

2 And Eliah went to shew himselfe vnto Ahab, and there was a great famine in Samaria.

3 And Ahab called Obadiah the gouernour of his house: (and Obadiah [b] feared God greatly:

b God had begun to worke his feare in his heart, but had not yet brought him to y knowledge, which is also requisite of the Godly: that is, to professe his Name openly.

4 For when Jezebel destroyed the Prophetes of the Lorde, Obadiah tooke an hundreth Prophetes, and hid them, by fifties in a caue, and fedde them with bread and water.)

5 And Ahab said vnto Obadiah, Go into the land, vnto all the fountaines of water, and vnto all the riuers, if so be that we may finde grasse to saue the horses and the mules aliue, lest we destroy the land of the beastes.

6 And so they deuided the land betweene them to walke through it. Ahab went one way by himselfe, & Obadiah went another way by himselfe.

7 ¶ And as Obadiah was in the way, behold, Eliah [c] met him: and he knewe him, and fell on his face, and sayde, Art not thou my lord Eliah?

c God pitieth oft times the wicked for the godlies sake, & causeth Eliah to meete with Obadiah, that y benefite might be knowne to be granted for gods children sake.

8 And he answered him, Yea, goe tell thy lord, Behold, Eliah is here.

9 And he said, What haue I sinned, that thou wouldest deliuer thy seruant into the hand of Ahab to slay me?

10 As the Lorde thy God liueth, there is no nation or kingdome, whither my lord hath not sent to seeke thee: & when they sayd, He is not here, he took an oth of the kingdome and nation, if they had not found thee.

11 And now thou sayest, Go, tell thy lord, Behold, Eliah is here.

12 And when I am gone from thee, the Spirit of the Lorde shall carie thee into some place that I do not know: so whē I come and tel Ahab, if he cannot finde thee, then will he kil me: But I thy seruant [d] feare the Lord from my youth.

d I am none of the wicked persecuters, that thou shouldest procure vnto me such displeasure, but serue God and fauour his children, 13 Was it not tolde my lord, what I did when Jezebel slew the Prophets of the Lorde, how I hid an hundreth men of the Lords prophets by fifties in a caue, and fed them with bread and water?

14 And nowe thou sayest, Goe, tell thy lorde, behold, Eliah is here, that he may slay me.

15 And Eliah said, As the Lord of hosts liueth, before whom I stād, I will surely shew [e] my selfe vnto him this day.

e By my presence I will declare that thou hast tolde him the trueth.

16 ¶ So Obadiah went to meete Ahab, & told him: and Ahab went to meete Eliah.

17 And when Ahab sawe Eliah, Ahab said vnto him, Art thou he that troubleth Israel?

18 And he answered, I haue not troubled Israel, but [f] thou, & thy fathers house, in that ye haue forsaken the commandements of the Lord, and thou hast followed Baalim.

f The true ministers of God ought not onely not to suffer the trueth to be vniustly slandered, but to reproue boldly the wicked slanderers without respect of person.

19 Now therefore send, & gather to me all Israel vnto mount Carmel, & the prophetes of Baal foure hundreth & fiftie, and the prophetes of the groues foure hundreth, which eate at Jezebels table.

20 ¶ So Ahab sent vnto all the children of Israel, and gathered the prophetes together vnto mount Carmel.

21 And Eliah came vnto all the people, and saide, How long halt ye betweene two opinions? If the Lorde be God, followe him: but if Baal be he, then go after him. And the people answered him not a word.

g Be constant in religion, and make it not as a thing indifferent whether ye follow God or Baal, or whether ye serue God wholly or in part, Zeph. 1. 5.

22 Then saide Eliah vnto the people, I onely remaine a Prophet of the Lord: but Baals prophets are foure hundreth and fiftie men.

23 Let them therefore giue vs two bullockes, and let them chuse the one, and cut him in pieces, and lay him on the wood, but put no fire vnder, and I will prepare the other bullocke, and lay him on the wood, and will put no fire vnder.

24 Then call ye on the name of your god, and I will cal on the name of the Lord: and then the God that answereth [h] by fire, let him be God. And all the people answered, and said, It is well spoken.

h By sending downe fire from heauen to burne the sacrifice.

25 And Eliah said vnto the prophets of Baal, Chuse you a bullocke, & prepare him first, (for ye are many) and call on the name of your gods, but put no fire vnder.

26 So they tooke the one bullocke, that was giuen them, and they prepared it, and called on the name of Baal, from morning to noone, saying, O Baal, heare vs: but there was no voyce, nor any to answere: and they [i] leaped vpon the altar that was made.

i As men rauished with some strange spirit.

27 And at noone Eliah mocked them, & said, Crie loud: for he is a [k] god: either he talketh, or pursueth his enemies, or is in his iourney, or it may be that he sleepeth, and must be [l] awaked.

k You esteeme him as a god.

l He mocketh their beastly madnes, which thinke that by any instance or sute the dead & vile idoles can helpe their worshippers in their necessities.

28 And they cryed loude, and cut themselues as their maner was, with knifes and launcers, till the blood gushed out vpon them.

29 And when midday was passed, and they had prophecied vntill the offring of the euening sacrifice, there was neyther voyce, nor one to answere, nor any that regarded.

30 And Eliah saide vnto all the people, Come to me. And all the people came to him. And hee repared the altar of the Lord that was broken downe.

31 And Eliah tooke twelue stones, according to the nomber of the tribes of the sonnes

Gen.32.28. 2.king.17.34.

somes of Iaakob, (vnto whome the worde of the Lord came, saying, Israel shalbe thy name)

32 And with the stones he built an altar in the Name of the Lorde: and he made a ditch round about the altar, as great as wolde conteine two * measures of seede.

* Ebr. Sats, which some thinke conteins about three pottels and a third part a piece.

33 And he put the wood in order, & hewed the bullocke in pieces, and laied him on the wood, 34 And said, Fill foure barrels with water, and powre it on the burnt offring & on the wood. Againe he saide, Doe so againe. And they did so the second time. And he saide, Do it the thirde time. And they did it the third time.

35 And the water ran rounde about the altar: and he [m] filled the ditch with water also.

m Hereby he declared the excellent power of God, who contrarie to nature couldemake the fire burne euen in the water, to the intent they should haue none occasion to dout, that he is the onely God.

36 And whē they should offer the euening sacrifice, Eliah the Prophet came, and said, Lord God of Abraham, Isaak and of Israel, let it be knowne this day, that thou art the God of Israel, and that I am thy seruant, and that I haue done all these things at thy commandement.

37 Heare me, O Lorde, heare me, and let this people knowe that thou art O Lord God, and that thou hast turned their heart againe [n] at the last.

n Though God suffer his to run in blindnes and error for a time, yet at the length he calleth them home to him by some notorious signe and worke.

38 Then the fire of the Lord fell, and consumed the burnt offring, and the wood, and the stones, and the dust, & licked vp the water that was in the ditche.

39 And when all the people sawe it, they fell on their faces, and said, The Lord is God, the Lord is God.

40 And Eliah said vnto them, Take the prophetes of Baal, let not [o] a man of them escape. And they tooke them, and Eliah brought them to the brooke Kishon, and slewe them there.

o He commanded them that as they were truely perswaded to confesse the only God: so they would serue him with all their power and destroy the idolaters his enemies, 41 ¶ And Eliah saide vnto Ahab, Get thee vp, eat and drinke, for there is a sound of much raine.

42 So Ahab went vp to eate and to drinke, and Eliah went vp to the top of Carmel: and he crouched vnto the earth, and put his face betweene his knees, 43 And said to his seruant, Goe vp now and looke towarde the way of the Sea. And he went vp, and looked, and sayde, There is nothing. Againe he said, Goe againe [p] seuen times.

p As Gods spirit moued him to pray, so was he strengthened by the same, that he did not faint, but continued stil til he had obtained

44 And at the seuenth time he sayde, Beholde, there ariseth a litle cloude out of the sea like a mans hand. Then he saide, Vp, and saye vnto Ahab, Make readie thy charet, and get thee downe, that the raine stay thee not.

[*] Or, here & there.

45 And [*] in the meane whyle the heauen was blacke with cloudes and wind, and there was a great raine. Then Ahab went vp and came to Izreel.

q He was so strengthened with Gods spirit, that he ran faster then the charet was able to runne.

46 And the hande of the Lorde was on Eliah, and he girded vp his lopnes, and ranne [q] before Ahab till he came to Izreel.

CHAP. XIX.

5 Eliah fleeing from Iezabel, is nourished by the Angel of God. 15 He is commanded to anoint Hazael, Iehu, and Elisha.

1 NOwe Ahab tolde Iezebel all that Eliah had done, and how he had slaine all the [a] prophetes with the sworde.

a To wit, of Baal.

2 Then Iezebel sent a messenger vnto Eliah, saying, [b] The gods doe so to me and more also, if I make not thy life like one of their liues by to morow this time.

b Though the wicked rage against Gods children, yet he holdeth them backe that they cannot execute their malice.

3 ¶ When hee sawe that, hee arose, and went [*] for his life, and came to Beersheba, which is in Iudah, and left his seruant there.

[*] Or, whither his minde led him.

4 But he went a dayes iourney into the wilderneſſe, and came and sate downe vnder a iumper tree, and desired that he might die, & said, It is now enough: O Lord, take my soule, for I am no better, then my fathers.

c So harde a thing it is to bridle our impatiency in affliction, that the saintes couldenot ouercome the same.

5 And as he lay and slept vnder the iumper tree, behold now, an Angel touched him, and saide vnto him, Vp, and eate.

6 And whē he looked about, behold, there was a cake baken on the coales, & a pot of water at his head: so he did eate and drinke, and returned and slept.

7 And the Angel of the Lord came againe the second time, and touched him, and said, Vp, and eat: for [d] thou hast a great iourney.

d He declareth that except God had nourished him miraculously, it had not bin possible for him to haue gone this iourney.

8 ¶ Then he arose, & did eate and drinke, & walked in the strength of that meate fourtie dayes and fourtie nightes, vnto Horeb the mount of God.

9 And there hee entred into a caue, and lodged there: and behold, the Lord spake to him, and saide vnto him, What dost thou here, Eliah?

e He complaineth, that y more zealous that he shewed himselfe to maintein gods glory, the more cruelly was he persecuted. Rom.11.3.

10 And he answered, I haue [e] bene verie zelous for the Lord God of hostes: for the children of Israel haue forsaken thy couenant, broken downe thine altars, & slaine thy Prophets with the sword, [f] & I onely am left, and they seeke my life to take it away.

f For the nature of man is not able to come nere vnto God, if he shoulde appeare in his strength and full maiestie, and therefore of his mercie he submitteth himselfe to our capacitie.

11 And he sayd. Come out, and stand vpō the mount before the Lord. And behold, the Lord went by, and a mightie strong winde rent the mountaines, and brake the rockes before the Lord: but the Lorde was [g] not in the winde: and after the winde came an earthquake: but the Lord was not in the earthquake:

g We ought not to depende on the multitude in maintening Gods glory, but because our duetie so requireth, we ought to do it.

12 And after the earthquake came fire: but the Lorde was not in the fire: and after the fire came a still and soft voyce.

13 And when Eliah heard it, he covered his face with his mantell, and went out, & stood in the entring in of the caue: and beholde, there came a voyce vnto him, and sayde, What dost thou here, Eliah?

14 And he answered, I haue bene verie zelous for the Lord God of hostes, because the children of Israel haue forsaken saken thy couenant, cast downe thine altars and slaine thy Prophets with the sworde, and I onely am left, & they seeke my life to take it away.

15 And the Lord sayd vnto him, Goe, returne by the wildernes vnto Damascus, and when thou commest there, anoint Hazael King ouer [1]Aram.

[1] Or, Syria.

16 And Iehu the sonne of Nimshi shalt thou anoint King ouer Israel: & Elisha the sonne of Shaphat of Abel Meholah shalt thou anoint to be Prophet in thy rowme.

2. King. 9. 1, 3. & 10. 8.

17 And [a]him that escapeth from the sworde of Hazael, shall Iehu slay: and him that escapeth from the sworde of Iehu, shall Elisha slay.

Rom. 11. 4.

18 Yet will [b]I leaue seuen thousand in Israel, euen [b]all the knees that haue not bowed vnto Baal, & euery mouth that hath not kissed him.

19 ¶ So he departed thence, and founde Elisha the sonne of Shaphat who was plowing with twelue yoke of oxen before him, and was with the twelfth: and Eliah went towardes him, and cast his mantel vpon him.

20 And he left the oxen, and ran after Eliah, and sayde, [i] Let me, I pray thee, kisse my father and my mother, and then I will followe thee. Who answered him, Goe, returne: for what haue I done to thee?

21 And when he went backe againe from him, he tooke a couple of oxen, and slew them, and sod their flesh with the [k] instruments of the oxen, and gaue vnto the people, and they did eate: then he arose and went after Eliah, and ministred vnto him.

[a] They thoughe it their duetie rather to venter their liues, then to graune to that thing which was not lawful, onely to satisfie the lust of a tyrant.

[b] Much lesse shal there be founde anie pray that is worth any thing, when they shal be so many.

[i] Though this naturall affection is not to be contemned, yet it ought not to moue vs when God calleth vs to serue him.

[k] He would not stay til wood was brought, so great was his desire to followe his vocation.

CHAP. XX.

1 Samaria is besieged. 13 The Lord promiseth the victorie to Ahab by a Prophet. 31 The king of Israel made peace with Ben-hadad, and is reproued therefore by the Prophet.

1 Then Ben-hadad the King of [1] Aram assembled all his armie, and two and thirtie [a] kings with him, with horses, & charets, & went vp, and besieged [2] Samaria, & fought against it.

[1] Or, Syria.

[a] That is, gouernours, and rulers of prouinces.

[2] Or, Shomeron.

2 And he sent messengers to Ahab King of Israel, into the citie,

3 And sayd vnto him, Thus saith Ben-hadad, Thy siluer & thy golde is mine: also thy women, and thy faire children are mine.

[b] I am content to obey and pay tribute.

4 And the King of Israel answered, and said, My lorde King, according to thy saying, [b] I am thine, & all that I haue.

[c] He would not accept his answere, except he did out of hande deliuer whatsoeuer he should aske for he sought an occasion, howe to make warre against him.

5 And whē the messengers came againe, they said, Thus commandeth Ben-hadad, and saith, When I shal sende vnto thee, and command, thou shalt deliuer me thy siluer and thy gold, and thy women, and thy children,

6 [c] Dyers I will send my seruants vnto thee by to morow this time: and they shal search thine house, and the houses of thy seruants: and whatsoeuer is pleasant in thine eyes, they shal take it in their handes, and bring it away.

7 Then the King of Israel sent for al the Elders of the lande, and sayde, Take heede, I pray you, and see howe he seeketh mischiefe: for he sent vnto me for my wiues, and for my children, and for my siluer, and for my gold, and I denied him not.

8 And all the Elders, and all the people sayde to him, Hearken [d] not vnto him, nor consent.

[d] They thought good to graunt his request, but not to consent to his wicked desire.

9 Wherefore he said vnto the messengers of Ben-hadad, Tel my lorde the King, All that thou diddest send for to thy seruant at the first time, that I wil do, but this thing I may not do. And the messengers departed, and brought him an answere.

10 And Ben-hadad sent vnto him, and sayde, The gods do so to me and more also, if the [e] dust of Samaria be enough to al the people that follow me, for euery man an handfull.

[e] Much lesse shal there be founde anie pray that is worth any thing, when they shal be so many.

11 And the King of Israel answered, and sayd, Tel him, Let not him that girdeth his harnesse, boast him selfe, as he that [f] putteth it off.

[f] Boast not before the victorie be gotten.

12 And when he heard that tidings, as he was with the kings drinking in the pauilions, he sayde vnto his seruants, [g] Bring forth your engines. And they set them against the citie.

[g] Or, put your selues in order.

13 ¶ And beholde, there came a Prophet vnto Ahab king of Israel, saying, Thus saith the Lorde, Hast thou seene all this great multitude? beholde, I wil deliuer it into thine hand this day, that thou mayest know, that I am the Lord.

14 And Ahab sayde, By whom? And he sayd, Thus saith the Lord, By the seruants of the princes of the prouinces. He said againe, Who shal order the battel? And he answered, Thou.

15 ¶ Then he nombred the seruants of the princes of the prouinces, & they were two hundreth, two and thirtie: and after them he nombred the whole people of all the children of Israel, euen seuen thousand.

16 And they went out at noone: but Ben-hadad did drinke, til he was drunken, in the tents, both he and the kings: for two and thirtie kinges helped him.

17 So the [h] seruants of the princes of the prouinces went out first: & Ben-hadad sent out, and they shewed him, saying, There are men come out of Samaria.

18 And he sayde, Whether they be come out for peace, take them aliue: or whether they be come out to fight, take them aliue.

19 So they came out of the citie, to wit, the seruants of the princes of the prouinces, and the host which followed them.

20 And they slew euery one his [i] enemie: and the [i] Aramits fled, & Israel pursued them: but Ben-hadad [k] king of Aram escaped on an horse with his horsemen.

[h] That is, young men trained in the seruice of Princes.

[i] Ebr. man.

[k] Or, Syrians.

[i] With the that were appointed for the preseruation of his person.

21 And

21 And the king of Iſrael went out, and ſmote the horſes and charets, & with a great ſlaughter ſlewe he the Aramites.
22 (For there had come a Prophet to the king of Iſrael, and had ſaid vnto him, Goe, be of good courage, and conſider, and take hede what thou doeſt: for when the yere is gone about, the king of Aram will come vp againſt thee)
23 ¶ Then the ſeruants of the king of Aram ſaide vnto him, Their k gods are gods of the mountaines, and therefore they ouercame vs: but let vs fight againſt them in the plaine, and doubtles we ſhall ouercome them.
24 And this doe, Take the kings away, euery one out of his place, & place captaines for them.
25 And nomber thy ſelfe an armie, like the armie that thou haſt loſt, with ſuch horſes, and ſuch charets, and we will fight againſt them in the plaine, and doutles we ſhall ouercome them: and he hearkened vnto their voyce, and did ſo.
26 And after the yeere was gone about, Ben-hadad nombred the Aramites, & went vp to Aphek to fight againſt Iſrael.
27 And the children of Iſrael were nombred, and were all l aſſembled and went againſt them, and the children of Iſrael pitched before them like two litle flocks of kiddes: but the Aramites filled the countrey.
28 And there came a man of God, and ſpake vnto the king of Iſrael, ſaying, Thus ſayth the Lord, Becauſe the Aramites haue ſaid, The Lord is m God of the mountaines, and not God of the valleyes, therefore will I deliuer al this great multitude into thine hand, and ye ſhall knowe that n I am the Lord.
29 And they pitched one ouer againſt the other ſeuen dayes, and in the ſeuenth day the battel was ioyned: and the children of Iſrael ſlew of the Aramites an hundreth thouſande footemen in one day.
30 But the reſt fled to Aphek into the citie: and there fel a wall vpon ſeuen and twentie thouſand men that were left: and Ben-hadad fled into the citie, and came into o a ſecret chamber.
31 ¶ And his ſeruants ſaid vnto him, Beholde now, we haue heard ſay, that the kings of the houſe of Iſrael are mercifull kings: we pray thee, let vs put ſackcloth about our p loynes, & ropes about our heads, & goe out to the king of Iſrael: it may be that he will ſaue thy life.
32 Thē they girded ſackcloth about their loynes, & put ropes about their heades, and came to the king of Iſrael, & ſaide, Thy ſeruant Ben-hadad ſaith, I pray thee, let me liue: and he ſaid, Is he yet aliue? he is my brother.
33 Now the men tooke diligent hede, q if they could catch any thing of him, and made haſte, and ſayde, Thy brother Ben-hadad. And he ſaide, Goe, bring him. So Ben-hadad came out vnto him, and he cauſed him to come vp into the charet.
34 And Ben-hadad ſaid vnto him, The cities, which my father tooke from thy father, I will reſtore, & thou ſhalt make ſtreetes for thee in r Damaſcus, as my father did in Samaria. Then ſaide Ahab, I will let thee goe with this couenant. So he made a couenant with him, and let him goe.
35 ¶ Then a certaine man of the ſ children of the Prophets ſaide vnto his neighbour by the commandement of the Lord, t Smite me, I pray thee. But the man refuſed to ſmite him.
36 Then ſaid he vnto him, Becauſe thou haſt not obeyed the voyce of the Lord, beholde, aſſone as thou art departed from me, a lyon ſhall u ſlay thee. So when he was departed from him, a lyon found him and ſlewe him.
37 Then he founde another man, & ſayd, Smite me, I pray thee. And the man ſmote him, & in ſmiting wounded him.
38 So the Prophet departed, and waited for the king by the way, and diſguiſed him ſelfe with aſhes vpon his face.
39 And when the king came by, he cryed vnto the king, and ſaid, x Thy ſeruant went into the middes of the battell: & behold, there went awap a man, whom another mā brought vnto me, and ſaid, Keepe this man: if he be loſt, and want, thy life ſhall goe for his life, or els thou ſhalt pap a talent of ſiluer.
40 And as thy ſeruant had here & there to doe, he was gone: and the king of Iſrael ſaid vnto him, So ſhal thy iudgment be: thou haſt giuen ſentence.
41 And he haſted, & tooke the aſhes awap from his face: and the king of Iſrael knew him that he was of the Prophets:
42 And he ſaid vnto him, Thus ſaith the Lord, y Becauſe thou haſt let goe out of thine hands a man whome I appointed to die, thy life ſhall goe for his life, & thy people for his people.
43 And the king of Iſrael went to his houſe heauie and in diſpleaſure, & came to z Samaria.

CHAP. XXI.

Iezabel commandeth to kill Naboth, for the vineyard that he refuſed to ſell to Ahab. 19 Eliiah reproueth Ahab, and he repenteth.

A After theſe things Naboth the Iſreelite had a vineparde in Iſreel, hard by the palace of Ahab king of Samaria.
2 And Ahab ſpake vnto Naboth, ſaying, b Giue me thy vineparde, that I may make me a garden of herbes thereof, becauſe it is neere by mine houſe: & I will giue thee for it a better vineparde then it is: or if it pleaſe thee, I will giue thee the worth of it in money.
3 And Naboth ſaid to Ahab, The Lord keepe me from giuing the inheritance of my fathers vnto thee.

y Or, at this time.
z By though Ahabs tyrannie be condemned by the holy Spirit, yet he was not ſo rigorous that he would take frō another man his right without full recompence.

4 Then Ahab came into his house heauy and in displeasure, because of the woorde which Naboth the Izreelite had spoken vnto him: for he had said, I will not giue thee the inheritance of my fathers, and he [b] lay vpon his bed and turned his face and would eate no bread.

5 Then Iezebel his wife came to him and sayde vnto him, Why is thy spirit so sad that thou eatest no bread?

6 And he sayd vnto her, Because I spake vnto Naboth the Izreelite, & sayd vnto him, Giue me thy vineyard for money, or if it please thee, I will giue thee another vineyard for it: but he answered, I will not giue thee my vineyard.

7 Then Iezebel his wife sayde vnto him, [c] Doest thou nowe gouerne the kingdome of Israel? vp, eate bread, and [*] be of good chere, I will giue thee the vineyarde of Naboth the Izreelite.

8 So he wrote letters in Ahabs name, and sealed them with his seale, and sent the letters vnto the Elders, and to the nobles that were in his citie dwelling with Naboth.

9 And thee wrote in the letters, saying, Proclaime a [d] fast, and set Naboth among the chiefe of the people,

10 And set two wicked men before him, & let them witnesse against him, saying, Thou dydest blaspheme God and the King: then carry him out, and stone him that he may die.

11 And the [e] men of his citie, euen the Elders and gouernours, which dwelt in his citie, did as Iezebel had sent vnto them: as it was written in the letters, which she had sent vnto them.

12 They proclaimed a fast, & set Naboth among the chiefe of the people, 13 And there came two wicked men, and sate before him: and the wicked men witnessed against Naboth in the presence of the people, saying, Naboth did [*] blaspheme God & the king. Then they caried him awap out of the citie, & stoned him with stones, that he died.

14 Then they sent to Iezebel, saying, Naboth is stoned and is dead.

15 ¶ And when Iezebel hearde that Naboth was stoned and was dead, Iezebel sayd to Ahab, [f] Vp, and take possession of the vineyard of Naboth the Izreelite, which he refused to giue thee for money: for Naboth is not aliue, but is dead.

16 And when Ahab heard that Naboth was dead, hee rose to goe downe to the vineyard of Naboth the Izreelite, to take possession of it.

17 ¶ And the woord of the Lord came vnto Eliah the Tishbite, saying,

18 Arise, go downe to meete Ahab King of Israel, which is in Samaria. lo, he is in the vineyard of Naboth, whither he is gone downe to take possession of it.

19 Therefore shalt thou sape vnto him, Thus saith the Lord, hast thou killed, and also gotten possession? And thou shalt speake vnto him, saying, Thus saith the Lorde, [g] In the place where dogs licked the blood of Naboth, shall dogs licke euen thy blood also.

20 And Ahab saide to Eliah, Hast thou found me, O mine enemie? And he answered, I haue found thee: for thou hast solde thy selfe to worke wickednes in the sight of the Lord.

21 [] Behold, I will bring euill vpon thee, and will take away thy posterity, & will cut off from Ahab him that [] pisseth against the wall, alwell him that is [] shut vp, as him that is left in Israel, 22 And I will make thine house like the house of [] Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, and like the house of [*] Baasha the sonne of Ahiah, for the prouocation wherewith thou hast prouoked, & made Israel to sinne.

23 And also of Iezebel spake the Lorde, saying, [] The dogs shall eate Iezebel, [] by the wall of Izreel.

24 The dogges shall eate him of Ahabs stocke, that dyeth in the citie: and him that dyeth in the fielde, shall the foules of the ayre eate.

25 (But there was none like Ahab, who did [i] sell him selfe, to worke wickednes in the sight of the Lord: whome Iezebel his wife prouoked.

26 For hee did exceeding abominably in following idoles, according to all that the Amorites did, whom the Lorde cast out before the children of Israel.)

27 Now when Ahab heard those woords, he rent his clothes, and put sackcloth vpon [*] him and fasted, and lay in sackcloth and went [k] softly.

28 And the woord of the Lord came to Eliah the Tishbite, saying,

29 Seest thou how Ahab is humbled before me? because he submitteth himselfe before me, I will not bring that euill in his dayes, but in his [l] sonnes dayes will I bring euill vpon his house.

Iehoshaphat and Ahab fight against the King of Syria. 15 Michaiah sheweth the king what shalbe the successe of their enterprise. 24 Zidkiah the false prophet smiteth him. 34 Ahab is slaine. 40 Ahaziah his sonne succeedeth. 41 The reigne of Iehoshaphat, 51 And Ioram his sonne.

5 Then Jehoshaphat saide vnto the king of Israel, * Aske counsaile, I praye thee, of the Lord to day.

e He seemed ỹ he would not go to the warre, except God approued it, yet when Michah counselled the cõtrarie, he would not obey.

6 Then the king of Israel gathered the [l] prophets vpon a foure hundreth men, and saide vnto them, Shall I go against Ramoth Gilead to battell, or shall I let it alone? And they said, Goe vp: for the Lord shall deliuer it into the handes of the king.

f Meaning, the false prophetes, which were flatterers & serued for lucre, whome Iezebel had assembled & kept after the death of those whom Elias slewe.

7 And Iehoshaphat sayde, Is there here neuer a Prophet of the [z] Lorde more, that we might inquire of him?

g Iehoshaphat did not acknowledge the false prophets to be Gods ministers, but did contẽne them.

8 And the king of Israel sayde vnto Iehoshaphat, There is yet one man (Michaiah the sonne of Imlah) by whome we may aske counsell of the Lord, but [h] I hate him: for he doeth not prophecie good vnto me, but euill. And Iehoshaphat said, Let not the king say so.

h Whereby we see that the wicked cãnot abide to heare ỹ truth, but hate ỹ Prophetes of God & molest them.

9 Then the king of Israel called an [i] Eunuche, and saide, Call quickly Michaiah the sonne of Imlah.

i Reade Gen. 37.36.

10 And the king of Israel & Iehoshaphat the king of Iudah sate eyther of them on his throne in their [k] apparell in the void place at the entring in of the gate of Samaria, and all the prophets prophecied before them.

k In their kingly apparell.

11 And Zidkiah the sonne of Chenaanah made him [l] hornes of yron, & said, Thus sayth the Lorde, With these shalt thou push the Aramites, vntil thou hast consumed them.

l The true Prophets of God were accustomed to vse signes for the confirmation of their doctrin, Isa. 20.2. Iere. 7.2 wherin the false prophets did imitate them, thinking thereby to make their doctrine more commendable.

12 And all the Prophets prophecied so, saying, Goe vp to Ramoth Gilead, and prosper: for the Lord shall deliuer it into the kings hand.

13 ¶ And the messenger that was gone to call Michaiah, spake vnto him, saying, Beholde nowe, the wordes of the Prophetes declare good vnto the king with [m] one accord: let thy word therefore, I praye thee, be like the worde of one of them, and speake thou good.

Ebr. mouth.

m This is the common argument of the wicked, who thinke that none should speake against a thing, if ỹ greater part approue it, be they neuer so vngodly.

14 And Michaiah sayde, As the Lorde liueth, whatsoeuer the Lorde saieth vnto me, that will I speake.

15 ¶ So he came to the king, and the king said vnto him, Michaiah, shall we go against Ramoth Gilead to battell, or shall we leaue off? And he answered him, [n] Go vp, and prosper: and the Lord shal deliuer it into the hand of the king.

n Hee speaketh this in derision, because the King attributed so much to the false prophetes, meaning that by experience he should trie that they were but flatterers. o It is better they returne home, then to be punished and scattered, because they take warre in hand without Gods counsell and approbation.

16 And the king said vnto him, How oft shall I charge thee, that thou tel me nothing but that which is true in the Name of the Lord?

17 Then he saide, I saw all Israel scattered vpon the mountaines, as sheepe that had no shepheard. And the Lorde saide, [o] These haue no master, let euerie man returne vnto his house in peace.

18 (And the king of Israel said vnto Iehoshaphat, Did I not tell thee, that he would prophecie no good vnto me, but euill?)

19 Againe he saide, Heare thou therefore the worde of the Lord. I sawe the Lorde sit on his throne, and all the [p] hoste of heauen stoode about him on his right hand and on his left hand.

p Meaning, his Angels.

20 And the Lord saide, Who shall [q] entise Ahab that he may goe and fall at Ramoth Gilead? And one said on this maner, and another said on that maner.

q Or, perswade and deceiue.

21 Then there came forth a spirite, and [r] stood before the Lord, and saide, I will entise him. And the Lord said vnto him, Wherewith?

q Here we see that though the deuill be quet readie to bring vs to destruction, yet he hath no further power then God giueth him.

22 And he saide, I will goe out, and be a [s] false spirit in the mouth of all his prophetes. Then he saide, Thou shalt entise him, and shalt also preuaile: goe forth, and do so.

r I will cause all his prophets to tell lyes.

23 Now therefore behold, the Lord hath put a lying spirite in the mouth of all these thy prophetes, and the Lorde hath appointed euill against thee.

2. Chro. 18.23.

s Thus the wicked would seeme that none were in the fauour of God, but they, & that God hath giuen his graces to none so much as to them.

24 Then Zidkiah the sonne of Chenaanah came nere, and smote Michaiah on the cheeke, and said, [t] Which went the Spirite of the Lorde from me, to speake vnto thee?

25 And Michaiah said, Behold, thou shalt see in that day, when thou shalt go from chamber to chamber to hide thee.

26 And the king of Israel said, Take Michaiah, and carie him vnto Amon the gouernour of the citie, and vnto Joash the kings sonne, 27 And say, Thus saith ỹ king, Put this man in the prison house, & feede him with [u] bread of affliction, and with water of affliction, vntill I returne in peace.

t Let him be pined away with hunger, & be fed with a small portion of bread & water.

28 And Michaiah saide, If ỹ returne in peace, the Lord hath not spoken by me. And he said, [x] Hearken all ye people.

u That when ye shall see these things come to passe, ye may giue God the glory, and know that I am his true Prophet.

29 So the king of Israel and Iehoshaphat the king of Iudah went vp to Ramoth Gilead.

30 And the king of Israel sayde to Iehoshaphat, I will change mine apparell, & will enter into the battell, but put thou on thine apparell. And the king of Israel changed himself, and went into the battell.

31 And the king of Aram commaunded his two and thirtie captaines ouer his charets, saying, Fight neither with small, nor great, saue onely against the king of Israel.

32 And when the captaines of the charets saw Iehoshaphat, they said, Surely it is the king of Israel, and they turned to fight against him: and Iehoshaphat [x] cryed.

x That is, to the Lord for helpe.

50 And Iehoshaphat did sleepe with his fathers, & was buried with his fathers in the citie of Dauid his father, and Iehoram his sonne reigned in his stead.

51 ¶ Ahaziah the sonne of Ahab began to reigne ouer Israel in Samaria, the seuenteenth yere of Iehoshaphat King of Iudah, and reigned two yeeres ouer Israel.

52 And he did euill in the sight of the Lord, and walked in the way of his father, & in the way of his mother, and in the way of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to sinne.

THE SECOND BOOKE OF the Kings.

THE ARGVMENT.

THis second booke conteyneth the actes of the Kings of Iudah and Israel: to wit, of Israel, from the death of Ahab vnto the last King Hoshea, who was imprisoned by the King of Assyria, and his citie Samaria taken, and the ten tribes by the iust plague of God for their idolatrie and disobedience to God, led into captiuitie. And also of Iudah, from the reigne of Iehoram sonne of Iehoshaphat vnto Zedechia, who for contemning the Lordes commandement by his Prophets, & neglecting his sundrie admonitions by famine and other meanes, was taken by his enemies, sawe his sonnes most cruelly slayne before his face, & his owne eyes put out, as the Lorde had declared to him before by his Prophet Ieremie: and also by the iust vengeance of God for contempt of his worde Ierusalem was destroyed, the Temple burnt, and he and all his people were ledde away captiues into Babylon. In this booke are notable examples of Gods fauour towards those rulers & people which obey his Prophets & imbrace his worde: and contrariwise, of his plagues towards those common weales which neglect his ministers and do not obey his commandements.

CHAP. I.

Ahaziah by a falſe letter ſicke & conſulteth with Baal-zebub. 3 He is reproued by Eliah. 10 The captaines ouer fifte were ſent to Eliah, whereof two were burnt with fire from heauen by his prayer. 17 Ahaziah dyeth, and Ieboram his brother ſucceedeth him.

1 THen Moab rebelled againſt Iſrael after the death of Ahab:

2 And [a] Ahaziah fell though þ lattesse windowe in his vpper chamber which was in Samaria: ſo he was ſicke: then he ſent meſſengers, to whom he ſaid, Goe, and enquire of [b] Baal-zebub the God of Ekron, if I ſhall recouer of this my diſeaſe.

3 Then the Angel of the Lord ſaid to Eliah the Tiſhbite, Ariſe, and goe vp to mete the meſſengers of þ king of Samaria, & ſay vnto them, [c] Is it not becauſe there is no God in Iſrael, that ye goe to enquire of Baal-zebub the god of Ekron?

4 Wherefore thus ſaith the Lord, Thou ſhalt not come downe from the bed on which thou art gone vp, but ſhalt die the death. So Eliah departed.

5 And the meſſengers returned vnto him, to whom he ſaid, Why are ye now returned?

6 And they anſwered him, There came a man & met vs, and ſaid vnto vs, Goe, & returne vnto the king which ſent you, and ſay vnto him, Thus ſaith the Lord, [d] Is it not becauſe there is no God in Iſrael, that thou ſendeſt to enquire of Baal-zebub the god of Ekron? Therefore thou ſhalt not come downe from the bed, on which thou art gone vp, but ſhalt die the death.

7 And he ſaid vnto them, What maner of man was he which came & met you, and told you theſe words?

8 And they ſaide vnto him, He was an [e] hearie man, and girded with a girdle of lether about his loynes. Then ſaide he, It is Eliah the Tiſhbite.

9 Therefore the king ſent vnto him a captaine ouer fifte with his fifty men, who went vp vnto him: for behold, he ſate on the top [f] of a mountaine, & he ſaid vnto him, O man of God, the king hath [g] commanded that thou come downe.

10 But Eliah anſwered, and ſaide to the captaine ouer the fifte, If that I be a man of God, let fire come downe from the heauen, & deuour thee and thy fifte. [h] So fire came downe from the heauen and deuoured him and his fifte.

11 Againe alſo he ſent vnto him another captain ouer fifte, with his fifte. Who ſpake, and ſaid vnto him, [h] O man of God, thus the king commandeth, Come downe quickly.

12 But Eliah anſwered, and ſaid vnto them, [i] If I be a man of God, let fire come downe from the heauen, and deuoure thee and thy fifte. So fire came downe from the heauen, and deuoured him and his fifte.

13 ¶ Yet againe he ſent the third captaine ouer fifte with his fifte. And the third captaine ouer fifte went vp, and came, and fell on his knees before Eliah, and beſought him, & ſaid vnto him, O man of God, I pray thee, let my [k] life and the life of theſe thy fifte ſeruants be [l] precious in thy ſight.

14 Behold, there came fire downe from the heauen and deuoured the two former captaines ouer fifte with their fifties: therefore let my life now be precious in thy ſight.

15 And the Angel of the Lord ſayde vnto Eliah, Goe downe with him, be [m] not afraide of his preſence. So he aroſe, and went downe with him vnto the king.

16 And he ſaid vnto him, Thus ſaith the Lord, Becauſe þ haſt ſent meſſengers to inquire of Baal-zebub the god of Ekron, (was it not becauſe there was no God in Iſrael to inquire of his word?) therefore thou ſhalt not come downe off the bed, on which thou art gone vp, but ſhalt die the death.

17 So he died according to the word of the Lord which Eliah had ſpoken. And [n] Iehoram began to reigne in his ſtead, in the ſecõd yere of Iehoram the ſonne of Iehoſhaphat king of Iudah, becauſe he had no ſonne.

18 Concerning the reſt of the actes of Ahaziah, that he did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kinges of Iſrael?

CHAP. II.

Eliah deuideth the waters with his cloke. 11 He is taken vp into heauen. 13 Eliſha taketh his cloke and deuideth Iorden. 20 The bitter and venemous waters are healed. 23 The children that mocke Eliſha, are rent in pieces with beares.

1 AND when the Lord would take vp Eliah into heauen by a whirle winde, Eliah went with Eliſha from [a] Gilgal.

2 Then Eliah ſaide to Eliſha, Tarie here, I pray thee: for the Lorde hath ſent me to Beth-el. But Eliſha ſayde, As the Lord liueth, and as thy ſoule liueth, I will not leaue thee. So they came downe to Beth-el.

3 And the [b] children of the prophets that were at Beth-el, came out to Eliſha, and ſayd vnto him, Knoweſt thou that the Lord will take thy maſter frõ [c] thine head this day? And he ſaide, Yea, I [d] know it: holde ye your peace.

4 Againe Eliah ſayde vnto him, Eliſha, tarie here, I pray thee: for the Lord hath ſent me to Iericho. But he ſayde, As the Lord liueth, and as thy ſoule liueth, I will not leaue thee. So they came to Iericho.

a So that he was punished for his idolatrie after two sorts: for the Moabites, which were wõt to pay him tribute, rebelled, & he fel downe at a grate which was vpon his house to giue light beneath.

b The Philistims which dwelt at Ekron, worshipped this Idole, which signifieth the God of flyes, thinking that he could preserue them frõ the biting of flyes: or els he was so called, because flies were ingendred in great abundance of ỹ blood of the sacrifices that were offred to that idole.

c He sheweth ỹ idolaters haue not ỹ true God, for els thei wold seeke to none but to him alone

d Ignorance is the mother of error & idolatry.

e Some thinke that this is ment of his garments which were rough and made of heare.

f To wit, Carmel.

g He declareth what power Gods word hath in the mouth of his seruants, whẽ they threaten Gods iudgemẽts against the wicked.

h He spake this in mockerie, & therfore prouoked Gods wrath so much ỹ more.

i Meaning, that God would shew by effect, whether he was a true Prophet or not.

k Which humble my selfe before God & his seruat I. That is, spare my life and let me not die as the other two.

l Thus ỹ Lord giueth boldnes to his that they feare not the threatnings of tyrants, which otherwise of them selues are afraid to doe Gods message.

m Iehoshaphat going to battel against the Syrias, made his sõne Iehoram king in ỹ 17. yere of his reigne: & in the 18. yere, which was the 2. yere of his sonne, Iehorã the sonne of Ahab reigned in Israel: & in ỹ 5. yere of this Iehorã, Iehoshaphat dyed, & ỹ kingdome of Iudah was confirmed to his sonne.

a Which was that place where the children of Israel were circumcised after they came ouer Iorden and had bene forty yeres in the wildernes, as Iosh. 5. 9.

b So called, because thei are begotten as it were anewe by ỹ heauenly doctrine.

c That is, from being any more thine head: for to be ỹ head, is to be ỹ master, as to be at the feete, is to be a scholer.

d For the Lord had reueiled it vnto him.

5 And the children of the Prophets that were at Iericho, came to Elisha, and sayde vnto him, Knowest thou, that the Lorde will take thy master from thine head this day? And he sayde, Yea, I knowe it: holde ye your peace.

e Not onely at Beth-el, but at Iericho and other places were there Prophets, which had schollers, whome they instructed and brought vp in the true feare of God.

6 Moreouer Eliah said vnto him, Tarie, I pray thee, here: for the Lorde hath sent me to Iorden. But he said, As the Lorde liueth, and as thy soule liueth, I will not leaue thee. So they went both together.

7 And fiftie men of the sonnes of the Prophets went and stoode on the other side afarre off: and they two stoode by Iorden.

8 ¶ Then Eliah tooke his cloke, and wrapt it together, and smote the f waters, and they were deuided hither and thither, and they twaine went ouer on the dry land.

f To wit, of Iorden.

9 Nowe when they were passed ouer, Eliah said vnto Elisha, Aske what I shall do for thee before I be taken from thee. And Elisha sayde, I pray thee, let thy Spirit g be double vpon me.

g Let thy Spirit haue double force in me, because of these dangerous times: or let me haue twise so much as the rest of the Prophets: or thy Spirit being deuided into three parts, let me haue two. Deut. 21.17. 1 Chron. 23.16.

10 And he said, Thou hast asked an hard thing: yet if thou see me whe I am take from thee, thou shalt haue it so: if not, it shall not be.

11 And as they went walking & talking, beholde, there appeared a charet of fire, and horses of fire, and did separate the twaine. And Eliah went vp by a whirle winde into h heauen.

h Thus God hath left a testimonie in al ages (both before the Law, in the Law, and in the time of the Gospel) of our resurrection.

12 And Elisha saw it, and he cryed, My father, my father, the charet of Israel, and the horsemen thereof: and he sawe him no more: and he tooke his owne clothes, and rent them in two pieces.

13 ¶ He tooke vp also the cloke of Eliah that fell from him, and returned, & stoode by the banke of Iorden.

14 After, he tooke the cloke of Eliah, that fell from him, and smote the waters, & said, Where is the Lord God of Eliah? And so he also, after he had stricken the waters so that they were deuided this way and that way, went ouer, euen Elisha.

15 And when the children of the Prophets, which were at Iericho, saw him on the other side, they said, i The Spirit of Eliah doth rest on Elisha: and they came to meete him, & fell to the ground before him, i The Spirit of prophecie is giuen to him, as it was to Eliah.

16 And said vnto him, Behold now, there be with thy seruants fiftie strong men: let them go, we pray thee, and seeke thy k master, if so be the Spirite of the Lord hath taken him vp, and cast him vpon some mountaine, or into some valley. But he said, l Ye shall not send.

k Meaning, Eliah: for they thought his body had bene cast in some mountaine.

l Because y fact was extraordinarie, they douted where he was become, but Elisha was assured that he was take vp to God.

17 Yet they were instant vpon him, til he was ashamed: wherefore he said, Send. So they sent fiftie men, which sought three dayes, but found him not.

18 Therefore they returned to him, (for he taried at Iericho) and he saide vnto them, Did not I say vnto you, Go not?

19 ¶ And the men of the citie saide vnto Elisha, Behold, we pray thee: the situation of this citie is pleasant, as thou, my lord, seest, but the water is naught, and the ground m barren.

m Or, killeth the inhabitants.

20 Then he said, Bring me a new cruse, and put salt therein. And they brought it to him.

21 And he went vnto the spring of the waters, and cast there n the salt, and sayde, Thus saith the Lord, I haue healed this water: death shall no more come therof, neither barrennes to the ground.

n Thus God gaue him power euen contrary to nature, to make that water y most table for mans vse, which before was hurtful.

22 So the waters were healed vntil this daye, according to the worde of Elisha which he had spoken.

23 ¶ And he went vp from thence vnto Beth-el. And as he was going vp the way, little children came out of the citie, and mocked him, and saide vnto him, Come vp, thou bald head, come vp, thou bald head.

24 And he turned backe, & looked on them, and o cursed them in the Name of the Lorde. And two beares came out of the forest, and tare in pieces two & fourtie children of them.

o Perceiuing their malicious heart against the lord & his word, he desireth God to take vengeance of that iniurie done vnto him.

25 So he went frō thence to mount Carmel, & from thence he returned to Samaria.

CHAP. III.

1 The reigne of Ieboram. 6 He and Iehoshaphat go to warre against Moab, which rebelled. 13 Elisha reproueth him, 17 And giueth their host water. 24 The Moabites are ouercome. 27 Their king sacrificeth his sonne.

1 NOwe Iehoram the sonne of Ahab began to reigne ouer Israel in Samaria, the a eighteenth yere of Iehoshaphat King of Iudah, and reigned twelue yeeres.

a Reade the annotation in the 1. Chap. and 17. verse.

2 And he wrought euil in the sight of the Lord, but not like his father nor like his mother: for he tooke away the image of Baal that his father had made.

3 Neuertheles, he cleaued vnto b Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to sinne, and departed not therefrom.

b He sacrificed to the golden calues that Ieroboam had made.

4 ¶ Then c Mesha king of Moab had store of sheepe, and rendred vnto the King of Israel an hundreth thousande lambes, & an hundreth thousand rammes with the wooll.

c This was done after that Dauid had made the Moabites tributaries to his successours.

5 But when Ahab was dead, the king of Moab rebelled against the king of Israel.

6 Therefore King Iehoram went out of Samaria the same season, & nombred all Israel,

7 And went, & sent to Iehoshaphat king of Iudah, saying, The King of Moab hath rebelled against me: wilt thou goe with me to battel against Moab? And he answered, I will go vp: for d I am, as thou art, my people, as thy people, and mine horses as thine horses.

d Read 2. King. 22.4.

8 Then said he, What way shall we goe vp? And he answered, The way of the e wildernes of Edom.

e Meaning, the Viceroy or Lieutenant of y king of Iudah, reade 2. King. 22. 47.

9 So went the King of Israel and the king of Iudah, & the f King of Edom, & when f Or, when

when they had compassed ꝑ way seuen dayes, they had no water for the hoste, nor for the cattel that " followed them.

" Ebr. that were at their feete.

10 Therefore the king of Israel saide, Alas, that the Lord hath called these three kings, to giue them into the hande of Moab.

11 But Iehoshaphat sayd, Is there not here a Prophet of ꝑ Lord, that we may inquire of the Lord by him? And one of the king of Israels seruants answered, and sayde, Here is Elisha the sonne of Shaphat, which f powred water on the hands of Elijah.

f That is, who was his seruant.

12 Then Iehoshaphat sayd, g The word of the Lorde is with him. Therefore the King of Israel, and Iehoshaphat, and the king of Edom went downe to him.

g He is able to instruct vs what is Gods will in this point.

13 And Elisha said vnto ꝑ king of Israel, h What haue I to doe with thee? get thee to the prophets of thy father, and to the prophets of thy mother. And the king of Israel said vnto him, i Nay: for the Lord hath called these three kings, to giue them into the hand of Moab.

h He knew that this wicked king would haue but vsed his counsell to serue his turn, and therfore he disdained to answere him.

i The wicked esteeme not the seruants of God, but when they are driuen by very necessitie & feare of the present danger.

14 Then Elisha said, As ꝑ Lord of hostes liueth, in whose sight I stand, if it were not, that I regard the presence of Iehoshaphat the king of Iudah, I would k not haue looked toward thee, nor seene thee.

k God suffereth his worde to bee declared to the wicked, because of ꝑ godly that are among thē.

15 But now we bring me a minstrell. And when the minstrel l played, the hande of the Lorde came vpon him.

l He sang songs to Gods glory, & so stirred vp the Prophets heart to prophecie.

16 And he said, Thus saith ꝑ Lord, Make this valley full of ditches.

17 For thus saith ꝑ Lord, Ye shall neither see winde nor see raine, yet ꝑ valley shal be filled with water, that ye may drink, both ye and your cattel, & your beastes.

m He will not onely miraculously giue you waters, but your enemies also into your hand.

18 And this is a m small thing in the sight of the Lord: for he will giue Moab into your hand.

19 And ye shal smite euery strong towne and euery chiefe citie, and shal fel euery faire tree, & shal stop all the fountaines of water, and n marre euery good fielde with stones.

n Though God bestow his benefites for a time vpō his enemies, yet he hath his seasons, when he will take them away, to ỹ intent they might see his vengeance, which is prepared against thē.

20 And in the morning when the meate offring was offred, beholde, there came water by the way of Edom: and the countrey was filled with water.

21 And when al the Moabites heard that the kings were come vp to fight against thē, they gathered al that was able " to put on harnesse, and vpward, and stoode in their border.

" Ebr. to gird himselfe with a girdle.

22 And they rose early in the morning, when the sunne arose vpon the water, and the Moabites sawe the water ouer against them, as red as blood.

o The sudden ioy of the wicked is but a preparation to their destructiō, which is at hand.

23 And they said, o This is blood: ꝑ kings are surely slaine, & one hath smitten another: now therefore, Moab, to the spoile.

24 And when they came to the host of Israel, the Israelites arose vp, and smote the Moabites, so that they fledde before them, but they p inuaded them, & smote Moab.

p Meaning, they followed them into the townes.

25 And they destroyed the cities: and on al ꝑ good field euery man cast his stone, and filled them, & they stopt all the fountaines of water, & felled all the good trees: onely in q Kir-haraseth left they the stones thereof: howbeit they went about it with slings, and smote it.

q Which was one of the principall cities of the Moabites, wherin they left nothing, but the walles.

26 And when the king of Moab saw that the battel was to loze for him, he tooke with him seuē hundreth men that drew the swoorde to breake through vnto the king of Edom: but they could not.

27 Then he tooke his eldest sonne, that shoulde haue reigned in his steade, and r offred him for aburnt offring vpon the wal: so that Israel was soze grieued, & they departed from him, & returned to their countrey.

r Some referre it to the king of Edoms sonne, whome they say he had taken in that skirmish: but rather it seemed to be his owne sonne, whom he offred to his gods to pacifie them, which barbarous cruelty moued the Israelites hearts of pitie to depart.

CHAP. IIII.

4 God increaseth the oyle to the poore widow by Elisha. 12 He obtaineth for the Shunamite a sonne at Gods hand. 18 VVho dying, 32 He raiseth him vp againe. 40 He maketh sweete the pottage, 42 And multiplieth the loaues.

1 AND one of the wiues a of the sonnes of the Prophets cried vnto Elisha, saying, Thy seruant mine husband is dead, and thou knowest, that thy seruant did b feare the Lord: and the creditour is come to take my two sonnes to be his c bondmen.

a Reade Chap. 2.3.

b And therefore fell not into det by vnthriftines or prodigalitie, but by the hand of the Lord.

c Because I am poore and not able to pay.

2 Then Elisha said vnto her, What shall I doe for thee? tell me, what hast thou at home? And she said, Thine handmaide hath nothing at home, saue a d pitcher of oyle.

d Thus God suffereth his many times to be brought to extreme necessitie, before he succour them, that afterward they may the more praise his mercy.

3 And he said, Goe, e borow thee vessels abroade of all thy neighbours, emptie vessels, and spare not.

e The Prophet declareth hereby vnto her, that God neuer fayleth to prouide for his seruants, their wiues and children, if they trust in him.

4 And when thou art come in, thou shalt shut the doore vpon thee and vpon thy sonnes, and powre out into f all those vessels and set aside those that are full.

f To augment and encrease in the vessels.

5 So she departed from him, and shutte the doore vpon her, & vpon her sonnes. And they brought to her, and she powred out.

6 And when the vessels were full, she said vnto her sonne, Bring mee yet a vessell. And he said vnto her. There is no moe vessels. And the oyle g ceased.

g God here did not only prouide for his seruant, that his debts should be paied, and so kept his doctrine and profession without slander, but also for his wife and children.

7 Then she came & told the man of God. And he saide, Goe, and sell the oyle, and pay thein that thou art in det vnto, and liue thou and thy children of the rest.

8 ¶ And on a time Elisha came to Shunem, and there a woman of great estimation constrayned him to eat bread: & as he passed by, he turned in thither to eat bread.

9 And she said vnto her husbande, Beholde, I know now, that this is an holy man of God that passeth by vs continually.

h Which ſhould be ſeparate frō the reſt of the houſe, that he might more cōmodiouſly giue himſelfe to ſtudy and prayers.

10 Let vs make h him a little chamber, I pray the, with walles, and let vs ſet him there a bed and a table and a ſtoole, and a candleſticke, that he may turne in thither when he commeth to vs.
11 ¶ And on a day, he came thither and turned into the chamber, & lay therein, 12 And ſayd to Gehazi his ſeruant, Call this Shunammite: and when he called her, ſhe ſtoode before him.
13 Then he ſayd vnto him, Say vnto her nowe, Beholde, thou haſt had all this great care for vs, i what ſhall we do for the? Is there any thing to be ſpoken for thee to the King or to the captaine of the hoſte? And ſhe anſwered, I k dwel among mine owne people.

i Thus the ſeruants of God are not vnthankfull for the benefites they receiue.
k I am content with that that God hath ſent me, & can want nothing that one can doe for another.

14 Againe he ſayde, What is then to be done for her? Then Gehazi anſwered, In deede ſhe hath l no ſonne, & her huſband is olde.
15 Then ſayd he, Call her. And he called her, and ſhe ſtoode in the doore.
16 And he ſaid, m At this time appointed, according to the time of life, thou ſhalt embrace a ſonne. And ſhe ſayd, Oh my lord, thou man of God, doe not lie vnto thine handmaide.

l Which then was a reproche, and therefore he would that his maſter ſhould pray to God for her that ſhe might be fruitfull. Gen. 18. 10.

17 So the woman conceiued, and bare a ſonne at that ſame ſeaſon, according to the time of life, that Eliſha had ſaid vnto her.
18 ¶ And when the childe was growen, it fell on a day, that he went out to his father, and to the reapers.
19 And he ſayde to his father, n Mine head, mine head. Who ſayd to his ſeruant, Beare him to his mother.
20 And he tooke him and brought him to his mother, and he ſate on her knees till noone, and died.
21 Then ſhe went vp, and laid him on the bed of the man of God, and ſhut the doore vpon him, and went out.
22 ¶ Then ſhe called to her huſband, and ſayd, Send with me, I pray thee, one of the yong men and one of the aſſes: for I wil haſte to the man of God, & come againe.
23 And he ſaid, Wherefore wilt thou goe to him to day? It is neither o new moone nor Sabbath day. And ſhe anſwered, p All ſhalbe well.
24 Then ſhe ſadled an aſſe, and ſaid to her ſeruant, Drriue, and goe forward: ſtay not for me to get vp, except I bid thee.
25 ¶ So ſhe went, and came vnto the man of God to mount Carmel. And when the man of God ſawe her q ouer againſt him, he ſaid to Gehazi his ſeruant, Behold, the Shunammite.
26 Runne nowe, I ſay, to meete her, & ſay vnto her, Art thou in health? is thine huſband in health? and is the childe in health? And ſhe anſwered, We are in health.
27 And whē ſhe came to the man of God vnto the mountaine, ſhe r caught him by his feete: and Gehazi went to her, to thruſt her away: but the man of God ſaid, Let her alone: for her ſoule is ſ vexed within her, and the Lord hath hid it from me, and hath not tolde it me.
28 Then ſhe ſayd, Did I deſire a ſonne of my lorde? did I not ſay, Deceiue me not?
29 Then he ſayd to Gehazi, Girde thy loines, and take my ſtaffe in thine hand, and goe thy way: t if thou meete any, ſalute him not: and if any ſalute thee, anſwere him not: and lay my ſtaffe vpon the face of the childe.
30 And the mother of the childe ſaid, As the Lord liueth, and as thy ſoule liueth, I wil not leaue thee. Therefore he aroſe, and followed her.
31 But Gehazi was gone before them, and had laid the ſtaffe vpon the face of the childe, but he neither ſpake nor heard: wherefore he returned to meete him, and told him, ſaying, The childe is not waken.
32 ¶ Then came Eliſha into the houſe, and behold, the childe was dead, and layd vpon his bed.
33 He went in therefore, & ſhut the doore vpon them twaine, and prayed vnto the Lord.
34 After he went vp, and u lay vpon the childe, & put his mouth on his mouth, and his eies vpon his eies, & his hands vpon his hands, and ſtretched himſelfe vpon him, and the fleſh of the childe waxed warme.
35 And he went from him, and walked vp and downe in the houſe, and went vp and ſpred himſelfe vpon him: then the childe neeſed x ſeuen times, and opened his eyes.
36 Then he called Gehazi, and ſayd, Call this Shunammite. So he called her, which came in vnto him. And he ſayde vnto her, Take thy ſonne.
37 And ſhe came, and fel at his feete, and bowed her ſelfe to the ground, and tooke vp her ſonne, and went out.
38 Afterward Eliſha returned to Gilgal, and a famine was in the land, & the children of the Prophets dwelt with him. And he ſaid vnto his ſeruant, Set on the great pot, and ſeethe pottage for the children of the Prophets.
39 And one went out into the field, to gather herbes, and found, as it were, a wilde vine, & gathered thereof y wilde gourdes his garment full, and came and ſhred them into the pot of pottage: for they knewe it not.
40 So they powred out for the men to eate: and when they had eate of the pottage, they cried out, and ſayde, O thou man of God, z death is in the pot: and they could not eate thereof.
41 Then he ſaid, Bring meale. And he caſt it into the pot, and ſaid, Powre out for the people, that they may eate: & there was none euill in the pot.
42 Then came a man from Baal-ſhaliſha, and brought the man of God bread of the firſt fruits, euen twenty loaues of

CHAP. V.

1 Naaman the Syrian is healed of his leprosie. 16 Elisha refuseth his gifts. 27 Gehazi is striken with leprosie, because he tooke money, and raiment of Naaman.

1 NOw was there one Naamã captaine of the hoste of the King of Aram, a great man, and honourable in the sight of his lorde, because that by him the Lorde had a deliuered the Aramites. He also was a mightie man and valiant, but a leper.

a Here appeareth ꝙ among the infidels God hath his, and also that the infidels haue them in estimation, which doe good to their countrey.

2 And the Aramites had gone out by bands, and had taken a little maid of the land of Israel, and she "serued Naamans wife.

"Ebr. she was before.

3 And she sayd vnto her mistres, Would God my lorde were with the b Prophet that is in Samaria: he would soone deliuer him of his leprosie.

b Meaning, Elisha.

4 And c he went in, and told his lord, saying, Thus and thus saieth the maide that is of the land of Israel.

c That is, Naaman tolde it to the King of Syria.

5 And the king of Aram sayde, Goe thy way thither, and I wil send a letter vnto the King of Israel. And he departed, and d toke "with him ten talents of siluer, and sixe thousand pieces of golde, and ten change of raiments.

d To giue this as a present to the Prophet.

"Ebr. in his hand.

6 And brought the letter to the king of Israel to this effect, Nowe when this letter is come vnto thee, vnderstand, that I haue sent thee Naaman my seruant, that thou mayest heale him of his leprosie.

e The Prophet rebuketh ꝙ king because he did not consider that God was true in his promise, and therefore would not leaue his Church destitute of a Prophet, whose prayers he would heare, & to whom other should haue recourse for comfort.

7 And when the king of Israel had read the letter, he rent his clothes, and sayd, Am I God, to kill and to giue life, that he doeth send to me, that I should heale a man from his leprosie? wherefore consider, I pray you, and see howe he seeketh a quarell against me.

8 But when Elisha the man of God had heard that the king of Israel had rent his clothes, he sent vnto the king, saying, e Wherefore hast thou rent thy clothes? Let him come now to me, ꝙ he shall knowe, that there is a Prophete in Israel.

f Mans reason murmureth, when it considereth onely the signes and outward things, and hath not regard to the worde of God, which is there conteined.

9 ¶ Then Naaman came with his horses, and with his charets, and stode at the doore of the house of Elisha.

10 And Elisha sent a messenger vnto him, saying, Goe and wash thee in Jorden seuen times, and thy flesh shal come againe to thee, and thou shalt bee cleansed.

11 But Naaman was f wroth & went away, and sayd, Beholde, I thought with my selfe, He wil surely come out, and stand, and call on the Name of the Lord his God, and put his hand on the place, and heale the leprosie.

12 Are not Abanah & Pharpar, riuers of Damascus, better then all the waters of Israel? may I not wash me in them, and be cleansed? so he turned, and departed in displeasure.

13 But his seruants came, and spake vnto him and sayd, g Father, if the Prophet had comanded thee a great thing, wouldest thou not haue done it? howe much rather then, whe he saith to thee, Wash, and be cleane?

g This declareth ꝙ seruants ought to reuerence and loue their masters as children their fathers, & likewise masters toward their seruants must be affectioned as toward their children. Luke 4.27.

14 Then went he downe, and * washed himselfe seuen times in Jorden, according to the saying of the man of God: and his flesh came againe, like vnto the flesh of a little childe, and hee was cleane.

"Ebr. blessing.

15 ¶ And he turned againe to the man of God, he, and all his companie, & came and stode before him, and said, Beholde, nowe I knowe that there is no God in all the world, but in Israel: now therefore, I pray thee, take a "reward of thy seruant.

16 But he said, As the Lord liueth (before whom I stand) I will not receiue it. And he would haue constrained him to receiue it, h but he refused.

h So the Lord commaundeth that they that receiue freely should giue also freely.

17 Moreouer, Naaman said, Shall there not be giuen to thy seruant two mules loade of this earth? for thy seruant wil henceforth offer neither burnt sacrifice, nor offring vnto any other god, saue vnto the Lord.

18 Herein the Lord be i merciful vnto thy seruant, that when my master goeth into the house of Rimmon, to worship there, & leaneth on mine hand, & I bow my selfe in the house of Rimmon: when I doe bow downe, I say, in the house of Rimmon, the Lorde be merciful vnto thy seruant in this point.

i He feeleth his conscience wounded in being present at idoles seruice, and therefore desireth God to forgiue him, lest others by his example might fall to idolatrie: for as for his own part he confesseth ꝙ he will neuer serue any but the true God.

19 Then whom he said, k Go in peace. So he departed from him about halfe a dayes iourney of ground.

k The Prophet did not approue his acte, but after the common maner of speach he biddeth him farewell.

20 And Gehazi the seruant of Elisha the man of God sayd, Beholde, my master hath spared this Aramite Naaman, receiuing not those things at his hand that he brought: as the Lord liueth, I will runne after him, and take some what of him.

21 So Gehazi followed speedily after Naaman. And when Naaman sawe him running after him, l he light down from the charet to meete him, and sayd, Is all well?

l Declaring thereby what honour and affection he bare to the Prophet his master.

22 And he answered, All is well: my master hath sent me, saying, Beholde, there be come to me, euen nowe from mount Ephraim two yong men of the children of the Prophets: giue them, I pray thee, a talent of siluer, and two change of garments.

23 And Naaman said, Yea, take two talents:

lents: and he compelled him, & bounde two talents of ſiluer in two bags, with two change of garmentes, & gaue them vnto two of his ſeruauntes, that they might beare them before him.

24 And when he came to [a] the towre, he tooke them out of their handes, & layd them in the houſe, and ſent awaye the men: and [m] they departed.

25 ¶ Then he went in, and ſtoode before his maſter. And Eliſha ſaid vnto him, Whence commeſt thou, Gehazi? And he ſaid, Thy ſeruant went no whither.

26 But he ſaide vnto him, [n] Went not mine heart with thee when the man turned againe from his charet to mete thee? Is this a time to take money, and to receiue garmentes, [o] and oliues, and vineyardes, and ſheepe, and oxen, & men ſeruants, and maide ſeruants?

27 The leproſie therefore of Naaman ſhal cleaue vnto thee, and [p] to thy ſeed for euer. And he went out from his preſence a leper white as ſnow.

CHAP. VI.

6 Eliſha maketh yron to ſwimme aboue the water. 8 He diſcloſeth the king of Syrias counſel to the King of Iſrael. 13 VVho ſending certaine to take him, were kept faſt in Samaria. 24 Samaria is beſieged and endureth extreme famine.

1 AND the children of the Prophetes ſaid vnto Eliſha, Beholde, we pray thee, the place where we dwel with thee, is too litle for vs.

2 Let vs now go to Iorden, that we may take thence euery man a [a] beame, and make vs a place to dwel in. And he anſwered, Go.

3 And one ſaid, Vouchſafe, I pray thee, to go with thy ſeruants, and he anſwered, I will goe.

4 So he went with them, and when they came to Iorden, they cut downe wood.

[b] Or, the axe head. 5 And as one was felling of a tree, [b] yron fell into the water: then he cried, & ſaid, Alas maſter, it was but borowed.

6 And the man of God ſaide, Where fell it? And he ſhewed him the place. Then he cut downe a piece of wood, and caſt in thither, and [b] caused the yron to ſwimme.

[b] God wrought this miraculouſly to confirme the authority of Eliſha, to whom he had giuen ſuch abundance of his Spirit.

7 Then he ſaid, Take it vp to thee. And he ſtretched out his hand, and tooke it.

8 ¶ Then the king of Aram warred againſt Iſrael and tooke counſell with his ſeruants, and ſaid, In [c] ſuch & ſuch a place ſhalbe my campe.

[c] Meaning, that he would lie in ambuſhe & take the Iſraelites at vnwares.

9 Therefore the man of God ſent vnto the king of Iſrael, ſaying, Beware thou go not ouer to ſuch a place: for there the Aramites are come downe.

10 So the king of Iſrael ſent to the place which the man of God tolde him, and warned him of, and [d] ſaued him ſelfe from thence, not once, nor twiſe.

[d] The wicked conſpire nothing ſo craftily, but God can reueile it to his ſeruants and cauſe their counſell to be diſcloſed.

11 And the heart of the king of Aram was troubled for this thing: therefore he called his ſeruants and ſaide vnto them, Will ye not ſhewe me, which of vs bewraieth our counſel to the king of Iſrael?

12 Then one of his ſeruants ſaide, None, my lord, O king, but Eliſha the Prophet that is in Iſrael, telleth the king of Iſrael, euen the wordes that thou ſpeakeſt in thy [e] priuie chamber.

[e] There is nothing ſo ſecret that thou canſt go about, but he knoweth it, and diſcouereth it vnto his king.

13 And he ſaid, Go and eſpie where he is, that I may ſende and fetche him. And one tolde him, ſaying, Beholde, he is in Dothan.

[f] Though it had bene nothing in mans iudgement to haue taken Eliſha, yet ſ wicked euer doute & thinke they are neuer able to prepare power ynough, though it be but againſt one, or a fewe.

14 Then he ſent thither horſes, and charets, and a [f] mighty hoſt: and they came by night, and compaſſed the citie.

15 And when the ſeruant of the man of God aroſe early to goe out, beholde, an hoſte compaſſed the citie with horſes & charets. Then his ſeruant ſaide vnto him, Alas maſter, how ſhall we doe?

16 And he anſwered, [g] Feare not: for they that be with vs, are more then they that be with them.

[g] For he was aſſured of Gods helpe, and that millions of Angels camped about the godly to deliuer them.

17 Then Eliſha prayed, & ſaid, Lord, I beſeech thee, open his eyes, [h] that he may ſee. And the Lord opened the eyes of the ſeruant, and he looked, and beholde, the mountaine was full of horſes and charets of fire round about Eliſha.

2. Chron. 32. 7.

[h] That he may beholde how thou haſt prepared an armie to reſcue vs.

18 So [i] they came downe to him, but Eliſha prayed vnto the Lord, & ſaid, Smite this people, I pray thee, with blindnes. And he ſmote them with blindnes, according to the word of Eliſha.

[i] Meaning, the Syrians his enemies, which came downe, thinking themſelues ſure of him.

19 And Eliſha ſaid vnto them, This is not the way, neither is this the citie: follow me, & I will lead you to the man whom ye ſeeke. But he [k] led them to Samaria.

[k] Thus he did being led by the Spirit of God, & not becauſe he ſought his owne reuengeance, but onely to ſet foorth the glorie of God.

20 And when they were come to Samaria, Eliſha ſaide, Lord, open their eyes that they may ſee. And the Lord opened their eyes, and they ſawe, and beholde, they were in the middes of Samaria.

21 And the king of Iſrael ſaid vnto Eliſha when he ſaw them, [l] My father, ſhall I ſmite them, ſhall I ſmite them?

[l] The wicked vſe reuerent & graue words towardes the ſeruants of God, when they think to haue any commoditie by them, though in their heart they can not abide them.

22 And he anſwered, Thou ſhalt not ſmite them: doeſt thou not ſmite them that thou haſt taken with thy ſworde, & with thy bowe? but ſet bread and water before them, that they may eat & drinke and go to their maſter.

23 And hee made great preparation for them: and when they had eaten & dronken, he ſent them away: and they went to their maſter. So the bands of Aram came [m] no more into the land of Iſrael.

[m] For this gentle intreaty & the miracle wrought by the Prophet, did more preuail for common quietnes, then if they had bene ouercome in battell: for they returned no more at that time to fight againſt Iſrael, or in that kings daues.

24 But afterwarde Ben-hadad king of Aram gathered all his hoſte, and went vp, and beſieged Samaria.

25 So there was a great famine in Samaria: for loe, they beſieged it vntill an aſſes head was at foure ſcore pieces of ſiluer, and the fourth part of a kab of dones [n] doung at fiue pieces of ſiluer.

[n] The Hebrewes write, that they burned it in the ſiege for lacke of wood.

26 And as the king of Iſrael was going vpon the wal, there cried a woman vnto him, ſaying, Helpe, my lord, O king.

27 And he ſaid, Seeing the Lord doth not succour thee, howe shoulde I helpe thee with the o barne, or with the wine presse?

o Meaning, any kinde of vitaile, as corne and wine, &c.

28 Also the king said vnto her, What aileth thee? And she answered, This woman said vnto me, Giue thy sonne, that we may eate him to day, and wee will eat my sonne to morow.

29 So wee sod my sonne, and did eate him: and I saide to her the daye after, Giue thy sonne, that we may eate him, but she hath hid her sonne.

Deut.28.53.57.

30 And when p king had heard p words of the woman, he rent his clothes, (and as he went vpon the wall, the people looked, and beholde, he had sackecloth q within vpon his flesh)

q Or, vnder his clothes.

31 And he saide, God do so to me & more also, if the head of Elisha the sonne of Shaphat shall stand on him this day.

p Thus hypocrites, when they feele gods iudgements, thinke to please him with outward ceremonies, whom in prosperitie they will not knowe.

32 (Nowe Elisha sate in his house, and the Elders sate with him) And the king sent a man before him: but before the messenger came to him, he saide to the Elders, See ye not how this r murtherers sonne hath sent to take away mine head? take heede when the messenger commeth, and shut the doore, & handle him roughly at the doore: is not p sound of his masters feete behind him?

q Meaning, Iehoram Ahabs sonne who killed the prophets and caused Naboth to be stoned.

33 While he yet talked with them, beholde, the messenger came downe vnto him, and saide, Behold, this euill commeth of the Lord: s should I attend on the Lord any longer?

r So the wicked fall into a rage and desperation, if they find not sudden remedy against their afflictions.

CHAP. VII.

1 Elisha prophecieth plentie of vitaile and other things to Samaria. 6 The Syrians runne away, & haue no man following them. 17 The prince that would not beleeue the word of Elisha is troden to death.

1 THen Elisha said, Heare ye the word of the Lord: thus saith p Lord, t To morowe this time a measure of fine floure shall be solde for a shekel, and two measures of barley for a shekel in the gate of Samaria.

a The godlie are euer assured of Gods helpe in their necessities, but the times & houres are onely reueiled by gods Spirit.

2 Then a prince, on whose hand the king b leaned, answered the man of God, & saide, Though the Lorde woulde make c windowes in the heauen, coulde this thing come to passe? And he saide, Beholde, thou shalt see it with thine eyes, but thou shalt not d eate thereof.

b To whom the king gaue the charge & ouersight of things, as verse. 17.

c He mocketh at the prophets wordes, saying, that if God rayned down corne from heauen, yet this could not come to passe.

d Thy infidelitie shall be punished herein, when thou shalt see this miracle & yet not be partaker thereof.

3 Nowe there were foure leprouse men at the e entring in of the gate: and they said one to another, Why sitte we here vntill we die?

e For it was commanded in the law that they should dwel apart and not among their brethren, Leuit. 13.46.

4 If we say, We will enter into the citie, the famine is in the citie, and we shall die there: and if we sit here, we die also. Now therefore come, and let vs fall into the campe of the Aramites: if they saue our liues, we shall liue: and if they kill vs, we are but dead.

5 So they rose vp in the twilight, to goe to the campe of the Aramites: & when they were come to the vtmost parte of the campe of the Aramites, loe, there was no man there.

6 For the Lord had caused the campe of the Aramites to heare a f noyse of chariers and a noyse of horses, and a noyse of a great armie, so that they saide one to another, Beholde, the king of Israel hath hired against vs the kinges of the Hittites, and the kinges of the Egyptians to come vpon vs.

f Thus God neadeth no great preparation to destroy the wicked, though they be neuer so many, for he can scatter thē with a smal noise or shaking of a leafe.

7 Wherefore they arose, and fled in the twilight, and left their tentes and their horses, and their asses, euen the campe as it was, and g fled for their liues.

g The wicked need no greater enemie then their owne conscience to pursue them.

8 And when these lepers came to the vtmost part of the campe, they entred into one tent, & did eat and drinke, & caried thence siluer and golde, & rapiment, and went & hid it: after they returned, & entred into another tent, & carped thence also, and went, and hid it.

9 Then said one to another, We doe not well: this day is a day of good tidings, and we holde our peace, if we tarie till day light, some h mischiefe will come vpon vs. Now therefore come, let vs goe, and tell the kings houshold.

h Or, we shalbe punished for our fault

10 So they came, & called vnto the porters of the citie, and tolde them, saying, We came to p campe of the Aramites, and lo, there was no man there, neither voyce of man, but horses tyed & asses tyed: and the tents are as they were.

11 And the porters cried and declared to the kings house within.

12 Then the king arose in the night, and said vnto his seruants, i I will shewe you now, what p Aramites haue done vnto vs. They knowe that we are a famished, therefore they are gone out of the campe to hide them selues in the field, saying, When they come out of the citie, we shal catch them aliue, and get into the citie.

h He mistrusted the Prophetes words, and therfore could beleeue nothing, as they which are more politike then godly euer cast more perils then needeth.

13 And one of his seruants answered, & said, Let men take nowe fiue of the horses that remaine, and are left in the city, (behold, they are euen as all the k multitude of Israel that are left therein: beholde, I say, they are as the multitude of the Israelites that are consumed) and we will send to see.

i There are no more left, but they, or the rest are consumed with the famine as the rest of the people.

14 So they tooke k two charets of horses, and the king sent after the hoste of the Aramites, saying, Goe and see.

k Or, two horses of the charet, which were accustomed to draw in the charet.

15 And they went after them vnto Iordan, & loe, al the way was ful of clothes & vessels which the Aramites had cast from them in their haste: & the messengers returned, and tolde the king.

16 Then the people went out and spoiled the campe of the Aramites: so a measure of fine floure was at a shekel, and two measures of barly at a shekel l according to the worde of the Lord.

l Which he spake by the mouth of Elisha, vers. 1.

17 And the king gaue the prince (on whose hand he leaned) the charge of the the gate, and the people [1] trode vpon him in the gate, and he died, as the man of God had ſaid, which ſpake it, when the king came downe to him.

18 And it came to paſſe, as the man of God had ſpoken to the King, ſaying, Two meaſures of barly at a ſhekel, and a meaſure of fine floure ſhalbe at a ſhekel, to morowe about this time in the gate of Samaria.

19 But the prince had anſwered the man of God, and ſayd, Though the Lorde would make windowes in the heauen, could it come ſo to paſſe? And he ſayd, Beholde, thou ſhalt ſee it with thine eyes, but thou ſhalt not eate thereof.

20 And ſo it came vnto him: for the people trode vpon him in the gate, and he died.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Elisha prophecieth vnto the Sunamite the dearth of ſeuen yeare. 12 He prophecieth to Hazael that he ſhalbe king of Syria. 15 He reigneth after Ben-hadad. 16 Iehoram reigneth ouer Iudah. 20 Edom falleth from Iudah. 25 Ahaziah ſucceedeth Iehoram.

1 THen ſpake Elisha vnto the woman, whoſe ſonne he had reſtored to life, ſaying, Vp, and goe, thou, and thine houſe, and ſoiourne where thou [a] canſt ſoiourne: for the Lord hath called for a famine, and it commeth alſo vpon the land ſeuen yeeres.

2 And the woman aroſe, and did after the ſaying of the man of God, and went both ſhe and her houſholde and ſoiourned in the land of the Philiſtims ſeuen yeeres.

3 ¶ And at the ſeuen yeeres end, the woman returned out of the lande of the Philiſtims, and went out [b] to call vpon the King for her houſe and for her land.

4 And the king talked with Gehazi the ſeruant of the man of God, ſaying, Tell me, I pray thee, all the great actes that Elisha hath done.

5 And as he tolde [c] the king, howe he had reſtored one dead to life, behold, the woman whoſe ſonne he had raiſed to life, called vpon the king for her houſe and for her land. Then Gehazi ſayd, My lord, O king, this is the woman, and this is her ſonne, whom Elisha reſtored to life.

6 And when the king aſked the woman, ſhe tolde him: ſo the king appointed her an Eunuche, ſaying, Reſtore thou all that are hers, and all the [d] fruites of her landes ſince the day ſhe left the land, euen vntil this time.

7 ¶ Then Elisha came to Damaſcus, and Ben-hadad the king of Aram was ſicke, and one tolde him, ſaying, The man of God is come hither.

8 And the king ſaid vnto Hazael, Take a preſent in thine hand, and go meete the man of God, that thou maieſt inquire of the Lord by him, ſaying, Shall I recouer of this diſeaſe?

9 ¶ So Hazael went to meete him, and tooke the preſent in his hand, and of euery [e] good thing of Damaſcus, euen the burden of fourtie camels, and came and ſtoode before him, and ſayd, Thy ſonne Ben-hadad king of Aram hath ſent me to thee, ſaying, Shall I recouer of this diſeaſe?

10 And Elisha ſayd to him, Goe, and ſay vnto him, Thou ſhalt [f] recouer: howbeit the Lord hath ſhewed me, that he ſhall ſurely dye.

11 And he looked vpon him ſtedfaſtly till Hazael was aſhamed, and the man of God wept.

12 And Hazael ſayde, Why weepeth my lord? And he anſwered, Becauſe I know the euil that thou ſhalt doe vnto the children of Iſrael: for their ſtrong cities ſhalt thou ſet on fire, and their young men ſhalt thou ſlay with the ſword, and ſhalt daſh their infants againſt the ſtones, and rent in pieces their women with childe.

13 Then Hazael ſayd, What? is thy ſeruant a dogge, that I ſhould doe this [g] great thing? And Elisha anſwered, The Lord hath ſhewed me, that thou ſhalt be king of Aram.

14 ¶ So he departed from Elisha, & came to his maſter, who ſayd to him, What ſaid Elisha to thee? And he anſwered, He tolde me that thou ſhouldeſt recouer.

15 And on the morowe he tooke a thicke cloth and dipt it in water, and [h] ſpred it on his face, and he died: and Hazael reigned in his ſtead.

16 ¶ Nowe in the fift yeere of Joram the ſonne of Ahab king of Iſrael, and of Iehoſhaphat king of Iudah, [i] Iehoram the ſonne of Iehoſhaphat king of Iudah began [k] to reigne.

17 He was two and thirtie yeere olde, when he began to reigne: and he reigned eight yeere in Ieruſalem.

18 And hee walked in the wayes of the kings of Iſrael, as did the houſe of Ahab: for the [l] daughter of Ahab was his wife, and he did euill in the ſight of the Lord.

19 Yet the Lord would not deſtroy Iudah, for Dauid his ſeruants ſake, as [m] he had promiſed him to giue him a light and to his children for euer.

20 ¶ In thoſe dayes Edom [n] rebelled from vnder the hand of Iudah, & made a king ouer themſelues.

21 Therefore Joram went to Zair, and all his charets with him, and he aroſe by night, & ſmote the Edomites which were about him with the captaines of the charets, and the people fled into their tents.

22 So Edom rebelled from vnder the hand of Iudah vnto this day. Then [o] Libnah rebelled at that ſame time.

23 Concerning the reſt of the acts of Joram and all that he did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Iudah?

1 As the people preaſed out of the gate to runne to the Syrians tents where they had heard was meat, and great ſpoile left.

11 ¶ Then Iehu came out to the c ſeruants of his lorde. And one ſaid vnto him, Is all well? wherefore came this d mad fellowe to thee? And he ſaid vnto them, Ye knowe the man, and what his talke was.

c That is, the reſt of the armie, whom he called before, his brethren, verſe 2.

d In this eſtimation the worlde hath the miniſters of God: notwithſtanding for aſmuch as the world hath euer ſlandered the children of God, (yea they called the ſonne of god a deceiuer, and ſayd he had the deuil) therefore they ought not to be diſcouraged. Chap.8.29.

12 And they ſaid, It is falſe, tel vs it now. Then he ſaid, Thus and thus ſpake hee to me, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lorde, I haue anointed thee for king ouer Iſrael.

13 Then they made haſte, and toke euery man his garment, and put it vnder him on the top of the ſtaires, and blewe the trumpet, ſaying, Iehu is king.

14 So Iehu the ſonne of Iehoſhaphat the ſonne of Nimſhi conſpired againſt Iojam (Nowe Iojam kept Ramoth Gilead, he and all Iſrael becauſe of Hazael king of Aram.

15 And * king Iojam returned to be healed in Izreel of the wounds, which the Aramites had giuen him, when hee fought with Hazael king of Aram) and Iehu ſayd, If it be your mindes, let no man depart and eſcape out of the citie, to goe and tel in Izreel.

16 So Iehu gate vp into a charet, and went to Izreel: for Iojam lay there, and * Ahaziah king of Iudah was come downe to ſee Iojam.

17 And the watchman that ſtoode in the towre in Izreel, ſpied the companie of Iehu as he came, and ſaid, I ſee a companp. And Iehoiam ſaid, Take a horſeman and ſende to meete them, that he may ſay, Is it peace?

18 So there went one on horſebacke to meete him, and ſayd, Thus ſayeth the king, Is it peace? And Iehu ſayde, What haſt thou to doe with peace? e turne behinde me. And the watchman tolde, ſaying, The meſſenger came to them, but he commeth not againe.

19 Then hee ſent out another on horſebacke, which came to them, and ſayd, Thus ſaieth the king, Is it peace? And Iehu anſwered, What haſt thou to doe with peace? turne behinde me.

20 And the watchman tolde, ſaying, He came to them alſo, but commeth not againe, and the marching is like the marching of Iehu the ſonne of Nimſhi: for he marcheth f furiouſly.

21 ¶ Then Iehoiam ſayd, Make ready: & his charet was made ready. And Iehoiam e God had thus ordeined, as is read 2.Chr.22.7. that this wicked and idolatrous king, who was more ready to gratifie wicked Ioram, then to obey the will of God, ſhould periſh with him, by whoſe meanes he thought to haue bene ſtronger.

*Or, follow me.

f As one that went earneſtly about his enterpriſe.

Ioram king of Israel & Ahaziah king of Iudah went out either of them in his charet against Iehu, and met him in the fielde of Naboth the Izreelite.

22 And when Iehoram sawe Iehu, he said, Is it peace, Iehu? And he answered, What? peace, whiles the whoredomes of thy mother Iezebel, and her witchcraftes are yet in great number?

23 Then Iehoram turned his hand, and fled, and saide to Ahaziah, O Ahaziah, there is treason.

24 But Iehu toke a bowe in his hand, & smote Iehoram betweene his shoulders, that the arow went through his heart: and he fell downe in his charet.

25 Then saide Iehu to Bidkar a captaine, Take, and cast him in some place of the fielde of Naboth the Izreelite: for I remember that when I & thou rode together after Ahab his father, the Lorde layed this burden vpon him.

26 Surely I haue seene yesterday the blood of Naboth, and the blood of his sonnes, saith the Lorde, and I will render it thee in this fielde, saith the Lorde: nowe therefore take and cast him in the field, according to the word of the Lord.

27 But when Ahaziah the king of Iudah saw this, he fled by the way of the garden house: and Iehu pursued after him, & saide, Smite him also in the charet: and they smote him in the going vp to Gur, which is by Ibleam. And he fled to Megiddo, and there died.

28 And his seruants carried him in a charet to Ierusalem, and buried him in his sepulchre with his fathers in the citie of Dauid.

29 ¶ And in the eleuenth yere of Iorams the sonne of Ahab, began Ahaziah to reigne ouer Iudah.

30 And when Iehu was come to Izreel, Iezebel heard of it, & painted her face, and tired her head, and looked out at a windowe.

31 And as Iehu entred at the gate, she saide, Had Zimri peace, which slewe his master?

32 And he lift vp his eyes to the windowe, and saide, Who is on my side, who? Then two or three of her Eunuches looked vnto him.

33 And he said, Cast her downe: and they cast her downe, and he sprinkled of her blood vpon the wall, and vpon the horses, and he trode her vnder foote.

34 And when he was come in, he did eate and drinke, and saide, Visite nowe ponder cursed woman, and burye her: for she is a Kings daughter.

35 And they went to burye her, but they founde no more of her then the skull, and the feete, and the palmes of her handes.

36 Wherefore they came againe and told him. And he saide, This is the worde of the Lord, which he spake by his seruaunt Eliah the Tishbite, saying, In the fielde of Izreel shall the dogges eate the flesh of Iezebel.

37 And the carkeis of Iezebel shall be as doung vpon the grounde in the fielde of Izreel, so that none shall say, This is Iezebel.

CHAP. X.

Iehu causeth the seuentie sonnes of Ahab to bee slaine, 14 And after that fourtie and two of Ahaziahs brethren. 25 Hee killeth also all the priests of Baal. 35 After his death his sonne reigneth in his steade.

1 AHab had nowe seuentie sonnes in Samaria. And Iehu wrote letters, and sent to Samaria vnto the rulers of Izreel, and to the Elders, and to the bringers vp of Ahabs children, to this effect.

2 Nowe when this letter commeth to you, (for ye haue with you your masters sonnes, ye haue with you both charets and horses, and a defenced citie, and armour)

3 Consider therefore which of your masters sonnes is best and most meete, and set him on his fathers throne, & fight for your masters house.

4 But they were exceedingly afraid, and said, Behold, two kings could not stand before him, how shal we then stand?

5 And hee that was gouernour of Ahabs house, and he that ruled the citie, & the Elders, and the bringers vp of the children sent to Iehu, saying. We are thy seruants, and will do all that thou shalt bid vs: we will make no king: do what seemeth good to thee.

6 ¶ Then he wrote another letter to the, saying, If ye be mine, and will obey my voyce, take the heades of the men that are your masters sonnes, and come to me to Izreel by to morowe this time. (Now the kings sonnes, euen seuentie persons were with the great men of the citie, which brought them vp)

7 And when the letter came to them, they toke the kings sonnes, and slewe the seuentie persons, and layd their heades in baskets, and sent them vnto him to Izreel.

8 ¶ Then there came a messenger and tolde him, saying, They haue brought the heades of the kings sonnes. And he saide, Let them lay them on two heapes at the entring in of the gate vntil the morning.

9 And when it was day, he went out, & stode and saide to all the people, Ye be righteous: behold, I conspired against my master, & slewe him: but who slewe all these?

the houſe of Ahab: for the Lorde hath brought to paſſe the thinges that he ſpake "by his ſeruant * Eliiah.

"Ebr. by the hand of. 1. King. 21. 29.

11 So Iehu ſlewe all that remained of the houſe of Ahab in Iſreel, and all that were great with him, & his familiars and his c prieſtes, ſo that he let none of his remaine.

c Meaning, which were the idolatrous prieſts.

12 ¶ And he arose, and departed & came to Samaria. And as Iehu was in the way by an houſe where the ſheppeards did ſhere, 13 He met with the brethren of Ahaziah king of Iudah, and ſaide, Who are ye? And they anſwered, We are the brethrē of Ahaziah, and go downe to ſalute the children of the King and the children of the Quēne.

14 And he ſaide, Take them aliue. And they tooke them aliue, and ſlewe them at the well beſide the houſe where the ſheepe are ſhorne, euen two and fourtie men, and he d left not one of them.

d Thus Gods vengeance is vpon thē that haue any part or familiaritie with the wicked.

15 ¶ And when he was departed thence, he mette with Iehonadab the ſonne of Rechab comming to mete him, and he e * bleſſed him, and ſayde to him, Is thine heart vpright, as mine heart is toward thine? And Iehonadab anſwered, Yea, doubtleſſe. Then giue me thine hand. And when he had giuen him his hand, he tooke him vp to him into the charet.

e For he feared God and lamented the wickednes of thoſe times: therefore Iehu was glad to ioyne with him: of Rechab read Iere. 35. 2.

Or praiſed God for him.*

16 And he ſaide, Come with me, & ſee the zeale that I haue for the Lorde: ſo they made him ride in his charet.

17 And when he came to Samaria, hee ſlewe all that remained vnto Ahab in Samaria, till he had deſtroyed him, according to the worde of the Lord, which he ſpake to Eliiah.

18 Then Iehu aſſembled all the people, and ſaid vnto them, Ahab ſerued f Baal a little, but Iehu ſhall ſerue him much more.

f Here Baal is taken for Aſhtaroth the idole of the Zidonians, which Iezebel cauſed to be worſhipped, as it is alſo ſo vſed, 1. King. 16. 32. & 22. 53.

19 Nowe therefore call vnto me all the prophetes of Baal, all his ſeruants, & all his prieſtes, & let not a man be lacking: for I haue a great ſacrifice for Baal: whoſoeuer is lacking, he ſhall not liue. But Iehu did it by a ſubtiltie to deſtroy the ſeruants of Baal.

20 And Iehu ſayde, "Proclaime a ſolemne aſſemblie for Baal. And they proclaimed it.

"Ebr. Sanctifie.

21 So Iehu ſent vnto all Iſrael, and all the ſeruantes of Baal came, and there was not a man left that came not. And they came into the houſe of Baal, & the houſe of Baal was full from end to end.

22 Then he ſaide vnto him that had the charge of the veſtrie, Bring forth veſtiments for all the ſeruants of Baal. And he brought them out veſtiments.

i Thus God would haue his ſeruants preſerued, and idolaters deſtroyed: as in his law he giueth expreſſe commandement, deut. 13.

23 And when Iehu went, & Iehonadab the ſonne of Rechab into the houſe of Baal, he ſaide vnto g ſeruants of Baal, Search diligently, and looke, leaſt there be here with you any of the h ſeruants of the Lord, but the ſeruants of Baal only.

24 And when they went in to make ſacrifice and burnt offring, Iehu appointed foure ſcore men without, and ſayde, If any of the men whō I haue brought into your hands, eſcape, i his ſoule ſhall be for his ſoule.

i Or, he ſhall die for him.

25 And when he had made an end of the burnt offring, Iehu ſaid to the garde, & to the captaines, Goe in, ſlape them, let not a man come out. And they ſmote them with the edge of the ſwoorde. And the garde, and the captaines caſt them out, and went vnto the k citie, where was the temple of Baal.

k Which citie was nere to Samaria.

26 And they brought out the images of the temple of Baal, and burnt them.

27 And they deſtroyed the image of Baal, and threw downe the houſe of Baal, and made a lakes of it vnto this day.

28 So Iehu deſtroyed Baal out of Iſrael.

29 But from the ſinnes of Ieroboam the ſonne of Nebat which made Iſrael to ſinne, Iehu departed not from them, neither from the golden calues that were in Beth-el and that were in Dan.

30 ¶ And l Lord ſaid vnto Iehu, Becauſe thou haſt diligently executed that which was right in mine eyes, and haſt done vnto the houſe of Ahab according to all things that were in mine heart, therefore ſhall thy l ſonnes vnto the fourth generation ſit on the throne of Iſrael.

l Thus God approueth and rewardeth his zeale, in executing Gods iudgement, albeit his wickednes was afterward puniſhed.

31 But Iehu regarded not to walke in the lawe of the Lord God of Iſrael with all his heart: for he departed not from the ſinnes of Ieroboam, which made Iſrael to ſinne.

32 In thoſe dayes the Lorde beganne to m lothe Iſrael, and Hazael ſmote them in all the coaſtes of Iſrael.

m Or, to eat them off.

35 And Iehu ſlept with his fathers, and they buried him in Samaria, and Iehoahaz his ſonne reigned in his ſtede.

36 And the time that Iehu reigned ouer Iſrael in Samaria is eight and twenty yeeres.

10 [k] And the Priest gaue to the captaines of hundreths the speares & the shields that were king Dauids, and were in the house of the Lord.

11 And the garde stode, euery man with his weapon in his hand, from the right side of the house to the left side, about the altar and about the house, round about the king.

12 Then he brought out [l] the kings sonne, and put the crowne vpon him, & gaue him [m] the Testimonie, and they made him king: also they anoynted him, and clapt their handes, and saide, God saue the king.

15 But Iehoiada the Priest commanded the captaines of the hundreths that had the rule of the host, and said vnto them, Haue her [1] forth of the ranges, and he that [o] followeth her, let him die by the swoord: for the Priest had saide, Let her not be slaine in the house of the Lord.

16 Then they layd handes on her, and she went by the way, by the which the horses goe to the house of the king, & there was she slaine.

17 And Iehoiada made a couenant between the Lord and [p] the king, and the people, that they shoulde be the Lordes people: likewise betwene the [q] king and the people.

18 Then all the people of the lande went into the house of Baal, and destroyed it with his altars, and his images brake they downe courageously, & slewe Mattah the priest of Baal before the altars: and the [r] Priest set a gard ouer the house of the Lord.

19 Then he toke the captaines of hundreths, and the other captaines, and the gard, and al the people of the land: and they brought the king from the house of the Lord, and came by the wape of the gate of the garde to the kings house: and he sate him downe on the throne of the kings.

20 And all the people of the lande reioyced, and the citie was in quiet: [s] for they had slaine Athaliah with the swoord beside the kings house.

Iehoahaz, the sonne of Iehu is deliuered into the hands of the Syrians. 4 He prayeth vnto God and is deliuered. 9 Ioash his sonne reigneth in his stead. 20 Elisha dyeth. 24 Hazael dieth.

1 IN the three & twentieth yere of Ioash the sonne of Ahaziah king of Iudah, Iehoahaz the sonne of Iehu began to reigne ouer Israel in Samaria, and he reigned seuentene yere.

2 And he did euil in the sight of the Lord, and followed the sinnes of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to [a] sinne, and departed not therefrom.

3 And the Lord was angrie with Israel, and deliuered them into the handes of Hazael King of Aram, & into the hande of Ben-hadad the sonne of Hazael, all [b] his dayes.

4 And Iehoahaz besought the Lord, and the Lord heard him: for he saw the trouble of Israel, wherewith the king of Aram troubled them.

5 (And the Lord gaue Israel a [c] deliuerer, so that they came out from vnder the subiection of the Aramites. And the children of Israel [d] dwelt in their tents as" beforetime.

6 Neuertheless they departed not from the sinnes of the house of Ieroboam which made Israel sinne, but walked in them. euen the [e] grone also remained stil in Samaria)

7 For he had left of the people to Iehoahaz but fifty horsemen, and ten charets, and ten thousand footemen, because the King [f] of Aram had destroyed them, & made them like dust beaten to pouder.

13 And Ioash slept with his fathers, and Ieroboam sate vpon his seate: and Ioash was buried in Samaria among the kings of Israel.

14 ¶ Now Elisha fell sicke of his sickenes whereof he died, Ioash the king of Israel came downe vnto him, and wept vpon his face, and saide, [h] O my father, my father, the charet of Israel, and the horsemen of the same.

15 Then Elisha sayde vnto him, Take a bowe and arrowes. And he tooke vnto him bowe and arrowes.

16 And he said to the king of Israel, Put thine hand vpon the bowe. And he put his hand vpon it. And Elisha put his hands vpon the kings hands, 17 And saide, Open the windowe [i] Eastward. And when he had opened it, Elisha saide, Shoote. And he shot. And he saide, Behold the arrowe of the Lordes deliuerance and the arrowe of deliuerance against Aram: for thou shalt smite the Aramites in Aphek, till thou hast consumed them.

18 Againe he saide, Take the arrowes. And he tooke them. And he saide vnto the king of Israel, Smite the grounde. And he smote thrise, and ceased.

19 Then the man of God was [k] angrie with him, & saide, Thou shouldest haue smitten fiue or sixe times, so thou shouldest haue smitten Aram, till thou hadest consumed it, where now thou shalt smite Aram but thrise.

20 ¶ So Elisha died, & they buried him. And certaine bandes of the Moabites came into the land that yere.

21 And as they were burying a man, behold, they saw the souldiers: therefore they cast the man into the sepulchre of Elisha. And when the man was down, and touched the bones of Elisha, [l] he reuiued and stood vpon his feete.

22 ¶ But Hazael king of Aram vexed Israel all the dayes of Iehoahaz.

23 Therefore the Lord had mercie on the, and pitied them, and had respect vnto them because of his couenant with Abraham, Izhak, and Iaakob, & would not destroye them, neither cast he them from him as [m] yet.

24 So Hazael the king of Aram died: and Ben-hadad his sonne reigned in his stead.

25 Therefore Iehoash the sonne of Iehoahaz returned, and took out of the hand of Ben-hadad the sonne of Hazael the cities which hee had taken away by warre out of the hand of Iehoahaz his father: for three times did Ioash beate him, and restored the cities vnto Israel.

1 Amaziah the king of Iudah putteth to death the that slew his father, 7 And after smiteth Edom. 15 Ioash dyeth, and Ieroboam his sonne succeedeth him. 29 And after him reigneth Zachariah.

THe seconde yere of Ioash sonne of Iehoahaz king of Israel reigned [a] Amaziah the sonne of Ioash king of Iudah. 2.Chro. 25. 1.

2 Hee was fiue and twentie yere olde when hee began to reigne, and reigned nine and twentie yere in Ierusalem, & his mothers name was Iehoaddan of Ierusalem.

3 And hee did [a] vprightly in the sight of the Lorde, yet not like Dauid his father, but did according to all that Ioash his father had done.

4 Notwithstanding the hie places were not taken away: for as yet the people did sacrifice and burnt incense in the hie places.

5 ¶ And when the kingdome was confirmed in his hand, he slewe his seruantes which had [b] killed the king his father.

6 But the children of those that did slaye him, he [b] slewe not, according vnto that that is written in the booke of the Lawe of Moses, wherein the Lorde commanded, saying, [c] The fathers shall not bee put to death for the children, nor the children put to death for the fathers: but euerie man shalbe put to death for his owne sinne.

7 He slewe also of Edom in the valley of salt ten thousand, and tooke [d] the citie of Sela by warre, & called the name thereof Iokthеel vnto this day.

8 ¶ Then Amaziah sent messengers to Iehoash the sonne of Iehoahaz, sonne of Iehu king of Israel, saying, Come, [e] let vs see one another in the face.

9 Then Iehoash the king of Israel sent to Amaziah king of Iudah, saying, The thistle that is in Lebanon, sent to the [e] cedar that is in Lebanon, saying, Giue thy daughter to my sonne to wife: and the wilde beast that was in Lebanon, went and trode downe the thistle.

10 Because thou hast smitten Edom, thine heart hath made thee proude: [f] bragge of glorie, and tarie at home. why doest thou prouoke to thine hurt, that thou shouldest fall, and Iudah with thee?

11 But Amaziah would not heare: therefore Iehoash king of Israel went vp: & he and Amaziah king of Iudah sawe one another in the face at Beth-shemesh which is in Iudah.

12 And Iudah was put to the worse before Israel, and they fled euerie man to their tents.

13 But Iehoash king of Israel tooke Amaziah king of Iudah, the sonne of Iehoash the sonne of Ahaziah, at Beth-shemesh, and [f] came to Ierusalem, and brake downe the wall of Ierusalem frō the gate of Ephraim to the corner gate, foure hundreth cubites.

18 And he did euil in the sight of the Lord, and departed not all his daies from the sinne of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to sinne.

19 ¶ Then Pul the King of Asshur came against the g lande: and Menahem gaue Pul a thousande h talents of siluer, that his hande might be with him, and establish the kingdome in his hand.

20 And Menahem exacted the money in Israel, that all men of substance should giue the king of Asshur fiftie shekels of siluer a piece: so the King of Asshur returned and taried not there in the land.

21 Concerning the rest of the acts of Menahem, and all that he did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel?

22 And Menahem slept with his fathers, and Pekahiah his sonne did reigne in his stead.

23 ¶ In the fiftieth pere of Azariah King of Judah, began Pekahiah the sonne of Menahem to reigne ouer Israel in Samaria, and reigned two pere.

24 And he did euil in þ sight of the Lord: for he departed not from the sinnes of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to sinne.

25 And Pekah the sonne of Remaliah, his captaine cõspired against him, and smote him in Samaria in the place of the kings palace with i Argob & Arieh, and with him fiftie men of the Gileadites: so he killed him, & reigned in his stead.

26 Concerning the rest of the acts of Pekahiah, and all that he did, beholde, they are written in þ booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel.

27 In the two and fiftieth pere of Azariah King of Judah began Pekah the sonne of Remaliah to reigne ouer Israel in Samaria, and reigned twentie pere.

28 And he did euil in the sight of þ Lord: for he departed not from the sinnes of Ieroboam þ sonne of Nebat, that made Israel to sinne.

29 In the dayes of Pekah King of Israel k came Tiglath Pileser King of Asshur, and tooke Ion, & Abel, Beth-maachah, and Janoah, & Kedesh, & Hazor, and Gilead, and Galilah, and all the land of Naphtali, and caried them away to Asshur.

30 And Hoshea þ sonne of Elah wrought treason against Pekah the sonne of Remaliah, and smote him, and slewe him, and reigned in his steade in the twentieth pere of Iotham the sonne of Vzziah.

31 Concerning the rest of the acts of Pekah, and all that he did, behold, they are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel.

32 ¶ In the seconde pere of Pekah the sonne of Remaliah king of Israel, began Iotham sonne of [a] Vzziah king of Iudah to reigne.

11 And Vrijah the Priest made an altar g in all poyntes like to that which king Ahaz had sent from Damascus, so did Vrijah p Priest against king Ahaz came from Damascus.

12 So when p king was come from Damascus, the king saw the altar: and the king drewe nere to the altar and offred h thereon.

13 And he burnt his burnt offring, and his meat offring, & powred his drinke offring, and sprinkled the blood of his peace offrings beside the Altar.

14 And set it vp the brasen altar which was before the Lorde, and brought it in farther before the house between the altar and the house of the Lorde, and set it on the i Northside of the altar.

15 And king Ahaz commanded Vrijah the Priest and said, Vpon the great altar set on fire in the morning the burnt offring, and in the euen the meate offring, and the kings burnt offring & his meate offring, with the burnt offring of al the people of the land, and their meat offring, and their drinke offringes: and powre therevp all the blood of the burnt offring, and all the blood of the sacrifice, and the k brasen altar shalbe for me to inquire of God.

16 And Vrijah the Priest did according to al that king Ahaz had commanded.

CHAP. XVII.

3 Hoshea King of Israel is taken, 4 And he and all his realme brought to the Assyrians, 18 For their idolatrie, 25 Lions destroy the Assyrians that dwelt in Samaria. 29 Euery one worshippeth the God of his nation, 35 Contrarie to the commandement of God.

1 In the twelft yere of Ahaz king of Iudah began Hoshea the sonne of Elah to reigne in Samaria ouer Israel, and reigned nine yeres.

2 And he did euil in the sight of the Lord, a but not as the kings of Israel, that were before him.

3 And Shalmaneser king of Asshur came vp against him, and Hoshea became his seruant, and gaue him presents.

4 And the king of Asshur found treason in Hoshea: for he had sent messengers to So king of Egypt, and brought no present vnto the king of Asshur, b as he had done yerely: therefore the king of Assh shut him vp, & put him in prison.

5 Then the king of Asshur came vp thorowout all the lande, and went against Samaria, and besieged it three yere.

6 ¶ In the ninth yere of Hoshea, the king of Asshur toke Samaria, and caried Israel awap vnto Asshur, and put them in Halah, and in Habor vp the riuer of Gozan, and in the cities of the c Medes.

7 For when the children of Israel d sinned against the Lord their God, which had brought them out of the land of Egypt, from vnder the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt, and feared other gods,

8 And walked according to the facions of the heathen, whom the Lord had cast out before the children of Israel, and after the maners of p kings of Israel, which they vsed,

9 And the children of Israel had done secretly things that were not vpright before the Lorde their God, and throughs out all their cities had built hie places, both from the tower e of the watch, to the defenced citie,

10 And had made them images & groues vpon euery hie hill, and vnder euerie greene tree,

11 And there burnt incense in all the hie places, as did the heathen, whom the Lord had taken awap before them, and wrought wicked thinges to anger the Lorde.

12 And serued idoles: whereof the Lorde had said vnto them, f Ye shal do no such thing.

13 Notwithstanding the Lord testified to Israel, and to Iudah g by all the Prophetes, and by all the Seers, saying, * Turne from your euil wayes, & keepe my commandements and my statutes, according to all the Lawe, which I commanded your fathers, and which I sent to you by my seruants the Prophets.

14 Neuertheless they would not obey, but hardened their neckes, like to the neckes of their h fathers, that did not beleeue in the Lord their God.

15 And they refused his statutes and his couenant, that he made with their fathers, a Though he inuented no newe idolatrie or impietie as others did, yet he sought for helpe at the Egyptians which God had forbidden.

b For he had paied tribute for the space of eight yeres.

fathers, and his testimonies (wherwith he witnessed vnto them) and they followed vanitie, and became vaine, and followed the heathen that were rounde about them: concerning whome, the Lord had charged the, that they should not do like them.

16 Finally they left al the cõmandements of the Lorde their God, and made them molten images, * euen two calues, and made a grone, and worshipped all the [g] hoste of heauen, and serued Baal.

17 And they made their sonnes and their daughters [h] passe through the fire, and vsed witchcraft & inchantmentes, yea, [i] solde themselues, to do euil in the sight of the Lord, to anger him.

18 Therefore the Lorde was exceãding wroth with Israel, and put them out of his sight, & none was left but the tribe of Judah [k] onely.

19 Yet Judah kept not the commaundements of the Lord their God, but walked according to the faction of Israel, which they vsed.

20 Therefore the Lord cast off al the seede of Israel, and afflicted them, & deliuered them into the hands of spoylers, vntill he had cast them out of his [l] sight.

21 [m] For he cut off Israel from the house of Dauid, and they made Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat king: and Jeroboam drewe Israel away from following the Lorde, & made them sinne a great sinne.

22 For the children of Israel walked in al the sinnes of Jeroboam, which he did, and departed not therefrom, 23 Until the Lord put Israel away out of his sight, as he had said [n] by all his seruants the * Prophets, and caried Israel away out of their land to Assyria vnto this day.

24 And the king of Assyria brought folke from Babel, & from [n] Cuthah, & from Ana, and from Hamath, and from Sepharuaim, & placed them in the cities of Samaria in stede of the children of Israel: so they possessed Samaria, and dwelt in the cities thereof.

25 ¶ And at the beginning of their dwelling there, they [o] feared not the Lorde: therefore the Lorde sent lyons among them, which slew them.

26 Wherefore they spake to the king of Assyria, saying, The nations which thou hast remoued, & placed in the cities of Samaria, knowe not the maner of the God of the land: therefore he hath sent lyons among them, and beholde, they slay them, because they knowe not the maner of the God of the land.

27 Then the king of Assyria commanded, saying, Carie thither one of the Priests, whome ye brought thence, & let him go and dwell there, and teache them the maner of the God [p] of the countrey.

28 So one of the Priests, which they had caryed from Samaria, came and dwelt in Beth-el, and taught them howe they should feare the Lord.

29 Howbeit euery nation made their gods, and put them in the houses of the hie places, which the Samaritans had made, euery nation in their cities, where in they dwelt.

30 For the men of Babel made [q] Succoth-Benoth: & the men of Cuth made Nergal, and the men of Hamath made Ashima.

31 And the Auims made Nibhaz, and Tartak: and the Sepharuims burnt their children in the fire to Adrammelech, and Anammelech the gods of Sepharuaim.

32 Thus they feared the Lord, & appointed out priests out of themselues for the hie places, who prepared for them sacrifices in the houses of the hie places.

33 * They [r] feared the Lorde, but serued their gods after the maner of the nations whome they caryed thence.

34 Vnto this daye they doe after the old maner: they neyther feare God, neither do after [s] their ordinances, nor after their customes, nor after the Lawe, nor after the commaundement, which the Lord commaunded the children of Jaakob, * whom he named Israel,

35 And with whome the Lord had made couenant, and charged them, saying, * Feare none other gods, nor bow your selues to them, nor serue them, nor sacrifice to them:

36 But feare the Lorde which brought you out of the lãd of Egypt with great power, and a stretched out arme: him feare ye, and worship him, and sacrifice to him.

37 Also kéepe ye diligently the statutes & the ordinances, and the Lawe, and the commaundement, which he wrote for you, that ye doe them continually, and feare not other gods.

38 And forget not the couenant that I haue made with you, neyther feare yee other gods, 39 But feare the Lord your God, and he will deliuer you out of the handes of all your enemies.

40 Howbeit they obeyed not, but did after their olde custome.

41 So these [t] nations feared the Lorde, & serued their images also: so did their children, and their childrens children: as did their fathers, so doe they vnto this day.

24 For howe canſt thou deſpiſe any captaine of the leaſt of my maſters ſeruats, and put thy truſt on Egypt for charets and horſemen?

25 Am I now come vp without the [k] Lord to this place, to deſtroy it? the Lord ſaid to me, Go vp againſt this land, and deſtroy it.

26 Then Eliakim the ſonne of Hilkiah, & Shebnah, and Joah ſaid vnto Rabſhakeh, Speake, I praye thee, to thy ſeruants in the [*] Aramites language, for we vnderſtand it, and talke not with vs in the Iewes tongue, in the audience of the people that are on the wall.

27 But Rabſhakeh ſaide vnto the, Hath my maſter ſent me to thy maſter and to thee to ſpeake theſe wordes, & not to the men which ſit on the wall, that they may eat their owne doung, and drinke "their owne piſſe with you?

28 So Rabſhakeh ſtoode and cryed with a loud voyce in the Iewes language, & ſpake, ſaying, Heare the wordes of the great king, of the king of Aſſhur.

29 Thus ſaith the king, Let not Hezekiah deceiue you: for he ſhall not be able to deliuer you [*] out of mine hand.

30 Neyther let Hezekiah make you to truſt in the Lord, ſaying, The Lorde will ſurely deliuer vs, and this citie ſhal not be giuen ouer into the hand of the king of Aſſhur.

31 Hearken not vnto Hezekiah: for thus ſaieth the king of Aſſhur, Make "appointment with me, & come out to me, that euery man may eate of his owne vine, and euery man of his owne figge tree, [g] Thou thinkeſt that wordes will ſerue to perſuade thy people or to moue my maſter.

33 Hath any of the gods of the nations deliuered his land out of the hande of the king of Aſſhur?

34 Where is the god of Hamah, and of Arpad? where is the god of Sepharnaim, Hena & Iuah? how haue they deliuered Samaria out of mine hand?

35 Who are they among all the gods of the nations, that haue deliuered their land out of mine hand, that the m Lord ſhould deliuer Ieruſalem out of mine hand?

m This is an execrable blaſphemie againſt the true God, to make him equall with the idoles of other nations: therefore God did moſt ſharply puniſh it.

36 But the people held their peace, and anſwered not him a word: for the kings commandement was, ſaying, Anſwere ye him not.

37 Then Eliakim, the ſonne of Hilkiah, which was ſteward of the houſe, & Shebnah the chanceller, and Ioah the ſonne of Aſaph the recorder came to Hezekiah with their clothes rent, and tolde him the wordes of Rabſhakeh.

6 God promiſeth by Iſaiah victorie to Hezekiah. 35 The Angell of the Lorde killeth an hundreth and fourefcore and fiue thouſand men of the Aſſyrians. 37 Sanherib is killed of his owne ſonnes.

Iſa.37.1.

1 And * when king Hezekiah hearde it, he rent his clothes and put on ſackcloth, and came into the houſe of the Lorde,

2 And ſent Eliakim which was the ſteward of the houſe, & Shebnah the chanceller, & the Elders of the Prieſts clothed in ſackcloth a to Iſaiah the Prophet the ſonne of Amoz.

a To heare ſome new prophecie and to haue cõfort of him.

3 And they ſayd vnto him, Thus ſayeth Hezekiah, This day is a day of tribulation & of rebuke, & blaſphemie: for the children are come to b the birth, & there is no ſtrength to bring forth.

b The dangers are ſo great that we can neither auenge this blaſphemie, nor helpe our ſelues, no more then a woman in her trauaile.

4 If ſo be the Lord thy God hath heard all the wordes of Rabſhakeh, whom the king of Aſſhur his maſter hath ſent to raile on the liuing God, and to reproch him with wordes which the Lorde thy God hath heard, then lift thou vp thy prayer for the c remnant that are left.

c Meaning, for Ieruſalem, which onely remayned of all the cities of Iudah.

5 So the ſeruantes of king Hezekiah came to Iſaiah.

6 And Iſaiah ſaide vnto them, So ſhal ye ſay to your maſter, Thus ſayth the Lorde, Be not afraied of the wordes which thou haſt heard, wherewith the ſeruants of the king of Aſſhur haue blaſphemed me.

d The Lord can with one blaſt blow away all the ſtrength of man and turne it into duſt.

7 Behold, I will ſend a blaſt d vpon him, & he ſhal heare a noyſe, and returne to his owne land: and I will cauſe him to fal by the ſword in his owne land.

8 So Rabſhakeh returned, and found the king of Aſſhur fighting againſt Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachiſh.

9 e He heard alſo men ſaye of Tirhakah king of f Ethiopia, Behold, he is come out to fight againſt thee: he therefore departed and ſent other meſſengers vnto Hezekiah, ſaying,

10 Thus ſhal ye ſpeake to Hezekiah king of Iudah, and ſay, Let not thy God deceiue thee in who thou truſteſt, ſaying, Ieruſalem ſhall not bee deliuered into the hand of the king of Aſſhur.

11 Behold, thou haſt heard what the kings of Aſſhur haue done to all lands, howe they haue deſtroyed them: & ſhalt thou be deliuered?

13 Where is the king of Hamath, and the king of Arpad, and the king of the citie of Sepharuaim, Hena and Iuah?

l By this title he diſcerneth God from all idoles and falſe gods.

17 Truely it is, Lorde, that the kinges of Aſſhur haue deſtroyed the nations and their lands, 18 And haue ſet fire on their gods: for they were no gods, but the worke of mans hands, euen wood and ſtone: therefore they deſtroyed them.

19 Nowe therefore, O Lorde our God, I beſeech thee, ſaue thou vs out of his hande, that all the m kingdomes of the earth may know, that thou, O Lord, art onely God.

m He ſheweth for what end the faithful deſire of God to bee deliuered: to wit, that he may be glorified by their deliuerance.

20 The Iſaiah the ſonne of Amoz ſent to Hezekiah, ſaying, Thus ſayth the Lord God of Iſrael, I haue heard that which thou haſt praied me, cõcerning Sanherib king of Aſſhur.

Iosiah repaireth the temple, 8 Helkiah findeth the booke of the Law, & causeth it to be presented to Iosiah, 12 VVho sendeth to Huldah the Prophetesse to inquire the Lords will.

2 And he did vprightly in the sight of the Lorde, and a walked in all the wayes of Dauid his father, and bowed neither to the right hand, nor to the left.

3 ¶ And in the eighteenth yeere of king Iosiah, the king sent Shaphan the sonne of Azaliah the sonne of Meshullam the chancellor to the house of the Lorde, saying,

4 Goe vp to Hilkiah ꝑ hie Priest, that he may *summe ꝑ siluer which is brought into the house of the Lorde, which the keepers of the *b doore haue gathered of the people.

5 And let them c deliuer it into the hande of them that doe the worke, & haue the ouersight of the house of the Lorde: let them giue it to them that worke in the house of the Lord, to repaire the decaied places of the house:

7 Yowbeit let no reckoning be made with thē of the money, that is deliuered into their hand: for they deale d faithfully.

8 And Hilkiah the hie Priest sayd vnto Shaphan the chancellor, I haue found the *booke of the Lawe in the house of the Lord: and Hilkiah gaue the booke to Shaphan, and he read it.

9 So Shaphan the chancellor came to the king, & brought him word againe, & said, Thy seruants haue *gathered the money, that was found in the house, and haue deliuered it vnto the handes of them that do the worke, and haue the ouersight of the house of the Lord.

10 Also Shaphan the chancellor shewed the king, saying, Hilkiah ꝑ Priest hath deliuered mee a booke. And Shaphan read it before the king.

11 And when the King had heard the wordes of the booke of the Law, he rent his clothes.

12 Therefore the king cōmanded Hilkiah the Priest, & Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, & Achbor the sonne of Michaiah, and Shaphan the chancellor, and Asaiah the kings seruant, saying,

13 Go ye and f enquire of the Lord for me, and for the people, and for all Iudah, concerning the wordes of this booke that is founde: for great is the wrath of the Lorde that is kindled against vs, because our fathers haue not obeyed the wordes of this booke, to doe according vnto all that which is writte there in for vs.

14 ¶ So Hilkiah the Priest and Ahikam, and Achbor & Shaphan, and Asahiah went vnto Huldah the Prophetesse the wife of Shallum, the sonne of Tikuah, the sonne of Harhas keper of the wardrobe: (& she dwelt in Ierusalem in the colledge) & they communed with her.

15 And she answered them, Thus saieth the Lorde God of Israel, Tell the man that sent you to me,

16 Thus saith the Lorde, Behold, I will bring euill vpon this place, and on the inhabitants thereof, euen all the wordes of the booke which the king of Iudah hath read,

17 Because they haue forsaken me, & haue burnt incense vnto other gods, to anger me with all the *works of their handes: my wrath also shall be kindled against this place, and shall not be quenched.

18 But to the King of Iudah, who sent you to inquire of the Lord, so shal ye say vnto him, Thus saith the Lorde God of Israel, The wordes that thou hast heard, shall come to passe.

19 But because thine heart did *e melt, and thou hast humbled thy selfe before the Lord, whe thou heardest what I spake against this place, & against the inhabitants of the same, to wit, that it should be destroyed and accursed, and hast rent thy clothes, & wept before mee, I haue also heard it, saith the Lord.

20 Behold therefore, I wil gather thee to thy fathers, & thou shalt be put in thy graue in *k peace, & thine eyes shall not see all the euil, which I will bring vpon this place. Thus they brought the king word againe.

Iudah and of Ierusalem.

b Where the king had his place, Chap. 11. 14.

2 And the king went vp into the house of the Lord, with all the men of Iudah & all the inhabitars of Ierusalem with him, and the Priests and Prophets, and all the people both small and great: and he read in their eares all the wordes of the booke of the couenant, which was found in the house of the Lord.

c As Ioshua did, Iosh. 24. 22, 25.

3 And the king stood by b the pillar, and made a c couenant before the Lord, that they should walk after the Lord, & keepe his commandements, and his testimonies, & his statutes with all their heart, and with all their soule, that they might accomplish the wordes of this couenant written in this booke. And all the people stode to the couenant.

d Meaning, the which were next in dignitie to the hie preest.

4 Then the king commanded Hilkiah the hie Priest and the d priests of the second order, and the keepers of the doore, to bring out of the Temple of the Lord all the vessels that were made for Baal, & for the groue, and for all the hoste of heauen, and he burnt them without Ierusalem in the fields of Kedron, and caried e the ponder of them into Beth-el.

e In contempt of that altar, which Ieroboam had there built to sacrifice to his calues.

f Meaning, the Priests of Baal, which were called Chemarims, either because they ware black garments, or els were smoked with burning incense to idoles.

5 And he put down f Chemarims, whō the kings of Iudah had ordeined to burn incense in the hie places, & in the cities of Iudah, & about Ierusalem, and also them that burnt incense vnto Baal, to the sunne & to the moone, & to the planets, and to all the hoste of heauen.

g He remoued ye groue which idolaters for deuotion had planted nere vnto ye Temple, contrarie to the commandement of the Lord, Deut. 16. 21. or as some read, the similitude of a groue which was hanged in ye Temple.

6 And he brought out the g groue frō the Temple of the Lord without Ierusalem vnto the valley Kedron, and burnt it in the valley Kedron, and stampt it to ponder, and cast the dust thereof vpon the h graues of the children of the people.

h Both in contempt of ye idols, and reproch of them which had worshipped thē in their liues.

7 And he brake downe the houses of the Sodomites, that were in the house of the Lord, where the women woue hangings for the groue.

i Because that those that had forsaken ye Lord to serue Idoles, were not meete to minister in ye semice of ye Lord for the instruction of others.

8 Also he brought all the Priests out of the cities of Iudah, and defiled the hie places where the Priests had burnt incense, euen from Geba to Beer-sheba, & destroyed the hie places of the gates, that were in the entring in of the gate of Ioshua the gouernour of the citie, which was at the left hand of the gate of the citie.

k Which was a valley nere to Ierusalem, and signifieth a tabret, because they smote on the tabret while their children were burning, that their crie should not be heard, Leuit. 18. 21. where after Iosiah cōmanded carions to be cast in contempt thereof. l The idolatrous kings had dedicate horses and charets to the sunne, either to carie the image thereof about as the heathen did, or els to sacrifice them, as a sacrifice most agreeable.

9 Neuertheless the priestes of the hie places i came not vp to the altar of the Lord in Ierusalem, saue onely they did eate of the vnleauened bread among their brethren.

10 He defiled also k Topheth, which was in the valley of the children of Hinnom, that no man should make his sonne or his daughter passe through the fire to Molech.

11 He put downe also the l horses that the kings of Iudah had giuen to the sunne at the entring in of the house of the Lorde, by the chamber of Nethanmelech the eunuche, which was ruler of the suburbes, and burnt the charets of the sunne with fire.

12 And the altars that were on the top of the chāber of Ahaz, which the kings of Iudah had made, and the altars which Manasseh had made in the two courtes of the house of the Lorde, did the king breake downe, & hasted thence, and cast the dust of them in the m brooke Kedron.

m Or, valley.

13 Moreouer the king defiled the hie places that were before Ierusalem and on the right hand of the n mount of corruption (which o Salomon the king of Israel had built for Ashtoreth the idol of the Zidonians, and for Chemosh the idol of the Moabites, and for Milchom the abomination of the children of Ammon).

n That was the mount of olines, so called because it was ful of idoles.

o Which Ieroboam had built in Israel, 1. King. 12. 28, 29.

14 And he brake the images in pieces, and cut downe the groues, and filled their places with the bones of men.

15 Furthermore p the altar that was at Beth-el, and the hie place made by Ieroboam ye sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to sinne, both this altar and also the hie place brake he downe, and burnt the hie place, & stampt it to ponder and burnt the groue.

p According to ye prophecie of Iaddo, 1. King. 13. 2.

16 And as Iosiah turned himselfe, he spied the graues, that were in the mount, and sent and tooke the bones out of the graues, and burnt them vpon the altar, and polluted it, according to the worde of the Lorde that the q man of God proclaimed which cryed the same wordes.

17 Then he said, What title is that which I see? And the men of the citie sayd vnto him, It is the sepulchre of the man of God, which came from Iudah, & tolde these thinges that thou hast done to the altar of Beth-el.

q Meaning, the Prophete which came after him, & caused him to crie contrarie to the commandement of ye Lord, which were both two buried in one graue, 1. King. 13. 31.

18 Then sayd he, Let him alone: let none remoue his bones. So his bones were saued with the bones of the r Prophet that came from Samaria.

r For the multitude & zeale of ye people with the great preparation.

19 Iosiah also tooke away all the houses of the hie places, which were in the cities of Samaria, which the kings of Israel had made to anger the Lord, & did to them according to all the factes that he had done in Beth-el.

20 And he sacrificed all the Priests of the hie places, that were there vpon the altars, & burnt mens bones vpon them, and returned to Ierusalem.

21 ¶ Then the king commaunded all the people, saying, *Keepe the passeouer vnto the Lord your God, *as it is written in the booke of this couenant.

*2. Chron. 35. 1. *1. esdr. 1. 1. *Exod. 12. 3. *deut. 16. 2.

22 And there was no passeouer holden like that from the dayes of ye Iudges that iudged Israel, nor in all the dayes of the kings of Israel, and of the kings of Iudah,

23 And

23 And in the eighteenth yere of king Iosiah was this Passeouer celebrated to the Lord in Ierusalem.
24 Iosiah also toke away them that had familiar spirites, and the soothsayers, and the images, and the idoles, and all the abominations that were espied in the land of Iudah and in Ierusalem, to perfourme the wordes of the *Lawe, which were written in the booke that Hilkiah the Priest found in the house of the Lord.
25 Like vnto him was there no king before him, that turned to the Lorde with all his heart, and with all his soule, and with all his might, according to all the Lawe of Moses, neither after him arose there any like vnto him.
26 Notwithstanding the Lord turned not from the [r] fiercenes of his great wrath wherewith he was angrie against Iudah, because of all the prouocatiõs wherwith Manasseh had prouoked him.
27 Therefore the Lord sayde, I will put Iudah also out of my sight, as I haue put away Israel, and will cast off this citie Ierusalem, which I haue chosen, and the house whereof I sayd, *My name shalbe there.
28 Concerning the rest of the actes of Iosiah, and all that he did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Iudah?
29 ¶ *In his dayes Pharaoh Nechoh king of Egypt went vp against the king of Asshur to the riuer Perath. And king Iosiah [s] went against him, whom when Pharaoh sawe, he slew him at Megiddo.
30 Then his seruants caried him dead from Megiddo, and brought him to Ierusalem, and buried him in his own sepulchre. And the people of the lande toke Iehoahaz the sonne of Iosiah, and anointed him, and made him king in his fathers stead.
31 *Iehoahaz was thre and twentie yere olde when he began to reigne, and reigned three monethes in Ierusalem. His mothers name also was Hamutal the daughter of Ieremiah of Libnah.
32 And he did euil in the sight of the Lord, according to all that his [t] fathers had done.
33 And Pharaoh Nechoh put him in bonds [u] at Riblah in the land of Hamath, [*] while he reigned in Ierusalem, and put the land to a tribute of an hundreth talents of siluer, and a talent of golde.
34 ¶ And Pharaoh Nechoh made Eliakim the sonne of Iosiah king in stead of Iosiah his father, and turned his name to Iehoiakim, and toke Iehoahaz away, which when he came to Egypt, dyed there.
35 And Iehoiakim gaue the siluer and the gold to Pharaoh, and taxed the land to giue the money, according to the commandement of Pharaoh: he lenied of euery man of the people of the land, according to his value, siluer and golde to giue vnto Pharaoh Nechoh.
36 Iehoiakim was fiue and twentie yere old, when he began to reigne, and he reigned eleuen yeres in Ierusalem. His mothers name also was Zebudah the daughter of Pedaiah of Rumah.

1 IN his [a] dayes came Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel vp, and Iehoiakim became his seruant three yere: afterward he turned, & rebelled against him.
2 And the Lorde sent against him bandes of the Caldees, and bandes of the Arameites, and bands of the Moabites, and bands of the Ammonites, and he sent them against Iudah, to destroy it, * according to the worde of the Lord, which he spake by his seruants the Prophets.
3 Surely by the [b] commandement of the Lord came this vpon Iudah, that he might put them out of his sight for the sinnes of Manasseh, according to all that he did,
4 And for the innocent blood that hee shed, (for he filled Ierusalem with innocent blood) therefore the Lorde would not pardon it.
5 Concerning the rest of the actes of Iehoiakim, and al that he did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Iudah?
6 So Iehoiakim [c] slept with his fathers, and Iehoiachin his sonne reigned in his stead.
7 ¶ And the king of Egypt came no more out of his land: for the King of Babel had taken from the riuer of Egypt, vnto the riuer [d] Perath, all that pertained to the king of Egypt.
8 ¶ Iehoiachin was [e] eighteene yeere olde, when he began to reigne, and reigned in Ierusalem three moneths. His mothers name also was Nehushta, the daughter of Elnathan of Ierusalem.

10 *In that time came the seruants of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel vp against Ierusalem: so the citie was besieged.
11 And Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel came against the citie, and his seruants did beseige it.
12 Then Iehoiachin the king of Iudah [d] came out against the king of Babel, he, and his mother, and his seruants, and his princes, and his eunuches: and the king of Babel toke him in the eight yere * of his reigne.

19 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lorde, accoyding to all that Iehoiakim had done.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Iewes comprehend both these books in one, which the Grecians because of the length deuide into two: and they are called Chronicles, because they note briefly the histories from Adam to the returne from their captiuitie in Babylon. But these are not those bookes of Chronicles, which are so oft mentioned in ỹ bookes of Kings of Iudah & Israel, which did at large set forth the storie of both the kingdomes, and afterwarde perished in the captiuitie: but an abbridgement of the same, and were gathered by Ezra, as the Iewes write, after their returne from Babylon. This first booke conteineth a briefe rehearsall of the children of Adam vnto Abraham, Izhak, Iaakob, and the twelue Patriarches, chiefly of Iudah and of the reigne of Dauid, because Christ came of him according to the fleshe. And therefore it setteth foorth more amply his actes, both concerning ciuill gouernment, and also the administration, and care of things concerning religion, for the good successe whereof he reioyceth, and giueth thanks to the Lord.

1 The genealogie of the sonnes of Iudah, 5 Of Ashur, 9 Of Iabez, and his prayer, 11 Of Chelub, 24 And Simeon: their habitations, 38 And conquests.

1 The [a] sonnes of Judah were [*] Pharez, Hezron, and Carmi, & Hur, and Shobal.
2 And Reaiah the sonne of Shobal begate Jahath, and Jahath begate Ahumai, and Lahad: these are the families of the Zorathites.
3 And these were of the father of Etam, Jzreel, & Jshma and Jdbash: and the name of their sister was Hazelelponi.
4 And Penuel was the father of Gedor, & Ezer the father of Hushah: these are the sonnes of Hur the [b] eldest sonne of Ephratah, the father of Beth-lehem.
5 But Ashur the father of Tekoa had two wiues, Helcah, and Naarah.
6 And Naarah bare him Ahuzam, and Hepher, and Temeni and Haashtari:
these were the sonnes of Naarah.
7 And the sonnes of Helcah were Zereth, Jezohar and Ethnan.
8 Also Coz begate Anub, and Zobebah, and the families of Aharhel the sonne of Harum.
9 But Jabez was more honourable the his brethren: and his mother called his name [c] Jabez, saying, Because I bare him in sorow.
10 And Jabez called on the God of Israel, saying, If thou wilt bleſſe mee in deede, & enlarge my coastes, & [d] if thine hand be with me, and thou wilt cause me to be deliuered from euill, that I be not hurt. And God granted the thing that he asked.
11 ¶ And Chelub [p] brother of Shuah begate Mehir, which was the father of Eshton.
12 And Eshton begate Beth-rapha, and Paseah, and Tehinnah the father of the citie of Nahash: these are the men of Rechah.
13 ¶ And [p] sonnes of Kenaz were Othniel and Seraiah, and the sonne of Othniel, Hathath.
14 And Meonothai begate Ophrah. And Seraiah begate Joab the [e] father of the valley of craftesmen: for they were craftesmen.
15 ¶ And the sonnes of Caleb [p] sonne of [f] Jephunneh were Iru, Elah, & Naam.
And the sonne of Elah was Kenaz.
16 And the sonnes of Jehaleel were Ziph, and Ziphah, Tiria, and Asareel.
17 And the sonnes of Ezrah were Jether and Mered, and Epher, and Jalon, & he begate Miriam, and Shammai, and Jshbah the father of Eshtemoa.
18 Also his [*] wife Jehudiah bare Jered

24 * The sonnes of Simeō were Nemuel, and Jamin, Jarib, Zerah, & h Shaul.
h His sonne Ohad is here omitted.
25 Whose sonne was Shallum, and his sonne, Mibsam, and his sonne Mishma.
26 And the sonnes of Mishma, Hamuel was his sonne, Zacchur his sonne, and Shimei his sonne.
27 And Shimei had sixtene sonnes, & sixe daughters, but his brethren had not many children, neither was al their familie like to the children of Judah in multitude.
i These cities belonged to the tribe of Iudah, Iosh.19.1. and were giuen to the tribe of Simeon.
28 And they dwelt at i Beer-sheba, and at Moladah, and at Hazar Shual, 29 And at Bilhah, and at Ezem, and at Tolad,
30 And at Bethuel, and at Hormah, and at Ziklag, 31 And at Beth-marcaboth, & at Hazar Susim, at Beth-birei, & at Shaaraim. these were their cities vnto the reigne of k Dauid.
k Then Dauid restored them to the tribe of Iudah.
32 And their townes were Etam, & Ain, Rimmon, and Tochen, and Ashan, fiue cities.
33 And al their townes that were round about these cities vnto Baal, These are their habitations & the declaration of their genealogie, 34 And Meshobab & Iamlech, & Iosha the sonne of Amashiah, 35 And Joel and Iehu the sonne of Iosibiah, the sonne of Seraiah, the sonne of Asiel.
36 And Elionai, & Iaakobah, and Iehohaiah, and Asaiah, and Adiel and Iesimuel and Benaiah, 37 And Ziza the sonne of Shiphei, the sonne of Allon, the sonne of Iedaiah, the sonne of Shimri, the sonne of Shemaiah.
38 These were famous princes in their families, and increased greatly their fathers houses.
l For the tribe of Simeon was so great in nomber, that in the time of Ezekiah they sought new dwellings vnto Gedor, which is in the tribe of Dan.
39 And they l went to the entring in of Gedor, euen vnto the East side of the valley, to seeke pasture for their sheepe.
40 And they founde fatte pasture and good, and a wide lande, both quiet and fruitfull: for they of Ham had dwelt there before.
41 And these described by name, came in the dayes of Hezekiah king of Judah, & smote their tentes, and the inhabitants that were found there, and destroied the vtterly vnto this day, & dwelt in their rowme, because there was pasture there for their sheepe.
42 And besides these, fiue hundreth men of the sonnes of Simeō went to mount Seir, and Pelatiah, and Neariah, and Rophaiah, and Vzziel the sonnes of Ishi were their captaines, m And were not slaine by Saul & Dauid.
43 And they smote the rest of Amalek that had m escaped, and dwelt there vnto this day.

1 The birthright taken from Reuben and giuen to the sonnes of Ioseph. 3 The genealogie of Reuben, 11 And Gad, 23 And of the halfe tribe of Manasseh.

1 The sonnes also of Reuben the eldest sonne of Israel (for he was * the eldest, but had defiled his fathers bedde, therefore his birthright was giuen vnto the a sonnes of Ioseph the sonne of Israel, so that the genealogie is not reckoned after his birthright.
Gen.35.22. & 49.4.
a Because they were made two tribes, they had a double portiō.
2 For Iudah preuailed aboue his brethren, & of him came b the prince, but the birthright was Iosephs)
b That is, he was the chiefest of al the tribes according to Iaakobs prophecie, Gen. 49.8. & because Christ should come of him.
3 * The sonnes of Reuben the eldest sonne of Israel were Hanoch & Pallu, Hezron and Carmi.
Gen.46.9. exod.6.14. num.26.5.
4 The sonnes of Joel, Shemaiah his sonne, Gog his sonne, and Shimei his sonne,
5 Michah his sonne, Reaiah his sonne, and Baal his sonne, 6 Beerah his sonne: whome Tilgath Pilneeser king of Asshur c caried away: he was a prince of the Reubenites.
c To wit, in the time of Vzziah King of Israel, 2.King.15.29.
7 And when his brethren in their families rekoned the genealogie of their generations, Jeiel and Zechariah were the chiefe, 8 And Bela the sonne of Azaz, the sonne of Shema, the sonne of Joel, which dwelt in d Aroer, euen vnto Nebo and Baal-meon.
d These places were beyōd Iorden toward the East in the land giuen to the Reubenites.
9 Also Eastward he inhabited vnto the entring in of the wildernesse from the riuer e Perath: for they had much cattell in the land of Gilead.
e Or, Euphrates.
10 And in the daies of Saul they warred with the c Hagarims, which fell by their handes: and they dwelt in their tents in all the East partes of Gilead.
c The Ishmaelites that came of Hagar Abrahams concubine 11 ¶ And the children of Gad dwelt ouer against them in the lande of Bashan, vnto Salchah.
12 Joel was the chiefest, and Shapham the seconde, but Iaanai and Shaphat were in Bashan.
13 And their brethrē of the house of their fathers were Michael, and Meshullam, and Sheba, and Soriai, and Iacan and Zia, and Eber, seuen.
14 These are the children of Abihail, the sonne of Huri, the sonne of Jaroah, the sonne of Gilead, the sonne of Michael, the sonne of Jeshishai, d sonne of Jahdo, the sonne of Buz.
15 Ahi the sonne of Abdiel, the sonne of Guni was chiefe of the household of their fathers.
16 And they dwelt in Gilead in f Bashan, and in the townes therof, and in al the suburbes of Sharon, by their borders.
f Both y whole countrey & one peculiar citie were called by this name Bashan.
17 Al these were rekoned by genealogies in the dayes of Jotha king of Judah, & in the dayes of Jeroboā king of Israel.
18 ¶ The sonnes of Reuben & of Gad, and of halfe the tribe of Manasseh of those that were valiant men, able to beare shield, and sword, and to draw a bowe, exercised in warre, were foure and fourtie thousande, seuen hundreth and three score, that went out to the warre.
19 And

19 And thei made warre ⁂ þ Hagarims, with ᵍ Jetur, and Naphish, ᵍ Nodab.
20 And they were ʰ holpen against them, and the Hagarims were deliuered into their hand, ᵍ all þ were with them: for they cryed to God in the battell, and he heard thē, because they trusted in him.
21 And they led away their cattell, euen their camels fiftie thousande, and two hundreth, ᵍ fiftie thousand sheepe, and two thousand asses, and of [1]persons an hundreth thousand.
22 For many fell downe wounded, because the warre was of God. And they dwelt in their steads vntil þ ⁱ captiuitie.
23 And the children of the halfe tribe of Manasseh dwelt in the land, from Bashan vnto ᵏ Baal Hermon, ᵍ Senir, ᵍ vnto mount Hermon: for they increased.
24 And these were the heads of the householdes of their fathers, euen Epher ᵍ Ishi, ᵍ Eliel and Azriel, and Jeremiah, and Hodauiah, ᵍ Jahdiel, strong men, valiant and famous, heads of the householdes of their fathers.
25 But they transgressed against the God of their fathers, ᵍ went a whoring after the gods of the people of the land, whom God had destroyed before them.
26 And the God of Israel [l] stirred vp the spirit of Pul king of Asshur, ᵍ the spirit of Tilgath Pilneeser king of Asshur, ᵍ he caried them away: euen the Reubenites, ᵍ the Gadites, ᵍ the halfe tribe of Manasseh, ᵍ brought them vnto * Halah, and Habor, and Hara, and to the riuer Gozan, vnto this day.

g These twaine were the sonnes of Ishmael, Gen. 25.15.
h To wit, by the Lord, that gaue thē the victorie.
[1] Heb. soules of men.
i Meaning, the captiuitie of the ten tribes vnder Tilgath Pilneeser.
k Otherwise called, Baalgad.
l Thus God stirred vp the wicked and vsed them as instruments to execute his iust iudgement against sinners, although they were led with malice and ambition.

42 The ſonne of Ethan, the ſonne of Zimmah, the ſonne of Shimei, 43 The ſonne of Jahath, the ſonne of Gerſhom, the ſonne of Leui.
44 And their brethren the ſonnes of Merari were on the left hand, euen Ethan the ſonne of Kuſhi, the ſonne of Abdi, the ſonne of Malluch, 45 The ſonne of Haſhabiah, the ſonne of Amaziah, the ſonne of Hilkiah, 46 The ſonne of Amzi, the ſonne of Bani, the ſonne of Shamer, 47 The ſonne of Mahli, the ſonne of Muſhi, the ſonne of Merari, the ſonne of Leui.
48 ¶ And their [i] brethren the Leuites were [k] appointed vnto all the ſeruice of the Tabernacle of the houſe of God, 49 But Aaron and his ſonnes burnt incenſe vpon the altar of burnt offring, and on the altar of incenſe, for all that was to doe in the moſt holy place, & to make an atonement for Iſrael, according to all that Moſes the ſeruaunt of God had commanded.
50 Theſe are alſo the ſonnes of Aaron, Eleazar his ſonne, Phinehas his ſonne, Abiihua his ſonne, 51 Bukki his ſonne, Vzzi his ſonne, Zerahiah his ſonne, 52 Meraioth his ſonne, Amariah his ſonne, Ahitub his ſonne, 53 Zadok his ſonne, and Ahimaaz his ſonne.
54 ¶ And theſe are the [l] dwelling places of them throughout their townes and coaſtes, euen of the ſonnes of Aaron for the familie of the Kohathites, for the [m] lot was theirs.
55 So they gaue them [n] Hebron in the land of Iudah, and the ſuburbes thereof round about it.
56 But the field of the citie, and the villages thereof they gaue to Caleb the ſonne of Iephunneh.
57 And to the ſonnes of Aaron they gaue the cities of Iudah for [o] refuge, euen Hebron and Libna with their ſuburbes, and Jattir, and Eſhtemoa with their ſuburbes, 58 And [p] Hilen with her ſuburbes, and Debir with her ſuburbes, 39 And the sonnes of Eshek his brother were Vlam his eldest sonne, Iehush the second, and Eliphelet the third.

40 And the sonnes of Vlam were valiant men of war which shot with the bow, and had many sonnes and nephewes, an hundreth and fiftie: all these were of the sonnes of Beniamin.

h He is likewise called Mephibosheth, 2.Sam.9.6.

CHAP. IX.

1 All Israel & Iudah nombred. 10 Of the Priests, and Leuites, 11.18 And of their offices.

1 THus all Israel were nõbred by their genealogies: and beholde, they are written in the booke of the kinges of Israel and of Iudah, and they were a caried awap to Babel for their transgression.

a Hitherto he hath described their genealogies before they went into captiuitie, & now he describeth their historie after their returne.

2 ¶ And the chiefe inhabitãts that dwelt in their owne possessions, & in their owne cities, euen Israel the Priestes, the Leuites, and the b Nethinims.

b Meaning, the Gibeonites, which serued in ỹ Temple, reade Iosh.9.23.

3 And in Ierusalem dwelt of the children of Iudah, and of the children of Beniamin, & of the children of Ephraim, & Manasseh.
4 Vthai the sonne of Ammihud the sonne of Omri, the sonne of Imri, the sonne of Bani: of the children of Pharez, the sonne of Iudah.
5 And of Shiloni, Asaiah the eldest, and his sonnes.
6 And of the sonnes of Zerah, Ieuel, & their brethren sixe hundreth & ninetie.
7 And of the sonnes of Beniamin, Sallu, the sonne of Meshullam, the sonne of Hodauiah, the sonne of Hasenuah, 8 And Ibneiah the sonne of Ierobam, and Elah the sonne of Vzzi, the sonne of Michri, and Meshullam the sonne of Shephatiah, the sonne of Reuel, ỹ sonne of Ibniiah.
9 And their brethren according to their generations nine hundreth, fiftie and sixe: all these men were c chiefe fathers in the houlholds of their fathers.

c Or, chiefe of the familes.

10 ¶ And of the Priestes, Iedaiah, & Iehoiarib, and Iachin, 11 And Azariah the sonne of Hilkiah, the sonne of Meshullam, the sonne of Zadok, the sonne of Meraioth, the sonne of Ahitub the d chiefe of the house of God, 12 And Adaiah the sonne of Ierobam, the sonne of Pashhur, the sonne of Malchiah, & Maasai ỹ sonne of Adiel, ỹ sonne of Iahzerah, the sonne of Meshullam, the d That is, he was the hie Priest.

the sonne of Meshillemith, the sonne of Immer.

13 And their brethren the chiefe of the householdes of their fathers a thousand, seuen hundreth and threescore valiant men, for the [d] worke of the seruice of the house of God.

d To serue in the Temple, euerie one according to his office.

14 ¶ And of the Leuites, Shemaiah the sonne of Hasshub, the sonne of Azrikam, the sonne of Hashabiah of the sonnes of Merari.

15 And Bakbakkar, Heresh and Galal, & Mattaniah the sonne of Micha, þ sonne of Zichri, the sonne of Asaph.

16 And Obadiah the sonne of Shemaiah, the sonne of Galal, the sonne of Jeduthun, and Berechiah, the sonne of Asa, the sonne of Elkanah, that dwelt in the villages of the Netophathites.

17 ¶ And the porters were Shallum, and Akkub, & Talmon, and Ahiman, & their brethren: Shallum was the chiefe.

18 For they were porters to this time by companies of the children of Leui vnto the [e] kings gate Eastward.

e So called, because the king came into the Temple thereby, and not the cõmon people.

19 And Shallum the sonne of Kore the sonne of Ebiasaph the sonne of Korah, & his brethren the Korathites (of þ house of their father) were ouer the worke, and office to kepe the gates of the [f] Tabernacle: so their families were ouer þ host of the Lord, keeping the entrie.

f Their charge was, that none should enter into those places, which were onely appointed for the Priestes to minister in.

20 And Phinehas the sonne of Eleazar was their guide, and the Lord was with him.

21 Zechariah the sonne of Meshelemiah was the porter of the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

22 All these were chosen for porters of the gates, two hundreth and twelue, which were nombred according to their genealogies by their townes. Dauid established these and Samuel þ Seer [g] in their perpetuall office.

g Or, for their fidelitie.

23 So they and their children had the ouersight of the gates of the house of the Lord, euen of the house of the Tabernacle by wardes.

24 The porters were in foure quarters Eastward, Westward, Northward, and Southwarde.

25 And their brethren, which were in their townes, came at [g] seuen dayes from time to time with them.

g They serued weekly, as Ezek. 44.10.

26 For these foure chiefe porters were in perpetuall office, & were of the Leuites and had charge of the [h] chambers, and of the treasures in the house of God.

27 And they lay round about the house of God, because the charge was theirs, and they caused it to be opened euery morning.

28 And certaine of them had the rule of the ministring vessels: for they brought them in by tale, and brought them out by tale.

29 Some of them also were appointed ouer the instruments, & ouer all the vessels of the Sanctuarie, & of the [h] floure, and the wine, and the ople, and the incense, and the sweete odours.

h Or, opening of the doores.

CHAP. X.

1 The battel of Saul against the Philistims, 4 In which he dieth, 6 And his sonnes also. 13 The cause of Sauls death.

THe * the Philistims fought against Israel: and the men of Israel fled before the Philistims, and fel down slaine in mount Gilboa.

1 Sam. 31.1.

2 And the Philistims pursued after Saul and after his sonnes, & the Philistims smote Jonathan, and Abinadab, and Malchishua the sonnes of Saul.

3 And the battel was sore against Saul, & the archers hit him, & he was [l] wounded of the archers.

l Ebr. found.

4 Then said Saul to his armour bearer, Drawe out thy sworde, and thrust me thorough therewith, lest these vncircumcised come and mocke at me: but his armour bearer would not, for he was sore afraide: therefore Saul tooke the sworde and fel vpon it.

5 And when his armour bearer ſaw that Saul was dead, he fell likewiſe vpon the ſwoorde, and died.
6 So Saul died and his three ſonnes, & all his houſe, they died together.
7 And when all the men of Iſrael that were in the valley, ſawe howe they fled, and that Saul and his ſonnes were dead, they forſoke their cities, and fled away, and the Philiſtims came, and dwelt in them.
8 And on the morowe when the Philiſtims came to ſpoyle them that were ſlaine, they found Saul and his ſonnes "lying in mount Gilboa.
9 And when they had ſtript him, they tooke his head and his armour, & ſent them into the lande of the Philiſtims round about, to publiſh it vnto their idoles, and to the people.
10 And they layde vp his armour in the houſe of their god, and ſet vp his head in the houſe of [a]Dagon.
11 ¶ When all they of Jabeſh Gilead heard all that the Philiſtims had done to Saul, 12 Then they aroſe (all the valiant men) and tooke the body of Saul, and the bodies of his ſonnes, and brought them to Jabeſh, & buried the bones of them vnder an oke in Jabeſh, and faſted ſeuen dayes.
13 So Saul died for his tranſgreſſion, that he committed againſt the Lord, euen as gainſt the worde of the Lorde, which he kept not, and in that he ſought & asked counſell of a [b] familiar ſpirit, 14 And asked not of the Lord: therefore he ſlew him, and turned the kingdome vnto Dauid the ſonne of Iſhai.

3 After the death of Saul, Dauid anointed in Hebron. 5 The Iebuſites rebel againſt Dauid, from whom he taketh the towne of Zion. 6 Ioab is made captaine. 10 His valiant men.

2. Sam. 5. 1.

1 THe [a]* al Iſrael [a]gathered themſelues to Dauid vnto Hebron, ſaying, Behold, we are thy bones & thy fleſh.
2 And in time paſt, euen when Saul was king, thou leddeſt Iſrael out and in: and the Lord thy God ſayde vnto thee, Thou ſhalt feede my people Iſrael, and thou ſhalt be captaine ouer my people Iſrael.
3 So came all the Elders of Iſrael to the king to Hebron, and Dauid made a couenant with them in Hebron before the Lord. And they anointed Dauid king ouer Iſrael, * according to the worde of the Lord by the hand of Samuel.

a This was after the death of Iſhbosheth Sauls ſonne, whē Dauid had reigned ouer Iudah ſeuē yeres, & ſix moneths in Hebron, 2. Sam. 5. 5.

1. Sam. 16. 13.

4 ¶ And Dauid and all Iſrael went to Jeruſalem, which is Jebus, where were the Jebuſites, the inhabitants of the land.
5 And the inhabitants of Jebus ſayd to Dauid, Thou ſhalt not come in hither. Neuertheleſſe Dauid tooke the tower of Sion, which is the citie of Dauid.
6 And Dauid ſaid, * Whoſoeuer ſmiteth the Jebuſites firſt, ſhalbe the chiefe and captaine. So Joab the ſonne of Zeruiah went firſt vp, and was captaine.

2 Sam. 5. 8.

7 And Dauid dwelt in the tower: therefore they called it the citie of Dauid.
8 * And he built the citie on euery ſide, from Millo euen round about: and Joab repaired the reſt of the citie.
9 And Dauid proſpered, and grewe: for the Lord of hoſts was with him.

2. Sam. 5. 9.

10 ¶ * These also are the chiefe of the valiant men that were with Dauid, and ioyned their force with him in his kingdome with al Iſrael, to make him king ouer Iſrael, according to the worde of the Lorde.

2. Sam. 23. 8.

11 And this is the nomber of the valiant men whom Dauid had, Jaſhobeam the ſonne of Hachmoni, the [b] chiefe among thirtie: he lift vp his ſpeare againſt three hundreth, whom he ſlew at one time.
12 And after him was Eleazar the ſonne of [a]* Dodo the Ahohite, which was one of the three valiant men.
13 He was with Dauid at Paſ-dammim, and there [b] Philiſtims were gathered together to battel: and there was a parcell of ground ful of barly, & the people fled before the Philiſtims.
14 And they ſtoode in the middes of the field, [c] and layed it, and ſlew the Philiſtims: ſo the Lord gaue a great victorie.
15 ¶ And three of the [d] thirtie captaines went to a rocke to Dauid, into the caue of Adullam. And the armie of the Philiſtims camped in the valley of Rephaim.
16 And when Dauid was in the holde, the Philiſtims gariſon was at Beth-lehem.
17 And Dauid longed, and ſaid, * Oh, that one would giue me to drinke of the water of the well of Beth-lehem that is at the gate.
18 Then three three brake thorowe the hoſte of the Philiſtims, and drewe water out of the well of Beth-lehem that was by the gate, and tooke it, and brought it to Dauid: but Dauid would not drinke of it, but powred it for an oblation to the Lord,
19 And ſayd, Let not my God ſuffer me to do this: ſhould I drinke the [e]* blood of these mens liues? for they haue brought it with the ieopardy of their liues: therefore he would not drinke it: these things did these three mightie men.
20 ¶ And Abiſhai the brother of Joab, he was chiefe of the three, and hee lift vp his ſpeare againſt three hundreth, and ſlewe them, and had the name among the three.
21 Among the three he was more honourable then the two, and he was their captaine: * but he attained not vnto the firſt three.
22 Benaiah the ſonne of Jehoiada (the ſonne of a valiant man) which had done many actes, and was of Kabzeel, he ſlew two [a]* ſtrong men of Moab: hee went downe alſo & ſlew a lion in the middes of a pit in time of ſnowe.

24 These things did Benaiah the sonne of Iehoiada, and had the name among the three worthies.
25 Beholde, he was honourable among thirtie, but he attained not vnto the [f] first three. * And Dauid made him of his counsell.
26 ¶ These also were valiant men of war, Asahel the brother of Ioab, Elhanan the sonne of Dodo of Beth-lehem, 27 [g] Shammoth the Harodite, Helez the Pelonite, 28 Ira the sonne of Ikkesh the Tekoite, Abiezer the Antothite,

CHAP. XII.

1 Who they were that went with Dauid when he fled from Saul. 14 Their valiantnes. 23 They that came vnto him vnto Hebron out of euery tribe to make him King.

THese also are they þ came to Dauid to [a] Ziklag, while he was yet kept close, because of Saul the sonne of Kish: and they were among the valiant and helpers of the battell.
2 They were weaponed with bowes, & could vse the right and the left hande with stones and with arrowes & with bowes, and were of Sauls [b] brethren, euen of Beniamin.
3 The chiefe were Ahiezer, and Joash the sonnes of Shemaah a Gibeathite, and Jeziel, and Pelet the sonnes of Azmaueth, Berachah & Jehu the Antothite,
4 And Ishmaiah the Gibeonite, a valiant man among thirtie, and aboue the thirtie, and Jeremiah, and Jahaziel, and Johanan, and Jozabad the Gederathite,
5 Eluzai, and Jerimoth, and Bealiah, and Shemariah, and Shephatiah the Haruphite, 6 Elkanah, and Ishiah, and Azareel, and Joezer, Jashobeam of Korhites,
7 And Joelah, and Zebadiah, the sonnes of Jeroham of [i] Gedor.
8 And of the Gadites there separated them selues vnto Dauid into the holde of the wildernesse, valiant men of warre, & men of armes, and apt for battel, which could handle [k] speare & shielde, and their faces were like the faces of lions, and were like the roes in the mountaines in swiftnes.
9 Ezer the chiefe, Obadiah the seconde, Eliab the third,
10 [l] Mishmanah the fourth, Jeremiah the fift,
11 Attai the sixt, Eliel the seuenth,
12 Johanan the eight, Elzabad the ninth,
13 Jeremiah the tenth, Machbannai the eleuenth.
14 These were the sonnes of Gad, captaines of the host: one of the least could resist an hundreth, & the greatest a thousand.
15 These are they that went ouer Jorden in the [d] first moneth when he had filled ouer all his bankes, and put to flight all them of the valley, towarde the East and the West.
16 And there came of the children of Beniamin and Judah to the holde vnto Dauid, 17 And Dauid went out to meete them, and answered and saide vnto them, If ye be come peaceably vnto me to helpe me, mine heart shall be knit vnto you, but if you come to betraye me to mine aduersaries, seeyng there is no wickednesse in mine handes, the God of our fathers beholde it, and rebuke it.
18 And the * spirit came vpon Amasai, which was the chiefe of thirtie, & he said, Thine are we, Dauid, and with thee, O sonne of Ishai. Peace, peace bee vnto thee, and peace be vnto thine helpers: for thy God helpeth thee. Then Dauid receiued them, & made them captaines of the garrison.
19 ¶ And of Manasseh some fell to Dauid, when he came with the Philistims againſt Saul to battel, but they [f] helped them not: for the Princes of the Philiſtims [a] by aduiſement ſent him away, ſaying, He will fall to his maiſter Saul [b] for our heades.

20 As he went to Ziklag, there fel to him of Manaſſeh, Adnah, and Jozabad, and Jediael, and Michael, and Jozabad, & Elihu, and Zilthai, heades of the thouſands that were of Manaſſeh.

21 And they helped Dauid againſt [c] that bande: for they were all valiant men & were captaines in the hoſte.

22 For at [d] time day by day there came to Dauid to helpe him, vntill it was a great hoſte, like the hoſte of [e] God.

23 And theſe are the nombers of the captaines that were armed to battell, and came to Dauid to Hebron to turne the kingdome of Saul to him, according to the word of the Lord.

24 The childre of Judah that bare ſhield and [g] ſpeare, were ſixe thouſande & eight hundreth armed to the warre.

25 Of the children of Simeon valiant mẽ of warre, ſeuen thouſande and an hundreth.

26 Of the children of Leui foure thouſand and ſixe hundreth.

27 And Jehoiada was the chief of them of [i] Aaron: and with him three thouſande and ſeuen hundreth.

28 And Tadok a yong man verie valiant, and of his fathers houſholde came two and twenty captaines.

29 And of the children of Beniamin the brethren of Saul three thouſand: for a great part of them vnto that time [k] kept the ward of the houſe of Saul.

30 And of the children of Ephraim twentie thouſande, & eight hundreth valiant men and famous men in the houſholde of their fathers.

31 And of the halfe tribe of Manaſſeh eyghteene thouſande, which were appointed by name to come & make Dauid king.

32 And of the children of Iſſachar which were men that had vnderſtanding of the [l] times, to know what Iſrael ought to do: the heads of them were two hundreth, & all their brethren were at their commandement.

33 Of Zebulun that went out to battell, expert in warre, & in all inſtruments of warre, fiftie thouſande [c] which could ſet the battell in arap: they were not of [d] a double heart.

34 And of Naphtali a thouſad captaines, and with them with ſhielde & ſpeare ſeuen and thirtie thouſand.

35 And of Dan expert in battel, eight and twentie thouſand, and ſixe hundreth.

36 And of Aſher that went out to the battel and were trained in the warres, fourtie thouſande.

37 And of the other ſide of Jorden of the Reubenites, and of the Gadites, & of the halfe tribe of Manaſſeh with all inſtruments of warre to fight with, an hundreth and twentie thouſande.

38 [m] All theſe men of warre [n] that could lead an army, came with [o] vpright heart to Hebron to make Dauid king ouer all Iſrael: and all the reſt of Iſrael was one accord to make Dauid king:

39 And there they were with Dauid three dayes, eating and drinking: for their [p] brethren had prepared for them.

40 Moreouer they that were neere them vntill Iſſachar, and Zebulun, & Naphtali brought bread vpon aſſes, and on camels, and on mules, and on oxen, euẽ meat, floure, figges, and reſins, & wine and oyle, and beeues and ſheepe abundantly: for there was ioy in Iſrael.

m So that his whole hoſte were three hundreth twentie & two thouſand, two hundreth twenty and two.

The Arke is brought againe from Kiriath-iearim to Ieruſalem. 9. Vzza dieth, becauſe he touched it.

1 And Dauid conſulted with the captaines of thouſãds & of hundreths, and with all the gouernours.

2 And Dauid ſaid to all the Congregation of Iſrael, If it ſeeme good to you, & that it proceedeth of the Lord our God, we will ſende to and fro vnto our brethren, that are left in all the land of Iſrael (for with them are the Prieſts and the Leuites in the cities and their ſuburbes) that they may aſſemble themſelues vnto vs.

3 And we will bring againe the [a] Arke of our God to vs: for we ſought not vnto it in the dayes of Saul.

4 And all the Congregation anſwered, Let vs doe ſo: for the thing ſeemed good in the eyes of all the people.

5 ¶ [b] So Dauid gathered all Iſrael together from [c] Shihor in Egypt, euen vnto the entring of Hamath, to bring the Arke of God from [d] Kiriath-iearim.

6 And Dauid went vp and all Iſrael to [e] Baalath, in Kiriath-iearim, that was in Judah, to bring vp from thence the Arke of God the Lord that dwelleth betwene the Cherubins, where his name is called on.

7 And they caried the Arke of God in a new cart out of the houſe of Abinadab: and Vzza and Ahio [f] guided the cart.

8 And Dauid and all Iſrael plaied before [g] God with all their might, both with ſongs and with harpes, & with violes, and with tymbels and with cymbals, and with trumpets.

9 ¶ And when they came vnto the threſhing floore of [h] Chidon, Vzza put forth his hand to holde the Arke, for the oxen did ſhake it.

10 But the wrath of the Lord was kindled againſt Vzza, & he ſmote him, becauſe he laied his hand vpon the Arke: ſo he died there [i] before God.

11 And Dauid was angrie, becauſe the Lorde had made a breache in Vzza, and he called the name of that place Perez-vzza vnto this day.

12 And Dauid feared God that day, ſaying,

9 And the Philistims came & spred themselues in the valley of Rephaim.

10 Then Dauid asked counsel at GOD, saying, Shall I goe vp against the Philistims, and wilt thou deliuer them into mine hand? And the Lord said vnto him, Go vp: for I will deliuer them into thine hand.

11 So they came vp to Baal-perazim, & Dauid smote them there: and Dauid said, God hath deuided mine enemies with mine hand, as waters are deuided: therefore they called the name of that place, d Baal-perazim.

d That is, the valley of diuisions, because the enemies were dispersed there like waters.

12 And there they had left their gods: and Dauid sayde, Let them euen be burnt with fire.

13 Againe the Philistims came and spred themselues in the valley.

14 And when Dauid asked againe counsel at God, God said to him, Thou shalt not goe vp after them, but turne away from them, that thou maist come vpon them ouer against the mulberie trees.

15 And when thou hearest the noyse of one going in the tops of the mulberie trees, then go out to battel: for God is gone forth before thee, to smite the hoste of the Philistims.

16 So Dauid did as God had commanded him: and they smote the hoste of the Philistims from Gibeon euen to Gezer.

17 And the fame of Dauid went out into all lands, & the Lord brought the feare of him vpon all nations.

12 And he sayd vnto them, Ye are the chiefe fathers of the Leuites: g sanctifie your selues, and your brethren, and bring vp the Arke of the Lord God of Israel vnto the place that I haue prepared for it.

g Prepare your selues, & be pure, abstaine from all things whereby ye might be polluted, and so not able to come to the Tabernacle. Chap. 13. 10.

13 For h because ye were not there at the first, the Lord our God made a breache among vs: for we sought him not after due i order.

h According as he hath appointed in the Lawe.

14 So the Priests and the Leuites sanctified themselues to bring vp the Arke of the Lord God of Israel.

15 ¶ And the sonnes of k Leuites bare the Arke of God vpō their shoulders with the barres, as Moses had commanded, k according to the worde of the Lord.

Exod. 25. 14, 15.

16 And Dauid spake to the chiefe of the Leuites, that they should appoint certaine of their brethren to sing with l instruments of musicke, with violes and harpes, and cymbales, that they might make a sounde, and lift vp their voyce with ioye.

g These instruments and other ceremonies, which they obserued, were instructions of their infancie, which continued to the comming of Christ.

17 So the Leuites appointed Heman the sonne of Joel, & of his brethren Asaph the sonne of Berechiah, & of the sonnes of Merari their brethren, Ethan the sonne of Kushaiah, 18 And with them their brethren in the h second degree, Zechariah, Ben, and Jaaziel, & Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Unni, Eliab, & Benaiah, & Maaseiah, and Mattithiah, and Eliphelehu, and Mikneah, and Obed Edom, and Jeiel the porters.
19 So Heman, Asaph and Ethan were singers to make a sound with cymbales of brasse, 20 And Zechariah, and Aziel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Unni, and Eliab, and Maaseiah, & Benaiah with violes on i Alamoth.
21 And Mattithiah, and Eliphelehu, and Mikneah, and Obed Edom, and Jeiel, and Azaziah, with harpes vpon k She-minith Jenatzeah.
22 But Chenaniah the chiefe of the Le-uites had l the charge, bearing the burden in the charge, for he was able to instruct.
23 And Berechiah and Elkanah were porters for the Arke.
24 And Shecaniah and Jehoshaphat & Nethanel and Amasai, & Zechariah, and Benaiah, and Eliezer the Priestes did blowe with trumpets before the Arke of GOD, and Obed Edom and Jeiah were porters m for the Arke.
25 * So Dauid and the Elders of Israel and the captaines of thousands went to bring vp the Arke of the couenant of the Lord from the house of Obed Edom with ioy.
26 And because that God o helped the Le-uites that bare the Ark of the couenant of the Lord, they offred p seuen bullocks and seuen rams.
27 And Dauid had on him a linen garment, as all the Leuites that bare the Arke, and the singers and Chenaniah that had the chief charge of the singers:
and vpon Dauid was a linen q Ephod.
28 Thus all Israel brought vp the Arke of the Lords couenant with shouting & sound of cornet, & with trumpets, and with cymbals, making a sound with violes and with harpes.
29 And when the Arke of the r couenant of the Lord came into the citie of Da-

36 Blessed be the Lord God of Israel for euer and euer: & let all people say, [r] So be it, and praise the Lord.
37 ¶ Then he left there before the Arke of the Lordes couenant Asaph and his brethren to minister continually before the Arke, that which was to be done euerie day:
38 And Obed Edom and his brethren, three score and eight: and Obed Edom the sonne of Ieduthun, and Hosah were porters.
39 And Zadok the Priest and his brethren the Priestes were before the Tabernacle of the Lorde, in the hie place that was at Gibeon, 40 To offer burnt offrings vnto the Lord, vpon the burnt offring altar continually, in the morning and in the euening, euen according vnto all that is written in the Lawe of the Lorde, which he commanded Israel.
41 And with them [f] were Heman, and Ieduthun, & the rest that were chosen (which were appointed by names) to praise the Lorde, because his mercie endureth for euer.
42 Euen with them were Heman and Ieduthun, to make a sounde with the cornets and with the cymbales, with excellent instruments of musike: and the sonnes of Ieduthun were at the gate.

CHAP. XVII.

2 Then Nathan saide to Dauid, Do [c] all that is in thine heart: for God is with thee.
3 And the same [d] night euen the worde of God came to Nathan, saying,
4 Go, and tell Dauid my seruant, Thus saith the Lorde, Thou shalt not builde me an house to dwell in:
5 For I haue dwelt in no house, since the day that I brought out the children of Israel vnto this day, but I haue bene from [e] tent to tent, and from habitation to habitation.
6 Wheresoeuer I haue [f] walked with all Israel, spake I one worde to any of the iudges of Israel (whome I commaunded to feede my people) saying, Why haue ye not builte me an house of cedar trees?
7 Now therefore thus shalt thou say vnto my seruant Dauid, Thus saith the Lorde of hostes, I tooke thee from the sheepecoate & and from following the sheepe, that thou shouldest be a prince ouer my people Israel.
8 And I haue bene with thee whithersoeuer thou hast walked, and haue destroyed all thine enemies out of thy sight, and haue [g] made thee a name, like the name of the great men that are in the earth.
9 (Also I will appoint a place for my people Israel, and [h] will plant it, that they may dwel in their place, and mone no more: neither shall the [*] wicked people [i] vexe them any more, as at the beginning.
10 And since the time that I commaunded iudges ouer my people Israel) And I will subdue all thine enemies: therefore I say vnto thee, that the Lord will [i] builde thee an house.
11 And when thy dayes shall be fulfilled to go with thy fathers, then will I raise vp thy seede after thee, which shall bee of thy sonnes, and will stablish his kingdome.
12 He shal builde me an house, and I will stablish his throne for [k] euer.

14 But I will establish him in mine house, and in my kingdome for euer, and his throne shalbe stablished for euer.
15 According to all these wordes, and according to all this vision, So Nathan spake to Dauid.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The battell of Dauid against the Philistims. 2 And against Moab, 3 Zobah, 5 Aram, 12 And Edom.

1 AFter this Dauid smote the Philistims, & subdued them, and tooke a Gath, & the villages thereof out of the hand of the Philistims.

a Which, 2. Sam. 8. 1. is called the bridle of bondage, because it was a strong towne, and kept the countrey round about in subiection.

2 And hee smote Moab, and the Moabites became Dauids seruauntes, and b brought giftes.

b Or, payed tribute.

3 ¶ And Dauid smote c Hadarezer king of Zobah vnto Hamath, as hee went to stablish his border by the riuer d Perath.

c Or, Hadadezer.

d Or, Euphrates.

4 And Dauid tooke from him a thousand charets, and seuen thousand horsemen, and twentie thousande footemen, and e destroyed all the charets, but he reserued of them an hundreth charets.

e 2. Sam. 8. 4.

5 ¶ Then came the Aramites of Damascus to succour Hadarezer king of Zobah, but Dauid slewe of the Aramites two and twentie thousand.

6 And Dauid put a garison in Aram of f Damascus, and the Aramites became Dauids seruantes, and brought giftes: and the Lord g preserued Dauid where soeuer he went.

f Or, Damesek.

g That is, in al things that he enterprised.

7 And Dauid tooke the shieldes of golde that were of the seruantes of Hadarezer, and brought them to Ierusalem.

8 And from h Tibhath, and from Chun (cities of Hadarezer) brought Dauid exceeding much brasse, wherewith Salomon made the brasen i Sea, and the pillars and the vessels of brasse.

h Which, 2. Samuel 8. 8. are called Betah and Berothai.

i 1. King. 7. 23. iere. 52. 20.

9 ¶ Then Tou King of Hamath hearde howe Dauid had smitten all the hoste of Hadarezer King of Zobah:

10 Therefore he sent k Hadoram his sonne to king Dauid, to salute him, and to reioyce with him, because hee had fought against Hadarezer, and beaten him (for Tou had warre with Hadarezer) who brought all vessels of gold, and siluer and brasse.

k Called also Ioram, 2. Sam. 8. 10.

11 And King Dauid did dedicate them vnto the Lorde, with the siluer and gold that hee brought from all the nations, from l Edom, and from Moab, & from the children of Ammon, and from the Philistims, and from Amalek.

l Because the Edomites and the Syrians ioyned their power together, it is said, 2. Sam. 8. 12. that the Aramites were spoyled.

12 ¶ And Abishai the sonne of Zeruiah smote of Edom in the salt valley m eighteene thousand, m Which is vnderstand that Ioab slew twlene thousand, as is in the title of the threescore Psal. and Abishai the rest.

13 And hee put a garison in Edom, and all the Edomites became Dauids seruantes: and the Lorde preserued Dauid wheresoeuer he went.

14 So Dauid reigned ouer all Israel, and executed iudgement and iustice to al his people.

15 And Ioab the sonne of Zeruiah was ouer the hoste, and Iehoshaphat the sonne of Ahilud recorder,

16 And Zadok the sonne of Ahitub, and Abimelech the sonne of Abiathar were the Priests, and n Shausha the Scribe, n Or, Seraiah. 2. Sam. 8. 17, 18.

17 * And Benaiah the sonne of Iehoiada was ouer the s Cherethites and the Pelethites: and the sonnes of Dauid were chiefe about the king.

g Read 2. Sam. 8, 18.

CHAP. XIX.

4 Hanun king of the children of Ammon doeth great iniuries to the seruants of Dauid. 6 He prepareth an armie against Dauid, 15 And is ouercome.

1 AFter this also * Nahash the king of the children of Ammon died, and his sonne reigned in his stead.

2. Sam. 10. 2.

2 And Dauid saide, I wil shew kindenes vnto Hanun the sonne of Nahash, because his o father shewed kindnes vnto me. And Dauid sent messengers to cõfort him for his father. So the seruantes of Dauid came into p land of the children of Ammon to Hanun to comfort him.

o Because Nahash receiued Dauid and his companie, when Saul persecuted him, he would now shew pleasure to his sonne for the same.

3 And

3 And the princes of the children of Ammon said to Hanun, Thinkest thou that David doeth honour thy father, that he hath sent comforters unto thee? Are not his seruants come to thee to b search, to seeke and to spie out the land?

b Thus the malicious euer interpret the purpose of the godly in the worst sense.

4 Wherefore Hanun tooke Dauids seruants, and c shaued them, & cut off their garmentes, by the halfe vnto the buttockes, and sent them away.

c They shaued off the halfe of their beardes, 2.Sam.10.4.

5 And there went certaine and told David concerning the men: and he sent to meete them (for the men were exceedingly ashamed) and the king said, Tarry at Jericho, until your beardes be growen: then returne.

d To put them to shame and vilenie, whereas the embassadors ought to haue bene honoured: and because the Iewes vsed to were side garments and beardes, they thus disfigured them to make them odious to others.

6 ¶ When the children of Ammon sawe that they e stanke in the sight of David, then sent Hanun & the children of Ammon a thousand talents of siluer to hire them charets and horsemen out f of Aram Naharaim, out of Aram Maachah, and out of Zobah.

e Or, had made themselues to be abhorred of David. 2.Sam.10.6,8.

7 And they hyred them two and thirtie thousand charets, & the king of Maachah and his people, which came and pitched before g Medeba: and the children of Ammon gathered themselues together from their cities, and came to the battell.

f Which were fiue in all.

8 ¶ And when David heard, he sent Joab and all the hoste of the valiant men.

9 And the children of Ammon came out, and set their battell in arap at the gate of the citie. And the kinges that were come, were by themselues in the fielde.

g Which was a citie of the tribe of Reuben beyond Iorden.

10 When Joab saw that the front of the battell was against him before and behinde, then he chose out all the chopse of Israel, & set him selfe in arap to meete the Aramites,

11 And the rest of the people he delyuered vnto the hand of Abishai his brother, & they put themselues in arap against the children of Ammon.

12 And he said, If Aram be too strong for me, then thou shalt succour me: and if the children of Ammon preuaile against thee, then I will succour thee.

13 Be strong, and let vs shewe our selues valiant for our h people, and for the cities of our God, & let the Lord doe that which is good in his owne sight.

h He declareth, that where the cause is euill, the courage can not be valiant, and that in good causes men ought to be courageous and commit the successe to God.

14 So Joab and the people that was with him, came neere before the Aramites vnto the battell, and they fled before him.

15 And when the children of Ammon sawe that the Aramites fledde, they fled also before Abishai his brother, & entred into the citie: so Joab came to Jerusalem.

16 ¶ And when the Aramites sawe that they were discomfited before Israel, they sent messengers & caused the Aramites to come forth that were beyond the i riuer: and Shophach the captaine of the hoste of Hadarezer went before them.

i That is, Euphrates.

17 And when it was shewed David, he gathered all Israel, and went ouer Jorden, and came vnto them, and put him selfe in arap against them: And when David had put him selfe in battell arap to meete the Aramites, they fought with him.

18 But the Aramites fled before Israel, and David destroyed of the Aramites k seuen thousand charets, and fourtie thousand footemen, & killed Shophach the captaine of the hoste.

k For this place reade 2.Sam. 10. 18.

19 And when the seruants of Hadarezer sawe that they fell before Israel, they made peace with David, & serued him. And the Aramites would no more succour the children of Ammon.

CHAP. XX.

1 Rabbah destroyed. 3 The Ammonites tormented. 4 The Philistims are thrise ouercome with their gyants.

1 And a when the yere was expired, in the time that kings go out a warfare, Joab caried out the strength of the army, and destroyed the countrey of the children of Ammon, and came and besieged b Rabbah (but David tarried at Jerusalem) and Joab smote Rabbah and destroyed it.

a Which was the chiefe citie of the Ammonites. 2.Sam.12.29, 30.

2 c Then David tooke d crowne of their king from off his head, and found it the weight of a e talent of golde, with precious stones in it: and it was set on Dauids head, & he brought away the spoile of the citie exceeding much.

b Which mounteth about the value of seuen thousand and seuenty crownes which is about threescore poūd weight.

3 And he carped away the people that were in it, and cut them with sawes, & with harowes of yron, and with axes: euen thus did David with all the cities of the children of Ammon. Then David and all the people came againe to Jerusalem.

4 ¶ f And after this also there arose warre at g Gezer with the Philistims: then Sibbechai the Hushathite slewe h Sippai, of the children of i Raraphah, and they were subdued.

5 And there was yet another battell with the Philistims: and Elhanan the sonne of Jair slew k Lahmi, the brother of Goliath the Gittite, whose speare staffe was like a weauers beame.

c Reade 2.Sam. 21.19.

6 And yet againe there was a battell at Gath, where was a man of a great stature, and his fingers were by l dires, euen foure & twentie, and was also the sonne of Raraphah.

d Meaning, that he had fiue a piece on hands and feete.

7 And when he reuiled Israel, Jehonathan the sonne of Shimea Dauids brother did slay him.

8 These were borne vnto Raraphah at Gath, and fell by the hande of David, and by the hands of his seruants.

CHAP. XXI.

1 David causeth the people to be nombred, 14 And there die seuentie thousande men of the pestilence.

1 And a Satan stood vp against Israel, and prouoked David to nomber Israel.

a He tempted David in setting before his eyes his excellencie & glorie, his power & victories: reade 2.Sam.24.1.

2 Therefore Dauid said to Joab, and to the rulers of the people, Goe, and nomber Israel from [b]Beer-sheba euen to Dan, and bring it to mee, that I may knowe the nomber of them.

3 And Joab answered, The Lorde encrease his people an hundreth times so many as they be, O my lord ꝑ king: are they not al my lords seruãts? wherefore doeth my lord require this thing? why should he be a cause of trespas to Israel?

4 Neuertheless the kings worde preuailed against Joab. And Joab departed and went through al Israel, and returned to Jerusalem.

5 And Joab gaue the nomber & summe of the people vnto Dauid: and al Israel were [d]eleuen hundreth thousande men that drewe sworde: and Judah was [*]foure hundreth and seuentie thousand men that drewe sworde.

6 But the Leuites and Beniamin counted he not among them: for the kinges word was abominable to Joab.

7 ¶ And God was displeased with this thing: therefore he smote Israel.

8 Then Dauid saide vnto God, I haue sinned greatly, because I haue done this thing: but nowe, I beseech thee, remoue the iniquitie of thy seruant: for I haue done very foolishly.

9 And the Lord spake vnto Gad Dauids [*]Seer, saying,

10 Goe & tell Dauid, saying, Thus saith the Lord, I offer thee three things: chuse thee one of them, that I may do it vnto thee.

11 So Gad came to Dauid, and said vnto him, Thus saith the Lord, Take to thee

12 Either three yeres famine, or three moneths to be destroyed before thine aduersaries, and the sworde of thine enemies [*]to take thee, or els the sworde of the Lorde and pestilence in the lande three dayes, that the Angel of the Lorde may destroy throughout all the coastes of Israel: nowe therefore aduise thee, what worde I shal bring againe to him that sent me.

13 And Dauid saide vnto Gad, I am in a wonderfull strait. let me nowe fall into the hande of the Lorde: for his mercies are exceeding great, and let me not fall into the hand of man.

14 So the Lord sent a pestilence in Israel, and there fel of Israel seuentie thousand men.

15 ¶ And God sent the Angell into Jerusalem to destroy it. And [f]as hee was destroying, the Lorde beheld, and [g]repented of the euill and said to the Angel that destroyed, It is nowe ynough, let thine hand cease. Then the Angell of the Lord stood by the threshing floore of [*]Ornan the Jebusite.

16 And Dauid lift vp his eyes, and sawe the Angel of the Lorde stande betweene the earth & the heauen with his sworde drawen in his hande, and stretched out towarde Jerusalem. Then Dauid and the Elders of Israel, which were clothed in sacke, fell vpon their faces.

17 And Dauid saide vnto God, Is it not I that commanded to nomber the people? It is euen I that haue sinned and done committed euill, but these sheepe what haue they done? O Lorde my God, I beseeche thee, let thine hande be on me, and on my fathers house, & not on [h]thy people for their destruction.

18 ¶ Then the Angell of the Lorde commanded Gad to say to Dauid, that Dauid should goe vp, and set vp an altar vnto the Lorde in the threshing floore of Ornan the Jebusite.

19 So Dauid went vp according to the saying of Gad, which he had spoken in the Name of the Lord.

20 And Ornan turned about, and sawe the Angell, & his foure sonnes that were with him, [i]hid themselues, and Ornan threshed wheate.

21 And as Dauid came to Ornan, Ornan looked and sawe Dauid, and went out of the threshing floore, and bowed him selfe to Dauid with his face to the ground.

22 And Dauid saide to Ornan, Giue me the place of thy threshing floore, that I may builde an [k]altar therein vnto the Lorde: giue it me for sufficient money, that the plague may be staied from the people.

23 Then Ornan saide vnto Dauid, Take it to thee, and let my lorde the King doe that which seemeth him good: loe, I giue thee bullockes for burnt offrings, and threshing instrumentes for wood, & wheate for meat offring, I giue it all.

24 And King Dauid said to Ornan, Not so: but I wil bye it for sufficient [l]mony: for I will not take that which is thine for the Lorde, nor offer burnt offerings without cost.

25 So Dauid gaue to Ornan for that place [m]six hundreth shekels of gold by weight.

26 And Dauid built there an altar vnto the Lorde, & offred burnt offrings, and peace offrings, & called vpon the Lorde, & he [n]answered him by fire from heauen vpon the altar of burnt offring.

27 And when the Lord had spoken to the Angell, he put vp his sword againe into his sheath.

28 At that time when Dauid sawe that the Lord had heard him in the threshing floore of Ornan the Jebusite, then he [o]sacrificed there.

29 (But the Tabernacle of ꝑ Lord which Moses had made in the wildernes, and the altar of burnt offring were at that season in the hie place at Gibeon.

30 And Dauid could not goe before it to aske counsell at God: for he was afraide of the sworde of the Angel of the Lord.)

b That is, from South to North.

c It was a thing indifferent and vsuall to nomber the people, but because he did it of an ambitious minde, as though his strength stoode in his people, God punished him.

d Ioab partly for griefe and partly through negligence, gathered not the whole summe as it is here declared.

e In Samuel is mention of thirtie thousand more: which was either by ioyning to them some of the Beniamites, which were mixed with Iudah, or as the Ebrewes write, here the chiefe and princes are left out.

h Thus he both sheweth a true repentance and a fatherly care toward his people, which destroyeth God to spare them and to punish him and his.

i If man hide him selfe at the sight of an Angel, which is a creature, howe much lesse is a sinner able to appeare before the face of God?

k Thus he did by the commandement of God, as verse 18. for else it had bene abominable, except he had eyther Gods worde, or reuelation.

l That is, as much as it is worth: for hauing ynough of his owne and yet to haue taken of another mans goods to offer vnto the Lord, it had bene theft, and not acceptable to God.

CHAP. XXII.

2 Dauid prepareth things necessarie for the building of the Temple. 6 He commandeth his sonne Salomon Salomon to builde the Temple of the Lord, which thing he himselfe was forbidden to doe. 9 Vnder the figure of Salomon Christ is promised.

a That is, the place where in he will be worshipped.

1 AND Dauid said, This is the a house of the Lord God, and this is the altar for the burnt offring of Israel.

b Meaning, cunning men of other nations which dwelt among the Iewes.

2 And Dauid commanded to gather together the b strangers that were in the lande of Israel, and he set masons to hewe and polithe stones to builde the house of God.

c To wit, which weighed fiftie shekels of gold, 2. Chro. 3. 9.

3 Dauid also prepared c much yron for the naules of the doores and of the gates, and for the ioynings, and abundance of brasse passing weight,

4 And cedar trees without nomber: for the Zidonias & they of Tyrus brought much cedar wood to Dauid.

5 And Dauid saide, Salomon my sonne is yong and tender, and we must builde an house for the Lorde, magnificall, excellent and of great fame and dignitie throughout all countreis. I will therefore nowe prepare for him. So Dauid prepared verie much before his death.

6 Then he called Salomon his sonne, and charged him to builde an house for the Lorde God of Israel.

2. Sam. 7. 13.

7 And Dauid sayde to Salomon, * My sonne, I purposed with my selfe to build an house to the Name of the Lorde my God,

Chap. 28 3.

d This declareth how greatly God detesteth the sheading of blood, seeing Dauid for this cause is staied to builde the temple of the Lord, albeit he enterprised no warre, but by Gods cõmandement and against his enemies.

8 But the word of the Lord came to me, saying, * d Thou hast shed much blood, and hast made great battels: thou shalt not builde an house vnto my Name: for thou hast shed much blood vpon the earth in my sight.

9 Beholde, a sonne is borne to thee, which shalbe a man of rest, for I will giue him rest from all his enemies rounde about: therefore his name is Salomon: and I will sende peace and quietnes vpon Israel in his dayes.

10 * He shall builde an house for my Name, and hee shall be my sonne, and I will be his father, and I will establish the throne of his kingdome vpon Israel for euer.

2. Sam. 7. 13. 1. King. 5. 5.

e He sheweth that there cã be no prosperitie, but when the Lord is with vs.

11 Nowe therefore my sonne, the Lorde shall be with thee, and thou shalt * prosper, and thou shalt builde an house to the Lord thy God, as he hath spoken of thee.

f These are onely the meanes whereby Kings gouerne their subiects aright, & whereby the realmes do prosper and florish.

12 Onely the Lorde giue thee f wisedome and vnderstanding, & giue thee charge ouer Israel, euen to keepe the Lawe of the Lord thy God.

13 Then thou shalt prosper, if thou take heede to obserue the statutes and the iudgements which the Lorde commanded Moses for Israel: be strong and of good courage: feare not, neyther be afraid.

g For Dauid was poore in respect of Salomõ.

14 For behold, according to my g ponertie haue I prepared for the house of the Lord an hundreth thousande talents of golde, and a thousand thousand talents of siluer, and of brasse & of yron passing weight: for there was abundance: I haue also prepared timber & stone, and thou mayst prounde moze thereto.

15 Moreouer thou hast workemen with thee enough, * hewers of stone, and * Or, masons, and carpenters. workemen for timber, and all men expert in euery worke.

16 Of golde, of siluer, and of brasse, and of yron there is no nomber: h Vp therefore, and be doing, and the Lorde will be with thee.

h That is, goe about it quickly.

17 Dauid also commanded all the princes of Israel to helpe Salomon his sonne, saying,

18 Is not the Lord your God with you, and hath giuen you rest on euery side? for he hath giuen the i inhabitãts of the land into mine hande, and the lande is subdued before the Lorde and before his people.

i The nations round about.

19 Now set k your hearts & your soules to seeke the Lorde your God, and arise, and builde the Sanctuarie of the Lorde God to bring the Arke of the couenant of the Lord, and the holy vessels of God into the house built for the Name of the Lord.

k For else hee knew that God would plague them, and not prosper their labours except they sought w all their heartes to set forth his glorie.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Dauid beeing olde, ordeyneth Salomon King. 3 He causeth the Leuites to be nombred, 4 And assigneth them to their offices. 13 Aaron and his sonnes are for the hie Priest. 14 The sonnes of Moses.

1 SO when Dauid was olde and full of dates, * he made Salomon his sonne King ouer Israel.

1. King. 1. 30.

2 And he gathered together all the princes of Israel with the Priestes and the Leuites.

3 And the Leuites were nombred from the age of thirtie yeere and aboue, and their nomber according to their nimme was eight and thirtie thousand men.

4 Of these, foure and twentie thousande were set to l aduance the worke of the house of the Lorde, and sixe thousande were ouerseers and iudges.

l Or, to haue care ouer.

5 And foure thousand were porters, and foure thousande praised the Lorde with instruments which m he made to praise the Lord.

14 ¶ Moses also the man of God, and his children were named with the b tribe of Leui.

b They were but of the order of the Leuites and not of the Priestes, as Aarons sonnes.

15 The sonnes of Moses were Gershom, and Eliezer, 16 Of the sonnes of * Gershom was Shebuel the chiefe.

Exo.2.22.& 18.3.

17 And the sonne of Eliezer was Rehabiah the c chiefe: for Eliezer had none other sonnes: but the sonnes of Rehabiah were verie many.

c The Scripture vseth to call chiefe or the first borne, although he be alone and there be none borne after, Mat.1.25.

18 The sonne of Izhar was Shelomith the chiefe.

19 The sonnes of Hebron were Jeriah the first, Amariah the seconde, Jahaziel the third, and Jekamiam the fourth.

20 The sonnes of Vzziel were Michah the first, and Ishiah the second.

21 ¶ The sonnes of Merari were Mahli and Mushi. The sonnes of Mahli, Eleazar and Kish.

22 And Eleazar died, and had no sonnes, but daughters, and their d brethren the sonnes of Kish tooke them.

d Meaning, their cousins.

23 The sonnes of Mushi were Mahli, and Eder, and Jerimoth, three.

24 These were the sonnes of Leui according to the house of their fathers, euen ẏ chiefe fathers according to their offices, according to ẏ number of names, & their summe that did the worke for the seruice of the house of the Lorde from the age of e twentie yeres and aboue.

e Dauid did chuse ẏ Leuites twise, first at the age of thirtie, as verse 3. & againe afterward at 20, as the necessitie of the office did require: at the beginning they had no charge in the Temple, before they were fiue and twentie yere olde, & had none after fiftie, Nomb.4.3.

25 For Dauid said, The Lord God of Israel hath giuē rest vnto his people, that they may dwell in Jerusalem for euer.

26 And also the Leuites shall no more beare the Tabernacle and all the vessels for the seruice thereof.

f In washing & clensing all the holy vessels.

27 Therefore according to the last words of Dauid, the Leuites were nombred from twentie yere and aboue,

28 And their office was vnder the hande of the sonnes of Aaron, for the seruice of the house of the Lord in the courtes, and chambers, and in the f purifying of all holy things, & in the worke of the seruice of the house of God,

29 Both for the shewbreade, and for the fine floure, for the meat offring, and for the vnleauened cakes, and for the fryed things, and for that which was rosted, and for all measures and cise,

30 And for to stande euery morning, to giue thanks and to praise the Lord, and likewise at euen,

31 And to offer all burnt offrings vnto ẏ Lord, in the Sabbaths, in the moneths, and at the appointed times, according to the nomber and according to their custome continually before the Lord,

32 And that they should keepe the charge of the Tabernacle of the congregation, and the charge of the holie place, and the charge of the sonnes of Aaron their brethren in the seruice of the house of the Lord.

2 But Nadab and Abihu died a before their father, and had no children: therefore Eleazar and Ithamar executed the Priestes office.

a Whiles their father yet liued.

3 And Dauid distributed them, euen Zadok of the * sonnes of Eleazar, & Ahimelech of ẏ sonnes of Ithamar according to their offices in their ministration.

*Or, cousins.

4 And there were found mo of the sonnes of Eleazar by the " nomber of men, then of the sonnes of Ithamar, and they deuided them, to wit, among the sonnes of Eleazar, sixtene heads, according to the housholde of their fathers, and among the sonnes of Ithamar, according to the housholde of their fathers, eight.

"Ebr.heades

5 Thus they distributed them by lot the one from the other, & so the rulers of the Sanctuarie and the rulers of the house of God were of the sonnes of Eleazar & of the sonnes of Ithamar.

6 And Shemaiah the sonne of Nethanneel the scribe of ẏ Leuites, wrote them before the king and the princes, & Zadok the Priest, and Ahimelech the sonne of Abiathar, & before the chiefe fathers of the Priestes & of the Leuites, one family being reserued for Eleazar, and another reserued for Ithamar.

7 And the first b lot fell to Jehoiarib, and the second to Jedaiah, b This lot was ordeined to take away al occasion of enuie or grudging of one against another.

8 The third to Harim, the fourth to Seorim,

9 The fifth to Malchiiah, the sixt to Mijamin,

10 The seuenth to Hakkoz, the eight to c Abiiah, c Zacharie the father of Iohn Baptist was of this course or lot of Abia, Luk.1.5.

11 The ninth to Jeshua, the tenth to Shecaniah,

12 The eleuenth to Eliashib, the twelft to Jakim,

13 The thirteenth to Huppah, the foureteenth to Jeshebeab,

14 The fifteenth to Bilgah, the sixteenth to Immer,

15 The seuententh to Hezir, the eightenth to Happizzez,

16 The nineteenth to Pethahiah, the twentieth to Jehezekel,

17 The one and twentie to Jachin, the two and twentie to Gamul, 18 The three and twentie to Deliah, the foure and twentie to Maaziah.

19 These were their orders according to their offices, when they entred into the house of the Lorde according to their custome vnder d the hande of Aaron their father, as the Lorde God of Israel

21 Of Rehabiah, euen of the ſonnes of Rehabiah, the firſt Iſſhiiah, 22 Of Izhari, Shelomoth, of the ſonnes of Shelomoth, Jahath.
23 And his ſonnes Jeriah the firſt, Amariah the ſeconde, Jahaziel the thirde, and Jekameam the fourth, 24 The ſonne of Vzziel was Michah, the ſonne of Michah was Shamir, 25 The brother of Michah was Iſſhiiah, the ſonne of Iſſhiiah, Zechariah, 26 The ſonnes of Merari were Mahli & Mushi, the ſonne of Jaaziah was Beno, 27 The ſonnes of Merari, of Jahaziah were Beno, & Shohã, & Zaccur & Ibri.
28 Of Mahli came Eleazar, which had no ſonnes.
29 Of Kish, the ſonne of Kish was Jerahmeel, e Which was the ſecond ſonne of Merari.
30 And the ſonnes of e Mushi were Mahli, and Eder, and Jerimoth: theſe were ſonnes of the Leuites after the houſhold of their fathers.
f That is, euery one had that dignitie, which fell vnto him by lot.
31 And theſe alſo caſt f lottes with their brethrẽ the ſonnes of Aaron before king Dauid, and Zadok and Ahimelech and the chiefe fathers of the Prieſtes, and of the Leuites, euen the chiefe of the families againſt their ponger brethren.

5 *So of all my sonnes (for the Lord hath giuen me many sonnes) hee hath euen chosen Salomon my sonne to sit vpon the throne of the kingdome of the Lorde ouer Israel.
6 And he said vnto mee, Salomon thy sonne, he shal build mine house and my courtes: for I haue chosen him to be my sonne, and I wil be his father.
7 I will stablish therefore his kingdome for euer, if he indeuour him selfe to doe my commandements, and my iudge-ments, as c this day.

c If he continue to keepe my law and depart not therefrom, as he doeth hitherto.

8 Now therefore in the sight of al Israel the Congregation of the Lorde, & in the audience of our God, keepe and seeke for al the commandements of the Lord your GOD, that ye may possesse this d good land, and leaue it for an inheritance for your children after you e for euer.

d To wit, of Canaan.

e He declareth that nothing cā separate them from ỹ commoditie of this land both for themselues and their posteritie, but their sinnes and iniquitie.

9 And thou, Salomon my sonne, knowe thou the God of thy father, and serue him with a perfit heart, and with a willing mind: * for the Lord searcheth all hearts, and vnderstandeth all the imagination of thoughts: if ỹ seeke him, he will be found of thee, but if thou forsake him, he will cast thee off for euer.
10 Take heed now, for the Lord hath chosen thee to build f the house of the Sanctuarie: be strong therefore, and g do it.
11 ¶ Then Dauid gaue to Salomon his sonne the paterne of the porche and of the houses thereof, & of the closets ther-of, and of the galeries therof, and of the chambers thereof that are within, and of the house of the merciseate, the hands of the Lorde, which made me vnderstand al the workemanship of the paterne.

20 And Dauid said to Salomō his sonne, Be strong, & of a valiant courage and doe it: feare not, nor be afraide: for the Lord God, euen my God is with thee: he will not leaue thee nor forsake thee, till thou hast finished all the worke for

CHAP. XXIX.

2 The offring of Dauid & of the princes for the building of the Temple. 10 Dauid giueth thankes to the Lord. 20 He exhorteth the people to doe the same. 22 Salomon is created King. 28 Dauid dyeth, and Salomon his sonne reigneth in his steade.

1 MOreouer Dauid the king said vnto al the Congregation, God hath chosen Salomon mine only sonne yong and tender, & the worke is great:
for this house is not for man, but for the a Lord God.
2 Now I haue prepared with al my power for the house of my God, golde for vessels of golde, and siluer for them of siluer, and brasse for thinges of brasse, yron for thinges of yron, and wood for thinges of wood, and Onix stones, and stones to be set, and carbuncle stones and of di-uers colours, and all precious stones, and marble stones in abundance.
3 Moreouer, because I haue b delite in the house of my GOD, I haue of mine owne gold and siluer, which I haue gi-uen to the house of my God, beside all that I haue prepared for the house of the Sanctuarie,
4 Euen c three thousand talents of golde of the golde of Ophir, and seuen thousand talets of fined siluer to ouerlap the walles of the houses.
5 The golde for the thinges of golde, and the siluer for thinges of siluer, and for all the worke by the handes of artificers:
and who is d willing to fil his hand to day vnto the Lorde?
6 So the princes of the families, and the princes of the tribes of Israel, and the captaines of thousandes and of hun-dreths, with the rulers of the kinges worke, offred willingly, 7 And they gaue for ỹ seruice of the house of God fiue thousande talents of gold, and ten thousand pieces, and ten thousand talents of siluer, & eighténe thousande talents of brasse, & one hundreth thousand

a And therfore it ought to be excellent in all points.

b His great zeal toward the furtherance of the Temple made him to spare no expenses, but to bestow his owne peculiar treasure.

thousand talents of pion.

8 And they with whome precious stones were [e] found, gaue them to the treasure of the house of the Lorde, by the hand of Jehiel the Gerhunnite.

9 And [f] people reioyced whē they offred willingly: for they offred willingly vnto the Lord, with a [f] perfit heart. And Dauid the king also [f] reioyced with great ioy.

10 Therefore Dauid blessed the Lorde before all the congregation, and Dauid said, Blessed be thou, O Lorde GOD of [g] Israel our father, for euer and euer.

11 Thine, O Lord, is greatnes and power, and glorie, and victorie and praise: for all that is in heauen and in earth is thine: thine is the kingdom, O Lord, and thou excellest as head ouer all.

12 Both riches and honour come of thee, and thou reignest ouer all, and in thine hand is power and strength, & in thine hand it is to make great, and to giue strength vnto all.

13 Nowe therefore our God, we thanke thee, and praise thy glorious Name.

14 But who am I, and what is my people, that we should be able to offer willingly after this sort? for all things [h] come of thee: and of thine owne hand we haue giuen thee.

15 For we are [i] strangers before thee, and sojourners, like all our fathers: our dayes are like the shadowe vpon the earth, and there is none [k] abiding.

16 O Lorde our God, all this abundance that we haue prepared to build thee an house for thine holy Name, is of thine hand and all is thine.

17 I know also, my God, that thou [l] triest the heart, and hast pleasure in rightuousnesse: I haue offered willingly in the vprightnes of mine heart all these things: now also haue I seene thy people which are found here, to offer vnto thee willingly with ioye.

18 O Lord God of Abraham, Isaak, and Israel our fathers, keepe this for euer in the [k] purpose, and the thoughtes of the heart of thy people, and prepare their hearts vnto thee.

19 And giue vnto Salomon my sonne a perfite heart to keepe thy commandements, thy testimonies, & thy statutes, and to do all things, and to builde the house which I haue prepared.

20 ¶ And Dauid sayde to all the Congregation, Nowe blesse the Lord your God. And all the Congregation blessed the Lord God of their fathers, and bowed downe their heads, and worshipped the Lord and the [l] King.

21 And they offered sacrifices vnto the Lord, and on the morow after that day, they offered burnt offrings vnto the Lord, euen a thousand yong bullocks, a thousand rammes, & a thousand lhēp, with their [m] drinke offrings, and sacrifices in abundance for all Israel.

22 And they did eate and drinke before the Lorde the same day with great ioy, and they made Salomon the sonne of Dauid king the second time, and anoynted him prince before the Lord, and Sadoc for the hie Priest.

23 So Salomon sate on the [n] throne of the Lorde, as king in steade of Dauid his father, and prospered: and all Israel obeyed him.

24 And all the princes & men of power, and all the sonnes of king Dauid [o] submitted themselues vnder king Salomon.

25 And the Lord magnified Salomon in dignitie, in the sight of all Israel, and gaue him so glorious a kingdome, as no king had before him in Israel.

26 ¶ [p] Thus Dauid the sonne of Ishai reigned ouer all Israel.

27 And the space that he reigned ouer Israel, was fourtie yeere: seuen yeere reigned he in Hebron, and thirtie and three yeere reigned he in Jerusalem:

28 And he died in a good age, full of daies, riches and honour, and Salomon his sonne reigned in his stead.

29 Concerning the actes of Dauid the king first and last, behold, they are written in the booke of Samuel the Seer, and in the booke of [o] Nathan the Prophete, & in the booke of Gad the Seer,

THE SECOND BOOKE OF THE CHRONICLES.

THE ARGVMENT.

THis seconde booke conteineth briefly in effect that, which is comprehended in the two bookes of the kings: that is, from the reigne of Salomon to the destruction of Ierusalem, and the carying away of the people captiue into Babylon. In this storie are certaine things declared & set forth more copiously then in the bookes of the Kings, & therefore serue greatly to the vnderstanding of the Prophets. But three things are here chiefly to be considered. First, that the godly Kings, when they sawe the plagues of God prepared against their countrey for sinne, had recourse to the Lorde, and by earnest prayer were heard, and the plagues remoued. The second, howe it is a thing that greatly offendeth God, that such as feare him and professe his religion, should ioyne in amitie with the wicked. And thirdly, howe the good rulers euer loued the Prophets of God, and were verie zealous to set foorth his religion throughout all their dominions, and contrariwise the wicked hated his ministers, deposed them, and for the true religion and worde of God, set vp idolatrie, and serued God according to the fantasie of men. Thus haue we hitherto the chiefe actes from the beginning of the worlde to the building againe of Ierusalem, which was the two and thirtieth yere of Darius, and conteine in the whole three thousand, fiue hundreth, threescore and eighteene yeres, and sixe monethes.

1 THen Salomon the sonne of Dauid was [a]confirmed in his kingdome: and the Lorde his God was with him, & magnified him highly.

2 And Salomon [a]spake vnto all Israel, to the captaines of thousands, and of hundreths, and to the iudges, and to all the gouernours in al Israel, euen the chiefe fathers.

[a] That is, he proclaimed a solemne sacrifice, & commanded that all should be at the same.

3 So Salomon and all the Congregation with him went to the hie place that was at [b]Gibeon: for there was the Tabernacle [c] of the Congregation of God which Moses the seruant of the Lorde had made in the wilderneſſe.

b Read 1.King. 3.4.

c So called, because that God thereby shewed certaine signes to the congregation, of his presence.

5 Moreouer the [d] brasen altar [*] that Bezaleel the sonne of Vri, the sonne of Hur had made, did he set before the Tabernacle of the Lorde: and Salomon and the Congregation sought it.

d Which was for the burnt offringe, Exo.27.1. Exod.38.2.

1.King.3.4.

7 ¶ The same night did God appeare vnto Salomon, & sayd vnto him, Aske what I shall giue thee.

8 And Salomon sayd vnto God, Thou hast shewed great mercie vnto Dauid my father, and hast made me to reigne in his stead.

9 Now therefore, O Lord God, let thy promise vnto Dauid my father be [*] true: for thou hast made me king ouer a great people, like to the dust of the earth.

e Performe thy promes made to my father concerning me.

10 Giue me now wisedome & knowledge, that I may [f] goe out and goe in before this people: for who can iudge this thy great people?

f That I may gouerne this people, reade 1.Chr. 27.1. and 1.king. 3.7.

11 And God sayd to Salomon, Because this was in thine heart, and thou hast not asked riches, treasures nor honour, nor the [g] liues of thine enemies, neither yet hast asked long life, but hast asked for thē wisedome and knowledge that thou mightest iudge my people, ouer whom I haue made thee king, g That is, to be reuenged on thine enemies.

12 Wisedome and knowledge is graunted vnto thē, and I wil giue thē riches and treasures and honour, so that there hath not bene the like among the kings which were before thē, neither after thē shal there be the like.

13 Then Salomon came from the hie place, that was at Gibeon, to Jerusalem from before the Tabernacle of the Congregation, & reigned ouer Israel.

14 [a] And Salomon gathered the charets and horsemen: and he had a thousand and foure hundreth charets, & twelue thousand horsemen, whom he placed in the [b] charet cities, and with the king at Jerusalem.

[a] 1.King.10.26.

15 And the king gaue siluer and golde at Jerusalem as [i] stones, and gaue cedar trees as the wilde figge trees, that are abundantly in the plaine.

[i] He caused so great plentie that it was no more esteemed then stones.

16 Also Salomon had horses brought out of Egypt and [*] fine linnen: [k] the kings marchants receiued the fine linnen for a price.

17 They came vp also and brought out of Egypt some charet, worth sixe hundreth shekels of siluer, that is an horse for an hundreth and fifte: and thus they brought horses to all the kinges of the Hittites, and to the kings of Aram by their [*] meanes.

5 And the house which I builde, is great, for great is our God aboue all gods.

6 Who is hee then that can be able to build him an house, when the heauen, and the heauen of heauens cannot containe him? who am I then [*] I should build him an house? but I do it to burne [b] incense before him.

[b] That is, to do y seruice which he hath cōmanded, signifying that none is able to honour and serue God in that perfection as his maiestie deserueth.

7 Sende me nowe therefore a cunning man that can worke in golde, in siluer, and in brasse, and in yron, and in purple, and [*] crimosin and blew silke, and that can graue in grauen worke with the cunning men that are with me in Judah & in Jerusalem, whome Dauid my father hath prepared.

c Some take it for brasill, or the wood called Ebenum, others for corall.

8 Sende me also cedar trees, firre trees & [c] Algummim trees from Lebanon: for I knowe that thy seruants can skill to hew timber in Lebanon: and behold, my seruants shalbe with thine,

[*] Or, Almuggim.

9 That

9 That they may prepare me timber in abundance: for the house which I do builde, is great and wonderful.
10 And behold, I will giue to thy seruants the cutters and the hewers of timber twentie thousand ''measures of beaten wheate, and twentie thousande measures of barley, and twentie thousande baths of wine, and twentie thousand baths of oyle.
11 Then Huram king of Tyrus answered in writing which he sent to Salomon, Because the Lorde hath loued his people, he hath made thee king ouer them.
12 Huram said moreouer, Blessed be the Lord God of Israel which made the heauen and the earth, and that hath giuen vnto Dauid the king a [e] wise sonne, that hath discretion, prudence and vnderstanding to build an house for the Lord, and a palace for his kingdome.
13 Now therfore I haue sent a wise man, and of vnderstanding of my father Hurams, 14 The sonne of a woman of the [f] daughters of Dan: and his father was a man of Tyrus, and he can skil to worke in gold, in siluer, in braſſe, in yron, in stone, and in timber, in purple, in blewe silke, and in fine linen and in crimosin, and can graue in all grauen workes, and inuyder in all inuydered worke that shall be giuen him, with thy cunning men, and with the cunning men of my lord Dauid thy father.
15 Now therfore the wheat and the barley, the oyle & the wine, which my lorde hath spoken of, let him send vnto his seruants.
16 And we will cut wood in Lebanon as much as thou shalt need, and will bring it to thee in [g] rafters by the sea to [h] Japho, so thou mayst carry them to Ierusalem.
17 And Salomon nombred all the strangers that were in the land of Israel, after the nombring that his father Dauid had nombred them: & they were found an hundreth and three and fiftie thousand, and fiue hundreth.
18 And he set seuentie thousande of them to the burden, and foure score thousand to hew stones in the mountaine, & three thousand and six hundreth ouerseers to cause the people to worke.

CHAP. III.

1 The Temple of the Lorde, and the porch are builded, with other things thereto belonging.

1 SO Salomon began to build the house of the Lorde in Ierusalem, in mount [a] Moriah, which had beene declared vnto Dauid his father, in the place that Dauid prepared in the threshing flooze of Ornan the Iebusite.
2 And he beganne to build in the second moneth & the second day, in the fourth yeere of his reigne.
3 And these are the measures, whereon Salomon grounded to builde the house of God: the length of cubites after the first [b] measure was three score cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites:
4 And the porche, that was before the length in the fronte [c] of the breadth was twentie cubites, and the height was an [d] hundreth and twentie, and he ouerlaped it within with pure golde.
5 And the greater house hee sieled with firre tree which he ouerlaid with good golde, and graued thereon palme trees and chaines.
6 And he ouerlaid the house with precious stone for beautie: and the gold was gold of [e] Paruaim.
7 The house, I say, the beames, postes, and walles thereof & the doores thereof ouerlayde he with golde, and graued Cherubims vpon the walles.
8 ¶ He made also the house of the most holy place: the length thereof was in the front of the breadth of the house, twentie cubites, & the breadth thereof twentie cubites: and he ouerlaid it with the best golde, of sixe hundreth talents.
9 And the weight of the nailes was fiftie shekels of gold, & he ouerlaid the chambers with golde.
10 ¶ And in the house of the most holy place hee made two Cherubims wrought like children, and ouerlayde them with golde.
11 * And the winges of the Cherubims were twentie cubites long: the one wing was fiue cubites, reaching to the wall of the house, and the other wing fiue cubites, reaching to the wing of the other Cherub.
12 Likewise the wing of the other Cherub was fiue cubites, reaching to the wal of the house, and the other wing fiue cubites ioyning to the wing of the other Cherub.
13 The wings of these Cherubims were spred abroad twentie cubites: they stood on their feete, and their faces were toward the house.
14 ¶ He made also [f] the vaile of blew silke and purple, & crimosin, and fine linnen, and wrought Cherubims thereon.
15 ¶ And he made before the house two pillars [g] of fiue and thirtie cubites hie: and the chapiter that was vpon the toppe of eche of them, was fiue cubites.
16 He made also chaines for the oracle, & put them on the heades of the pillars, & made an [h] hundreth pomegranates, and put them among the chaines.
17 And he set vp the pillars before the Temple, one on the right hand and the other on the left, and called that on the right hand Iachin, and that on the left hand Boaz.

b Meaning, vnder the brim of the vessel, as 1.King.7.24.

3 And vnder [b] it was the facion of oxen, which did compasse it rounde about, [c] ten in a cubite compassing the Sea about: two rowes of oxen were cast whē it was molten.

c In the length of euery cubite were ten heads or knops which in all are 300.

4 It stoode vpon twelue oxen: three looked toward the North, and three looked toward the West, & three looked toward the South, and three looked toward the East, and the Sea stoode about vpon them, and all their hinder parties were inward.

5 And the thickens thereof was an handbreadth, and the brim thereof was like the worke of the brim of a cuppe, with flowres of [a] lilies: it contained [d] three thousand baths.

[a] Or, flowre delices.

d In the first booke of Kings, Chap 7.26. mencion is only made of two thousand: but the lesse nōber was taken there, and here according as the measures proued afterward is declared.

6 ¶ He made also ten caldrons, and put fiue on the right hande, and fiue on the left, to wash in them, & to cleanse in them that which appertened to the burnt offrings: but the Sea was for [e] Priests to wash in.

e Euen as they should be made.

7 ¶ And he made ten candlesticks of gold (according to [c] their forme) & put them in the Temple, fiue on the right hande, and fiue on the left.

8 ¶ And he made ten tables, & put them in the Temple, fiue on the right hande, and fiue on the left: & he made an hundreth basens of golde.

9 And he made the court of the Priests, and the great [f] court and dores for the court, and ouerlayed the doores thereof with brasse.

f Called also the porch of Salomon, Act.3.11. It is also taken for the Temple where Christ preached. Mat. 21.23.

10 And he set the Sea on the right side Eastward toward the South.

11 And Huram made [a] pots and besomes and basens, and Huram finished the worke that he shoulde make for King Salomon for the house of God,

[a] Or, caldrons.

12 To wit, two pillars, and the bowles & the chapiters on the toppe of the two pillars, and two grates to couer the two bowles of the chapiters which were vpon the top of the pillars:

13 And foure hundreth pomegranates for the two grates, two rowes of pomegranates for euery grate to couer the two bowles of the chapiters, that were vpon the pillars.

g Whom Salomon reuerenced for the gifts that God had giuen him, as a father: he had the same name also that Huram the king of Tyrus had, his mother was a Ieweesse & his father a Tyrian. Some reade, for his father, the author of this worke.

14 He made also bases, & made caldrons vpon the bases:

15 And a Sea, & twelue bulles vnder it:

16 Pottes also and besomes, and fleshhookes, and all these vessels made Huram this father, to King Salomon for the house of the Lord, of shining brasse.

17 In the plaine of Iorden did the King cast them in clay betweene Succoth & Zeredathah.

18 And Salomon made all these vessels in great abundance: for the weight of brasse could not be reckoned.

19 And Salomon made all the vessels that were for the house of God: the golden altar also and the tables, whereon the [b] shewe breade stoode.

h In Ebrew, the bread of the faces, because they were set before the Arke, where the Lord shewed his presence.

20 Moreouer the candlesticks, with their lampes to burne them after the maner, before the oracle, of pure golde.

21 And the floures and the lampes, and the tunsers of golde, which was fine golde.

22 And the [a] hookes, and the basens, and the spoones, and the alhpans of pure golde: the entrie also of the house and doores thereof within, euen of the most holy place: and the doores of the house, to wit, of the Temple were [i] of golde.

CHAP. V.

1 The things dedicated by Dauid, are put in the Temple. 2 The Arke is brought into the Temple. 10 What was within it. 13 They sing praise to the Lorde.

1 SO was all the worke finished that Salomon made for the house of the Lorde, and Salomon brought in the things that Dauid his father had dedicated, with the siluer & the golde, and all the vessels, and put them among the treasures of the house of God.

1.kings.7.51. & 8.1.

2 Then Salomon assembled the Elders of Israel, & all the heades of the tribes, the chiefe fathers of the children of Israel vnto Ierusalē to bring vp [a] Arke of the couenant of the Lorde from the [b] citie of Dauid, which is Zion.

a Reade 2.Sam. 6.12.

3 And all the men of Israel assembled vnto the King at the [c] feast: it was in the seuenth [c] moneth.

b when the thinges were dedicate & brought into the Temple.

c Called in Ebrew Ethanim, conteyining part of September & part of October, 1.king.8.2. which moneth the Iewes called the first moneth, because they say that the worlde was created in that moneth, & after they came from Egypt they began at March: but because this opinion is vncertein, we make March euer the first, as best writers do.

4 And all the Elders of Israel came, and the Leuites tooke vp the Arke.

5 And they carped vp the Arke & the Tabernacle of the Congregation: and all the holy vessels that were in the Tabernacle, those did the Priestes and Leuites bring vp.

6 And King Salomon and all the Congregation of Israel that were assembled vnto him, were before the Arke, offring theepe and bullockes, which coulde not be tolde nor nombred for multitude.

7 So the Priests brought the Arke of the couenant of the Lord vnto his place, into the Oracle of the house, into the most holy place, euen vnder the wings of the Cherubims.

8 For the Cherubims stretched out their wings ouer the place of the Arke, and the Cherubims couered the Arke and the barres thereof aboue.

9 And they drewe out the barres, that the endes of the barres might be seene out of the Arke before the Oracle, but they were not seene [a] without: & there they are vnto this day.

[a] Or, without the Oracle.

10 Nothing was in the Arke, saue [d] the two Tables, which Moses gaue at Horeb, where the Lorde made a couenant with the children of Israel, when they came out of Egypt.

d For Aarons rod and Manna were take thēce before it was brought to this place.

11 And when the Priests were come out of the Sanctuarie (for all the Priestes that were present, were [e] sanctified and did not waite by course.

e Were prepared to serue the Lord.

12 And the Leuites the singers of all sortes, ſoȝtes, as of Aſaph, of Heman, of Jeduthun and of their ſonnes and of their brethren, being clad in fine linnen, ſtood with cymbals, and with violes and harpes at the Eaſt end of the altar, and with them an hundreth and twentie Prieſts blowing with trumpets:

f They agreed all in one tune.

13 And they were f as one, blowing trumpets, and ſinging, and made one ſound to be heard in prayſing and thanking the Lorde, and when they lift vp their voyce with trumpets and with cymbals, and with inſtruments of muſike, and when they prayſed the Lorde, ſinging, g For he is good, becauſe his mercie laſteth for euer) then the houſe, euen the houſe of the Lorde was filled with a cloude,

g This was the effect of their ſongs, as Pſal. 118.1. and pſal. 136.1.

14 So that the Prieſts could not ſtand to miniſter, becauſe of the cloude: for the glorie of the Lord had filled the houſe of God.

ſkaffolde and ſet it in the middes of the court, of fiue cubites long, and fiue cu-bites broad, and three cubites of height, and vpon it he ſtood, and kneeled downe vpon his knees before all the Congregation of Iſrael, and f ſtretched out his hands toward heauen)

d Both to giue thankes for the great benefites of God beſtowed vpon him, and alſo to pray for the perſeuerance and proſperitie of his people.

is no God like thee in heauen nor in earth, which keepeſt couenant, & merci-full vnto thy ſeruants, that walke before thee with all their heart.

of Iſrael: ſo that thy ſonnes take heede to their waies, to walke in my Law, as thou haſt walked before me.

h Ebr. a man ſhall not be cut off.

with man on earth? beholde, the * hea-uens, and the heauens of heauens are not able to containe thee: howe much more vnable is this houſe, which I haue built?)

1.King.8.27.

19 But haue thou reſpect to the prayer of thy ſeruant, and to his ſupplication, O Lord my God, to heare the crie & prayer which thy ſeruant prayeth before thee,

20 That thine eies may be open toward this houſe day and night, euen toward the place, whereof thou haſt ſayd, that thou wouldeſt put thy Name there, that thou maieſt hearken vnto the prayer, which thy ſeruant prayeth in this place.

e That thou maieſt declare in effect, that thou haſt a continuall care ouer this place.

21 Heare thou therefore the ſupplication of thy ſeruant, and of thy people Iſrae-el, which they pray in this place: and heare thou in the place of thine habitation, euen in heauen, and when thou heareſt, be mercifull.

26 When heauen shall be shut vp, and there shalbe no raine, because they haue sinned against thee, and shall pray in this place, and confesse thy Name, and [b] turne from their sinne, when thou doest afflict them,

27 Then heare thou in heauen, and pardon the sinne of thy seruants, and of thy people Israel (when thou hast taught them the good way wherein they may walke) and giue raine vpon thy land, which thou hast giuen vnto thy people for an inheritance.

28 ¶ * When there shall be famine in the land, when there shalbe pestilence, blasting, or mildewe, when there shalbe grashopper, or caterpiller, when their enemie shall besiege them [c] in the cities of their land, or any plague or any sickenesse,

31 That they may feare thee, and walke in thy wayes as long as they liue in the lande which thou gauest vnto our fathers.

32 ¶ Moreouer, as touching the stranger which is not of thy people Israel, who shall come out of a farre countrey for thy great Names sake, and thy mighty hand, and thy stretched out arme: when they shal come and [i] pray in this house,

33 Heare thou in heauen thy dwelling place, and doe according to all that the stranger calleth for vnto thee, that all the people of the earth may knowe thy Name, and feare thee like thy people Israel, and that they may knowe, that thy Name is called vpon in this house which I haue built.

34 ¶ When thy people shall goe out to battel against their enemies, by [k] way that thou shalt sende them, and they pray to thee, [l] in the way toward this citie, which thou hast chosen, euen towarde the house which I haue built to thy Name,

35 Then heare thou in heauen their prayer and their supplication, and iudge their cause.

36 If they sinne against thee (* for there is no man that sinneth not) and thou be angrie with them & deliuer them vnto the enemies, & they take them and carp them away captiue vnto a land farre or nere,

37 If they [m] turne againe to their heart in the land whither they be carped in captiues, and turne and pray vnto thee in the land of their captiuitie, saying, We haue sinned, we haue transgressed and haue done wickedly,

38 If they turne againe to thee with all their heart, & with all their soule in the land of their captiuitie, whither they haue carped them captiues, and pray toward their land, which thou gauest vnto their fathers, and toward the citie which thou hast chosen, and towarde the house which I haue built for thy Name,

9 And in the eight day, they c made a solemne assemblie: for they had made the dedication of the altar seuen dayes, and the feast seuen dayes.

d They had leaue to depart the two & twentieth day, 1. king 8.66. but they went not away till the next day. 2. King. 9.1. Num. 12.6.

10 And the d three and twentieth day of the seuenth moneth, he sent the people away into their tentes, ioyous & with glad heart, because of the goodnes that the Lord had done for Dauid & for Salomon, and for Israel his people.

11 *So Salomon finished the house of the Lorde, and the kings house, and all that came into Salomons heart to make in the house of the Lord: and he prospered in his house.

12 ¶ And the Lorde * appeared to Salomon by night and sayde to him, I haue heard thy prayer, and haue chosen this place for my selfe to be an house of sacrifice.

13 If I shut the heauen that there be no raine, or if I command the grashopper to deuoure the lande, or if I sende pestilence among my people,

14 If my people, among whō my Name is called vpon, doe humble themselues, and pray, and seeke my presence, & turne from their wicked wayes, then will I heare in heauen, and be merciful to their sinne, and will e heale their land:

e I will cause the pestilence to cease, & destroy the beastes that hurt the fruites of the earth, & send raine in due season.

15 Then mine eyes shall be open & mine eares attent vnto the prayer made in this place.

16 For I haue now chosen and sanctified this house, that my Name may be there for euer: and mine eyes and mine heart shalbe there perpetually.

17 And if thou wilt walke before me, as Dauid thy father walked, to doe according vnto all that I haue commanded thee, and shalt obserue my statutes and my iudgements, 18 Then will I stablish the throne of thy kingdome, according as I made the couenant with Dauid thy father, saying, * Thou shalt not want a man to be ruler in Israel.

Chap. 6. 16.

19 But if ye turne away, & forsake my statutes and my commandements which I haue set before you, and shall go and serue other gods, and worship them,

20 Then will I pluck them vp out of my lande, which I haue giuen them, & this house which I haue f sanctified for my Name, will I cast out of my sight, and will make it to be a prouerbe & a common talke among all people.

f Which thing declareth that God had more respect to their saluation, then to the aduancement of his owne glory: and whereas men abuse those thinges, which God hath appointed to set foorth his praise he doeth withdraw his graces thence.

21 And this house which is most hie, shal bee an astonishment to euerie one that passeth by it, so that hee shall sape, Why hath the Lord done thus to this lande, and to this house?

22 And they shall answere, Because they forsooke the Lord God of their fathers, which brought them out of the lande of Egypt, and haue taken holde on other gods, and haue worshipped them, and serued them, therefore hath he brought all this euill vpon them.

a To know whether his wisdome were so great as the report was.

1 And * when the Queene of Sheba heard of the fame of Salomon, shee came to a proue Salomon with harde questions at Jerusalem, with a verp great traine, and camels that bare sweete odours and much gold, and precious stones: and when she came to Salomon, shee communed with him of all that was in her heart.

b There was no question so hard that he did not solue.

2 And Salomon declared her al her questions, and there was b nothing hidde from Salomon, which he declared not vnto her.

3 Then the Queene of Sheba sawe the wisedome of Salomon, and the house that he had built,

4 And the meate of his table, and the sitting of his seruants, and the order of his wapters, & their apparel, & his butlers, & their apparell, & his i burnt offrings, which he offred in the house of the Lord, and she was" greatly astonied.

5 And shee saide to the king, It was a true word which I heard in mine owne land of thy "sapings, and of thy wisdome:

6 Howbeit I beleeued not their report, vntill I came, and mine eyes had seene it: and behold, the one halfe of thy great wisedome was not tolde me: for thou exceedest the fame that I heard.

7 Happy are thy men, & happy are these thy seruantes, which stande before thee alway, and heare thy wisedome.

8 Blessed be the Lord thy God, which loued thee, to set thee on his c throne as King, in the stead of the Lorde thy God: because thy God loueth Israel, to establish it for euer, therefore hath he made thee king ouer them, to execute iudgement and iustice.

c Meaning, that the Israelites were Gods peculiar people, & that kings are y lieutenantes of God, which ought to graunt vnto him the superioritie, and minister iustice to all.

9 Then she gaue the king six score talents of gold, and of sweete odours exceeding much & precious stones: neyther was there such sweete odours since, as the Queene of Sheba gaue vnto king Salomon.

10 And the seruants also of Huram, and þ seruants of Salomon which brought golde frō Ophir, brought d Algummim wood and precious stones.

d Read Chap. 2.8, and 1.king. 10.11.

11 And the king made of the Algummim wood e staires in the house of the Lorde, and in the kings house, and harpes and violes for singers: & there was no such seene before in the land of Judah.

13 ¶ Also the weight of golde that came to Salomon in one yeere was six hundreth three score and six talents of gold, 14 Besides that which chapmen & marchants brought: and al the kings of Arabia, & the princes of þ countrey brought golde and siluer to Salomon.

15 And king Salomō made two hūdreth targets of beaten gold, and six hundreth shekels of beaten golde went to one target, h Or, pounds, called minæ, whereof euery one seemed to make an hundreth shekels.

17 And the King made a great throne of yuorie and ouerlaide it with pure gold.

18 And the throne had six steppes, with a footestole of golde i fastened to the throne, and stapes on either side on the place of the seate, and two lions standing by the k stapes.

i That is, the steps and the footestoole were fastened to the throne.

19 And twelue lions stode there on the six steps on either side: there was not the like made in any kingdome.

20 And al king Salomons drinking vessels were of golde, & all the vessels of the house of the wood of Lebanon were of pure golde: for siluer was nothing esteemed in the dayes of Salomon.

21 For the kings ships went to Tarshish with the seruāts of Huram: euery three yeere once came the ships of l Tarshish, and brought golde, & siluer, yuorie, and apes, and peacockes.

22 So king Salomon excelled all þ kings of the earth in riches and wisedome.

23 And all the kings of the earth sought the presence of Salomon, to heare his wis-

CHAP. X.

4. 14 The rigour of Rehoboam. 13 He followeth lewde counsell. 16 The people rebel.

1 THen a Rehoboam went to Shechem: for to Shechem came all Israel to make him king.
a After ſ death of Salomon. 1. King. 12. 1.
2 And when Ieroboã the sonne of Nebat heard it, (which was in Egypt, whither he had fledde from the presence of Salomon the king) he returned out of Egypt.
3 And they sent and called him: so came Ieroboam and all Israel, and communed with Rehoboam, saying,
4 Thy father b made our yoke grieuous: now therefore make thou the grieuous seruitude of thy father, & his sore yoke, that he put vpon vs, lighter, & we will serue thee.
b That is, handled vs rudely. It seemeth ſ God hardened their hearts, so that they thus murmured without cause: which declareth also the inconstancie of the people.
5 And he saide to them, Depart yet three dayes, then come againe vnto me. And the people departed.
6 And king Rehoboam tooke counsell with the old men that had stande before Salomõ his father, while he yet liued, saying, What counsell giue ye that I may answere this people?
7 And they spake vnto him, saying, If thou be kind to this people, and please them, and speake louing wordes to thẽ, they wilbe thy seruants for euer.
c Or, that stood by him, that is, which were of his counsell and secrets.
8 But he left the counsell of the ancient men that they had giuen him, and tooke counsell of the young men that were brought vp with him, and c waited on him.
9 And he said vnto them, What counsell giue ye, that we may answere this people, which haue spoken to me, saying, Make the yoke which thy father did put vpon vs, lighter?
10 And the yong men that were brought vp with him, spake vnto him, saying, Thus shalt ſ answere the people that spake to thee, saying, Thy father made our yoke heauie, but make thou it lighter for vs: thus shalt thou say vnto thẽ, My d least part shalbe bigger then my fathers loynes.
d Or, little fingers meaning, that he was of farre greater power then was his father.
11 Now where as my father did burden you with a grieuous yoke, I wil put more vnto your yoke: my father hath chastised you with roddes, but I wil correct you with e scourges.
e Or, Scorpions.
12 ¶ Then Ieroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam the thirde day, as the king had appointed, saying, Come againe to me the third day.
13 And the king answered them sharply: and king Rehoboam left the counsell of the ancient men, 14 And spake to thẽ after the counsell of the yong men, saying, My father made your yoke grieuous, but I wil increase it: my father chastised you with rods, but I will correct you with scourges.
15 So the king hearkened not vnto the people: for it was the f ordinaunce of God that the Lorde might performe his saying, which he had spoken f by Ahiah the Shilonite to Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat.
f Gods wil imposeth such a necessitie to the second causes, ſ nothing can be done but according to the same, and yet mans wil worketh as it selfe, so that it cannot be excused in doing euil, by alledging that it is Gods ordinance.
16 So when all Israel saw that the king would not heare them, the people answered the king, saying, g What portion haue we in Dauid? for we haue none inheritãce in the sonne of Ishai. O Israel, euery man to your tentes: nowe see to thine owne house, Dauid. So all Israel departed to their tents.

that are in Iudah, & Beniamin, saying,
4 Thus sayth the Lorde, Ye shall not goe vp, nor fight against your brethren: returne euery man to his house: for this thing is done of me. They obeyed therefore the word of the Lord, and returned from going against Ieroboam.
5 And Rehoboam dwelt in Ierusalem, and [c] built strong cities in Iudah.
6 He built also Beth-lehem, and Etam, and Tekoa,
7 And Beth-zur, and Shoco, and Adullam,
8 And Gath, and Maresha, and Ziph.
9 And Adoraim, & Lachish, and Azekah,
10 And Zorah, and Aialon and Hebron, which were in Iudah and Beniamin, strong cities.
11 And he [a] repaired the strong holdes and put captaines in them, and store of victuale, and oyle and wine.
12 And in all cities he put shieldes and speares, & made them exceeding strong: so Iudah and Beniamin were his.
13 ¶ And the Priests and the Leuites that were in all Israel, [b] resorted vnto him out of all their coastes.
14 For the Leuites left their suburbs and their possession, & came to Iudah and to Ierusalem: [a] for Ieroboam and his sonnes had cast them out from ministring in the Priests office vnto the Lord.
15 * And he ordeined him priests for the hie places, and for the [d] deuils and for the calues which he had made.
16 And after the Leuites there came to Ierusalem of all the tribes of Israel, such as set their [e] hearts to seeke the Lorde God of Israel, to offer vnto the Lord God of their fathers.
17 So they strengthened the kingdome of Iudah, and made Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon mightie, three yere long: for three yere they [f] walked in the way of Dauid and Salomon.
18 ¶ And Rehoboam tooke him Mahalath the daughter of Ierimoth the sonne of Dauid to wife, & Abihail the daughter of Eliab the sonne of Ishai, 19 Which bare him sonnes, Ieush, and Shemariah, and Zaham.
20 And after her he tooke Maakah the daughter of Absalom which bare him Abiiah, and Attai, and Ziza, and Shelomith.
21 And Rehoboam loued Maakah the daughter of Absalom aboue all his wiues and his concubines: for he tooke eightene wiues, and three score concubines, & begate eight & twenty sonnes, and three score daughters.
22 And Rehoboam made [g] Abiiah the sonne of Maakah the chiefe ruler among his brethren: for he thought to make him king.
23 And he taught him: and dispersed all his sonnes throughout all the countreis of Iudah and Beniamin vnto euery strong citie: and he gaue them abundance of victuale, & [h] desired many wiues.

1 AND when [a] Rehoboam had established the kingdome and made it strong, he forsooke the Lawe of the Lord, and [a] all Israel with him.
2 Therefore in the fift yere of King Rehoboam, Shishak the King of Egypt came vp against Ierusalē (because they had transgressed against the Lord)
3 With twelue hundreth charets, and three score thousand horsemen, and the people were without number, that came with him fro Egypt, euen the Lubims, [b] Sukkims, & the [c] Ethiopians.

5 ¶ Then came Shemaiah the Prophet to Rehoboam, & to the princes of Iudah, that were gathered together in Ierusalem, because of Shishak, and sayde vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lorde, Ye haue forsaken me, [c] therefore haue I also left you in the hands of Shishak.
6 Then the princes of Israel, and the King humbled them selues, and sayde, The Lorde is [d] iust.
7 And when the Lorde sawe that they humbled them selues, the worde of the Lorde came to Shemaiah, saying, They haue humbled them selues, therefore I wil not destroy them, but I will send them deliuerance shortly, and my wrath shall not " be powred out vpon Ierusalem by the hand of Shishak.
8 Neuertheles they shalbe his seruants: so shal they know my [e] seruice, and the seruice of the kingdomes of the earth.
9 ¶ Then Shishak King of Egypt came vp against Ierusalem, & tooke the treasures of the house of the Lorde, and the treasures of the Kings house: he tooke euen all, and he caried away the shieldes of gold, * which Salomon had made.
10 In stead whereof King Rehoboam made shields of brasse, and committed them to the handes of the chiefe of the garde, that waited at the doore of the Kings house.

i He ſheweth the nature of idolaters which take no triall of the vocation, life & doctrine of their miniſters, but thinke the moſt vileſt and greateſt beaſts ſufficient to ſerue their turne.

10 But we belōg vnto the Lord our God, & haue not forſaken him, & the Prieſtes the ſonnes of Aaron miniſter vnto the Lord, and the Leuites in their office.

11 And they burne vnto the Lorde euery [k] morning and euery euening burnt offrings and ſweete meniſe, and the breade is ſet in order vpon the pure table, and the candleſticke of gold with the lamps thereof, to burne euerie euening: for we keepe the watche of the Lord our God: but ye haue forſaken him.

k As it was appointed in the Lawe, Exod. 29 39.

12 And beholde, this God [l] is with vs, as a captaine, and his Prieſtes with the ſounding trumpets, to crye an alarme againſt you. O ye children of Iſrael, fight not againſt the Lorde God of your fathers: for ye ſhall not proſper.

l Becauſe their cauſe was good & approued by the Lord, they doubted not of the ſucceſſe and victorie.

13 ¶ But Ieroboam cauſed an ambuſhment "to compaſſe, and come behinde them, when they were before Iudah, & the ambuſhment behinde them.

m Contemning the good counſell which came of the ſpirit of God, he thought to haue ouercome by deceit.

14 Then Iudah looked, and beholde, the battell was before and behinde them, and they cried vnto the Lord, and the Prieſts blewe with the trumpets, 15 And the men of Iudah gaue a ſhoute: and euen as the men of Iudah ſhouted, God "ſmote Ieroboam and alſo Iſrael before Abiiah and Iudah.

"Or, gaue him the ouer throwe.

16 And the children of Iſrael fled before Iudah, and God deliuered them into their hand.

17 And Abiiah and his people ſlewe a great ſlaughter of them, ſo that there fell downe wounded of Iſrael fiue hundreth thouſand choſen men.

18 So the children of Iſrael were brought vnder at that time: and the children of Iudah preuailed, "becauſe they ſtaied vpon the Lord God of their fathers.

20 And Ieroboam recouered no ſtrength againe in the dayes of Abiiah, but the Lord plagued him, and he died.

3 Aſa deſtroyeth idolatrie, & commandeth his people to ſerue the true God. 11 He praiſeth vnto God who he ſhould go to fight. 12 He obteineth the victorie.

2 And Aſa did that was good and right in the eyes of the Lord his God.

3 For he toke away þ altars of þ ſtrange gods & the hie places, and brake downe the images, and cut down the [a] groues, a Which were planted contrary to the Lawe, Deut. 16.21.

4 And cōmanded Iudah to ſeeke þ Lord God of their fathers, & to doe according to the Lawe and the commandement.

5 And

5 And he toke awap out of all þ cities of Iudah þ hie places, & the images: therfore þ kingdom was [b] quiet before him.
6 He builte also strong cities in Iudah, because the land was in rest, and he had no warre in those yeres: for the Lorde had giuen him rest.
7 Therefore he said to Iudah, Let vs build these cities and make walles about, and towres, gates, & barres, whiles the land is [c] before vs: because we haue sought the Lord our God, we haue sought him, and he hath giuen vs rest on euery side: so they built and prospered.
8 And Asa had an armie of Iudah that bare shields and speares, three hundreth thousande, and of Beniamin that bare shields and drew bowes, two hundreth and fourescore thousand: all these were valiant men.
9 ¶ And there came out against them Zerah [d] of Ethiopia with an hoste of ten hundreth thousand, and three hundreth charets, and came vnto [e] Marehah.
10 Then Asa went out before him, and they set the battell in araye in the valley of Zephathah beside Marehah.
11 And Asa cryed vnto the Lord his God, and said, Lord, [*] it is nothing with thee to help with many, or with no power: helpe vs, O Lord our God: for we rest on thee, and in thy name are we come against this multitude: O Lorde, thou art our God, [f] let not man preuaile against thee.
12 ¶ So the Lord smote the Ethiopians before Asa and before Iudah, and the Ethiopians fled.
13 And Asa & the people that was with him, pursued them vnto Gerar. And the Ethiopians hoste was ouerthrowen, so that there was no life in them: for they were destroyed before the Lord and before his hoste: and they carped away a mightie great spoyle.
14 And they smote all the cities rounde about Gerar: for the [g] feare of the Lord came vpon them, and they spoyled all the cities, for there was exceeding much spoyle in them.
15 Yea, and they smote the tents of cattel, and carped away plentie of sheepe and camels, and returned to Ierusalem.

1 The exhortation of Azariah. 8 Asa purgeth his country of idolatrie. 11 He sacrificeth with the people. 14 They sweare together to serue the Lord. 16 He deposeth his mother for her idolatrie.

1 THen the spirite of God came vpon [a] Azariah the sonne of Obed.
2 And he went out to meet Asa, and saide vnto him, O Asa, & all Iudah, and Beniamin, heare ye me. The Lorde is with you, while ye be with him: and if ye seeke him, he wil be found of you, but if ye forsake him, he wil forsake you.
3 Now for a long season Israel hath bene without the [b] true God, and without Priest to teach, and without Lawe, a Who was called Obed, as his father was, vers. 8.

b For the space of twelue yeres vnder Rehoboam, and three yeeres vnder Abiiah, religion was neglected and idolatrie planted.

4 But whosoeuer returned in his affliction to the Lorde God of Israel, and sought him, he [c] was found of them.
5 And in that time there was no peace to him, that did goe out and goe in: but great troubles were to all the inhabitants of the earth.
6 For nation was destroyed of nation, & citie of citie: for God troubled the with all aduersitie.
7 Be ye strong therefore, and let not your hands be weake: for your [d] worke shall haue a reward.
8 ¶ And when Asa heard these wordes, & the prophecie of Obed the Prophet, he was encouraged, & tooke awap the abominations out of all the lande of Iudah, and Beniamin, and out of the cities which he had taken of mount Ephraim, and he renued the altar of the Lorde, that was before the porche of the Lord.
9 And he gathered all Iudah and Beniamin, and the strangers with them out of Ephraim, and Manasseh, and out of Simeon: for there fel many to him out of Israel, when they saw that the Lorde his God was with him.
10 So they assembled to Ierusalem in the [e] thirde moneth, in the fifteenth yeere of the reigne of Asa.
11 And they offred vnto the Lord the same time of [f] spoyle, which they had brought, euen seuen hundreth bullocks, and seuen thousand sheepe.
12 And they made a couenant to seeke the Lord God of their fathers, with al their heart, and with all their soule.
13 And [g] whosoeuer will not seeke the Lord God of Israel, shalbe slaine, whether he were small or great, man or woman.
14 And they sware vnto the Lord with a loud voyce, and with shouting and with trumpets, and with cornets.
15 And al Iudah reioyced at the othe: for they had sworne vnto the Lord with all their heart, and sought him with a whole desire, and he was [h] founde of them. And the Lord gaue them rest round about.
16 ¶ And King Asa deposed [*] Maachah his [i] mother from her regencie, because shee had made an idole in a grone: and Asa brake downe her idole, and stamped it, and burnt it at the brooke Kidron.
17 But the hie places were not [k] taken awap out of Israel: yet the heart of Asa was [l] perfit all his dayes.

c He sheweth, that notwithstanding the wickednes of tyrats and their rage, yet God hath his, whome he heareth in their tribulation, as he deliuered his seruant Zerah king of the Ethiopians, Chap. 14. 9, 12. and out of all other dangers, when they called vpon the Lord.

g These were the wordes of their couenant, which commanded all idolaters to bee put to death according to the law of God, Deut. 13. 5, 9, 15.
h So long as they serued him aright, so long did he preserue and prosper them.
i Or grandmother: and herein he shewed that he lacked zeale: for shee ought to haue died both by the couenant, and by the Lawe of God, as vers. 13: but he gaue place to foolish pitie, and would also seeme after a sorte to satisfie the Lawe.
k Which partly came through lacke of zeale in him, partly through the negligence of his officers, and partly by the superstition of the people, that al were not taken away.
l Because that God was called the God of Israel by reason of his promes to Iaakob: therfore Israel is sometime taken for Iudah, because Iudah was his chiefe people. m In respect of his predecessours.

18 Also he brought into the house of God the things that his father had dedicate, and that he had dedicate, siluer, & gold, and vessels.

19 And there was no warre vnto the fiue and thirtieth yere of the reigne of Asa.

CHAP. XVI.

2 Asa for feare of Baasha King of Israel, maketh a couenant with Benhadad King of Aram. 7 He is reproued by the Prophet, 10 VV hom he putteth in prison. 12 He putteth his trust in the Physicians. 13 His death.

1 IN the fiue and thirtieth yere of the reigne of Asa came [a] Baasha King of Israel vp against Iudah, & built [b] Ramah to let none passe out or go in to Asa king of Iudah.

2 Then Asa brought out siluer and golde out of the treasures of the house of the Lord, and of the kings house, and sent to Benhadad king of Aram that dwelt at [1] Damascus, saying,

3 There is a couenant betweene me and thee, and betweene my father and thy father: beholde, I haue sent thee siluer and gold: come, [c] breake thy league with Baasha king of Israel that he may depart from me.

4 And Benhadad hearkened vnto King Asa, and sent the captaines of the armies which he had, against the cities of Israel. And they smote Ijon, and Dan, and Abel-maim, and all the store cities of Naphtali.

5 And when Baasha heard it, he left building of Ramah, & let his worke cease.

6 Then Asa the King tooke al Iudah, and caried away the stones of Ramah & the timber thereof, wherewith Baasha did builde, and he built therewith Geba and Mizpah.

7 ¶ And at that same time Hanani the [1] Seer came to Asa King of Iudah, and said vnto him, Because thou hast rested vpon the king of Aram, and not rested in the Lorde thy God, therefore is the hoste of the king of Aram escaped out of thine hand.

8 [*] The Ethiopians & the Lubims, were they not a great hoste with charets & horsemen, exceeding many? yet because thou diddest rest vpon the Lord, he deliuered them into thine hand.

9 [*] For the eyes of the Lord behold al the earth to shewe him selfe strong with them that are of perfite heart towarde him: thou hast then done foolishly in this: therefore from henceforth thou shalt haue warres.'

10 Then Asa was wroth with the Seer, and put him into a [m] prison: for he was [d] displeased with him, because of this thing. And Asa oppressed certaine of the people at the same time.

11 And beholde, the actes of Asa first and last, lor, they are written in the booke of the Kings of Iudah and Israel.

12 ¶ And Asa in the nyne and thirtieth yere of his reigne was [n] diseased in his feete, and his disease was [o] extreme: yet he sought not the Lorde in his disease, but to the [f] Physicians.

13 So Asa slept with his fathers, and died in the one and fourtieth yere of his reigne.

14 And they buried him in one of his sepulchres, which he had made for him selfe in the citie of Dauid, and layd him in the bed which they had filled with swéete odours and diuers kindes of spices, made by the arte of the apotecarie: and they burnt odours for him with an exceeding great fire.

CHAP. XVII.

5 Iehoshaphat trusting in the Lord, prospereth in riches and honour. 6 He abolisheth idolatrie, 7 And causeth the people to be taught. 11 He receiueth tribute of strangers. 13 His munitions, and men of warre.

1 AND Iehoshaphat his sonne reigned in his steade, and preuailed against Israel.

2 And he put garisons in all the strong cities of Iudah, and set bandes in the land of Iudah and in the cities of Ephraim, which Asa his father had taken.

3 And the Lord was with Iehoshaphat, because he walked in the [a] first wayes of his father Dauid, and sought not [b] Baalim,

4 But sought the Lorde God of his father, and walked in his commandements, and not after the [*] trade of Israel.

5 Therefore the Lord stablished the kingdome in his hand, & all Iudah brought [c] presents to Iehoshaphat, so that he had of riches and honour in abundance.

6 And he [d] lift vp his heart vnto the waies of the Lorde, and he tooke away moreouer the hie places and the groues out of Iudah.

7 ¶ And in the third yere of his reigne he sent his princes, Ben-hail, and Obadiah, and Zechariah, and Nethaneel, and Michaiah, that they should [e] teache in the cities of Iudah.

8 And with them Leuites, Shemaiah, and Nethaniah, and Zebadiah, & Asahel, and Shemiramoth, & Jehonathan, and Adoniah, and Tobiah, and Tob-adoniah, Leuites, & with them Elishama and Jehoram Priests.

9 And they taught in Iudah, & had the booke of the Law of the Lord with them, and went about throughout all the cities of Iudah, and taught the people.

10 And the feare of the Lord fell vpon all the kingdomes of the landes that were round about Iudah, and they [*] fought not against Iehoshaphat.

11 Also some of the Philistims brought Iehoshaphat giftes and tribute siluer, and and the Arabians brought him flockes, seuen thousande and seuen hundreth rams, and seuen thousand and seuen hundreth he goates.

12 So Iehoshaphat prospered & grewe vp on hie: and he built in Iudah palaces and cities of store.

13 And he had great workes in the cities of Iudah, and men of warre, and valiant men in Ierusalem.

14 And these are the nombers of them after the house of their fathers, In Iudah were captaines of thousands, Adnah the captaine, and " with him of valiant men thre hundreth thousand,

1 AND [a] Iehoshaphat had riches and honour in abundance, but he was ioyned in [a] affinitie with Ahab.

a For Ioram Iehoshaphats sonne maried Ahabs daughter.

2 And after certaine [b] yéres he went downe to Ahab to Samaria: and Ahab slewe shéepe & oxen for him in great nomber, and for the people that he had with him, and entised him to go vp vnto [c] Ramoth Gilead.

b That is, the third yere, 1. King. 22. 2.

c To recouer it out of the hands of the Syrians.

3 And Ahab king of Israel sayde vnto Iehoshaphat King of Iudah, Wilt thou goe with me to Ramoth Gilead? And he answered him, I am as thou art, and my people as thy people, & we will ioyne with thée in the warre.

d Heare the aduice of some Prophet, to know whether it be Gods will.

4 And Iehoshaphat saide vnto the king of Israel, Aske counsell, I pray thée, at the [d] word of the Lord this day.

e Which were the prophets of Baal, signifying that the wicked esteeme not but flatterers and such as wil beare with their inordinate affections.

5 Therefore the King of Israel gathered of [e] prophets foure hundreth men, and sayd vnto them, Shall we goe to Ramoth Gilead to battel, or shall I cease? And they said, Goe vp: for God shall deliuer it into the Kings hand.

f Yet the true ministers of God ought not to cease to do their duetie, though wicked magistrates can not abide them to speake truth.

6 But Iehoshaphat sayde, Is there here neuer a Prophet more of the Lord that we might inquire of him?

7 And the king of Israel saide vnto Iehoshaphat, There is yet one man, by whome we may aske counsell of the Lord, but I [f] hate him: for he doeth not prophecie good vnto me, but alwaie euil: it is Michaiah the sonne of Imla. The Iehoshaphat sayde, Let not the King say so.

g Meaning, that he ought not to refuse to heare any that was of God.

8 And the king of Israel called an eunuche, and saide, Call quickly Michaiah the sonne of Imla.

9 ¶ And the King of Israel, and Iehoshaphat King of Iudah sate eyther of them on his throne clothed in their [h] apparell: they sate euen in the threshing floore at the entring in of the gate of Samaria: and al the prophets prophesied before them.

h That is, in their maiestie & royall apparel.

10 And Zidkiah [g] sonne of Chenaanah made him [i] hornes of yron, and sayde, Thus saith the Lord, With these shalt thou push the Aramites vntil thou hast consumed them.

i Reade 1. King 22. 11.

11 And all the prophets prophecied so, saying, Goe vp to Ramoth Gilead, and prosper: for the Lord shall deliuer it into the hand of the King.

12 ¶ And the messenger that went to call Michaiah, spake to him, saying, Beholde, the wordes of the prophets declare good to the king with one [k] accord: let thy worde therefore, I pray thee, be like one of theirs, and speake thou good.

k Thinking, that where as foure hundreth prophets had agreed in one thing, that he being but one man, and in least estimation durst not gainesay it.

13 And Michaiah sayd, As the Lorde liueth, whatsoeuer my God saith, that will I speake.

14 ¶ So he came to the king, and the king said vnto him, Michaiah, shall we goe to Ramoth Gilead to battell, or shall I leaue off? And he said, [l] Goe ye vp, and prosper, and they shalbe deliuered into your hand.

l He spake this by derision of the false prophets, as the King wel perceiued.

15 And [h] King said to him, How oft shal I charge thee, that thou tel me nothing but the trueth in the Name of the Lorde?

16 Then he sayd, I sawe all Israel scattred in the mountaines, as sheepe that haue no sheepheard: and the Lorde sayde, [m] These haue no master: let them returne euerie man to his house in peace.

m He prophecieth how the people should be dispersed & Ahab slaine.

17 And the king of Israel sayde to Iehoshaphat, Did I not tell thee, that he would not prophecie good vnto me, but euil?

18 Againe he sayd, Therefore here ye the worde of the Lorde: I saw the Lorde sit vpon his throne, and all the [n] hoste of heauen standing at his right hand, and at his left.

n Meaning, his Angels.

19 And the Lorde saide, Who shall [o] perswade Ahab king of Israel, that hee may go vp and fal at Ramoth Gilead? And one spake and said thus, and another sayd that.

o Or, deceiue.

20 Then there came forth a spirite and stode before the Lorde, and sayd, I will perswade him. And the Lord sayde vnto him, Wherein?

21 And he said, I will go out, & be a false spirite in the mouth of all his prophets. And [p] he said, Thou shalt perswade, and shalt also preuaile: go forth and doe so.

p That is, the Lord.

22 Now

22 Now therefore beholde, the Lord hath put a p false spirite in the mouth of these thy prophetes, and the Lord hath determined euill against thee.

23 Then Zidkiah the sonne of Chenaanah came nere, and smote Michaiah vpon the cheeke, and saide, By what way went the Spirite of the Lord from me, to speake with thee?

24 And Michaiah saide, Beholde, thou shalt see that day when thou shalt goe from chamber to chamber to hide thee.

25 And the king of Israel saide, Take ye Michaiah, and carie him to Amon the gouernour of the citie, and to Ioash the kings sonne, 26 And say, Thus sayth the king, Put this man in the prison house, and feede him with breade of [r] affliction and with water of affliction vntill I returne in peace.

27 And Michaiah saide, If thou returne in peace, the Lord hath not spoken by me. And [s] he said, Heare, all ye people.

28 So the king of Israel and Iehoshaphat the king of Iudah went vp to Ramoth Gilead.

29 And the king of Israel said vnto Iehoshaphat, I will [t] change my selfe, and enter into the battell: but put thou on thine apparell. So the king of Israel changed him selfe, and they went into the battell.

30 And the king of Aram had commanded the captaines of the charets that were with him, saying, Fight you not with small nor great, but against the king of Israel onely.

31 And when the captaines of the charets saw Iehoshaphat, they saide, It is the king of Israel: and they compassed about him to fight. But Iehoshaphat [r] cried, and the Lorde helped him and moued them to depart from him.

32 For when the captaines of the charets saw that he was not the king of Israel, they turned backe from him.

33 Then a certaine man drewe a bowe [u] mightily, and smote the king of Israel betweene the ioynts of [x] his brigandine: therefore he said to his charetman, Turne thine hand, and carie me out of the host: for I am hurt.

34 And the battel increased that day: & the king of Israel [a] stood still in his charet against the Aramites vntill euen, & died at the time of the sunne going downe.

CHAP. XIX.

4 After Iehoshaphat was rebuked by the Prophet, he called againe the people to the honouring of the Lorde. 5 He appointeth iudges and ministers, 9 And exhorteth them to feare God.

1 And Iehoshaphat the king of Iudah returned [*] safe to his house in Ierusalem.

2 And Iehu the sonne of Hanani the Seer went out to meet him, and said to king Iehoshaphat, [a] Wouldest thou helpe the wicked, and loue them that hate the Lorde? therefore for this thing the wrath [*] of the Lord is vpon thee.

3 Neuertheles good things are found in thee, because thou hast taken away the groues out of the lande, and hast prepared thine heart to seeke God.

4 ¶ So Iehoshaphat dwelt at Ierusalem, and returned and went [b] through the people from Beer-sheba to mount Ephraim, & brought them againe vnto the Lord God of their fathers.

5 And he set iudges in the land throughout all the strong cities of Iudah, citie by citie,

6 And said to the iudges, Take heed what ye do: for ye execute not the iudgement of man, but of the Lorde, and he will be [c] with you in the cause and iudgement.

7 Wherefore now let the feare of the Lord be vpon you: take heede, and doe it: for there is no [d] iniquitie with the Lord our God, neither [*] respect of persons, nor receiuing of reward.

8 Moreouer in Ierusalem did Iehoshaphat set of the Leuites, & of the Priestes & of the chiefe of the families of Israel, for the iudgement & cause of the Lorde: and they [e] returned to Ierusalem.

9 And he charged them, saying, Thus shall ye do in the feare of the Lord faithfully and with a perfite heart.

10 And in euery cause that shall come to you of your brethren that dwell in their cities, betwene [f] blood & blood, betwene lawe and precepte, statutes and iudgements, ye shal iudge them, and admonish them that they trespasse not against the Lorde, that [g] wrath come not vpon you and vpon your brethren. Thus shall ye do and trespasse not.

11 And behold, Amariah the Priest shall be the chiefe ouer you in all matters of the Lorde, & Zebadiah the sonne of Ismael, a ruler of the house of Iudah, shall be for all the [h] Kings affaires, & the Leuites shalbe officers [i] before you. CHAP. XX.

3 Iehoshaphat and the people pray vnto the Lorde. 22 The marueilous victorie that the Lorde gaue him against his enemies. 30 His reigne and actes.

1 After this also came the children of Moab and the children of Ammon, and with them of the [a] Aynonites against Iehoshaphat to battel.

2 Then there came [*] told Iehoshaphat, saying, There commeth a great multitude against thee from beyond [b] Sea, out of Aram: and beholde, they be in Hazzon Tamar, which is En-gedi.

a That is, which counterfaited the Ammonites in language & apparell. The Hebrewes thinke they were the Amalekites, but as may appeare by the tenth verse, they were the Idumeans of mount Seir.

b Called the dead sea, where God destroyed the fiue cities for sinne.

a Or, Michaiah.

p To them that will not beleeue the trueth, God sendeth strong delusion, that they should beleeue lies, 2. Thes. 2. 10.

q By this cruelty his ambition and hypocrisie was discouered: thus the hypocrites boast of the Spirit which they haue not, & declare their malice against them, in whome the true Spirit is.

r Keepe him streightly in prison, and let him feele hunger & thirst.

s Thus the wicked thinke by their owne subtiltie to escape Gods iudgements which he threateneth by his worde.

t He cried to the Lord by acknowledging his fault in going with this wicked king to warre against the word of the Lord by his Prophet, and also by desiring mercie for the same.

Ebr. in his simplicity, or ignorantly.

Or, betweene the habergins.

u He dissembled his hurt, that his souldiers might fight more courageously.

Ebr. in peace.

3 And Iehoshaphat feared, and set himselfe c to seeke the Lorde, and proclaimed a fast throughout all Iudah.

c This declareth what the feare of the godly is, which is as a pricke to stirre them to prayer, & to depend on the Lord, where as it moueth the wicked either to seeke after worldly meanes and policies, or els to fall into despaire.

4 And Iudah gathered themselues together to aske counsell of the Lord: they came euen out of all the cities of Iudah to inquire of the Lord.

5 And Iehoshaphat stood in the Congregation of Iudah and Ierusalem in the house of the Lord before the newe court,

6 And saide, O Lord God of our fathers, art not thou God in heauen? and reignest not thou on all the kingdomes of the heathen? and in thine hand is power and might, & none is able to withstand thee.

d He groundeth his prayer vpon Gods power, whereby he is able to help, and also on his mercy, which he wil continue toward his, forasmuch as he hath once chosen them and begun to shewe his graces toward them. 1. King. 8. 37. chap. 6. 28.

7 Diddest not thou our God cast out the inhabitants of this lãd before thy people Israel, and d gauest it to the seede of Abraham thy friend for euer?

8 And they dwelt therein, and haue built thee a Sactuarie therin for thy Name, saying,

9 *If euil come vpon vs, as the e swoorde of iudgement, or pestilence, or famine, we will stande before this house and in thy presence, (for thy Name f is in this house) and wil crie vnto thee in our tribulation, & thou wilt heare and helpe.

e Meaning, warre which cõmeth by Gods iust iudgements for our sinnes.

f That is, it is here called vpõ, and thou declarest thy presence and fauour. Deut. 2. 9. nehem. 13. 1.

10 And now behold, the children of f Ammon and Moab, and mount Seir, by whom thou wouldest not let Israel go, when they came out of the lande of Egypt: but they turned aside from them, and destroyed them not:

11 Behold, I say, they reward vs, in comming to cast vs out of thine inheritãce, which thou hast caused vs to inherite.

g We onely put our trust in thee and wait for our deliuerãce from heauen.

12 O our God, wilt thou not iudge them? for there is no strength in vs to stand before this great multitude that cõmeth against vs, neither doe we knowe what to do: but our eyes g are toward thee.

13 And all Iudah stoode h before the Lord with their yong ones, their wiues, and their children.

h That is, before the Arke of the couenant.

14 And Iahaziel the sonne of Zechariah the sonne of Benaiah, the sonne of Iehiel, the sonne of Mattaniah, a Leuite of the sonnes of Asaph was there, vpon whom came i the Spirit of the Lorde, in the middes of the Congregation.

i Which was moued by the Spirit of God to prophecie.

15 And he saide, Hearken ye, all Iudah, and ye inhabitants of Ierusalem, and thou, King Iehoshaphat: thus saith the Lorde vnto you, Feare you not, neither be afraide for this great multitude: for the k battell is not yours, but Gods.

k They fight against God and not against you: therefore he will fight for you. Exod. 14. 13, 14.

16 To morow go ye downe against them: behold, they come vp by the cleft of Tzis, and ye shall finde them at the end of the brooke before the wildernes of Ieruel.

*Or, deliuerance.

17 Ye shal not need to fight in this battel: *stand still, moue not, & behold the *saluation of the Lord towarde you: O Iudah, and Ierusalem, feare ye not, neyther be afraid: to morow go out against them, and the Lord wilbe with you.

l Declaring his faith and obedience to the word of the Lord, and giuing thankes for the deliuerance promised.

18 ¶ Then Iehoshaphat l bowed downe with his face to the earth, and all Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem fel downe before the Lord, worshipping the Lord.

19 And the Leuites of the children of the Kohathites and of the children of the Corhites stoode vp to praise the Lorde God of Israel with a loud voice on hie.

20 And when they arose early in the morning, they went forth to the wildernes of Tekoa: & as they departed, Iehoshaphat stoode and saide, Heare ye me, O Iudah, and ye inhabitants of Ierusalem: put your trust in the Lorde your God, and ye shalbe assured: beleeue his m Prophets, and ye shall prosper.

m Give credite to their wordes and doctrine.

21 And when he had consulted with the people, and appointed singers vnto the Lorde, and them that should praise him that is in the beautifull Sanctuarie, in going forth before the men of armes, and saying, n Praise ye the Lord, for his mercy lasteth for euer.

n This was a Psalm of thanksgiuing, which they vsed commonly to sing when they praised the Lord for his benefits, and was made by Dauid, Psal. 136.

22 And when they began to shoute, and to praise, the Lord layed ambushments against the children of Ammon, Moab, and o mount Seir, which were come against Iudah, and they slewe one another.

o Meaning, the Idumeãs, which dwelt in mount Seir.

23 For the children of Ammon and Moab rose against p inhabitants of mount Seir, to slay and to destroy them: and when they had made an ende of the inhabitants of Seir, euery one helped to p destroy another.

p Thus § Lorde according to Iehoshaphats praier declared his power, when hee deliuered his by causing their enemies to kill one another.

24 And when Iudah came toward Mizpah in the wildernes, they looked vnto the multitude: and behold, the carkeises were fallen to the earth, and none escaped.

25 And when Iehoshaphat and his people came to take away the spoile of the, they found among them in abundance both of substance and also of bodies laden with precious iewels, which they tooke for themselues, til they could carp no more: they were three daies in gathering of the spoile: for it was much.

q To giue thanks to the Lorde for the victorie: and therefore the valley was called Berachah, that is, blessing, or thankesgiuing, which was also called the valley of Iehoshaphat, Ioel. 3. 2, 12. because § Lorde iudged the enemies according to Iehoshaphats prayer.

26 And in the fourth day they assembled themselues in the valley of Berachah: for there they blessed the Lorde: therefore they called the name of that place, The valley of Berachah vnto this day.

27 Then euery man of Iudah and Ierusalem returned with Iehoshaphat their head, to goe againe to Ierusalem with ioye: for the Lord had made them to reioyce ouer their enemies.

28 And they came to Ierusalem with viols, and with harpes, and with trumpets, euen vnto the house of the Lorde.

29 And the r feare of God was vpon all the kingdomes of the earth, when they had heard that the Lorde had fought against the enemies of Israel.

r He declareth hereby, that the workes of God bring euer comfort or deliuerance to his, and feare or destruction to his enemies.

30 ¶ So the kingdome of Iehoshaphat was quiet, and his God gaue him rest on euery side.

31 ¶ And * Iehoshaphat reigned ouer Iudah, and was fiue and thirtie yeere olde, 1. King. 22. 42.

olde, when he began to reigne: and reigned fiue and twentie yeere in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Azubah the daughter of Shilhi.

32 And he walked in the [f] way of Asa his father, and departed not therefrom, doing that which was right in the sight of the Lord.

33 Howbeit the hie places were [t] not taken awap: for the people had not yet prepared their heartes vnto the God of their fathers.

34 Concerning the rest of the actes of Iehoshaphat first and last, behold, they are written in the booke of Iehu the sonne of Hanani, which [u] is mentioned in the booke of the kings of Israel.

35 ¶ Yet after this did Iehoshaphat king of Iudah ioyne him selfe with Ahaziah king of Israel, who was guiltie to doe euill.

36 And he ioyned with him, to [x] make shippes to goe to Tarshish: and they made the shippes in Ezion Gaber.

37 Then Eliezer the sonne of Dodauah of Mareshah prophecied against Iehoshaphat, saying, Because thou hast [u] ioyned thy selfe with Ahaziah, the Lord hath broken thy workes. and the shippes were broken, that they were not able to goe to Tarshish.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Iehoshaphat dieth. 3 Iehoram succeedeth him, 4 Which killeth his brethren. 6 He was brought to idolatrie, 11 and seduceth the people. 16 He is oppressed of the Philistims. 18 His miserable ende.

1 IEhoshaphat then slept with his fathers, [a] was buried with his fathers in the citie of Dauid: and Iehoram his sonne reigned in his steade.

2 And he had brethren the sonnes of Iehoshaphat, Azariah, and Iehiel, and Zechariah, and Azariah, and Michael, and Shephatiah. All these were the sonnes of Iehoshaphat king of [a] Israel.

3 And their father gaue them great gifts of siluer and of golde, and of precious things, with strong cities in Iudah, but the kingdome gaue he to Iehoram: for he was the eldest.

4 [x] And Iehoram rose vp vpon the kingdome of his father, and made himselfe strong, and [b] slewe all his brethren with the sword, and also of the princes of [c] Israel.

5 Iehoram was two and thirtie yere old, when he began to reigne, and he reigned eight yere in Ierusalem.

6 And he walked in the way of the kings of Israel, as the house of Ahab had done: for he had the daughter of Ahab to [d] wife, and he wrought euill in the eyes of the Lord.

7 Howbeit the Lorde would not destroy the house of Dauid, because of the [x] couenant that he had made with Dauid, and because he had promised to giue a light to him, and to his sonnes for euer.

8 ¶ In his dayes Edom rebelled from vnder the hande of Iudah, and made a king ouer them.

9 And Iehoram went forth with his princes, and all his charets with him: and hee rose vp by night, and smote Edom, which had compassed him in, and the captaines of the charets.

10 But Edom rebelled from vnder the hand of Iudah vnto this day. then did [c] Libnah rebell at the same time from vnder his hand, because he had forsaken the Lord God of his fathers.

11 ¶ Moreouer he made hie places in the mountaines of Iudah, and caused the inhabitantes of Ierusalem to commit [f] fornication, and compelled Iudah thereto.

12 And there came a writing to him from [s] Eliiah the Prophet, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of Dauid thy father, Because thou hast not walked in the wayes of Iehoshaphat thy father, nor in the wayes of Asa king of Iudah,

13 But hast walked in the way of the kings of Israel, and hast made Iudah and the inhabitantes of Ierusalem to goe a whoring, as the house of Ahab went a whoring, and hast also slaine thy brethren of thy fathers house, which were better then thou,

14 Beholde, with a great plagne will the Lord smite thy people, and thy children, and thy wiues, and all thy substance,

15 And thou shalt be in great diseases in the disease of thy bowels, vntill [h] thy bowels fall out for the disease, day by day.

16 ¶ So the Lorde stirred vp against Iehoram the spirit of the Philistims, & the Arabians that were beside the [i] Ethiopians.

17 And they came vp into Iudah, & brake into it, & caried away all the substance that was found in the kings house, and his sonnes also, and his wiues, so that there was not a sonne left him, saue [k] Iehoahaz, the yongest of his sonnes.

18 And after all this, the Lord smote him in his bowels with an incurable disease.

19 And in processe of time, euen after the ende of two yeeres, his guttes fell out with his disease: so he died of sore diseases: and his people made no burning for him like the burning of his fathers.

20 When he began to reigne, he was two and thirtie yere olde, and reigned in Ierusalem eight yeere, [l] and liued without being desired: yet they buried him in the citie of Dauid, but not among the sepulchres of the kings.

slaine all the eldest: therefore Ahaziah the sonne of Iehoram king of Iudah reigned.

2 Two and [b] fourtie yeere olde was Ahaziah when hee began to reigne, and hee reigned [c] one yeere in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Athaliah the daughter [d] of Omri.

3 He walked also in [f] the wayes of the house of Ahab: for his mother counseled him to do wickedly.

4 Wherefore he did euil in the sight of the Lorde, like the house of Ahab: for they were his [e] counsellers after the death of his father, to his destruction.

5 And he walked after their counsell, and went with Iehoram the sonne of Ahab king of Israel to fight against Hazael king of Aram at Ramoth Gilead: and the Aramites smote Joram.

6 ¶ And hee returned to be healed in Jezreel, because of the wounds wherewith they had wounded him at Ramah, whē hee fought with Hazael king of Aram. Nowe Azariah the sonne of Iehoram king of Iudah went downe to see Iehoram the sonne of Ahab at Jzreel, because he was diseased.

7 And the destruction of Ahaziah [f] came of God in that hee went to Joram: for when he was come, he went forth with Iehoram against Jehu the sonne of Nimshi, * whome the Lord had anointed to destroy the house of Ahab.

8 Therefore when Jehu [g] executed iudgement vpon the house of Ahab, & found the princes of Iudah and the sonnes of the brethren of Ahaziah that waited on Ahaziah, he slewe them also.

9 And he sought Ahaziah, & they caught him where he was hidde in Samaria, and brought him to Jehu, and slewe him, and buried him. Because, said they, he is the sonne of [s] Iehoshaphat, which sought the Lord with all his heart. So the house of Ahaziah was not able to retaine the kingdome.

10 ¶ * Therefore when Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah saw that her sone was dead, she arose and [h] destroyed all the kings seede of the house of Iudah.

11 But Iehoshabeath the daughter of the king, tooke Joash the sonne of Ahaziah, and stale him from among the kinges sonnes, that should be slaine, and put him and his nurce in the bed chamber: so Iehoshabeath the daughter of king Iehoram the wife of Iehoiada the Priest (for she was the sister of Ahaziah) hid him from Athaliah: so she slewe him not.

12 And he was with them hidde in the [i] house of God sixe yeres, whiles Athaliah reigned ouer the [k] land.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Ioash the sonne of Ahaziah is made King. 15 Athaliah is put to death. 17 The Temple of Baal is destroyed. 19 Iehoiada appointeth ministers in the Temple.

AND [a] in the seuenth yeere Iehoiada waxed bolde, and tooke the captaines of hundreths, to wit, Azariah the sonne of Jeroham, and Jshmael the sonne of Jehohanan, and Azariah the sonne of Obed, and Maasiah the sonne of Adaiah, and Elishaphat the sonne of Zichri in couenant with him.

2 And they went about in Iudah, and gathered the Leuites out of all the cities of Iudah, and the chiefe fathers [b] of Israel: and they came to Ierusalem.

3 And all the congregation made a couenant with the king in the house of God: and he saide vnto them, Beholde, the kinges sonne must reigne, * as the Lorde hath said of the sonnes of Dauid.

4 This is it that ye shall doe, The third part of you that come on the Sabbath of the Priestes, and the Leuites, shalbe porters of the doores.

5 And another thirde part towarde the kings house, and another third part at the * gate of the [c] fundation, and all the people shalbe in the courtes of the house of the Lord.

6 But let none come into the house of the Lorde, saue the Priests, and the Leuites that minister: they shall goe in, for they are holy: but all the people shall keepe the watch of the Lord.

7 And the Leuites shal compasse the king rounde about, and euery man with his weapon in his hande, and he that entreth [d] into the house, shalbe slaine, and be you with the king, when he commeth in, and when he goeth out.

8 ¶ So the Leuites and all Iudah did according to all things that Iehoiada the Priest had commanded, and tooke euery man his men that came on the Sabbath, with them that [e] went out on the Sabbath: for Iehoiada the Priest did not discharge the courses.

9 And Iehoiada the Priest deliuered to the captaines of hundreths speares, & shields, & bucklers which had bene king Dauids, & were in the house of God.

10 And hee caused all the people to stand (euery man with his weapon in his hand) from the right side of the house, to the left side of the house by the altar and by the [f] house rounde about the king.

11 Then they brought out the kings sonne, and put vpon him the crowne and gaue him the [g] testimonie, & made him king. And Iehoiada and his sonnes anointed him, and said, God saue the king.

12 ¶ But when Athaliah heard the noyse of the people running and praysing the king, she came to the people into the house of the Lord.

13 And when she [h] looked, behold, the king stood by his pillar at the entring in, & the princes & the trumpets by the king, & all the people of the land reioyced, & blew the trumpets, & the singers were with instrumentes of musike, and they that could sing praise: then Athaliah rent her clothes, and said, [k] Treason, treason.

CHAP. XXIIII.

Ioash repaireth the house of the Lord. 17 After the death of Iehoiada he falleth to idolatrie. 21 He stoneth to death Zechariah the Prophet. 25 Ioash is killed of his owne seruants. 27 After him reigneth Amaziah.

1 Kings 12.1. 1 Ioash ˢ was seuen yere olde, when he began to reigne, and he reigned fourtie yeere in Ierusalem: and his mothers name was Zibiah of Beer-sheba.

ˢ Who was a faithfull counseller, & gouerned him by the word of God.

2 And Ioash did ᵗ vpꝛightly in the sight of the Lorde, all the dayes of ᵘ Iehoiada the Priest.

ᵗ Or, gaue him two wiues.

3 And Iehoiada ᵗ toke him two wiues, and he begate sonnes and daughters.

4 ¶ And afterwarde it came into Ioashs minde, to renew the house of the Lord.

ᵘ He meaneth not ꝙ ten tribes, but onely the two tribes of Iudah and Beniamin.

5 And he assembled the Priestes and the Leuites, and saide to them, Go out vnto the cities of Iudah, ⁊ gather of all ˣ Israel money to repaire the house of your God, from yeere to yeere, and haste the thing: but the Leuites hasted not.

ˣ Israel money to repaire the house of your God, from yeere to yeere, and haste the thing: but the Leuites hasted not.

6 Therefore the King called Iehoiada, the ʸ chiefe, and sayde vnto him, Why hast thou not required of the Leuites to bring in out of Iudah and Ierusalem ᶻ the tare of Moses the seruant of the Lord, and of the congregation of Israel, foꝛ the Tabernacle of the testimonie?

ʸ For he was the hie Priest.

ᶻ Exod. 30.13.

7 Foꝛ ᵃ wicked Athaliah, and her children brake vp the house of God: and all the things that were dedicate foꝛ the house of the Lord, did they bestow vpon Baalim.

ᵃ The Scripture doeth terme her thus, because she was a cruel murtherer, and a blasphemous idolatresse.

8 Therefore the King commanded, ᵇ and they made a chest, and set it at the gate of the house of the Lord without.

ᵇ 2. King. 12.9.

9 And they made proclamation through Iudah and Ierusalem, to bring vnto the Lord ᶜ the tare of Moses the seruant of God, laied vpon Israel in the wildernesse.

ᶜ Exod. 30.13.

10 And all the princes and all the people reioyced, and brought in, and cast into the chest, vntill they had finished.

11 And when it was time, ᵈ they brought the chest vnto the Kings officer ꝑ the hand of the Leuites: and when they saw that there was much siluer, then the Kings Scribe (and one appointed ꝑ the hie Priest) came and emptied the chest, ⁊ tooke it, and caried it to his place againe: thus they did day ꝑ day, and gathered siluer in abundance.

ᵈ Such as were faithfull men, whom the King had appointed for that matter.

12 And the King and ᵉ Iehoiada gaue it to such as did the labour and woꝛke in the house of the Lord, and hired masons and carpenters to repaire the house of the Lord: they gaue it also to woꝛkers of yron and brasse, to repaire the house of the Lorde.

ᵉ Signifying, that this thing was done by aduice and counsel, and not by any one mans affection.

13 So the woꝛkemen woꝛought, and the woꝛke ᶠ amended through their handes: and they restored the house of God to his state, and strengthened it.

ᶠ Ebr. a medicine was vpon the worke, meaning it was repaired.

14 And when they had finished it, they brought the rest of the siluer before the King and Iehoiada, and he made therof ᵍ vessels foꝛ the house of the Lord, euē vessels to minister, both mosters and incense cuppes, and vessels of golde, and of siluer: and they offred burnt offrings in the house of the Lorde continually all the dayes of Iehoiada.

ᵍ For the wicked kinges his predecessors and Athaliah had destroyed the vessels of the Temple, or turned them to the vse of their idoles.

15 ¶ But Iehoiada waxed old, and was full of dayes and dyed. An hundreth and thirtie yeere olde was hee when he dyed.

16 And they buried him in the citie of Dauid with the ʰ kings, because he had done good in Israel, and towarde God and his house.

ʰ Which was the worke of the Lord, and in the affaires of the commō wealth.

17 ¶ And after the death of Iehoiada, came the ⁱ princes of Iudah, and did reuerence to the King, and the king hearkened vnto them.

ⁱ Which were flatterers, and knew now that the king was destitute of him who did watch ouer him as a father, and therefore brought him to most vile idolatrie.

18 And they left ꝑ house of the Lord God of their fathers, and serued groues and idoles: and wꝛath came vpon Iudah and Ierusalem, because of this their trespasse.

19 And God sent Prophets among them, to bring them againe vnto the Lorde:

and they [k] made protestation among them, but they would not heare.

20 And the Spirite of God came vpon Zechariah the sonne of Iehoiada the Priest, which stoode [l] aboue the people, and saide vnto them, Thus saith God, Why transgresse ye the comandements of the Lorde? surely ye shall not prosper: because ye haue forsaken the Lorde, he also hath forsaken you.

21 Then they conspired against him and stoned him with stones at the [m] commandement of the king, in the court of the house of the Lord.

22 Thus Ioash the king remembred not the kindnes which Iehoiada his father had done to him, but slewe his sonne. And when he died, he saide, The Lorde [n] looke vpon it, and require it.

23 ¶ And when the yere was out, the host of Aram came vp against him, and they came against Iudah & Ierusalem, and destroyed al the princes of the people from among the people, and sent all the spoyle of them vnto the king of Damascus.

24 Though [p] armie of Aram came with a small company of men, yet the Lorde deliuered a very great armie into their hande, because they had forsaken the Lorde God of their fathers: and they [o] gaue sentence against Ioash.

25 And when they were departed from him, (for they left him in great diseases) his owne seruantes conspired against him for the blood of the [r] children of Iehoiada the Priest, and slewe him on his bed, and he died, and they buried him in the citie of Dauid: but they buried him not in the sepulchres of the kings.

26 And these are they that conspired against him, Zabad the sonne of Shimrath an Ammonitesse, and Iehozabad the sonne of Shimrith a Moabitesse.

27 But [q] his sonnes, and the summe of the tare gathered vp him, and the [r] fundation of the house of God, behold, they are written in the storie of the booke of the kings. And Amaziah his sonne reigned in his stead.

3 Amaziah putteth them to death which slewe his father. 10 He sendeth backe them of Israel. 11 He ouercommeth the Edomites. 14 He falleth to idolatrie. 17 And Ioash King of Israel ouercometh Amaziah, 27 He is slaine by a conspiracie.

1 AMaziah was fiue and twentie yere old, when he began to reigne, and he reigned nine and twentie yere in [s] Ierusalem: and his mothers name was Iehoaddan, of Ierusalem.

4 But he slew not their children, but did as it is written in the Lawe, and in the booke of Moses, where the Lorde commanded, saying, [u] The fathers shall not die for the [x] children, neither shall the children die for the fathers, but euery man shall die for his owne sinne.

5 ¶ And Amaziah assembled Iudah, and made them captaines ouer thousands, and captaines ouer hundreths, according to the houses of their fathers, throughout all Iudah and Beniamin: and he nombred them from [y] twentie yere old and aboue, and found among them three hundreth thousande chosen men, to goe forth to the warre, and to handle speare and sheild.

6 He hired also an hundreth thousande valiant men [z] out of Israel for an hundreth talents of siluer.

7 But a man of God came to him, saying, O king, let not the armie of Israel go with thee: for the Lord is not [a] with Israel, neither with all the house of Ephraim.

8 If [b] not, go thou on, do it, make thy selfe strong to the battel, but God shall make thee fall before the enemie: for God hath power to helpe, and to cast downe.

9 And Amaziah said to the man of God, What shal we do then for the hundreth talents, which I haue giuen to the host of Israel? Then the man of God answered, The Lorde is able to [c] giue thee more then this.

10 So Amaziah [d] separated them, to witte, the armie that was come to him out of Ephraim, to returne to their place: wherefore their wrath was kindled greatly against Iudah, and they returned to their places with great anger.

11 Then Amaziah was encouraged, and led forth his people, & went to the salt valley, & smote of the children of [e] Seir, ten thousand.

12 And other ten thousande did the children of Iudah take aliue, & caried them to the toppe of a [f] rocke, and cast them downe from the top of the rocke, and they all burst to pieces.

13 But the men of the [g] armie, which Amaziah sent awap, that they should not goe with his people to battell, fell vpon the cities of Iudah from Samaria vnto Beth-horon, and smote three thousand of them, and tooke much spoile.

14 Nowe after that Amaziah was come from the slaughter of the Edomites, he brought [h] gods of the children of Seir, and set them vp to be his gods, & [i] worshipped them, and burned incense vnto them.

15 Wherefore the Lord was wroth with Amaziah, & sent vnto [k] him a Prophet, which saide vnto him, Why hast thou sought the gods of the people, which were not able to [m] deliuer their owne people out of thine hand?

17 ¶ Then Amaziah king of Iudah tooke counsell, and sent to Ioash the sonne of Iehoahaz, the sonne of Iehu king of Israel, saying, Come, p let vs see one another in the face.

18 But Ioash king of Israel sent to Amaziah king of Iudah, saying, The thistle that is in Lebanon, sent to the cedar that is in Lebanon, saying, n Giue thy daughter to my sonne to wife: and the wilde beast that was in Lebanon went and trode downe the thistle.

19 Thou thinkest: loe, thou hast smitten Edom, and thine heart lifteth thee vp to bragge: abide now at home: why doest thou prouoke to thine hurt, that thou shouldest fall, and Iudah with thee?

20 But Amaziah would not heare: for q it was of God, that he might deliuer them into his hand, because they had sought the gods of Edom.

21 So Ioash the king of Israel went vp: and hee, and Amaziah king of Iudah sawe one another in the face at Bethshemesh, which is in Iudah.

22 And Iudah was put to the worse before Israel, and they fled euery man to his tents.

23 But Ioash the king of Israel tooke Amaziah king of Iudah, the sonne of Ioash, the sonne of Iehoahaz in Bethshemesh, and brought him to Ierusalem, and brake downe the wall of Ierusalem, from the gate of Ephraim vnto the corner gate, foure hundreth cubites.

24 And he tooke all the golde and the siluer, and all the vessels that were found in the house of God with r Obed Edom, and in the treasures of the kings house, and the children that were in hostage, and returned to Samaria.

25 ¶ And Amaziah the sonne of Ioash king of Iudah liued after the death of Ioash sonne of Iehoahaz king of Israel, fifteene yere.

1 Then n all the people of Iudah tooke a Vzziah, which was sixteene yere olde, & made him king in the stede of his father Amaziah.

2 He built b Eloth, and restored it to Iudah after that the king slept with his fathers.

3 n Sixteene yere olde was Vzziah, when he began to reigne, and he reigned two and fiftie yere in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Iecoliah of Ierusalem.

4 And he did vprightly in the sight of the Lord, according to all that his father Amaziah did.

5 And he sought God in p dayes of c Zechariah (which vnderstoode the visions of God) and when as d he sought the Lord, God made him to prosper.

6 For he went forth and fought against the Philistims & brake downe the wall of Gath, and the wall of Iabneh, and the wall of Ashdod, and built cities in Ashdod and among the Philistims.

7 And God helped him against the Philistims, and against the Arabians that dwelt in Gur-baal and Hammeunim.

8 And the Ammonites gaue e gifts to Vzziah, and his name spred to the entring in of Egypt: for he did most vallantly.

9 Moreouer Vzziah built towres in Ierusalem at the corner gate, and at the valley gate, and at the f turning, and made them strong.

10 And he built towres in the wildernes, and digged many g cisternes: for he had much cattell both in the valleis and plaines, plowmen, & dressers of vines in the mountaines, and in c Carmel: for he loued husbandrie.

11 Vzziah had also an hoste of fighting men that went out to warre by bands, according to the count of their nomber vnder the hande of Ieiel the scribe, and Maaseiah the ruler, and vnder the hand of Hananiah, one of the kinges captaines.

12 The whole h nomber of the chiefe of the families of the valiant men were two thousand and sixe hundreth.

13 And vnder their hande was the armie for warre, three hundreth & seuen thousand, and fiue hundreth that fought valiantly to helpe the king against the enemie.

14 And Vzziah prepared them throughout all the hoste, shyldes, and speares, and helmets, and brigandines, and bowes, and stones to sling.

15 He made also deep "artificiall engins in Ierusalem, to be vpon the towres & vpon the corners, to shoote arrowes and great stones: and his name spred farre abroad, because God did helpe him marueilously, till he was mightie.

17 And Azariah the Priest went in after him, and with him foure score Priestes of the Lord, valiant men.

18 And they withstoode Vzziah the king, and saide vnto him, * It pertayneth not to thee, Vzziah, to burne incense vnto the Lord, but to the Priestes the sonnes of Aaron, that are consecrated for to offer incense: k goe forth of the Sanctuarie: for thou hast transgressed, and thou shalt haue none honour of the Lorde God.

19 Then Vzziah was wroth, and had incense in his hand to burne it: and while he was wroth with the Priestes, the leprosie rose vp in his forehead before the Priestes in the house of the Lorde beside the incense altar.

20 And when Azariah the chiefe Priest with all the Priestes looked vpon him, behold, he was leprous in his forehead, and they caused him hastily to depart thence: and hee was euen compelled to go out, because the Lord had smitten him.

21 * And Vzziah the king was a leper vnto the day of his death, and dwelt as a leper in an l house apart, because hee was cut off from the house of the Lord: and Iotham his sonne ruled ouer the kings house, and iudged the people of the land.

14 And of the sonnes of Heman, Jehiel, & Shimei: & of the sonnes of Jeduthun, Shemaiah and Vzziel.

15 And they gathered their brethren, and sanctified themselues and came according to the commandement of the king, and * by the wordes of the Lorde, for to cleanse the house of the Lord.

16 And the Priestes went into the inner partes of the house of the Lord, to f cleanse it, and brought out all the vncleannes that they founde in the Temple of the Lorde, into the court of the house of the Lord: and the Leuites toke it, to carie it out vnto the brooke Kidron.

17 They began the first day of the g first moneth to sanctifie it, and the eight day of the moneth came they to the porche of the Lord: so they sanctified the house of the Lorde in eight dayes, and in the sixteth day of the first moneth they made an ende.

18 ¶ Then they went in to Hezekiah the king, and saide, We haue cleansed all the house of the Lord and the altar of burnt offring, with all the vessels thereof, and the * shewe bread table, with all the vessels therof:

19 And all the vessels which king Ahaz had cast aside when he reigned, & transgressed, haue we prepared and sanctified: and behold, they are before the altar of the Lord.

20 ¶ And Hezekiah the king h rose early, and gathered the princes of the citie, & went vp to the house of the Lord.

21 And they brought seuen bullockes, and seuen rams, and seuen lambes, and seuen hee goates, for a * sinne offring for the kingdome, and for the sanctuarie, & for Judah. And hee commanded the Priestes the sonnes of Aaron, to offer them on the altar of the Lord.

22 So they slewe the bullockes, and the Priests receiued the blood, and i sprinkled it vpon the altar: they slewe also the rams and sprinkled the blood vpon the altar, and they slewe the lambes, & they sprinkled the blood vpon the altar.

23 Then they brought the hee goates for the sinne offring before the king and the Congregation, k and they laied their handes vpon them.

24 And the Priests slewe them, and with the blood of them they cleansed the altar to reconcile all Israel: for the king had commanded for all Israel the burnt offering and the sinne offring.

25 He appointed also the Leuites in the house of the Lord with cymbales, with violes, and with harpes, * according to the cõmandement of Dauid, and Gad the kings Seer, and Nathan the Prophet: for the l commandement was by the hand of the Lord, and by the hand of his Prophetes.

26 And the Leuites stood with the instruments of Dauid, and the Priestes with the trumpets.

27 And Hezekiah commanded to offer the burnt offering vpon the altar: and when the burnt offring began, the song of the m Lorde began with the trumpets, and the instrumentes n of Dauid king of Israel.

28 And all the Congregation worshipped, singing a song, and they blewe the trumpets: all this continued vntill the burnt offering was finished.

29 And when they had made an ende of offering, the king and all that were present with him, bowed themselues, and worshipped.

30 ¶ Then Hezekiah the king and the princes commanded the Leuites to praise the Lorde with the o wordes of Dauid, and of Asaph the Seer. so they praysed with ioy, and they bowed themselues, and worshipped.

31 And Hezekiah spake, and sayd, Nowe haue ye p consecrate your selues to the Lorde: come nere and bring the sacrifices and offrings of praise into the house of the Lorde. And the Congregation brought sacrifices, & offrings of prayses, and euery man that was willing in heart, offred burnt offrings.

32 And the nomber of the burnt offrings, which the Congregation brought, was seuentie bullockes, an hundreth rãmes, and two hundreth lambes: all these were for a burnt offring to the Lord:

33 And for q sanctification sixe hundreth bullockes, and three thousand sheepe.

34 But the Priests were too fewe, & were not able to flay all the burnt offringes: therefore their brethren the Leuites did helpe them, til they had ended the worke, and vntill other Priestes were sanctified: for the Leuites were r more vpright in heart to sanctifie themselues, then the Priestes.

35 And also the burnt offerings were many with the * fat of the peace offrings & the drinke offrings for the burnt offring. so the seruice of the house of the Lorde was set in order.

1 AND Ezechiah sent to all Israel, & Iudah, & also wrote letters to * Ephraim and Manasseh, that they should come to the house of the Lorde at Ierusalem, to keepe the Passeouer vnto the Lord God of Israel.
2 And the king and his princes and all the Congregation had taken counsell in Ierusalem, to keepe the Passeouer in the b second moneth.
3 For they coulde not keepe it at this time, because there were not Priestes ynowe sanctified, neyther was the people gathered to Ierusalem.
4 And the thing pleased the king, and all the Congregation.
5 And they decreed to make proclamation throughout all Israel from c Beersheba euen to Dan, that they shoulde come to keepe the Passeouer vnto the Lorde God of Israel at Ierusalem: for they had not done it of a great time, d as it was written.
6 ¶ So the postes went with letters by the commission of the King, and his princes, throughout all Israel and Iudah, and with the commaundement of the king, saying, Ye children of Israel, turne againe vnto the Lorde God of Abraham, Isaak, and Israel, and e he will returne to the remnant that are escaped of you, out of the handes of the kings of Assyr.
7 And be not ye like your fathers, and like your brethren, which trespassed against the Lorde God of their fathers: and therefore he made them desolate, as ye see.
8 Be not ye now stiffnecked like your fathers, but f giue the hand to the Lorde, & come into his sanctuary, which he hath sanctified for euer, & serue the Lord your God, & the fiercenes of his wrath shall turne away from you.
9 For if ye returne vnto the Lorde, your brethren & your children shal finde mercy before them that led them captiues, & they shal returne vnto this land: for the Lord your God is gratious & merciful, and will not turne away his face from you, if ye conuert vnto him.
10 ¶ So the postes went from citie to citie through the lande of Ephraim and Manasseh, euen vnto Zebulun: but they h laughed them to scorne, and mocked them.
11 Neuertheless diuers of Asher, & Manasseh, & of Zebulun submitted themselues, and came to Ierusalem.
12 And the hand of God was in Iudah, so that he gaue them one i heart to doe the commaundement of the king, and of the rulers, according to the word of the Lord.
13 And there assembled to Ierusalē much people, to keepe the feast of the vnleauened bread in the second moneth, a verie great assemblie.
14 ¶ And they arose, and tooke away the k altars that were in Ierusalem: and all those for incense tooke they away, & cast them into the brooke Kidron.
15 Afterwarde they slewe the Passeouer the fourteenth day of the second moneth: and the Priestes and Leuites were l ashamed, and sanctified themselues, and brought the burnt offerings into the house of the Lord.
16 And they stoode in their place after their maner, according to the Lawe of Moses the man of God: & the Priestes sprinkled the m blood, receyued of the handes of the Leuites.
17 Because there were many in the Congregation that were not sanctified, therefore the Leuites had the charge of the killing of the Passeouer for all that were not cleane, to sanctifie it to the Lord.
18 For a multitude of the people, euen a multitude of Ephraim, and Manasseh, Issachar and Zebulun had not clensed themselues, yet did eate the Passeouer, but not as it was written: wherfore Ezekiah prayed for them, saying, The n good Lord be merciful toward him, 19 That prepareth his whole heart to seeke the Lorde God, the God of his fathers, though he be not cleansed, according to ō purification of the Sanctuarp.
20 And the Lorde heard Ezekiah, and o healed the people.
21 And the children of Israel that were present at Ierusalem, kept the feast of the vnleauened bread seuen daies with great ioye, and the Leuites, and the Priestes prayed the Lord, day by day, singing with lowde instrumentes vnto the Lord.
22 And Ezekiah p spake comfortably vnto all the Leuites that had good knowledge to sing vnto the Lord: and they did eate in that feast seuen dapes, and offred peace offerings, and prayed the Lorde God of their fathers.
23 And the whole assemblp tooke counsel to keepe it other seuen dapes. So they kept it seuen dapes with ioy.
24 For Ezekiah king of Iudah had giuen to the Congregation a r thousande bullockes, and seuen thousand sheepe. And the princes had giuen to the Congregation a thousand bullocks, and ten thousande sheepe: and manie Priestes were sanctified.
25 And all the Congregation of Iudah reioyced with the Priestes and the Leuites, & all the Congregation that came out of Israel, and the strangers that came out of the land of Israel, and that dwelt in Iudah.
26 So there was great ioy in Ierusalem: for since the time of Salomon the sonne of Dauid king of Israel there was not the like thing in Ierusalem.
27 Then the Priests and the Leuites arose, and q blessed the people, and their voyce was heard, and their prayer came vp vnto heauen, to his holy habitation.

1 The people destroy idolatrie. 2 Hezekiah appoynteth Priestes and Leuites, 4 And prouideth for their liuing. 13 He ordeineth ouerseers to distribute to euery one his portion.

1 AND when all these thinges were fynished, all Israel that were founde in the cities of Iudah, went out and a brake the images, and cut downe the groues, and brake downe the hye places, and the altars throughout all Iudah and Beniamin, in Ephraim also and Manasseh, vntill they had made an ende: afterwarde all the b children of Israel returned euery man to his possession, into their owne cities.

a According to the commandement of the Lorde, Deut.7.25.iosh. 7.1. 2.mac.12.40.

b That is, all they which came to the Passeouer.

2 And Hezekiah appointed the courses of the Priests & Leuits by their turnes, euery man according to his office, both Priestes and Leuites, for the burnt offring & peace offringes, to minister and to giue thankes, & to praise in the gates of the c tentes of the Lord.

c That is, in the Temple, where they assembled as in a tent. Num.28.3,9.

3 (And the Kinges portion was of his owne substance for the burnt offerings, euen for the burnt offerings of the morning and of the euening, and the burnt offringe for the Sabbaths, and for the newe moones, & for the solemne feastes, as it is written in the Law of the Lord) d The tithes & first fruites for the mainten ãce of the Priestes & Leuites.

4 He commaunded also the people that dwelt in Ierusalem, to giue a d part to the Priests, & Leuites, that they might bee e encouraged in the Lawe of the Lorde.

e That their mindes might not be intangled with prouision of worldly things, but that they might wholy & cherefully serue the Lord.

5 ¶ And when the commandement was f spred, the children of Israel brought abundance of first fruites, of corne, wine, and ople, and honie, & of all the increase of the fielde, and the tithes of all things brought they abundantly.

f Or, published.

6 And the children of Israel and Iudah that dwelt in the cities of Iudah, they also brought the tithes of bullocks and sheepe, and the holy tithes g which were consecrate vnto the Lord their God, and layd them on h many heapes.

g For the relieue of the Priestes, Leuits, widowes, pupilles, fatherlesse, strangers, & such as were in necessitie.

7 In the third moneth they began to lay the foundation of the heapes, & finished them in the seuenth moneth.

8 ¶ And when Hezekiah and the princes came, and saw the heapes, they h blessed the Lord and his people Israel.

h They praysed the Lorde, and prayed for all prosperitie to his people.

9 And Hezekiah questioned with the Priests and the Leuites concerning the heapes.

10 And Azariah the chiefe Priest of the house of Sadok answered him, & sayde, Since the people began to bring the offrings into the house of the Lorde, wee haue i eaten and haue bene satisfied, and there is left in abundance: for the Lorde hath blessed his people, and this abundance that is left.

i He sheweth that this plenteous liberalitie is expedient for the maintenance of the ministers, and that God therefore prospereth his people, & increaseth by his blessing that which is giuen.

11 ¶ And Hezekiah commanded to prepare chambers in the house of the Lorde: and they prepared them, 12 And caried in the first fruites, and the tithes, and the dedicate thinges faithfully: and ouer them was Conaniah the Leuite, the chiefe, and Shimei his brother the second.

13 And Iehiel, and Azariah, & Nahath, and Asahel, and Ierimoth, & Iozabad, and Eliel, and Ismachiah, & Mahath, & Benaiah were ouerseers k by the appointment of Conaniah, and Shimei his brother, and by the commandement of Hezekiah the king, & of Azariah the chiefe of the house of God.

k Ebr. by the hand.

14 And Kore the sonne of Imnah the Leuite porter towarde the East, was ouer the thinges that were willingly offered vnto God, to distribute the oblations of the Lord, and the holy things that were consecrate.

15 And at his hand were Eden, and Miniamin, and Iesshua, and Shemaiah, Amariah, & Shechaniah, in the cities of the Priestes, to distribute with fidelitie to their brethren by courses, both to the great and small,

16 Their daily portion: beside their generation being males l from three yere olde and aboue, euen to all that entred into the house of the Lord to their office in their charge, according to their courses:

l Who had also a portion and allowance in this distribution.

17 Both to the generation of the Priests after the house of their fathers, and to the Leuites from twentie yere olde and aboue, according to their charge in their courses:

18 And to the generation of all their children, their wiues, and their sonnes and their daughters throughout all m Congregation: for by their l fidelitie are they partakers of the holy things.

m Meaning, that either by the faithful distributions of the officers, euery one had their part in the things that were offred, or els that their wiues and children were relieued, because the Leuites were faithful in their office, and so depended on them.

19 Also to the sonnes of Aaron, the Priestes, which were in the fieldes and suburbs of their cities, in euery citie the men that were appointed by names, should giue portions to all the males of the Priests, and to all the generation of the Leuites.

20 And thus did Hezekiah throughout all Iudah, and did well, and vprightly, and truely before the Lord his God.

21 And in al the works that he began for the service of the house of God, both in the Lawe and in the commandements, to seeke his God, hee dyd it with all his heart, and prospered.

CHAP. XXXII.

3 Then

3 Then he tooke counsell with his princes and his nobles, to stoppe the water of the fountaines without the citie: and they did helpe him.

4 So many of ꝑ people assembled themselues, and stopt all the fountaines, and the riuer that ran through the middes of the countrey, saying, Why should the kings of Assyr come, and finde much water?

5 And "he tooke courage, and built all the broken wall, and made vp the towers, and another wall without, and repaired a Millo in the b citie of Dauid, and made many c dartes and shields.

6 And set captaines of warre ouer the people and assembled them to him in the broade place of the gate of the citie, and "spake comfortably vnto them, saying,

7 Be strong and couragious: feare not, neither bee afraide for the king of Assyr, neither for all the multitude that is with him: "for there be mo with vs, then is with him.

8 With him is an d arme of flesh, but with vs is the e Lorde our God for to helpe vs, and to fight our battels. Then the people were confirmed by the wordes of Hezekiah king of Iudah.

9 "After this, did Saneherib king of Assyr sende his seruantes to Jerusalem (while he was f against Lachish, and all his dominion with him) vnto Hezekiah king of Iudah and vnto al Iudah that were at Jerusalem, saying,

10 Thus saith Saneherib the king of Assyr, Wherein doe ye trust, that ye will remaine in Jerusalem, during the siege?

11 Doth not Hezekiah entise you to giue ouer your selues vnto death by famine and by thirst, saying, The Lord our God shall deliuer vs out of the hande of the king of Assyr?

12 Hath not the same Hezekiah taken away his hie places and his g altars, & commanded Iudah & Jerusalem, saying, Ye shall worship before one altar, & burne incense vpon it?

13 Know ye not what I and my fathers haue done vnto all the people of other countreis? Were the gods of the nations of other landes able to deliuer their land out of mine hande?

14 Who is he of all the h gods of those nations (that my fathers haue destroyed) that coulde deliuer his people out of mine hande, that your God should be able to deliuer you out of mine hand?

15 Nowe therefore let not Hezekiah deceiue you, nor seduce you after this sort, neither beleeue ye him: for none of all the gods of any nation or kingdome was able to deliuer his people out of i mine hande & out of the hande of my fathers: how much lesse shall your gods deliuer you out of mine hand?

16 And his seruantes spake yet more against the Lorde God, and against his k seruant Hezekiah.

17 He wrote also letters, blaspheming the Lord God of Israel, & speaking against him, saying, As the gods of the nations of other countries coulde not deliuer their people out of mine hande, so shall not the God of Hezekiah deliuer his people out of mine hande.

18 Then they l cryed with a loude voyce in the Iewes speach vnto the people of Jerusalem that were on the wall, to feare them and to astonish them, ꝑ they might take the citie.

19 Thus they spake against the God of Jerusalem, as against the gods of the people of the earth, euen the m workes of mans handes.

20 But Hezekiah the king, and the Prophet Iaiah the sonne of Amoz n prayed against this and cryed to heauen.

21 And the Lord sent an Angel which destroied al the valiant men, and the princes and o captaines of the hoste of the king of Assyr: so hee returned "with shame to his owne lande. And when he was come into ꝑ house of his god, they that came forth of his p owne bowels, slewe him there with the sword.

22 So the Lorde saued Hezekiah and the inhabitantes of Jerusalem from the hande of Saneherib king of Assyr, and from the hand of al other, & maintened them on euery side.

23 And many brought offerings vnto the Lord to Jerusalem, and presents to Hezekiah king of Iudah, so that hee was q magnified in the sight of all nations from thencefoorth.

24 "In those dayes Hezekiah was sicke vnto the death, and prayed vnto the Lorde, who spake vnto him, and gaue him r a signe.

25 But Hezekiah did not render according to the reward bestowed vpon him: for his heart s was lift vp, and wrath came vpon him, and vpon Iudah and Jerusalem.

26 Notwithstanding Hezekiah humbled himself (after that his heart was lifted vp) he and the inhabitants of Jerusalē, and the wrath of the Lord came not vpon them in the dayes of Hezekiah.

27 Hezekiah also had exceeding much riches and honour, and he gate him treasures of siluer, and of golde, and of precious stones, and of sweete odours, and of shieldes, and of all pleasant vessels:

28 And of store houses for the increase of wheate and wine and oyle, and stalles for al beastes, & t rowes for the stables.

29 And he made him cities, and had possession of sheepe and oxen in abundāce: for God had giuen him substance exceeding much.

30 This same Hezekiah also stopped the vpper water springs of u Gihon, and led them streight vnderneath towarde the citie of Dauid Westwarde. So Hezekiah prospered in all his workes.

11 Wherefore the Lord brought vpon them the captaines of the hoste of the king of Asshur, which tooke Manasseh and put him in fetters, & bound him in chaines, and caried him to Babel.

12 And when hee was in tribulation, hee prayed to the Lord his God, & humbled himselfe greatly before the God of his fathers, 13 And prayed vnto him: and God was [d] entreated of him, and heard his prayer, and brought him againe to Ierusalem into his kingdome: then Manasseh knewe that the Lord was God.

d Thus affliction giueth vnderstanding: for he that hated God in his prosperitie, nowe in his misery he seketh vnto him.

14 Nowe after this he built a wall without the citie of Dauid, on the Westside of [e] Gihon in the valley, euen at the entrie of the fishe gate, and compassed about [f] Ophel, and raised it verie hie, and put captaines of warre in al the strong cities of Iudah.

e Reade Chap. 32.30.

f Reade Chap. 27.3.

15 And hee tooke away the strange gods and the image out of the house of the Lorde, and all the altars that hee had built in the mount of the house of the Lorde, and in Ierusalem, and cast them out of the citie.

16 Also he prepared the [g] altar of þ Lord, and sacrificed thereon peace offrings, & of thanker, and commanded Iudah to serue the Lord God of Israel.

g Which Salomon had caused to be made.

17 Neuertheles the people did sacrifice still in the hie places, but vnto the [h] Lord their God.

h Thus by ignorance they were deceiued, thinking it no-thing to keepe the altars, so that they worshipped God: but it is idolatrie to worship God any otherwise then he hath appointed.

18 ¶ Concerning the rest of the actes of Manasseh, and his [i] prayer vnto his God, and the words of the Seers, that spake to him in the name of the Lorde God of Israel, beholde, they are written in the booke of the kings of Israel.

19 And his prayer and how God was intreated of him, and al his sinne, and his trespasse, & the places wherein he built hie places, and set groues and images (before he was humbled) beholde, they are written in the booke of [ii] the Seers.

i Which albeit that it is not conteined in the Ebrewe, yet because it is here mentioned and is written in the Greeke, we haue placed it in the ende of this booke.

ii Or, Hozai.

20 So Manasseh slept with his fathers, & they buried him in his owne [k] house: & Amon his sonne reigned in his steade.

21 ¶ Amon was two and twentie yeere olde, when he began to reigne, and reigned two yeere in Ierusalem.

22 But he did euill in þ sight of the Lord, as did Manasseh his father: for Amon sacrificed to all the images, which Manasseh his father had made, and serued them,

23 And he humbled not him selfe before the Lorde, as Manasseh his father had humbled himself: but this Amon trespassed more and more.

k Because hee had so horribly offended against the Lord, they did not burie him in the sepulchres of the kings, but in the garden of the kings house. 2.King.21.23.

24 And his seruants * conspired against him, and slewe him in his owne house.

25 But the people of the lande slewe all them that had conspired against king Amon: and þ people of the land made Iosiah his sonne king in his steade.

2.King.22.1.

1 IOsiah [a] was eight yere old when he began to reygne, and he reygned in Ierusalem one and thirtie yere.

2 And he did vprightly in the sight of the Lord, and walked in the wayes of [a] Dauid his father, and bowed neither to the right hand nor to the left.

a He followed Dauid in all poynts that he followed the Lord.

3 And in the eyght yeere of his reygne (when he was yet a [b] childe) he began to seeke after the God of Dauid his father: and in the twelft yeere he began to purge Iudah, and Ierusalem from the hye places, and the groues, and the carued images, and molten images:

b When he was but sixtene yere olde, he shewed himselfe zealous of Gods glory, and at twentie yere old he abolished idolatrie and restored the true religion.

4 And they brake downe [c] in his sight the altars of Baalim, and he caused to cut down the images that were on hye vpon them: he brake also the groues, and the carued images, & the molten images, and stampt them to powder, and strawed it vpon [h] graues of them that had sacrificed vnto them.

c Which sheweth [i] he would see the reformation with his owne eyes.

5 Also he burnt the [d] bones of the priests vpon their altars, and purged Iudah and Ierusalem.

d Read 2.King. 23.16.

6 And in the cities of Manasseh, and Ephraim, & Simeon, euen vnto Naphtali, with their mattes they brake all round about.

7 And when he had [e] destroyed the altars and the groues, and had broken and stamped to pouder the images, and had cut downe all the idoles throughout all the land of Israel, he returned to Ierusalem.

e This great zeale of this godly King the holy Ghost setteth forth as an example and paterne to other Kings & rulers, to teach them what God requireth of them. 2.Kyng.21.3.

8 ¶ [f] Then in the eyghteenth yeere of his reygne when he had purged the lande & the Temple, he sent Shaphan the sonne of Azaliah, & Maaseiah the gouernour of the citie, and Joah the sonne of Joahaz the recorder, to repaire the house of the Lord his God.

9 And when they came to Hilkiah the hie Priest, they deliuered the money that was brought into the house of God, which the Leuites that kept the doore, had gathered at the hand of Manasseh, and Ephraim, and of all the residue of Israel, and of all Iudah & Beniamin, and [g] of the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

f Or, they returned to Ierusalem, meaning, Shaphan, &c.

10 And they put it in the hands of them that shulde doe the worke and had the ouersight in the house of the Lord: and they gaue it to the workmen [h] wrought in the house of the Lord, to repayre and amend the house.

g For there were many portions & pieces annexed to the Temple.

11 Euen to the workemen & to the buylders gaue they it, to bye hewed stone & timber for couples and for beames of the [i] houses, which the kings of Iudah had destroyed.

h Meaning, that there were in such credite for their fidelitie, [j] they made none accountes of that which they receiued, 2.King. 22.7,9.

12 And the men did the worke faithfully, and the ouerseers of them were Iahath and Obadiah the Leuites, of the children of Merari, and Zechariah, and Meshullam, of the children of the Kohathites to set it forward: and of the Leuites all that could skill of instruments of musike.

13 And they were ouer the bearers of burdens, and them that set forwarde all the workemen in euery worke: and of the Leuites were scribes, and officers and porters.

14 ¶ And when they brought out the money that was brought into the house of the Lord, Hilkiah the Priest founde the [k] booke of the Lawe of the Lord giuen by the hand of Moses.

k Read 2.King 22.8.

15 Therefore Hilkiah answered and sayd to Shaphan the chaunceler, I haue founde the booke of the Law in the house of the Lord: and Hilkiah gaue the booke to Shaphan.

16 And Shaphan caried the booke to [l] the king, & brought the king worde againe, saying, All that is committed to the hand of thy seruants, that do they.

i For the king was commanded to haue continually a copie of this booke, and to reade therein day and night, Deut.17.18.

17 For they haue gathered the money that was founde in the house of the Lord, & haue deliuered it into the hands of the ouerseers, and to the hands of the workemen.

18 Also Shaphan the chaunceler declared to the king, saying, Hilkiah [j] Priest hath giuen me a booke, and Shaphan readit before the king.

19 And when the king had heard the words of the Law, he [k] tare his clothes.

k For sorow that the word of God had bene so long suppressed, and the people kept in ignorance, considering also the curses conteined therein against the transgressors.

20 And the king commanded Hilkiah, and Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, & Abdon the sonne of Micah, and Shaphan the chaunceler, and Asaiah the kings seruant, saying,

21 Goe and enquire of the Lorde for mee, and for the rest in Israel and Iudah, concerning the wordes of this booke that is founde: for great is the wrath of the Lord that is fallen vpon vs, because our [l] fathers haue not kept the word of the Lorde, to do after all that is written in this booke.

l Thus the godly do not onely lament their owne sinnes, but also that their fathers and predecessours haue offended God.

22 Then Hilkiah and they that the king had appointed, went to Huldah the Prophetesse the wife of Shallum, the sonne of [m] Tokhath, the sonne of [n] Hasrah keeper of the [o] wardrobe (and she dwelt in Ierusalem within the [p] college) & they communed hereof with her.

m Or, Tikvah.

n Or, Harhas.

23 And shee answered them, Thus sayth the Lorde God of Israel, Tell yee [q] the man that sent you to me, o Meaning, eyther of ỹ Priestes apparell, or of the Kings.

p Read hereof, 2.King.22.15.

24 Thus sayeth the Lord, Beholde, I will bring euil vpon this place, and vpon the inhabitantes thereof, euen all the curses, that are written in the booke which they haue read before the king of Iudah:

q That is, to the king.

25 Because they haue forsaken mee, and burnt incense vnto other gods, to anger me with all the workes of their [r] hands, therefore shall my wrath fall vpon this place, and shal not be quenched.

r This she speaketh in cõtempt of the idolaters, who contrarie to reason & nature make that a god which they haue made, & framed with their owne handes.

26 But to the king of Iudah, who sent you to enquire of the Lord, so shal ye say vnto him, Thus sayth the Lord God of Israel, Israel, The wordes which thou hast heard, shal come to passe.

27 But because thine heart did q melt, and thou didest humble thy self before God, when thou heardest his wordes against this place and against the inhabitants thereof, and humbledst thy selfe before me and rentest thy clothes, and weptest before me, I haue also heard it, saith the Lord.

28 Beholde, I will gather thee to thy fathers, & thou shalt bee put in thy graue in peace, and thine eyes shall not see all the euill, which I will bring vpon this r place, and vpon the inhabitants of the same. Thus they brought ṗ king worde againe.

29 ¶ Then the king sent and gathered all the Elders of Iudah and Ierusalem.

30 And the King went vp into the house of the Lord, & all the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and the Priests and the Leuites, and all the people from the greatest to the ſ smallest, & he read in their eares all the wordes of the booke of ṗ couenant that was found in the house of the Lord.

31 And the King stoode by his pillar, and made a couenant before the Lorde, to walke after the Lorde, and to keepe his commandements, and his testimonies, and his statutes, with all his heart, and with all his soule, and that he would accomplishe the wordes of the couenant written in the same booke.

32 And he caused all that were founde in Ierusalem, and Beniamin to stande to it: and the inhabitants of Ierusalem did according to the couenant of God, euen the God of their fathers.

33 So Iosiah tooke away all the abominations out of all the countries that pertained to the children of Israel, & compelled all t that were found in Israel, to serue the Lord their God: so al his daies they turned not backe from the Lorde God of their fathers.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 Iosiah keepeth the Passeouer. 2 He setteth forth Gods seruice. 20 He fighteth against the King of Egypt, and dieth. 24 The people bewaile him.

1 MOreouer * Iosiah kept a Passeouer vnto the Lord in Ierusalem, & they slewe the a Passeouer in the fourteenth day of the first moneth.

2 And he appointed the Priests to their charges, & incouraged them to the seruice of the house of the Lord,

3 And he sayde vnto the Leuites, that b taught all Israel and were sanctified vnto the Lord, Put the holy Arke in the house which Salomon the sonne of Dauid King of Israel did build: it shalbe no more a c burden vpon your shoulders: serue now the Lorde your God and his people Israel,

4 And prepare your selues by the houses of your fathers according to your courses, as * Dauid the King of Israel hath written, and according to the writing of Salomon his sonne,

5 And stand in the Sanctuary according to the diuision of the families of your brethren ᵗ the children of the people, and after the diuision of the family of the Leuites:

6 So kill the Passeouer, & sanctifie your selues, and ᵈ prepare your brethren that they may doe according to the worde of the Lord by the hand of Moses.

7 Iosiah also gaue to the ᵘ people sheepe, lambes and kids, all for the Passeouer, euen to all that were present, to the number of thirtie thousand, and three thousand bullockes: these were of the kings substance.

8 And his princes offred willingly vnto the people, to the Priests and to the Leuites: Hilkiah, and Zechariah, and Iehiel, rulers of the house of God, gaue vnto the Priests for the Passeouer, euē two thousand and fiue hundreth sheepe, and three hundreth bullockes.

9 ᵉ Conaniah also and Shemaiah and Nethaneel his brethren, & Hashabiah and Ieiel, and Iozabad, chiefe of the Leuites gaue vnto the Leuites for the Passeouer, fiue thousand sheep, and fiue hundreth bullockes.

10 Thus the seruice was prepared, and the Priestes stoode in their places, also the Leuites in their orders, according to the kings commandement:

11 And they slew the Passeouer, and the Priestes ᶠ sprinkled the blood with their hands, and the Leuites flayed them.

12 And they tooke awaye from the ᵍ burnt offering to giue it according to the diuisions of the families of the children of the people, to offer vnto the Lorde, as it is written in the booke of Moses, and so of the bullockes.

13 And * they rosted the Passeouer with fire, according to the custome, but the sanctified thinges they sod in pottes, pannes, and caldrons, and distributed them quickly to all the people.

14 Afterward also they prepared for themselues & for the Priests: for the Priestes the sonnes of Aaron were occupied in offring of burnt offrings, and the fat vntil night: therefore the Leuites prepared for themselues, and for the Priestes the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the singers the sonnes of Asaph stood in their standing * according to the commandement of Dauid, and Asaph, and Heman, and Iedithun the Kings ʰ Seer: and the porters at euery gate, who might not depart from their seruice: therefore their brethren the Leuites prepared for them.

16 So all the seruice of the Lord was prepared the same day, to keepe the Passeouer, and to offer burnt offerings vpon the altar of the Lorde, according to the com-

q This declareth what is the ende of Gods threatnings, to call his to repentance, & to assure the vnrepētant of their destruction.

r It may appeare that very fewe were touched w true repentance, seeing that God spared them for a time onely for the Kings sake.

s For as much as neither yong nor olde could be exempted from the curses cōteined therein, if they did transgresse, he knewe it apperteined to all, and was his duetie to see it read to all sorts, that euery one might learne to auoide those punishments by seruing God aright.

17 And the children of Israel that were present, kept the Passeouer the same time, & the feast of the vnleauened bread seuen daies.
18 And there was no Passeouer kept like that in Israel, from ꝑ daies of Samuel the Prophet: neither did all the kings of Israel keepe such a Passeouer as Iosiah kept, & the Priests & the Leuites, & all Iudah, and Israel that were * present, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem.
19 This Passeouer was kept in i ꝑ eighteenth yere of the reigne of Iosiah.
20 ¶ After all this, when Iosiah had prepared the Temple, Necho king of Egypt came vp to fight against k Carchemish by l Perath, and Iosiah went out against him.
21 But he sent messengers to him, saying, What haue I to doe with thee, thou king of Iudah? I come not against thee this day, but against the house of mine enemie, and God commaunded me to make haste: leaue off to come against God, which is with me, lest he destroy thee.
22 But Iosiah would not turne his face from him, but l changed his apparell to fight with him, and hearkened not vnto the words of Necho, which were of the mouth of God, but came to fight in the valley of Megiddo.
23 And the shooters shot at king Iosiah: then the king said to his seruants, Carry me away, for I am very sicke.
24 So his seruants tooke him out of that charet, and put him in the second charet which hee had, and when they had brought him to Ierusalem, he died, and was buried in the sepulchres of his fathers: and all Iudah and Ierusalem m mourned for Iosiah.
25 And Ieremiah lamented Iosiah, & all singing men and singing women mourned for Iosiah in their lamentations to this day, and made the same for an ordinance vnto Israel: and behold, they be written in the n lamentations.

The prayer of Manasseh King of the Iewes.

This praier is not in the Ebrew, but is translated out of the Greeke.

O Lord almightie, God of our fathers, Abraham, Isaac and Iacob, and of their righteous seede, which hast made heauen and earth with all their ornament, which hast bound the sea by the worde of thy commandement, which hast shut vp the deepe and sealed it by thy terrible & glorious name, whome all do feare and tremble before thy power: for the maiestie of thy glorie cannot be borne, & thine angrie threatning toward sinners is intollerable, but thy mercifull promise is vnmeasurable and vnsearcheable. For thou art the most high Lord, of great compassion, long suffering, and most mercifull, and repentest for mans miseries. Thou, O Lord, according to thy great goodnes hast promised a repentance and forgiuenes to them that sinne against thee, and for thine infinite mercies hast appointed repentance vnto sinners that they may be saued. Thou therefore, O Lorde, that art the God of the iust, hast not appointed repentance to the iust, as to Abraham, & Isaac and Iacob, which haue not b sinned against thee, but thou hast appointed repentance vnto me that am a sinner: for I haue sinned aboue the nomber of the sands of the sea. My transgressions, O Lorde, are multiplied: my transgressions are exceeding many: and I am not worthy to beholde and see the height of the heauēs for the multitude of mine vnrighteousnesse. I am bowed downe with many iron bandes, that I cannot lift vp mine head, neither haue any releasse. For I haue prouoked thy wrath and done euil before thee. I did not thy wil, neither kept I thy commaundements. I haue set vp abominations, and haue multiplied offences. Now therefore I bow the knee of mine heart, beseeching thee of grace. I haue sinned, O Lord, I haue sinned, and I acknowledge my transgressions: but I humbly beseech thee, forgiue me: O Lord, forgiue me, and destroy me not with my transgressions. Be not angry with me for euer by reserving euil for me, neither condemne me into the lower parts of the earth. For thou art the God, euen the God of them that repent: and in me thou wilt shewe all thy goodnesse: for thou wilt saue me that am vnworthy, according to thy great mercie: therefore I wil praise thee for euer al the daies of my life. For all the power of the heauens praise thee, and thine is the glorie for euer and euer, Amen.

a Thou hast promised that repentance shalbe the way for them to returne to thee.
b He speaketh this in comparison of himself & those holy fathers which haue their commendation in y Scriptures, so y in respect of him selfe he calleth their sinnes nothing, but attributeth vnto the righteousnes.

THE ARGVMENT.

AS the Lorde is euer merciful vnto his Church, and doth not punish them, but to the intent they should see their owne miseries, and be exercised vnder the crosse, that they might contemne the world & aspire vnto the heauens: so after that he had visited the Iewes & kept them now in bondage seuentie yeres in a strange countrey among infidels and idolaters, he remembred his tender mercies and their infirmities, and therefore for his owne sake raised them vp a deliuerer, & moued both the heart of the chiefe ruler to pity them, and also by him punished such, which had kept them in seruitude. Notwithstāding lest they should grow into a contempt of Gods great benefite, he keepeth them stil in exercise, & raiseth domestical enemies, which endeuour as much as they can to hinder their most worthy enterprises: yet by the exhortation of the Prophets they went forward by little & little till their worke was finished.

The authour of this booke was Ezra, who was Priest, and Scribe of the Law, as chap. 7.6. He returned to Ierusalem the sixt yere of Darius, who succeeded Cyrus, that is, about fiftie yeres after the returne of the first vnder Zerubbabel, when the Temple was built. He brought with him a great companie, and much treasures, with letters to the kings officers for all such things as should be necessarie for the Temple: and at his comming hee redressed that which was amisse, and set the things in good order.

CHAP. I.

Cyrus sendeth againe the people that was in captiuitie, 8 And restoreth them their holy vessels.

1 NOw a in the first yere of Cyrus king of Persia (that the word of the Lord, spoken by the b mouth of Ieremiah, might be accomplished) the Lord stirred vp the c spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, & he made a proclamation through all his kingdome, and also by writing, saying,

2 Thus sayeth Cyrus king of Persia, The Lord God of heauen hath giuen me d al the kingdomes of the earth, and he hath commanded me to builde him an house in Ierusalem, which is in Iudah.

3 Who is hee among you of all his people with whom his God is? let him go vp to Ierusalem which is in Iudah, & build the house of the Lord God of Israel: he is the God, which is in Ierusalem.

4 And euery one that remaineth in any place (where he soiourneth) e let the men of his place relieue him with siluer and with golde, and with substance, and with cattell, f and with a willing offering, for the house of God that is in Ierusalem.

5 Then the chiefe fathers of Iudah and Beniamin, and the Priestes & Leuites rose vp, with al them whose spirit God had raised to goe vp, to builde the house of the Lord which is in Ierusalem.

6 And all g they that were about them, strengthened their handes with vessels of siluer, with golde, with substance and with cattell, and with precious things, besides all that was willingly offred.

7 Also the king Cyrus brought forth the vessels of the house of the Lord, * which Nebuchadnezzar had taken out of Ierusalem, and had put them in the house of his god.

8 Euen them did Cyrus king of Persia bring forth by the hand of Mithredath the treasurer, and counted them vnto h Sheshbazzar the Prince of Iudah.

9 And this is the number of them, thirtie basins of golde, a thousand basins of siluer, nine and twentie i knines,

10 Thirtie boules of golde, and of siluer boules of the seconde sort, foure hundreth and tenne, and of other vessels, a thousand.

11 All the vessels of golde and siluer were fiue thousand & foure hundreth. Sheshbazzar brought vp all k with them of the captiuitie that came vp from Babel to Ierusalem.

2 And they came to Zerubbabel, and to the chiefe fathers, and ſayd vnto them, We will builde with you: for we ſeeke the Lorde your God as ye doe, and we haue ſacrificed vnto him, ſince the time of Eſar Haddon king of Aſſhur, which brought vs vp hither.

b For they perceiued what their pretence was, to wit, to erect idolatry in ſtead of true religion.

3 Then Zerubbabel, and Ieſhua, and the reſt of the chiefe fathers of Iſrael, ſayde vnto them, It is not for you, but for vs to build ꝑ houſe vnto our God: b for we our ſelues together will builde it vnto the Lorde God of Iſrael, as king Cyrus the king of Perſia hath commanded vs.

16 We certifie the king therefore, that if this citie be builded, and the foundation of the walles laide, by this meanes the portion beyond the Riuer shall not be thine.

17 ¶ The king sent an answere vnto Rehum the Chancellour, and Shimshai the scribe, and to the rest of their companions that dwelt in Samaria, and vnto the other beyond the Riuer, [l] Shelam and [m] Cheeth.

18 ¶ The letter which ye sent vnto vs, hath bene openly read before me, 19 And I haue commanded & they haue searched, and founde, that this citie of old time hath made insurrectiō against kings, and hath rebelled, and rebellion hath bene committed therein.

20 There haue bene mightie kings also ouer Ierusalem, which haue ruled ouer all beyond the Riuer, and tolle, tribute, and custome was giuen vnto them.

21 Make ye now a decree, that those men may cease, and that the citie be not built, til I haue giuen another commandement.

5 And also let them render the vessels of the house of God (of golde and siluer, which Nebuchadnezzar tooke out of the Temple, which was in Jerusalem, and brought vnto Babel) and let [b] him goe vnto the Temple that is in Jerusalem to his place and put them in the house of God.

b Meaning, Zerubbabel, to whom he giueth charge.

6 Therfore Tatnai captaine beyond the Riuer, and Shethar Boznai, (and their companions Apharsecaie, which are beyonde the Riuer) be ye farre [c] from thence.

c Meddle not with them, neither hinder them.

7 Suffer ye the worke of this house of God, that the captaine of the Jewes & the Elders of the Jewes may builde this house of God in his place.

8 For I haue giuen a commaundement what ye shall doe to the Elders of these Jewes, for the building of this house of God, that of the reuenues of the king, which is of the tribute beyonde the Riuer, there be incontinently expenses giuen vnto these men that they [d] cease not.

d For lacke of money.

9 And that which they shall haue neede of, let it be giuen vnto them day by day, whether it be yong bullockes, or rams, or lambes for the burnt offrings of the God of heauen, wheat, salt, wine, and oyle, according to the appointment of the Priestes that are in Jerusalem, that there be no fault,

10 That they may haue to offer sweete odours vnto the GOD of heauen, and pray for the kings life, and for his sonnes.

11 And I haue made a decree, that whosoeuer shall alter this sentence, the wood shall be pulled downe from his house, and shall be set vp, and he shal be hanged thereon, and his house shalbe made a dunghill for this.

12 And the God that hath caused his Name [e] to dwell there, destroy all kings and people that put to their hande to alter, and to destrope this house of God, which is in Jerusalem. I Darius haue made a decree, let it be done with speede.

e Who hath appointed that place to haue his name called vpon there.

13 Then * Tatnai the captaine beyond the Riuer, and Shethar Boznai and their companions, according to that which Darius had sent, so they did speedily.

*1.Esd.7.1.

14 So the Elders of the Jewes builded, and they prospered by the propheceping of [f] Haggai the Prophet, and Zechariah the sonne of Iddo, and they builded and finished it, by the appointment of the God of Israel, and by the commandement of Cyrus and Darius, and Artahshahte king of Persia.

f Whom God stirred vp to assure them that he would giue their worke good successe.

15 And this house was finished the third day of the moneth [g] Adar, which was [h] the sixt yeere of the reigne of king Darius.

g This is the twelft moneth and contayneth part of February and part of March.

h And the two and fourtieth after their first returne.

16 And the children of Israel, the Priests, and the Leuites and the residue of the children of the captiuitie kept the dedication of this house of God with ioye,

17 And offred at the dedication of this house of God an hundreth bullockes, two hundreth rammes, foure hundreth lambs, and twelue goates, for the sinne of all Israel, according to the nomber of the tribes of Israel.

18 And they set the Priests in their order, and the Leuites in their courses ouer the seruice of God in Jerusalem, as it is written in the * booke of Moses.

*Numb.3.6.& 8.9.

19 And the children of the captiuitie kept the Passeouer on the fourteenth day of the first moneth.

20 (For the Priests and the Leuites were purified al together) and they killed the Passeouer for al the children of the captiuitie, & for their brethren the Priestes, and for themselues.

21 So the children of Israel which were come again out of captiuitie, & all such as had [i] separated themselues vnto them, from the filthines of the heathen of the land, to seeke the Lord God of Israel, did eate, i Which were and forsaked their idolatrie to worship the true God.

22 And they kept the feast of vnleauened bread seuen dayes with ioye: for the Lord had made them glad, and turned the heart of the king of [k] Assur vnto them, to "incourage them in the worke of the house of God, euen the God of Israel.

CHAP. VII.

1 By the commandement of the King, Ezra and his companions come to Ierusalem. 27 He giueth thankes to God.

1 NOw after these things, in the reigne of [a] Artahshashte king of Persia, was Ezra the sonne of Seraiah, the sonne of Azariah, the sonne of Hilkiah,
2 The sonne of Shallum, the sonne of Zadok, the sonne of Ahitub,
3 The sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Azariah, the sonne of Meraioth,
4 The sonne of Zeraiah, the sonne of Vzzi, the sonne of Bukki,
5 The sonne of Abishua, the sone of Phinehas, the sonne of Eleazar, the sonne of [b] Aaron, the chiefe Priest.
6 This Ezra came vp from Babel, and was a [c] scribe prompt in the Lawe of Moses, which the Lorde God of Israel had giuen, and the king gaue him all his request according to the hande of the Lord his God which was vpon him.
7 And there went vp certaine of the children of Israel, and of the Priestes, and the Leuites, & the singers, and the porters, and the Nethinims vnto Ierusalem, in the seuenth yeere of king Artahshashte.
8 And he came to Ierusalem in the [d] fift moneth, which was in the seuenth yere [e] of the king.
9 For vpon the first day of the first moneth began he to goe vp from Babel, and on the first day of the fift moneth came hee to Ierusalem, according to the good hand of his God that was vpon him.
10 For Ezra had prepared his heart to seeke the Lawe of the Lord, and to do it, and to teache the preceptes and iudgements in Israel.
11 ¶ And this is the copie of the letter that king Artahshashte gaue vnto Ezra the Priest and scribe, euen a writer of the wordes of the commandementes of the Lord, and of his statutes ouer Israel.
12 ARTAHSHASHTE king of kings to Ezra the Priest and perfite scribe of the Lawe of the God of heauen, and to [f] Cheeneth.
13 I haue giuen commaundement, that euerypone, that is willing in my kingdome of the people of Israel, and of the Priestes, and Leuites [g] to goe to Ierusalem with thee, shall go.
14 Therefore art thou sent of the king and his seuen counsellers, to [h] enquire in Iudah and Ierusalem, according to the Law of thy God, which is in [i] thine hande,
15 And to carie the siluer and the golde, which the king and his counsellers willingly offer vnto the God of Israel (whose habitation is in Ierusalem)
16 And all the siluer and golde that thou canst finde in all the Prouince of Babel, with the free offring of the people, and that which the Priestes offer willingly to the house of their God which is in Ierusalem, 17 That thou mayest bye speedily with this siluer, bullockes, rammes, lambes, with their meat offrings & their drinke offrings: and thou shalt offer them vpon the altar of the house of your God, which is in Ierusalem.
18 And whatsoeuer it pleaseth thee and thy brethren to doe with the rest of the siluer, and gold, do ye it according to the will of your [k] God.
19 And the vessels that are giuen thee for the seruice of the house of thy God, those deliuer thou before God in Ierusalem.
20 And the residue that shall be nede full for the house of thy God, which shall be mete for thee to bestowe, thou shalt bestow it out of the kings treasure house.
21 And I king Artahshashte haue giuen commaundement to all the treasurers which are beyonde [l] the Riuer, that whatsoeuer Ezra the Priest and scribe of the Lawe of the God of heauen shall require of you, that it be done incontinently, 22 Vnto an hundreth talents of siluer, vnto an hundreth [m] measures of wheat, and vnto an hundreth [m] baths of wine, and vnto an hundreth [m] baths of ople, and salt without writing.
23 Whatsoeuer is by the commandement of the God of heauen, let it be done spredily for the house of the God of heauen: for why shoulde bee be wroth [n] against the Realme of the king & his children?
24 And we certifie you, that vpon any of the Priestes, Leuites, singers, porters, Nethinims, or Ministers in this house of God, there shall no gouernour laye vpon them tolle, tribute nor custome.
25 And thou Ezra (after the wisdom of thy God, that is in thine hande) [o] set iudges and arbiters, which may iudge all the people that is beyond the Riuer, euen al that know the Lawe of thy God, and teach ye them that know it not.
26 And whosoeuer wil not doe the Lawe of thy God, and the kings lawe, let him haue iudgement without delaye, whether it be vnto death, or to banishment, or to confiscation of goods, or to imprisonment.
27 [p] Blessed be the Lord God of our fathers, which so hath put in the kinges heart, to beautifie the house of the Lord that is in Ierusalem, 28 And hath enclyned mercie towarde me, before the king and his counsellers, and before all the kings mightie Princes: and I was comforted by the hand of the Lorde my God, which was vpon me, and I gathered the chiefe of Israel to go vp with me.

2 Of the sonnes of Phinehas, Gershom: of the sonnes of Ithamar, Daniel: of the sonnes of Dauid, Hattush:

3 Of the sonnes of Shechaniah, of the sonnes of Pharosh, Zechariah, & with him the count of the males, an hundred and fiftie.

4 Of the sonnes of [1] Pahath Moab, Elihoenai, the sonne of Zerahiah, and with him two hundred males.

1 Or, captaine of Moab.

5 Of the sonnes of Shechaniah, ꝑ sonne of Jahaziel, and with him three hundred males.

6 And of the sonnes of Adin, Ebed the sonne of Jonathan, and with him fiftie males.

7 And of the sonnes of Elam, Jeshaiah the sonne of Athaliah, and with him seuentie males.

8 And of the sonnes of Shephatiah Zebadiah the sonne of Michael, and with him fourescore males.

9 Of the sonnes of Joab, Obadiah, the sonne of Jehiel, & with him two hundred and eightéene males.

10 And of the sonnes of Shelomith the sonne of Josiphiah, & with him an hundred and threescore males.

11 And of the sonnes of Bebai, Zechariah, the sonne of Bebai, and with him eight and twentie males.

12 And of the sonnes of Azgad, Johanan the sonne of Hakkatan, and with him an hundred and ten males.

13 And of the sonnes of Adonikam, that were the [b] last, whose names are these: Eliphelet, Jehiel and Shemaiah, and with them threescore males.

b That came to go with Ezra.

14 And of the sonnes of Biguai, Uthai, and Zabbud, and with them seuentie males.

15 And I gathered them to the [c] River that goeth towarde Ahaua, and there abode we three dayes: then I bewed the people, and the Priestes, and found there none of the sonnes of Leui.

c To that place of Euphrates, where Ahaua the Riuer entreth into it, looke 1. Esdr. 8. 41.

16 Therefore sent I to Eliezer, to Ariel, to Shemeiah, and to Elnathan, and to Jarib, and to Elnathan, & to Nathan, and to Zechariah, and to Meshullam the chiefe, and to Joiarib, and to Elnathan, men of vnderstanding.

17 And I gaue them commandement, to Iddo the [d] chiefest at the place of Casiphia, and I [*] tolde them the wordes that they should speake to Iddo, and to his brethren ꝑ Nethinims at the place of Casiphia, that they shoulde cause the ministers of the house of our God to come vnto vs.

d He was the chiefest that taught there the Law of God vnto the Leuites.

 Ebr. put wordes in their mouth.*

18 So by the good hand of our God which was vpon vs, they brought vs a man of vnderstanding of the sonnes of Mahali the sonne of Leui the sonne of Israel, and Sherebiah with his sonnes & his brethren, euen eightéene.

19 Also Hashabiah, and with him Jeshaiah of the sonnes of Merari, with his brethren, and their sonnes twentie.

20 And of the [e] Nethinims, whom Dauid had set, and the Princes for the seruice of the Leuites, two hundred and twentie of the Nethinims, which all were named by name.

e Reade Chap. 2.43.

21 And there at the Riuer, by Ahaua, I proclaimed a fast, that we might humble [f] our selues before our God, & seeke of him a right way for vs, and for our children, and for all our substance.

f He sheweth that the ende of fasting is to humble the body to the spirite, which must proceede of the heart liuely touched, or else it is but hypocrisie.

22 For I was [g] ashamed to require of the king an armie, & horsemen, to helpe vs against the enemie in the way, because we had spoken to the king, saying, The hande of our God is vpon all them that seeke him in goodnes, but his power and his wrath is against al them that forsake him.

g He thought it better to commit himselfe to the protection of God, then by seeking these ordinary means, to giue an occasion to others to thinke that he did doubt of Gods power.

23 So we fasted, and besought our God for this: and he was intreated of vs.

24 Then I separated twelue of the chiefe of the priests, Sherebiah, and Hashabiah, and ten of their brethren with them,

25 And weighed them the siluer and the gold, and the vessels, euen the offring of the house of our God, which the king & his counsellers, and his princes, and al Israel that were present had offred.

26 And I weighed vnto their hande sixe hundred and fiftie [h] talents of siluer, and in siluer vessel, an hundred talents, and in gold, an hundred talents:

h Read 1. King. 9.14.

27 And twentie basins of gold, of a thousand [i] drammes, and two vessels of shining brasse very good, and precious as golde.

i Reade Chap. 2.69.

28 ¶ And I said vnto them, Ye are consecrate vnto the Lorde, & the vessels are consecrate, and the golde and the siluer are freely offred vnto the Lorde God of your fathers.

29 Watch ye, and keepe them vntill ye weigh them before the chiefe priestes & the Leuites, & the chiefe fathers of Israel in Jerusalem in ꝑ chambers of the house of the Lord.

30 So the Priestes and the Leuites receiued the weight of the siluer and of the golde, & of the vessels to bring them to Jerusalem, vnto the house of our God.

31 ¶ Then we departed from the Riuer of Ahaua on the twelfe day of the first moneth, to go vnto Jerusalem, and the hand of our God was vpon vs, and deliuered vs from the hand of the enemie, and of such as laied [k] waite by the way.

k This declared that their iourney was full of danger, and yet God deliuered them according to theyr prayer.

32 And we came to Jerusalem, and abode there three dayes.

33 And on the fourth day was the siluer weighed, and the gold, and the vessell in the house of our God by the hande of Meremoth the sonne of Uriah ꝑ Priest, and with him was Eleazar the sonne of Phinehas, and with them was Jozabad the sonne of Jeshua, and Noadiah the sonne of Binnui the [l] Leuites, l This was a token of a good conscience and of his integritie, that he would haue witnesses of his fidelitie.

34 By nomber and by weight of euery one, one, and all the weight was written at the ſame time.

35 Alſo the children of the captiuitie, which were come out of captiuitie, offred burnt offrings vnto þ God of Iſrael, twelue bullockes for all Iſrael, nintie & fiue rammes, ſeuentie & ſeuen lambes, and twelue hee goats for ſinne: all was a burnt offring of the Lord.

36 And they deliuered the kings commiſſion vnto the kings officers, and to the captaines beyonde the Riuer: and they promoted the people, and the houſe of God.

CHAP IX.

1 Ezra complaineth on the people that had turned themſelues from God, and maried with the Gentiles. 5 He prayeth vnto God.

1.*Eſdr.*8.67. 1 WHen * as theſe thinges were done, the rulers came to me, ſaying, The people of Iſrael, and the Prieſts and the Leuites are not a ſeparated from the people of the lands (as touching their abominations) to wit, of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Iebuſites, the Ammonites, the Moabites, the Egyptians, and the Amorites.

2 For they haue taken their daughters to them ſelues, and to their ſonnes, and they haue mired the holy ſeede with the people of the lands, and the hand of the b princes and rulers hath bene chiefe in this treſpaſſe.

3 But when I heard this ſaying, I rent my clothes & my garment, and pluckt off the heare of mine head, and of my beard, and ſate downe c aſtonied.

4 And there aſſembled vnto me all that feared the woords of the God of Iſrael, becauſe of the tranſgreſſion of them of the captiuitie. And I ſate downe aſtonied vntill the * euening ſacrifice.

5 And at the euening ſacrifice I aroſe vp from mine heauineſſe, and when I had rent my clothes and my garment, I fel vpon my knees, and ſpread out mine hands vnto the Lord my God,

6 And ſaid, O my God, I am confounded and aſhamed, to lift vp mine eyes vnto thee my God: for our iniquities are increaſed ouer d our head, & our treſpaſſe is growen vp vnto e the heauen.

7 From the dayes of our fathers haue we bene in a great treſpaſſe vnto this day, and for our iniquities haue we, our kings, and our prieſts bene deliuered into the hand of the kings of the landes, vnto the ſworde, into captiuitie, into a ſpoile, and into confuſion of face, as appeareth this day.

8 And nowe for a litle ſpace grace hath bene ſhewed from the Lord our God, in cauſing a remnant to eſcape, and in giuing vs a f naple in his holy place, that our God map light our eyes, and giue vs a litle reuiuing in our ſeruitude.

9 For though we were bondmen, yet our God hath not forſaken vs in our bondage, but hath enclined mercie vnto vs in the ſight of the kinges of Perſia, to giue vs life, and to erect the houſe of our God, and to redreſſe the deſolate places thereof, and to giue vs a wall in Iudah and in Ieruſalem.

10 And now, our God, what ſhall we ſay after this? for we haue forſaken thy commandements, 11 Which thou haſt commanded by thy ſeruants the Prophets, ſaying, * The land whereunto ye goe to poſſeſſe it, is an vncleane land, becauſe of the filthynes of the people of the lands, which by their abominations, and by their vncleannes haue filled it from corner to corner. *Exod.*23.32.& 34.12,15,16. *Deut.*7.23.

12 Nowe therefore ſhall ye not giue your daughters vnto their ſonnes, neither ſhall ye take their daughters vnto your ſonnes, nor ſeeke their * peace nor welth for euer, that ye may be ſtrong and eate the goodnes of the land, and leaue it for an inheritance to your ſonnes for euer. *Deut.*23.6.

13 And after all that is come vpon vs for our euill deedes, & for our great treſpaſſes (ſeeing that thou our God haſt ſtayed vs from being beneath g for our iniquities, and haſt giuen vs ſuch deliuerance)

14 Should we returne to breake thy commaundements, and ioyne in affinitie with the people of ſuch abominations? wouldeſt not thou be angrie toward vs till thou haddeſt conſumed vs, ſo that there ſhoulde be no remnant nor any eſcaping?

15 O Lord God of Iſrael, thou art iuſt, for we haue bin h reſerued to eſcape, as appeareth this day: beholde, we are before thee in our treſpaſſe: therefore we cannot ſtand before thee becauſe of it.

a From the time they came home vnder Zerubbabel vntill þ comming of Ezra, they had degenerate contrary to the lawe of God, & maryed where it was not lawfull, Deut.7.3.

CHAP. X.

1 The people repent and turne, and put away their ſtrange wiues.

1.*Eſdr.*8.90. 1 WHiles * Ezra prayed thus, and a confeſſed himſelf weeping, & falling downe before þ houſe of God, there aſſembled vnto him of Iſrael a very great Congregation of men and women and children: for the people wept with a great lamentation.

2 Then Shechaniah the ſonne of Iehiel one of the ſonnes of Elam, anſwered, and ſaide to Ezra, We haue treſpaſſed againſt our God, & haue taken ſtrange wiues of the people of the lande, yet now there is b hope in Iſrael cõcerning this.

3 Now therefore let vs make a couenant with our God, to put away c all the wiues, (and ſuch as are borne of them) according to the counſell of the Lord, & of thoſe that feare þ commandements of our God, and let it be done according to the Law.

4 Ariſe: for the matter d belongeth vnto thee: we alſo will be with thee: bee of comfort and doe it.

5 ¶ Then aroſe Ezra, & cauſed the chiefe Prieſts, a He confeſſed his ſinnes & the ſinnes of the people.

b Meaning, that God would receiue them to mercie.

c Which are ſtrangers & maryed contrary to the Law of God.

d Becauſe God hath giuen thee autoritie, and learning to perſwade the people herein, & to command them.

Prieſtes, the Leuites, and all Iſrael, to ſweare that they would doe according to this word. So they ſware.

1.Eſdr.9.1. 6 *And Ezra roſe vp from before the houſe of God, and went into the chamber of Johanan the ſonne of Eliaſhib: he went euen thither, but he did eat neither breade, nor drunke water: for he mourned, becauſe of the tranſgreſſion of them of the captiuitie.

7 And they cauſed a proclamation to go throughout Iudah and Ieruſalem, vnto "all them of the captiuitie, that they ſhould aſſemble themſelues vnto Ieruſalem.

" Ebr. ſonnes of the captiuitie.

8 And whoſoeuer would not come within three dayes according to the counſell of the Princes and Elders, all his ſubſtance ſhould be "forfaite, and he ſhould be ſeparate from the congregation of them of the captiuitie.

" Or, condemned.

9 ¶ Then all the men of Iudah & Beniamin aſſembled themſelues vnto Ieruſalem within three dayes, which was the twentieth daye of the e ninth moneth, & all the people ſate in the ſtreete of the houſe of God, trembling for this matter, and for the f rayne.

e Which conteined part of Nouember and part of December.

f For the ſeaſon was giuen to raine, and ſo the wether was more ſharpe and colde, and alſo their conſcience touched them.

10 And Ezra the prieſt ſtood vp, and ſayd vnto them, Ye haue tranſgreſſed, and haue taken ſtrange wiues, to g increaſe the treſpaſſe of Iſrael.

g Ye haue layed one ſinne vpon another.

11 Now therefore h giue prayſe vnto the Lord God of your fathers, and doe his will, and ſeparate your ſelues from the people of the land, and from the ſtrange wiues.

h Reade Ioſh. 7.19.

12 And all the congregation anſwered, and ſaid with a loude voyce, So wil we do according to thy wordes vnto vs.

13 But the people are many, and it is a raynie wether, and we are not able to ſtand without, neither is it the worke of one day or two: for we are many that haue offended in this thing.

i Let them be appointed to examine this matter.

14 Let our rulers ſtande therefore i before all the Congregation, and let all them which haue taken ſtrange wiues in our cities, come at the time appointed, and with them the Elders of euerycitie and the Iudges thereof, till the fierce wrath of our God for this matter turne away from vs.

15 Then were appointed Ionathan the ſonne of Aſah-el, & Iahaziah the ſonne of Tikuah ouer this matter, and Meſhullam and Shabbethai the Leuites helped them.

16 And they of the captiuitie did ſo and k departed, euen Ezra the prieſt, and the men that were chiefe fathers to the familie of their fathers by name, and ſate downe in the firſt daye of the tenth moneth to examine the matter.

k They went to the chiefe cities to ſit on this matter, which was three moneths in finiſhing.

17 And vntill the firſt day of the firſt moneth they were finiſhing the buſineſſe with all the men that had taken ſtrange wiues,

18 And of the ſonnes of the prieſtes there were men founde, that had taken ſtrãge wiues, to wit, of the ſonnes of Ieſhua, the ſonne of Iozadak, and of his brethren, Maaſeiah, Eliezer, and Iarib, and Gedaliah.

19 And they gaue l their hands, that they would put away their wiues, and they that had treſpaſſed, gaue a ramme for their treſpaſſe.

l As a token that they would keepe promes and do it.

THE ARGVMENT.

GOd doeth in all ages and at all times set vp worthy persons for the commoditie & profite of his Church, as now within the compasse of seuentie yeres he rayſed vp diuers excellent men for the preſeruation of his people, after their returne from Babylon, as Zerubbabel, Ezra, and Nehemiah. Whereof the firſt was their captaine to bring them home, and prouided that the Temple was buylded: the ſecond reformed their maners and planted religion: and the third buylded vp the walles, deliuered the people from oppreſſion, and prouided that the Lawe of God was put in execution among them. He was a godly man and in great authoritie with the King, ſo that the King fauoured him greatly, and gaue him moſt ample letters for the accompliſhment of all things which he couldſe deſire. This booke is alſo called of the Latines the ſecond of Ezra, becauſe he was the writer thereof.

CHAP. I.

1 Nehemiah bewaileth the calamitie of Ieruſalem. 5 He confeſſeth the ſinnes of the people, & prayeth God for them.

1 THe wordes of Nehemiah the ſonne of Hachaliah. In the moneth [a] Chiſleu, in the twentieth yeere, as I was in the palace of Shuſhan,

2 Came Hanani, one of my [b] brethren, he and the men of Iudah, and I aſked them concerning the Iewes that were deliuered, which were of the reſidue of the captiuitie, and concerning Ieruſalem.

3 And they ſayde vnto mee, The reſidue that are left of the captiuitie there in the [c] prouince, are in great affliction and in reproch, and the wall of Ieruſalem is broken downe, and the gates therof are burnt with fire.

4 And when I heard theſe wordes, I ſate down and wept, and mourned certaine dayes, and I faſted and prayed before the God of heauen,

5 And ſayde, * O Lorde God of heauen, the great and terrible God, that keepeth couenaunt and mercie for them that loue him, and obſerue his commandements,

6 I praye thee, let thine eares be attent, and thine eyes open, to heare the prayer of thy ſeruant, which I praye before thee dayly, day & night for the children of Iſrael thy ſeruants, and confeſſe the ſinnes of the children of Iſrael, which we haue ſinned againſt thee, both I and my fathers houſe haue ſinned:

7 Wee haue " grieuouſly ſinned againſt thee, and haue not kept the commandementes, nor the ſtatutes, nor the iudgements which thou commaundedſt thy ſeruant Moſes.

8 I beſeeche thee, remember the worde that thou commaundedſt thy ſeruaunt Moſes, ſaying, Ye will tranſgreſſe, and I * will ſcatter you abroade among the people.

9 But if ye turne vnto me, and keepe my commandements, & do them, * though your ſcattering were to the vttermoſt part of the heauen, yet wil I gather you from thence, and wil bring you vnto the place that I haue choſen, to place my Name there.

10 Nowe theſe are thy ſeruants and thy people, whome thou haſt redeemed by thy great power, and by thy mightie hand.

11 O Lorde, I beſeeche thee, let thine eare nowe hearken to the prayer of thy ſeruant, & to the prayer of thy ſeruantes, who deſire to [d] feare thy Name, and, I praye thee, cauſe thy ſeruant to proſper this daye, and giue him fauour in the preſence of [e] this man: for I was the kings butler.

CHAP. II.

1 After Nehemiah had obteined letters of Artaxerxes, 11 He came to Ieruſalem, 17 And buylded the walles.

1 NOwe in the moneth [a] Niſan in the twentieth yeere of king [b] Artahſhaſhte, the wine ſtood before him, and I tooke vp the wine, & gaue it vnto the king. Nowe I was not beforetime ſad in his preſence.

2 And the king ſaid vnto me, Why is thy countenance ſad, ſeeing thou art not ſicke? this is nothing, but ſorowe of heart. Then was I ſore afrayde,

3 And I ſayde to the king, God ſaue the king for euer: why ſhould not my countenance be ſad, when the citie and houſe of the ſepulchres of my fathers lyeth waſte, and the gates thereof are deuoured with fire?

4 And the king ſaid vnto me, For what thing doeſt thou require? Then I prayed [c] to the God of heauen,

5 And ſaid vnto the king, If it pleaſe the king, and if thy ſeruant haue founde fauour in thy ſight, I deſire that thou woudeſt ſend me to Iudah vnto the citie of the ſepulchres of my fathers, that I may build it.

6 And the king ſaid vnto me, (the Queene alſo ſitting by him) Howe long ſhall thy iourney be? and when wilt thou come againe? So it pleaſed the king, and he ſent me, and I ſet him a time.

7 After, I ſaid vnto the king, If it pleaſe the king, let them giue me letters to the captaines beyond the " Riuer, that they may conuey mee ouer, till I come into Iudah,

8 And letters vnto Aſaph the keeper of the kings " parke, that he may giue me timber to build the gates of the palace (which

(which apperteined to the house) and for the walles of the citie, and for the house that I shall enter into. And the king gaue me according to [d] the good hand of my God vpon me.

d As God moued me to aske, and as he gaue me good successe therein.

9 ¶ Then came I to the captaines beyond the Riuer, and gaue them the kings letters. And the king had sent captaines of the armie and horsemen with me.

10 But [e] Sanballat the Horonite, & Tobiah a seruant an Ammonite heard it, & it grieued them sore, that there was come a man which sought the welth of the children of Israel.

e These were great enemies to the Iewes and labored alwayes both by force & subtiltie to ouercome them, and Tobiah, because his wife was a Iewesse, had aduertisemẽt euer of their affaires, and so wrought them great trouble.

11 So I came to Ierusalem, and was there three dayes.

12 And I rose in the night, I, & a fewe mẽ with me: for I told no man, what God had put in mine heart to do at Ierusalem, & there was not a beast with me, saue the beast whereon I rode.

13 And I went out by night by the gate of the valley, & came before the dragon well, and to the dung port, and beheld the walles of Ierusalẽ, how they were broken downe, and the portes thereof deuoured with the fire.

[a] Or, conduit.

14 Then I went forth vnto the gate of the [a] fountaine, and to the kings fishpoole, and there was no roome for the beast that was vnder me to passe.

15 Then went I vp in the night by the brooke, and beheld the wall, and turned backe, and comming back, I entred by the gate of the valley and returned.

16 And the rulers knewe not whither I was gone, nor what I did, neither did I as yet tell it vnto the Iewes, nor to the priestes, nor to the noble men, nor to the rulers, nor to the rest that laboured in the worke.

17 Afterwarde I saide vnto them, Ye see the miserie that we are in, howe Ierusalem lieth waste, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire: come and let vs build the wall of Ierusalem, that we be no more [f] a reproche.

f That is, contemned of other nations, as though God had forsaken vs.

18 Then I tolde them of the hand of my God (which was good ouer me) and also of the kings wordes that he had spoken vnto me. And they said, Let vs rise, and build. So they [g] strengthened their hand to good.

g They were incouraged and gaue themselues to doe well, and to trauell in this worthie enterprise.

19 But when Sanballat the Horonite, & Tobiah the seruant an Ammonite, and [h] Geshem the Arabian heard it, they mocked vs and despised vs, and sayde, What a thing is this that ye doe? Will ye [i] rebell against the king?

h These were three chiefe gouerners vnder the king of Persia beyond Euphrates.

20 Then answered I them, and saide to them, The God of heauen, he will prosper vs, and we his seruants will rise vp and builde: but as for you, ye haue no portion nor right, nor [k] memorial in Ierusalem.

i Thus the wicked when they will burthen the children of God, euer lay treason vnto their charge, both because it maketh them most odious to the worlde, and also stirreth the hatred of Princes most against them.

k Neither ye are of the nomber of the children of God (to whom he hath appointed this citie onely) neither did any of your predecessours euer feare God.

CHAP III.

The nomber of them that builded the walles.

THen arose Eliashib the hie Priest with his brethren the priests, and they built [b] the sheepegate: they [a] repaired it, & set vp the doores thereof: euen vnto the towre of Meah repaired they it, and vnto the towre of Hananeel.

a In Ebrew, they sanctified it, that is, they finished it, and so dedicated it to [b] Lorde by prayer, in desiring him to maintaine it.

2 And next vnto him builded the men of Jericho, and beside him Zaccur the sonne of Imri.

3 But the fish port did the sonnes of Senaah build, which also laid the beames thereof, and set on the doores thereof, the lockes thereof, & the barres thereof.

4 And next vnto them fortified Meremoth, the sonne of Vriah, the sonne of Hakkoz: and next vnto them fortified Meshullam, the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Meshezabeel: and next vnto them fortified Zadok, the sonne of Baana:

5 And next vnto them fortified the Tekoites: but the great men of them [b] put not their neckes to the worke of their lorde.

b The rich and mightie would not obey them, which were appointed officers in this worke, neither wouldie they helpe thereunto.

6 And the gate of the * old fishpoole fortified Jehoiada the sonne of Paseah, and Meshullam the sonne of Besodeiah: they laied the beames thereof, and set on the doores thereof, and the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof.

Ier. 22. 11.

7 Next vnto them also fortified Melatiah the Gibeonite, and Jadon the Meronothite, men of Gibeon, and of Mispah, vnto the [c] throne of the Duke, which was beyonde the Riuer.

c Vnto the place where the Duke was wont to sit in iudgement, who gouerned the countrey in their absence.

8 Next vnto him fortified Vzziel the sonne of Harhaiah of [d] gold smithes: next vnto him also fortified Hananiah, the sonne [e] of Harakkahtim, and they repayred Jerusalem vnto the broade wall.

[d] Or, of Zorephim.

[e] Or, of the apotkaries.

9 Also next vnto them fortified Rephaiah, the sonne of Hur, the ruler of [f] halfe part of Jerusalem.

10 And next vnto him fortified Jedaiah the sonne of Harumaph, euen ouer against his house: & next vnto him fortified Hattush, [g] sonne of Hashabniah.

11 Malchiah the sonne of Harim, and Hashub the sonne of Pahath Moab fortified the seconde [h] portion, and the towre of the fornaces.

[h] Or, measure.

12 Next vnto him also fortified Shallum, the sonne of Hallohesh, the ruler of the halfe part of Jerusalem, he, and his daughters.

13 The valley gate fortified Hanum, and the inhabitants of Zanoah: they built it, and set on the doores thereof, [i] locks thereof, and the barres thereof, euen a thousand cubites on the wall vnto the dung port.

14 But the dung port fortified Malchiah, the sonne of Rechab, the ruler of the fourth part of Beth-haccarem: he built it, and set on the doores thereof, [k] lockes thereof, and the barres thereof.

15 But the gate of the fountaine fortified

Shal-

Shallum, the sonne of Col-hozeh, ꝓ ruler of the fourth part of Mizpah: he builded it, and couered it, and set on the doores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof, and the wall vnto the fish poole of [a] Shelah by the kinges garden, and vnto the steppes that goe downe from the citie of Dauid.

16 After him repaired Nehemiah ꝓ sonne of Azbuk, the ruler of the halfe part of Beth-zur, vnto ꝓ other side ouer against the sepulchres of Dauid, and to the fishpoole that was repayred, and vnto the house of the mightie.

17 After him repaired the Leuites, Rehum the sonne of Bani, and next vnto him repaired Hashabiah the ruler of the half part of Keilah in his quarter.

18 After him repaired their brethren: Bauai, the sonne of Henadad the ruler of the halfe part of Keilah.

19 And next vnto him repaired Ezer, the sonne of Ieshua the ruler of Mizpah, the other portion ouer against the going vp to the [d] corner of the armour.

20 After him was earnest Baruch the sonne of Zacchai, and repaired another portion from the corner vnto the doore of the house of Eliashib the hie priest.

21 After him repaired Meremoth, the sonne of Vriah, the sonne of Hakkoz, another portion from the doore of the house of Eliashib, euen as long as the house of Eliashib extended.

22 After him also repaired the priestes, the men of [e] the plaine.

23 After them repaired Beniamin, and Hashub ouer against their house: after him repaired Azariah the sonne of Maaseiah, the sonne of Ananiah, by his house.

24 After him repaired Binnui, the sonne of Henadad an other portion, from the house of Azariah vnto the turning and vnto the corner.

25 Palal, the sonne of Vzai, from ouer against the corner, and the high towre, that lieth out from the kinges house, which is beside the court of the prison. After him, Pedaiah, the sonne of Parosh.

26 And the [f] Nethinims, they dwelt in the fortresse vnto the place ouer against the water gate, Eastwarde, and to the towre that lyeth out.

27 After him repaired the Tekoites another portion ouer against the great towre that lieth out, euen vnto the wall of the fortresse.

28 From aboue the horsegate repaired the priests, euery one ouer against his house.

29 After them repaired Zadok the sonne of Immer ouer against his house: and after him repaired Shemaiah, the sonne of Shechaniah the keeper of the East-gate.

30 After him repaired Hananiah, the sonne of Shelemiah, and Hanun, the sonne of Zalaph, the [g] sixt, another portion: after him repaired Meshullam, the sonne of Berechiah, ouer against his chamber.

31 After him repaired Malchiah the goldsmiths sonne, vntill the house of ꝓ Nethinims, and of the marchants ouer against the gate [h] Miphkad, and to the chamber in the corner.

32 And betweene the chamber of the corner vnto the sheepegate, repaired the goldsmithes and the marchants.

CHAP. IIII.

The building of Ierusalem is hindered, 15 But God breaketh their enterprise. 17 The Iewes builde with one hande, and holde their weapons in the other.

BVt whē Sanballat heard that we builded ꝓ wal, then was he wroth & sore grieued, & mocked ꝓ Iewes,

2 And said before his brethren & the army of Samaria, thus he said, What do these [b] weake Iewes? will they fortifie themselues? will they sacrifice? will they finish it in a day? will they make the stones whole againe out of ꝓ heaps of dust, seeing they are burnt?

3 And Tobiah the Ammonite was beside him, and said, Although they build, yet if a fox goe vp, he shall euen breake downe their stonie wall.

4 [c] Heare, O our God (for we are despised) and turne their shame vpon their owne head, and giue them vnto a prap [d] in the land of their captiuitie,

5 And couer not their [e] iniquitie, neither let their sinne be put out in thy presence: for they haue prouoked vs before the builders.

6 So we built the wall, and all the wall was ioyned vnto the [a] halfe thereof, and the heart of the people was to worke.

7 ¶ But when Sanballat, and Tobiah, & the Arabians, and ꝓ Ammonites, and the Ashdodims heard that the walles of Ierusalem were repaired, (for the breaches began to be stopped) then they were very wroth,

8 And conspired altogether to come & to fight against Ierusalem, and to [a] hinder them.

9 Then we prayed vnto our God, and set watchmen by them, day and night, because of them.

10 And Iudah saide, The strength of the bearers is weakened, and there is much earth, so that we are not able to builde the wall.

11 Also our aduersaries had saide, They shall not know, neither see, till we come into the middes of them and slay them, and cause the worke to cease.

12 But when the Iewes (which dwelt beside them) came, they tolde vs [f] tenne times, from all places whence ye shall returne, they will be vpon vs.

13 Therefore set I in the lower places behinde the wall vpon the toppes of the stones, and placed the people by their families, with their swoordes, their speares and their bowes.

b Thus the wicked, that cōsider not that Gods power is euer in a readines for ꝓ defence of his, mocke them as though they were weake and feeble.

c This is the remedie that the children of God haue against the derisiō & threatnings of their enemies, to flee to God by prayer.

d Let them be spoyled and led away captiue.

e Let thy plagues declare to ꝓ worlde, that they set them selues against thee, and against thy Church: thus he prayeth, onely hauing respect to Gods glory, and not for any priuate affection, or grudge.

a Or, halfe height.

a Ebr. make to stay, meaning the people.

f That is, often-times.

g They, which brought the tydings, said thus, When you leaue your worke, and go either to eate or to rest, your enemies will assayle you.

h Which was the place of iudgement, or execution.

14 Then I beheld, and rose vp, and sayde vnto the Princes, & to the rulers, and to the rest of the people, Be not afrayde of them: [b] remember the great Lorde, & fearefull, & fight for your brethren, your sonnes, & your daughters, your wiues, and your houses.

b Who is euer at hand to deliuer his out of danger, and therfore seing thei should fight for the maynteinance of Gods glorie, and for the preseruation of their owne liues and of theirs, he encourageth them to play the valiant men.

15 And when our enemies heard that it was knowen vnto vs, the God brought their counsell to nought, and we turned all againe to the wall, euery one vnto his worke.

16 And from that daye, halfe of the yong men did the labour, and the other halfe part of them held the speares, & shields, and bowes, and habergines: and the rulers stoode [i] behinde all the house of Iudah.

i To ouersee them and to encourage them to their worke.

17 They that builded on the wall, & they that bare burdens, and they that laded, did the worke with one hand, and with the other held the sword.

18 For euery one of the buylders had his sworde girt on his lopnes, and so buylded: and he that blewe the trumpet, was beside me.

19 Then said I vnto the Princes, and to the rulers, and to the rest of the people, The worke is great and large, and we are separated vpon the wall, one farre from another.

20 In what place therefore ye heare the sound of the trumpet, [k] resort ye thither vnto vs: our God shal fight for vs.

k Meaning, to resist their enemies, if neede required.

21 So we laboured in the worke, & halfe of them helde the speares, from the appearing of the morning, till the starres came forth.

22 And at the same time said I vnto the people, Let euery one with his seruant lodge within Ierusalem, that they may be a watche for vs in the night, and labour in the day.

l That is, when they purified thē selues, or els whē they washed their clothes.

23 So neither I, nor my brethren, nor my seruantes, nor the men of the warde, (which followed me) none of vs did put off our clothes, saue euery one put them off [l] for washing.

CHAP. V.

1 The people are oppressed and in necessitie. 6 Nehemiah remedieth it. 14 He tooke not the portion of others that had ruled before, least he shoulde grieue the people.

1 NOwe there was a great cry of the people, & of their wiues [a] against their brethren the Iewes.

a Against the riche, which oppressed them.

2 For there were that sayde, Wee, our sonnes and our daughters are manie, therefore we take vp [b] corne, that wee may eate and liue.

b This is the cōplaint of ỹ people, shewing to what extremitie they were brought vnto.

3 And there were that said, We must gage our lands, & our vineyards, & our houses, and take vp corne for the famine.

4 There were also that said, We haue borowed money for the kinges [c] tribute vpon our landes and our vineyardes.

c To pay our tribute to the king of the Persians, which was exacted yerely of vs.

5 And nowe our flesh is as [d] the flesh of our brethren, and our sonnes as their sonnes: and lo, we bring into subiection our sonnes, and our daughters, as seruantes, and there be of our daughters now in subiection, and there is no power [e] in our handes: for other men haue our landes and our vineyards.

d By nature the rich is no better then the poore.

e We are not able to redeeme them, but for pouertie are constreyned to hire them to others.

6 Then was I very angry, whē I heard their cry and these wordes.

7 And I thought in my minde, & I rebuked the princes, and the rulers, and said vnto them, You laye [f] burdens euery one vpon his brethren: and I set a great [g] assemblye against them, f You presse thē with vsurie, and seeke howe to bring all things into your hands.

g Both because they should be moued with pitie, seeing howe many were by them oppressed, & also heare the iudgement of others, which should be as it were witnesses of their dealing toward their brethren.

8 And I saide vnto them, We (according to our abilitie) haue redeemed our brethren the Iewes, which were solde vnto the heathen: and will you sell your brethren againe, or shal they be [h] solde vnto vs? Then held they their peace, & could not answere.

h Seeing God hath once delicuered them frō the bondage of the heathen, shal we make them our slaues?

9 [i] I sayd also, That which ye doe, is not good. Ought ye not to walke in the feare of our God, for the [k] reproch of the heathen our enemies?

i Meaning, Nehemiah.

k Who by this occasiō wil blaspheme ỹ Name of God, seeing that our actes are no better then theirs.

10 For euen I, my brethren, and my seruants do lende them money and corne: I pray you, let vs leaue off this [l] burde.

l Or, Vsurie.

11 Restore, I praye you, vnto them this day their landes, their vineyardes, their olives, and their houses, and remit the hundreth parte of the siluer and of the corne, of the wine, and of the oyle [m] that ye exact of them.

m Which ye take of them for the lone.

12 Then sayd they, We wil restore it, and will not require it of them: we will doe as thou hast sayde. Then I called the priests, and caused them to sweare, that they should doe according to this promise.

13 Also I shooke my lappe, and said, So let God shake out euery man that will not performe this promise from his house, and from his labour: euen thus let him be shaken out, and emptyed. And all the congregation sayd, Amen, and praysed the Lord: and the people did according to this promise.

14 And from the time that the king gaue me charge to be gouernour in the lande of Iudah from the twentieth yere, euen vnto the two and thirtieth yere of king Artahshahte, that is, twelue yere, I, and my brethren haue not eaten the [n] bread of the gouernour.

n I receiued not that portion & diet, which the gouernours, that were before me, exacted: wherein he declareth that he rather sought ỹ wealth of the people, then his owne commoditie.

15 For the former gouernours that were before me, had bene chargeable vnto the people, and had taken of them breade and wine, besides fourtie shekels of siluer: yea, and their seruants bare rule ouer the people: but so did not I, because of the feare of God.

16 But rather I fortified a portion in the worke of this wall, and we bought no land, and all my seruants came thither together vnto the worke.

17 Moreouer there were at my table an hundreth and fiftie of the Iewes, and rulers, which came vnto vs from among the heathen that are about vs.

18 And there was prepared daily an ore, and sixe chosen sheepe, and birdes were prepared for me, and [a] with ten dayes wine for all [n] in abundance. Yet for all this I required not the bread of the gouernour: for the bondage was grieuous vnto this people.

19 Remember me, O my God, in goodnesse, according to all that I haue done for this people.

CHAP. VI.

1 Nehemiah answereth with great wisedome, and zeale to his aduersaries. 11 He is not discouraged by the false prophets.

a That is, that they were ioyned together, as Chap. 4.6.
b Meaning, [y] if he should obey their request, the work, which god had appointed, should cease: shewing hereby that we should not commit our selues to [y] hands of the wicked.
[a] Or, Geshem.
c As the same goeth.
d Thou hast bribed, and set vp false prophets, to make thy selfe king, & so to defraude the king of Persia of that subiection, which you owe vnto him.
[a] Ebr. strengthen thou mine hand.
e As though he would be secret, to [y] intent that he might pray vnto God with greater libertie, & receiue some reuelatiō, which in him was but hypocrisie.
f. He doubted not but God was able to preserue him, and knewe that if he had obeyed this counsell, he should haue discouraged all [y] people: thus God giueth power to his, to resist false prophecies, though they seeme to haue neuer so great probabilitie.

1 AND when Sanballat, and Tobiah, and Geshem the Arabian, and the rest of our enemies heard that I had built the wall, and that there were no more breaches therin (though at that time I had not set vp the doores vpon the gates)
2 Then sent Sanballat and Geshem vnto me, saying, Come thou that we may méete together in the villages in the plaine of Ono: and they thought to do me euill.
3 Therefore I sent messengers vnto them, saying, I haue a great worke to do, and I can not come downe: [b] why should the worke cease, whyles I leaue it, and come downe to you?
4 Yet they sent vnto me foure times after this sort. And I answered them after the same maner.
5 Then sent Sanballat his seruant after this sort vnto me the fifth time, with an open letter in his hand,
6 Wherein was written, It is reported among the heathen, & [a] Gashmu hath sayd it, that thou and the Iewes thinke to rebell, for the which cause thou buildest the wal, and thou wilt be their king according to these [c] words.
7 Thou hast also ordeined [d] the Prophets to preache of thee at Ierusalem, saying, There is a king in Iudah: & now according to these words it shal come to the kings eares: come nowe therefore, and let vs take counsel together.
8 Then I sent vnto him, saying, It is not done according to these words that thou sayest: for thou fainest them of thine owne heart.
9 For all they afraied vs, saying, Their hands shalbe weakened from the worke, and it shall not be done: now therefore [a] encourage thou me.
10 ¶ And I came to the house of Shemaiah the sonne of Delaiah the sonne of Mehetabeel, and he was [e] shut vp, and he sayde, Let vs come together into the House of God in the middes of the Temple, and shut the doores of the Temple: for they will come to slay thee: yea, in the night will they come to kill thee.
11 Then I sayd, [f] Should such a man as I, flee? Who is he, being as I am, that woulde goe into the Temple to liue? I will not go in.
12 And lo, I perceiued, that God had not sent him, but that hee pronounced this prophecie against mee: for Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him.
13 Therefore was he hired, that I might be afraide, and doe thus, and sinne, and that they might haue an euil report that they might reproche me.
14 My God, remember thou Tobiah, & Sanballat according vnto these their workes, & Noadiah the [g] Prophetesse also, and the rest of the Prophetes that would haue put me in feare.
15 ¶ Notwithstanding the wal was finished on the fine & twentieth daye of [h] Elul, in two and fifte dayes.
16 And when al our enemies heard therof, euen all the heathen that were about vs, they were afraid, and their courage fayled them: for they knewe, that this worke was wrought by our God.
17 And in these daies were there many of the princes of Iudah, whose [k] letters went vnto Tobiah, and those of Tobiah came vnto them.
18 For there were many in Iudah, that were sworne vnto him: for hee was the sonne in lawe of Shechaniah, the sonne of Arah: & his sonne Iehonathan had the daughter of Meshullam, the sonne of Berechiah.
19 Yea, they spake in his praise before me, and tolde him my words, and Tobiah sent letters to put me in feare.

g Very grieue caused him to pray against such, which vnder the pretence of being the ministers of God, were aduersaries to his glory, and went about to ouerthrow his church, declaring also hereby that where there is one true minister of God, the deuill hath a great sort of hirelings.
h Which was [y] sixth moneth, & cōteined part of August, and part of September.
i After [y] I had sent Sanballat his answere.
k Thus [y] church of God hath euermore enemies within it selfe, which are more dangerous then the outward and professed enemie.

CHAP. VII.

1 After the wall once buylded, is the watch appointed. 6 They that returned from the captiuitie are nombred.

1 NOw [a] when the wal was builded, and I had set vp the doores, and the porters, and the singers and the Leuites were appointed,
2 Then I commanded my brother Hanani and Hananiah the prince of the palace in Ierusalem (for he was doubtlesse a faithfull man, and feared God aboue many)
3 And I said vnto them, Let not [b] gates of Ierusalem be opened, vntill the heate of the sunne: and while [a] they stand by, let them shut the doores, and [a] make them fast: and I appointed wardes of the inhabitantes of Ierusalem, euery one in his warde, and euery one ouer against his house.
4 Now the citie was large and great, but the people were fewe therein, & the houses were not builded.
5 And my God put into mine heart, and I gathered the princes, and the rulers, and the people, to count their genealogies: and I found a booke of the genealogie of them, [a] which came vp at the first, and found written therein,
6 These are the [b] sonnes of the prouince that came vp from the captiuitie that was caried away (whome Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel had carped away) and they returned to Ierusalem and to Iudah, euery one vnto his citie.

CHAP. VIII.

Ezra gathereth together the people, and readeth to them the Law. 12 They reioyce in Israel for the knowledge of the word of God. 15 They keep the feast of Tabernacles or boothes.

1 AND all the people assembled themselues * together, in the streete that was before the watergate, and they spake vnto Ezra the [a] scribe, that hee would bring the booke of the Lawe of Moses, which the Lorde had commanded to Israel.

* Ebr. as one man.

a Read Ezra 7.6.

2 And Ezra the Priest brought the Lawe before the Congregation both of men and women, & of all that [b] could heare and vnderstand it, in the first day of the seuenth moneth, b Which had age & discretion to vnderstand.

3 And he read therein in the streete that was before the watergate (from the morning vntill [c] midday) before men and women, and them that vnderstoode it, and the eares of all the people hearkened vnto the booke of the Lawe.

c This declareth the great zeale, that the people had to heare the word of God.

4 And Ezra the scribe stoode vpon a pulpit of wood, which he had made for the preaching, and beside him stoode Mattithiah, and Shema, and Ananiah, and Uriah, and Hilkiah, and Maaseiah on his right hand, & on his left hand Pedaiah, and Mishael, and Malchiah, and Hashum, and Hashbadana, Zechariah, and Meshullam.

d To the intent that his voice might be the better heard.

5 And Ezra opened the booke before all the people: for hee was [d] aboue all the people: and when he opened it, all the people stoode vp.

6 And Ezra praysed the Lorde the great God, and all the people answered, Amen, Amen, with lifting vp their hands: and they bowed them selues, and worshipped the Lorde with their faces toward the ground.

7 Also Jeshua, & Bani, and Sherebiah, Jamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodiah, Maaseiah, Kelita, Azariah, Jozabad, Hanan, Pelaiah, and the Leuites caused the people to vnderstande the Law, and the people stoode in their place.

8 And they read in the booke of the Law of God distinctly & gaue the sense, and caused them to vnderstand the reading.

9 Then Nehemiah (which is Tirshatha) and Ezra the Priest and scribe, and the Leuites that instructed the people, sayde vnto all the people, This day is holy vnto the Lord your God: mourne not, nether weepe: for all the people [e] wept, when they heard the words of the Law.

e In considering their offences against the Lawe. Therefore the Leuites doe not reproue them for mourning, but assure them of Gods mercies forasmuch as they are repentant.

10 He said also vnto them, Goe, & eate of the fat, and drinke the sweete, and sende part vnto them, for whom none is [f] prepared: for this day is holy vnto our Lorde: be ye not sorie therefore: for the [g] ioy of the Lord is your strength.

f That is, remember the poore.

g Reioyce in the Lorde, and he will giue you strength.

11 And the Leuites made silence throughout all the people, saying, Holde your peace: for the day is holy, be not sadde therefore.

12 Then all the people went to eat and to drinke, & to sende awaye part, & to make great ioye, because they had vnderstand the words that they had taught them.

13 And on the second day the chiefe fathers of all the people, the Priests & the Leuites were gathered vnto Ezra the scribe, that he also might instruct them in the words of the Lawe.

14 And they founde written in the Lawe, (that the Lord had commanded by Moses) that the children of Israel should dwell in * boothes in the feast of the seuenth moneth, Leuit. 23.34.

15 And that they should cause it to be declared and proclaimed in all their cities, and in Jerusalem, saying, Go forth vnto the mount, and bring olive branches, and pine branches, & branches of [h] myrtus, and palme branches, and branches of thicke trees, to make boothes, as it is written.

h Or, goodly branches, as Leu. 23.40.

16 So the people went forth and brought them and made them boothes, euery one vpon the [h] roofe of his house, and in their courtes, and in the courtes of the house of God, and in the streete by the watergate, and in the streete of the gate of Ephraim.

h For their houses were made flat aboue. reade Deut 22.8.

17 And all the Congregation of them that were come againe out of the captiuitie, made boothes, & sate vnder the boothes: for since the [i] time of Jeshua the sonne of Nun vnto this day, had not the children of Israel done so, and there was very great ioy.

i Which was almost a thousand yeres.

18 And

18 And hee read in the booke of the Lawe of God euery day, from the firſt day vnto the laſt day. And they kept the feaſt ſeuen dayes, and on the eight day a ſolemne aſſemblie, according vnto the maner.

4 Then ſtoode vp vpon the ſtaires of the Leuites Jeſhua, and Bani, Kadmiel, Shebaniah, Bunni, Sherebiah, Bani and Chenani, and cryed with a loude voyce vnto the Lord their God.

5 And the Leuites ſaide, euen Jeſhua and Kadmiel, Bani, Haſhabniah, Sherebiah, Hodiiah, Shebaniah, & Pethahiah, Stand vp, & praiſe the Lorde your God for euer, and euer, & let them praiſe thy glorious Name, O God, which excelleth aboue all thankeſgiuing and praiſe.

18 Moreouer, when they made them a molten calfe (and ſaid, This is thy God that brought thee vp out of the lande of Egypt) and committed great blaſphemies, 19 Yet thou for thy great mercies forſookeſt them not in the wildernes: * the pillar of the cloude departed not from them by day to lead them the way, neither the pillar of fire by night, to ſhewe them light, and the way whereby they ſhould goe.

22 And thou gaueſt them kingdoms and people, and [d] ſcatteredſt them into corners: ſo they poſſeſſed * the land of Hiſhon & the lande of the king of Heſhbon, and the land of Og king of Bathan.

d Meaning, the heathen whome he droue out.

Nom. 21. 26.

23 And thou diddeſt multiplie their children, like the ſtarres of the heauen, and broughteſt them into the lande, whereof thou hadeſt ſpoken vnto their fathers, that they ſhould goe, and poſſeſſe it.

24 So the children went in, and poſſeſſed the lande, & thou ſubduedſt before them the inhabitantes of the lande, euen the Canaanites, and gaueſt them into their hands, with their kings and the people of the lande, that they might doe with them what they would.

25 And they tooke their ſtrong cities & the fat lande, and poſſeſſed houſes, ful of all goods, ciſternes digged out, vineyards, and oliues, and trees for foode in abundance, and they did eat, and were filled, and became fatte, and liued in pleaſure through thy great goodnes.

26 Yet they were diſobedient, and rebelled againſt thée, and caſt thy Lawe behinde their backes, and ſlewe thy Prophets (which [e] proteſted among them to turne them vnto thée) and committed great blaſphemies.

27 Therefore thou deliueredſt them into the hande of their enemies that vexed them: yet in the time of their affliction, when they cryed vnto thée, thou heardeſt them from the heauen, and through thy great mercies thou gaueſt them ſauiours, who ſaued them out of the hand of their aduerſaries.

28 But when they had [f] reſt, they returned to do euil before thée: therefore leftſt thou them in ꝑ hande of their enemies, ſo that thei had the dominiõ ouer them, yet when they conuerted & cryed vnto thée, thou heardeſt them from heauen, and deliueredſt them according to thy great mercies many times,

29 And proteſtedſt among them that thou mightest bring them againe vnto thy Law: but they behaued themſelues proudely, and hearkened not vnto thy commaundements, but ſinned againſt thy iudgements (*which a man ſhould do and liue in them) and [g] pulled away the ſhoulder, and were ſtiffenecked, and would not [h] heare.

30 Yet thou "bideſt forbeare them many yeres, and proteſtedſt among them by thy Spirite, euen by ꝑ hand of thy Prophets, but they would not heare: therefore gaueſt thou them into the hande of the people of the landes.

31 Yet for thy great mercies thou haſt not conſumed them, neither forſaken them: for thou art a gracious and mercifull God.

32 Now therefore our God, *thou great God, mightie and terrible, that keepeſt couenant and *mercie, let not all the affliction that hath come vnto vs, ſeeme a little before thée, that is, to our kings, to our Princes, and to our Prieſts, and to our Prophets, and to our fathers, and to all thy people ſince the time of the kings of [i] Aſſhur vnto this day.

33 Surely thou art iuſt in all that is come vpon vs: for thou [k] haſt dealt truly, but we haue done wickedly.

34 And our kings and our princes, our prieſtes and our fathers haue not done thy Law, nor regarded thy commandements nor thy proteſtations, wherewith thou haſt [l] proteſted among them.

35 And they haue not ſerued thée in their kingdome, and in thy great goodneſſe that thou ſhewedſt vnto them, and in the large and fat lande which thou didſt ſet before them, and haue not conuerted from their euil workes.

36 Beholde, we are ſeruantes this day, and the land that thou gaueſt vnto our fathers, to eate the [m] fruite thereof, and the goodnes thereof, beholde, we are ſeruants therein.

37 And it ꝓceedeth much fruite vnto the kings whome thou haſt ſet ouer vs, becauſe of our ſinnes: and they haue dominion ouer our bodies and ouer our cattel at their pleaſure, and we are in great affliction.

38 Now becauſe of all this we make [a] a ſure couenant, and write it, and our princes, our Leuites & our Prieſts ſeale vnto it.

CHAP. XI.

1 Who dwelled in Ierusalem after it was builded,
21 And who in the cities of Iudah.

1 AND the rulers of the people dwelt in Ierusalem: the other people also cast lots, [a] to bring one out of ten to dwell in Ierusalem the holy citie, and nine parts to be in the cities.
2 And the people thanked all the men that were willing to dwell in Ierusalẽ.
3 These now are ỹ chiefe of the prouince, that dwelt in Ierusalẽ, but in the cities of Iudah, euery one dwelt in his owne possession in their cities of Israel, the Priestes and the Leuites, & the Nethinims, and the sonnes of Salomons seruantes.
4 And in Ierusalem dwelt certaine of the children of Iudah, & of the children of Beniamin. Of the sonnes of Iudah, Atathaiah, the sonne of Vzziah, the sonne of Zecharias, the sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Shephatiah, the sonne of Mahalel, of the sonnes of [b] Perez, 5 And Maaseiah the sonne of Baruch, the sonne of Col Hozeh, ỹ sonne of Hazaiah the sonne of Adaiah, the sonne of Joia-rib, the sonne of Zecharias, the sonne [1] of Shiloni.
6 All the sonnes of Perez that dwelt at Ierusalem, were foure hundreth, three score and eight valiant men.
7 These also are ỹ sonnes of Beniamin, Sallu, the sonne of Meshullã, the sonne of Ioed, the sonne of Pedaiah, ỹ sonne of Kolaiah, the sonne of Maaseiah, the sonne of Ithiel, the sonne of Iesaiah.
8 And after him Gabai, Sallai, nine hũ-dreth and twentie and eight.
9 And Joel the sonne of Zichri was go-uernour ouer them: and Iudah, the sonne of Hennah was the seconde ouer
the citie:
10 Of the Priestes, Jedaiah, the sonne of Joiarib, Jachin.
11 Seraiah, the sonne of Hilkiah, the sonne of Meshullam, the sonne of Zadok, the sonne of Meraioth, the sonne of Ahitub [c] was chiefe of the house of God.
12 And their brethren [d] ỹ did the worke in the Temple, were eight hundreth, twen-tie & two: and Adaiah, the sonne of Jeroham, the sonne of Pelaliah, the sonne of Amzi, the sonne of Zecharias, the sonne of Pashur, ỹ sonne of Malchiah:
13 And his brethren, chiefe of the fathers, two hundreth and two and fourty: and Amashai the sonne of Azareel, the sonne of Ahazai, the sonne of Meshilemoth, the sonne of Immer:
14 And their brethren valiãt men, an hun-dreth & eight & twentie: & their ouerseer was Zabdiel the sonne [1] of Hagedolim.
15 And of the Leuites, Shemaiah, the sonne of Hashub, ỹ sonne of Azrikã, the sonne of Hashabiah, ỹ sonne of Bunni.
16 And Shabbethai, and Jozabad of the chiefe of ỹ Leuites were ouer the works of the house of God without.
17 And Mattaniah, the sonne of Micha, the sonne of Zabdi, the sonne of Asaph was the chiefe to [e] begin the thanksgiving and prayer: and Bakbukiah the second of his brethren, & Abda, the sonne of Shammua, the sonne of Galal, the sonne of Jeduthun.
18 All the Leuites in the holy citie, were two hundreth foure score and foure.
19 And the porters Akkub, Talmon and their brethren that kept the [f] gates, were an hundreth twentie and two.
20 And the [g] residue of Israel, of ỹ priests, & of the Leuites dwelt in all the cities of Iudah, euery one in his inheritance.
21 And the Nethinims dwelt in the [h] fortres, and Ziha, and Gispa was ouer the 22 And the ouerseer of the Leuites in Jerusalem was Vzzi the sonne of Bani, the sonne of Hashabiah, the sonne of Mattaniah, the sonne of Micha: of the sonnes of Asaph singers were ouer the worke of the house of God.

23 For it was the kings commandement concerning them, that faithfull prouision should be for the singers euery day.
24 And Pethahiah the sonne of Meshezabeel, of the sonnes of Zerah, the sonne of Judah [h] was at the kings hande in all matters concerning the people.
25 And in the villages in their lands, some of the childre of Judah dwelt in Kiriath-arba, & in the villages thereof, & in Dibon, and in the villages thereof, and in Jekabzeel, and in the villages thereof,
26 And in Jeshua, and in Moladah, and in Beth-palet, 27 And in Hazer-shual, & in Beer-sheba, and in the villages thereof, 28 And in Ziklag, and in Mechonah, and in the villages thereof,
29 And in En-rimmon, and in Zareah, and in Jarmuth,
30 Zanoah, Adullam, and in their villages, in Lachish, and in the fields thereof: at Azekah, and in the villages thereof: and they dwelt from Beer-sheba vnto the valley of Hinnom.
31 And the sonnes of Beniamin from Geba, in Michmash, & Aia, and Beth-el, and in the villages thereof, 32 Anathoth, Nob, Ananiah,
33 Hazor, Ramah, Gittaim,
34 Hadid, Zeboim, Nebalat,
35 Lod & Ono, in the carpenters valley.
36 And of the Leuites were diuisions in Judah and in Beniamin.

h Was chiefe about the King for all his affaires.

CHAP. XII.

1 The Priests and Leuites, which came with Zerubbabel vnto Ierusalem, are nombred, 27 And the wall is dedicated.

1 These also are the Priestes & the Leuites that [a] went vp with Zerubbabel, the sonne of Shealtiel, & Jeshua: to wit, Seraiah, Jeremiah, Ezra,
2 Amariah, Malluch, Hattush,
3 Shecaniah, Rehum, Meremoth,
4 Iddo, Ginnetho, Abiah,
5 Miamin, Maadiah, Bilgah,
6 Shemaiah, and Joiarib, Jedaiah,
7 Sallu, Amok, Hilkiah, Jedaiah: these were the [b] chiefe of the Priestes, and of their brethren in the dayes of Jeshua.
8 And the Leuites, Jeshua, Binnui, Kadmiel, Sherebiah, Judah, Mattaniah [c] were ouer the thanksgiuings, he, and his brethren.
9 And Bakbukiah & Unni, & their brethren were about them in the [d] watches.
10 And Jeshua begat Joiakim: Joiakim also begate Eliashib, & Eliashib begate Joiada.
11 And Joiada begate Jonathan, & Jonathan begate Jaddua.
12 And in the dayes of Joiakim were these the chiefe fathers of the Priestes: vnder [e] Seraiah was Meraiah, vnder Jeremiah, Hananiah, 13 Vnder Ezra, Meshullam, vnder Amariah, Jehohanan, 14 Vnder Melicu, Jonathan, vnder Shebaniah, Joseph,
15 Vnder Harim, Adna, vnder Meraioth, Helkai, 16 Vnder Iddo, Zechariah, vnder Ginnithon, Meshullam, 17 Vnder [f] Abiah, Zichri, vnder Miniamin, and vnder Moadiah, Piltai, 18 Vnder Bilgah, Shammua, vnder Shemaiah, Jehonathan, 19 Vnder Joiarib, Mattenai, vnder Jedaiah, Vzzi, 20 Vnder Sallai, Kallai, vnder Amok, Eber, 21 Vnder Hilkiah, Hashabiah, vnder Jedaiah, Nethaneel.
22 In the daies of Eliashib, Joiada, and Johanan & Jaddua were the chiefe fathers of the Leuites written, & the Priests in the reigne of Darius the Persian.
23 The sonnes of Leui, the chiefe fathers were written in the booke of the Chronicles euen vnto the dayes of Johanan the sonne of Eliashib.
24 And the chiefe of the Leuites were Hashabiah, Sherebiah, & Jeshua the sonne of Kadmiel, & their brethren about the to giue praise and thanks, according to the ordinance of Dauid the man of God, warde ouer against warde.
25 Mattaniah & Bakbukiah, Obadiah, Meshullam, Talmon and Akkub were porters keeping the warde at the threshholdes of the gates.
26 These were in the dayes of Joiakim the sonne of Jeshua, the sonne of Jozadak, and in the dayes of Nehemiah the captaine, & of Ezra the Priest & scribe.
27 And in the dedication of the wall at Jerusalem they sought the Leuites out of all their places to bring them to Jerusalem to kepe the dedication & gladnesse, both with thanksgiuings & with songs, cymbales, viols & with harpes.
28 Then the "singers gathered themselues together both from the plaine country about Jerusalem, and from the villages of [h] Netophathi, 29 And from the house of Gilgal, and out of the countries of Geba, & Azmaueth: for the singers had built them villages round about Jerusalem.
30 And the Priests and Leuites were purified, and clensed the people, and the gates, and the wall.
31 And [i] I brought vp the princes of Judah vpon the wall, and appointed two great companies to giue thankes, and the one went on the right hande of the wall towarde the dung gate.
32 And after them went Hoshaiah, and halfe of the princes of Judah, 33 And Azariah, Ezra and Meshullam, 34 Judah, Beniamin, & Shemaiah, and Jeremiah,

35 And

a From Babylon to Ieruſalem.

b Next in dignitie to the hie Priests, & which were of the stocke of Aaron.

35 And of the Priests sonnes with trumpets, Zechariah þ sonne of Jonathan, the sonne of Shemaiah, þ sonne of Mattaniah, the sonne of Michaiah, the sonne of Zaccur, the sonne of Asaph.

k That is, the brethren of Zaccur.

36 And k his brethren, Shemaiah, & Azareel, Milalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nethaneel, and Judah, Hanani, with the musicall instruments of Dauid the man of God:
and Ezra the scribe went before them.

37 And to the gate of the fountaine, euen ouer against them went they vp by l the staires of the citie of Dauid, at the going vp of the wall beyonde the house of Da-uid, euē vnto the water gate Eastward.

l Which was the going vp to the mount Zion, which is called the citie of Dauid.

38 And the second companie of them that gaue thanks, went on the otherside, and I after them, and the halfe of the people was vpon the wall, & vpon the towre of the furnaces euen vnto the broad wall.

39 And vpō the gate of Ephraim, & vpon the old gate, and vpon the fishgate, and the towre of Hananeel, and the towre of Meah, euen vnto the sheepegate: and they stood in the gate of the warde.

40 So stood the two companies (of them that gaue thankes) in the house of God, and I and the halfe of the rulers with mee.

41 The Priests also, Eliakim, Maaseiah, Miniamin, Michaiah, Elioenai, Zechariah, Hananiah, with trumpets,

42 And Maaseiah, and Shemaiah, and Eleazar, and Vzzi, and Jehohanan, and Malchiah, & Elam, and Ezer: and the singers m sang loude, hauing Jizrahiah which was the ouerseer.

m Chr. caused to hear.

43 And the same day they offred great sacrifices and reioyced: for God had gi-uen them great ioy, so that both the women, and the children were ioyfull:
and the ioye of Jerusalem was heard farre off.

44 Also at the same time were men appointed n ouer the chambers of the store for the offrings (for the first fruites, and for the tithes) to gather into them out of the fields of the cities, the portions of the Lawe for the Priests & the Leuites: for Judah reioyced for the Priestes and for the Leuites, that serued.

n Which were chambers appointed by Hezekiah to put in the tythes, and such things, 2. Chro. 31. 11. and now were repaired againe for the same vse.

45 And both the singers and the Leuites kept the warde of their God, and the warde of the purification according to the commandement of Dauid, and Salomon his sonne.

46 *For in the dayes of Dauid & Asaph, of olde were chiefe singers, and songs of praise and thankesgiuing vnto God.

1 Chron. 15. 16.

47 And in the dayes of Zerubbabel, and in the dayes of Nehemiah did al Israel giue portions vnto the singers and porters, euery day his portion, & they gaue the holy thinges vnto the Leuites, and the Leuites o gaue the holy things vnto the sonnes of Aaron.

o That is, the tenth part of the tithes.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The Law is read. 3 They separate from them all strangers. 15 Nehemiah reproueth them that brake the Sabbath. 30 An ordinance to serue God.

1 AND on that day did they read in the booke of Moses, in the audience of the people, and it was found written therein, that the Ammonite, and the Moabite * should not enter into the Congregation of God,

* Deut. 23. 3.

2 Because they met not the children of Israel with bread and with water, but hired Balaam against them, that hee should curse them: and our God turned the curse into a blessing.

* Numb. 22. 5, 6.

3 Nowe when they had heard the Lawe, they separated from Israel a all those that were mixed.

a That is, all such which had ioyned in vnlawfull mariage, & also those, with whom God had forbidden them to haue societie.

4 ¶ And before b this had the Priest Ei-liashib the ouerlight of the chamber of the house of our God, being c kinsman to Tobiah:

b That the separatiō was made.

c He was ioyned in affinitie with Tobiah the Ammonite, and enemie of the Iewes.

5 And he had made him a great chamber and there had they afore time layde the offrings, the incense, and the vessels, and the tithes of corne, of wine, and of ople (appointed for the Leuites, and the singers, and the porters) & the offrings of the Priests.

6 But in al this time was not I in Jerusalem: for in the two and thirtieth yere of d Artahshashte king of Babel, came I vnto the king, and e after certaine dayes I obteined of the king.

d Called also Darius, Ezra 7. 1.

e Or, at the yeres ende.

7 And when I was come to Jerusalem,
I vnderstoode f the euill that Eliashib had done for Tobiah, in that hee had made him a chamber in the court of the house of God,

f Thus we see to what inconueniences the people fall into, when they are destitute of one that hath the feare of God, seeing that their chiefe gouernour was but a while absent, and yet they fell into such great absurdities: as appeareth also, Exod. 32. 1.

8 And it grieued me sore: therefore I cast forth all the vessels of the house of Tobiah out of the chamber.

9 And I commanded them to cleuse the chambers: & thither brought I againe the vessels of the house of God with the meate offring and the incense.

10 And I perceiued that the portions of the Leuites had not bene giuen, & that euery one was fled to his land, euen the Leuites and singers that executed the worke.

11 Then reproued I g rulers & said, Why is the house of God forsaken? And I assembled them, & set them in their place.

12 Then brought all Judah the tithes of corne and of wine, and of ople vnto the treasures.

13 And I made treasurers ouer the treasures, Shelemiah the Priest, & Zadok the scribe, & of the Leuites, Pedaiah, & vnder their hand Hanan the sonne of Zaccur the sonne of Mattaniah: for they were counted faithfull, and their office was to distribute vnto their brethren.

14 Remember me, O my God, herein, and wipe not out my h kindnes that I haue shewed on the house of my God, and on the offices thereof.

f He protesteth that he did his duetie with a good conscience, yet he doeth not iustifie himselfe herein, but desireth God to fauour him, and to be mercifull vnto him for his owne goodnes sake, as verse 22. and 31.

15 In those dayes saw I in Judah them, that trode wine presses on þ Sabbath, and that brought in sheaues, and which lade o asses also with wine, grapes, and figges, and all burdens, & brought them into Jerusalem vpon the Sabbath day:

g I declared vnto them, that God would not suffer such transgressours of his Lawe to be vnpunished.
and ſ I protested to them in the day that they sold vitailes.
16 There dwelt men of Tyrus also therein, which brought fish & all wares, and solde on the Sabbath vnto the children of Iudah euen in Ierusalem.
17 Then reproued I the rulers of Iudah, and said vnto them, What euill thing is this that ye doe, and breake the Sabbath day?
h Was not this a great cause, why God plagued vs in times past? meaning, that if thei transgressed nowe in the same againe, their plague should be greater.
18 Did not your fathers h thus, & our God brought all this plague vpon vs, and vpon this citie? yet ye increase ꝑ wrath vpon Israel, in breaking the Sabbath.
i About the time that the sunne went downe: for the Sabbath lasted from the sune going down of the one day, to the sunne setting of ỹ other.
19 And when the gates of Ierusalem began to be i darke before the Sabbath, I cõmanded to shut the gates, & charged, that they should not be opened till after the Sabbath, & some of my seruants set I at ỹ gates, that there should no burden be brought in on the Sabbath day.
20 So the chapmen and marchants of all marchandise remained once or twise al night without Ierusalem.
21 And I protested among them, & saide vnto them, Why tary ye al night about the wall? If ye do it once againe, I will lay handes vpon you. From that time came they no more on the Sabbath.
k Meaning, of the Temple, that none, that was vncleane, should enter.
22 ¶ And I said vnto ỹ Leuites that they shoulde cleanse themselues, and that they should come & keepe the k gates, to sanctifie the Sabbath day. Remember me, O my God, concerning this, and pardon me according to thy great mercie.
l Which was a citie of the Philistims, and they had maried wiues thereof, & so had corrupted their speach, & religiõ.
23 In those dayes also I sawe Iewes that maried wiues of l Ashdod, of Ammon, and of Moab.
24 And their children spake halfe in the speach of Ashdod, and could not speake in the Iewes language, and accoyding to the language of the one people, and of the other people.
m That is, I did excommunicate them, and drive them out of the Congregation.
25 Then I reproued them, & m cursed the, and smote certaine of them, and pulled off their heare, & tooke an othe of them by God, Ye shall not giue your daughters vnto their sonnes, neither shall ye take of their daughters vnto your sonnes, nor for your selues.
1. King. 3. 7, 12.
26 * Did not Salomon the king of Israel sinne by these things? yet among many nations was there no king like him: for he was * beloued of his God, and God had made him king ouer Israel: * yet strange women caused him to sinne.
2. Sam. 12. 24, 25. 1. King. 11. 1, 4. ecclus. 47. 19, 20.
27 Shal we then obey vnto you, to do all this great euill, & to transgresse against our God, euen to marie strange wiues?
28 And one of the sonnes of Ioiada the sonne of Eliashib the hie Priest was the sonne in lawe of Sanballat the Horonite: but I chased him from me.
29 Remẽber them, O my God, that n defile the Priesthoode, and the couenant of the Priesthood, and of the Leuites.
n Punish them according to their fault, and euil example, which they haue giuen to the rest of thy people, contrary to their vocation.
30 Then cleansed I them from all strangers, and appointed the wardes of the Priests and of the Leuites, euery one in his office, 31 And for the offering of the wood at times appointed, and for the first fruites. Remember me, O my God, o in goodnes.
o That is, to shew mercie vnto me.

BEcause of the diuersitie of names, whereby they vsed to name their kings, & the supputation of yeeres, wherein the Ebrewes, and the Grecians do varie, diuers autors write diuersly as touching this Ahasuerosh, but it seemeth, Daniel 6. 1. & 9. 1. that he was Darius king of the Medes and sonne of Astyages, called also Ahasuerosh, which was a name of honour, and signified great and chiefe, as chiefe head. Herein is declared the great mercies of God toward his Church: who neuer faileth them in their greatest dangers, but when all hope of worldly helpe fayleth, he euer stirreth vp some, by whom he sendeth comfort, and deliuerance. Herein also is described the ambition, pride and crueltie of the wicked, when they come to honour, and their sudden fall when they are at highest: and how God preserueth, and preferreth them which are zealous of his glorie, and haue a care and loue toward their brethren.

a Called also Darius, who was now ỹ soueregne Monarch, & had the gouernment of the Medes, Persians & Chaldeans. some thinke he was Darius Hystaspis sonne, called also Artaxerxes.

3 King Ahasuerosh maketh a royall feast, 10 Wherevnto the Queene Vashti will not come, 19 For which cause she is diuorced. 20 The kings decree touching the preeminence of man.

1 AN the dayes of a Ahasuerosh (this is Ahasuerosh that reigned, from India euen vnto Ethiopia, ouer an b hundreth, and seuen & twentie prouinces.)
2 In those dayes when the king Ahasuerosh c sate on his throne, which was in the palace of * Shushan,
3 In the third yere of his reigne, he made a feast vnto al his princes & his seruats, euen the power of Persia and Media, and to the captaines and gouernours of the prouinces which were before him,
4 That he might shew the riches and glorie of his kingdome, and the honour of his great maiestie many dayes, euen an hundreth and foure score dayes.
5 And when these daies were expired, the king made a feast to all the people that were found in ỹ palace of Shushan, both vnto great & small, seuen dayes, in the court of the garden of the kings palace,
6 Vnder an hanging of white, greene, and blewe clothes, fastened with cordes of fine linen and purple, in siluer ringes, and pillars of marble: the d beddes were of golde, and of siluer vpon a pauement of porphyre, and marble and alabaster, and blewe colour,

7 And they gaue them drinke in vessels of golde, and changed vessel after vessell, and royall wine in abundance accoꝛding to the [c] power of the king.

e As was beseeming for so magnificall a King.

8 And the drinking was [f] by an order, none might [g] compell: foꝛ so the king had appointed vnto all the officers of his house, that they shoulde doe accoꝛding to euery mans pleasure.

f None might be compelled to drinke more then it pleased him.

9 ¶ The Queene Vashti made a feast also foꝛ the women in the royall house of king Ahashueroth.

10 Vpon the [h] seuenth daꝛ when the king was merie with wine, he commanded Mehuman, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, & Abagtha, Ethar, & Carcas, the seuen eunuches (that serued in the presence of king Ahashueroth)

g Which was the last day of the feast that the King made for ȳ people, as vers. 5.

11 To bring Queene Vashti before the king with the crowne royall, that hee might shew the people and the princes her beautie: foꝛ she was faire to looke vpon.

12 But the Queene Vashti refused to come at the kings woꝛde, [*] which hee had giuen in charge to the eunuches: therefoꝛe the king was verie angrie, & his wꝛath kindled in him.

* Ebr. which was in the hand of the eunuches.

13 Then the king saide to the wise men, [i] that knewe the times (foꝛ so was the kinges maner towards all that knewe the lawe and the iudgement:

h That had experience of things, as they had learned by diligent marking in continuance of time.

14 And the next vnto him was Carshena, Shethar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marsena & Memucan the seuen princes of Persia and Media, which sawe the [k] kings face, and sate the first in the kingdome)

i Which were his chiefe counselers, that might haue alwayes accesse to him.

15 What shall we doe vnto the Queene Vashti accoꝛding to the lawe, because she did not accoꝛding to the woꝛd of the king Ahashueroth by ȳ commission of the eunuches?

16 Then Memucan answered before the king and the princes, The Queene Vashti hath not onely done [l] euill against the king, but against all the princes, & against all the people that are in all the prouinces of king Ahashueroth.

k By her disobedience she hath giuen an example to all women to do the like to their husbandes.

l That is, her disobedience.

17 Foꝛ the [l] acte of the Queene shall come abroade vnto all women, so that they shall despise their husbandes in their owne eies, and shal say, The king Ahashueroth cõmanded Vashti the Queene to be brought in before him, but she came not.

18 So shall the [m] princesses of Persia and Media this daꝛ say vnto all the kinges princes, when they heare of the acte of the Queene: thus shall there be much despitefulnesse and wath.

m Meaning, that they would take first occasion hereof to do the like, & that the rest of women would by continuance doe the same.

19 If it please the king, let a royall decree proceede from him, and let it be written among the statutes of Persia, and Media (and let it not be transgressed) that Vashti come [n] no more before king Ahashueroth: and let the king giue her royall estate vnto her companion that is better then she.

n Let her be diuorced and another made Queene.

20 And when ȳ decree of the king which shalbe made, shalbe published throughout all his kingdome (though it bee [o] great) all the women shall giue their husbandes honour, both great & small.

o For he had vnder him an hundred twentie and seuen countreis.

21 And this saying pleased the king and the princes, and the king did accoꝛding to the woꝛde of Memucan.

22 Foꝛ he sent letters into all the prouinces of the king, into euery prouince accoꝛding to the writing thereof, and to euery people after their language, that euery man shoulde [p] beare rule in his owne house, and that he should publish it in the language of that same people.

p That is, that the wife shoulde be subiect to the husbande and at his commandement.

CHAP. II.

1 After the Queene is put away, certeine yong maides are brought to the King. 14 Ester pleaseth the King, and is made Queene. 22 Mordecai discloseth vnto the King those that woulde betraye him.

AFter these things, when ȳ wꝛath of king Ahashueroth was appeased, hee [a] remembred Vashti, and what she had done, and what was decreed [b] against her.

a That is, he called the matter againe into communication.

2 And the kings seruants that ministred vnto him, saide, Let them seeke foꝛ the king beautifull yong virgins, b By the seuen wise men of his counsell.

3 And let the king appoint officers through all the prouinces of his kingdome, and let them gather all the beautifull yong virgins vnto the palace of Shushan, into the house of the women, vnder the hand of Hege the kinges eunuche, [c] keeper of the women, to giue them their things [d] foꝛ purification.

c The abuse of these countreies was so great, that they inuented many meanes to serue the lustes of princes, and therfore, as they ordeined wicked lawes that the king might haue whose daughters he would, so they had diuers houses appointed, as one for them, whiles they were virgins, another when they were concubins, & for ȳ Queenes another.

4 And the maide that shal please the king, let her reigne in the steade of Vashti. And this pleased the king, and he did so.

d Reade what this purification was, verse 12. 2. King. 24. 15.

5 ¶ In the citie of Shushan, there was a certaine Iewe, whose name was Mordecai the sonne of Iair, ȳ sonne of Shimei, the sonne of Kish a man of Jemini,

6 Which had beene caried awaye from Jerusalem [*] with the captiuitie that was caried awaꝛ with Jekoniah king of Judah (whome Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel had caried awaꝛ)

* Ebr. portions.

7 And her nourished Hadassah, that is Ester, his vncles daughter: foꝛ she had neither father noꝛ mother, & the maide was faꝛre, and beautifull to looke on: and after the death of her father and her mother, Mordecai tooke her foꝛ his owne daughter.

8 And when the kings commandement, and his decree was published, & many maides were brought together to the palace of Shushan, vnder the hande of Hege, Ester was brought also vnto the kings house vnder the hande of Hege the keeper of the women.

9 And the maide pleased him, and she found fauour in his sight: therefoꝛe hee caused her things foꝛ purification to be giuen her spedily, and her [*] state, and seuen comely maides to be giuen her out of the kinges house, and he gaue change to her and to her maides of the best in the the house of the women.

10 But Ester shewed not her people and her kinred: for Mordecai had charged her, that she should not tell it.

e For though she was taken away by a cruell law, yet he ceased not to haue a fatherly care ouer her, & therfore did resort oft times to heare of her.

11 And Mordecai walked e euery day before the court of the womens house, to know if Ester did wel, and what should be done with her.

12 And when the course of euery maide came, to go in to king Ahasuerosh, after that she had bene twelue monethes according to the maner of the women (for so were the dapes of their purifications accomplished, sire monethes with oyle of myrrhe, and six monethes with sweete odours and in the purifying of the women:

13 And thus went the maides vnto the king) whatsoeuer shee required, was f giuen her, to goe with her out of the womens house vnto the kings house.

f What apparel she asked of the eunuch, that was he bounde to giue her.

14 In the euening she went, and on the morowe shee returned into the seconde house of the women vnder the hande of Shaashgaz the kinges eunuche, which kept the concubines: shee came in to the king no more, except she pleased the king, and that she were called by name.

15 Nowe when the course of Ester the daughter of Abihail the vncle of Mordecai (which had taken her as his own daughter) came, that she should go in to the king, she desired nothing, but what [a]Hegee the kings eunuche the keeper of the women g saide: and Ester founde fauour in the sight of all them that looked vpon her.

[a] Or, Hegai.

g Wherein her modestie appeared because shee sought not apparell to commend her beautie, but stoode to the Eunuches appointment.

16 ¶ So Ester was taken vnto king Ahasuerosh into his house ropall in the tenth moneth, which is the h moneth Tebeth, in the seuenth peere of his reigne.

h Which conteined part of December and part of Ianuarie.

17 And the king loued Ester aboue all the women, and shee founde grace and fauour in his sight more then all the virgins: so that hee set the crowne of the kingdom vpon her head, and made her Quene in stead of Vashti.

18 Then the king made a great feast vnto all his princes, and his seruants, which was i the feast of Ester, and gaue rest k vnto the prouinces, and gaue giftes, according to [l] the power of a king.

i That is, made for her sake.

k He released their tribute.

l That is, great and magnificall.

19 And when the virgins were gathered the m seconde time, then Mordecai sate in the kings gate.

m That is, at the mariage of Ester, which was the second mariage of y king.

20 Ester had not yet shewed her kindred nor her people, as Mordecai had charged her: for Ester did after the worde of Mordecai, as when she was nourished with him.

21 ¶ In those dayes when Mordecai sate in the kings gate, two of the kinges eunuches, Bigthan & Teresh, which kept the doore, were wroth, & sought to laye [n]hand on the king Ahasuerosh.

n Meaning, to kill him.

22 And the thing was knowne to Mordecai, & he told it vnto Quene Ester, & Ester certified p king therof in Mordecais name: and when inquisition was made, it was founde so: therefore they were both hanged on a tree: and it was written in the booke of the [o]Chronicles before the king.

o In the Chronicles of the Medes & Persians, as Cha. 10. 2.

CHAP. III.

1 Haman, after he was exalted, obtained of the king, that all the Iewes shoulde be put to death, because Mordecai had not done him worship as other had.

1 After these things did king Ahasuerosh promote Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite, & exalted him, & set his seate aboue all the princes that were with him.

2 And all the kinges seruants that were at the kinges gate, bowed their knees, and reuerenced Haman: for the king had so commaunded concerning him: but Mordecai [a]bowed not the knee, neither did reuerence.

a The Persians maner was to kneele downe and reuerence their kings, and such as he appointed in chiefe autoritie, which Mordecai would not doe to this ambitious and proude man.

3 Then the kinges seruants which were at the kings gate, saide vnto Mordecai, Why transgressest thou the kings commaundement?

b Thus we see that there is none so wicked, but they haue their flatterers to accuse the godly.

4 And albeit they spake daply vnto him, yet he would not heare them: therefore they [b]told Haman, that they might see how Mordecais matters would stand: for he had told them, p he was a Iewe.

[b] Ebr. declared in his eyes.

5 And when Haman sawe that Mordecai bowed not the knee vnto him, nor did reuerence vnto him, then Haman was full of wrath.

c Which answereth to part of March and part of April.

6 Nowe hee [“] thought it too litle to laye handes onely on Mordecai: & because they had shewed him p people of Mordecai, Haman sought to destroy all the Iewes that were throughout p whole kingdome of Ahasuerosh, euen the people of Mordecai.

[“] Ebr. despised in his eyes.

d To know what moneth and day should be good to enterprise this thing, y it might haue good successe: but God disappointed their lots & expectation.

7 In the first moneth (that is the moneth [c]Nisan) in the twelft pere of king Ahasuerosh, they cast Pur (that is a lot) [d]before Haman, from day to day, & from moneth to moneth, vnto p twelft moneth, that is the moneth [e]Adar.

e Cõteining part of Februarie, and part of March.

8 Then Haman saide vnto king Ahasuerosh, There is a people scattered, and dispersed among the people in all the prouinces of thy kingdome, and their lawes are diuers from all people, and they doe not obserue the [f] kinges lawes: therefore it is not the kings profite to suffer them.

f These be the two arguments which cõmonly the worldlings & the wicked vse towarde princes against the godly, that is, the cõtempt of their lawes, and diminishing of their profit: without respect how god is eyther pleased or displeased.

9 If it please the king, let it bee written that they may be destroyed, and I will [“] pay ten thousande talents of siluer by the handes of them that haue p charge of this business to bring it into p kings treasurie.

10 Then the king tooke his ring from his hand and gaue it vnto Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite the Iewes aduersarie.

11 And the king saide vnto Haman, Let the siluer be thine, and the people to do with them as it pleaseth thee.

12 Then were the kinges [g] scribes called on the thirteenth day of p first moneth, and

and there was written (according to all that Haman commanded) vnto the kinges officers, and to the captaines that were ouer euery prouince, and to the rulers of euery people and to euery prouince, according to the writing thereof, & to euery people according to their language: in the name of king Ahashuerosh was it written, & sealed with the kings ring.

13 And the letters were sent "by postes into all the kinges prouinces, to roote out, to kill and to destroy all the Iewes, both yong & olde, children and women, in one daye vpon the thirteenth daye of the twelfth moneth, (which is the moneth Adar) and to spoile them as a pray.

14 The contents of the writing was, that there shoulde be giuen a commandement in all prouinces, and published vnto all people, that they shoulde be readie against the same day.

15 And the posts compelled by the kings commandement went foorth, and the commandement was giuen in the palace at Shushan: and the king and Haman sate drinking, but the citie of Shushan was in perplexitie.

"Ebr. the hands of poste.

g To wit, the Iewes, that were in Shushan.

CHAP. IIII.

Mordecai giueth the Queene knowledge of the cruell decree of the King against the Iewes. 16 She willeth that they pray for her.

1 NOw when Mordecai perceiued all that was done, Mordecai rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth and ashes, and went out into the middes of the citie, and cried with a great crye, and a bitter.

2 And he came euen before the kings a gate, but he might not enter within the kings gate, being clothed with sackcloth.

3 And in euery prouince, & place, whither the kings charge & his commission came, there was great sorow among the Iewes, and fasting, & weeping & mourning, and "many lay in sackcloth and in ashes.

4 Then Esters maydes and her eunuches came and tolde it her: therefore the Queene was very heauie, and shee sent rayment to clothe Mordecai, and to take away his sackecloth from him, but he receiued it not.

5 Then called Ester Hatach one of the kings eunuches, whome he "had appointed to serue her, and gaue him a commaundement vnto Mordecai, to know what it was, and why it was.

6 So Hatach went foorth to Mordecai vnto the streete of the citie, which was before the kings gate.

7 And Mordecai tolde him of all that which had come vnto him, and of the "summe of the siluer that Haman had promised to pay vnto the kinges treasures, because of the Iewes, for to destroy them.

8 Also he gaue him the h copie of the writing and commission that was giuen at Shushā, to destroy them, that he might shew it vnto Ester & declare it vnto her, and to charge her, that she should goe in to the king, and make petition and supplication before him for her people.

a Because he would aduertise Ester of this cruell proclamation.

"Ebr. sackecloth and ashes were spred for many.

"Ebr. had caused to stand before her.

"Ebr. declaration.

h Or, contents.

9 Then when Hatach came, he told Ester the wordes of Mordecai.

10 Then Ester spake vnto Hatach, & commanded him, to say vnto Mordecai, 11 All the kings seruants and the people of the kings prouinces doe knowe, that whosoeuer, man or woman, that commeth to the king into the inner courte, which is not called, there is a law of his, that he shal die, except him to whom the king holdeth out the golden rod, that he may line. Nowe I haue not bene called to come vnto the king these thirty dayes.

12 And they certified Mordecai of Esters wordes.

13 And Mordecai spake, that they should answere Ester thus, Think not with thy selfe that thou shalt escape in the kings house, more then all the Iewes.

14 For if thou holdest thy peace at this time, "comfort and deliuerance b shall appeare to the Iewes out of another place, but thou & thy fathers house shall perish: and who knoweth whether thou art come to the kingdome for c such a time?

15 Then Ester commanded to answere Mordecai,

16 Goe, and assemble all the Iewes that are founde in Shushan, and fast yee for me, & eate not, nor drinke in three daies, day nor night. I also and my maydes will fast likewise, and so wil I goe in to the king, which is not according to the law: and if I perish, d I perish.

17 So Mordecai went his way, & did according to all that Ester had commanded him.

"Ebr. breathing.

b Thus Mordecai spake in the confidence of that faith, which all Gods children ought to haue: which is, that God will deliuer thē, though al would-ly meanes fayle.

c For to deliuer Gods Church out of these present dangers.

d I will put my life in danger & referre the successe to God, seeing it is for his glory & the deliuerance of his Church.

CHAP. V.

Ester entreth in to the King, and biddeth him and Haman to a feast. 11 Haman prepareth against for Mordecai.

1 AND on the third a day Ester put on her royal apparel, and stode in the court of the kings palace whom, ouer against the kings house: & the king sate vpon his royall throne in the kings palace ouer against the gate of the house.

2 And when the King sawe Ester the Quéene standing in the court, she found fauour in his sight: and the king b helde out the golden scepter that was in his hande: so Ester drewe nére, and touched the top of the scepter.

3 Then sayde the king vnto her, What wilt thou, Quéene Ester? and what is thy request? it shall be euen giuen c thee to the halfe of the kingdome.

4 Then said Ester, If it please the king, let the king & Haman come this day vnto the banket, that I haue prepared for him.

5 And the king sayde, Cause Haman to make haste that he may doe as Ester hath sayd. So the king and Haman came to the banket that Ester had prepared.

6 And the king sayde vnto Ester at the banket of d wine, What is thy petition, that a To wit, after that the Iewes had begunne to fast.

b Which was a signe that her comming was agreeable vnto him, as Cha. 4. 11.

c Meaning hereby, that whatsoeuer she asked, should be granted, as Mark. 6. 23 d Because they vsed to drinke excessiuely in their bankets, they called the banket by the name of that, which was most in vse or estemed.

that it may be giuen thee? and what is thy requeſt? it ſhall euen be perfourmed vnto the halfe of the kingdome.

7 Then anſwered Ester, and ſayde, My petition and my requeſt is,

8 If I haue found fauour in the ſight of the king, and if it pleaſe the king to giue me my petition, and to perfourme my requeſt, let the king and Haman come to the banket that I ſhall prepare for them, and I will doe to morowe accoꝛding to the kings [c] ſaying.

c I wil declare what thing I demande.

9 ¶ Then went Haman foorth the ſame day ioyfull and with a glad heart. But when Haman ſawe Mordecai in the kinges gate, that he ſtoode not vp, nor moued for him, then was Haman full of indignation at Mordecai.

10 Neuertheleſſe Haman refrayned himſelfe: and when he came home, he ſent, and called for his friendes, and Zereth his wife.

11 And Haman tolde them of the glorie of his riches, and the multitude of his children, and all the things wherein the king had [c] promoted him, and how that he had ſet him aboue the princes & ſeruants of the king.

f Thus the wicked when they are promoted, inſtead of acknowledging their charge & humbling themſelues, waxe ambitious, diſdainefull, and cruel.

12 Haman ſaid moreouer, Yea, Ester the Quene did let no man come in with the king to the banket that ſhe had prepared, ſaue me: and to morow am I bidden vnto her alſo with the king.

13 But all this doth nothing auaile me, as long as I ſee Mordecai the Iewe ſitting at the kings gate.

14 Then ſaid Zereth his wife and all his friends vnto him, Let them make a tree of fiftie cubits hie, & to morow ſpeake thou vnto the king, that Mordecai may be hanged thereon: then ſhalt thou goe ioyfully with the king vnto the banket. And the thing pleaſed Haman, and hee cauſed to make the tree.

g Meaning, the higheſt that could be found.

CHAP. VI.

1 The King turneth ouer the Cronicles, & findeth the fidelitie of Mordecai, 10 And commandeth Haman to cauſe Mordecai to be had in honor.

1 THe ſame night [*] the king ſlept not, and he commaunded to bring the booke of the recoꝛdes & the chroniꝛcles: & they were read before the king.

[*] Ebr. the kings ſleepe departed.

2 Then it was found written that Mordecai [a] had told of Bigtana, and Tereth two of the kinges eunuches, keepers of the dooꝛe, who ſought to lay handes on the king Ahathueroth.

Chap. 2. 22.

a For he thought it vnworthie his eſtate to receiue a benefite, and not reward it.

3 Then the king ſaid, What honour and dignitie hath bene giuen to Mordecai [a] for this? And the kings ſeruants that miniſtred vnto him, ſayde, There is nothing done for him.

b Thus while the wicked imagine the deſtruction of others, they themſelues fal into the ſame pit.

4 And the king ſayde, Who is in the court? (Nowe Haman was come into the inner court of the kings houſe, that he might ſpeake vnto the king to [b] hang Mordecai on the tree that he had prepared for him.)

5 And the kings ſeruants ſaid vnto him, Beholde, Haman ſtandeth in the court. And the king ſayd, Let him come in.

6 And when Haman came in, the king ſaid vnto him, What ſhall be done vnto the man, whome the king will honour? Then Haman thought in his heart, To whom would the king do honour more then to me?

7 And Haman anſwered the king, The man whome the king would honour,

8 Let them bring for him ropall apparel, which the king vſeth to weare, and the [c] horſe that the king rideth vpon, and that the crowne ropall may be ſet vpon his head.

c Meaning hereby, that the King ſhoulde make him next vnto himſelfe, as Ioſeph hereby was knowen to be next to Pharaoh, Gen. 41. 42.

9 And let the rayment and the horſe bee deliuered by the hande of one of the kings moſt noble princes, and let them apparell the man (whome the king will honour) and cauſe him to ryde vpon the horſe through the ſtreete of the citie, and proclaime before him, Thus ſhall it be done vnto the man, whome the king will honour.

10 Then the king ſaid to Haman, Make haſte, take the raiment and the horſe as thou haſt ſayd, and doe ſo vnto Mordecai the Iewe, that ſitteth at the kinges gate: let nothing faple of all that thou haſt ſpoken.

11 So Haman tooke the raiment and the horſe, and arayed Mordecai, & brought him on horſebacke through the ſtreet of the citie, & proclaimed before him, Thus ſhall it be done to the man, whome the king will honour.

12 And Mordecai came againe to ꝑ kings gate, but Haman haſted home mourning and his head couered.

13 And Haman tolde Zereth his wife, and all his friends all that had befallen him. Then ſayd his wiſe men, and Zereth his wife vnto him, If Mordecai be of the ſeede of the Iewes, before whom thou haſt begonne to fall, thou ſhalt not preuaile againſt him, [d] but ſhalt ſurely fall before him.

d Thus God ſometime puniſheth in ꝑ mouth of the very wicked, to ſpeake that thing which he hath decreed ſhal come to paſſe.

14 And while they were yet talking with him, came the kings eunuches & haſted to bring Haman vnto the banket that Ester had prepared.

CHAP. VII.

3 The Queene beddeth the King and Haman againe and prayeth for her ſelfe and her people. 6 She accuſeth Haman & he is hanged on the galous, which he had prepared for Mordecai.

1 SO the king & Haman came to banket with the Quene Ester.

2 And ꝑ king ſayd againe vnto Ester on the ſecond day at ꝑ banket of [a] wine, What is thy petition, Quene Ester, that it may be giuen thee? and what is thy requeſte? It ſhalbe euen perfourmed vnto the halfe of the kingdome.

a Reade Chap. 5. 6.

3 And Ester the Quene anſwered, and ſayde, If I haue founde fauour in thy ſight, O king, and if it pleaſe the king, let my life be giuen me at my petition, and my people at my requeſt.

4 For we are ſolde, I, and my people, to be be destroyed, to be slaine and to perish: but if wee were solde for seruants, and for handmaides, I would haue holde my tongue: although the aduersarie couldne not [b] recompense the Kings losse.

b Haman could not so much profit the King by this his malice, as he should hinder him by the losse of ỹ Iewes, and the tribute which he hath of them.

5 Then king Ahashuerosh answered, and said vnto the Queene Ester, Who is he? and where is he that [a] presumeth to doe thus?

[a] Ebr. filleth his heart.

6 And Ester saide, The aduersarie and enemie is this wicked Haman. Then Haman was afraide before the King and the Queene.

c His conscience did accuse him that as he had conspired the death of innocents, so the vengeance of God might fall vpon him for ỹ same.

7 And the King arose from the banket of wine in his wrath, and went into the palace garden: but Haman stoode vp, to make request for his life to the Queene Ester: for he sawe that there was a [c] mischiefe prepared for him of the king.

d He fel downe at the beddes feete or couche, whereupon the saide, and made request for his life.

8 And when the king came againe out of the palace garden, into the house where they dranke wine, Haman was [d] fallen vpon the bed whereon Ester sate: therefore the King saide, Will he force the Queene also before mee in the house? As the worde went out of the kings mouth, they [e] couered Hamans face.

e This was the maner of the Persians, when one was out of the Kings fauour

9 And Harbonah one of the eunuches, said in ỹ presence of the king, Beholde, there standeth yet the tree in Hamans house fiftie cubites hie, which Haman had prepared for Mordecai, that spake [f] good for the king. Then the king said, Hang him thereon.

f Which discouered the conspiracie against the King, Chap. 2.21,22.

10 So they hanged Haman on the tree, that he had prepared for Mordecai: the was the kings wrath pacified.

CHAP. VIII.

1 After the death of Haman was Mordecai exalted. 14 Comfortable letters are sent vnto the Iewes.

1 THe same day did king Ahashuerosh giue the house of Haman the aduersarie of the Iewes vnto the Queene Ester. And Mordecai [a] came before the king: for Ester told what hee was [b] vnto her.

a That is, was receiued into the kings fauour and presence.

2 And the king tooke off his ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gaue it vnto Mordecai: & Ester set Mordecai ouer the house of Haman.

b That he was her vncle, & had brought her vp.

3 And Ester spake yet moze before the king, and fell downe at his feete weeping, and besought him that he would put away the [c] wickednes of Haman the Agagite, and his denice that he had imagined against the Iewes.

c Meaning, that he should abolish the wicked decrees, which he had made for the destruction of the Iewes.

4 And the king held out ỹ golden [d] sceptre toward Ester. Then arose Ester, & stood before the king, d Reade Chap. 5.2.

5 And said, If it please the king, and if I haue found fauour in his sight, and the thing be acceptable before the king, & I please him, let it be written, that the letters of the deuice of Haman the sonne of Ammedatha the Agagite may bee called againe, which he wrote to destroy the Iewes, that are in all the kings prouinces.

6 For how can I suffer and see the euil, that shall come vnto my people? Or how can I suffer and see the destruction of my kinred?

7 And the king Ahashuerosh saide vnto the Queene Ester, and to Mordecai the Iewe, Beholde, I haue giuen Ester the house of Haman, who they haue hanged vpon the tree, because he [a] laid hand vpon the Iewes.

[a] Or, went about to slay the Iewes.

8 Write ye also for the Iewes, as it liketh you in the kings name, and seale it with the kings ring (for the writings written in the kinges name, and sealed with the kings ring, may no man reuoke)

e This was the law of ỹ Medes and Persians, as Dan. 6.15. notwithstanding the King reuoked the former decree graunted to Haman, for Esters sake.

9 Then were the kings scribes called at the same time, euen in ỹ third moneth, that is the moneth [f] Siuan, on the three and twentieth day thereof: and it was written, according to all as Mordecai commaunded vnto the Iewes, & to the princes, and captaines, & rulers of the prouinces, which were frō India euen vnto Ethiopia, an hundred and seuen and twentie prouinces, vnto euery prouince, according to the writing thereof, & to euery people after their speach, and to the Iewes, according to their writing, & according to their language.

f Which conteineth part of May, and part of Iune.

10 And hee wrote in the king Ahashuerosh name, and sealed it with the kings ring: and hee sent letters by posts on horsebacke & ỹ rode on beastes of price, as dromedaries & [a] coltes of mares.

g That is, in such letters and language, as was vsuall in euery prouince.

[a] Or, mules.

11 Wherein the king graunted the Iewes (in what citie so euer they were) to gather themselues together, & to stand for [b] their life, & to roote out, to slay and to destroy all the power of the people and of the prouince that vexed them, both children & women, and to spoyle their goodes:

h That is, to defend themselues against all that would assayle them.

12 Vpon one day in all the prouinces of king Ahashuerosh, euen in the thirteenth day of the twelft moneth, which is the moneth [i] Adar.

i Which hath part of Februarie and part of March.

13 The copie of the writing was, howe there shoulde be a cōmandement giuen in all and euerie prouince, published among all the people, & that the Iewes should be readie against that day to [k] auenge themselues on their enemies.

k The King gaue them libertie to kill all that did oppresse them.

14 So the postes rode vpon beasts of price, and dromedaries, and went forth with speede, to execute the kinges commandement, and the decree was giuen at Shushan the palace.

15 And Mordecai went out from the king in royall apparell of blewe, and white, and with a great crowne of gold, and with a garment of fine linen and purple, & the citie of Shushan reioyced and was glad.

16 And vnto the Iewes was come light and [l] ioy and gladnes, and honour,

17 Also in all and euery prouince, and in all and euery citie and place, where the kinges

l Hee sheweth by these wordes that solow, what this light was.

kinges commaundement and his decree came, there was hope and gladnes to the Iewes, a feast and good day, and many of the people of the lande [m] became Iewes: for the feare of the Iewes fell vpon them.

[m] Conformed themselues to ỹ Iewes religion.

CHAP. IX.

1 At the commaundement of the King the Iewes put their aduersaries to death. 14 The ten sonnes of Haman are hanged. 17 The Iewes keepe a feast in remembrance of their deliuerance.

1 SO in þ twelft moneth, which is the moneth Adar, vpon þ thirteenth day of the same, when þ kings cõmaundement & his decree dewe nere to be put in execution, in the day that the enemies of the Iewes hoped to haue power ouer them (but it [a] turned contrarie: for the Iewes had rule ouer them that hated them)

[a] This was by Gods great prouidence, who turneth ỹ ioy of the wicked into sorow, and the teares of the godly into gladnes.

2 The Iewes gathered them selues together vnto their cities throughout all the prouinces of the king Ahasuerosh, to laye hande on such as sought their hurt, and no man could withstand thẽ: for the feare of them fel vpon al people.

3 And al the rulers of the prouinces, and the princes and the captaines, & the officers of the king [b] exalted the Iewes: for the feare of Mordecai fell vpon thẽ.

[b] Did them honour, & shewed them friendship.

4 For Mordecai was great in the kings house, & the report of him went through all the prouinces: for this man Mordecai waxed greater and greater.

5 Thus the Iewes smote all their [c] enemies with strokes of the swoorde and slaughter, & destruction, and did what they would vnto those that hated thẽ.

[c] Which had conspired their death by the permission of the wicked Haman.

6 And at Shushan the palace slewe the Iewes & destroyed [d] fiue hundred men, [d] Besides those three hundreth, that they slewe the seconde day, as verse 15.

7 And Parshandatha, and Dalphon, and Aspatha,

8 And Poratha, and Adalia, and Aridatha,

9 And Parmashta, and Arisai, and Aridai, and Vaizatha,

10 The ten sonnes of Haman, the sonne of Ammedatha, the aduersarie of the Iewes slewe they: but they layed not their hands [e] on the spoyle.

[e] Whereby they declared, that this was Gods iust iudgement vpon the enemies of his Church, forasmuch as they sought not their owne gaine, but to execute his vengeance.

11 On the same day came the nomber of those that were slayne, vnto the palace of Shushan before the king.

12 And the king saide vnto the Queene Ester, The Iewes haue slayne in Shushan the palace and destroyed fiue hundreth men, and the tenne sonnes of Haman: what haue they done in the rest of the kings prouinces? and what is thy petition, that it may be giuen thee? or what is thy request moreouer, that it may be performed?

13 Then saide Ester, If it please the king, let it be graunted also to morowe to the Iewes that are in Shushan, to doe according vnto this dayes decree, that they may hang vpon the tree Hamans tenne sonnes.

[f] This she requireth, not for desire of vengeance, but with zeale to see gods iudgements executed against his enemyes.

14 And the king charged to doe so, and the decree was giuen at Shushan, and they hanged Hamans tenne sonnes.

15 ¶ So þ Iewes that were in Shushan, assembled themselues vpon the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar, & slewe three hundreth men in Shushan, but on the spoyle they laied not their hand.

16 And the rest of þ Iewes that were in þ kings prouinces assembled themselues, and stoode for their liues, and had rest from their enemies, and slue of them that [g] hated them, seuentie and fiue thousand: but they layd not their hand on the spoyle.

[g] Reade Chap. 8.11.

17 This they did on the [i] thirteenth day of the moneth Adar, and rested the fourteenth day thereof, and kept it a day of feasting and ioye.

[h] Meaning, that they layd hands on none, that were not the enemies of God.

18 But the Iewes that were in Shushan, assembled themselues on the thirteenth day, and on the fourteenth thereof, and they rested on the fifteenth of the same, and kept it a day of feasting and ioy.

[i] Meaning, in all places sauing in Shushan.

19 Therefore the Iewes of the villages that dwelt in the vnwalled townes, [k] kept the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar with ioy and feasting, euen a ioyful day, and euery one sent presents vnto his neighbour.

[k] As the Iewes do, euen to this day, calling it in the Persians language Purim, that is, the day of lots.

20 ¶ And Mordecai wrote [l] these wordes, and sent letters vnto al the Iewes that were through all the prouinces of the king Ahasuerosh, both neere and farre, [l] The Iewes gather hereof that Mordecai wrote this storie, but it seemeth that he wrote but onely these letters, and decrees that follow.

21 Inioyning them þ they shoulde kéepe the fourteenth day of þ moneth Adar, and the fifteenth day of the same, euery yeere,

22 According to the dayes wherein the Iewes rested from their enemies, and the moneth which was turned vnto them from sorowe to ioy, & from mourning into a ioyfull day, to keepe them the dayes of feasting, and ioy, and [m] to send presents euery man to his neighbour, and giftes to the poore.

[m] He setteth before our eyes the vse of this feast, which was for ỹ remembrance of gods deliuerãce, the maintenance of mutuall friendship, and relefe of the poore.

23 And the Iewes promised to doe as they had begun, and as Mordecai had written vnto them, 24 Because Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite al the Iewes aduersarie, had imagined against the Iewes, to destroy thẽ, & had [n] cast Pur (that is a lot) to consume & destroy thẽ.

[n] Reade Chap. 3.7.

25 And when [o] she came before the king, he commanded by letters, Let his wicked [p] deuice (which hee imagined against the Iewes) turne vpon his own head, and let them hang him and his sonnes on the tree.

[o] That is, Ester.

[p] These are the wordes of the Kings commandement to disanul Hamans wicked enterprise.

26 Therefore they called these dayes Purim, by the name of Pur, & because of all the wordes of this letter, & of that which they had seene besides this, & of that which had come vnto them.

27 The Iewes also ordeined, and promised for them and for their seede, and for al that ioyned vnto them, þ they would not [q] faile to obserue those two dayes euery yeere, according to their writing, and

[q] Meaning, the fourteenth and the fifteenth day of the moneth Adar, and according to their ſeaſon,

28 And that theſe dayes ſhould be remẽbred, and kept throughout euery generation and euery familie, and euery prouince, and euery citie: euen theſe dayes of Purim ſhoulde not fayle among the Iewes, & the memoriall of them ſhould not perish from their ſeede.
29 And the Quéne Eſter the daughter of Abihail, & Mordecai the Iewe wrote with all [a] authoritie (to confirme this letter of Purim the ſecond time)
30 And ſent letters vnto al the Iewes to the hundreth and ſeuen and twentie prouinces of the kingdome of Ahaſhueroſh, with [b] wordes of peace and trueth, 31 To confirme theſe dayes of Purim, according to their ſeaſons, as Mordecai the Iewe & Eſter the Quene had appointed them, and as they had promiſed for them ″ ſelues and for their ſeede with [c] faſting and prayer.
32 And the decree of Eſter cõfirmed theſe wordes of Purim, and was written in the booke.

[a] Or, ſtrength, or efficacie.
[b] Which were letters declaring vnto them quietnes, & aſſurance, & putting them out of doubt and feare.
[c] Ebr. ſoules.
[d] That they would obſerue this feaſt with faſting, and earneſt prayer, which in Ebrew is ſignified by this worde (their cry.)

CHAP. X.

The eſtimation and authoritie of Mordecai.

1 AND the king Ahaſhueroſh layed a tribute vpon the lande, and vpon the yles of the ſea.
2 And all the actes of his power, & of his might, and the declaration of the dignitie of Mordecai, wherewith the king magnified him, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Media and Perſia?
3 For Mordecai the Iewe was the ſeconde vnto king Ahaſhueroſh, and great among the Iewes, and [a] accepted among the multitude of his brethren, who procured the wealth of his people, and ſpake peaceably to all his ſeede.

[a] Theſe three poynts are here ſet forth as commendable, & neceſſary for him that is in auctoritie: to haue the fauour of the people, to procure their welth, & to be gentle and louing toward them.

IOB.

THE ARGVMENT.

IN this hiſtorie is ſet before our eyes the example of a ſingular patience. For this holie man Iob was not onely extremely afflicted in outwarde thinges and in his bodie, but alſo in his minde, and conſcience by the ſharpe tentations of his wife, and chiefe friendes: which by their vehement wordes, and ſubtill diſputations brought him almoſt to deſpayre: for they ſet foorth God as a ſeuere Iudge, and mortall enemie vnto him, which had caſt him off, therefore in vayne he ſhould ſeeke vnto him for ſuccour. Theſe friendes came vnto him vnder pretence of conſolation, and yet they tormented him more then did all his affliction. Notwithſtanding he did conſtantly reſiſt them, and at length had good ſucceſſe. In this ſtorie wee haue to marke that Iob maintayneth a good cauſe, but handleth it euill: againe his aduerſaries haue an euill matter, but they defende it craftily. For Iob helde that God did not alway puniſh men according to their ſinnes, but that he had ſecret iudgements, whereof man knew not the cauſe, & therefore man could not reaſon againſt God therein, but he ſhould be conuicted. Moreouer, he was aſſured that God had not reiected him, yet through his great torments, and affliction he braſteth foorth into many inconueniences both of wordes and ſentences, and ſheweth himſelfe as a deſperate man in many things, and as one that would reſiſt God: and this is his good cauſe which he doth not handle well. Againe the aduerſaries maintaine with many goodly arguments, that God puniſheth continually according to the treſpaſſe, grounding vpon Gods prouidence, his iuſtice, and mans ſinnes, yet their intention is euil: for they labour to bring Iob into deſpaire, and ſo they maintayne an euill cauſe. Ezekiel commendeth Iob as a iuſt man, Ezek. 14.14. and Iames ſetteth out his patience for an example, Iam. 5.11.

CHAP. I.

1 The holineſſe, riches, & care of Iob for his children. 10 Satan hath permiſſion to tempt him. 13 He tempteth him by taking away his ſubſtance, & his children. 20 His faith and patience.

1 THERE was a man in the land of [a] Vz called Iob, & this man [b] was an vpright & iuſt man, [c] one that feared God, and eſchewed euill.
2 And he had ſeuen ſonnes, and three daughters.
3 His [d] ſubſtance alſo was ſeuen thouſand ſheep, and three thouſand camels, and fiue hundreth yoke of oxen, and fiue hundreth aſſes, & his familie was verie great, ſo that this man was the greateſt of all the ″ men of [e] the Eaſt.
4 And his ſonnes went and banketted in their houſes, euery one his daye, and ſent, and called their three ſiſters to eate and to drinke with them.
5 And when [f] dayes of their banketting were gone about, Iob ſent, & [g] ſanctified them, & roſe vp earely in the morning, & offered burnt offrings according to the nomber of them all. For Iob thought, It may be that my ſonnes haue ſinned, and [h] blaſphemed God in their hearts: thus did Iob euery day.
6 ¶ Nowe on a day when the [k] children

[a] That is, of the countrey of Idumea, as Lamenta. 4.21, or bordering therupon: for the lande was called by the name of Vz the ſonne of Diſhã the ſonne of Seir, Gen. 36. 28.
[b] Forasmuch as he was a Gentile and not a Iewe, & yet is pronounced vpright, & without hypocriſie, it declareth that among the heathen God hath his.
[c] Hereby is declared, what is meant by an vpright and iuſt man.
[d] His children and riches are declared, to commend his vertue in his proſperitie, and his patience, and conſtancie, when God had taken them from him.
[e] Ebr. children.
[e] Meaning, the Arabians, Chaldeans, Idumeans, &c.
[f] That is, commanded them to be ſanctified: meaning, that they ſhould conſider the faultes, that they had committed, and reconcile themſelues for the ſame.
[g] That is, he offred for euery one of his children an offring of reconciliation, which declared his religion towarde God, and the care that he had towarde his children.
[h] In Ebrew it is, and bleſſed God, which is ſometime taken for blaſpheming and curſing, as here, and 1. King. 21.10. & 13. &c.
[i] While the feaſt laſted.
[k] Meaning, the Angels, which are called the ſonnes of God, becauſe they are willing to execute his will.

l Because our infirmitie cannot comprehend God in his maiestie, he is set forth vntovs as a king, that our capacitie may be able to vnderstand that which is spoken of him.

of God came & stode l before the Lorde, Satan m came also among them.

7 Then the Lorde sayde vnto Satan, Whence a commest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, saying, o From compassing the earth to and fro, and from walking in it.

8 And the Lorde sayd vnto Satan, Hast thou not considered my seruaunt Iob, howe none is like him in the earth? an vpright and iust man, one that feareth God, and escheweth euill?

m This declareth y although Satan be aduersarie to God, yet he is compelled to obey him, and do him all homage, without whose permissiō & appoyntment he can do nothing.

9 Then Satan answered the Lorde, and said, Doth Iob feare God p for nought?

10 Hast thou not made q an hedge about him and about his house, and about all that he hath on euery side? thou hast blessed the worke of his handes, and his substance is encreased in the land.

n This question is asked for our infirmitie: for God knewe whēce he came.

11 But stretch out nowe thine hand and r touche all that he hath, to see if he will not blaspheme thee to thy face.

o Herein is described the nature of Satan, which is euer ranging for his pray, 1. Pet. 5. 8.

12 Then the Lorde sayd vnto Satan, Lo, all that he hath is in s thine hand: onely vpon himselfe shalt thou not stretch out thine hande. So Satan departed from the t presence of the Lord.

p He feareth thee not for thine owne sake, but for the commoditie y he receiueth by thee.

13 ¶ And on a day, when his sonnes and his daughters were eating, & drinking wine in their eldest brothers house,

14 There came a messenger vnto Iob, & sayde, The oxen were plowing, and the asses feeding in their places, q Meaning, the grace of God, which serued Iob, as a rampar against all tentations.

15 And the u Shabeans came violently & tooke them: yea, they haue slaine the seruants with the edge of the sworde: but I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.

r This signifieth that Satan is not able to touche vs, but it is God that must do it.

16 And whiles he was yet speaking, another came, and said, The y fire of God is fallen from the heauen, & hath burnt vp the sheepe and the seruants, and deuoured them: but I onely am escaped alone, to tell thee.

s Satan noteth the vice, whereunto men are commonly subiect: that is, to hide their rebellion, and to be 17 And whiles he was yet speaking, another came, and said, The Caldeans set out three bands, & fell vpon the camels, and haue taken them, & haue slayne the seruantes with the edge of the sworde: but I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.

18 And whyles hee was yet speaking, came another, & said, Thy x sonnes, and thy daughters were eating, & drinking wine in their eldest brothers house,

19 And behold, there came a great winde from beyond the wildernes, and smote the foure corners of the house, which fell vpon the children, and they are dead, & I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.

t God giueth not Satan power ouer man to gratifie him, but to declare that he hath no power ouer man, but that which God giueth him.

20 Then Iob arose, and a rent his garment, and shaued his head, & fell downe vpon the ground, and worshipped, 21 And sayd, * Naked came I out of my mothers wombe, and naked shall I returne b thither: the Lord hath giuen, and the Lorde hath taken it: c blessed be the Name of the Lord.

u That is, went to execute that which God had permitted him to do: for els he can neuer goe out of Gods presence.

22 In all this did not Iob sinne, nor chacge God d foolishly.

x That is, the Arabians.

y Which thing was also done by the craft of Satan, to tempt Iob the more grieuously, forasmuch as he might see, that not onely men were his enemies, but that God made warre against him.

a Which came not of impacience, but declareth that the children of God are not insensible like blockes, but that in their patience they feele affliction, & griefe of minde: yet they keepe a meane herein, and rebell not against God, as the wicked do. Eccles. 5. 14. 1. Tim. 6. 7.

b That is, into the bellie of the earth, which is the mother of all.

c Hereby he confesseth that God is iust, and good, although his hande be sore vpon him.

d But declared that God did all thinges according to iustice and equitie.

z This last plague declareth, that when one plague is past which seemeth hard to be borne, God can sende vs another farre more grieuous, to trie his, and teach them obedience.

CHAP. II.

Satan hath permission to afflict Iob. 9 His wife tempteth him to forsake God. 12 His three friends visite him.

1 AND on a day the a children of God came and stood before the Lord, and b Satan came also among them, & stode before the Lord.

a That is, the Angels, as Chap. 1. 6.

b Reade, Chap. 1. 6. Ezek. 14. 14. chap. 1. 1.

2 Then y Lord said vnto Satan, Whence commest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, & sayd, From compassing the earth to & fro, and from walking in it.

c He proueth Iobs integritie by this that he ceased not to feare God when his plagues were grieuously vpon him.

3 And the Lorde sayd vnto Satan, Hast thou not considered my seruaunt Iob, howe none is like him in the earth? * an vpright and iust man, one that feareth God, and escheweth euill: for yet he continueth in his vprightnesse, c although thou mouedst mee against him, to destroy him d without cause.

d That is, when thou hadst nought against him, or when thou wast not able to bring thy purpose to passe.

4 And Satan answered the Lorde, and said, e Skinne for skinne, and all that a man hath, will he giue for his life.

e Hereby he meant y a mans own skin is dearer vnto him then another mans.

5 But stretch nowe out thine hande, and touch his f bones & his flesh, to see if hee will not blaspheme thee to thy face.

f Meaning, his owne person.

6 Then the Lord sayd vnto Satan, Loe, he is in thine hand, but saue g his life.

g Thus Satan doth go no further in punishing, then God hath limited him.

7 ¶ So Satan departed from the presence of the Lorde, and smote Iob with sore h boyles, from the sole of his foote vnto his crowne.

8 And he tooke a i potshard to scrape him, and he sate downe among the ashes.

9 Then sayd his k wife vnto him, Dost thou l continue yet in thine vprightnes? m Blaspheme God, and die.

h This sore was most vehement, wherewith also God plagued the Egyptians, Exod. 9. 9. and threateneth to punish the rebellious people, Deut. 28. 27. so that this tentation was most grieuous: for if Iob had measured Gods fauour by the vehemencie of his disease, he might haue thought that God had cast him off.

i As destitute of all other helpe and meanes, and wonderfully afflicted with the sorow of his disease.

k Satan vseth the same instrumēt against Iob, as he did against Adam.

l Meaning, what gaineth thou to serue God, seeing hee thus plagueth thee as though he were thine enemie?

m This is the most grieuous tentation of the faithful, when their faith is assayled, and when Satan goeth about to perswade them, that they trust in God in vayne.

n For death was appointed to the blasphemer, & so she meant that he should be soone rid out of his payne.

10 But

10 But he sayde vnto her, Thou speakest like a foolishe woman: what? shall wee receyue good at the hande of God, & not a receyue euill? In all this did not Iob sinne with his o lippes.

11 Now when Iobs three p friends heard of all this euill þ was come vpon him, they came euery one from his owne place, to wit, Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite: for they were agreed together to come to lament with him, and to comfort him.

12 So when they lift vp their eies a farre off they knew him not: therfore they lift vp their voyces and wept, and euery one of them rent his garment, & sprinkled q dust vpon their heades towarde the heauen.

13 So they sate by him vpon the ground seuen dayes, and seuen nights, & none spake a worde vnto him: for they sawe, that the griefe was very r great.

n That is, to be patient in aduersitie, as we reioyce when he sendeth prosperitie, & so to acknowledge him to be both mercifull and iust.

o He so brideled his affections, that his tongue through impatiencie did not murmure against God.

p Which were mē of autoritie, wise & learned, & as the Septuagint write, Kings & came to comfort him, but when they sawe howe hee was visited, they conceiued an euill opinion of him, as though he had bene but an hypocrite, and so iustly plagued of God for his sinnes.

q This was also a ceremonie, which they vsed in those countreis, as the renting of their clothes in signe of sorowe, &c.

r And therefore thought that he would not haue hearkened to their counsell.

CHAP. III.

1 Iob complaineth and curseth the day of his birth.
11 Hee desireth to die, as though death were the ende of all mans miserie.

1 AFterward a Iob opened his mouth, and b curssed his day.
2 And Iob cried out, and said,
3 Let the day c perishe, wherein I was borne, and the night when it was sayd, There is a man child conceiued.
4 Let that day be darkenesse, let not God d regard it from aboue, neither let the light shine vpon it,
5 But let darkenesse, and the e shadowe of death staine it: let the cloude remaine vpon it, and let them make it fearefull as a bitter day.
6 Let darkenesse possesse that night, let it not be ioyned vnto the daies of f pere, nor let it come into the count of the monthes.
7 Yea, desolate be that night, and let no ioy be in it.
8 Let them þ curse the day, (being g redy to renue their mourning) curse it.
9 Let the starres of that twilight be dim, yea though darkenesse of it: let it looke for light, but haue none: neither let it h see the dawning of the day, 10 Because it shut not vp the doores of my mothers wombe: nor hid sorow from mine eyes.

a The seuen dayes ended, Chap. 2. 13.

b Here Iob beginneth to feele his great imperfection in this battell betwene the spirit and the flesh, Rom. 7. 18. and after a maner yeeldeth, yet in the ende he getteth victorie, though he was in the meane time greatly wounded.

c Men ought not to be wearie of their life, and curse it, because of þ infirmities that it is subiect vnto, but because they are giuen to sinne and rebellion against God.

d Let it bee put out of the nomber of dayes, and let it not haue the light of the sunne to separate it from the night.

e That is, most obscure darkenesse, which maketh them afraide of death, that are in it.

f Which curse the day of their birth, let them lay that curse vpon this night.

g Let it bee alwaies night, and neuer see day. Ebr. the eyelidde of the morning.

11 h Why died I not in the birth? or why died I not, when I came out of the wombe?
12 Why did the knees preuent me? and why did I sucke the breastes?
13 For so should I now haue i lyen and bene quiet, I should haue slept then, and bene at rest, 14 With the kings and counsellers of the earth, which haue builded themselues k desolate places:
15 Or with the princes that had gold, and haue filled their houses with siluer.
16 Or why was I not hid, as an vntimely birth, either as infantes, which haue not seene the light?
17 The wicked l haue there ceased from their tyrannie, and there they that laboured valiantly, are at rest.
18 The m prisoners rest together, & heare not the voyce of the oppressour.
19 There are small and great, and the seruaunt is free from his master.
20 Wherefore is the light giuen to him that is in miserie? and n life vnto them that haue heauie hearts?
21 Which long for death, and if it come not, they would euen search it more then treasures:
22 Which ioye for gladnesse, and reioyce when they can finde the graue.
23 Why is the light giuen to the man whose wape is o hid, and whome God hath hedged in?
24 For my sighing commeth before I eate, and my roarings are powred out like the water.
25 For the thing I p feared, is come vpon me, and the thing that I was afraid of, is come vnto me.
26 I had no peace, neither had I quietnesse, neither had I rest, q yet trouble is come.

h This and that which followeth, declareth that when mā giueth place to his passions, hee is not able to stay nor keepe measure, but runneth headlong into all euill, except God call him backe.

i The vehemencie of his afflictions made him to vtter these words, as though death were the end of all miseries, and as if there were no life after this, which he speaketh not as though it were so, but the infirmities of his flesh caused him to braste out into this errour of the wicked.

k He noteth the ambition of them, which for their pleasure, as it were, change the order of nature, and builde in most barren places, because they would here by make their names immortall.

l That is, by death the cruelties of the tyrantes hath ceased.

m All they that sustaine any kinde of calamitie and miserie in this worlde: which hee speaketh after the iudgement of the flesh.

n Hee sheweth that the benefites of God are not comfortable, except the heart bee ioyfull, and the conscience quiered.

o That seeth not how to come out of his miseries, because he dependeth not on Gods prouidence.

p In my prosperitie I looked euer for a fall, as is come nowe to passe.

q The feare of troubles that should ensue, caused my prosperitie to seeme to mee as nothing, and yet I am not exempted from trouble.

CHAP. IIII.

5 Iob is reprehended of impatiencie, 7 And vniustice, 17 And of the presumption of his owne righteousnesse.

1 THen Eliphaz the Temanite answered, and sayd,
2 If we assay to commune with thee, wilt thou be grieued? but a who can withhold him selfe from speaking?
3 Beholde, thou hast taught many, and b hast strengthened the weake hands.
4 Thy wordes haue confirmed him that was falling, and thou hast strengthened the weake knees.
5 But now it is come vpon thee, & thou art a Seeing this thine impatiencie.

b Thou hast comforted others in their afflictions, & canst not now comfort thy selfe.

c This he concludeth that Iob was but an hypocrite, & had no true feare nor trust in God.
d He concludeth that Iob was reproued, seeing that God handled him so extremely, which is the argument that the carnall men make against ỹ children of God.
e They that doe euill, cannot but receiue euill.
f He sheweth that God needeth no great preparation to destroy his enemies: for he can doe it with the blast of his mouth.
g Though men according to their office doe not punish tyrants (whom for their cruelties he compareth to lions, and their children to their whelps) yet God both is able, and his iustice will punish them.
h A thing that I knewe not before, was declared vnto me by vision: that is, that whosoeuer thinketh him selfe iust, shalbe founde a sinner, when he commeth before God.
i In these visions which God sheweth to his creatures, there is euer a certaine feare ioyned, that ỹ autoritie therof might be had in greater reuerence.
k When all things were quiet, or when the feare was somewhat asswaged, as God appeared to Eliah, 1. King. 19. 12.
l Hee proueth that if God did punish the innocēt, the creature should be more iust then the Creator, which were a blasphemie.
m If God finde imperfection in his Angels, when they are not maintained by his power, howe much more shall he lay folly to mans charge, when he would iustifie him selfe against God?
n That is, in this mortall body, subiect to corruption, 2. Cor. 5. 1.
o They see death continually before their eyes, & daily approching toward them.
p No man for all this doth consider it.
q That is, before that any of them were so wise as to thinke on death.

art grieued: it toucheth thee, and thou art troubled.
6 Is not this thy c feare, thy cōfidēce, thy patience, & ỹ vprightnes of thy waies?
7 Remember, I pray thee: who euer perished being an d innocent? or where were the vpright destroyed?
8 As I haue seene, they that e plow iniquitie, & sowe wickednes, reape ỹ same.
9 With the f blast of God they perish, & with the breath of his nostrels are they consumed.
10 The roring of the s Lion, and the voice of the Lyonesse, & the teeth of the Lyons whelpes are broken.
11 The Lyon perisheth for lacke of pray, & ỹ Lyons whelpes are scattered abroad.
12 But a thing was brought to mee h secretly, and mine eare hath receiued a little thereof.
13 In the thoughts of the visions of the night, when sleepe falleth on men, 14 Feare came vpon mee, & dread which made all my bones i to tremble.
15 And the winde passed before mee, and made ỹ heares of my flesh to stande vp.
16 Then stode one, and I knewe not his face: an image was before mine eyes, and in k silence heard I a voyce, saying,
17 Shall man be more l iust then God? or shall a mā be more pure thē his maker?
18 Beholde, he founde no stedfastnesse in his seruants, and laide folie vpon his m Angels.
19 Howe much more in them that dwell in houses of n clay, whose foundation is in the dust, which shall be destroyed before the moth?
20 They be destroyed from o the morning vnto the euening: they perishe for euer, p without regard.
21 Doth not their dignitie go away with them? doe they not die, and that without q wisedome?

2 Doutlesse b anger killeth the foolishe, and enuie slayeth the idiote.
3 I haue seene the c foolishe well rooted, and suddenly I d cursed his habitation, saying,
4 His e children shalbe farre from saluation, and they shall be destroyed in the f gate, and none shall deliuer them.
5 The hungrie shall eate vp his harueste: yea, they shall take it from among the s thornes, and the thirstie shal drinke vp their substance.
6 For miserie commeth not forth of the dust, h neither doth affliction spring out of the earth.
7 But man is borne vnto i trauaile, as the sparkes flie vpward.
8 But I would inquire k at God, & turne mine talke vnto God:
9 Which l doeth great things and vnsearchable, & marueilous things without nomber.
10 He m giueth raine vpon the earth, and powreth water vpon the streetes, 11 And setteth vp on hie them that be low, that the sorowful may be exalted to saluation.
12 Hee scattereth the deuices of the craftie: so that their handes can not accomplish that which they doe enterprise.
13 * He taketh the wise in their craftines, and the counsell of the wicked is made foolish.
14 They meete with n darkenesse in the day time, and o grope at noone day, as in the night.
15 But hee saueth the p poore from the swoorde, from their q mouth, and from the hand of the violent man, 16 So ỹ the poore hath his hope, but iniquitie shall r stop her mouth.
17 Behold, blessed is the man whom God correcteth: therefore refuse not thou the chastising of the Almightie.
18 For hee maketh the wounde, and bindeth it vp: hee smiteth, and his handes make whole.
19 He shall deliuer thē t in fiue troubles, and in the seuenth the euill shall not touche thē.
20 In famine he shall deliuer thē from death: and in battell from the power of the swoord.
21 Thou shalt be hid from the scourge of the tongue, and thou shalt not be afraid of destruction when it commeth.

b Murmuring against God in afflictions increaseth the paine, and vexeth mans follie.
c That is, the sinner that hath not the feare of God.
d I was not moued with his prosperitie, but knew that God had cursed him and his.
e Though God sometime suffer the fathers to passe in this worlde, yet his iudgements wil light vpon their wicked children.
f By publique iudgement they shalbe condemned, and none shal pitie them.
g Though there be but two or three eares left in the hedges, yet these shall be taken from him.
h That is, the earth is not the cause of barrennesse and mans miserie, but his owne sinne.
i Which declareth that sinne is euer in our corrupt nature: for before sinne it was not subiect to paine and affliction.
k If I suffred as thou doest, I would seeke vnto God.
l He counselleth Iob to humble him self vnto God, to whome all creatures are subiect, and whose workes declare that man is inexcusable, except hee glorifie God in all his workes.
m He sheweth by particular exāples, what ỹ workes of God are. 1. Cor. 3. 19 n In things plaine and euident they shewe themselues fooles in steade of wise men.
o This declareth that God punisheth the worldly wise, as he threatned, Deut. 28 29.
p That is, he that humbleth himselfe before God.
q Hee compareth the slaunder of the wicked to sharpe swordes.
r If the wicked be compelled at Gods workes to stop their mouthes, much more they that professe God.
s He will sende trouble after trouble, that his children may not for one time, but continually trust in him: but they shal haue a comfortable issue, euen in the greatest and the last, which is here called the seuenth.

CHAP. V.

1. 2 Eliphaz sheweth the difference betweene the children of God and the wicked. 3 The fall of the wicked. 9 Gods power who destroyeth the wicked, and deliuereth his.

a He willeth Iob to consider the example of all them that haue liued or doe liue godly, whether any of them be like vnto him in raging against God as he doeth.

1 CAll nowe, if any wil a answere thee, and to which of the Saintes wilt thou turne?

t Whereas the wicked lament in their troubles, thou shalt haue occasion to reioyce.

22 But thou shalt t laugh at destruction and dearth, and shalt not be afraide of the beast of the earth.

u When we are in Gods fauour, all creatures shall serue vs.

23 For the stones of the fielde u shall be in leage with thée, and the beastes of the fielde shall be at peace with thée.

x God shall so blesse thee, that thou shalt haue occasion to reioyce in all things, and not to be offended.

24 And thou shalt knowe, that peace shal be in thy tabernacle, and thou shalt visite thine habitation, & shalt not x sinne.

25 Thou shalt perceme also, that thy séede shall be great, and thy posteritie as the grasse of the earth.

26 Thou shalt goe to thy graue in y a full age, as a ricke of corne commeth in due season into the barne.

27 Lo, z thus haue we enquired of it, & so it is: heare this & know it for thy selfe.

y Though the children of God haue not alwayes this promise performed, yet God doth recompense it otherwise to their aduantage. z We haue learned these pointes by experience, that God punisheth not the innocent, that man cannot compare in iustice with him, that the hypocrites shall not long prosper, and that the affliction which man suffereth, commeth for his owne sinne.

CHAP. VI.

Iob answereth, that his paine is more grieuous then his fault. 8 He wisheth death. 14 He complaineth of his friends.

a To know whether I complaine without iust cause.

1 BVt Iob answered, and said,

2 Oh a my griefe were wel weighed, and my miseries were layed together in the b balance!

b My griefe is so great, that I lacke wordes to expresse it.

3 For it would be nowe heauier then the sande of the sea: therefore my wordes are b swallowed vp.

c Which declareth that he was not onely afflicted in body, but wounded in conscience, which is the greatest battell that the faithfull can haue.

4 For the arrowes of the Almightie are in me, the venime whereof doth drinke vp my spirite, and the terrours of God c fight against me.

d Thinke you that I cry without cause, seeing the brute beasts do not complaine when they haue what they would?

5 Doth the d wilde asse bray when he hath grasse? or loweth the ore when he hath fodder?

e Can a mans taste delite in that that hath no sauour? meaning, that none take pleasure in affliction, seeing they can not away with things that are vnsauerie to the mouth.

6 That which is e vnsauerie, shal it be eaten without salt? or is there any taste in the white of an egge?

7 Such thinges as my soule refused to touch, as were sorowes, are my meate.

f Herein hee sinneth double, both in wishing through impaciencie to die, and also in desiring of God a thing which was not agreeable to his will.

8 Oh that I might haue my f desire, and that God would graunt me the thing that I long for!

g That is, let mee die at once, before I come to distrust in Gods promise through mine impaciencie.

9 That is, g God would destroy me: that he would let his hand go, & cut me off.

h He feareth lest he should be brought to inconueniences, if his sorowes should continue.

10 Then should I yet haue comfort, (though I burne with sorowe, let him not spare) h because I haue not denyed the wordes of the Holy one.

i Haue I not sought to helpe my selfe as much as was possible?

11 What power haue I that I should endure? or what is mine h ende, if I should prolong my life?

12 Is my strength the strength of stones? or is my flesh of braste?

13 Is it not so, i there is in me no i helpe? and that k strength is taken from me?

k Or, wisdome, or lawe.

14 He that is in misery, ought to be comforted of his neighbour: but men haue forsaken the feare of the Almightie.

l He compareth those friendes which comfort vs not in miserie, to a brooke, which in sommer, when we neede waters, is drie, in winter is hard frosen, and in the time of rayne, when we haue no neede, ouerfloweth with water.

15 My brethren haue deceiued mée as a l brooke, and as the rising of the riuers they passe away.

16 Which are blackish with yce, & wherein the snowe is hid.

17 But in time they are dried vp with heate and are consumed: and when it is hot, they faile out of their places.

18 Or they depart from their way and course, yea, they vanish and perish.

19 They that goe to Tema, l considered them, and they that goe to Sheba, wayted for them.

l They that passe thereby to go into the hote countreis of Arabia, thinke to find water there, to quench their thirst, but they are deceiued.

20 But they were confounded: when they hoped, they came thither and were ashamed.

21 Surely nowe are ye like m vnto it: ye haue séene my fearefull plague, and are afraid.

m That is, like to this brooke, which deceiueth them, & thinke to haue water there in their needle, as I looked for consolation at your handes.

22 Was it because I saide, Bring vnto me? or giue a rewarde to me of your n substance?

n He toucheth the worldlings, which for no necessitie will giue part of their goods, and much more these men, which would not giue him comfortable wordes.

23 And deliuer mee from the enemies hand, or ransome me out of the hand of tyrantes?

o Shewe mee wherein I haue hath a good conscience, or reasonings of others, except they be able to perswade him by reason.

24 Teach me, & I wil o hold my tongue: and cause me to vnderstand, wherein I haue erred.

q Do you cauill at my wordes, because I should be thought to speake foolishly, which am nowe in miserie?

25 How p stedfast are the wordes of righteousnes? and what can any of you iustly reprooue?

r Consider whether I speake as one that is driuen to this impaciencie through very sorow, or as an hypocrite, as you condemne me.

26 Doe ye imagine to reproue q wordes, that the talke of the afflicted should be as the winde?

CHAP. VII.

Iob sheweth the shortnes and misery of mans life.

1 IS there not an appointed time to man vpon earth? and are not his dayes as the dayes of an a hireling?

a Hath not an hyred seruant some rest and ease? then in this my continuall torment I am worse then an hyreling.

2 As a seruant longeth for the shadowe, and as an hireling looketh for the ende of his worke,

3 So haue I had as an inheritance the b monethes of vanitie, and painefull nightes haue bene appointed vnto me.

b My sorowe hath continued from moneth to moneth, and I haue looked for 4 If I layed me downe, I saide, When shall I arise? and measuring the euening, I am euen full with tossing to and fro vnto the dawning of the day.

hope in vaine.

5 My flesh is c clothed with wormes & filthinesse

c This signifieth that his disease was rare and most horrible.

26 Doe ye imagine to reproue q wordes, that the talke of the afflicted should be as the winde?

27 Ye make your wrath to fall vpon the fatherles, and dig a pit for your friend.

28 Now therfore be content to r looke vpon me: for I wil not lie before your face.

29 Turne, I pray you, let there be none iniquitie: returne, I say, and ye shall see my cause in that behalfe. Is there iniquitie in my tongue? doth not my mouth feele sorowes?

d Thus he ſpeaketh in reſpect of the breuitie of mans life, which paſſeth without hope of returning: in conſideration whereof, he deſireth God to haue compaſſion on him.

e If thou behold me in thine anger, I ſhall not be able to ſtand in thy preſence.

f Shall no more enioy this mortall life.

g Seeing I can by none other meanes comfort my ſelfe, I will declare my griefe by words: and thus hee ſpeaketh as one ouercome with griefe of minde.

h Am not I a poore wretch? what needeſt thou then to lay ſo much paine on me?

i So that I can haue no reſt, night nor day.

k He ſpeaketh as one ouercome with ſoſow, and not of iudgement, or of the examination of his faith.

l Seeing my terme of life is ſo ſhort, let me haue ſome reſt and eaſe.

thineſſe of the duſt: my ſkinne is rent, and become horrible.
6 My dayes are ſwifter then [d] a weauers ſhuttle, & they are ſpent without hope.
7 Remember that my life is but a winde, and that mine eye ſhall not returne to ſee pleaſure.
8 The eye that hath ſéene me, ſhall ſée me no more: thine eyes are vpon me, and I ſhalbe no longer.
9 [e] As the cloude vaniſheth and goeth away, ſo he that goeth downe to the graue, ſhall [f] come vp no more.
10 He ſhal returne no more to his houſe, neither ſhall his place knowe him any more.
11 Therfore I will not [g] ſpare my mouth, but will ſpeake in the trouble of my ſpirite, and muſe in the bitternelle of my minde.
12 Am I a ſea [h] or a whaleſiſh, that thou kéepeſt me in ward?
13 When I ſay, My couch ſhall relieue me, and my bed ſhal bring comfort in my meditation, 14 Then feareſt thou me [i] with dreames, and aſtoniſheſt me with viſions.
15 Therefore my ſoule [k] chuſeth rather to be ſtrangled and to die, then to be in my bones.
16 I abhorre it, I ſhall not liue alway: [l] ſpare me then, for my dayes are but vanitie.
17 What is man, that thou [m] doeſt magnifie him, and that thou ſetteſt thine heart vpon him?
18 And doeſt viſite him euery morning, and trieſt him euery moment?
19 Howe long will it be yer thou depart from me? thou wilt not let me alone whiles I may ſwallowe my ſpettle.
20 I haue [n] ſinned, what ſhall I do vnto thée? O thou preſeruer of men, why haſt thou ſet me as a marke againſt thée, ſo that I am a burden vnto my ſelfe?
21 And why doeſt thou not pardon my treſpas? and take away mine iniquitie? for now ſhall I ſleepe in the duſt, and if thou ſeekeſt me in the morning, I ſhall [o] not be found.

m Seeing that man of himſelfe is ſo vile, why doeſt thou giue him that honour to contend againſt him? Iob vſeth all kindes of perſwaſion with God, that he might ſtay his hand. n After all tentations faith braſteth foorth, and leadeth Iob to repentance: yet it was not in ſuch perfection, that hee could bridle himſelfe from reaſoning with God, becauſe that hee ſtill tried his faith.

o That is, I ſhall be dead.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Bildad sheweth that Iob is a ſinner, becauſe God puniſheth the wicked, and preſerueth the good.

1 Then anſwered Bildad the Shuhite, and ſaid,
2 How long wilt thou talke of theſe things? and how long ſhall the woordes of thy mouth [a] be as a mightie winde?
3 Doth God peruert iudgement? or doth the almightie ſubuert iuſtice?
4 If thy ſonnes haue ſinned againſt him, and he hath ſent them into the place of their [b] iniquitie,
5 Yet if thou [c] wilt early ſéeke vnto God, and pray to the Almightie,
6 If thou be pure & vpright, then ſurely he will awake vp vnto thée, and he will make the habitation of thy righteouſneſſe proſperous.
7 And though thy beginning [d] be ſmall, yet thy latter end ſhall greatly encreaſe.
8 [e] Inquire therefore, I pray thée, of the former age, & prepare thy ſelfe to ſearch of their fathers.
9 (For we are but [f] of yeſterday, and are ignorant: for our dayes vpon earth are but a ſhadowe)
10 Shall not they teach thée and tell thee, and vtter the woordes of their heart?
11 Can a ruſh growe without myre? or can the graſſe growe without water?
12 Though it were in greene and not cut downe, yet ſhall it wither before any other herbe.
13 So are the paths of all that forget God, and the hypocrites hope ſhall periſh.
14 His confidence alſo ſhalbe cut off, and his truſt ſhalbe as the houſe of a [h] ſpider.
15 He ſhall leane vpon his houſe, but it ſhall not ſtand: he ſhall hold him faſt by it, yet ſhall it not endure.
16 The [i] tree is greene before the ſunne, and the branches ſpreade ouer the garden thereof.
17 The roote thereof are wrapped about the fountaine, and are folden about the houſe of ſtones.
18 If any plucke it from his place, and it [k] denie, ſaying, I haue not ſéene thée, 19 Behold, it will reioyce [l] by this meanes, that it may growe in another molde.
20 Beholde, God will not caſt away an vpright man, neither will he take the wicked by the hand, 21 Till hee haue filled thy mouth with [m] laughter, and thy lips with ioy.
22 They that hate thée, ſhalbe clothed with ſhame, and the dwelling of the wicked ſhall not remaine.

a He declareth that their words which would diminiſh any thing from the iuſtice of God, is but as a puffe of winde that vaniſheth away.

b That is, hath rewarded them according to their iniquitie: meaning, that Iob ought to be warned by the example of his children, that he offend not God.

c That is, if thou turne betime, whiles God calleth thee to repentance.

d Though the beginnings be not ſo pleaſant, as thou wouldeſt deſire, yet in the ende thou ſhalt haue ſufficient occaſion to content thy ſelfe.

e He willeth Iob to examine all antiquitie, and he ſhall finde it true which he here ſaith.

f Meaning, that it is not ynough to haue the experience of our ſelues, but to be confirmed by the examples of them that went before vs.

g As a ruſh can not grow without moyſtnes, ſo can not the hypocrite, becauſe he hath not faith which is moiſtened with Gods Spirit.

h Which is to day, and to morow ſwept away.

i He compareth the iuſt to a tree, which although it be remoued out of one place vnto another, yet floriſheth: ſo the affliction of the godly turneth to their profite.

k That is, ſo that there remaine nothing there to proue whether the tree had growen there or no.

l To be planted in another place, where it may growe at pleaſure.

m If thou be godly, hee will giue thee occaſion to reioyce, and if not, thine affliction ſhall increaſe.

CHAP. IX.

1 Iob declareth the mightie power of God, and that mans righteouſnes is nothing.

1 Then Iob anſwered, and ſaid,
2 I know verely that it is ſo: for how ſhould man compared vnto God, be [a] iuſtified?
3 If hee would diſpute with him, hee coulde not anſwere him one thing of a a Iob here anſwereth to that point of Eliphaz and Bildads oration, touching the iuſtice of God and his innocencie, confeſſing God to be infinite in iuſtice, and man to be nothing in reſpect.

b Of a thousand things, which God could lay to his charge, man cannot answere him one.

c He declareth what is the infirmitie of man by the mightie and incomprehensible power that is in God, shewing what he could doe, if he would set forth his power.

d These are the names of certeine starres, whereby hee meaneth that all starres both knowen and vnknowen are at his appointmēt.

e I am not able to comprehende his workes, which are common, and daily before mine eyes, much lesse in those things which are hid and secret.

f He sheweth that when God doth execute his power, he doeth it iustly, forasmuch as none can controule him.

g God will not be appeased for ought that man can lay for himselfe for his iustification.

h That is, all the reasons that mē can lay to approue their cause.

b thousand.

4 Yee is wise in heart, and mightie in strength: who hath bene fierce against him and hath prospered?
5 He remoueth the mountaines, & they feele not when he ouerthroweth them in his wrath.
6 Yee c remoueth the earth out of her place, that the pillars thereof do shake.
7 He commandeth the sunne, and it ri-seth not: hee closeth vp the starres, as vnder a signet.
8 Yee hym selfe alone spreadeth out the heauens, and walketh vpon the height of the sea.
9 He maketh the starres d Arcturus, Ori-on, and Pleiades, and the climates of the South.
10 He doth great things, and vnsearcha-ble: yea, marueilous things without number.
11 Loe, when he goeth e by me, I see him not: and when he passeth by, I perceiue him not.
12 Behold, when he taketh a pray, f who can make him to restore it? who shal say vnto him, What doest thou?
13 God s will not withdraw his anger, and the most mighty helpes h do stoupe vnder him.
14 How much lesse shall I answer him? or how should I finde out i my wordes with him?
15 For though I were iust, yet coulde I k not answere, but I would make sup-plication to my Iudge.
16 If I l cry, & he answere me, yet would I not beleeue, that he heard my voyce.
17 For he destroyeth me with a tempest, and woundeth me m without cause.
18 He wil not suffer me to take my breath, but filleth me with bitternes.
19 If we speake of strength, beholde, he is n strong: if we speake of iudgement, who shall bring me in to pleade?
20 If I woulde iustifie my selfe, mine owne mouth shall condemne mē: o if I woulde be perfite, he shall iudge mee wicked.
21 Though I were perfite, yet I know not my soule: therefore abhorre I my life.
22 This is one point: therfore I said, He destroyeth the p perfite and the wicked.
23 If the scourge should suddenly q slay, shoulde God r laugh at the punishment of the innocent?
24 The earth is giuen into the hande of the wicked: hee s couereth the faces of the iudges thereof: if not, where t is he? or who is he?
25 My dayes haue bene more swift then a poste: they haue fled, and haue seene no good thing.
26 They are passed as with the most swift shippes, and as the eagle that flyeth to the pray.
27 If u I say, I wil forget my complaint, I will cease from my wrath, and com-fort me, 28 Then I am afraide of all my sorowes, knowing that thou wilt not iudge mee innocent.
29 If I be wicked, why x labour I thus in vaine?
30 If I y wash my selfe with snowe wa-ter, and purge mine hands most cleane, 31 Yet shalt thou plunge me in the pitte, and mine owne z clothes shal make me filthie.
32 For he is not a man as I am, that I shoulde answere him, if we come toge-ther to iudgement.
33 Neither is there any vmpire a that might lay his hand vpon vs both.
34 Let him take his rod away from me, and let not his feare astonish me:
35 Then will I speake, and feare him not: b but because I am not so, I hold me sil.

i How should I be able to answere him by eloquence? wherby he noteth his friendes, that albeit they were eloquent in talke, yet they felt not in heart, that which they spake.

k Meaning, in his owne opinion, signifying, that man will sometime flatter himselfe to be righteous, which before God is abomination.

l Whiles I am in my pangs, I can not but breast forth into many inconueni-ences, although I know stil that God is iust.

m I am not able to feele my sinnes so great, as I feele the weight of his plagues: and this hee speaketh to condemne his dulnesse, and to iustifie God.

n After he hath accused his owne weakenes, hee continueth to iustifie God and his power.

o If I would stande in mine owne defence, yet God hath iust cause to condemne me, if he examine mine heart, and conscience.

p If God punish according to his iustice, he will destroy aswell them that are counted perfite, as them that are wicked.

q To wit, the wicked.

r This is spoken according to our apprehension, as though hee would say, If God destroy but the wicked, as Chap. 5. 3. why should he suffer the innocents to be so long tor-mēted by them?

s That they can not see to doe iustice.

t That can shew the contrary?

u I thinke noe to fall into these affections, but my sorowes bring mee to these manifold infirmities, and my conscience codemneth me.

x Why doeth not God destroy me at once? thus he speaketh ac-cording to the infirmitie of the flesh.

y Though I seeme neuer so pure in mine owne eyes, yet all is but corruption before God.

z Whatsoeuer I would vse to couer my filthinesse with, shal dis-close me so much more.

a Which might make an accorde be-twene God and mee, speaking of impaciencie, and yet confessing God to be iust in punishing him.

b Signifying that Gods iudge-ments keepe him in awe.

CHAP. X.

1 Iob is weary of his life, and setteth out his fragilitie before God. 20 He desireth him to stay his hande. 22 A description of death.

1 My soule is cut off a though I liue: I wil leaue my b complaint vpon my selfe, and wil speake in the bit-ternesse of my soule.
2 I will say vnto God, c Condemne me not: shewe me, wherefore thou contē-dest with me.
3 Thinkest thou it d good to oppresse me, & to cast off the e labour of thine hands, and to fauour the f counsell of the wic-ked?
4 Hast thou g carnal eyes? or doest thou see as man seeth?
5 Are thy daies as mans h daies? or thy peres, as the time of man, 6 That thou inquirest of mine iniquitie, and searchest out my sinne?

a I am more like to a dead man, then to one that liueth.

b I wil make an ample declarati-on of my tor-ments, accusing my selfe, and not God.

c He would not that God should proceed against him by his se-crete iustice, but by the ordinary meanes that he punisheth others.

d Is it agreeable to thy iustice to doe mee wrong?

e Wilt thou be without compasion?

f Wilt thou gratifie the wicked and condemne mee?

g Doest thou this of ignorance?

h Art thou inconstant and changeable, as the times, to day a friend, to morowe an enemie?

7 Thou knowest þ I can not doe [i] wickedly: for none can deliuer mee out of thine hand.
8 Thine [k] hands haue made me, and fashioned me wholy rounde about, & wilt thou destroy me?
9 Remember, I pray thee, that thou hast made mee as [l] the clape, and wilt thou bring me into dust againe?
10 Hast þ not powred me out as milke? and runned me to cruds like cheese?
11 Thou hast clothed me with skinne and flesh, & ioyned me together with bones and sinewes.
12 Thou hast giuen me life, & [m] grace: and thy [n] visitatio hath preserued my spirite.
13 Though thou hast hid these things in thine heart, yet I knowe [o] that it is so with thee.
14 If I haue sinned, then þ wilt straightly looke vnto me, and wilt not holde me giltlesse of mine iniquitie.
15 If I haue done wickedly, woe vnto me: if I haue done righteously, I will not [p] lift vp mine head, being ful of confusion, because I see mine affliction.
16 But let it increase: hunt thou me as a lyon: returne and shew thy selfe [q] marueilous vpon me.
17 Thou renuest thy plagues against me, and thou increasest thy wrath against me: [r] changes and armies of sorowes are against me.
18 Wherefore then hast thou brought me out of the wombe? Oh that I had perished, and that none eye had seene me!
19 And that I were as I had not bene, but brought from the wombe to the graue.
20 Are not my daies fewe: let him [s] cease, and leaue off from me, that I may take a litle comfort, 21 Before I goe and shall not [t] returne, euen to the land of darknesse and shadow of death:
22 Into a land, I say, darke as darknes it selfe, & into the shadow of death, where is none [u] order, but the light is there as darkenesse.

q Iob being sore assaulted in this battell betwene the flesh and the spirit, brasteth out into these affections, wishing rather short daies then long paine. r That is, diuersitie of diseases & in great abundance, shewing that God hath infinite meanes to punish man. s He wisheth that God woulde leaue off his affliction, considering his great miserie and the breuitie of his life. t He speaketh thus in the person of a sinner, that is ouercome with passions and with the feeling of Gods iudgements, & therefore cannot apprehend in that state the mercies of God and comfort of the resurrection. u No distinction betweene light and darkenes, but where all is very darkenes it selfe.

CHAP. XI.

1 Iob is vniustly reprehended of Zophar. 7 God is incomprehensible. 14 He is mercifull to the repentant. 18 Their assurance that liue godly.

1 Then answered Zophar þ Naamathite, and sayd,
2 Should not the multitude of words be answered? or should a great [a] talker be iustified?
3 Shoulde men holde their peace at thy lies: and when thou mockest others, shal none make thee ashamed?
4 For thou hast saide, [b] My doctrine is pure, and I am cleane in thine eyes.
5 But oh, that God would speake and open his lippes against thee!
6 That he might shew thee [c] the secretes of wisdome, howe thou hast deserued double, according to right: know therefore that God hath forgotten thee for thine iniquitie.
7 Canst thou by searching find out God? canst thou finde out the Almighty to his perfection?
8 The heauens are hie, what canst thou doe? [d] it is deeper then the hell, howe canst thou know it?
9 The measure therof is longer then the earth, and it is broader then the sea.
10 If he cut off and [e] shut vp, or gather together, who can turne him backe?
11 For he knoweth vaine men, and seeth iniquitie, and him that vnderstandeth nothing.
12 Yet vaine man would be wise, though man new borne is like a wild asse [f] colt.
13 If thou [g] prepare thine heart, & stretch out thine hands toward him:
14 If iniquitie be in thine [h] hande, put it farre away, and let no wickednes dwell in thy tabernacle.
15 Then truely shalt thou lift vp thy [i] face without spot, and shalt be stable, & shalt not feare:
16 But thou shalt forget thy miserie, and remember it as waters that are past.
17 Thine age also shal appeare more cleare then the noone day: thou shalt shine and be as the morning.
18 And thou shalt be bold, because there is hope: and thou shalt digge pittes, & shalt lie downe safely.
19 * For when thou takest thy rest, none shall make thee afraid: yea, many shall make sute vnto thee.
20 But the eies [k] of the wicked shal faile, and their refuge shall perishe, and their hope shalbe sorow of minde.

a Should he perswade by his great talke, that he is iust?

b He chargeth Iob with this, that he should say, that ỳ thing which he spake, was true, & that he was without sinne in the sight of God.
c Which is, not to stand in iustifying of thy self: hee signifieth that man will neuer be ouercome, whiles he reasoneth with another, & therefore God must breake off the controuersie, and stop mans mouth.
d That is, this perfection of God, and if man bee not able to comprehend the height of the heauen, ỳ depth of hell, the length of the earth, ỳ bredth of the sea, which are but creatures: how can he attaine to ỳ perfection of the Creator?
e If God should turne the state of things, and establish a newe order in nature, who could controule him?
f That is, without vnderstanding: so that whatsoeuer gifts he hath afterward, come of God, and not of nature.
g If thou repent, pray vnto him.
h Renounce thine owne euil workes, & see that they offend not God, ouer whome thou hast charge.
i He declareth what quietnes of conscience and successe in all things such shall haue, which turne to God by true repentance. Leu. 26.5,6.
k He sheweth that contrary things shal come vnto them that doe not repent.

CHAP. XII.

1 Iob accuseth his frends of ignorance. 7 He declareth the might and power of God, 17 And how he changeth the course of things.

1 Then Iob answered, and sayd,
2 In deede because that ye are the people onely, [a] wisdome must die with you.
3 But I haue vnderstanding as well as you, and am not inferiour vnto you: yea, who knowe not such things as these?

a Because you seeke not that which you speake, you thinke ỳ whole standeth in none knewe any who

Prou. 14. 2.

who knoweth not such things?

b He reproueth these his friendes of two fautes: the one, ỹ they thought they had better know ledge then in deede they had, and the other, that in stead of true consolation they did deride and despise their friend in his aduersitie.

4 * I am b as one mocked of his neighbour, who calleth vpon God, & he c heareth him: the iust and the vpright is laughed to scorne.

5 d Hee that is readie to fall, is as a lampe despised in the opinion of the riche.

6 The tabernacles of robbers doe prosper, and they are in safetie, that prouoke God, * whom God hath enriched with his hand.

c The which neighbour being a mocker, and a wicked man, thinketh that no man is in Gods fauour but he, because he hath all things that he desireth.

7 Aske nowe the beastes, e and they shall teach thee, and the foules of the heauen, and they shall tell thee:

8 Or speake to the earth, and it shal shew thee: or the fishes of the sea, & they shall declare vnto thee.

9 Who is ignorant of all these, but that the hand of the Lorde hath made these?

10 In whose hande is the soule of euery liuing thing, and the breath of all * mankinde.

d As the riche esteeme not a light, or torch that goeth out, so is he despised that falleth from prosperitie to aduersitie.

11 Doeth not the eares f discerne the wordes? and the mouth taste meate for it selfe?

12 Among the g auncient is wisdome, and in the length of dayes is vnderstanding.

13 With him is wisdome and strength: he hath counsell and vnderstanding.

14 Beholde, he will breake downe, and it cannot be built: hee shutteth a man vp, and he cannot be loosed.

15 Behold, he withholdeth the waters, & they drie vp: but when he sendeth them out, they destroy the earth.

*Or, to whom God hath brought in with his hand.

16 With him is strength and wisdome: he that is deceiued, and that h deceiueth, are his.

e He declareth to them ỹ did dispute against him, that their wisdome is common to all, and such as the very brute beastes do dayly teach.

17 Hee causeth the counsellers to goe as spoyled, and maketh the iudges fooles.

18 i He looseth k the collar of kings, and girdeth their loynes with a girdle.

19 He leadeth away the princes as a pray, and ouerthroweth the mightie.

* Or, flesh.

20 He taketh away the speache from the l faithfull counsellers, and taketh away the iudgement of the ancient.

f He exhorteth them to be wise in iudging, and as well to knowe the right vse why God hath giuen them eares, as he hath done a mouth.

21 He powreth contempt vpon princes, and maketh the strength of the mightie weake.

22 He discouereth the deepe places from their darkenes, and bringeth foorth the shadow of death to light.

23 Hee m increaseth the people, & destroyeth them: he enlargeth the nations, and bringeth them in againe.

g Though men by age, and continuance of time attaine to wisdome, yet it is not comparable to Gods wisdom, nor able to comprehend his iudgements, wherein hee answereth to that, which was alledged, Chap. 8. 8.

24 Hee taketh away the heartes of them that are the chiefe ouer the people of the earth, and maketh them to wander in the wildernes out of the way.

25 They grope in ỹ darke without light: and hee maketh them to stagger like a drunken man.

h Hee sheweth ỹ there is nothing done in this world without Gods will and ordinance: for else hee should not be almighty.

i He taketh wisdome from them. k He abateth the honour of princes, and bringeth them into the subiection of others. l He causeth that their wordes haue no credite, which is when he will punish sinne. m In this discourse of Gods wonderful works, Iob sheweth that whatsoeuer is done in this world, both in the order and change of thinges, is by Gods will and appointment: wherein he declareth that he thinketh well of God, and is as able to set forth his power in wordes, as they that reasoned against, were.

CHAP. XIII.

Iob compareth his knowledge with the experience of his frendes. 16 The penitent shalbe saued, and the hypocrite condemned. 20 Hee prayeth vnto God that he would not handle him rigorously.

1 Loe, mine eye hath seene all this: mine eare hath heard, and vnderstand it.

2 I knowe also as much as you knowe: I am not inferior vnto you.

3 But I wil speake to the Almightie, and I desire a to dispute with God.

4 For ye forge lies, and all you are b physitions of no value.

5 Oh, that you would hold your tongue, that it might be imputed to you for wisdome!

6 Nowe heare my disputation, and giue eare to the arguments of my lips.

7 Will ye speake c wickedly for Gods defence, and talke deceitefully for his cause?

8 Will ye accept his person? or will ye contende for God?

9 Is it well that he should seeke of you? will you make a lye for him, as one lyeth for a man?

10 He will surely reproue you, if ye do secretly accept any person.

11 Shall not his excellencie make you afraid? and his feare fall vpon you?

12 Your d memories may be compared vnto ashes, and your bodies to bodies of clay.

13 Holde your tongues in my presence, that I may speake, and let come vpon me what will.

14 Wherefore do I e take my flesh in my teeth, and put my soule in mine hand?

15 Loe, though he slay me, yet will I trust in him, and I will reproue my wayes in his sight.

16 He shall be my saluation also: for the f hypocrite shall not come before him.

17 Heare diligently my wordes, & marke my talke.

18 Beholde nowe: if I prepare me to iudgement, I know that I shalbe g iustified.

19 Who is he, that wil pleade h with me? for if I now hold my tongue, I i die.

20 But do not these two things vnto me: then will I not hide my selfe from thee.

21 k Withdraw thine hand from me, and let not thy feare make me afraide.

22 Then call thou, and I will answere: or let me speake, and answere thou me.

a For although he knewe ỹ God had a iustice, which was manifest in his ordinarie working, & another in his secret counsell, yet he would vtter his affection to God, because he was not able to vnderstand the cause why he did thus punish him.

b You do not well apply your medicine to the disease.

c He condemneth their zeale which had not knowledge, neither regarded they to comfort him, but alway grated on Gods iustice, as though it was not euidently seene in Iob, except they had vndertaken the probation thereof.

d Your fame shal come to nothing.

e Is not this a manifest signe of mine affliction, and that I do not complaine without cause, seeing that I am thus tormented as though I should teare mine owne flesh, and put my life in danger?

f Whereby he declareth that he is not an hypocrite as they charged him. g That is, cleared, & not cast off for my sinnes, as you reason. h To proue that God doth thus punish me for my sinnes. i If I defend not my cause, euery man will condemne me. k He sheweth what these two things are.

1 His pangs thus moove him to reason with God, not denying but that hee had sinned: but he desired to vnderstād what were his great sinnes that had deserued such rigour, wherein he offended, that he would know a cause of God why he did punish him.

23 Now many are [l] mine iniquities and sinnes? shewe me my rebellion, and my sinne.
24 Wherefore hidest thou thy face, and takest me for thine enemie?
25 Wilt thou breake a leafe driuen to and fro? & wilt thou pursue the drie stubble?
26 For thou writest bitter things against me, and makest me to possesse [m] the iniquities of my youth.
27 Thou puttest my feete also in the [n] stockes, and lookest narrowly vnto all my paths, and makest the print thereof in the "heeles of my feete.
28 Such one consumeth like a rotten thing, and as a garment that is moth-eaten.

m Thou punishest me now for ỹ faults that I cōmitted in my youth. n Thou makest me thy prisoner, & doest so presse me that I cannot stirre hand nor foote. "Ebr. rootes.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Iob describeth the shortnes and miserie of the life of man. 14 Hope sustaineth the godly. 22 The condition of mans life.

1 MAn [a] that is borne of a woman, is of short continuance, and full of trouble.
2 He shooteth foorth as a flower, and is cut downe: he vanisheth also as "a shadow, and continueth not.
3 And pet thou openest thine eyes vpon such [b] one, and causest me to enter into iudgement with thee.
4 "Who can bring a cleane thing out of filthinesse? there is not one.
5 Are not his dayes determined? the nomber of his moneths are with thee: thou hast appointed his bounds, which he cannot passe.
6 Turne from him that he may cease vntill hys desired day, [c] as an hireling.
7 For there is hope of a tree, if it be cut downe, that it will pet spzoute, and the branches thereof will not cease.
8 Though the roote of it ware old in the earth, and the stocke thereof be dead in the ground, 9 Yet by the sent of water it will bud, and bring foorth boughes like a plant.
10 [d] But man is sicke, and dieth, and man perisheth, and where is he?
11 As the waters passe from the sea, and as the flood decayeth and dzyeth vp,
12 So man sleepeth and riseth not: for he shall not wake againe, nor be rayſed from his sleepe till the heauen be no more.
13 Oh that thou wouldest hide me in the graue, and keepe mee secrete, vntill thy [e] wrath were past, and wouldest giue me terme, and [f] remember me.
14 If a man die, shall he liue againe? All the dayes of mine appointed time will I waite, til [g] my changing shall come.
15 Thou shalt call me, & I shall [h] answere thee: thou louest the worke of thine own handes.
16 But nowe thou "nombrest my steps, and doest not delay my sinnes.
17 Mine iniquitie is sealed vp, as in a [i] bag, and thou addest vnto my wickednes.
18 And surely as the mountaine that falleth, commeth to nought, and the [k] rock that is remoued from his place:
19 As the water breaketh the stones, when thou ouerflowest ỹ things which grow in the dust of the earth: so thou destroyest the hope of man.
20 Thou preuailest alway against him, so that he passeth away: he changeth his face when thou castest him away.
21 And he knoweth not if his sonnes shal be honorable, neither shal he vnderstand concerning them, whether they shall be of lowe degree, 22 But while his [l] flesh is vpon him, hee shalbe sorowfull, and while his soule is in him, it shall mourne.

a Taking occasion of his aduersaries wordes, he describeth the state of mans life from his birth to his death. Chap.8.9. Psal.144.4.
b His meaning is, that seeing ỹ man is so fraile a creature, God should not handle him so extremely: wherein Iob sheweth the wickednes of the flesh, when it is not subiect to the Spirit. Psal.51.5,7.
c Vntil the time that thou hast appointed for him to die, which he desireth, as the hireling wayteth for the ende of his labor to receiue his wages.
d He speaketh not here as though he had not hope of the immortalitie, but as a man in extreme paine, when reason is ouercome by affections & torments.
e Hereby he declareth that the feare of Gods iudgement was ỹ cause why he desired to die. f That is, release my paines, and take me to mercy. g Meaning, vnto the day of the resurrection when he should be changed, and renued.
h Though I bee afflicted in this life, yet in the resurrection I shall feele thy mercies & answere when thou calleſt me. Prou.5.21.
i Thou layest them al together and suffrest none of my sinnes vnpunished.
k He murmureth through the impaciencie of the flesh against God, as though hee vsed as great seueritie against him as against the hard rockes, or waters that ouerflow, so that hereby all the occasion of his hope is taken away. l Yet whiles he liueth, he shalbe in paine and miserie.

CHAP. XV.

1 Eliphaz reprehendeth Iob, because hee ascribeth wisdome, and pureues to himselfe. 16 He describeth the curse that falleth on the wicked, reckoning Iob to be one of the number.

1 THen answered Eliphaz the Temanite, and said,
2 Shal a wise man speake words of the [a] winde, and fill his belly [b] with the East winde?
3 Shal he dispute with words not conuenly? or with talke that is not profitable?
4 Surely thou hast cast off [c] feare, and restrayned prayer before God.
5 For thy mouth declareth thine iniquitie, seeing thou hast chosen [d] the tongue of the craftie.
6 Thine owne mouth condemneth thee, and not I, and thy lips testifie against thee.
7 Art thou ỹ [e] first man, that was borne? and wast thou made before the hilles?
8 Hast thou heard the secrete counsell of God, and doest thou restraine wisdome to thee?
9 What knowest thou that we know not? and vnderstandest that is not in vs?
10 With vs are both auncient and very aged men, farre older then thy father.
11 Seeme the consolations of God small vnto thee? is this thing strange vnto thee?
12 Why doeth thine heart [h] take thee away, and what do thine eyes meane, 13 That thou answerest to God "at thy pleasure, and bringest such words out of thy mouth?
14 What is man, that he should be cleane? and he that is borne of woman, that he should [i] be iust?

a That is, vaine wordes, & without consolation?
b Meaning, with matters that are of none importance, which are forgotten assoone as they are vttered, as the East winde drieth vp the moysture assoone as it falleth.
c Hee chargeth Iob as though his talke caused men to cast off the feare of God and prayer.
d Thou speakest as do the mockers, & contemners of God.
e That is, ỹ most auncient, and so by reason the most wise?
f Art thou only wise?
g He accuseth Iobs pride, and ingratitude, that will not be comforted by God, nor by their counsell.
h Why doest thou stand in thine owne cōceits "Eb. in thy spirite.
i His purpose is to proue, that Iob as an vniust man and an hypocrite is punished for his sinnes, like as he did before, Chap.4.18.

15 Beholde, he founde no stedfastnesse in his Saintes: yea, the heauens are not cleane in his sight.
16 How much more is man abominable, and filthy, which k drinketh iniquitie like water?
17 I will tell thee: heare me, and I will declare that which I haue seene:
18 Which wise men haue tolde, as they haue heard of their fathers, and haue not kept it secrete:
19 To whom alone the land was l giuen and no stranger passed through them.
20 The wicked man is continually as one that trauaileth of childe, and the number m of yeeres is hid from the tyrant.
21 A sound of feare is in his eares, and in his prosperitie the destroyer shall come vpon him.
22 Hee beleeueth not to returne out of n darkenesse: for he seeth the sworde before him.
23 Hee wandreth o to and fro for bread where he may: he knoweth that the day of darkenesse is prepared at hand.
24 Affliction and p anguish shall make him afraide: they shall preuaile against him as a king readie to the battell.
25 For he hath stretched out his hand against God, and made him selfe strong against the Almightie.
26 Therefore God shall runne vpon him, euen vpon his necke, and against the most thicke part of his shielde, 27 Because he hath couered his face with q his fatnes, and hath colloppes in his flancke.
28 Though he dwell r in desolate cities, and in houses which no man inhabiteth, but are become heapes, 29 Hee shall not be riche, neither shall his substance continue, neither shall he prolong the s perfection thereof in the earth.
30 Hee shall neuer depart out of darknes: the flame shall drie vp his braches, and he shall go away with the breath of his mouth.
31 Hee t beleeueth not that he erreth in vanitie: therefore vanitie shalbe his change.
32 His branche shall not bee greene, but shall be cut off before his day.
33 God shall destroy him as the vine her sowne u grape, and shall cast him off, as the olive doeth her flower.
34 For the congregation of the hypocrite shalbe desolate, & fire shall deuoure the houses of x bribes.
35 For they y conceiue mischiefe and bring forth vanitie, and their bellie hath prepared deceite.

into extreme miserie. s Meaning, that his sumptuous buildings should neuer come to perfection. t He standeth so in his owne conceite, that he will giue no place to good counsell, therefore his owne pride shall bring him to destruction. u As one that gathereth grapes before they be ripe. x Which were built or maintained by powling, and briberie. y And therefore all their vaine deuices shall turne to their owne destruction.

CHAP. XVI.

Iob moued by the importunacie of his friendes, 7 Counteth in what extremitie he is, 19 And taketh God witnes of his innocencie.

1 BVt Iob answered, and saide,
2 I haue oft times hearde such things: miserable comfoyters are ye all.
3 Shall there be none ende of wordes of a winde? or what maketh thee bolde so to b answere?
4 I coulde also speake as ye doe: (but woulde God your c soule were in my soules steade) I coulde herpe you compasse in speaking, and coulde d shake mine head at you,
5 But I woulde strengthen you e with my mouth, and the comfort of my lips should asswage your sorowe.
6 Though I speake, my sorow f can not be asswaged: though I cease, what release haue I?
7 But now g he maketh me wearie: O God, thou hast made all my h congregation desolate,
8 And hast made me full of i wrinkles which is a witnesse thereof, and my leanesse ryseth vp in me, testifying the same in my face.
9 k His wrath hath torne me, and he hateth me, and gnasheth vpon me with his teeth: mine enemie hath sharpened his eyes against me.
10 They haue opened their mouthes vpon me, and smitten me on the l cheeke in reproche: they gather themselues together against me.
11 God hath deliuered me to the vniust, and hath made me to turne out of the way by the m hands of the wicked.
12 I was in wealth, but he hath brought me to nought: he hath taken me by the necke, and beaten me, and set me as a marke for himselfe.
13 His n archers compasse me rounde about: he cutteth my reines, and doeth not spare, and powreth my gall o vpon the ground.
14 He hath broken me with one breaking vpon another, and runneth vpon me like a gyant.
15 I haue sowed a sackecloth vpon my skinne, and haue abased mine p horne vnto the dust.
16 My face is withered with weeping, & the shadow of death is vpon mine eies, 17 Though there be no wickednesse in q myne hands, and my prayer r be pure.
18 O earth, couer not thou my s blood, and let my crying finde no place.
19 For lo, now my t witnesse is in the heauen, and my record is on hie.
20 My friendes u speake eloquently as a Which serue for vaine ostentation & for no true comfort.

b For Eliphaz did reply against Iobs answere.
c I would ye felt that which I doe.
d That is, mocke at your miserie, as you doe at mine.
e If this were in my power, yet would I comfort you, and not doe as ye doe to me.
f If they would say, Why doest thou not then cõfort thy selfe? he answereth, that the iudgements of God are more heauie, then he is able to asswage either by words or silence.
g Meaning, God.
h That is, destroyed most of my familie.
i In token of sorowe and griefe.
k That is, God by his wrath: & in this diuersitie of words and hie style he expresseth how grieuous the hand of God was vpon him.
l That is, hath handled me most contemptuously: for so smiting on the cheeke signified 1. King. 22. 24. mar. 14. 65.
m They haue led me whither they would.
n His manifold afflictions. o I am wounded to the heart. p Meaning, his glory was brought lowe. q Signifying, that he is not able to comprehend the cause of this his grieuous punishment. r That is, vnfained, and without hypocrisie. s Let my sinne be knowen, if I be such a sinner as mine aduersaries accuse me, and let me finde no fauour. t Though man condemne me, yet God is witnesse of my cause. u Vse painted wordes in steade of true consolation.

gainst

x Thus by his great torments he is caried away, and brasteth out into passions, and speaketh madwisedly, as though God should intreate man more gently, seeing he hath but a short time here to liue.

gainst me: but mine eye powreth out teares vnto God.

21 Oh that a man might x pleade with God, as man with his neighbour!

22 For ꝑ yeres accounted come, & I shall go the way, whence I shal not returne.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Iob sayth that he consumeth away, and yet doth patiently abide it. 10 He exhorteth his friendes to repentance, 13 Shewing that he looketh but for death.

a In steade of comfort, being now at deaths doore, he had but them that mocked at him, and discouraged him.

b I see still that they seeke but to vexe me.

c He reasoneth with God as a man beside himselfe, to the intent that his cause might be brought to light d And answere for thee?

e That these mine afflictions are thy iust iudgments, though man know not the cause.

f He that flattereth a man, and onely iudgeth him happie in his prosperitie, shal not himselfe onely, but in his posteritie be punished.

g God hath made all the world to speake of me, because of mine afflictions.

h That is, as a continual sound in their eares.

1 My breath is corrupt: my daies are cut off, & the graue is readie for me.

2 a There are none but mockers with me, and mine eye continueth in b their bitternes.

3 c Lay downe now and put me in suretie for thee: who is he, that d wil touche mine hand?

4 For thou hast hid their heart frō e vnderstanding: therefore shalt thou not set them vp on hie.

5 f For the eyes of his children shal faile, that speaketh flatterie to his friendes.

6 He hath also made me a g bywoorde of the people, and I am as a tabret b before them.

7 Mine eye therefore is dimme for griefe, and all my strength is like a shadowe.

8 The righteous shalbe astonied at this, and the innocent shalbe moued against the hypocrite.

9 But the righteous wil hold his k way, and he whose handes are pure, shall increase his strength.

10 All i you therefore turne you, and come nowe, and I shall not finde one wise among you.

11 My daies are past, mine enterprises are broken, and the thoughtes of mine heart

12 Haue changed the m night for the day, and the light ꝑ approcheth, for darknes.

13 Though I hope, n yet the graue shalbe mine house, and I shall make my bed in the darke.

14 I shall say to corruption, Thou art my o father, and to ꝑ worme, Thou art my mother and my sister.

15 Where is then nowe mine hope? or who shall consider the thing, that I hoped for?

16 p They shall goe downe into the bottome of the pit: surely it shal lye together in the dust.

i To wit, when they see the godly punished: but in the ende they shall come to vnderstanding, and knowe what shall be the reward of the hypocrite. k That is, will not be discouraged, considering that the godly are punished as well as the wicked.

l Iob speaketh to them three, that came to comfort him.

m That is, haue brought me sorowe in steade of comfort.

n Though I should hope to come from aduersitie to prosperitie as your discourse pretendeth. o I haue no more hope in father, mother, sister, or any worldly thing: for the dust and wormes shal be to me in steade of them. p All worldly hope, and prosperitie faile, which you say, are onely signes of Gods fauour: but seeing that these things perishe, I set mine hope in God, and in the life euerlasting.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Bildad rebuketh the pauses of the vnfaithfull and wicked.

1 Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said,

2 When will a ye make an end of your wordes? b cause vs to vnderstand, and then we will speake.

3 Wherefore are we counted as beastes, and are vile in your sight?

4 Thou art c as one that teareth his soule in his anger. Shall the d earth be forsaken for thy sake? or the rocke remoued out of his place?

5 Yea, the light of the wicked shalbe e quenched, and the sparke of his fire shall not shine.

6 The light shalbe darke in his dwelling, and his candle shalbe put out with him.

7 The steppes of his strength shalbe restrained, and his owne counsel shal cast him downe.

8 For he is taken in the net by his fete, and he f walketh vpon the snares.

9 The grenne shall take him by the heele, and the theefe shall come vpon him.

10 A snare is laied for him in the ground, and a trappe for him in the way.

11 Fearefulnesse shall make him afraide on euery side, and shall driue him to his feete.

12 His strength shalbe g famine: and destruction shalbe readie at his side.

13 It shall deuoure the inner parts of his skinne, and the h first borne of death shall deuoure his strength.

14 His hope shalbe rooted out of his dwelling, and shall cause him to goe to the i king of feare.

15 Feare shall dwell in his house (because it is not k his) l and brimstone shalbe scattred vpon his habitation.

16 His rootes shalbe dried vp beneath, and aboue shall his branche be cut downe.

17 His remembrance shall perishe from the earth, and he shall haue no name in the streete.

18 They shall driue him out of the m light vnto darkenesse, and chase him out of the worlde.

19 He shal neither haue sonne nor nephew among his people, nor any posteritie in his dwellings.

20 The posteritie shalbe astonied at his n day, and feare shall come vpon the ancient.

21 Surely such are the habitations of the wicked, and this is the place of him that knoweth not God.

a Which count your selues iust? as Chap. 12.4.

b Whom you take to be but beasts, as chap. 12.7.

c That is, like a mad man.

d Shall God change the order of nature for thy sake, by dealing with thee otherwise then he doeth with all men?

e When the wicked is in his prosperitie, then God changeth his state: and this is his ordinarie working for their sinnes.

f Meaning, that the wicked are in continuall danger.

g That which should nourish him, shalbe consumed by famine.

h That is, some strong and violent death shall consume his strength: or as the Ebrew word signifieth, his members or partes.

i That is, with most great feare k Meaning, not truely come by.

l Though al the world would fauour him, yet God would destroy him and his.

m He shall fall from prosperitie to aduersitie.

n When they shall see what came vnto him.

CHAP. XIX.

2 Iob reproueth his friendes, 15 And receiteth his miseries and grieuous paines. 25 He assureth himselfe of the generall resurrection.

1 But Iob answered, and said,

2 How long will ye vexe my soule, and torment me with wordes?

3 Ye haue nowe a tenne times reproched me, and are not ashamed: ye are impu-

4 And though I had in deede erred, mine errour [b] remaineth with me.

5 But in deede if ye will aduance your selues against mee, and rebuke mee for my reproche,
6 Knowe nowe, that God hath [c] ouerthrowen mee, and hath compassed me with his net.
c He brasteth out againe into his passions, and declareth still ỹ his affliction cōmeth of God, though he be not able to feele the cause in him selfe.
7 Beholde, I crie out of violence, but I haue none answere: I crie, but there is no iudgement.
8 He hath hedged by my way that I can not [d] passe, and he hath set darkenes in my paths.
d Meaning, out of his afflictions.
9 He hath spoyled mee of mine honour, & taken the [e] crowne awaye from mine head.
e Meaning, his children, & what soeuer was deare vnto him in this world.
10 He hath destroyed mee on euery side and I am gone: and he hath remoued mine hope like [f] a tree.
f Which is pluckt vp, and hath no more hope to growe.
11 And he hath kindled his wrath against me, and counteth me as one of his enemies.
12 His [g] armies came together, & made their way vpon me, and camped about my tabernacle.
g His manifolde afflictions.
13 He hath remoued my brethren farre from mee, and also mine acquaintance were strangers vnto me.
14 My neighbours haue forsaken mee, & my familiars haue forgotten me.
h Mine household seruants: by all these losses Iob sheweth that touching the flesh he had great occasion to be moued.
15 [h] They that dwell in mine house, and my maydes tooke me for a stranger: for I was a stranger in their sight.
16 I called my seruant, but he would not answere, though I prayed him with my mouth.
i Which were hers and mine.
17 My breath was straūge vnto my wife, though I prayed her for the childrens sake of mine [i] owne body.
k Besides these great losses and most cruel vnkindnes, he was touched in his owne person as followeth.
18 The wicked also despised me, & when I rose, they spake against me.
19 All my secrete friendes abhorred me, and they whome I loued, are turned against me.
l All my flesh was consumed.
20 My bone [k] cleaueth to my skinne and to my flesh, and I haue escaped with the [l] skinne of my teeth.
m Seeing I haue these iust causes to complaine, condemne me not as an hypocrite, specially ye which should comfort me.
21 Haue pitie vpon me: haue [m] pity vpon me, (O ye my friendes) for the hande of God hath touched me.
22 Why doe ye persecute me, as [n] God: and are not satisfied with my [o] flesh?
n Is it not ynough that God doth punish me, except you by reproches increase my sorowe?
23 Oh that my wordes were nowe written! oh that they were written euen in a booke, 24 And grauen with [p] an yron penne in lead, or in stone for euer!
25 For I am sure, that my [q] Redeemer liueth, and he shall stande the last on the earth.
26 And though after my skinne wormes destroy this bodie, yet shall I see God
o To see my bodie punished, except yet trouble my minde?
p He protesteth that notwithstanding his sore passions, his religion is perfite, and that he is not a blasphemer, as they iudged him.
q I do not so iustifie my selfe before the worlde, but I knowe that I shall come before the great Iudge, who shalbe my deliuerer and Sauiour.
[r] in my flesh.
27 Whome I my selfe shall see, and mine eyes shal behold, and none other for me, though my reines are consumed within me.
r Herein Iob declareth playnely that he had a full hope, that both the soule & bodie should enioy the presence of God in the last resurrection.
28 But ye saye, Why is he persecuted? And there was [s] a deepe matter in me.
29 Be ye afraid of the sworde: for ỹ sworde will be [t] auenged of wickednes, that ye may knowe that there is a iudgement.
s Though his friendes thought that he was but persecuted of God for his sinnes, yet he declareth that there was a deeper consideration: to wit, the tryall of his faith & patience, and so to be an example for others.
t God will bee reuenged of this hastie iudgement, whereby you condemne me.

CHAP. XX.

1 Zophar sheweth, that the wicked and the couetous shall haue a short ende, 22 Though for a time they florish.

1 Then answered Zophar the Naamathite and sayd,
2 Doubtles my thoughtes cause me to answere, and therefore I make haste.
3 I haue heard [a] the correction of my reproche: therefore the spirit of mine vnderstanding causeth me to answere.
a He declareth that two thinges moued him to speake: to wit, because Iob seemed to touche him, and because he thought he had knowledge sufficient to confute him.
4 Knowest thou not this of olde? & since God placed man vpon the earth?
5 That the reioycing of the wicked is short, and that the ioy of hypocrites is but a moment?
6 Though [b] his excellencie mount vp to the heauen, and his head reach vnto the cloudes, b His purpose is to proue Iob to be a wicked mā, & an hypocrite, because God punished him, and changed his prosperitie into aduersitie.
7 Yet shall he perishe for euer, like his dung, & they which haue seene him, shal say, Where is he?
8 He shall flee away as a dreame, & they shal not finde him, and shal passe away as a vision of the night, 9 So that the eye which had seene him, shal do so no more, and his place shal see him no more.
c Where as the father through ambition and tyrannie oppressed the poore, ỹ children through pouertie & miserie shal seeke fauour at ỹ poore.
10 His children shall [c] flatter the poore, & his hands shall [d] restore his substance.
d So that the thing, which he hath taken away by violence, shall be restored againe by force.
11 His bones are full of the sinne of his youth, and [e] it shal lye downe with him in the dust.
e Meaning, that he shal carie nothing away with him, but his sin.
12 When wickednes [f] was sweete in his mouth, and he hid it vnder his tongue,

15 He hath deuoured substance, and hee shal vomit it: for God shal drawe it out of his belly.
g He compareth euill gotten goods to the venime of aspes, which serpent is most dangerous: noting that Iobs great riches were not truely come by, and therefore God did plague him iustly for ỹ same.
16 He shal sucke the [g] gall of Aspes, & the vipers tongue shal slay him.
17 He shall not see the [h] riuers, nor the h Though God giue to all other abundance of his blessings, yet he shal haue no part thereof.

i That is, these raueners & spoilers of the poore shal enioy their theft but for a time: for after God will take it from them and cause them to make restitutiõ, so that it is but an exchange.

k He shal leaue nothing to his posteritie.

l The wicked shal neuer be in rest: for one wicked man shall seeke to destroy another.

m Some reade, vpon his flesh, alluding to Iob, whose flesh was smitten w a scab.

n Some reade, of the quiuer.

o Al feare & sorow shal light vpon him, when he thinketh to escape.

p That is, fire from heauen, or the fire of Gods wrath.

q Meaning, the children of the wicked shall flow away like riuers and be dispersed in diuers places.

floods & streames of honie and butter.
18 Ye shal restore the labour, and shall deuoure no more: euen according to the substance shall be his exchange, i and yee shal enioy it no more.
19 For he hath vndone many: he hath forsaken the poore, and hath spoyled houses which he buylded not.
20 Surely he shal feele no quietnes in his body, neyther shall yee reserue of that which he desired.
21 There shal none of his k meate be left: therefore none shall hope for his goods.
22 When he shalbe filled with his abundance, he shalbe in payne, and the hand l of all the wicked shal assaile him.
23 He shall be about to fill his bellie, but God shal send vpõ him his fierce wrath, m and shal cause to raine vpon him, euen vpon his meate.
24 He shal flee from the yron weapons, and the bowe of steele shall strike him thorough.
25 The arrowe is drawen out, & commeth forth of the n bodie, and shineth of his gall, so feare commeth vpon him.
26 o All darkenes shalbe hid in his secrete places: the fire that is not p blowen, shal deuour him, and that which remaineth in his tabernacle, shalbe destroyed.
27 The heauen shall declare his wickednes, & the earth shal rise vp against him.
28 The q increase of his house shall go away: it shall flowe away in the day of his wrath.
29 This is the portion of the wicked man from r God, and the heritage that he shal haue of God for his s wordes.

olde, and grow in wealth?
8 Their seede is established in their sight with them, and their generation before their eyes.
9 Their houses are peaceable without feare, & the rod of God is not vpon them.
10 Their bullocke gendreth, and faileth not: their cowe calueth, and casteth not her calfe.
11 They sende forth their children t like sheepe, and their sonnes dance.
12 They take the tabret and harpe, and reioyce in the sound of the organs.
13 They spend their dayes in welth, and suddenly u they go downe to the graue.
14 They say also vnto God, Depart from vs: for we desire not the x knowledge of thy wayes.
15 Who is the Almighty, that we should serue him? and what profite should we haue, if we should pray vnto him?
16 Lo, their wealth is not in their y hand: therefore let the counsell of the wicked z be farre from me.
17 How oft shal the candle of the wicked be put out? and their destruction come vpon them? he will deuide their lines in his wrath.
18 They shalbe as stubble before a wind, and as chaffe that the storme carpeth away.
19 God will lay vp the sorow of the father for his children: when hee rewardeth him, he shal know it.
20 a His eyes shal see his destruction, and he shall drinke of the wrath of the Almightie.
21 For what pleasure hath hee in his house after him, when the nomber of his moneths is cut off?
22 Shall any teach b GOD knowledge, who iudgeth the hiest things?
23 One c dyeth in his ful strength, being in all ease and prosperitie.

25 And another d dieth in the bitternes of his soule, & neuer eateth with pleasure.
26 They shal sleepe both in e the dust, and the wormes shal couer them.
27 Behold, I know your thoughts, & the enterprises, wherewith ye do me wrong.
28 For ye say, Where is the princes f house? and where is the tabernacle of the wickeds dwelling?
29 May ye not g aske them that go by the way? and ye can not deme their signes.
30 But the wicked is kept vnto the day h of destruction, and they shalbe brought forth to the day of wrath.
31 Who shall declare his way i to his face? and who shal reward him for that he hath done?

t They haue store of childrē, lusty and helthful, and in these points he answereth to that which Zophar alleaged before.

u Not being tormented with long sickenesse.

x They desire nothing more then to be exēpt frō all subiection that they should beare to God. this Iob sheweth his aduersaries, that if they reason only by that which is seene by common experience, the wicked that hate God, are better dealt withal, then they that loue him.

y It is not their owne, but God onely lendeth it vnto them.

z God keepe me from their prosperitie.

r Though the wicked florish here, yet God wil punish him in the last day.

s Though men doe flatter him, and none dare reproue him in this worlde, yet death is a token, that God wil bring him to an account.

CHAP. XXI.

7 Iob declareth howe the prosperitie of the wicked maketh them proude, 15 In so much that they blaspheme God. 16 Their destruction is at hande. 23 None ought to be iudged wicked for affliction, neither good for prosperitie.

1 BVt Iob answered, and said,
2 Heare diligently my words, & this a shall be in stede of your consolations.
3 Suffer me, that I may speake, & when I haue spoken, mocke on.
4 Doe I direct my talke to man? If it b were so, howe should not my spirit be troubled?
5 Marke me, & be abashed, and lay your hand vpon your c mouth.
6 Euen when I remember, I am afraid, and feare taketh hold on my flesh.
7 Wherefore do the wicked d liue, & wax a Your diligent marking of my words shal be to me a great consolation.

b As though he would say, I doe not talke with man, but with God, who will not answere me, & therefore my mind must needs be troubled.

c He chargeth them as though they were not able to comprehend this his feeling of Gods iudgement, and exhorteth them therefore to silence.

d Iob proueth against his aduersaries that God punisheth not straightwayes the wicked, but oft times giueth them long life, and prosperitie: so that wee must not iudge God iust or vniust by the things that appeare to our eye.

t He shalbe glad to lie in a slimie pit, which before could not be content with a royall palace.
u Saying, that the iust in this world haue prosperitie, and the wicked aduersitie.

32 Yet shall hee be brought to the graue, and remaine in the heape.
33 The t slimie valley shalbe sweete vnto him, and euery man shall drawe after him, as before him there were innumerable.
34 Howe then comfort u ye me in vaine, seeing in your answeres there remaine but lyes?

CHAP. XXII.

Eliphaz affirmeth that Iob is punished for his sinnes. 6 He accuseth him of vnmercifulnesse, 13 And that he denied Gods prouidence. 21 He exhorteth him to repentance.

1 Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered, and said, a Though man were iust, yet God could haue no profite of this his iustice: and therefore when he punisheth him, he hath no regarde to his iustice, but to his sinne. Chap. 35. 7.
2 Can a man be a profitable vnto God, as he that is wise, may be profitable to himselfe?
3 * Is it any thing vnto the Almightie, that thou art righteous? or is it profitable to him, þ thou makest thy waies vpright?
4 Is it for feare b of thee that he will accuse thee? or goe with thee into iudgement?
5 Is not thy wickednes great, and thine iniquities innumerable?
b Lest thou shouldest reproue or hurt him?
6 For thou hast taken the c pledge from thy brother for nought, and spoyled the clothes of the naked.
c Thou hast bin cruel and without charitie, and wouldest do nothing for the poore, but for thine owne aduantage.
7 To such as were wearie, thou hast not giuen water to drinke, and hast withdrawen bread from the hungrie.
8 But the mightie man d had the earth, & he that was in autoritie, dwelt in it.
d When thou wast in power and authoritie, thou didst not iustice, but wrong.
9 Thou hast cast out widowes emptie, and the armes of e the fatherlesse were broken.
e Thou hast not only not shewed pitie, but oppressed them.
10 Therefore snares are round about thee, and feare shall suddenly trouble thee:
11 Or darkenesse that thou shouldest not see, and f abundance of waters shal couer thee.
f That is, manifold afflictions.
12 Is not God on hie in the heauen? and beholde the height of the h starres how hie they are.
13 But thou sayest, Howe should GOD g knowe? can he iudge through þ darke cloude?
g He accuseth Iob of impietie & contempt of God, as though he would say, If thou passe not for men, yet consider the height of Gods maiestie.
14 The cloudes hide him that hee can not see, and he walketh in the circle of heauen.
15 Hast thou marked the waye of the worlde, k wherein wicked men haue walked?
h That so much the more by that excellent woorke thou maiest feare God & reuerence him. i He reproueth Iob as though he denied Gods prouidence, and that he coulde not see the things that were done in this world. k Howe God hath punished them from ỹ beginning?
16 Which were l cut downe before the time, whose fundation was as a riuer that ouerflowed:
l He proueth Gods prouidence by ỹ punishment of the wicked, whom he taketh away before they can bring their wicked purposes to passe.
17 Which said vnto God, Depart from vs, and asked what the Almightie could doe for them.
18 Yet he m filled their houses with good things: but let the counsell of the wicked be farre from me.
19 The righteous shall see them, and shall reioyce, n and the innocent shall laugh them to scorne.
20 Surely o our substance is hid: but the fire hath deuoured the remnant of p them.
21 Therefore acquaint thy selfe, I pray thee, q with him, and make peace: therby thou shalt haue prosperitie.
22 Receiue, I pray thee, the lawe of his mouth, and lay vp his wordes in thine heart.
23 If thou returne to the Almightie, thou shalt r be built vp, and thou shalt put iniquitie farre from thy Tabernacle.
24 Thou shalt lay vp golde for ſ dust, and the golde of Ophir, as the stones of the riuers.
25 Yea, the Almighty shalbe thy defence, and thou shalt haue plentie of siluer.
26 And thou shalt then delite in the Almightie, and lift vp thy face vnto God.
27 Thou shalt make thy prayer vnto him, and he shall heare thee, and thou shalt render thy vowes.
28 Thou shalt also decree a thing, and he shal establish it vnto thee, and the t light shall shine vpon thy wayes.
29 u When others are cast downe, then shalt thou say, I am lifted vp: and God shall saue the humble person.
30 The innocent shall deliuer the x land, and it shall be preserued by the pureness of thine hands.
m He answereth to that, which Iob had said, Chap. 21. 7. that the wicked haue prosperitie in this worlde: desiring that hee might not be partaker of the like.
n The iust reioyce at the destruction of the wicked for two causes: first, because God sheweth himselfe iudge of the world, and by this meanes continueth his honour & glory: secōdly, because God sheweth that he hath care ouer his, in that he punisheth their enemies.
o That is, the state and preseruation of the godly is hid vnder Gods wings.
p Meaning, of the wicked.
q He exhorteth Iob to repentance and to returne to God.
r God will restore vnto thee all thy substance.
ſ Which shalbe in abundance like dust.
t That is, the fauour of God.
u God will deliuer his when the wicked are destroyed rounde about them, as in the flood and in Sodom.
x God will deliuer a whole countrey from perill, euen for the iust mans sake.

CHAP. XXIII.

Iob affirmeth that he both knoweth and feareth the power and sentence of the iudge, 10 And that he is not punished onely for his sinnes.

1 But Iob answered and said,
2 Though my talke be this day in a bitternes, and my plague greater then my groning, a He sheweth the iust cause of his complaining, and as touching that Eliphaz had exhorted him to returne to God, Chap. 22. 21. he declareth that he desireth nothing more: but it seemed that God woulde not be found of him.
3 Would God yet I knewe how to finde him, I would enter vnto his place.
4 I woulde pleade the cause before him, and fill my mouth with arguments.
5 I would know þ wordes, that he would answere me, and woulde vnderstande what he would say vnto me.
6 Woulde he b plead against me with his great power? No, but he would c put strength in me.
b Vsing his absolute power, & c Of his mercie he woulde giue me power to answere him.
7 d There the righteous might reason with him, so I shoulde be deliuered for euer from my Judge.
d When he of his mercie hath giuen strength to maintaine their cause.

saying, Because I am God, I may do what I will.

e Meaning, that if he consider Gods iustice, he is not able to cõprehẽd his iudgments on what side or part soeuer he turneth himselfe.

f God hath this preeminence aboue me, that he knoweth my way: to wit, that I am innocẽt, & I am not able to iudge of his workes: he sheweth also his confidence, that God doeth visite him for his profit

g His worde is more precious vnto me, then the meat wherewith the bodie is sustained.

h Iob confesseth that at this present he felt not Gods fauour, & yet was assured, that he had appointed him to a good ende. i In many pointes man is not able to attaine to Gods iudgements. k That I should not be without feare. l He sheweth the cause of his feare, which is, that he being in trouble, seeth none ende, neither yet knoweth the cause.

8 e Beholde, if I go to the East, he is not there: if to the West, yet I cannot perceiue him:
9 If to the North where he worketh, yet I cannot see him: he will hide himselfe in the South, & I cannot beholde him.
10 But he knoweth my f way, and trieth me, and I shall come forth like the gold.
11 My foote hath followed his steps: his way haue I kept, and haue not declined.
12 Neither haue I departed from the commandement of his lips, and I haue g esteemed the woordes of his mouth more then mine appointed foode.
13 Yet he is in one minde, and who can h turne him? yea, he doeth what his minde desireth.
14 For he will performe that, which is decreed of me, and i many such thinges are with him.
15 Therefore I am troubled at his presence, & in considering it, I am afraide of him.
16 For God k hath softened mine heart, and the Almightie hath troubled me.
17 For I am not cut off m l darknes, but he hath hid the darknes from my face.

CHAP. XXIIII.

Iob describeth the wickednesse of men, and sheweth what curse belongeth to the wicked, 12 How all thinges are gouerned by Gods prouidence, 17 And the destruction of the wicked.

a Thus Iob speaketh in his passions and after the iudgement of the flesh: that is, that he seeth not the things that are done at times, neither yet hath a peculiar care ouer al, because he punisheth not y wicked, nor reuengeth the godly.

b When he punisheth the wicked and rewardeth the good.

c And for cruelties and oppression dare not shew their faces.

d That is, spare no diligence.

1 HOwe should not the times a be hid from the Almightie, seeing that they which know him, see not his b dayes?
2 Some remoue the lande markes, that robbe the flockes and feede thereof.
3 They leade awaye the asse of the fatherlesse: and take p widowes oxe to pledge.
4 They make the poore to turne out of the way, so that the poore of the earth hide themselues c together.
5 Beholde, others as wilde asses in the wildernesse, goe forth to their businesse, and d rise early for a pray: the wildernesse e giueth him and his children foode.
6 They reape f his prouision in the fielde, but they gather the latter vintage of the wicked.
7 They cause the naked to lodge without garment, and without couering in the colde.
8 They are wet with the showres of the mountaines, h and they imbrace the rocke for want of a couering.
9 They pluckе the fatherlesse i from the breast, & take the pledge k of the poore.
10 They cause him to goe naked without clothing, and take the gleaning from the hungrie.
11 They that make oyle l betweene their walles, and treade their wine presses, suffer thirst.
12 When m crie out of the citie, and the soules of the slaine n crie out: yet God doth o not charge them with follie.
13 These are they, that abhorre the light: they knowe not the wayes thereof, nor continue in the paths thereof.
14 The murtherer riseth early, and killeth the poore and the needie: and in p night he is as a theefe.
15 The eye also of the q adulterer waiteth for the twylight, and sayeth, None eye shall see me, and disguiseth his face.
16 They digge through houses in p dark, which they marked for themselues in the day: they know not the light.
17 But the morning is euen to them as the shadow of death: if one know them, they are in the terrours of the shadowe of death.
18 Ye is swift vpon the r waters: their s portion shalbe cursed in the earth: he will not beholde the way of the vineyardes.
19 As the drie ground and heate consume the snow waters, so shall the graue t the sinners.
20 a The pitifull man shall forget him: the worme shall feele his sweetenes: he shalbe no more remembred, & the wicked shalbe broken like a tree.
21 Ye x doth euill intreat the baren, that doth not beare, neither doth he good to the widowe.
22 Ye draweth also the y mightie by his power, and when he riseth vp, none is sure of life.
23 Though men giue him assurance to be in safetie, yet his eyes are vpon their wayes.
24 They are exalted for a litle, but they are gone, and are brought lowe as all others: they are destroyed, and cut off as the toppe of an eare of corne.
25 But if it be not z so, where is he? or who will proue me a lyer, and make my woordes of no value?

k That is, his garment, wherewith he should be couered or clad.

l In such places, which are appointed for that purpose: meaning, that those that labour for the wicked, are pined for hunger.

m For the great oppression and extortion.

n Crie out and call for vengeance.

o God doeth not condemne the wicked, but seemeth to passe ouer it by his long silence.

p That is, Gods word, because they are reproued thereby.

q By these particular vices, and the licence thereunto, he woulde proue that God punisheth not the wicked, and rewardeth the iust.

r Hee fleeth to the waters for his succour.

s They thinke that all y worlde is bent against them, and dare not goe by the hie way.

t As the drie grounde is neuer full with waters, so will they neuer cease sinning, till they come to the graue. u Though God suffer the wicked for a time, yet their ende shalbe most vile destruction, and in this point Iob commeth to himselfe and sheweth his confidence.

x He sheweth why the wicked shall not be lamented, because he did not pitie others. y He declareth that after that the wicked haue destroyed the weakest, they will do like to the stronger, and therefore are iustly preuented by Gods iudgementes.

z That is, that contrary to your reasoning no man can giue a perfite reason of Gods iudgements, let me be reproued.

CHAP. XXV.

Bildad proueth that no man is cleane nor without sinne before God.

1 THen answered Bildad the Shuhite, and saide,

2 a Power

a His purpose is to proue, that albeit God trie & afflict the iust, yet soone after he sendeth prosperitie, and because he did not so to Iob, he cōcludeth that he is wicked.
b Who can hide him from his presence?

2 a Power & feare is with him, that maketh peace in his hie places.
3 Is there any nomber in his armies? & vpon whome b shal not his light arise?
4 And howe may a man c be iustified with God? or how can he be cleane, that is borne of woman?
5 Beholde, hee will giue no light to the moone, d and the starres are vncleane in his sight.
6 Howe much more man, a worme, euen the sonne of man, which is but a worme?

c That is, be iust in respect of God? d If God shewe his power, the moone and starres cannot haue that light, which is giuen them, much lesse can man haue any excellēcie, but of God.

CHAP. XXVI.

Iob sheweth that man cannot helpe God, and proueth it by his miracles.

a Thou concludest nothing: for neither thou helpest me, which am destitute of all helpe, neither yet speakest sufficiently on gods behalf, who hath no neede of thy defence.
b But thou doest not applie it to the purpose.
c That is, moueth thee to speake this?
d Iob beginneth to declare the force of Gods power & prouidence in ſ mines & metals in the deepe places of the earth.
e There is nothing hid in the bottome of the earth, but he seeth it.
f Meaning, the graue wherein things putrifie.
g He causeth ſ whole heauen to turne about the North pole.
h That is, he hideth the heauens, which are called his throne.
i So long as this worlde endureth.
k Not that heauen hath pillars to vphold it, but he speaketh by a similitude, as though he woulde say, The heauen it selfe is not able to abide his reproche.
l Which is a figure of starres facioned like a serpent, because of the crookednes.
m If these fewe things, which we see dayly with our eyes, declare his great power and prouidence, howe much more would they appeare, if we were able to comprehend all his workes?

1 BVt Iob answered, and sayd,
2 a Whome helpest thou? him that hath no power? sauest thou ꝑ arme that hath no strength?
3 Whom counsellest thou? him that hath no wisedome? thou b shewest right well as the thing is.
4 To whome doest thou declare these woords? or whose spirite c commeth out of thee?
5 The d dead thinges are formed vnder the waters, and nere vnto them.
6 The graue is e naked before him, and there is no couering for f destruction.
7 He stretcheth out the g North ouer the emptie place, & hangeth the earth vpon nothing.
8 He bindeth the waters in his cloudes, & the cloude is not broken vnder them.
9 He holdeth back the face of his throne: h and spreadeth his cloude vpon it.
10 He hath set bounds about the waters, vntil the i day & night come to an ende.
11 The k pillars of heauen tremble and quake at his reproofe.
12 The sea is calme by his power, and by his vnderstanding he smiteth the pryde thereof.
13 His Spirite hath garnished the heauens, & his hand hath formed the crooked l serpent.
14 Loe, these are part of his wayes: but m howe litle a portion heare we of him? and who can vnderstande his fearefull power?

CHAP. XXVII.

The constancie and perfitnes of Iob. 13 The reward of the wicked and of the tyrants.

1 MOreouer Iob proceeded and continued his parable, saying,
2 The liuing God hath taken away my a iudgement: for the Almightie hath put my soule in bitternes.
3 Yet so long as my breath is in me, and the Spirit of God in my nostrels, 4 My lips surely shal speake no wickednes, b & my tongue shal vtter no deceite.
5 God forbid, that I should c iustifie you: vntill I dye, I will neuer take awaye mine d innocencie from my selfe.
6 I wil kéepe my righteousnes, and wil not forsake it: mine heart shall not reproue me of my e dayes.
7 Mine enemie shalbe as the wicked, and he that riseth against me, as the vnrighteous.
8 For what f hope hath the hypocrite when he hath heaped vp riches, if God take awap his soule?
9 Wil God heare his cry, when trouble commeth vpon him?
10 Wil he set his delite on the Almightie? wil he call vpon God at all times?
11 I wil teache you what is in the hand of g God, & I will not concele that which is with the Almightie.
12 Behold, all ye your selues h haue séene it: why then do you thus vanish i in vanitie?
13 This is the k portion of a wicked man with God, and the heritage of tyrants, which they shal receiue of the Almightie.
14 If his children be in great nomber, the sword shal destroy them, and his posteritie shal not be satisfied with bread.
15 His remnant shalbe buryed in death, and his widowes l shal not weepe.
16 Though he shoulde heape vp siluer as the dust, & prepare rayment as the clay, 17 He may prepare it, but the iust shall put it on, and the innocent shall deuide the siluer.
18 He buildeth his house as the m moth, and as a lodge that the watchman maketh.
19 When the rich man sleepeth, n he shall not be gathered to his fathers: they opened their eyes, and he was gone.
20 Terrours shal take him as waters, & a tempest shal carp him awap by night.
21 The East winde shall take him awap, and he shall depart: & it shall hurle him out of his place.
22 And God shall cast vpon him and not spare, though he would fayne flee out of his hand.
23 Euery man shall clappe their handes at him, and hisse at him out of their place.

a His purpose is to declare that man may atteine in this worlde to diuers secrets of nature, but man is neuer able to comprehend the wisdome of God.
b He hath so sore afflicted me, that men cannot iudge of mine vprightnes: for they iudge onely by outward signes.
b Howsoeuer men iudge of me, yet wil I not speake contrary to that, which I haue said, and do wickedly in betraying the trueth.
c Which condemne me as a wicked man, because ſ hand of God is vpon me.
d I wil not confesse ſ God doth thus punish me for my sinnes.
e Of my life past.
f What aduantage hath the dissembler to gaine neuer so much, seeing he shal lose his own soule?
g That is, what God reserueth to himselfe, and whereof he giueth not the knowledge to al.
h That is, these secret iudgemēts of God, and yet do not vnderstand them.
i Why maynteine you then this errour?
k Thus will God order ſ wicked, and punish him, euen vnto his posteritie.
l None shal lament him.
m Which breedeth in another mans possession or garment, but is soone shaken out.
n He meaneth that the wicked tyrants shall not haue a quiet death, nor be buryed honourably.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Iob sheweth that the wisdome of God is vnsearchable.

1 THe siluer surely hath his vayne, and a ꝑ gold his place, where they take it.
2 Yron is taken out of ꝑ dust, & braſſe is maken out of the stone.

3 God putteth an end to darkenes, [b] and he trieth the perfection of all things: he setteth a bonde of darkenes, and of the shadowe of death.

4 The flood breaketh out against the [c] inhabitant, & the waters [d] forgotten of the foote, being higher then man, are gone awap.

5 Out of þ same earth commeth [e] bread, & vnder it, as it were fire is turned vp.

6 The stones thereof are a place [f] of saphirs, and the dust of it is golde.

7 There is a path which no foule hath knowen, neither hath þ kites eye seen it.

8 The lions whelps haue not walked it, nor the lion passed thereby.

9 He putteth his hand vpon the [g] rocks, and ouerthrowoth the mountaines by the rootes.

10 He breaketh riuers in the rockes, and his eye seeth euerp precious thing.

11 He bindeth the floods, that they do not ouerflowe, & the thing that is hid, bringeth he to light.

12 But where is wisedome found? [h] and where is the place of vnderstanding?

13 Man knoweth not þ price thereof: for it is not found in the land of the liuing.

14 The depth saph, It is not in me: the sea also saph, It is not with me.

15 [k] Golde shal not be giuen for it, neither shall siluer bee wepghed for the price thereof.

16 It shall not be valued with the wedge of gold of Ophir, nor with the precious onix, nor the saphir.

17 The gold nor the chrystall shalbe equal vnto it, nor the exchange shalbe for plate of fine gold.

18 No mention shalbe made of coral, nor of the [l] gabish: for wisdome is more precious then perles.

19 The Topaz of Ethiopia shall not be equall vnto it, neyther shall it be valued with the wedge of pure golde.

20 Whence then commeth wisdom? and where is the place of vnderstanding.

21 Seeing it is hid from the eyes of al the liuing, and is hid from the [m] foules of the heauen?

22 Destruction and death saye, We haue heard the fame thereof with our eares.

23 But God vnderstandeth the [n] way thereof, and he knoweth the place thereof.

24 For he beholdeth þ ends of the world, and seeth all that is vnder heauen, 25 To make the wepght of the windes, & to weigh the waters by measure.

26 When he made a decree for the raine, & a way for the lightning of the thunders, 27 Then did he see it, and counted it: he prepared it and also considered it.

28 And vnto man he said, Beholde, [o] the feare of the Lorde is wisedome, and to depart from euill is vnderstanding.

Prou. 3.

o He declareth ỹ man hath so much of this heauenly wisdome, as he sheweth by fearing God, & departing from euill.

CHAP. XXIX.

Iob complaineth of the prosperitie of the time past. 7. 21 His authoritie, 12 Iustice and equitie.

1 MOreouer Iob proceeded and continued his parable, saying,

2 Oh that I were as [*] in times past, when God preserued me!

3 When his [a] light shined vpon mine head: and when by his light I walked through the [b] darkenes,

4 As I was in the dayes of my youth: when [c] Gods prouidence was vpon my tabernacle:

5 When the Almighty was yet with me, and my children round about me:

6 When I washed my paths [d] with butter, and when the rocke powred me out riuers of oyle:

7 When I went out to the gate, euen to the iudgement seate, and when I caused them to prepare my seat in the streete.

8 The young men sawe me, & [e] hid themselues, and the aged arose, and stood vp.

9 The princes staped talke, & laped their hand on their [f] mouth.

10 The voyce of princes was hid, and their tongue cleaued to the roofe of their mouth.

11 And when the [g] eare heard me, it blessed me: & when the eye sawe me, it gaue witnes to [h] me.

12 For I deliuered the [i] poore that cryed, and the fatherlesse, and him that had none to helpe him.

13 [k] The blessing of him that was ready to perish, came vpon mee, and I caused the widowes heart to reioyce.

14 I put [l] on iustice, & it couered me: my iudgement was as a robe, and a crowne.

15 I was the eyes to the blinde, & I was the feete to the lame.

16 I was a father vnto the poore, & when I knewe not the cause, I sought it out diligently.

17 I brake also the chawes of the vnrighteous man, and pluckt the pray out of his teeth.

18 Then I said, I shall die in my [m] nest, & I shal multiply my dayes as the sande.

19 For my roote is [n] spred out by the water, and the dewe shall lye vpon my branche.

20 My glory shal renue toward me, & my bowe shalbe restored in mine hand.

21 Vnto me men gaue eare, and wayted, and held their tongue at my counsell.

22 After my words they replied not, and my talke [o] dropped vpon them.

23 And they wayted for mee, as for the rayne, & they opened their mouth [p] as for the latter rayne.

24 If I [q] laughed on them, they beleeued it not: neither did they cause the light of my countenance [r] to fall.

25 I appointed out [s] their way, and did sitte as chiefe, and dwelt as a king in the armie, and like him that comforteth

*) Ebr. moneth before.

a When I felt his fauour.

b I was free frō affliction.

c That is, seemed by euident tokens to be more present with me.

d By these similitudes he declareth the great prosperitie that he was in, so that he had none occasion to beesuch a sinner as they accused him.

e Being asshamed of their lightnes, & afraid of my grauitie.

f Acknowledging my wisdom.

g All that heard me, praysed me.

h Testifying ỹ I did good iustice.

i Because his aduersaries did so much charge him w wickednes, he is cōpelled to render a count of his life.

k That is, I did succour him that was in distresse, and so he had cause to praise me.

l I delited to do iustice, as others did to weare costly apparel.

m That is, at home in my bed vour all trouble, & vnquietnesse.

n My felicitie doeth increase.

o That is, was pleasant vnto them.

p As the drie ground thirsteth for the rayne.

q That is, they thought it not to be a iest, or they thought not that I would to offend me, and condescend vnto them.

r They were afrayd to cause me to be angry.

s I had them at commandement.

the mourners.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Iob complaineth that he is contemned of the most contemptible, 11.21 Because of his aduersitie and affliction. 23 Death is the house of all flesh.

BVt now they that are ponger then I, a mocke me: yea, they whose fathers I haue refused to set with the b dogs of my flockes.

2 For whereto shoulde the strength of their handes haue serued me, seeing age c perished in them?

3 For pouertie and famine they were solitarie, fleeing into the wildernesse, which is darke, desolate and waste.

4 They cut vp d nettels vp the bushes, and the iuniper roots was their meate.

5 They were e chased forth from among men: they shouted at them, as at a theefe.

6 Therefore they dwelt in the clefts of riuers, in the holes of the earth and rockes.

7 They roared among the bushes, & vnder the thistles they gathered themselues.

8 They were the children of fooles and the children of villaines, which were more vile then the earth.

9 And now am I their f song, & I am their talke.

10 They abhorre me, & flee farre from me, and spare not to spit in my face.

11 Because that God hath loosed my g cord and humbled me, s they haue loosed the bridle before me.

12 The youth rise vp at my right hande: they haue pulled my feete, & haue trode on me as on the h paths of their destruction.

13 They haue destroyed my paths: they tooke pleasure at my calamitie, they had none i helpe.

14 They came as a great breache of waters, & k vnder this calamitie they come on heapes.

15 Feare is turned vpon me: & they pursue my soule as the winde, and mine health passeth away as a cloude.

16 Therefore my soule is nowe l powred out vpon me, and the dayes of affliction haue taken holde on me.

17 m It pearceth my bones in the night, and my sinewes take no rest.

18 For the great vehemencie is my garment changed, which compasseth me about as the collar of my coate.

19 n He hath cast me into the myre, and I am become like ashes and dust.

20 When I crie vnto thee, thou doest not heare me, neither regardest me, when I stand vp.

21 Thou turnest thy selfe o cruelly against me, and art enemie vnto me with the strength of thine hand.

22 Thou takest me vp and causest me to ride vpon the p winde, and makest my q strength to faile.

23 Surely I know that thou wilt bring me to death, and to the house appointed for all the liuing.

24 Doubtes none can stretche his hande vnto the graue, though they crie in his destruction.

25 Did not I weepe with him that was in trouble? was not my soule in heauines for the poore?

26 Yet when I looked for good, r euil came vnto me: and when I waited for light, there came darknes.

27 My bowels did boyle without rest: for s daies of affliction are come vpon me.

28 I went mourning t without sunne: I stoode vp in the congregation u & cried.

29 I am a brother to the x dragons, and a companion to the ostriches.

30 My skinne is blacke vpon me, and my bones are burnt with y heate.

31 Therefore mine harpe is turned to mourning, and mine organes into the voyce of them that weepe.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Iob reciteth the innocencie of his liuing, & number of his vertues, which declareth what ought to be the life of the faithfull.

I Made a couenant vvith mine a eies: why then should I thinke on b a maide?

2 For what portion should I haue of God from aboue? and what inheritance of the Almightie from on hie?

3 Is not destruction to the wicked, and strange punishment to c the workers of iniquitie?

4 Doeth not hee beholde my wayes and tell all my steps?

5 If I haue walked in vanitie, or if my foote hath made haste to deceite,

6 Let God weigh me in the iust balance, and he shall know mine d vprightnes.

7 If my step hath turned out of the way, or mine heart hath e walked after mine eye, or if any blot hath cleaned to mine hands,

8 Let me sowe, and let another f eat: yea, let my plants be rooted out.

9 If mine heart hath bene deceiued by a woman, or if I haue laide waite at the doore of my neighbour,

10 Let my wife g grinde vnto another mã, and let other men bowe downe vpon her:

11 For this is a wickednes, and iniquitie to be condemned,

12 Yea, this is a fire that shal deuoure h to destruction, and which shal roote out all mine increase.

13 If I did contemne the iudgement of my seruant, and of my maide, when they i did contend with me,

14 What then shall I doe when k God ulterie, yet the wrath of God will neuer cease till such bee destroyed. i When they thought themselues euil intreated by me. k If I had oppressed others, how should I haue escaped Gods iudgement?

a That is, mine estate is chãged, and where as before the ancient men were glad to do me reuerence, the yong men now contemne me.

b Meaning, to be my shepheards, or to keepe my dogges.

c That is, their fathers died for famine before they came to age.

d Iob sheweth that these that mocked him in his affliction, were like to their fathers, wicked, & lewde fellowes, such as he here describeth.

e They make songs of me, and mocke at my miserie.

f God hath taken from me the force, credit and authoritie, wherewith I kept them in subiection.

g He sayd that the yong men when they sawe him, hid themselues, as Chap. 29.8. and now in his miserie they were impudent and licentious.

h That is, they sought by all meanes how they might destroy me.

i They needed none to help thẽ.

k By my calamity they tooke an occasion against me.

l My life faileth me, and I am as halfe dead.

m Meaning sorow.

n That is, God hath brought me into contempt.

o He speaketh not thus to accuse God, but to declare the vehemencie of his affliction, whereby he was caried beside himselfe.

p He compareth his afflictions to a tempest or whirlewinde.

q Or, substance, or Law.

q None can deliuer me thence though they lamẽt at my death

r In stead of comforting they mocked at me.

u I am like the wilde beasts ỹ desire most solitarie places.

x With the heat of affliction.

a I kept mine eyes from all wanton lookes.

b Would not God then haue punished me?

c Iob declareth that the feare of God was a bridle to stay him from all wickednes.

d He sheweth wherein his vprightnesse standeth, that is, in asmuch as he was blameleſſe before men, and sinned not against the second table.

e That is, hath accomplished the lust of mine eye.

19 If I haue ſene any periſh for want of clothing, or any poore without couering, 20 If his loynes haue not bleſſed me, becauſe he was warmed with the fleece of my ſheepe, 21 If I haue lift [o] vp mine hand againſt the fatherleſs, when I ſaw that I might helpe him in the gate, 22 Let mine [p] arme fal from my ſhoulder, & mine arme be broken from the bone.
23 For Gods puniſhment was [q] fearful vnto me, and I could not be deliuered from his highnes.
24 If I made golde mine hope, or haue ſaid to the wedge of golde, Thou art my confidence, 25 If I reioyced becauſe my ſubſtance was great, or becauſe mine hande had gotten much,
26 If I did beholde the [r] ſunne, when it ſhined, or the moone, walking in her brightneſſe, 27 If mine heart did flatter me in ſecret, or if my mouth did kiſſe mine [ſ] hand, 28 (This alſo had bene an iniquitie to be condemned: for I had denied the God [t] aboue)
29 If I reioyced at his deſtruction that hated me, or was moued to ioy when euill came vpon him, 30 Neither haue I ſuffred my mouth to ſinne, by wiſhing a curſe vnto his ſoule.
31 Did not the men of my [u] tabernacle ſay, Who ſhall giue vs of his fleſhe? we can not be ſatisfied.
32 The ſtranger did not lodge in the ſtreete, but I opened my doores vnto him, that went by the way.
33 If I haue hid [x] my ſinne, as Adam, concealing mine iniquitie in my boſome, 34 Though I could haue made afraide a great multitude, yet the moſt contemptible of the families did [y] feare me: ſo I kept [z] ſilence, and went not out of the doore.
35 Oh that I had ſome to heare me! behold my [a] ſigne that the Almightie will witneſſe for me: though mine aduerſary ſhould write a booke againſt me, 36 Would not I take it vpon my ſhoulder, & binde it as [b] a crowne vnto me?
37 I will tell him the nomber of my goings, and go vnto him as to a [c] prince.
b Shoulde not this booke of his accuſations be a praiſe & commendation to me?
c I wil make him a count of all my life, without feare.
38 If my land [d] cry againſt me, or the furrowes therof complaine together, 39 If I haue eaten the fruites therof without ſilver: or if I haue grieued [e] the ſoules of the maiſters therof, 40 Let thiſtles growe in ſteade of wheate, and cockle in the ſteade of barlie.

THE [f] WORDES OF IOB ARE ENDED.

CHAP. XXXII.

Elihu reproueth them of folie. 8 Age maketh not a man wiſe, but the Spirit of God.

1 So theſe three men ceaſed to anſwere Iob, becauſe he "eſteemed him ſelfe iuſt.
2 Then the wrath of Elihu the ſonne of Barachel the [a] Buzite, of the famile of [b] Ram, was kindled: his wrath, I ſaye, was kindled againſt Iob, becauſe hee iuſtified himſelfe [c] more then God.
3 Alſo his anger was kindled againſt his three friendes, becauſe they coulde not finde an anſwere, and yet condemned Iob.
4 (Now Elihu had waited till Iob had ſpoken: for [d] they were more ancient in peares then he)
5 So when Elihu ſawe, that there was none anſwere in the mouth of the three men, his wrath was kindled.
6 Therefore Elihu the ſonne of Barachel the Buzite anſwered, and ſayde, I am yong in peares, & ye are ancient: therefore I doubted, and was afraid to ſhew you mine opinion.
7 For I ſaid, The daies [e] ſhal ſpeake, & the multitude of peres ſhal teach wiſdome.
8 Surely there is a ſpirite in man, [f] but the inſpiration of the Almightie giueth vnderſtanding.
9 Great men are not alway wiſe, neither do the aged alway vnderſtande iudgement.
10 Therefore I ſaye, Heare me, and I wil ſhew alſo mine opinion.
11 Behold, I did wait vpon your wordes, and hearkened vnto your knowledge, whiles you ſought out reaſons.
12 Yea, when I had conſidered you, loe, there was none of you that reproued Iob, nor anſwered his wordes:
13 Leſt ye ſhoulde ſaye, We haue [h] found wiſedome: for God hath caſt him down, and no man.
14 Yet hath [i] hee not directed his wordes to me, neither will I anſwere [k] him by your wordes.
15 Then they feared, anſwered no more, but left off their talke.
16 Whe I had waited (for they ſpake not, but ſtoode ſtill and anſwered no more) 17 Then anſwered I in my turne, and I ſhewed mine opinion.
18 For I am full of [l] matter, and the ſpirite within me compelleth me.
19 Behold, my belly is as the wine, which hath no vent, and like the newe bottels that burſt.
20 Therfore will I ſpeake, that I may take breath:

d As though I had withholden their wages that laboured in it.
e Meaning, that he was no briber nor extortioner.
f That is, the talke which hee had with his three friends.

"Eli. was iuſt in his owne eyes.

a Which came of Buz the ſonne of Nahor Abrahams brother.
b Or, as the Chalde paraphraſt readeth, Abram.
c By making himſelfe innocent, & by charging God of rigour.
d That is, the three mencioned before.
e Meaning, the ancient which haue experience.
f It is a ſpeciall gift of God that man hath vnderſtanding, & commeth neither of nature nor by age.
g To preue that Iobs affliction came for his ſinnes.
h And flatter your ſelues, as though you had ouercome him.
i To wit, Iob.
k He vſeth almoſt the like arguments, but without tanting and reproches.
l I haue conceiued in my minde great ſtore of reaſons.

m I wil neither haue regard to riches, credite, nor autoritie, but will speake the very trueth.

n The Ebrewe word signifieth, to change the name, as to call a foole a wise mã: meaning that he would not cloke the truth to flatter men.

breath: I will open my lippes, and will answere.
21 I will not nowe accept the person of man, [m] neither wil I giue titles to man.
22 For I may not giue [n] titles, least my Maker should take me away suddenly.

CHAP. XXXIII.

5 Elihu accuseth Iob of ignorance. 14 He sheweth that God hath diuers meanes to instruct man and to draw him from sinne. 19. 29 Hee afflicteth man and suddenly deliuereth him. 26 Man being deliuered, giueth thankes to God.

1 Wherefore, Iob, I pray thee, heare my talke and hearken vnto all my wordes.
2 Beholde nowe, I haue opened my mouth: my tongue hath spoken in my mouth.
3 My wordes are in the vprightnesse of mine heart, and my lippes shall speake pure knowledge.
4 The [a] Spirit of God hath made mee, and the breath of the Almightie hath giuen me life.
5 If thou canst giue me answere, prepare thy selfe and stand before me.
6 Behold, I am according thy wish in [b] Gods stead: I am also formed of the clay.
7 Behold, my terrour shal not feare thee, neither shal mine hand [c] be heauy vpon thee.
8 Doubtlesse thou hast spoken in mine eares, and I haue heard the voyce of thy wordes.
9 I am [d] cleane, without sinne: I am innocent, & there is none iniquitie in mee.
10 Loe, he hath found occasions against me, and counted me for his enemy.
11 He hath put my feete in the stockes, & loketh narowly vnto all my paths.
12 Behold, in this hast thou not done right: I will answere thee, that God is greater then man.
13 Why doest thou striue against him? for he doth not [e] giue account of all his matters.
14 For God speaketh [f] once or twise, and one seeth it not.
15 In dreames and [g] visions of the night, when sleepe falleth vpon men, and they sleepe vpon their beds, 16 Then he openeth the eares of men, euen by their corrections, which he [h] had sealed, 17 That he might cause man to turne away from his enterprise, and that hee might hide the [i] pride of man, 18 And keepe back his soule from the pit, and that his life should not passe by the sword.
19 He is also striken with sorow vpon his bed, and the griefe of his bones is sore, 20 So that his [k] life causeth him to abhorre a I confesse the power of God, & am one of his, therefore thou oughtest to heare me.

b Because Iob had wished to dispute his cause with God, Chap. 16.21. so that he might do it without feare, Elihu saith, he wil reason in Gods steade, whom he needeth not to feare, because he is a man made of the same matter that he is.

c I will not handle thee so roughly as these others haue done.

d He repeateth Iobs wordes, whereby he protested his innocencie in diuers places, but specially in the 13. 16. & 30. Chap.

e The cause of his iudgementes is not always declared to man.

f Though God by sundry examples of his iudgemẽts speake vnto man, yet the reason thereof is not knowen: yea, and though God should speake, yet he is not vnderstood.

g God, saith he, speaketh cõmonly, either by visions to teach vs the cause of his iudgements, or els by afflictions, or by his messenger.

h That is, determined to send vpon them.

i He sheweth for what end God sendeth afflictions: to beate downe mans pride, and to turne from euill.

k That is, his painefull and miserable life.

bread, and his soule daintie meat.
21 His flesh fayleth that it cannot be seene, & his bones which were not seene, clatter.
22 So his soule draweth to the graue, and his life [l] to the buriers.
23 If there be a [m] messenger with him, or an interpreter, one of a thousand [n] to declare vnto man his righteousnesse, 24 Then wil he haue [o] mercie vpon him, and will say, [p] Deliuer him, that he goe not downe into the pit: for I haue receiued a reconciliation.
25 Then shall his flesh be [q] as fresh as a childes, and shal returne as in the dayes of his youth.
26 He shall pray vnto God, and he wil be fauourable vnto him, & he shall see his face with ioy: for he will render vnto man his [r] righteousnes.
27 He loketh vpon men, and if one say, I haue sinned, and [s] perverted righteousnes, and it did not profite [t] me, 28 [u] He will deliuer his soule from going into the pit, and his life shall see the light.
29 Loe, all these thinges will God worke [x] twise or thrise with a man, 30 That hee may turne backe his soule from the pit, to be illuminate in the light of the liuing.
31 Marke wel, O Iob, & heare me: keepe silence, and I will speake.
32 If there be [y] matter answere me, and speake: for I desire to [z] iustifie thee.
33 If thou hast not, heare me: holde thy tongue, and I will teach thee wisdome.

l To them that shall burie him.

m A man sent of God to declare his will.

n A singular man, and as one chosen out of a thousand, which is able to declare the great mercies of God vnto sinners: & where in mans righteousnes standeth, which is through the iustice of Iesus Christ and faith therein.

o He sheweth that it is a sure token of Gods mercy toward sinners, when he causeth his word to be preached to them.

p That is, the minister shall by the preaching of the word pronounce vnto him the forgiuenes of his sinnes.

q He shall feele Gods fauour and reioyce: declaring here by, wherein standeth the true ioy of the faithfull: and that God will restore him to health of body, which is a token of his blessing.

r God wil forgiue his sinnes and accept him as iust.

s That is, done wickedly.

t But my sinne hath bene the cause of Gods wrath toward me.

u God will forgiue the penitent sinner.

x Meaning, oft times, euen as oft as a sinner doth repent.

y If thou doubt of any thing, or see occasion to speake against it.

z That is, to shew thee, wherein mans iustification consisteth.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

5 Elihu chargeth Iob, that he called himselfe righteous. 12 He sheweth that God is iust in his iudgements. 24 God destroyeth the mighty. 30 By him the hypocrite reigneth.

1 Moreouer Elihu answered, & said,
2 Heare my words, ye wise men, and hearken vnto mee, ye that haue knowledge.
3 For the eare trieth the wordes, as the mouth tasteth meat.
4 Let vs seeke [b] iudgement among vs, & let vs knowe among our selues what is good.
5 For Iob hath saide, I am righteous, & God hath taken [c] away my iudgement.
6 Should I lie in my [d] right? my wound of the arrow is [e] grieuous without my sinne.
7 What man is like Iob, that drinketh [f] scorne like water?
8 Which goeth in the [g] company of them that worke miquitie, and walketh with wicked men?

a Which are esteemed wise of the world.

b Let vs examine the matter vprightly.

c That is, hath afflicted me without measure.

d Should I say, I am wicked, being an innocent?

e I am sorer punished, then my sinne deserueth.

f Which is compelled to receiue the reproch and scornes of many for his foolish wordes.

g Meaning, that Iob was like to the wicked, because hee seemed not to glorifie God, and submit himselfe to his iudgements.

h He wresteth Iobs wordes, who said ſ Gods children are oft times punished in this world, & the wicked goe free.
i That is, liue godly, as Gen. 5. 22.
Chap. 36. 23.
k To destroy him.
l The breath of life, which he gaue man.
m If God were not iust, howe could he gouerne the world?
n If man of nature feare to speake euill of such as haue power, then much more ought they to be afraide to speake euill of God.
o When they looke not for it.
p The messengers or visitation that God shall send.
q God doth not afflict man aboue measure, so that he should haue occasion to contend with him.
r For al his creatures are at hand to serue him, so that he needeth not to seeke for any other army.
s Make them manifest ſ they are wicked.
t Declare the things that were hid.
u Meaning, openly in the sight of all men.
x By their cruelty, & extortion.
y When tyrants sit in the throne of iustice, which vnder pretence of executing iustice are but hypocrites & oppresse the people, it is a signe that God hath drawne backe his countenance and fauour from that place.
z Onely it belongeth to God to moderate his corrections, and not vnto man.
a Thus Elihu speaketh in the person of God, as it were mocking Iob because he would be wiser then God.

9 For he hath saide, h It profiteth a man nothing ṗ he should i walke with God.
10 Therefore hearken vnto me, ye men of wisdome, God forbid that wickednesse should be in God, and iniquitie in the Almightie.
11 For he wil render vnto man according to his worke, and cause euery one to finde according to his way.
12 And certainely God will not do wickedly, neither will the Almightie peruert iudgement.
13 Whome * hath he appointed ouer the earth beside himselfe? or who hath placed the whole worlde?
14 If k he set his heart vpon man, & gather vnto himselfe his spirite l & his breath, 15 All flesh shall perish together, and man shall returne vnto dust.
16 And if thou hast vnderstanding, heare this and hearken to the voyce of my wordes.
17 Shal he that hateth iudgement, m gouerne? and wilt thou iudge him wicked that is most iust?
18 Wilt thou say vnto a king, Thou art n wicked: or to princes, Ye are vngodly?
19 Howe much lesse to him that accepteth not the persons of princes, and regardeth not the riche, more then the poore? for they be all the worke of his handes.
20 They shal die suddenly, o and the people shalbe troubled at midnight, p and they shall passe forth and take away the mighty without hand.
21 For his eyes are vpon the wayes of man, and he seeth all his goings.
22 There is no darkenesse nor shadow of death, that the workers of iniquitie might be hid therein.
23 For hee will not lay on man so much, that hee should q enter into iudgement with God.
24 He shal breake the mighty vpon r search king, and shal set vp other in their stead.
25 Therefore shal he declare their s works: he shall turne the t night, and they shall be destroyed.
26 Hee striketh them as wicked men in the places of the u seers, 27 Because they haue turned backe from him, & would not consider al his waies:
28 So that they haue caused the voyce of the poore to x come vnto him, and hee hath heard the cry of the afflicted.
29 And when he giueth quietnesse, who can make trouble? and when he hideth his face, who can beholde him, whether it be vpon nations, or vpon a man only?
30 Because the y hypocrite doeth reigne, and because the people are snared.
31 Surely it appertaineth vnto God z to say I haue pardoned, I wil not destroy.
32 a But if I see not, teach thou me: if I haue done wickedly, I wil do no more.
33 Will he perfourme the thing though b thee? for thou hast refused c it, because that thou hast chosen, and not I. now speake what thou knowest.
34 Let men of vnderstanding tell me, and let a wise man hearken vnto me.
35 Iob hath not spoken of knowledge, neither were his wordes according to wisdome.
36 I desire that Iob may be d tried, vnto the ende touching the answers for wicked men.
37 For he e addeth rebellion vnto his sinne: he clappeth his handes among vs, and multiplieth his wordes against God.

b Will God vse thy counsell in doing his works?
c Thus he speaketh in the person of God, as though Iob should chuse and refuse affliction at his pleasure.
d That he may speake as much as he can, that we may answere him and all the wicked that shal vse such arguments.
e He standeth stubbernely in the maintenance of his cause.

CHAP. XXXV.

6 Neither doth godlines profite, or vngodlines hurt God, but man. 13 The wicked cry vnto God and are not heard.

1 Elihu spake moreouer, and said,
2 Thinkest thou this right, that thou hast saide, I am a more righteous then God?
3 For thou hast saide, What profiteth it thee? and what auaileth it mee, to purge me from my sinne?
4 Therefore will I answere thee, and thy b companions with thee.
5 Looke vnto the heauen, & see and beholde the c cloudes which are hier then thou.
6 If thou sinnest, what doest thou d against him, yea, when thy sinnes be many, what doest thou vnto him?
7 If thou be righteous, what giuest thou vnto him? or what receiueth he at thine hand?
8 Thy wickednes may hurt a man as thou art: and thy righteousnes may profite the sonne of man.
9 They cause many that are oppressed, e to cry, which cry out for the violence of the mighty.
10 But none saith, Where is God ṗ made me, which giueth songs in the night?
11 Which teacheth vs more then ṗ beasts of the earth, and giueth vs more wisdome then the foules of the heauen.
12 Then they cry because of the violence of the wicked, but f he answereth not.
13 Surely God will not heare vanitie, neither will the Almightie regard it.
14 Although thou sayest to God, Thou wilt not regard it, & yet iudgement is before him: trust thou in him.
15 But nowe because his anger hath not visited, nor called to count the euill with great extremitie, 16 Therefore Iob h openeth his mouth in vaine, and multiplieth words without knowledge.

a Iob neuer spake these wordes: but because he maintained his innocencie, it seemed as though he would say, that God tormented him without iust cause.
b Such as are in the like errour.
c If thou canst not control the cloudes, wilt thou presume to instruct God?
d Neither doth thy sin hurt God, nor thy iustice profite him: for he will be glorified in thee.
e The wicked may hurt man & cause him to cry, who if he sought to God, which sendeth comfort, should be deliuered.
f Because they pray not in faith as feeling Gods mercies.
g God is iust, howsoeuer thou iudgest of him.
h For if he did punish thee, as thou deseruest, thou shouldest not be able to open thy mouth.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Elihu sheweth the power of God, 6 And his iustice, 9 And wherefore hee punisheth. 13 The propertie of the wicked.

1 Elihu also proceeded and said,
2 Suffer me a litle, & I will instruct thee: for I haue yet to speake on Gods behalfe.
3 I will

a He ſheweth that when we ſpeake of God we muſt lift our ſpirits more hie then our natural ſenſe is able to reach.
b Thou ſhalt perceiue that I am a faithfull inſtructour, and that I ſpeake to thee in the name of God.
c Strong & conſtant, & of vnder ſtãding: for theſe are the giftes of God, & he loueth them in man: but forasmuch as God puniſhed now Iob, it is a ſigne that theſe are not in him.
d Therefore he wil not preſerue the wicked: but to the humble & afflicted hearthe will ſhewe grace.
e He preferreth the godly to honour.
f He will moue their hearts to feele their ſinnes ℣ they may come to him by repentance, as he did Manaſſeh. Iſai.19.
g That is, in their follie or obſtination, & ſo ſhalbe cauſe of their owne deſtructiõ.
h Which are maliciouſly bent againſt God and flatter theſelues in their vices.
i When they are in affliction they ſeeke not to God for ſuccour, as Aſa, 2.Chro.16. 12.Reuel.16.11.
k They die of ſome vile death, & ℣ before they come to age.
l If thou haddeſt bene obedient to God, he would haue brought thee to libertie & welth. m Thou art altogether after the maner of the wicked: for thou doeſt murmure againſt ℣ iuſtice of God.
n God doeth puniſh thee, leaſt thou ſhouldeſt forget God in thy wealth, and ſo periſh. o Be not thou curious in ſeeking the cauſe of Gods iudgements, when he deſtroyeth any. p And ſo murmure againſt God through impacience.

3 I will fetch a my knowledge afarre off, and will attribute righteouſneſſe vnto my Maker.
4 For truely my words ſhal not be falſe, and hee that is b perfite in knowledge, ſpeaketh with ther.
5 Behold, the mighty God caſteth away none that is c mightie and valiant of courage.
6 d He maintaineth not the wicked, but he giueth iudgement to the afflicted.
7 He withdraweth not his eies from the righteous, but they are with e kings in the throne, where hee placeth them for euer: thus they are exalted.
8 And if they be bound in fetters & tied with the cordes of affliction, 9 Then wil he ſhewe them their f worke and their ſinnes, becauſe they haue bene proude.
10 He openeth alſo their eare to diſcipline, & commandeth them that they returne from iniquitie.
11 *If they obey and ſerue him, they ſhal end their dayes in proſperitie, and their yeres in pleaſures.
12 But if they will not obey, they ſhall paſſe by the ſworde, and periſhe g without knowledge.
13 But the hypocrites h of heart increaſe the wrath: for they cal not when he bindeth them.
14 Their ſoule dieth in k youth, and their life among the whoremongers.
15 He deliuereth the poore in his affliction, and openeth their eare in trouble.
16 Euen ſo would he haue taken thee out of the ſtreight place into a broad place & not ſhut vp beneath: and ℣ which reſteth vpon thy table, had bene ful of fat.
17 But thou art full of the m iudgement of the wicked, though iudgement & equitie maintaine all things.
18 n For Gods wrath is, leſt he ſhould take thee away in thine abundance: for no multitude of giftes can deliuer thee.
19 Will he regard thy riches? he regardeth not golde, nor all them that excell in ſtrength.
20 o Be not carefull in the night, how he deſtroyeth the people out of their place.
21 Take thou heede: looke not to p iniquitie: for thou haſt choſen it rather then affliction.
22 Behold, God exalteth by his power: what teacher is like him?
23 Who hath appointed to him his way? or who can ſaye, Thou haſt done wickedly?
24 Remember that thou magnifie his worke, which men behold.
25 All men ſee it, and men beholde it

q a farre off.
26 Behold, God is excellent, r & we know him not, neither can the nomber of his yeres be ſearched out.
27 When he reſtraineth the drops of water, the raine ſ powreth downe by the vapour thereof, 28 Which raine the cloudes doe drop and let fall abundantly vpon man.
29 Who can knowe the diuiſions of the cloudes, and the thunders of his t tabernacle?
30 Behold, he ſpreadeth his light vpõ u it, and couereth the x bottome of the ſea.
31 For thereby iudgeth y the people, and giueth meate abundantly.
32 He couereth the light with the clouds, & commandeth them to goe z againſt it.
33 a His companion ſheweth him thereof, and there is anger in riſing vp.

q The workes of God are ſo manifeſt, that a man may ſee them afarre off, and know God by the ſame.
r Our infirmitie hindreth vs ſo, that we cannot attaine to the perfite knowledge of God.
ſ That is, the raine commeth of thoſe drops of water, which he keepeth in the cloudes.
t Meaning, of the cloudes, which he calleth the Tabernacle of God.
u Vpon the cloude.
x That men can not come to the knowledge of the ſpringes thereof.
y He ſheweth that the raine hath double vſe: the one that it declareth Gods iudgements, when it doth ouerflow any places, & the other that it maketh the land fruitfull.
z That is, one cloude to daſhe againſt another.
a The colde vapour ſheweth him: that is, the cloude of the hote exhalation, which being taken in the cold cloude mounteth vp toward the place where the fire is, and ſo anger is ingendred: that is, noyſe and thunder claps.

CHAP. XXXVII.

Elihu proueth that the vnſearchable wiſdome of God is manifeſt by his works, 4 As by the thunders, 6 The ſnow, 9 The whirlewind, 11 And the rain.

1 At this alſo mine heart is a aſtonied, and is moued out of his place.
2 Heare the b ſound of his voyce, and the noiſe that goeth out of his mouth.
3 Hee directeth it vnder the whole heauen, and his light vnto the endes of the worlde.
4 After it a noiſe ſoundeth: he thundreth with the voice of his maieſtie, & he will not ſtay c them when his voice is heard.
5 God thundreth marueilouſly with his voyce: he worketh great things, which we knowe not.
6 For he ſayth to ℣ ſnow, Be thou vpon the earth: d likewiſe to the ſmall raine and to the great raine of his power.
7 With the force thereof he e ſhutteth vp euery man, that all men may know his worke.
8 Then the beaſts go into the denne, and remaine in their places.
9 The whirlewinde commeth out of the f South, and the colde from the f North winde.
10 At the breath of God the froſt is giuen, and the breadth of the waters g is made narrowe.
11 He maketh alſo the clouds to h labour to water the earth, & ſcattereth ℣ cloude of i his light.

a At the marueiling of the thunder, and lightnings: whereby he declareth ℣ the faithfull are liuely touched with the maieſty of God, when they behold his workes.
b That is, the thunder, wherby he ſpeaketh to men to waken their dulnes, and to bring them to the cõſideration of his workes.
c Meaning, the raines & thũders
d So that neither ſmall raine nor great, ſnowe nor any thing
e is els cõmeth with out Gods appointment.
f By raines and thunders God cauſeth men to keepe themſelues within their houſes
g In Ebrew it is called ℣ ſcattering winde, becauſe it driueth away the clouds & purgeth the aire.
h Gather the vapours, & moue to and fro to water the earth.
i That is, the cloude that hath lightning in it.

k Raine, colde, heate, tempests and such like are sent of God, either to punish man, or to profit the earth, or to declare his fauour towarde man, as Chap. 36.31.

l That is, the lightening to breake forth in the cloudes?

m Which is sometime changed into raine, or snow, or haile or such like.

n Why thy clothes should kepe thee warme, whē the South winde bloweth, rather then when any other winde bloweth?

o For their clearenesse.

p That is, our ignorance: signifying that Iob was so presumptuous that hee would controlle the workes of God.

q Hath God neede that any should tell him when man murmureth against him?

r If God would destroy a man, shoulde he repine?

s The cloude stoppeth the shining of the sunne, that man cannot see it till the winde haue chased away the cloude: and if mā be not able to attaine to the knowledge of these things, how much lesse of Gods iudgements?

t In Ebrewe, golde: meaning, faire weather and cleare as gold.

u Meaning, without cause.

k Raine, colde, heate, tempests and such like are sent of God, eyther to punish man, or to profit the earth, or to declare his fauour towarde man, as Chap. 36.31.

12 And it is turned about by his gouernment, that they may doe whatsoeuer he cōmaundeth them vpon ꝑ whole worlde:
13 Whether it be for k punishment, or for his lande, or of mercie, hee causeth it to come.
14 Hearken vnto this, O Iob: stand and consider ꝑ wonderous workes of God.
15 Diddest thou know when God disposed theme and caused the l light of his cloud to shine?
16 Hast thou knowen the m varietie of ꝑ cloude, and the wonderous workes of him, that is perfite in knowledge?
17 Or how thy clothes are n warme, whē he maketh the earth quiet through the South winde?
18 Hast thou stretched out the heauens, which are strōg, & as a molten o glasse?
19 Tell vs what we shall say vnto him: for we cannot dispose our matter because of p darkenesse.
20 Shall it be q told him when I speake? or shall man speake when he shalbe r deuoured?
21 And now men see not the light, which shineth in the cloudes, but the winde passeth and clenseth them.
22 The s brightnesse commeth out of the North: the praise thereof is to God, which is terrible.
23 It is the Almighty: we cannot finde him out: he is excellent in power and iudgement, and abundant in iustice: he t afflicteth not.
24 Let men therefore feare him: for he wil not regarde any that are wise in their owne conceite.

a That his words might haue greater maiestie, and that Iob might know ẅ whome he had to do.

b Which by seeking out the secret counsell of God by mans reason, maketh it more obscure and sheweth his owne folly.

c Because he had wished to dispute with God, Chap. 13.3. God reasoneth with him to declare his rashnesse.

d Seeing he could not iudge of those things, which were done so long before he was borne, hee was not able to comprehende al Gods works: much lesse the secrete causes of his iudgements.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

God speaketh to Iob, and declareth the weakenes of man in the consideration of his creatures, by whose excellencie the power, iustice & prouidence of the Creator is knowen.

1 THen answered the Lorde vnto Iob out of the a whirlewinde, and sayde, 2 Who is this that b darkeneth the counsel by words without knowledge?
3 Gird vp now thy lopnes like a man: I c will demaund of thee and declare thou vnto me.
4 Where wast thou when I layed the d foundations of the earth? declare, if thou hast vnderstanding.
5 Who hath layed the measures therof, if thou knowest, or who hath stretched the line ouer it?
6 Whereupon are the fundations therof set: or who laid the corner stone therof:
7 When ꝑ starres of the morning e praised me together, and all the f children of God reioyced:
8 Or who hath shut vp the sea ẅ doores, when it issued and came forth as out of the wombe:
9 When I made the cloudes as a couering thereof, & darkenesse as the swadling bands thereof:
10 When I stablished my cōmandement vpon it, and set barres and doores, 11 And saide, Hitherto shalt thou come, but no farther, and here g shall it stay thy proude waues.
12 Hast thou commanded the l morning since thy dayes? hast thou caused the morning to know his place?
13 That it might take hold of the corners of the earth, and that the wicked might be h shaken out of it?
14 It is turned as clay to facion, i and al stand vp as a garment.
15 And from the wicked their light shalbe taken away, and the hye arme shall be broken.
16 Hast thou entred into the bottomes of the sea? or hast thou walked to seeke out the m depth?
17 Haue the gates of death bene opened vnto thee? or hast thou seene the gates of the shadowe of death?
18 Hast thou perceiued the breadth of ꝑ earth? tell if thou knowest all this.
19 Where is ꝑ way where light dwelleth? and where is the place of darkenes, 20 That thou n shouldest receiue it in the boundes thereof, & that thou shouldest know the paths to the house thereof?
21 Knewest thou it, because ꝑ wast then borne, and because the nomber of thy daies is great?
22 Hast thou entred into the treasures of the snowe? or hast thou seene the treasures of the haile, 23 Which I haue o kept against the time of trouble, against the day of warre and battell?
24 By what way is the light parted, which scattereth the East winde vpon the earth?
25 Who hath diuided the spowts for the raine? or the way for the lightning of the thunders, 26 To cause it to raine on the earth where no man is, and in the wildernesse where there is no man?
27 To fulfill the wilde and waste place, and to cause ꝑ bud of the herbe to spring forth?
28 Who is the father of the raine? or who hath begotten the droppes of the dewe?
29 Out of whose woombe came the yce? who hath engendred the frost of the heauen?
30 The waters are hid p as with a stone: and the face of the depth is frosen.
31 Canst thou restraine the swete influences of q the Pleiades? or loose the bands of r Orion?

e The starres & dūme creatures are said to praise God, because his power, wisdome and goodnes is manifest and knowen therein.

f Meaning, the Angels.

g As though ꝑ great sea were but as a litle babe in the hāds of God to turne to and fro.

h That is, Gods decree and commandement, as vers. 10.

i To wit, to rise, since thou wast borne?

k Who hauing in ꝑ night bene giuen to wickednes, cānot abide the light, but hide themselues.

l The earth which seemed in ꝑ night to haue no forme, by the rising of the sunne is as it were created anew, & all things therin clad with newe beautie.

m If thou art not able to seeke out the depth of the sea, how much lesse art thou able to comprehend the counsell of God?

n That thou mightest apoint it his way and limites.

o To punishe mine enemies with them, as Exod. 9.18. Iosh. 10.11.

p The yce couereth it, as though it were paued ẅ stone.

q Which starres arise when the sunne is in Taurus, which is the spring time, and bring flowers.

r Which starre bringeth in winter.

32 Canst

f Certain starres so called: some thinke they were the twelue signes.
t The North starre with those that are about him?
u Canst thou cause the heauenly bodies to haue any power ouer the earthly bodies?
x In the secret partes of man. y That is, the cloudes, wherein the water is contained as in bottels.
z For when God doth not open these bottels, the earth commeth to this inconuenience.

32 Canst thou bring forth f Mazzaroth in their time? canst thou also guide t Arcturus with his sonnes?
33 Knowest thou the course of heauen, or canst thou set u the rule thereof in the earth?
34 Canst thou lift vp thy voyce to the cloudes that the abundance of water may couer thee?
35 Canst thou sende the lightninges that they may walke, and say vnto thee, Loe, here we are?
36 Who hath put wisdom in the x reines? or who hath giuen the heart vnderstanding?
37 Who can nomber cloudes by wisdom? or who can cause to cease the y bottels of heauen, 38 When the earth groweth into hardenes, z and the clottes are fast together?

CHAP. XXXIX.

The bountie and prouidence of God, which extendeth euen to the yong rauens, giueth manifold occasion to put his confidence in God. 37 Iob confesseth and humbleth himselfe.

a After he had declared Gods workes in the heauēs, he sheweth his marueilous prouidence in earth, euen toward the brute beasts.
b Reade Psal. 147. 9.
c He chiefly maketh mention of wilde goates & hindes, because they bring forth their yong with most difficultie.
d That is, howe long they goe with yong?
e They bring forth with great difficultie.
f That is, the baren ground where no good fruites grow.

1 Wilt a thou hunt the praye for the lion? or fill the appetite of the lions whelpes,
2 When they couch in their places, and remaine in the couert to lye in waite?
3 Who prepareth for b rauen his meat, when his birdes c cry vnto God, wandring for lacke of meate?
4 Knowest thou the time when the wilde goates bring foorth yong? or doest thou marke when the c hindes do calue?
5 Canst thou nomber the moneths that they d fulfill? or knowest thou the time when they bring foorth?
6 They bowe themselues: they e bruse their yong and cast out their sorowes.
7 Yet their yong ware fat, and growe vp with corne: they goe foorth and returne not vnto them.
8 Who hath set the wilde asse at libertie? or who hath loosed the bondes of the wilde asse?
9 It is I which haue made the wildernes his house, and the f salt places his dwellings.
10 He derideth the multitude of the citie: he heareth not the cry of the driuer.
11 He seeketh out the mountaine for his pasture, & searcheth after euery greene thing.
12 Will the vnicorne g serue thee? or will he tary by thy cribbe?
13 Canst thou bind the vnicorne with his band to labour in the furrow? or will he plowe the valleyes after thee?
14 Wilt thou trust in him, because his strength is great, & cast off thy labour vnto him?
15 Wilt thou beleeue him, that he will bring home thy seede, and gather it vnto thy barne?
16 Hast thou giuen the pleasant wings vnto the pecockes? or wings and fethers vnto the ostriche?
17 Which leaueth his egges in the earth and maketh h them hote in the dust, 18 And forgetteth that the foote might scatter them, or that the wilde beast might breake them.
19 He sheweth himselfe cruell vnto his yong ones, as they were not his, and is wout feare, as if he trauelled i in vaine,
20 For God hath depriued him of k wisdome, and hath giuen him no part of vnderstanding.
21 When l time is, he mounteth on hie: he mocketh the horse and his rider.
22 Hast thou giuen the horse strength? or couered his necke with m neping?
23 Hast thou made him afraid as n grashopper? his strong neping is fearefull.
24 He o diggeth in the valley, & reioyceth in his strength; hee goeth forth to meete the harnessed man.
25 He mocketh at feare, and is not afraid, and turneth not backe from the sword, 26 Though the quiuer rattle against him, the glittering speare and the shield.
27 He p swalloweth the ground for fiercenes and rage, and he beleeueth not that it is the noise of the trumpet.
28 He saith among the trumpets, Ha, ha: he smelleth the battel a farre off, and the noise of the captains, and the shouting.
29 Shall the hauke flie by thy wisdome, stretching out his winges towarde the q South?
30 Doth the egle mount vp at thy commandement, or make his nest on hie?
31 She abideth & remaineth in the rocke, euen vpon the top of the rocke, and the tower.
32 From thence she spieth for meate, and her eyes behold afarre off.
33 His yong ones also sucke vp blood: and where the slaine are, there is she.

g Is it possible to make the vnicorne tame? signifying that if man cannot rule a creature, that it is much more impossible that he should appoint the wisdom of God, whereby he gouerneth all the world.
h They write that the ostrich couereth her egges in the sand, and because the coūtrey is hote and the sunne still keepeth them warme, they are hatched.
i If he should take care for them.
k That is, to haue a care, and naturall affection toward his yong.
l Whē the yong ostrich is growen vp, he outrunneth the horse.
m That is, giuen him courage?
n That is, which is ment by neying and shaking his mane: for with his breath he couereth his neck.
o He beateth with his hoofe.
p That is, when cold commeth, to flie into the warme countreis.
q Is this the way for a man that will learne, to striue with God? which thing he reproueth in Iob.

34 Moreouer the Lorde spake vnto Iob, and said,
35 Is this to r learne, to striue with the Almightie? he that reproueth God, let him answere to it.
36 ¶ Then Iob answered the Lord, saying,
37 Behold, I am s vile: what shall I answere thee? I will lay mine hande vpon my mouth.
38 Once haue I spoken, but I will answer no more, yea twise, but I will proceede no farther.

r Whereby he sheweth that he repented, and desired pardon for his faults.

CHAP. XL.

2 Howe weake mans power is, being compared to the workes of God: 10 Whose power appeareth in the creation, and gouerning of the great beastes.

1 Againe the Lorde answered Iob out of * the whirlewinde, and said,
2 Girde vp nowe thy lopnes like a man: I will demand of thee, and declare thou vnto me.
3 Wilt thou disanull s my iudgement? or wilt thou condemne me, that thou mayest be iustified?
4 Or hast thou an arme like God? or doest thou thunder with a voyce like him?

Chap. 38. 1.

s Signifying that they that iustifie themselues, condemne God as iniust.

b Meaning, that these were proper vnto God, & belonged to no man.
c Cause them to die if thou canst.
d Proving hereby that whosoeuer attributeth to himselfe power & abilitie to saue himselfe, maketh himselfe God.
e This beast is thought to be the elephant, or some other, which is vnknowen.
f Whom I made as well as thee.
g This commendeth the prouidence of God toward man: for if he were giuen to deuour as a Lion, nothing were able to resist him or content him.
h He is one of the chiefest workes of God among ‡ beasts.
i Though man dare not come neere him, yet God can kil him.
k He drinketh at leasure, & feareth no body.
l Meaning, the whale.
m Because he feareth lest thou shouldest take him.
n To do thy busines, and be at thy commandements
o If thou once cõsider the danger, thou wilt not meddle w̃ him.
p To wit, that trusteth to take him.

5 Decke thy selfe now with [b] maiestie and excellencie, & arap thy selfe with beautie and glorie.
6 Cast abroade the indignation of thy wrath, and beholde euery one that is proude, and abase him.
7 Looke on euery one that is arrogant, and bring him low: and destroy the wicked in their place.
8 Hide them in the dust together, & binde [c] their faces in a secret place.
9 Then will I confesse vnto thee also, that thy right hand can [d] saue thee.
10 ¶ Behold now [e] Behemoth (whom I made [f] with thee) which eateth [g] grasse as an ore.
11 Beholde nowe, his strength is in his lopnes, and his force is in the nauill of his belly.
12 When he taketh pleasure, his taple is like a cedar: the sinewes of his stones are wrapt together.
13 His bones are like staues of brasse, and his small bones like staues of iron.
14 [h] He is the chiefe of the wayes of God: [i] he that made him, will make his sword to approche vnto him.
15 Surely the mountains bring him forth grasse, where all ‡ beasts of ‡ field play.
16 Lieth he vnder the trees in the couert of the reede and fennes?
17 Can the trees couer him with their shadow? or can the willowes of the riuer compasse him about?
18 Behold, he spoileth the riuer, [k] and hasteth not: he trusteth that he can drawe vp Iorden into his mouth.
19 He taketh it with his eyes, and thrusteth his nose through whatsoeuer meeteth him.
20 ¶ Canst thou drawe out [l] Liuiathan with an hooke, and with a line which thou shalt cast downe vnto his tongue?
21 Canst thou cast an hooke into his nose? canst thou perce his iawes w̃ an angle?
22 Will hee make manie [m] prayers vnto thee, or speake thee faire?
23 Will he make a couenant with thee? & wilt ‡ take [n] him as a seruant for euer?
24 Wilt thou play with him as w̃ a bird? or wilt thou bind him for thy maydes?
25 Shall the companions banket with him? shall they deuide him among the marchantes?
26 Canst thou fill the basket with his skinne? or the fishpanier with his head?
27 Lay thine hand vpon him: remember [o] the battel, and do no more so.
28 Behold, [p] his hope is in vaine: for shal not one perish euen at the sight of him?

CHAP. XLI.

1 By the greatnes of this monster Liuiathan God sheweth his greatnes, and his power, which nothing can resist.

1 NOne is so fierce that dare stirre him vp. Who is he then that can stand [a] before me?
2 Who hath preuented me that I should [b] make an end? All vnder heauē is mine.

a If none dare stand against a whale, which is but a creature, who is able to compare with God the creator?
b Who hath taught me to accomplish my worke?

3 I will not kéepe silence concerning [c] his partes, nor his power, nor his comelie proportion.
4 Who can discouer the face [d] of his garment? or who shall come to him with a double [e] bridle?
5 Who shall [f] open the doores of his face? his teeth are fearefull round about.
6 The maiestie of his scales is like strong shields, and are sure sealed.
7 One is set to another, that no winde can come betweéne them.
8 One is ioyned to another: they sticke together, that they cannot be sundered.
9 His nieesings [g] make the light to shine, and his eyes are like the eye lids of the morning.
10 Out of his mouth goe lampes, and sparkes of fire leape out.
11 Out of his nostrels cõmeth out smoke, as out of a boyling pot or caldron.
12 His breath maketh the coles burne: for a flame goeth out of his mouth.
13 In his necke remaineth strength, and [h] labour is reiected before his face.
14 The members of his body are ioyned: they are strong in themselues, & cannot be moued.
15 His heart is as strong as a stone, and as hard as the nether millstone.
16 The mightie are afraid of his maiestie, and for feare they faint in themselues.
17 When the sworde doth touche him, he will not rise vp, nor for the speare, darte nor habergeon.
18 He esteemeth iron as straw, and brasse as rotten wood.
19 The archer cannot make him flee: the stones of the sling are turned into stubble vnto him.
20 The dartes are counted as straw: and he laugheth at the shaking of the speare.
21 Sharpe stones [i] are vnder him, and he spreadeth sharpe things vpon the mire.
22 He maketh ‡ depth to [k] boile like a pot, & maketh the sea like a pot of ointment.
23 He maketh a path to [l] shine after him: one would thinke the depth as an hoare head.
24 In the earth there is none like him: he is made without feare.
25 He beholdeth [m] all hie things: he is a king ouer all the children of pride.

c The partes, & members of the whale.
d That is, who dare pull off his skinne?
e Who dare put a bridle in his mouth?
f Who dare looke in his mouth?
g That is, casteth out flames of fire.
h Nothing is paineful or hard vnto him.
i His skinne is so hard that he lyeth with as great ease on the stones as in the myre.
k Either he maketh the sea to seeme as it boyled by his wallowing, or els he spouteth water in such abundãce, as it would seeme that the sea boyled.
l That is, a white froth, and shining streame before him.
m He despiseth all other beasts and monsters, & is the proudest of all others.

CHAP. XLII.

6 The repentance of Iob. 9 Hee prayeth for his friendes. 12 His goods are restored double vnto him. 13 His children, age and death.

1 THen Iob answered the Lord, & said,
2 I knowe that thou canst doe all things, & that there is no [a] thought hid from thee.
3 Who is he that hideth counsel without [b] knowledge? therfore haue I spoken ‡ I vnderstood not, euen things too wonderfull for me, [c] and which I knewe not.
4 Heare, I beseech thee, & I will speake: I will demaund of thee, [d] and declare thou vnto me.

a Nothing so secret, but thou doest see it, nor any thing that thou thinkest, but thou canst bring it to passe.
b Is there any but I? for this God laid to his charge, Cha. 38.2 c I confesse herein mine ignorance, and that I spake I wist not what.
d Hee sheweth that he will be Gods scholer to learne of him.

5 I haue

e I knewe thee onely before by heare say: but now thou hast cause me to feele what thou art to me, that I may resigne my selfe ouer vnto thee.

f You tooke in hand an euill cause, in that you condemned him by his outwarde afflictions, and not comforted him with my mercies.

g Who had a good cause, but handled it euill.

h When you haue reconciled your selues to him for ỹ faultes that you haue committed against him, he shall pray for you, and I will heare him.

i He deliuered him out of the affliction wherein he was.

5 I haue [e] heard of thee by the hearing of the eare, but now mine eie seeth thee.
6 Therefore I abhorre my selfe, and repent in dust and ashes.
7 ¶ Now after that the Lord had spoken these wordes vnto Iob, the Lord also saide vnto Eliphaz the Temanite, My wrath is kindled against thee, and against thy two friends: for ye haue not spoken of mee the thing that is [f] right, like my seruant [g] Iob.
8 Therefore take vnto you nowe seuen bullockes, & seuen rammes, & go to my seruant Iob, & offer vp for your selues a burnt offring, and my seruant Iob shal [h] pray for you: for I will accept him, lest I should put you to shame, because ye haue not spoken of mee the thing, which is right, like my seruant Iob.
9 So Eliphaz the Temanite, & Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite went, and did according as the Lord had said vnto them, and the Lord accepted Iob.
10 ¶ Then the Lord turned the [i] captiuitie of Iob, when hee prayed for his friends: also the Lord gaue Iob twise so much as he had before.
11 Then came vnto him all his [k] brethren, and all his sisters, and all they that had bene of his acquaintance before, & did eate bread with him in his house, & had compassiō of him, & comforted him for all ỹ euil, that the Lord had brought vpō him, & euery man gaue him a [l] piece of money, & euery one an earing of golde.
12 So the Lorde blessed the last dayes of Iob more then ỹ first: for he had [l] fourteene thousand sheepe, & sixe thousand camels, and a thousande yoke of oxen, and a thousand shee asses.
13 He had also seuen sonnes, and three daughters.
14 And he called the name of one [m] Iemimah, and the name of the seconde [n] Keziah, and the name of the thirde [n] Keren-happuch.
15 In all the land were no women found so faire as the daughters of Iob, and their father gaue them inheritance among their brethren.
16 And after this liued Iob an hundreth and fourtie yeres, and saw his sonnes, and his sonnes sonnes, euen foure generations.
17 So Iob died, being old, & full of dayes.

k That is, all his kinred, reade Chap. 19.13.

l Or, lambe, or money so marked.

l God made him twise so riche in cattell as he was afore, and gaue him as many children as he had taken from him.

m That is, of long life, or beautifull as the day.

n As pleasant as cassia, or sweete spice.

o That is, the horne of beautie.

THE *PSALMES OF DAVID.

THE ARGVMENT.

THIS booke of Psalmes is set forth vnto vs by the holy Ghost to be esteemed as a most precious treasure, wherein all things are conteined that appertaine to true felicitie: as well in this life present as in the life to come. For the riches of true knowledge, and heauenly wisedome are here set open for vs, to take thereof most abundantly. If we would know the great, and hie maiestie of God, here we may see the brightnes thereof shine most clearely. If we woulde seeke his incomprehensible wisedome, here is the schole of the same profession. If we would comprehend his inestimable bountie, and approche neere thereunto, and fill our handes with that treasure, here we may haue a most liuely, and comfortable taste thereof. If we would knowe wherein standeth our saluation, and howe to attaine to life euerlasting, here is Christ our onely redeemer, and mediatour most euidently described. The riche man may learne the true vse of his riches. The poore man may finde full contentation. He that will reioyce, shall knowe the true ioye, and howe to keepe measure therein. They that are afflicted and oppressed, shall see wherein standeth their comfort, and howe they ought to prayse God when he sendeth them deliuerance. The wicked and the persecuters of the children of GOD shall see how the hand of God is euer against them: and though he suffer them to prosper for a while, yet he bridleth them, in so much as they can not touche an heare of ones head, except he permit them, and howe in the ende their destruction is most miserable. Briefely, here we haue most present remedies against all tentations, and troubles of mind and conscience, so that being well practised herein, we may be assured against all dangers in this life, liue in the true feare, and loue of God, and at length attaine to that incorruptible crowne of glory, which is laide vp for all them that loue the comming of our Lord Iesus Christ.

*Or, prayses, according to the Ebrewes: & were chiefly instituted to prayse, & giue thankes to God for his benefites. They are called the Psalmes or Songs of Dauid, because the most part were made by him.

PSALM. I.

VVhether it was Esdras, or any other that gathered the Psalmes into a booke, it seemeth he did set this Psalme first in maner of a Preface, to exhort all godly men to study, & meditate the heauenly wisdome. For the effect hereof is, 1 That they be blessed, which giue themselues wholy all their life to the holy Scriptures. 4 And that the wicked contemners of God, though they seeme for a while happie, yet at length shal come to miserable destructiō.

1 BLessed is the man that doeth not walke in the [a] counsell of the wicked, nor stande in the way of sinners, nor sitte in the seate of the scornefull:
2 But his delite is in the *Lawe of the Lorde, and in his [b] Lawe doth he meditate day and night.
3 For he shalbe like a *tree planted by the riuers of waters, that will bring forth her fruite in due season: whose leafe shall not fade: so [c] whatsoeuer he shall doe, shall prosper.
4 [d] The wicked are not so, but as the chaffe, which the winde driueth away.
5 Therefore the wicked shal not stand in the [e] iudgement, nor sinners in the assemblie a When a man hath giuen once place to euill counsel, or to his owne concupiscence, he beginneth to forget himselfe in his sinne, and so falleth into contempt of God, which contempt is called the seate of the scorners.

*Deut. 6.6. Ios. 1.8. prou. 6.20.

b In the holy Scriptures.

c Gods children are so moysstened euer with his grace, that what socuer commeth vnto them, tendeth to their saluation.

d Though the wicked seeme to beare the swinge in this world, yet the Lord driueth them downe that they shall not rise nor stand in the companie of the righteous.

e But tremble when they feele Gods wrath.

f Doth approue and prosper, like as not to knowe, is to reproue and reiect.

semblie of the righteous.
6 For the Lord f knoweth the way of the righteous, and the way of the wicked shall perish.

PSAL. II.

1 The Prophet Dauid reioyceth that notwithstanding his enemies rage, yet God will continue his kingdome for euer, and aduaunce it euen to the end of the world,
10 And therefore exhorteth Kinges and rulers, that they woulde humbly submit themselues vnder Gods yoke, because it is in vaine to resist God. Herein is figured Christes kingdome.

a The conspiracie of the Gentiles, the murmuring of the Iewes, and power of Kings can not preuaile against Christ. Actes 4.25.
*Or, anointed.

1 WHy p doe the a heathen *rage, 2 and the people murmure in vaine?
The Kinges of the earth bande themselues, and the princes are assembled together against the Lorde, and against his *Christ.
3 b Let vs breake their bandes, and cast their cordes from vs.

PSAL. III.

1 Dauid driuen forth of his kingdome, was greatly tormented in minde for his sinnes against God: 4 And therfore calleth vpon God, and waxeth bold through his promises against the great raylings and terrours of his enemies, yea, against death it selfe, which he saw present before his eyes. 7 Finally he reioiceth for the good successe, that God gaue him, and all the Church.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid, when he fled from his sonne Absalom.

2 Many say to my soule, There is no helpe for him in God. b Selah.
3 But thou Lord art a buckler for me: my glorie, and the lifter vp of mine head.
4 I did call vnto ỹ Lord with my voice, and he heard me out of his holy mountaine. Selah.
5 I laied me downe and slept, and rose vp againe: for the Lord susteyned me.

2 O ye d sonnes of men, howe long will ye turne my glorie into shame, e louing vanitie, and seeking lyes? Selah.

a Among them that were appointed to sing the Psalmes, and to play on the instrumentes, one was appointed chiefe to set the tune, and to begin: who had the charge, because he was most excellent, and he began this Psalme on the instrument called Neginoth, or in a tune so called.

PSAL. V.

Dauid oppressed with the cruelties of his enemies, and fearing greater dangers, calleth to God for succour, shewing howe requisite it is that God shoulde punishe the malice of his aduersaries. 7 After being assured of prosperous successe, he conceyueth comfort, 12 Concluding that when God shall deliuer him, others also shalbe partakers of the same mercies.

¶ To him that excelleth vpon [1] Nehiloth. A Psalme of Dauid.

2 Hearken vnto the voyce of my crie, my King and my God: for vnto thée do I pray.
3 Heare my voice in the morning, O Lord: for in the morning will I direct me vnto thée, and I will [b] waite.
4 For thou art not a God that loueth [c] wickednes: neyther shall euill dwell with thée.
5 [d] The foolish shal not stand in thy sight: for thou hatest all them that worke iniquitie.
6 Thou shalt destroy thé that speake lies: the Lorde will abhorre the bloodie man and deceitfull.
7 But I [e] will come into thine house in the multitude of thy mercie: and in thy feare will I worship toward thine holy Temple.
8 Leade me, O Lord, in thy righteousnes, [f] because of mine enemies: make thy way plaine before my face.
9 For no constancie is in their mouth: within, they are very corruption: their [x] throte is an open sepulchre, and they flatter with their tongue.
10 Destroy them, O God: [g] let them [h] fall from their counsels: cast them out for the multitude of their iniquities, because they haue rebelled against thee.
11 And [b] let all them that trust in thee, reioyce and triumphe for euer, and couer thou them: and let them, that loue thy Name, reioyce in thee.

PSAL. VI.

When Dauid by his sinnes had prouoked Gods wrath, & now felt not only his hand against him, but also cõceiued the horrors of death euerlasting, he desireth forgiuenes, 6 Bewayling that if God tooke him away in his indignation, he should lack occasion to praise him as he was wont to doe, whiles he was amõg men. 9 Then suddenly feeling Gods mercie, he sharply rebuketh his enemies which reioyced in his affliction.

¶ To him that excelleth on Neginoth vpon the eyght tune. A Psalme of Dauid.

2 Haue mercie vpon me, O Lorde, for I am weake: O Lorde heale mee, for my [b] bones are vexed.
3 [c] My soule is also sore troubled: but Lord how long wilt thou delay?
4 Returne, O Lorde: deliuer my soule: saue me for thy mercies sake.
5 For in [d] death there is no remembrance of thee: in the graue who shal praise thee?
6 I fainted in my mourning: I cause my bed euery night to swimme, and water my couche with my teares.
7 [e] Mine eye is dimmed for despite, and sunke in because of all mine enemies.
8 [f] Away from me all ye workers of iniquitie: for the Lord hath heard the voice of my weeping.
9 The Lord hath heard my petition: the Lord will receiue my prayer.
10 All mine enemies shalbe confounded & sore vexed: they shall be turned backe, and put to shame [g] suddenly.

PSAL. VII.

Being falsly accused by Chush one of Sauls kinsmen, he calleth to God to be his defender, 3 To whome he commendeth his innocencie, 9 First shewing that his conscience did not accuse him of anie euill towardes Saul: 10 Next that it touched Gods glory to awarde sentence against the wicked. 12 And so entring into the consideration of Gods mercies and promise, he waxeth bold & derideth the vaine enterprises of his enemies, 16 Threatning that it shal fall on their owne necke that which they haue purposed for others.

PSAL. X.

He complaineth of the fraude, rapine, tyrannie, & al kinds of wrong, which worldly men vse, assigning the cause thereof, that wicked men, being as it were drunken with worldly prosperitie, & therfore setting apart al feare and reuerence towards God, thinke they may doe all things without controwling. 15 Therefore he calleth vpon God to sende some remedie against these desperate euils, 16 And at length comforteth himselfe with hope of deliuerance.

1 WHy p standest thou farre off, O Lorde, and hidest thee in a due time, euen in affliction?

a So sone as we enter into affliction, we thinke God shoulde helpe vs, but that is not alwaies his due time.

2 The wicked with pride doeth persecute the poore: let them be taken in p crafts that they haue imagined.

3 For the wicked hath b made boast of his owne heartes desire, and the couetous blesseth himselfe: hee contemneth the Lord.

b The wicked man reioyceth in his owne lust: he boasteth when he hath that he would: he braggeth of his wit and welth, and blesseth himselfe, and thus blaspheneth the Lord.

4 The wicked is so proud that he seeketh not for God: he thinketh alwaies, There is no God.

5 His waies alway prosper: thy iudgements are hie aboue his sight: therefore c defieth he all his enemies.

6 He saith in his heart, I shall c neuer be moued, c not be in danger.

7 His mouth is full of cursing and deceit and fraude: vnder his tongue is mischiefe and iniquitie.

8 d He lieth in waite in the villages: in the secrete places doeth he murther the innocent: his eyes are bent against the poore.

9 He lieth in waite secretly, euen as a lyon in his denne: he lyeth in waite to spoyle the poore: he doeth spoyle the poore, when he draweth him into his net.

10 He croucheth and boweth: therefore heapes of the e poore doe fall by his might.

11 He hath saide in his heart, God hath forgotten, he hideth away his face, and will neuer see.

12 f Arise, O Lord God: lift vp thine hand: forget not the poore.

Or, not be moued, because he was neuer in euill.

c The euill shal not touche me, Isa. 28. 15. or else he speaketh thus, because he neuer felt euill.

d He sheweth that the wicked haue many meanes to hide their crueltie, 13 Wherefore doth the wicked contemne God? he saieth in his heart, Thou wilt not s regard.

14 Yet thou hast seene it: for thou beholdest mischiefe and wrong, that thou maiest h take it into thine handes: the poore committeth himselfe vnto thee: for thou art the helper of the fatherlesse.

15 Breake thou the arme of the wicked and malicious: search his wickednes, and thou shalt finde i none.

16 The Lorde is king for euer and euer: the k heathen are destroyed forth of his land.

17 Lord, thou hast heard the desire of the poore: thou preparest their heart: thou bendest thine eare to them, 18 l To iudge the fatherlesse and poore, that earthly man a cause to feare no more.

and therefore ought more to be feared. e By the hypocrisie of them that haue autoritie, the poore are deuoured. f He calleth to God for helpe, because wickednes is so farre outgrowen that God must now helpe or neuer.

Or, destroy no more man vpon the earth.

PSAL. XI.

This Psalme conteineth two partes. In the first Dauid sheweth how hard assaults of tentations he sustained, & in how great anguish of minde he was, when Saul did persecute him. 4 Then next he reioyceth that God sent him succour in his necessitie, declaring his iustice aswell in gouerning the good, and the wicked men, as the whole worlde.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

1 IN the Lord put I my trust: how say ye then to my soule, a Flee to your mountaine as a birde?

a This is the wicked counsell of his enemies to him and his companions, to driue him from the hope of Gods promes.

2 For loe, the wicked bende their bowe, and make readie their arrowes vpon the string, that they may secretly shoote at them which are vpright in heart.

3 For the b foundations are cast downe: what hath the c righteous done?

b All hope of succour is taken away.

c Yet am I innocent and my cause good.

4 The Lorde is in his holy palace: the Lordes throne is in the heauen: his eyes d will consider: his eye lidde will trie the children of men.

d Though all things in earth be out of order, yet God wil execute iudgement from heauen.

5 The Lorde will trie the righteous: but the wicked and him that loueth iniquitie, doth his soule hate.

6 Vpon the wicked he shal raine snares, e fire, and brimstone, and stormie tempest: this is the f portion of their cup.

e As in the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrha.

7 For the righteous Lord loueth righteousnes: his countenance doth beholde the iust.

PSAL. XII.

¶ To him that excelleth vpon the eight tune. A Psalme of Dauid.

a Which dare defend ỹ truth,
1 HElpe Lorde, for there is not a godly man left: for the faithfull are failed from among the children of men.
2 They speake deceitfully euery one with his neighbour, b flattering with their lippes, and speake with a double heart.
b He meaneth ỹ flatterers of the court, which hurt him more ẅ their tongues then with their weapons.

4 Which haue saide, c With our tongue will we preuaile: our lippes are our owne: who is Lord ouer vs?

PSAL. XIII.

1 Dauid as it were ouercome with sundrie and new afflictions, fleeth to God as his only refuge, 3 And so at the length being encouraged through Gods promises, he conceiueth most sure confidence against the extreme horrours of death.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

a He declareth that his afflictions lasted a long time, and that his faith fainted not.

2 How long shall I take b counsel within my selfe, hauing wearines daily in mine heart? howe long shall mine enemie be exalted aboue me?
b Changing my purpose as the sicke man doeth his place.
3 Beholde, and heare mee, O Lorde my God: lighten mine eyes, that I sleepe not in death:
c Which might turne to Gods dishonour, if he did not defende his.
4 Lest mine enemie say, I haue c preuailed against him: & they that afflict me, reioyce when I slide.

PSAL. XIIII.

1 He describeth the peruerse nature of men, which were so growen to licentiousnes, that God was brought to vtter contempt. 7 For the which thing although he was greatly grieued, yet being perswaded that GOD woulde send some present remedie, he comforteth himselfe and others.

7 Oh giue saluation vnto f Israel out of Zion: when the Lord turneth the captiuitie of his people, then Iaakob shall reioyce, and Israel shalbe glad.

¶ Note that of this 14. Psalme, the 5. 6. and 7. verses which are put into the common translation, & may seeme vnto some to be left out in this, are not in the same Psalme in the Ebrewe texte, but are rather put in, more fully to expresse the maners of the wicked: and are gathered out of the 5. 140. and 10 Psalmes, the 59. of the Prop. et Isaiah, and the 36. Psalme, and are alledged by S. Paul, and placed together in the 3. to the Romanes.

PSAL. XV.

1 This Psalme teacheth on what condition God did chuse the Iewes for his peculiar people, and wherefore he placed his Temple among them, which was to the intent that they by liuing vprightly and godly, might witnes that they were his speciall and holie people.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

a First God requireth vprightnes of life, next doing well to others, & thirdly trueth and simplicitie in our wordes.
b He that flattereth not the vngodly in their wickednes.
c To the hinderance of his neighbour.
d That is, shall not be cast forth of the Church as hypocrites.

1 LOrde, who shall dwell in thy Tabernacle? who shal rest in thine holy mountaine?
2 He that a walketh vprightly and worketh righteousnesse, and speaketh the trueth in his heart.
3 He that slandreth not with his tongue, nor doeth euil to his neighbour, nor receiueth a false report against his neighbour.
4 b In whose eyes a vile person is contemned, but he honoureth them that feare the Lorde: he that sweareth to his owne hinderance and changeth not.
5 He that c giueth not his money vnto vsurie, nor taketh rewarde against the innocent: he that doeth these thinges, d shall neuer be moued.

PSAL. XVI.

1 Dauid prayeth to God for succour, not for his workes, but for his faiths sake, 4 Protesting that he haeth al idolatrie, taking God onely for his comfort and felicitie, 8 Who suffereth his to lacke nothing.

¶ A Michtam of Dauid.

1 PReſerue me, O God: for in thee do I a truſt.
2 O my ſoule, thou haſt ſayd vnto the Lorde, Thou art my Lord: my b welldoing extendeth not to thee,
3 But to the Saints that are in the earth, and to the excellent: all my delight is in them.
4 The c ſorowes of them, that offer to another god, ſhalbe multiplyed: d their offrings of blood will I not offer, neither make * mention of their names with my lippes.
5 The Lorde is the portion of mine inheritance and of my cup: thou ſhalt maintaine my lot.
6 The e lines are fallen vnto me in pleaſant places: yea, I haue a faire heritage.
7 I will prayſe the Lord, who hath giuen me counſell: my f reynes alſo teache me in the nights.
8 I haue ſet the Lord alwaies before me: for he is at my right hande: therefore I ſhal not ſlide.
9 Wherfore g mine heart is glad and my tongue reioyceth: my fleſh alſo doth reſt in hope.
10 For thou i wilt not leaue my ſoule in the graue: neither wilt thou ſuffer thine holy one to ſee corruption.
11 Thou wilt ſhew me the path of life: in thy k preſence is the fulnes of ioy: and at thy right hande there are pleaſures for euermore.
7 Shewe thy marueilous mercies, thou that art the Sauiour of them that truſt in thee, from ſuch as ſ reſiſt thy rpght hande.
8 Keepe me as the apple of the eye: hide me vnder the ſhadow of thy wings, 9 From the wicked that oppreſſe mee, from mine enemies, which compaſſe me round about for h my ſoule.
10 They are incloſed in their owne i fatte, & they haue ſpoken proudly with their mouth.
11 They haue compaſſed vs nowe in our ſteps: they haue ſet their eyes to bring downe to the ground:
12 Like as a lyon that is greedie of pray, and as it were a lions whelpe lurking in ſecrete places.
13 Vp Lorde, k diſappoint him: caſt him downe: deliuer my ſoule from the wicked f with thy ſword, 14 From men by thine l hande, O Lorde, from men m of the world, who haue their portion in this life, whoſe bellies thou fillest with thine hid treaſure: their children haue enough, and leaue the reſt of their ſubſtance for their children.
15 But I will beholde n thy face in rightes ouſneſſe, and when I o awake, I ſhalbe ſatiſfied with thine image.

g For all rebell againſt thee, which trouble thy Church.
h For their erueltie cānot be ſatisfied but with my death.
i They are puſt vp with pride, as the ſtomacke that is choked with fatte.
k Stop his rage.
f Or, which is thy ſword.
l By thine heauenly power.
m Or, whoſe tyrannie hath too long endured.
n And feele not the ſmart that Gods children oft times do.
o And am deliuered out of my great troubles.

a Or, a certaine time.
a He ſheweth that we cannot call vpon God, except we truſt in him.
b Though we cannot enriche God, yet we muſt beſtowe Gods giftes to the vſe of his children.
c As griefe of conſcience and miſerable deſtruction.
d He would neither by outward profeſſion nor in heart nor in mouth conſent to their idolatries. Exod 23.13.
e Wherewith my portion is meaſured.
f God teacheth me continually by ſecrete inſpiration.
g The faithful are ſure to perſeuer to the end.
h That is, I reioyce both in body and ſoule. i This is chiefely meant of Chriſt, by whoſe reſurrection all his members haue immortalitie. k Where God fauoureth, there is perfit felicitie.

PSAL. XVII.

1 Here he complaineth to God of the cruell pride and arrogancie of Saul, and the reſt of his enemies, who thus raged without any cauſe giuen on his part. 6 Therefore he deſireth God to reuenge his innocencie, & deliuer him.

¶ The prayer of Dauid.

1 HEare a the right, O Lorde, conſider my crie: hearken vnto my prayer of lippes vnfained.
2 Let my b ſentence come forth from thy preſence, and let thine eyes beholde equitie.
3 Thou haſt c prooued and viſited mine heart in the night: thou haſt tried me, & foundeſt nothing: for I was purpoſed that my d mouth ſhould not offend.
4 Concerning the workes of men, by the e wordes of thy lippes I kept me from the paths of the cruel man.
5 Stay my ſteps in thy paths, that my ſteps do not ſlide.
6 I haue called vpon thee: f ſurely thou wilt heare me, O God: incline thine eare to me, and hearken vnto my wordes, a My righteous cauſe.

b The vengeance that thou ſhalt ſhewe againſt mine enemies.
c When thy Spirite examined my conſcience.
d I was innocent toward mine enemie both in deed & thought.
e Though the wicked prouoked me to do euil for euill, yet thy word kept me backe.
f He was aſſured that God would not refuſe his requeſt.

PSAL. XVIII.

1 This Pſalme is the firſt beginning of his gratulation, and thankeſgiuing in the entring into his kingdome, wherein he extolleth & praiſeth moſt highly the marueilous mercies and grace of God, who hath thus preſerued and defended him. 32 Alſo he ſetteth foorth the image of Chriſtes kingdome, that the faithfull may be aſſured that Chriſt ſhall alwayes conquer and ouercome by the vnſpeakeable power of his Father, though all the whole worlde ſhould ſtrine thereagainſt.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Pſalme of Dauid the ſeruant of the Lord, which ſpake vnto the Lorde the wordes of this ſong (in the day that the Lorde deliuered him from the hande of all his enemies, and from the hand of Saul) and ſayd,

1 I Will loue thee dearely, O Lorde my ſtrength.
2 * a The Lord is my rocke, and my fortreſſe, & he that deliuereth me, my God and my ſtrength: in him will I truſt, my ſhielde, the horne alſo of my ſaluation, and my refuge.
3 I will call vpon the Lord, which is worthie to bee b prayſed: ſo ſhall I be ſafe

2. Sam. 22.2.
a He vſeth this diuerſitie of names, to ſhew that as the wicked haue many meanes to hurt, ſo God hath many wayes to helpe.

from mine enemies.

c He speaketh of the dangers & malice of his enemies, from the which God had deliuered him.

4 The [c] sorowes of death compassed me, and the floods of wickednes made me afrayde.

5 The [n] sorowes of the graue haue compassed me about: the snares of death ouertooke me.

6 But in my trouble did I call vpon the Lord, and cryed vnto my God: he heard my voyce out of his Temple, & my cry did come before him, euē into his eares.

[c] Or, coardes, or, cables.

d A description of the wrath of God against his enemies after he had heard his prayers.

e He sheweth howe horrible Gods iudgemēts shalbe to the wicked.

f Darkenes signifieth the wrath of God, as the cleare light signifieth Gods fauour.

g This is described at large, Psalme 104.

h As a King angrie with the people, wil not shew himselfe vnto them.

i Thundred, lightned, and hayled.

k His lightnings.

l That is, the deepe bottoms were seene, whē the red sea was deuided.

m Out of sundrie and great dangers.

n To wit, Saul.

o Therfore God sent me succour.

p The cause of Gods deliuerāce is his onely fauour and loue to vs.

q Dauid was sure of his righteous cause and good behauiour toward Saul and his enemies, and therefore was assured of Gods fauour and deliuerance.

r For al his dangers, he exercised himselfe in the Lawe of God.

7 [d] Then the earth trembled, and quaked: the foundatiōs also of the mountaines mooued and shooke, because he was angrie.

8 Smoke went out at his nostrels, and a [e] consuming fire out of his mouth: coles were kindled thereat.

9 He bowed the heauens also and came downe, and [f] darkenes was vnder his feete.

10 And he rode vpon a Cherub and did flie, and he came flying vpon the wings of the winde.

11 He made darkenes his [h] secrete place, and his pauilion round about him, euen darkenes of waters, and cloudes of the aire.

12 At the brightnesse of his presence his cloudes passed, haylestones and coales of fire.

13 The Lord also thundred in the heauen, and the Highest gaue [i] his voyce, haylestones and coales of fire.

14 Then he sent out [k] his arrowes and scattered them, and he increased lightnings and destroyed them.

15 And the chanels of waters were seene, & the [l] foundations of the worlde were discouered at thy rebuking, O Lorde, at the blasting of [p] breath of thy nostrels.

16 He hath sent downe from aboue & taken me: he hath drawen me out of many [m] waters.

17 He hath deliuered me from my [n] strong enemie, and from them which hate me: for they were [o] too strong for me.

18 They preuented me in the daye of my calamitie: but the Lord was my stay.

19 He brought me forth also into a large place: [p] he deliuered mee because he fauoured me.

20 The Lord rewarded me according to my [q] righteousnesse: according to the pureneſſe of mine handes he recompensed me:

21 Because I kept the waies of the Lord, and did not wickedly against my God.

22 For al his [r] lawes were before me, and I did not cast away his [r] conmaundements from me.

23 I was vpright also with him, & haue kept me from my [s] wickednes.

24 Therefore the Lorde rewarded me according to my righteousnesse, & according to the pureneſſe of mine handes in his sight.

[r] I neither gaue place to their wicked tentations, nor to mine owne affections.

25 With the [t] godly thou wilt shewe thy selfe godly: with the vpright man thou wilt shew thy selfe vpright.

26 With the pure thou wilt shew thy self pure, and with the froward thou wilt shewe thy selfe froward.

27 Thus thou wilt saue the poore people, and wilt [u] cast down the proude lookes.

28 Surely thou wilt light my candle: the Lord my God will lighten my darkenes.

29 For by thee I haue [x] broken through an hoste, and by my God I haue leaped ouer a wall.

30 The waye of God is vncorrupt: the [y] worde of the Lord is tried in the fire: he is a sheild to all that trust in him.

31 For who is God besides the Lorde? & who is mightie saue our God?

32 God girdeth mee with strength, and maketh my [z] way vpright.

33 He maketh my feete like hindes feete, & setteth me vpon mine [a] high places.

34 He teacheth mine handes to fight: so that a bowe of [b] brasse is broken with mine armes.

35 Thou hast also giuen me the [b] sheild of thy saluation, and thy right hande hath stayed me, & thy [c] louing kindenes hath caused me to increase.

36 Thou hast enlarged my steps vnder me, and mine feeles haue not slid.

37 [d] I haue pursued mine enemies, and taken them, & haue not turned againe till I had consumed them.

38 I haue wounded them, that they were not able to rise: they are fallen vnder my feete.

39 For thou hast girded me with strength to battell: them, that rose against mee, thou hast subdued vnder me.

40 And thou hast [e] giuen me the neckes of mine enemies, that I might destroy them that hate me.

41 They [f] cryed, but there was none to saue them, euen vnto the Lord, but he answered them not.

42 Then I did beate them small as the dust before the winde: I did tread them flat as the clay in the stréetes.

43 Thou hast deliuered me from the contentions of the people: thou hast made me the head of the [g] heathen: a people, whome I haue not [h] knowen, shall serue me.

44 As soone as they heare, they shall obey me: the strangers shal be in subiection to me.

45 Strangers shall [k] shrinke away, and feare in their priuie chambers.

46 Let the Lorde liue, and blessed bee my strength, and the God of my saluation be exalted.

47 It is God that giueth mee power to auenge me, and subdueth the people vnder me.

t Here he speaketh of God according to our capacitie, who sheweth mercy to his, and punisheth [y] wicked, as is sayd also, Leuit. 26. 21, 24.

u When their sinne is come to the full measure.

x He attributeth it to God, that he both gate the victorie in the field, & also destroied the cities of his enemies.

y Be the dangers neuer so many or great, yet Gods promes must take effect.

z He giueth good successe to all mine enterprises.

a As towres and forts, which he tooke out of the hands of Gods enemies.

b To defend me from dangers.

c He attributeth the beginning, continuance & increase in welldoing only to Gods fauour.

d Dauid declareth that he did nothing besides his vocation, but was stirred vp by Gods Spirite to execute his iudgements.

e Thou hast giuen them into mine hands to be slayne.

f They that reiect the cry of [y] afflicted, God wil also reiect them, when they crie for helpe: for eyther payne or feare cause those hypocrits to cry.

g Which dwell round about me.

h The kingdom of Christ is in Dauids kingdom prefigured: who by the preaching of his worde bringeth all to his subiection.

i Or, lye: signifying a subiection constrayned & not voluntary.

k Feare shal cause them to be afraid and come forth of their secrete holes and boldes to seeke pardon.

48 O my deliuerer from mine enemies, euen thou hast set mee vp from them, that rose against me: thou hast deliuered me from the [l] cruell man.
49 Therefore [m] I will praise thee, O Lord, among the nations, and will sing vnto thy Name.
50 Great deliuerances giueth he vnto his king, and sheweth mercy to his anoynted, euen to Dauid, and to his [n] seede for euer.

l That is, Saul, who of malice persecuted him.
m This prophecie appertaineth to the kingdom of Christ, & vocation of the Gentiles, as Rom. 15.9.
n This did not properly appertein to Salomō, but to Iesus Christ.

12 Who can vnderstand his [l] faults? clense me from secret faultes.
13 Keepe thy seruant also frō [m] presumptuous sinnes: let them not reigne ouer mee: [n] so shall I be vpright, and made cleane from much wickednes.
14 Let the wordes of my mouth, and the [o] meditation of mine heart be acceptable in thy sight, O Lorde, my strength, & my redeemer.

l Then there is no rewarde of ductie, but of Grace: for where sinne is, there death is the reward.
m Which are done purposely and of malice.
n If thou suppresse my wicked affections by thine holy spirit.
o That I may obey thee in thought, worde and deede.

PSAL. XIX.

1 To the intent he might moue the faithful to a deeper consideration of Gods glorie, hee setteth before their eyes the most exquisite workemanship of the heauens with their proportion, and ornaments: 8 And afterward calleth thē to the Lawe, wherein God hath reuealed himselfe more familiarly to his chosē people. The which peculiar grace by commending the Lawe he setteth forth more at large.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

1 The [a] heauens declare the glory of God, and the firmament sheweth the worke of his handes.
2 [b] Day vnto day vttereth the same, and night vnto night teacheth knowledge.
3 There is no speach nor [c] language, where their voyce is not heard.
4 Their [d] line is gone forth through all the earth, & their wordes into the endes of the worlde: in them hath he set a tabernacle for the sunne.
5 Which cōmeth forth as a bridegrome out of his [e] chamber, and reioyceth like a mightie man to runne his race.
6 His going out is from the ende of the heauen, & his compasse is vnto the ends of the same, and none is hid from the heate thereof.
7 The [f] Law of the Lord is perfit, conuerting the soule: the testimonie of the Lorde is sure, & giueth wisedom vnto the simple.
8 The statutes of the Lord are right and reioyce the heart: the commandement of the Lord is pure, and giueth light vnto the eyes.
9 The feare of the Lord is cleane, and indureth for euer: the iudgements of the Lorde are [g] trueth: they are righteous [h] all together.
10 And more to bee [i] desired then golde, yea, then much fine golde: sweeter also then honie and the honie combe.
11 Moreouer by them is thy seruāt made circumspect, & in keeping of them there is great [k] rewarde.

a Rom. 1.20.
a He reprocheth vnto man his ingratitude, seeing heauēs, which are dumme creatures, set forth Gods glorie.
b The continual successe of the day & the night is sufficient to declare Gods power and goodnesse.
c The heauens are a Scholemaster to all natiōs, be they neuer so barbarous.
d The heauens are as a line of great capitall letters to shewe vnto vs Gods glorie.
e Or, vaile. The maner was that the bride and bridegrome should stand vnder a vaile together, and after come forth with great solemnitie and reioycing of the assembly.
f Though the creatures cannot serue, yet this ought to be sufficient to lead vs vnto him.
g So that al mans inuentions & intentions are lies.
h Euery one without exception.
i Except Gods worde be esteemed aboue all worldly things, it is contemned.
k For God accepteth our indeuour, though it be farre vnperfite.

PSAL. XX.

1 A praier of the people vnto God, that it would please him to heare their King, and receiue his sacrifice, which he offred before he went to battell against the Ammonites.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

1 The [a] Lorde heare thee in the daye of trouble: the [b] Name of the God of Iaakob defend thee:
2 Send thee helpe from the Sanctuarie, and strengthen thee out of Sion.
3 Let him remember all thine offrings, and [c] turne thy burnt offrings into ashes. Selah:
4 And grant thee according to thine heart, and fulfill all thy purpose:
5 That we may reioyce in thy [d] saluation, and set vp the banner in the Name of our God, when the Lorde shall performe all thy petitions.
6 Now [e] know I that the Lord will helpe his anoynted, and will heare him from his [f] Sanctuarie, by the mightie helpe of his right hand.
7 Some trust in chariots, and some in horses: but wee will remember the Name of the Lord our God.
8 [g] They are brought downe and fallen, but we are risen, and stand vpright.
9 Saue Lorde: [h] let the King heare vs in the day that we call.

a Hereby kings are also admonished to call to God in their affaires.
b The vertue, power and grace of God.
c In token that they are acceptable vnto him.
d Granted to the King, in whose wealth our felicitie standeth.
e The Church feeleth that God hath heard their petition.
f As by the visible Sanctuarie Gods familiarity appeared toward his people, so by the heauēly is meant his power and maiestie.
g The worldlings that put not their only trust in God.
h Let the King be able to deliuer vs by thy strength, when we seeke vnto him for succour.

PSAL. XXI.

1 Dauid in the person of the people praiseth God for the victory, attributing it to God, and not to the strength of men. Wherein the holy Ghost directeth the faithfull to Christ, who is the perfection of this kingdō.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

1 The King shall [a] reioyce in thy strength, O Lord: yea, how greatly shall he reioyce in thy saluation!
2 Thou hast giuen him his heartes desire, and hast not denied him the request of his lippes. Selah.
3 For thou [b] didest preuent him with liberall blessings, & didest set a crowne of pure b Thou declaredst thy liberall fauour toward him before he prayed.

pure gold vpon his head.

4 [c] He asked life of thee, and thou gauest him a long life for euer and euer.

5 His glorie is great in thy saluation: dignitie & honour hast thou laid vpon him.

6 For thou hast set him as [d] blessings for euer: thou hast made him glad with the ioy of thy countenance.

7 Because the King trusteth in the Lorde, and in the mercie of the most High, he shall not slide.

8 [e] Thine hand shall finde out all thine enemies, and thy right hand shall finde out them that hate thee.

9 Thou shalt make them like a fiery ouen in time of thine anger: the Lord shal destroy them in his [f] wrath, and the fire shall deuoure them.

10 Their fruit shalt thou destroy from the earth, and their seede from the children of men.

11 For they [g] intended euill against thee, and imagined mischiefe, but they shall not preuaile.

12 Therefore shalt thou put them [h] apart, and the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make readie against their faces.

13 [i] Be exalted, O Lord, in thy strength: so will we sing and praise thy power.

c Dauid did not onely obtaine life, but also assurance that his posterity should reigne for euer.

d Thou hast made him thy blessings to others, and a perpetuall example of thy fauour for euer.

e Here he describeth the power of Christes kingdō against the enemies thereof.

f This teacheth vs patiently to endure [y] crosse till God destroy the aduersarie.

g They laid as it were their nets to make Gods power to giue place to their wicked enterprises.

h As a marke to shoote at.

i Maintaine thy Church against thine aduersaries, that we may haue ample occasion to praise thy Name.

PSAL. XXII.

1 Dauid complained because he was brought into such extremities, that hee was past all hope, but after hee had rehearsed the sorowes & griefes, wherewith he was vexed,

10 He recouereth himselfe from the bottomlesse pitte of tentations and groweth in hope. And here vnder his owne person he setteth forth the figure of Christ, whom he did foresee by the Spirit of prophecie, that he shoulde marueilously, and strangely be dieected, and abased, before his Father should raise and exalt him againe.

¶ To him that excelleth vpon [l] Aieleth Hasthahar. A Psalme of Dauid.

1 [a] My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me, and art so farre from mine health, and from the wordes of my [b] roaring?

2 O my God, I crie by day, but thou hearest not, and by night, but [z] haue no audience.

3 But thou art holy, and dwellest inhabite the [c] praises of Israel.

4 Our fathers trusted in thee: they trusted, and thou didest deliuer them.

5 They called vpon thee, and were deliuered: they trusted in thee, and were not confounded.

6 But I am a [d] worme, and not a man:

[l] Or, the hinde of the morning, and this was the name of some common song.

a Here appeareth that horrible conflict, which he susteined betweene faith and desperation.

b Being tormented with extreme anguish

[z] Or, I cease not.

c He meaneth the place of praising, euen the Tabernacle: or els it is so called, because he gaue the people continually occasion to praise him.

d And seeming most miserable of all creatures, which was meant of Christ. And herein appeareth the vnspeakeable loue of God toward man, that he would thus abase his Sonne for our sakes, a shame of men, and the contempt of the people.

7 All they that see me, haue me in derision: they make a mowe and nodde the head, saying,

8 [m] He trusted in the Lord, let him deliuer him: let him saue him, seeing he loueth him.

9 But thou diddest drawe me out of the [e] wombe: thou gauest me hope, euen at my mothers breasts.

10 I was cast vpon thee, euen from [f] the wombe: thou art my God from my mothers belly.

11 Be not farre from mee, because trouble is neere: for there is none to helpe mee.

12 Many yong bulles haue compassed me: mightie [g] bulles of Bashan haue closed me about.

13 They gape vpon mee with their mouthes, as a ramping and roaring lyon.

14 I am like [h] water powred out, and all my bones are out of ioynt: mine heart is like wax: it is molten in the middes of my bowels.

15 My strength is dried vp like a pot-sherd, and my tongue cleaueth to my [h] lawes, and thou [i] hast brought me into the dust of death.

16 For dogges haue compassed mee, and the assemblie of the wicked haue inclosed me: they [k] perced mine handes and my feete.

17 I may tell all my bones: yet they beholde, and looke vpon me.

18 They part my garments among them, and cast lottes vpon my vesture.

19 But be not thou farre off, O Lord, my strength: haste to helpe me.

20 Deliuer my soule from the sworde: my [l] desolate soule from the power of the dogge.

21 [m] Saue me from the lions mouth, and answer me in sauing me from the hornes of the vnicornes.

22 [n] I will declare thy Name vnto my brethren: in the middes of the Congregation will I praise thee, saying.

23 [n] Praise the Lorde, ye that feare him: magnifie ye him, all the seede of Iacob, and feare ye him, all the seede of Israel.

24 For he hath not despised nor abhorred the affliction of the [o] poore: neither hath he hid his face from him, but when he called vnto him, he heard.

25 My praise shall be of thee in the great Congregation: my [p] vowes will I performe before them that feare him.

26 [q] The poore shall eate and be satisfied:

Ebr. roled vpon God. Mat. 27.43.

e Euen from my birth thou hast giuen me occasion to trust in thee.

f For except Gods prouidence preserue the infants, they should perish a thousand times in the mothers wombe.

g He meaneth, that his enemies were so fatte, proude & cruel, that they were rather beasts then men.

h Before, he spake of the cruelnie of his enemies, & now he declareth the inward griefes of the minde, so that Christ was tormented, both in soule and bodie.

i Thou hast suffred me to be without all hope of life.

k Thus Dauid complaineth as though he were nailed by his enemies both hands and feete: but this was accomplished in Christ.

l My life that is solitarie, left alone & forsaken of al, Psal. 35.17. and 25.16.

m Christ is deliuered with a more mightie deliuerance by ouercomming death, then if he had not tasted death at all. Heb. 2.12.

n He promiseth to exhort the Church, that they by his example might praise the Lorde.

o The poore afflicted are comforted by this example of Dauid, or Christ.

p Which were sacrifices of thankesgiuing, which they offered by Gods commandement, when they were deliuered out of any great danger.

q He doeth alludē still to the sacrifice.

r Though the poore be first named, as verse 26. yet the wealthy are not separated from the grace of Christes kingdome.
s In whom there is no hope that he shall recouer life: so neither poore nor riche, quicke nor dead shalbe reiected frō his kingdom.
t Meaning, the posteritie, which the Lord keepeth among men.
u That is, God hath fulfilled his promise.

they that seeke after the Lord, shal praise him: your heart shall liue for euer.
27 All the ends of the world shal remember themselues, and turne to the Lord: & all the kinreds of the nations shal worship before thee.
28 For the kingdome is the Lords, and he ruleth among the nations.
29 All they that be fat r in the earth, shal eate and worship: al they that go down into the dust, shal bow before him, s euen he that can not quicken his owne soule.
30 t Their seede shall serue him: it shall be counted vnto the Lorde for a generation.
31 They shall come, and shall declare his righteousnes vnto a people that shalbe borne, because he hath u done it.

PSAL. XXIII.

1 Because the Prophet had proued the great mercies of God at diuers times, and in sundry maners, hee gathereth a certaine assurance, fully perswading himselfe that God will continue the very same goodnes towardes him for euer.

Isa.40.11. ure.23.5. ezek.34.23. iohn 10.11. 1.pet.2.25.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

1 THe Lord is my a shepheard, b I shall not want.
2 He maketh me to rest in grene pasture, and leadeth me by the still waters.
3 He c restoreth my soule, and leadeth me in the c paths of righteousnesse for his Names sake.
4 Yea, though I shoulde walke through the valley of the d shadowe of death, I will feare no euil: for thou art with me: thy rod and thy staffe, they comfort me.
5 Thou doest prepare a e table before me in the sight of mine aduersaries: thou doest f anoint mine head with oyle, and my cup runneth ouer.
6 Doubtles kindnes and mercy shall followe me all the dayes of my life, and I shall remaine a long season in g the house of the Lord.

a He hath care ouer me and ministreth vnto me all things.
b He comforteth or refresheth me.
c Plaine, or streight wayes.
d Though he were in danger of death, as the sheepe that wandreth in y darke valley without his shepheard.
e Albeit his enemies sought to destroy him, yet God deliuereth him, and dealeth most liberally with him in despite of them.
f As was y maner of great feasts. g He setteth not his felicitie in the pleasures of this world, but in the feare & seruice of God.

PSAL. XXIIII.

1 Albeit the Lorde God hath made, and gouerneth all the world, yet towards his chosen people his gracious goodnes doth most abundantly appeare, in that among them hee will haue his dwelling place. Which though it was appointed among the children of Abraham, yet onely they do enter aright into this Sanctuarie, which are the true worshippers of God, purged from the sinfull filth of this world. 7 Finally, hee magnifieth Gods grace for the building of the Temple, to the end he might stirre vp all the faithful to the true seruice of God.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

Deut.10.14. iob.28.24. 1.cor.10.26.

1 THe earth a is the Lords, and all that therein is: the worlde and they that dwell therein.
2 For he hath founded it vpon the b seas: and established it vpon the floods.
3 Who shall ascende into the mountaine of the Lorde? and who shall stand in his holy place?
4 Euen he that hath vnnocent handes, and a pure heart: which hath not lift vp his minde vnto vanitie, nor sworne deceitfully.
5 He shall receiue a blessing from the Lord, and righteousnes from the God of his saluation.
6 This is the c generation of them that seeke him, of them that seeke thy face, this is Iaakob. Selah.
7 d Lift vp your heades ye gates, and be ye lift vp ye euerlasting dores, and the king of glory shall come in.
8 Who is this king of glory? the Lorde, strong and mightie, euen the Lord mightie in battell.
9 Lift vp your heads, ye gates, and lift vp your selues, ye euerlasting dores, and the king of glory shall come in.
10 Who is this king of glory? the Lord of hostes, he is the king of glory. Selah.

a I put not my trust in any worldly thing.
b That thou wilt take away mine enemies, which are thy roddes.
c Reteine me in the faith of thy promise, that I swerue not on any side.
d Constantly, and against all tentations.
e He confesseth that his manifold sinnes were the cause that his enemies did thus persecute him, desiring that the cause of the euill may be taken away, to the intent that the effect may cease.

Isa.28.26. rom.10.11.

3 So all that hope in thee, shall not be ashamed: but let them be confounded, that transgresse without cause.

4 c Shew me thy wayes, O Lord, & teach me thy paths.
5 Lead me forth in thy trueth, and teach mee: for thou art the God of my saluation: in thee do I trust d all the day.
6 Remember, O Lorde, thy tender mercies, and thy louing kindnes: for they haue bene for euer.
7 Remember not the e sinnes of my youth, nor my rebellions, but according to thy kindnesse remember thou me, euen for thy goodnes sake, O Lord.
8 Gratious and righteous is the Lorde: therefore f That is, call them to repentance.

g He wil gouerne and comfort them that are truely humbled for their sinnes.
h And for none other respect.
i Meaning, the nomber is very small.
k He will direct such with his spirit to followe the right way.
l He shall prosper both in spiritual and corporall things.
m His counsell contained in his word, whereby he declareth that he is the protector of the faithfull.
n My griefe is increased because of mine enemies cruelty.
o The greater that his afflictiõs were, and the more that his enemies increased, the more nere felt he Gods helpe.
p For as much as I haue behaued my selfe vprightly toward mine enemies, let them know that thou art the defender of my iust cause.

therefore will hee f teache sinners in the way.
9 Them that be meeke, will he g guide in iudgement, and teache the humble his way.
10 All the paths of the Lorde are mercy and trueth vnto such as keepe his couenant and his testimonies.
11 For thy h Names sake, O Lord, be mercifull vnto mine iniquitie, for it is great.
12 What i man is he that feareth the Lorde? him will he teache the way that he shall k chuse.
13 His soule shal dwel at l ease, & his seede shall inherite the land.
14 The m secrete of the Lorde is reueiled to them, that feare him: and his couenant to giue them vnderstanding.
15 Mine eyes are euer toward the Lorde: for he will bring my feete out of the net.
16 Turne thy face vnto mee, & haue mercie vpon mee: for I am desolate and poore.
17 The sorowes of mine heart n are enlarged: draw me out of my troubles.
18 Looke vpon mine affliction & my trauaile, and forgiue all my sinnes.
19 Beholde mine o enemies, for they are many, and they hate mee with cruell hatred.
20 Keepe my soule, and deliuer me: let me not be confounded, for I trust in thee.
21 Let p mine vprightnes and equitie preserue me: for mine hope is in thee.
22 Deliuer Israel, O God, out of all his troubles.

PSAL. XXVI.

1 Dauid oppressed with many iniuries, finding no helpe in the world, calleth for aide from God: and assured of his integritie toward Saul, desireth God to be his iudge, and to defende his innocencie. 6 Finally he maketh mention of his sacrifice, which hee will offer for his deliuerance, and desireth to be in the companie of the faithful in the Congregation of God, whence hee was banished by Saul, promising integritie of life, and open praises and thankesgiuing.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

1 Iudge me, a O Lorde, for I haue walked in mine innocencie: my trust hath bene also in the Lord: therefore shall I not slide.
2 Proue me, O Lorde, and trie mee: examine my b reines, and mine heart.
3 For thy c louing kindnesse is before mine eyes: therefore haue I walked in thy trueth.
4 I haue not d haunted with vaine persons, neither kept companie with the dissemblers.
5 I haue hated the assemblie of the euill, and haue not companied with the wicked.
6 I will e wash mine hands in innocencie, O Lord, and compasse thine altar,
7 That I may declare with the voyce of thanksgiuing, and set forth all thy wonderous workes.
8 O Lord, I haue loued the habitation of thine house, and the place where thine honour dwelleth.
9 f Gather not my soule with the sinners, nor my life with the bloody men:
10 In whose handes is g wickednes, and their right hand is full of bribes.
11 But I will walke in mine innocencie: redeeme me therefore, and be mercifull vnto me.
12 My foote standeth in h vprightnesse: I will praise thee, O Lorde, in the Congregations.

a Hee seeth to God to be the Iudge of his iust cause, seing there is no equitie among men.
b My very affections and inward motions of the heart.
c He sheweth what stayed him, that he did not recompense euill for euill.
d He declareth that they cannot walke in simplicitie before God, that delite in the company of the vngodly.

PSAL. XXVII.

1 Dauid maketh this Psalme being deliuered from great perils, as appeareth by the praises and thankesgiuing annexed: 6 Wherein we may see the constant faith of Dauid against the assaults of al his enemies, 7 And also the ende wherefore hee desireth to liue and to be deliuered, onely to worship God in his Congregation.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

1 The Lord is my a light and my saluation, whom shall I feare? the Lord is the strength of my life, of whome shall I be afraid?
2 When the wicked, euen mine enemies and my foes came vpon me to eate vp my flesh, they stumbled and fell.
3 Though an hoste pitched against mee, mine heart should not be afraid: though warre be raised against me, I will trust in b this.
4 c One thing haue I desired of the Lord, that I will require, euen that I may dwel in d house of the Lord all the dayes of my life, to beholde the beautie of the Lord, and to visite his Temple.
5 For in the time of trouble he shall hide me in his Tabernacle: in the secret place of his pauilion shal he hide me, & set me vp vpon a rocke.
6 e And nowe shall he lift vp mine head aboue mine enemies round about mee: therefore will I offer in his Tabernacle sacrifices of ioy: I will sing and praise the Lord.
7 Hearken vnto my voyce, O Lord, when I cry: haue mercy also vpon mee and heare me.
8 When thou saidest, f Seeke ye my face, mine heart answered vnto thee, O Lord, I will seeke thy face.

e I will serue thee with a pure affection, and with the godly that sacrifice vnto thee.
f Destroy me not in the ouerthrow of the wicked.
g Whose cruel handes do execute the malicious deuices of their heartes.
h I am preserued from mine enemies by the power of God, and therefore will praise him openly.

a Because he was assured of good successe in all his dangers, and that his saluation was surely laid vp in God, hee feared not the tyrannie of his enemies.
b That God wil deliuer me, and giue my faith the victorie.
c The losse of countrey, wife, and all worldly commodities grieue me not in respect of this one thing, § I may not praise thy name in the middes of the congregation.
d Dauid assured himselfe by the Spirit of prophecie that he should ouercome his enemies and serue God in his Tabernacle.
e He groundeth vpon Gods promise, and sheweth that hee is most willing to obey his commandement.

f He magnifieth Gods loue towardes his, which farre passeth the most tẽder loue of parents towards their children.

g But either pacify their wrath, or bridle their rage.

h In this present life before I die, as Isa.38.11.

i He exhorteth himselfe to depend on ỹ Lord, seeing hee neuer failed in his promises.

9 Hide not therefore thy face from mee, nor cast thy seruant away in displeasure: thou hast bene my succour: leaue me not, neither forsake mee, O God of my saluation.

10 f Though my father and my mother should forsake me, yet the Lorde will gather me vp.

11 Teach me thy way, O Lord, and leade me in a right path, because of mine enemies.

12 Giue me not vnto the s lust of mine aduersaries: for there are false witnesses risen vp against me, and such as speake cruelly.

13 I should haue fainted, except I had beleeued to see the goodnesse of the h Lorde in the land of the liuing.

14 i Hope in the Lord: be strong, & he shall comfort thine heart, & trust in the Lord.

PSAL. XXVIII.

1 Being in great feare & heauines of heart to see God dishonoured by the wicked, hee desireth to be rid of them, 4 And crieth for vengeance against them: & at length assureth himselfe, that God hath hearde his prayer. 9 Vnto whose tuition he commendeth all the faithfull.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

a He counteth himselfe as a dead mã, til God shew his fauour toward him, and graunt him his petition.

b Hee vsed this outward meanes to help ỹ weakenesse of his faith: for in that place was the Arke, & there God promised to shewe the tokens of his fauour.

c Destroy not ỹ good w the bad.

d He thus prayeth in respect of Gods glory, and not for his owne cause, being assured, that God would punish the persecuters of his Church.

e Let them be vtterly destroyed, as Malac.1.4.

f Because he felt the assurance of Gods helpe in his heart, his mouth was opened to sing his praises.

1 VNto thee, O Lord, doe I crie: O my strength, be not deafe towarde me, least, if thou answere mee not, I be a like them that go downe into the pit.

2 Heare ỹ voice of my petitions, when I crie vnto thee, when I holde vp mine hands toward thine b holy Oracle.

3 c Draw me not away with the wicked, & with the workers of iniquitie: which speake friendly to their neighbours, when malice is in their hearts.

4 d Reward thẽ according to their deeds, and according to ỹ wickednesse of their inuentions: recompense them after the worke of their hands: render them their rewarde.

5 For they regard not the workes of the Lorde, nor the operation of his handes: therefore e breake them downe, & builde them not vp.

6 f Praised be the Lord, for he hath heard the voyce of my petitions.

7 The Lorde is my strength & my shield: mine heart trusted in him, and I was helped: therfore mine heart shal reioyce, and with my song wil I praise him.

8 The Lord is g their strength, and he is the strength of the deliuerances of his anoynted.

9 Saue thy people, & blesse thine inheritance: feede them also, and exalt them for euer.

PSAL. XXIX.

1 The Prophet exhorteth the princes and rulers of the worlde, (which for the most part think there is no God) 3 At the least to feare him for the thunders & tempests, for feare whereof all creatures tremble. 11 And though thereby God threatneth sinners, yet is he alwaies merciful to his, & moueth them thereby to praise his Name.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

1 GIue vnto the Lorde, ye a sonnes of the mightie: giue vnto ỹ Lord glorie and strength.

2 Giue vnto the Lord glory due vnto his Name: worshippe the Lorde in the glorious Sanctuarie.

3 The b voice of the Lord is vpon the waters: the God of glory maketh it to thunder: the Lorde is vpon the great waters.

4 The voyce of the Lorde is mightie: the voyce of the Lord is glorious.

5 The c voyce of the Lorde breaketh the cedars: yea, the Lorde breaketh the cedars of Lebanon.

6 He maketh thẽ also to leape like a calfe: Lebanon also and d Sirion like a young vnicorne.

7 The voyce of the Lorde deuideth the e flames of fire.

8 The voyce of the Lord maketh the wildernes to tremble: the Lord maketh the wildernes of f Kadesh to tremble.

9 The voice of the Lord maketh ỹ hindes to g calue, and b discouereth the forests: therfore in his i Temple doth euery man speake of his glory.

10 The Lord sitteth vpon the k flood, and the Lorde doeth remaine King for euer.

11 The Lorde shall giue strength vnto his people: the Lorde shall blesse his people with peace.

a After that Absalom had polluted it w most filthie fornication.

b He condẽneth them of great ingratitude, which do not praise God for his benefites.

c Restored from ỹ rebelliõ of Absalom.

d Meaning, that he escaped death most narrowly.

PSAL. XXX.

1 When Dauid was deliuered from great danger, he rendred thanks to God, exhorting others to do the like, and to learne by his example, that God is rather merciful then seuere & rigorous towardes his children, 7 And also that the fall from prosperitie to aduersitie is sudden. 8 This done, he returneth to prayer, promising to praise God for euer.

¶ A Psalme or song of the dedication of the house of Dauid. 2.Sam.7.2. Deut.20.5.

1 I Will magnifie thee, O Lord: b for thou hast exalted me, and hast not made my foes to reioyce ouer me.

2 O Lorde my God, I cried vnto thee, and thou hast c restored me.

3 O Lord, thou hast brought vp my d soule

f Because the tempest and waters, that they destroy not all.

g Meaning, his souldiers, who were as meanes, by whome God declared his power.

i Though the wicked are nothing moued with these sights, yet ỹ faithfull praise God.

i After that thou hadst withdrawen thine help, I felt my miserie.
k Dauid meaneth that the dead are not profitable to the Congregation of the Lorde here in earth: therefore he would liue to praise his Name, which is the ende of mans creation.
l Because thou hast preserued me, that my tongue should praise thee, I wil not be vnmindefull of my duetie.

out of the graue: thou hast reuiued me from them that goe downe into the pit.
4 Sing praises vnto the Lorde, ye his Saints, and giue thanks l before the remembrance of his holinesse.
5 For he endureth but a while in his anger: but in his fauour is life: weeping may abide at euening, but ioy commeth in the morning.
6 And in my e prosperitie I said, I shall neuer be moued.
7 For thou Lorde of thy goodnesse hadest made me h mountaine to stand strong: but thou diddest hide thy face, & I i was troubled.
8 Then cried I vnto thee, O Lorde, and prayed to my Lorde.
9 What profit is there in my blood, when I go downe to the pitte? shall the dust k giue thankes vnto thee? or shall it declare thy trueth?
10 Heare, O Lord, and haue mercy vpon me: Lord, be thou mine helper.
11 Thou hast turned my mourning into ioye: thou hast loosed my sacke & girded me with gladnesse.
12 Therefore shall my l tongue praise thee and not cease: O Lorde my God, I will giue thankes vnto thee for euer.

PSAL. XXXI.

1 Dauid deliuered from some great danger, first rehearseth what meditation he had by the power of faith, when death was before his eyes, his enemie being ready to take him. 15 Then hee affirmeth that the fauour of God is alwaies ready to those that fear him. 20 Finally hee exhorteth all the faithfull to trust in God and to loue him, because he preserueth and strengtheneth them, as they may see by his example.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

a For then God declareth himselfe iust, when he preserueth his according as hee hath promised.
b Preserue me from the craftie counsels & subtil practises of mine enemies.
c Hee desireth God not only to take care for him in this life, but § his soule may be saued after this life.
d This affection ought to be in all Gods children, to hate whatsoeuer thing is not grounded vpon a sure trust in God, as deceitfull and vaine.

1 IN thee, O Lord, haue I put my trust: let me neuer bee confounded: deliuer me in thy a righteousnes.
2 Bowe downe thine eare to me: make haste to deliuer me: be vnto me a strong rocke, & an house of defence to saue me.
3 For thou art my rocke & my fortresse: therefore for thy Names sake direct me and guide me.
4 Draw me out of the b nette, that they haue layed priuily for me: for thou art my strength.
5 Into thine c hand I commend my spirit: for thou hast redeemed me, O Lorde God of trueth.
6 I haue hated them § giue themselues to deceitfull vanities: for I d trust in the Lorde.

9 Haue mercy vpon me, O Lorde: for I am in trouble: mine f eye, my soule & my belie are consumed with griefe.
10 For my life is wasted with heauines, & my yeeres with mourning: my strength faileth for my paine, and my bones are consumed.
11 I was a g reproch among all mine enemies, but specially among my neighbours: and a feare to mine acquaintance, h who seeing me in the streete, fled from me.
12 I am forgotten, as a dead man out of minde: I am like a broken vessell.
13 For I haue heard the railing of i great men: feare was on euery side, while they conspired together against me, and consulted to take my life.
14 But I trusted in thee, O Lord: I said, k Thou art my God.
15 My l times are in thine hand: deliuer me from the hand of mine enemies, and from m them that persecute me.
16 Make thy face to shine vpon thy seruant, and saue me through thy mercy.
17 Let me not be confounded, O Lorde: for I haue called vpon thee: let the wicked be put to confusion, and m to silence in the graue.
18 Let the lying lippes be made dumme, which cruelly, proudely and spitefully speake against the righteous.
19 How great is thy goodnes, which thou n hast layed vp for them, that feare thee! and done to them, that trust in thee, euen before the sonnes of men!
20 Thou dost hide them o priuily in thy presence from the pride of men: thou keepest them secretly in thy Tabernacle from the strife of tongues.
21 Blessed be the Lord: for he hath shewed his marueilous kindnes toward me in a p strong citie.

i They that were in authoritie, condemned me as a wicked doer.

PSAL. XXXII.

1 Dauid punished with grieuous sickenes for his sinnes, counteth them blessed, to whom God doth not impute their transgressions. 5 And after that he had confessed his sinnes & obtained pardon, 6 He exhorteth the wicked men to liue godly, 11 And the good to reioyce.

¶ A Psalme

¶ A Psalme of Dauid to gine [a] instruction.

1 BLessed is hee whose wickednesse is [b] forgiuen, & whose sinne is couered.
2 Blessed is the man, vnto whom the Lord imputeth not iniquitie, & in whose spirite there is no guile.
3 When I held me my [c] tongue, my bones consumed, or when I [d] roared all the day,
4 (For thine hand is heauy vpon me, day and night: and my moisture is turned into the drought of summer, Selah)
5 Then I [e] acknowledged my sinne vnto thee, neither hid I mine iniquitie: for I thought, I will confesse against my selfe my wickednes vnto the Lord, and thou forgauest the punishment of my sinne. Selah.
6 Therefore shall euery one, that is godly, make his prayer vnto thee in a [f] time, when thou mayest be found: surely in the flood of great waters [g] they shal not come nere him.
7 Thou art my secret place: thou preseruest me from trouble: thou compassest me about with ioyful deliuerance. Selah.
8 I will [h] instruct thee, and teach thee in the way, that thou shalt goe, and I will guide thee with mine eye.
9 Be ye not like an horse, or like a mule, which vnderstand not: whose [i] mouthes thou doest binde with bit and bridle, lest they come nere thee.
10 Many sorowes shall come to the wicked: but hee, that trusteth in the Lord, mercy shall compasse him.
11 Be glad ye righteous, and [k] reioyce in the Lord, and be ioyfull all ye, that are vpright in heart.

a Concerning the free remissiō of sinnes, which is the chiefest point of our faith.
b To be iustified by faith, is to haue our sinnes freely remitted, and to be reputed iust, Rom. 4. 6 c Betweene hope & despaire.
d Neither by silence nor crying found I ease: signifying, that before the sinner be reconciled to God, he feeleth a perpetual torment.
e He sheweth that as Gods mercy is the only cause of forgiuenes of sins, so the meanes thereof are repentance and confession, which proceede of faith.
f When necessitie causeth him to seeke to thee for helpe, Isa. 55. 6.
g To wit, the waters, and great dangers.
h Dauid promiseth to make the rest of Gods children partakers of the benefites, which hee felt, and that hee will diligently looke and take care to direct them in the way of saluation.
i If men can rule brute beastes, thinke they, that God will not bridle and tame their rages k He sheweth that peace and ioy of conscience in the holy Ghost is the fruite of faith.

PSAL. XXXIII.

1 He exhorteth good men to praise GOD for that he hath not only created al things, & by his prouidence gouerneth the same, but also is faithfull in his promises, 10 He vnderstandeth mans heart, & scattereth the counsell of the wicked, 16 So that no man can be preserued by any creature or mans strength: but they, that put their confidence in his mercie, shal be preserued from all aduersities.

1 REioyce in the Lord, O ye righteous: for it [a] becommeth vpright men to be thankefull.
2 Praise the Lord with harpe: sing vnto him with viole and [b] instrument of ten strings.
3 Sing vnto him a new song: sing cheerefully with a loude voyce.
4 For the [c] word of the Lord is righteous, and all his [d] workes are faithfull.
5 Hee [e] loueth righteousnesse and iudgement: the earth is full of the goodnes of the Lord.
6 By the word of the Lord were the heauens made, and all the hoste of them by the breath of his mouth.
7 He [f] gathereth the waters of the sea together as vpon an heape, and layeth vp the depths in his treasures.
8 Let all the earth feare the Lord: let all them that dwel in the world, feare him.
9 For he spake, & it was done: he commanded, and it [g] stoode.
10 The Lord breaketh the counsel of the heathen, and bringeth to nought the deuices of the people.
11 The counsell of the Lord shall stand for euer, and the thoughtes of his heart throughout all ages.
12 Blessed is that nation, whose [h] God is the Lord: euen the people, that he hath chosen for his inheritance.
13 The Lord [i] looketh downe from heauen, & beholdeth al the children of men.
14 From the habitation of his dwelling he beholdeth all them that dwell in the earth.
15 He [k] facioneth their heartes euery one, and vnderstandeth all their workes.
16 The [l] king is not saued by the multitude of an hoste, neither is the mighty man deliuered by great strength.
17 A horse is a vaine helpe, and shall not deliuer any by his great strength.
18 Beholde, [m] the eye of the Lord is vpon them that feare him, and vpon them, that trust in his mercy, 19 To deliuer their soules from death, and to preserue them in famine.
20 [n] Our soule waiteth for the Lord: for he is our helpe and our shielde.
21 Surely our heart shall reioyce in him, because we trusted in his holy Name.
22 Let thy mercy, O Lord, be vpon vs, as we trust in thee.

a It is the duetie of the godly to set foorth the praises of God for his mercy and power shewed toward them.
b To sing on instruments was a part of the ceremonial seruice of the Temple, which doeth no more appertaine vnto vs, then the sacrifices, censings and lights.
c That is, counsell or commandement in gouerning the world.
d That is, the effect and execution.
e Howsoeuer the world iudgeth of Gods workes, yet hee doth all things according to iustice and mercy.
f By ye creation of the heauens & beautiful ornament, with the gathering also of the waters, he setteth forth the power of God, that al creatures might feare him.
g No counsell can preuaile against God, but he defeateth it, and it shal haue euill successe.
h He sheweth that al our felicitie standeth in this, that ye Lord is our God.
i He proueth ye all things are gouerned by Gods prouidence and not by fortune.
k Therefore he knoweth their wicked enterprises.
l If kings and the mighty of ye world cannot be saued by worldly meanes, but only by Gods prouidence, what haue others to trust in, that haue not like meanes?
m God sheweth that toward his of his mercy, which man by no meanes is able to compasse.
n Thus he speaketh in the name of the whole Church, which onely depend on Gods prouidence.

PSAL. XXXIIII.

1 After Dauid had escaped Achish, according as it is written in the 1. Sam. 21. 11, whome in this title he calleth Abimelech (which was a generall name to all the Kinges of the Philistims) he praiseth GOD for his deliuerance, 3 Prouoking all others by his example to trust in God, 10 feare and serue him:

14 Who defendeth the godly with his Angels, 15 And vtterly deſtroyeth the wicked in their ſinnes.

¶ A Pſalme of Dauid, when he changed his behauiour before Abimelech, who drone him away, and he departed.

a He promiſeth neuer to become vnmindfull of Gods great benefite for his deliuerance.
b They that are beaten downe with the experience of their owne euils.
c Which I conceiued for the dangers wherein I was.
d They ſhall be bold to flee to thee for ſuccour, when they ſhall ſee thy mercies toward me.
e Though Gods power be ſufficient to gouerne vs, yet for mans infirmitie he appointeth his Angels to watch ouer vs.
f The godly by their patient obedience profite more then they, which raue and ſpoile.
g If they abide the laſt triall.
h That is, the true religion & worſhip of God. 1. Pet. 3. 10.
i Seeing all men naturally deſire felicitie, he wondereth why they caſt themſelues willingly into miſerie.
k The anger of God doeth not onely deſtroy the wicked, but alſo aboliſheth their name for euer.
l When they ſeeme to be ſwalowed vp with afflictions, then God is at hande to deliuer them.

1 I Will a alwap giue thankes vnto the Lorde: his prayſe ſhall be in my mouth continually.
2 My ſoule ſhall glorp in the Lorde: the b humble ſhall heare it, and be glad.
3 Prayſe ye the Lorde with me, and let vs magnifie his Name together.
4 I ſought the Lord, & he heard me: yea, he deliuered me out of all my c feare.
5 They d ſhall looke vnto him, and runne to him: and their faces ſhal not be aſhamed, ſaying,
6 This poore man cryed, and the Lorde heard him, and ſaued him out of all his troubles.
7 The e Angel of the Lord pitcheth round about them, that feare him, and deliuereth them.
8 Taſte ye and ſee, howe gracious the Lord is: bleſſed is the man that truſteth in him.
9 Feare the Lord, ye his Saints: for no thing wanteth to them that feare him.
10 The f lions do lacke and ſuffer hunger, but they, which ſeeke the Lorde, ſhall g want nothing that is good.
11 Come children, hearken vnto me: I wil teach you the h feare of the Lord.
12 * What man is he, that deſireth life, & loueth long dayes for to i ſee good?
13 Kéepe thy tongue from euil, & thy lips, that they ſpeake no guile.
14 Eſchew euil & do good: ſéeke peace and follow after it.
15 The eyes of the Lord are vpon the righteous, and his eares are open vnto their crye.
16 But the k face of the Lord is againſt them that do euil, to cut off their remembrãce from the earth.
17 The righteous cry, and the Lord heareth them, & deliuereth them out of all their troubles.
18 The Lord is néere vnto them that are of a l contrite heart, and will ſaue ſuch as be afflicted in ſpirite.
19 Great are the troubles of the righteous: but the Lord deliuereth him out of them all.
20 m He kéepeth all his bones: not one of them is broken.
21 But malice ſhal ſlay the n wicked: & they that hate the righteous, ſhall periſh.
22 The Lord o redéemeth the ſoules of his ſeruantes: and none, that truſt in him, ſhall periſh.

m And as Chriſt ſaith, all the heares of his head. n Their wicked enterpriſes ſhall turne to their owne deſtruction. o For when they ſeeme to be ouercome with great dangers and death in ſelfe, then God ſheweth himſelfe their redeemer.

PSAL. XXXV.

So long as Saul was enemie to Dauid, all that had any authoritie vnder him to flatter their king (as is the courſe of the world) did alſo moſt cruelly perſecute Dauid: againſt whome hee prayeth God to pleade and to auenge his cauſe, 8 That they may bee taken in their nettes and ſnares, which they laied for him, that his innocencie may be declared, 27 And that the innocent, which taketh part with him, may reioyce and praiſe the Name of the Lorde, that thus deliuereth his ſeruant. 28 And ſo he promiſeth to ſpeake foorth the iuſtice of the Lorde, and to magnifie his Name all the dayes of his life.

¶ A Pſalme of Dauid.

a He deſireth God to vndertake his cauſe againſt them that did perſecute him and ſlander him.
b Albeit God can with his breath deſtroy all his enemies, yet the holy Ghoſt attributeth vnto him theſe outward weapons to aſſure vs of his preſent power.
c Aſſure me againſt theſe tentatiõs, that thou art the author of my ſaluation.
d Smite them * the ſpirit of giddines that their enterpriſes may be fooliſh, and they receiue iuſt reward.
e Shewing that we may not call God to be a reuenger, but only for his glory, and when our cauſe is iuſt.
f When he promiſeth to himſelfe peace.
g Which he prepared againſt the children of God.
h He attributeth his deliuerance onely to God, prayſing him therefore both in ſoule and body.
i That would not ſuffer mee to purge my ſelfe.
k To haue taken from me all comfort, & brought me into deſpaire.
l I prayed for them with inward affectiõ, as I would haue done for my ſelfe: or, I declared mine affection with bowing downe mine head,

1 PLead thou my a cauſe, O Lord, with them that ſtriue with me: fight thou againſt them, that fight againſt me.
2 b Lap hand vpon the ſhield and buckler, and ſtand vp for mine helpe.
3 Bring out alſo the ſpeare and ſtop the way againſt them, that perſecute me: ſay vnto my c ſoule, I am thy ſaluation.
4 Let them be confounded and put to ſhame, that ſeeke after my ſoule: let them be turned backe and brought to confuſion, that imagine mine hurt.
5 Let them be as chaffe before the winde, and let the Angell of the Lorde d ſcatter them.
6 Let their way be darke and ſlipperie: and let the Angell of the Lord perſecute them.
7 For e without cauſe they haue hid the pit and their net for me: without cauſe haue they digged a pit for my ſoule.
8 Let deſtruction come vpon f him at vnwares, and let his net, that he hath laid priuily, take him: let him fall into * the ſame deſtruction.
9 Then my ſoule ſhall be ioyfull in the Lord: it ſhall reioyce in his ſaluation.
10 All my g bones ſhall ſay, Lord, who is like vnto thee, which deliuereſt the poore from him, that is to ſtrong for him! yea, the poore, & him that is in miſery, from him that ſpoileth him!
11 i Cruel witneſſes did riſe vp: they aſked of me things that I knew not.
12 They rewarded mee euill for good, to k haue ſpoiled my ſoule.
13 Yet I, when they were ſicke, I was clothed with a ſacke: I humbled my ſoule with faſting: and l my prayer was turned vpon my boſome.
14 I behaued my ſelfe as to my friend, or as to my brother: I humbled my ſelfe, mourning as one that bewayleth his mother.

m When they sawe me ready to slip, and as one that halted for infirmitie.
n With their railing wordes.
o The word signifieth cakes: meaning, that the proud courtears at their deintie feastes scoffe, raile, and conspire his death.
p In token of contempe and mocking.
Or, clefts of the earth: meaning himselfe and others in their misserie.
q They reioyced as though they had nowe seene Dauid ouerthrowen.
r It is the iustice of God to giue to the oppressers affliction & torment, and to the oppressed, aide and relieue, 2. Thes. 1. 6.
s Because we haue that, which we sought for, seeing he is destroyed.
t That is, at once, were they neuer so many or mightie.

15 But in mine m aduersitie they reioyced, and gathered themselues together: the abiectes assembled themselues against me, and I knew not: they tare me and ceassed not,
16 With the false scoffers at o bankets, gnashing their teeth against me.
17 Lord, how long wilt thou beholde this? deliuer my soule fro their tumult, euen my desolate soule from the lions.
18 So will I giue thee thankes in a great Congregation: I wil praise thee among much people.
19 Let not them that are mine enemies, vniustly reioyce ouer me, neither let them wynke with the eye, that hate me without a cause.
20 For they speake not as friendes: but they imagine deceitfull wordes against the p quiet of the land.
21 And they gaped on me with their mouthes, saying, Aha, aha, q our eye hath seene.
22 Thou hast seene it, O Lord: keepe not silence: be not farre from me, O Lord.
23 Arise & wake to my iudgement, euen to my cause, my God, and my Lord.
24 Iudge me, O Lord my God, according to thy r righteousnes, and let them not reioyce ouer me.
25 Let them not say in their hearts, s O our soule reioyce: neither let them say, We haue deuoured him.
26 Let them be confounded, and put to shame t together, that reioyce at mine hurt: let them be clothed u with confusion and shame, that lift vp themselues against me.
27 But let them be ioyfull and glad, x that loue my righteousnes: yea, let them say alway, Let y Lord be magnified, which loueth the z prosperitie of his seruant.
28 And my tongue shall vtter thy rightes ousnesse, and thy praise euery day.

u This prayer shall alwayes be verified against them, that persecute the faithfull. x That at least fauour my right, though they be not able to helpe me. y He exhorteth the Church to praise God for the deliuerance of his seruants, and for the destruction of his aduersaries.

PSAL. XXXVI.

1 The Prophet grieuously vexed by the wicked, doeth complaine of their malicious wickednesse. 6 Then he turneth to consider the vnspeakeable goodnes of God towardes all creatures: 9 But specially towardes his children, that by the faith thereof hee may be comforted & assured of his deliuerance 1 by this ordinarie course of Gods worke, 13 Who in the ende destroyeth the wicked, and saueth the iust.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid, the seruant of the Lord.

a I see euidently by his deedes, § sin pusheth forward the reprobate from wickednesse to wickednesse, albeit he goe about to couer his impietie.

WIckednes saith to the wicked man, a euen in mine heart, that there is no feare of God before his eyes.
2 For he b flattereth himself in his owne eyes, while his iniquitie is found worthie to be hated.
3 The wordes of his mouth are iniquitie and c deceite: he hath left off to vnderstand and to doe good.
4 He d imagineth mischiefe vpon his bed: he setteth himself vpon a wap, that is not good and doeth not abhorre euill.
5 Thy e mercie, O Lord, reacheth vnto the heauens, and thy faithfulnesse vnto the cloudes.
6 Thy righteousnesse is like the f mightie mountaines: thy iudgements are like a great g deepe: thou, Lord, dost saue man and beast.
7 Howe excellent is thy mercie, O God! therefore the children of men trust vnder the shadow of thy winges.
8 They shalbe satisfied with the fatnesse of thine house, and thou shalt giue them drinke out of the riuer of thy pleasures.
9 For with thee is the well of life, and in thy light shall we see light.
10 Extende thy louing kindnesse vnto them that h know thee, and thy righteousnes vnto them that are vpright in heart.
11 Let not the i foote of pride come against me, and let not the hand of the wicked men moue me.
12 k There they are fallen that worke iniquitie: they are cast down, and shal not be able to rise.

b Though all other detest his vile sinne, yet he himselfe seeth it not.
c The reprobate mocke at wholsome doctrine & put not differẽce betweene good and euill.
d By describing at large the nature of the reprobate, he admonisheth the godly to beware of these vices.
e Though wickednes seemeth to ouerflowe all the world, yet by thine heauenly prouidence thou gouernest heauen and earth.
f Ebr. the mountaines of God: for what soeuer is excellent, is thus called.
g The depth of thy prouidence gouerneth al things, & disposeth them, albeit the wicked seeme to ouerwhelme the world.
g Only Gods children haue ynough of all things both concerning this life & the life to come.
h He sheweth who are Gods children, to wit, they that knowe him, and leade their liues vprightly.
i Let not the proude auaunce himselfe against me, neither the power of the wicked driue me away.
k That is, in their pride, wherein they flatter themselues.

PSAL. XXXVII.

1 This Psalme conteineth exhortation and consolation for the weake, that are grieued at the prosperitie of the wicked, & the affliction of the godly. 7 For howe prosperously soeuer the wicked doe liue for the time, hee doth affirme their felicitie to bee vaine & transitorie, because they are not in the fauour of God, but in the ende they are destroyed as his enemies, 11 And howe miserably that the righteous seemeth to liue in the world, yet his end is peace, & he is in the fauour of God, hee is deliuered from the wicked, and preserued.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

FRet not a thy selfe because of the wicked men, neither be enuious for the euill doers.
2 For they shall soone be b cut downe like the graſſe, & shall wither as § greene herbe.
3 c Trust thou in the Lord and doe good: dwell in the land, and thou shalt be fed assuredly.
4 And delite thy selfe in the Lord, and he a He admoniſheth vs neither to vexe our selues for the prosperous estate of the wicked, neither to desire to be like them to make our state the better. b For Gods iudgement cutteth downe their state in a moment. c To trust in God, and doe according to his will, are sure tokens, that his prouidence will neuer faile vs.

shall shall giue thee thine hearts desire.

d Be not led by thine owne wisedome, but obey God, and he will finish his worke in thee.

5 d Commit thy way vnto the Lord, and trust in him, & he shall bring it to passe.

6 And he shall bring forth thy righteousnesse as the light, and thy e iudgement as the noone day.

e As the hope of the dailight causeth vs not to be offended w the darknes of the night: so ought we patiently to trust that God will cleare our cause and restore vs to our right.

7 Waite patiently vpon the Lord & hope in him: freat not thy self for him f which prospereth in his way: nor for the man that bringeth his enterprises to passe.

f When God suffereth y wicked to prosper, it seemeth to the flesh that he aboureth their doings, Iob 21.7. &c.

8 Cease from anger, and leaue off wrath: freat not thy selfe g also to doe euill.

g Meaning, except he moderate his affections, he shalbe led to doe as they doe.

9 For euill doers shalbe cut off, and they that waite vpon the Lord, they shall inherite the land.

h He correcteth the impatiencie of our nature, which can not abide till the fulnesse of Gods time be come. Matth. 5.5.

10 h Therefore yet a litle while, and the wicked shall not appeare, and thou shalt looke after his place, and he shal not be founde.

i The godly are assured that the power and craft of the wicked shal not preuaile against thē, but fall on their own neckes, & therefore ought patiently to abide Gods time, and in the meane while bewaile their sinnes, and offer vp their teares as a sacrifice of their obedience.

11 But *meeke men shall possesse þ earth, and shall haue their delite in the multitude of peace.

12 i The wicked practiseth against the iust, & gnasheth his teeth against him.

13 But the Lord shall laugh him to scorne: for he seeth, that his day is comming.

14 The wicked haue drawen their sword, and haue bent their bowe, to cast down the poore and needie, and to slay such as be of vpright conuersation.

15 But their sworde shall enter into their owne heart, and their bowes shalbe broken.

k For they are daily fed as with Manna from heauen, & haue sufficient, when the wicked haue neuer ynough, but euer hunger.

16 k A small thing vnto the iust man is better, then great riches to the wicked and mightie.

17 For the armes of the wicked shalbe broken: but the Lord vpholdeth the iust men.

l God knoweth what dangers hang ouer his, and by what meanes to deliuer them.

18 The Lord l knoweth the dayes of vpright men, and their inheritance shalbe perpetuall.

19 They shall not be confounded in the perilous time, and in the dayes of famine they shall haue m ynough.

m For God wil giue them contented mindes, and that which shalbe necessarie.

20 But the wicked shall perishe, and the enemies of the Lord shalbe consumed as the n fat of lambes: euen with the smoke shall they consume away.

n They shall vanishe away suddenly: for they are fedde for the day of slaughter.

21 The wicked borroweth and payeth not againe: but the righteous is mercifull, and o giueth.

o God so furnisheth him with his blessing, that he is able to helpe others.

22 For such as be blessed of God, shall inherit the lande, & they that be cursed of him, shalbe cut off.

23 p The paths of man are directed by the Lord: for he loueth his way.

p God prospereth the faithfull, because they walke in his wayes with an vpright conscience.

24 Though he q fall, he shal not be cast off: for the Lord putteth vnder his hand.

q When God doth exercise his saith with diuers tentations.

25 I haue bene yong, and am olde: yet I saw neuer the righteous forsaken, nor his r seede begging bread.

r Though the iust man die, yet Gods blessings are extended to his posteritie, & though God suffer some iust mā to lacke temporal benefites, yet he recōpenseth him with spirituall treasures.

26 But he is euer mercifull and lendeth, and his seede enioyeth the blessing.

27 Flee from euill and do good, and dwel for euer.

28 For the Lord loueth iudgement, and forsaketh not his Saintes: they shalbe preserued for euermore: but the seede of the wicked shalbe cut off.

29 The righteous men shall inherite the land, and dwell therein s for euer.

s They shal continually be preserued vnder Gods wings, and haue at least inwarde rest.

30 The t mouth of the righteous will speake of wisdome, and his tongue will talke of iudgement.

t These three points are required of the faithfull, that their talke be godly, that Gods Law be in their heart, and that their life be vpright.

31 For the Law of his God is in his heart, and his steppes shall not slide.

32 The wicked watcheth the righteous, and seeketh to slay him.

33 But the Lorde will not leaue him in his hand, nor condemne him, when he is u iudged.

u For though it be sometime so expedient both for Gods glory and their saluation, yet he will approue their cause, & reuenge their wrong.

34 Waite thou on þ Lorde, and keepe his way, and he shall exalt thee, that thou shalt inherite the lande: when the wicked men shall perish, thou shalt see.

35 I haue seene the wicked strong, and spreading himself like a grene bay tree.

36 Yet he x passed away, and loe, he was gone, and I sought him, but he coulde not be founde.

x So that the prosperitie of y wicked is but as a cloude, which vanisheth away in a moment.

37 y Marke the vpright man, and behold the iust: for the end of that man is peace.

38 But the transgressours shalbe destroyed together, and the ende of the wicked shalbe cut off.

y He exhorteth both of Gods mercies, and also of his iudgements.

39 But the z saluation of the righteous men shalbe of the Lorde: he shalbe their strength in the time of trouble.

z He sheweth that the patient hope of the godly is neuer in vaine, but in the ende hath good successe, though for a time God proue them by sundry tentations.

40 For the Lord shall helpe them, and deliuer them: he shall deliuer them from the wicked, and shal saue them, because they trust in him.

PSAL. XXXVIII.

Dauid lying sicke of some grieuous disease, acknowledgeth himselfe to be chastised of the Lord for his sinnes, and therfore praieth God to turne away his wrath. 5 He vttereth the greatnes of his griefe by many wordes & circumstances, as wounded with the arrowes of Gods ire, forsaken of his friendes, euill intreated of his enemies. 22 But in the ende with firme confidence he commendeth his cause to God, and hopeth for speedie helpe at his hand.

1 A Psalme of Dauid for a remembrance.

a To put himself and others in minde of Gods chastisement for sinne.

O Lord, rebuke me not in thine b anger, neither chastise me in thy wrath.

b He desireth not to be exempted from Gods rod, but that he would so moderate his hand, y he might be able to beare it.

2 For thine c arrowes haue light vpon me, and thine hand lieth vpon me.

c Thy sicknes, wherewith thou hast visited me.

3 There

d Dauid acknowledgeth God to be iust in his punishments, because his sinnes had deserued much more.

e He confesseth his sinnes, Gods iustice, and maketh prayer his refuge.

f That rather gaue place to mine owne lusts, then to the will of God.

[a] Or, blacke, as one that is disfigured & consumed with sickenesse.

g This example warneth vs neuer to despaire, be the torment neuer so great: but alwayes to cry vnto God with sure trust for deliverance.

[b] Ebr. runneth about, or, is tossed to and fro: meaning, that he was destitute of all helpe, & enwisfell.

h My sight fayleth me for very sorow.

i Partly for feare and partly for pride they denied all duetie and friendship.

k For I can haue no audience before men, and therefore patiently wayte for the help of God.

l That is, if they see that thou succour me not in time, they wil mocke & triumph, as though thou hadst forsaken me.

3 There is not thing sound in my flesh, because of thine anger: neither is there rest in my bones because of my [d] sinne.

4 For [e] mine iniquities are gone ouer mine head, and as a weyghtie burden they are too heauie for me.

5 My woundes are putrified, and corrupt because of [f] my foolishnes.

6 I am bowed, and crooked very sore: I go [g] mourning all the day.

7 For my reines are full of burning, and there is nothing sound in my flesh.

8 I am weakened and sore broken: I croare for the very griefe of mine heart.

9 Lorde, I powre my whole desire before thee, & my sighing is not hid from thee.

10 Mine heart [a] panteth: my strength faileth me, and the light of mine eyes, euen [b] they are not mine owne.

11 My louers and my friends stand aside from my plague, & my [i] kinsmen stande a farre off.

12 They also, that seeke after my life, lay snares, and they that go about to do me euill, talke wicked things and imagine deceite continually.

13 But I as [k] a deafe man heard not, and am as a dumme man, which openeth not his mouth.

14 Thus am I as a man, that heareth not, and in whose mouth are no reprooues.

[c] Ebr. runneth about, or, is tossed to and fro: meaning, that he was destitute of all helpe, & enwisfell.

15 For on thee, O Lord, do I wayte: thou wilt heare me, my Lord, my God.

16 For I said, Heare me, least they reioyce ouer me: for [l] when my foote slippeth, they extoll themselues against me.

h My sight fayleth me for very sorow.

17 Surely I am readie to [m] halt, and my sorow is euer before me.

18 When I declare my paine, & am sorie for my sinne,

i Partly for feare and partly for pride they denied all duetie and friendship.

19 Then mine [n] enemies are alme & are mightie, and they that hate me wrongfully are many.

20 They also, that reward euill for good, are mine aduersaries, because I followe [o] goodnesse.

k For I can haue no audience before men, and therefore patiently wayte for the help of God.

21 Forsake me not, O Lorde: be not thou farre from me, my God.

22 Haste thee to help me, O my Lord, my [p] saluation.

l That is, if they see that thou succour me not in time, they wil mocke & triumph, as though thou hadst forsaken me.

m I am without hope to recouer my strength.

n In my greatest misery they most reioyce.

o He had rather haue the hatred of all the worlde, then to faile in any part of his duetie to Godwarde.

p Which art the autor of my saluation: and this declareth that he prayed with sure hope of deliuerance.

PSAL. XXXIX.

1 Dauid vttereth with what great griefe and bitternesse of minde he was driuen to these outragious complaynts of his infirmities. 2 For he confesseth that when he had determined silence, that he brast forth yet into words that he would not, through the greatnes of his griefe. 4 Then he rehearseth certaine requests which taste of the infirmitie of man, 8 And mixeth with thē many praiers: but all do shew a minde wonderfully troubled, that it may plainely appeare how he did striue mightily against death and desperation.

¶ To the excellent musician [a] Jeduthun. A Psalme of Dauid.

a This was one of the chiefe singers, 1 Chro. 16. 41.

1 I Thought, [b] I will take heede to my wayes, that I sinne not with my tongue: I will keepe my mouth bridled, while the wicked is in my sight.

b Albeit he had appointed with himself patiently to haue taried gods leasure, yet the vehemencie of his paine caused him to breake his purpose.

2 I was dumme and spake nothing: I kept silence euen from good, [c] and my sorowe was more stirred.

c Though when the wicked ruled, he thought to haue kept silence, yet his zeale caused him to chāge his minde.

3 Mine heart was hote within me, and while I was muling, the fire kindled, & [d] I spake with my tongue, saying, d He confesseth that he grudged against God, cōsidering ȝ greatnesse of his sorowes, and the shortnes of his life.

4 Lord, let me knowe mine ende, and the measure of my dayes, what it is: let me know how long I haue to liue.

e Yet Dauid offended in that he reasoned with God, as though that he were too seuere towarde his weake creature.

5 Behold, thou hast made my dayes as an handebreadth, and mine age as nothing in respect of thee: surely euery man in his best state is altogether [e] vanitie. Selah.

f Make me not a mocking stock to ȝ wicked, or wrap me not vp with the wicked when they are put to shame.

6 Doubtlesse man walketh in a shadow, and disquieteth himselfe in vayne: hee heapeth vp riches, and can not tell who shal gather them.

7 And now Lord, what wait I for? mine hope is euen in thee.

8 Deliuer me from all my trāsgressions, & make me not a rebuke vnto the [f] foolish.

9 I should haue bene dumme, and not haue opened my mouth, because thou diddest it.

10 Take thy plague away from me: for I am cōsumed by ð stroke of thine hand.

11 Whē thou with rebukes doest chastise man for iniquitie, thou as a moth [h] makest his [i] beautie to consume: surely euery man is vanitie. Selah.

g Seeing my troubles came of thy prouidence, I ought to haue endured thē patiently. h Though thine open plagues light not euermore vpon them, yet thy secrete curse continually fretteth them. i The worde signifieth all that he desireth, as health, force, strength, beautie, & in whatsoeuer he hath delight, so that the rod of God taketh away all that is desired in this world.

12 Heare my prayer, O Lord, and hearken vnto my crie: keepe not silence at my teares, for I am a stranger with thee, & a sojourner as all my fathers.

k For his sorow caused him to think ȝ God would destroy him vtterly: whereby we see how hard it is for the very Saints to keepe a measure in their words, when death and despaire assayle them.

13 Stay thine anger from me, that I may recouer my strength, [k] before I go hence and be not.

PSAL. XL.

1 Dauid deliuered from great danger, doth magnifie and praise the grace of God for his deliuerance, & commendeth his prouidence towardes all mankinde. 5 Then doeth he promise to giue himselfe wholly to Gods seruice, and so declareth howe God is truely worshipped. 14 Afterward hee giueth thankes and prayseth God, and and hauing complayned of his enemies, 16 with good courage he calleth for ayde and succour.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

a Though God deferred his help yet he patiently abode til he was heard.

1 I Waited a patiently for the Lorde, and he inclined vnto me, & heard my cry.

b He hath deliuered me from most great dangers.

2 He brought mee also out of the b horrible pitte, out of the myre clay, and set my feete vpon the rocke, and ordred my goings.

c That is, a speciall occasion to praise him: for Gods benefites are so many occasions for vs to praise his Name.

3 And he hath put in my mouth c a new song of praise vnto our God: many shal see it & feare, and shal trust in the Lord.

d To followe their example, which he must needes do, that trusteth not only in the Lord.

4 Blessed is the man that maketh ꝓ Lord his trust, & regardeth d not the proude, nor such as turne aside to lies.

e Dauid goeth frō one kinde of Gods fauour to the contemplation of his prouidence ouer all, & cōfesseth that his counsels towardes vs are farre aboue our capacities: we cā not so much as tell thē in order.

5 e O Lord my God, thou hast made thy wonderfull workes so many, that none can count in order to thee thy thoughts towarde vs: I would declare, & speake of them, but they are mo then I am able to expresse.

6 Sacrifice and offring thou diddest not desire: (for f mine eares hast thou prepared) burnt offring and sinne offring hast thou not required.

g Then sayde I, Lo, I come: for in the rolle of the booke it is written of me,

8 I desired to doe thy good will, O my God: yea, thy law is within mine heart.

9 I haue declared thy righteousnes in the h great Congregation: loe, I will not refraine my lips: O Lord, thou knowest.

10 I haue not hid thy righteousnes within mine heart, but I haue declared thy i trueth and thy saluation: I haue not concealed thy mercie & thy trueth from the great Congregation.

f Thou hast opened mine eares to vnderstand ꝙ spirituall meaning of the sacrifices: and here Dauid esteemeth the ceremonies of the Law nothing in respect of the spirituall seruice.

11 Withdraw not thou thy tender mercy from me, O Lord: let thy mercy and thy trueth alway preserue me.

12 For innumerable troubles haue compassed mee: my sinnes haue taken such holde vpon mee, that I am not able to looke vp: yea, they are moe in number then the heares of mine head: therefore mine heart hath k fayled mee.

g When thou hadest opened mine eares and heart, I was ready to obey thee, being assured that I was written in the booke of thine elect for this end.

13 Let it please thee, O Lorde, to deliuer me: make haste, O Lord, to helpe me.

14 Let them be l confounded and put to shame together, that seeke my soule to destroy it: let them be driuen backward and put to rebuke, that desire mine hurt.

15 Let them be m destroyed for a reuarde of their shame, which saye vnto mee, Aha, aha.

16 Let all them, that seeke thee, reioyce & be glad in thee: and let them, that loue thy saluation, say alway, n The Lord be praysed.

h In the Church assembled in the Sanctuarie.

i Dauid here nōbreth three degrees of our saluation: Gods mercie, whereby he pitieth vs: his righteousnes, which signifieth his continuall protection, & his trueth, whereby appeareth his constant fauour, so that hereof proceedeth our saluation.

k As touching the iudgement of the flesh, I was vtterly destitute of all counsel: yet faith inwardly moued mine heart to praye.

l He desireth that Gods mercie may contend for him against the rage of his enemies.

m Let the same shame, and confusion light vpon them, which they intended to haue brought vpon me.

17 Though I be poore & needie, the Lorde thinketh on mee: thou art mine helper and my deliuerer: my God, make no tarying.

n As the faithful alwayes prayse God for his benefites: so the wicked mocke Gods children in their afflictions.

PSAL. XLI.

Dauid being grieuously afflicted, blesseth them that pitie his case, 9 And complayneth of the treason of his owne friendes and familiars, as came to passe in Iudas, Ioh. 13. 18. After hee feeling the great mercies of God gently chastising him, and not suffering his enemies to triumphe against him, 13 Giueth most hearty thanks vnto God.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

a Not condemning him as accursed, whome God doeth visit, knowing ꝙ there are diuers causes, why God layeth his hand vpon vs: yea, & afterward he restoreth vs.

1 BLessed is hee that a iudgeth wisely of the poore: the Lord shall deliuer him in the time of trouble.

b When for sorow & griefe of mind he casteth himselfe vpon his bed.

2 The Lord will keepe him, and preserue him alive: he shall be blessed vpon the earth, & thou wilt not deliuer him vnto the will of his enemies.

c Thou hast restored him in his sicke bed & sent him comfort.

3 The Lord will strengthen him vpon the b bed of sorow: thou hast turned all his c bed in his sickenes.

d That is, curse me, and cannot haue their cruell hate quenched, but with my shamefull death.

4 Therfore I said, Lord haue mercy vpon me: heale my soule, for I haue sinned against thee.

5 Mine enemies d speake euill of me, saying, When shal he dye, and his name perish?

e For, pretēding to comfort me, he conspireth my death in his heart, and bragged thereof.

6 And if he come to see mee, he speaketh e lies, but his heart heapeth iniquitie within him, & when he commeth forth, he telleth it.

7 All they that hate me, whisper together against me: euen against me do they imagine mine hurt.

f The enemies thought by his sharpe punishments, that God was become his mortall enemie.

8 f A mischiefe is light vpon him, and he that lyeth, shal no more rise.

9 Yea, my g familiar friend, whome I trusted, which did eate of my breade, h hath lifted vp the heele against me.

Ebr. the man of my peace.

g As Dauid felt this falshode, and as it was chiefly accomplished in Christ, Iohn 13. 18. so shal his members continually proue the same.

10 Therefore, O Lorde, haue mercy vpon me, and rayse me vp: so I shall reward them.

h Meaning, either in prosperitie of life, or in the true feare of God against all tentations.

11 By this I knowe that thou fauourest me, because mine enemie doeth not triumph against me.

i Shewing mee euident signes of thy fatherly prouidence.

12 And as for me, thou vpholdest me i in mine integritie, and doest set mee before thy face for euer.

k By this repetition he stirreth vp ꝙ faithfull to prayse God.

13 Blessed be the Lorde GOD of Israel worlde without ende. k So be it, euen so be it.

PSAL. XLII.

The Prophet grieuously complaineth, that being letted by his persecutours, hee could not be present in the Congregation of Gods people, protesting that although hee was separated in body from them, yet his heart was thitherward affectioned. 7 And last of all hee sheweth, that hee was not so farre ouercome with these sorowes and thoughtes, 8 But that he continually put his confidence in the Lord.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme to giue instruction, [a] committed to the sonnes of Korah.

1 AS the hart braieth for the riuers of water, so [b] panteth my soule after thee, O God.

2 My soule thirsteth for God, euen for the liuing God: when shal I come and appeare before the presence of God?

3 [c] My teares haue bene my meate day and night, while they daily say vnto me, Where is thy God?

4 When I remembred [d] these things, I powred out my very heart, because I had gone with the multitude, and ledde them into the House of God with the voyce of singing, and praise, as a multitude that keepeth a feast.

5 Why art thou cast downe, my soule, and vnquiet within me? [e] waite on God: for I will yet giue him thankes for the helpe of his presence.

6 My God, my soule is cast downe within me, [f] because I remember thee, from the land of Jorden, and Hermonim, and from the mount Mizar.

7 One [g] deepe calleth another deepe by the noyse of thy water spoutes: all thy waues and thy floodes are gone ouer me.

8 The Lord [h] wil graunt his louing kindnes in the day, and in the night shall I sing of him, euen a prayer vnto the God of my life.

9 I wil say vnto God, which is my rocke, Why hast thou forgotten me? why goe I mourning, when the enemie oppresseth me?

10 My [i] bones are cut asunder, while mine enemies reproche me, saying daily vnto me, Where is thy God?

11 [k] Why art thou cast downe, my soule? and why art thou disquieted within me? waite on God: for I wil yet giue him thankes: he is my present helpe, and my God.

a As a treasure to be kept of thē which were of the nomber of the Leuites.

b By these similitudes of thirst and panting he sheweth his feruent desire to serue God in his Temple.

c As others take pleasure in eating and drinking, so he was altogether giuē to weeping.

d That is, how I led the people to serue thee in thy Tabernacle, and now seeing my contrarie estate, I die for sorowe.

e Though he sustained grieuous assaultes of the flesh to cast him into despaire, yet his faith grounded on Gods accustomed mercies, getteth the victorie.

f That is, when I remember thee in this land of my banishment among the mountaines.

g Afflictiōs came so thicke vpon me, that I felt my selfe as ouerwhelmed: whereby he sheweth there is no ende of our miserie, till God be pacified, and send remedie.

h He assureth himselfe of Gods helpe in time to come.

i That is, I am most grieuously tormented.

k This repetition doth declare that Dauid did not ouercome at once: to teache vs to be constant, for as much as God will certainely deliuer his.

PSAL. XLIII.

Hee prayeth to bee deliuered from them which conspire against him, that he might ioifully praise God in his holy congregation.

1 JUdge [a] me, O God, and defende my cause against the vnmerciful [b] people: deliuer me from the deceitfull & wicked man.

2 For thou art the God of my strength: why hast thou put me away? why goe I so mourning, when the enemie oppresseth me?

3 Send thy [c] light & thy trueth: let them leade me: let them bring me vnto thine holy Mountaine & to thy Tabernacles.

4 Then [d] will I goe vnto the altar of God, euen vnto the God of my ioye and gladnesse: and vpon the harpe will I giue thankes vnto thee, O God, my God.

5 Why art thou cast downe, my soule? & why art thou disquieted within me? [e] Waite on God: for I will yet giue him thanks, he is my present helpe, and my God.

a He desireth God to vndertake his cause against the enemies, but chiefly that he woulde restore him to the Tabernacle.

b That is, the cruel companie of mine enemies.

c To wit, thy fauour, which appeareth by the performance of thy promises.

d He promiseth to offer a solemn sacrifice of thāks giuing in token of his great deliuerance.

e Whereby he admonisheth the faithfull not to relent, but constantly to waite on the Lorde, though their troubles be long and great.

PSAL. XLIIII.

The faithfull remember the great mercie of God towarde his people. 9 After, they complaine, because they feele it no more. 17 Also they alledge the couenant made with Abraham, for the keeping whereof they shewe what grieuous things they suffred. 23 Finally they pray vnto God not to contemne their affliction, seing the same redoundeth to the contempt of his honour.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah.

1 WE haue heard with our [a] eares, O God: our fathers haue tolde vs the workes, that thou hast done in their dayes, in the olde time:

2 How thou hast driuen out the [b] heathen with thine hande, and planted [c] them: howe thou hast destroyed the [d] people, & caused [e] them to growe.

3 For they inherited not the lande by their own sword, neither did their own arme saue them: but thy right hand, & thine arme and the light of thy countenance, because thou didest [f] fauour them.

4 Thou art my King, O God: send helpe vnto [g] Jaakob.

5 [h] Though thee haue we thrust backe our aduersaries: by thy Name haue we troden downe them that rose vp against vs.

6 For I do not trust in my bowe, neither can my sword saue me.

7 But thou hast saued vs from our aduersaries, and hast put them to confusion that hate vs.

8 Therefore will we praise God continually, and will confesse thy Name for euer. Selah.

a This Psalme seemeth to haue bene made by some excellent Prophete for the vse of the people, when the Church was in extreme miserie, eyther at their returne frō Babylon, or vnder Antiochus, or in such like affliction.

b That is, the Canaanites.

c To wit, our fathers.

d Of Canaan.

e That is, our fathers.

f Gods free mercie and loue is the onely fountaine and beginning of the Church, Deut. 4. 37.

g Because thou art our King, therefore deliuer thy people from their miserie.

h Because they and their forefathers made both one Church, they applie that to themselues, which before they did attribute to their fathers.

i As they confessed before, that their strength came of God, so nowe they acknowledge that this affliction came by his iust iudgement.

9 But now thou art farre off, and puttest vs to i confusion, & goest not forth with our armies.

10 Thou makest vs to turne backe from the aduersarie, & they, which hate vs, spoile k for themselues.

11 * Thou giuest vs k as sheepe to be eaten, and doest scatter vs among the nations.

*Or, at their pleasure.

12 Thou sellest thy people l without gain, and doest not encrease their price.

Rom.8.36.

13 Thou makest vs a reproche to our neighbours, a iest and a laughing stock to them that are rounde about vs.

k Knowing God to be autor of this calamitie, they murmure not, but seeke remedie at his hands, who woũded them.

14 Thou makest vs a prouerbe among the nations, and a nodding of the head among the people.

15 My m confusion is daily before me, and the shame of my face hath couered me, l As slaues which are solde for a lowe price, neither lookest thou for him y offereth most, but takest the first chapman.

16 For the voyce of the slaunderer & reuiler, for the enemie and n auenger.

17 All this is come vpon vs, yet doe wee not o forget thee, neither deale we falsely concerning thy couenant.

m I dare not lift vp mine head for shame.

18 Our heart is not turned backe: neither our steps gone out of thy paths, 19 Albeit thou hast smitten vs downe into the place of p dragons, and couered vs with the shadowe of death.

n Meaning, the proud and cruell tyrant.

20 If we haue forgotten y Name of our God, and holden vp our handes to a p strange god, 21 Shall not God q searche this out? for he knoweth the secrets of the heart.

o They boast not of their vertues, but declare that they rest vp on God in the middes of their afflictions: who punished not now their sins, but by hard afflictions called them to the consideration of the heauenly ioyes.

22 Surely for thy sake r are we slaine continually, and are counted as sheepe for the slaughter.

Or, whales: meaning the bottomles seas of tentations here we se the power of faith, which can bee ouercome by no perils.

23 Vp, why sleepest thou, O Lord? awake, be not farre off for euer.

24 Wherefore hidest thou thy face? and forgettest our miserie & our affliction?

p They shewe that they honoured God aright because they trusted in him alone.

25 For our soule is s beaten downe vnto the dust: our belly cleaueth vnto the ground.

q They take God to witnesse that they were vpright to himwarde.

26 Rise vp for our succour, and redeeme vs for thy t mercies sake.

r The faithfull make this their comfort, that the wicked punish them not for their sinnes, but for Gods cause, Mat.5.10. 1.Pet.4.14.

s There is no hope of recouerie, except thou put to thine hande, and rayse vs vp.

t Which is the onely and sufficient ransome to deliuer both body and soule from all kinde of slauery and miserie.

PSAL. XLV.

1 The maiestie of Salomon, his honour, strength, beautie, riches and power are praised, and also his mariage with the Egyptian being an heathen woman is blessed, 10 If that she can renounce her people & the loue of her countrey, and giue her self wholy to her husband. Vnder the which figure the wonderfull maiestie and increase of the kingdome of Christ & the Church his spouse now taken of the Gentiles is described.

¶ To him that excelleth on a Shoshannim a song of b loue to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah.

a This was a certaine tune or an instrument.

1 MY heart will vtter forth a good matter: I will intreate in my workes of the king: my tongue is as the penne of a swift writer.

b Of that perfit loue that ought to be betweene the husband and the wife.

2 Thou art c fairer then the children of men: grace is powred in thy lippes, because God hath blessed thee for euer.

c Salomõs beautie & eloquence to winne fauour with his people, & his power to ouercome his enemies, is here described.

3 Gird thy sword vpon thy thigh, O most mightie, to wit, thy worthip & thy glory,

4 And prosper with thy glory: d ride vpon the worde of trueth and of meekenes and of righteousnesse: so thy right hand shall teache thee terrible things.

d He alludeth to them that ride in chariots in their triumphes, shewing that the quiet state of a kingdome standeth in trueth, meekenes & iustice, not in worldly pompe and vanitie.

5 Thine arrowes are sharpe to pearce the heart of the Kinges enemies: therefore the people shall fall vnder thee.

6 Thy e throne, O God, is for euer and euer: the scepter of thy kingdome is a scepter of righteousnesse.

e Vnder this figure of this kingdome of iustice is set forth the euerlasting Kingdome of Christ.

7 Thou louest righteousnesse, and hatest wickednes, because God, euen thy God hath f anointed thee with the oyle of gladnes aboue thy felowes.

f Hath established thy kingdome as the figure of Christ, which is y peace and ioy of the Church.

8 All thy garments smell of myrrhe and aloes, and cassia, when thou commest out of the puyie palaces, s where they haue made thee glad.

g In the which palace y people made thee ioyful to see them giue thankes and reioyce for thee.

9 Kinges daughters were among thine honorable wiues: vpon thy right hande did stande the h Queene in a vesture of golde of Ophir.

h Though he had many kings daughters amog his wines, yet he loued Pharaohs daughter best.

10 i Hearken, O daughter, and consider, and incline thine eare: forget also thine owne people and thy fathers house.

i Vnder the figure of Pharaohs daughter hee sheweth that the church must cast off all carnall affections to obey Christ only.

11 So shall the King haue pleasure in thy beautie: for he is thy Lorde, and reuerence thou him.

12 And the k daughter of l Tyrus with the riche of the people shall do homage before thy face with presents.

k He signifieth y diuers of them that be riche, shalbe benefactours to the Church, albeit they giue not perfit obedience to the Gospel. l Or, Zor.

13 The Kinges daughter is all glorious m within: her clothing is of broydred golde.

14 She shall be brought vnto the King in rapment of needle worke: the virgins that followe after her, and her companions shalbe brought vnto thee.

1 Thereis nothing fained, nor hypocritical, but she is glorious both within and without: and how beit the Church hath not at all times this outward glory, y fault is to be imputed only to their owne ingratitude.

15 With ioy and gladnesse shall they be brought, and shall enter into the Kings palace.

16 In stead of thy fathers shal thy n children be: thou shalt make them princes o through all the earth.

m They shall haue greater graces then their fathers.

17 I will make thy p Name to be remembred through all generations: therefore shall the people giue thankes vnto thee world without ende.

n He signifieth the great compasse of Christs kingdom, which shalbe sufficient to enriche all his members.

o This must onely be referred to Christ, and not to Salomon.

A ſong of triumph or thankeſgiuing for the deliuerance of Ieruſalem, after Senacherib with his armie was driuen away, or ſome other like ſudden & marueilous deliuerance by the mightie hande of God. 8 Whereby the Prophet commēding this great beneſite, doth exhort the faithful to giue themſelues wholly into the hande of God, doubting nothing but that vnder his protection they ſhalbe ſafe againſt all the aſſaults of their enemies, becauſe this is his delite to aſſwage the rage of the wicked, when they are moſt buſie againſt the iuſt.

9 We wayte for thy louing kindneſſe, O God, in the middes of thy Temple.
10 O God, according vnto thy Name, ſo is thy prayſe vnto the [i] worldes ende: thy right hand is full of righteouſnes.
11 Let [k] mount Sion reioyce, & the daughters of Iudah be glad, becauſe of thy iudgements.
12 [l] Compaſſe about Sion, & go rounde about it: and tell the towres thereof.
13 Marke wel the wal thereof, behold her towres, that ye may tel your poſteritie.
14 For this God is our God for euer and euer: hee ſhall be our guyde vnto the death.

PSAL. XLIX.

1 The holy Ghoſt calleth all men to the conſideration of mans life, 7 Shewing them not to be moſt bleſſed, that are moſt wealthie, and therefore not to be feared: but contrariwiſe he liſteth vp our mindes to conſider how all things are ruled by Gods prouidence: 14 Who as he iudgeth theſe worldly miſers to euerlaſting tormentes, 15 So doth he preſerue his, & will reward them in the daye of the reſurrection, 2. Theſſ. 1.6.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Pſalme committed to the ſonnes of Korah.

a He wil intreat how God gouerneth the worlde by his prouidēce which can not be perceyued by the iudgement of the fleſh.
b Though wickednes reigne & enemies rage, ſeeing God will execute his iudgements againſt the wicked in time conuenient.
c To truſt in riches is meere madnes, ſeeing they can neither reſtore life nor prolong it.
d That is, ſo rare, or not to be found, as prophecie was precious in the dayes of Eli, 1. Sam. 3.1.

1 HEare [a] this, all ye people: giue eare, all ye that dwell in the world,
2 As wel lowe as hie, both rich and poore.
3 My mouth ſhall ſpeake of wiſedome, and the meditation of mine heart is of knowledge.
4 I wil incline mine eare to a parable, & vtter my graue matter vpon the harpe.
5 Wherefore ſhould I [b] feare in the euill dayes, when iniquitie ſhall compaſſe me about, as at mine heeles?
6 They truſt in their [c] goods, & boaſt themſelues in the multitude of their riches.
7 Yet a man can by no meanes redeeme his brother: he can not giue his ranſome to God,
8 (For [d] precious is the redēption of their ſoules, [e] and the continuance for euer)
9 That he may liue ſtill for euer, and not ſee the graue.
10 For he ſeeth that wiſe men [f] die, & alſo that the ignorant and fooliſh periſh, and leaue their riches for [g] others.
11 Yet they thinke, their houſes, and their habitations ſhall continue for euer, euen from generation to generation, and [h] call their lands by their names.
12 But man ſhal not cōtinue in honour: he is like the [i] beaſts that dye.
13 This their waye vttereth their foolishnes: yet their poſteritie [k] delite in their talke. Selah.
14 [l] Like ſheepe they lie in graue: [m] death deuoureth them, and the righteous ſhal haue dominion ouer them in the [n] morning: for their beautie ſhal conſume, whē they ſhal go from their houſe to graue.
15 But God ſhall deliuer my ſoule from the power of the graue: [o] for he will receiue me. Selah.
16 Be not thou afraid when one is made riche, and when the gloyr of his houſe is increaſed.
17 [p] For he ſhal take nothing away when he dieth, neither ſhal his pompe deſcend after him.
18 For while he liued, [q] he reioyced himſelfe: and [r] men will prayſe thee, when thou makeſt much of thy ſelfe.
19 [s] He ſhal enter into the generation of his fathers, [t] and they ſhall not liue for euer.
20 Man is in honour, & vnderſtandeth not: he is like to beaſts that periſh.

e Meaning, it is impoſſible to liue for euer: alſo that life & death are onely in Gods hands. f In that that death maketh no difference betwene ſ perſons. g That is, not to their children, but to ſtrangers. Yet the wicked profite not by theſe examples, but ſtill dreame an immortalitie in earth.

[a] Or, labour that their name may be famous in earth.
h As touching the death of the body.
i They ſpeake and do the ſame thing that their fathers did.
k As ſheepe are gathered into the folde, ſo ſhall they be brought to the graue.
l Becauſe they haue no part of life euerlaſting.
m Chriſtes coming is as the morning, when the elect ſhall reigne w Chriſt their head ouer the wicked.
[n] Or, becauſe he hath receiued me. Iob. 27.19. 1. Sam. 6.7.

[o] Ebr. he bleſſed his ſoule. n The flatterers prayſe them that liue in delights & pleaſures. [p] Or, his ſoule. o And not paſſe ſ terme appoynted for life. p both they & their fathers ſhal liue here but a while, and at length dye for euer. q Hee condemneth mans ingratitude, who hauing receiued excellent giftes of God, abuſeth them like a beaſt to his owne condemnation.

1 Becauſe the Church is alway full of hypocrites, 8 Which do imagine that God wil be worſhipped with outwarde ceremonies onely, without the heart: & eſpecially the Iewes were of this opinion, becauſe of their figures & ceremonies of the law, thinking that their ſacrifices were ſufficient, 21 Therefore the Prophet doth reproue this groſſe errour, & pronounceth the Name of God to be blaſphemed, where holines is ſet in ceremonies. 23 For he declareth the worſhip of God to be ſpirituall, whereof are two principall partes, inuocation, and thankeſgiuing.

A Pſalme of [a] Aſaph.

1 THe God of gods, euen the Lord hath ſpoken and called the [b] earth from the riſing vp of the ſunne vnto the going downe thereof.
2 Out of Sion, which is the [c] perfection of beautie, hath God ſhined.
3 Our God ſhal come and ſhall not keepe ſilence: [d] a fire ſhall deuour before him, and a mightie tempeſt ſhall be moued round about him.

a Who was either the autor, or a chiefe ſinger, to whome it was committed.
b To pleade againſt his diſſembling people before heauen and earth.
c Becauſe God had choſen it to haue his Name there called vpon, & alſo his image ſtined there in the doctrine of the lawe.
d As when God gaue his Lawe in mount Sinai, he appeared terrible with thunder and tempeſt, ſo wil he appeare terrible to take a count for the keeping thereof.

e As witnesses against the hypocrites.
f God in respect of his elect, calleth the whole body holy, Saints and his people.
g Which should know that sacrifices are seales of the couenant betwene God & his people, and not set religion therein.
h For I passe not for sacrifices, except the true vse be there, which is to confirme your faith in my promises.
i Though hee did delite in sacrifice, yet had he no neede of mans help therunto.
k Though mans life for the infirmitie thereof hath neede of foode, yet God, whose life quickneth all the world, hath no neede of such meanes.
l Shew thy selfe mindful of Gods benefites by thankesgiuing.
m Why doest thou faine to be of my people & talkest of my couenant, seeing thou art but an hypocrite?
n And to liue according to my worde.
o He sheweth what are the fruites of them that contemne Gods word.

4 He shall call the heauen aboue, & ° the earth to iudge his people.
5 Gather my ᵉ saintes together vnto mee, those that make a couenant with mee with ᵍ sacrifice.
6 And the heauens shal declare his righteousnesse: for God is Iudge himselfe. Selah.
7 Heare, O my people, & I will speake: heare, O Israel, and I will testifie vnto thee: for I am God, euen thy God.
8 I wil not ʰ reproue thee for thy sacrifices, or thy burnt offrings, that haue not bene continually before me.
9 I will take no bullocke out of thine house, nor goates out of thy folds.
10 ⁱ For all the beastes of the forest are mine, and the beastes on a thousande mountaines.
11 I knowe all the foules on the mountaines: and the wilde beasts of the field are mine.
12 If I be hungry, I wil not tell thee: for the worlde is mine, & all that therein is.
13 ᵏ Wil I eat the fleshe of bulles? or drinke the blood of goates?
14 Offer vnto God praise, and ˡ pay thy vowes vnto the most High.
15 And call vpon mee in the day of trouble: so wil I deliuer thee, and thou shalt glorifie me.
16 But vnto ᵖ wicked said God, ᵐ What hast thou to do to declare mine ordinances, that thou shouldest take my couenant in thy mouth, 17 Seeing thou hatest ⁿ to be reformed, and hast cast my words behinde thee?
18 For when thou sawest a theefe, ° thou runnest with him, & thou art partaker with the aduulterers.
19 Thou giuest thy mouth to euill, and with thy tongue thou forgest deceit.
20 Thou ᵠ sittest, and speakest against thy brother, and slaunderest thy mothers sonne.
21 These things hast thou done, & I held my tongue: therefore thou thoughtest that I was like thee: but I will reproue thee, and ʳ set them in order before thee.
22 Oh consider this, ye that forget God, least I teare you in pieces, and there be none that can deliuer you.
23 Whe ᵖ offereth ˢ praise, shal glorifie me: & to him, that ᵗ disposeth his way aright, will I ᵗ shew the saluation of God.

p He noteth the cruelties of hypocrites, which spare not in their talke or iudgement their owne mothers sonne.
q I will write all thy wicked deedes in a rolle, and make thee to reade and acknowledge them whether thou wilt or no.

1 When Dauid was rebuked by the Prophet Nathan, for his great offences, he did not only acknowledge the same to God with protestation of his natural corruption & iniquitie, but also left a memoriall thereof to his posteritie. 7 Therefore first he desireth God to forgiue his sinnes, 10 And to renue in him his holy Spirite, 13 With promesse that he will not be vnmindeful of those great graces. 18 Finally fearing lest God would punishe the whole Church for his faults, he requireth that he would rather increase his graces towards the same.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid, when the Prophet Nathan ᵃ came vnto him, after he had gone in to Bath-sheba.

1 HAue mercy vpon me, O God, ᵇ according to thy louing kindnes: according to ᵖ multitude of thy compassions put away mine iniquities.
2 Wash me ᶜ throughly from mine iniquitie, and cleanse me from my sinne.
3 For I ᵈ know mine iniquities, and my sinne is euer before me.
4 Against thee, against thee only haue I sinned, and done euill in thy sight, that thou mayest be iust when thou ᵉ speakest, and pure when thou iudgest.
5 Behold, I was borne in iniquitie, and in sinne hath my mother conceiued me.
6 Beholde, thou ᶠ louest trueth in the inward affections: therefore hast thou taught mee wisedome in the secrete of mine heart.
7 Purge me with ᵍ hyssope, and I shal be cleane: washe me, and I shalbe whiter then snowe.
8 Make me to heare ʰ ioy and gladnesse, that the ⁱ bones, which thou hast broken, may reioyce.
9 Hide thy face from my sinnes, and put away all mine iniquities.
10 ᵏ Create in me a cleane heart, O God, and renue a right spirit within me.
11 Cast me not away from thy presence, & take not thine holy Spirit from me.
12 Restore to me the ioy of thy saluation, and stablish me with thy ˡ free Spirit.
13 Then shal I teach thy ᵐ waies vnto the wicked, and sinners shall be conuerted vnto thee.
14 Deliuer me from ⁿ blood, O God, which art the God of my saluation, and my tongue shall sing ioyfully of thy righteousnes.
15 ° Open thou my lips, O Lord, and my mouth shall shew forth thy praise.
16 For thou desirest no sacrifice, though I would giue it: thou delitest not in burnt offrung.

a To reproue him because hee had committed so horrible sins, and lien in the same without repentance more then a whole yere.
b As his sinnes were manifold and great, so he requireth that God would giue him the feeling of his excellent and aboundant mercies.
c My sinnes sticke so fast in me, that I haue neede of some singular kinde of washing.
d My conscience accuseth me, so that I can haue no rest, till I be reconciled.
e When thou giuest sentence against sinners, they must needs confesse thee to be iust & themselues sinners.
f He confesseth that God, who loueth purenes of heart, may iustly destroy man, who of nature is a sinner, much more him whome he had instructed in his heauenly wisdome. Luk. 12. 6.
g He meaneth Gods comfortable mercies towardes repentant sinners.
h By the bones hee vnderstandeth all strength of soule and bodie, which by cares & mourning are consumed.
i He confesseth that when Gods Spirite is colde in vs, to haue it againe renued is as a newe creation.
k Which may assure mee that I am drawen out of the slauerie of sinne.
l He promiseth to indeuour that others by his example may turne to God.
m From the murder of Vriah, and the others that were slaine with him, 2. Sam. 11. 17.
n By giuing mee occasion to praise thee, when thou shalt forgiue my sinnes.

o Which is a wounding of the heart, proceding of faith, which seeketh vnto God for mercie.

17 The sacrifices of God are a o contrite spirit: a contrite and a broken heart, O God, thou wilt not despise.

18 Be fauourable vnto p Sion for thy good pleasure: builde the walles of Jerusalem.

19 Then shalt thou accept the sacrifices of righteousnes, euen the burnt offring and oblation: then shal they offer calues vpon thine altar.

p He prayeth for the whole Church, because through his sinne it was in danger of Gods iudgement. q That is, iust and lawful, applied to their right end, which is the exercise of faith and repentance.

Dauid describeth the arrogant tyrannie of his aduersary Doeg: who by false surmises caused Ahimelech with the rest of the Priests to be slaine. 5 Dauid prophecieth his destruction, 6 And encourageth the faithfull to put their confidence in God, whose iudgements are most sharpe against his aduersaries. 9 And finally he rendreth thankes to God for his deliuerance. In this Psalme is liuely set forth the kingdome of Antichrist.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid to giue instruction. When Doeg the Edomite came and shewed Saul, and sayd to him, Dauid is come to the house of Ahimelech.

a O Doeg, which hast credit with the tyrant Saul, & hast power to murther the Saints of God.

1 WHy boastest thou thy selfe in thy wickednesse, O a man of power? the louing kindnes of God indureth daily.

b Thy malice moueth thee by craftie flatteries & lies to accuse and destroy the innocents.

2 Thy tongue imagineth b mischiefe, & is like a sharp rasor, p cutteth deceitfully.

3 Thou doest loue euill more then good, & lies, more then to speake the "trueth. Selah.

" Eb. righteousnes.

c Though God forbeare for a time, yet at length he will recompense thy falsehoode.

4 Thou louest all wordes that may destroy, O deceitfull tongue!

d Albeit thou seeme to be neuer so sure setled.

5 Do shall God c destroy thee for euer: he shal take thee and pluck thee out of thy tabernacle, & d roote thee out of the land of the liuing. Selah.

e For the eyes of the reprobate are shut vp at gods iudgemẽts.

6 The e righteous also shall see it, f and feare, and shall laugh at him, saying,

f With ioyfull reuerence, seeing that hee taketh their part against the wicked.

7 Behold the man p tooke not God for his strength, but trusted vnto the multitude of his riches, & put his strength q in his malice.

q Or, in his substance.

8 But I shalbe like a g greene olme tree in the house of God: for I trusted in the mercy of God for euer and euer.

g He reioyceth to haue a place among the seruants of God, that he may grow in y knowledge of godlines.

9 I will alwap praise thee, for that thou hast done h this, and I will r hope in thy Name, because it is good before thy Saints.

h Executed this vengeance. r Or, waite vpon thy grace & promesse.

1 THe foole hath sayd in his heart, There is b no God, they haue corrupted and done abominable wickednesse: there is none that doeth good.

b Whereas no regard is had of honestie or diuine nor of vice, there the Prophet pronounceth that the people haue no God.

2 God looked downe from heauen vpon the children of men, to see if there were any that would vnderstand, and c seeke God.

c Whereby he condemneth all knowledge and vnderstanding,

3 *Euery one is gone backe: they are altogether corrupt: there is none that doeth good, no not one.

that tẽdeth not to seeke God.

4 Do not d workers of iniquitie know that they eate vp my people as they eate bread? they call not vpon God.

Rom. 3. 10.

d Dauid pronounceth Gods vengeance against cruel gouerners, who hauing charge to defend & preserue Gods people, do most cruelly deuour them.

5 There they were afraid for feare, where no e feare was: for God hath scattered the f bones of him that besieged thee: thou hast put them to confusion, because God hath cast them off.

e When they thought there was none occasion to feare, the sudden vengeance of God lighted vpon them. f Be the enemies power neuer so great, nor the danger so feareful, yet God deliuereth his in due time.

6 Oh giue saluation vnto Israel out of Sion: when God turneth the captiuitie of his people, then Iaakob shall reioyce, and Israel shalbe glad.

8 Awake my i tongue, awake viole and harpe: I will awake early.

9 I will praise thee, O Lorde, among the people, and I wil sing vnto thee among the nations.

10 For thy mercy is great vnto the heauens, and thy trueth vnto the k cloudes.

11 Exalt thy selfe, O God, aboue the heauens, and let thy glory be vpon all the earth.

a This was eyther the beginning of a certaine song, or the wordes which Dauid vttered when he stayed his affection. 1 Sam. 24. 4.

* Or, dwell most safely.

b He compareth the afflictions, which God layeth vpō his children, to a storme that commeth and goeth.

c Who leaueth not his workes begun vnperfite.

d He would rather deliuer me by a miracle, then § I should be ouercome.

e He meaneth their calumnies and false reportes.

f Suffer mee not to be destroyed to the contempt of thy Name.

g For very feare, seeing the great dangers on all sides.

h That is, wholy bent to giue thee praise for my deliuerance. i Hee sheweth that both his heart shall praise God, and his tongue shall confesse him, and also that he will vse other meanes to prouoke himselfe forward to the same. k Thy mercies do not only appertaine to the Iewes, but also to the Gentiles.

PSAL. LVIII.

Hee describeth the malice of his enemies, the flatterers of Saul, who both secretly and openly sought his destruction, from whome hee appealeth to Gods iudgement,

10 Shewing that the iust shall reioyce, when they see the punishment of the wicked to the glory of God.

¶ To him that excelleth. Destroy not. A Psalme of Dauid on Michtam.

1 Is it true? O a Congregation, speake ye iustly? O sonnes of men, iudge ye vprightly?

2 Yea, rather ye imagine mischiefe in your heart: b your handes execute crueltie vpon the earth.

3 The wicked c are strangers from the wombe: euen from the belly haue they erred, and speake lies.

4 Their poyson is euen like the poyson of a serpent: like the deafe d adder that stoppeth his eare.

5 Which heareth not the voyce of the inchanter, though hee be most expert in charming.

6 Breake their e teeth, O God, in their mouthes: breake the iawes of the young lions, O Lord.

7 Let them f melt like g waters, let them passe away: when hee shooteth his arrowes, let them be as broken.

8 Let him consume like a snaile that melteth, and like the vntimely fruit of a woman, that hath not seene the sunne.

9 § As raw flesh before your pots feele the fire of thornes: so let him carp them away as in a whirlewinde in his wrath.

10 The righteous shal h reioyce when he seeth the vengeance: he shall wash his feete in the i blood of the wicked.

11 And men shall say, k Verely there is fruit for the righteous: doubtles there is a God that iudgeth in the earth.

a Ye counsellers of Saul, who vnder pretence of consulting for the common wealth, cōspire my death being an innocent.

b Ye are not ashamed to execute that crueltie publikely, which ye haue imagined in your heartes.

c That is, enemies to the people of God, euen from their birth.

d They passe in malice, and subtiltie the crafty serpent, which could preserue himselfe by stopping his eare from the inchanter.

e Take away all occasions and meanes, whereby they hurt.

f Considering Gods diuine power hee sheweth that God in a moment can destroy their force whereof they bragge. g As flesh is taken raw out of the pot before the water seethe: so he desireth God to destroy their enterprises before they bring them to passe. h With a pure affection. i Their punishment and slaughter shall be so great. k Seeing God gouerneth all by his prouidence, he must needes put difference betweene the godly and the wicked.

PSAL. LIX.

Dauid being in great danger of Saul, who sent to slay him in his bed, prayeth vnto God: 3 Declareth his innocencie, and their furie, 5 Desiring God to destroy all those that sinne of malicious wickednes. 11 Whome though hee keepe aliue for a time to exercise his people, yet in the ende hee will consume them in his wrath, 13 That hee may be knowen to be the God of Iaakob to the ende of the world. 16 For this hee singeth praises to God, assured of his mercies.

¶ To him that excelleth. Destroy not. A Psalme of Dauid on a Michtam. * When Saul sent and they did watch the house to kill him.

1 O My God, b deliuer me from mine enemies: defende mee from them that rise vp against me.

a Read Psal. 16. 1 Sam. 19. 11.

b Though his enemies were euen at hand to destroy him, yet hee assured himselfe that God had wayes ynow in his hand to deliuer him.

2 Deli-

e For I am innocent to them-wardes, & haue not offended them.
d Seing it appertaineth to Gods iudgements to punish the wicked, hee desireth God to execute his vengeance on the reprobate, who maliciously persecute his Church.
e He compareth their cruelties to hungrie dogs, shewing that they are neuer wearie in doing euill.
f They boast openly of their wicked deuices, and euery word is as a sworde: for they neither feare God, nor are ashamed of men.
g Though Saul haue neuer so great power, yet I know y thou dost bridle him: therefore will I patiently hope on thee.
h Hee will not faile to succour me, when neede requireth.
i Altogether, but by litle and litle, that y people seeing often-times thy iudgements, may be mindfull of thee.
k That in their miserie & shame they may be as glasses & examples of Gods vengeance. l When thy time shal come, and when they haue sufficiently serued for an example of thy vengeance vnto other. m He mocketh at their vaine enterprises, being assured that they shall not bring their purpose to passe. n Which didest vse the policie of a weake woman to confound y enemies strength, as 1.Sam.19.12. o Confessing himselfe to be void of all vertue and strength, he attributeth the whole to God.

2 Deliuer mee from the wicked doers, and saue me from the bloodie men.
3 For loe, they haue laide waite for my soule: the mightie men are gathered against mee, not for mine c offence, nor for my sinne, O Lord.
4 They runne and prepare themselues without a fault on my part: arise therfore to assist me, and behold.
5 Euen thou, O Lord God of hostes, O God of Israel awake to visit al the heathen, and be not d mercifull vnto al that transgresse maliciously. Selah.
6 They go to and fro in þ euening: they barke like e dogs, and goe about þ citie.
7 Beholde, they f brag in their talke, and swords are in their lippes: for Who, say they, doeth heare?
8 But thou, O Lord, shalt haue them in derision, and thou shalt laugh at all the heathen.
9 g Hee is strong: but I will waite vpon thee: for God is my defence.
10 My mercifull God will h preuent me: God will let me see my desire vpon mine enemies.
11 Slay them i not, least my people forget it: but scatter them abroade by thy power, and put them downe, O Lord our shielde, 12 For the sinne of their mouth, and the wordes of their lippes: and let them be k taken in their pride, euen for their periurie and lies, that they speake.
13 l Consume them in thy wrath: consume them that they be no more: and let them know that God ruleth in Iaakob, euen vnto the endes of the world. Selah.
14 And in the euening they m shall goe to and fro, & barke like dogs, and go about the citie.
15 They shal runne here & there for meat: & surely they shal not be satisfied, though they tarie all night.
16 But I will sing of thy n power, & will praise thy mercie in the morning: for thou hast bene my defence and refuge in the day of my trouble.
17 Vnto thee, O my o Strength, will I sing: for God is my defence, & my mercifull God.

a These were certaine songs, after the note whereof this psalme was sung.

PSAL. LX.

Dauid being now King ouer Iudah and hauing had manie victories, sheweth by euident signes, that God elected him King, assuring the people that God will prosper them, if they approue the same. 11 After he praieth vnto God to finish that that he hath begonne.

¶ To him that excelleth vpon a Shushan Eduth, or Michtam. A Psalme of Dauid to teach. b When he fought against Aram Naharaim, & against c Aram b Zobah, when Ioab returned and slewe twelue thousande Edomites in the salt valley.

1 O God, thou hast cast vs out, thou hast d scattered vs, thou hast bene angrie, turne againe vnto vs.
2 Thou hast made the lande to tremble, and hast made it to e gape: heale the breaches thereof, for it is shaken.
3 Thou hast f shewed thy people heauie things: thou hast made vs to drinke the wine of giddinesse.
4 But nowe thou hast giuen g a banner to them that feare thee, that it may be displayed because of thy trueth. Selah.
5 That thy beloued may bee deliuered, helpe with thy right hand & heare me.
6 God hath spoken in his h holines: therefore I will reioyce: I shall deuide Shechem, & measure the valley of Succoth.
7 Gilead shalbe mine, & Manasseh shalbe mine: Ephraim also shalbe þ i strength of mine head: k Iudah is my lawgiuer.
8 Moab shalbe my l wash pot: ouer Edom will I cast out my shoe: m Palestina shewe thy selfe ioyfull for me.
9 Who will leade mee into the n strong citie? who will bring me vnto Edom?
10 Wilt not thou, O God, which hadst cast vs off, & didest not go forth, O God, with our armies?
11 Giue vs help against trouble: for vaine is the helpe of man.
12 Through God we shall doe valiantly: for he shall tread downe our enemies.

a Or, Syria, called Mesopotamia. b Called also Sophene which standeth by Euphrates. c For when Saul was not able to resist y enemie, the people fled hither and thither: for they could not be safe in their owne houses. d As cleft with an earthquake. e Thou hast hadled thy people sharply in taking from them sensuall and iudgement, in that they aided Saul the wicked King, & pursued him, to whome God had giuen the iust title of the realme. f In making me King, thou hast performed thy promes, which seemed to haue lost the force. g It is so certaine, as if it were spoken by an oracle, that I shall possesse these places, which Saul had left to his children. h For it was strong and well peopled. i Dauid meaneth, that in this tribe his kingdome shall be established, Gen.49.10. k In most vile subiection. l For thou wilt dissemble, & faine as though thou werest glad. m He was assured that God would giue him the strong cities of his enemies wherein they thought themselues sure.

PSAL. LXI.

Whether that hee were in danger of the Ammonites, or being pursued of Absalom, here hee crieth to be heard and deliuered, 7 And confirmed in his kingdome. 8 He promiseth perpetuall praises.

¶ To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalme of Dauid.

1 Heare my crie, O God: giue care vnto my praier.
2 From a the endes of the earth will I crie vnto thee: when mine heart is oppressed, bring mee vpon the rocke that is b higher then I.
3 For thou hast bene mine hope, and a strong towre against the enemie.
4 I will dwel in thy Tabernacle for euer, and my trust shall be vnder the couering of thy wings. Selah.
5 For thou, O God, c hast heard my dea Frō the place, where I was banished, being driuē out of the Citie & Temple by my sonne Absalom. b Vnto the which without thy helpe I can not attaine. c There is nothing that doeth more strengthen our faith, then the remembrance of Gods succour in times past.

d This chiefly is referred to Christ, who liueth eternally, not only in himselfe, but also in his members.
e For the stabilitie of my kingdome standeth in thy mercy and trueth.

stres: thou hast giuen an heritage vnto those that feare thy Name.
6 Thou shalt giue the king a d long life: his yeres shalbe as many ages.
7 He shall dwel before God for euer: prepare e mercy and faithfulnesse that they may preserue him.
8 So will I allway sing praise vnto thy Name in performing daily my vowes.

PSAL. LXII.

This Psalme partly conteineth meditations, whereby Dauid encourageth himselfe to trust in God against the assaults of tentations. And because our mindes are easily drawen from God by the allurementes of the world, he sharply reproueth this vanitie, to the intent hee might cleaue fast to the Lorde.

1.Chro.16.41. ¶ To the excellent musician a Jeduthun. A Psalme of Dauid.

a Though Satan tempted him to murmure against God, yet he brideled his affections, and resting vpon Gods promes, beareth his crosse patiently. b It appeareth by the oft repetition of this word, that the prophet abode manifold tentations, but by resting on God and by patience he ouercame them all.
c He meaneth himselfe, being the man whome God had appointed to the kingdome.
d Though ye seeme to be in honour, yet God will suddenly destroy you.
e Dauid was greatly mooued with these troubles: therefore he stirreth vp himselfe to trust in God.

1 YEt a my soule keepeth silence vnto God: of him commeth my saluation.
2 b Yet he is my strength and my saluation, and my defence: therefore I shal not much be mooued.
3 How long will ye imagine mischiefe against a c man? ye shalbe all slaine: yee shall be as a bowed wall, or as a d wall shaken.
4 Yet they consult to cast him downe frō his dignitie: their delight is in lies, they bielse with their mouthes, but curse with their hearts. Selah.
5 e Yet my soule keepe thou silence vnto God: for mine hope is in him.
6 Yet is hee my strength, and my saluation, and my defence: therfore I shal not be mooued.
7 In God is my saluation and my f glorie, the rocke of my strength: in God is my trust.
8 Trust in him allway, ye people: powre out your hearts before him, for God is our hope. Selah.
9 Yet the children of men are vanitie, the chiefe men are lies: to lay them vpon a balance they are altogether lighter then vanitie.
10 Trust not in oppression nor in robberie: b be not vaine: if riches increase, set not your heart thereon.
11 God spake i once or twise, I haue heard it, that power belongeth vnto God, 12 And to thee, O Lorde, mercie: for thou k rewardest euery one according to his worke.

f These vehemēt and often repetitions were necessarie to strengthen his faith against the horrible assaults of Satan. g He admonisheth vs of our wicked nature, which rather hide our sorowe, and bite on the bridle, then vtter our griefe to God to obteine remedy. h Giue your selues wholy to God by putting away all things that are contrary to his Lawe. i He hath plainely borne witnes of his power, so that none needeth to doubt thereof. k So that the wicked shall feele thy power, and the godly thy mercie.

PSAL. LXIII.

Dauid after he had bene in great danger by Saul in the desert of Ziph, made this Psalme, 3 Wherein he giueth thankes to God for his wonderfull deliuerance, in whose mercies he trusted, euen in the mids of his miseries, 9 Prophecying the destruction of Gods enemies: 11 And contrariwise happinesse to all them that trust in the Lorde.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid. When he was in the a wilderne of Iudah.

a To wit, of Ziph, 1.Sam.23.14.
b Though hee was both hungry and in great distresse, yet he made God his sufficiencie, and aboue all meate and drinke.
c In this miserie I exercise my selfe in the contemplation of thy power and glory, as if I were in thy Sanctuarie.
d The remembrance of thy fauour is more sweete vnto me then al the pleasures & deinties of the world.
e He assureth himselfe by the Spirit of God to haue the gift of constancie.
f He propheci-eth of the destruction of Saul and them that take his part, whose bodies shall not be buried, but be deuoured with wilde beasts. g All that sweare by God aright, or professe him, shall reioyce in this worthie King.

1 O God, thou art my God, early will I seeke thee: my soule b thirsteth for thee: my flesh longeth greatly after thee in a baren and dry land without water.
2 Thus c I beholde thee as in the Sanctuarie, when I beholde thy power and thy glory.
3 For thy louing kindnesse is better then life: therefore my lippes shal praise thee.
4 Thus will I magnifie thee all my life, and lift vp mine hands in thy name.
5 My soule shalbe satisfied, as with d marowe and fatnesse, and my mouth shall praise thee with ioyfull lippes, 6 When I remember thee on my bed, and when I thinke vpon thee in ꝑ night watches.
7 Because thou hast bene mine helper, therefore vnder ꝑ shadow of thy wings will I reioyce.
8 My soule e cleaueth vnto thee: for thy right hand vpholdeth me.
9 Therefore they that seeke my soule to destroye it, they shall goe into the lowest partes of the earth.
10 f They shall cast him downe with the edge of the sword, and they shalbe a portion for foxes.
11 But the king shall reioyce in God, & all that g sweare by him shall reioyce in him: for the mouth of them that speake lies, shalbe stopped.

PSAL. LXIIII.

Dauid prayeth against the furie & false reports of his enemies. 7 He declareth their punishment and destruction, 10 To the comfort of the iust and the glorie of God.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

1 HEare my a voyce, O God, in my prayer: preserue my life from feare of the enemie.
2 Hide me from the b conspiracie of the wicked, and from the c rage of the workers of iniquitie, a In that he calleth to God with his voyce, it is a signe that his prayer was vehement, and that his life was in danger. b That is, from their secret malice. c To wit, their outward violence.

d False reportes and ſlanders. e To be without feare of God & reuerence of man, is a ſigne of reprobation.
f The more that the wicked ſee Gods children in miſery, the more bold and impudent are they in oppreſſing them.
g There is no way ſo ſecret and ſubtill to doe hurt, which they inuented not for his deſtruction.
h To ſee Gods heauy iudgements againſt them, and how he hath caught them in their owne ſoares.
i When they ſhal conſider that he will be fauourable to them, as he was to his ſeruant Dauid.

3 Which haue whet their tongue like a ſword, and ſhot for their arrowes d bitter wordes:
4 To ſhoote at the vpright in ſecret: they ſhoote at him ſuddenly, and e feare not.
5 They f encourage themſelues in a wicked purpoſe: they commune together to lay ſnares priuily, and ſay, Who ſhall ſee them?
6 They haue ſought out iniquities, and haue accompliſhed that which they ſought out, euen euery one g his ſecrete thoughts, and the depth of his heart.
7 But God will ſhoot an arrow at them ſuddenly: their ſtrokes ſhalbe at once.
8 They ſhall cauſe their owne tongue to fall vpon them: and whoſoeuer ſhall ſee them, ſhall h flée away.
9 And all men ſhall ſée it, and declare the worke of God, & they ſhall vnderſtand, what he hath wrought.
10 But the righteous i ſhall be glad in the Lord, and truſt in him: and all that are vpright of heart, ſhall reioyce.

PSAL. LXV.

1 A praiſe and thankeſgiuing vnto God by the faithfull, who are ſignified by Zion, 4 For the chuſing, preſeruation and gouernance of them, 9 And for the plentifull bleſſings powred forth vpon all the earth, but ſpecially toward his Church.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Pſalme or ſong of Dauid.

1 O God, a praiſe waiteth for thee in Zion, and vnto thée ſhall the vowe be performed.
2 Becauſe thou heareſt the prayer, vnto thée ſhall all b fleſh come.
3 Wicked déedes c haue preuailed againſt me: but thou wilt be merciful vnto our tranſgreſſions.
4 Bleſſed is hee, whome thou chuſeſt and cauſeſt to come to thee: he ſhall dwell in thy courtes, & we ſhall be ſatiſfied with the pleaſures of thine houſe, euen of thine holy Temple.
5 O God of our ſaluation, thou wilt d anſwer vs with fearefull ſignes in thy righteouſnes, O thou the hope of all the ends of the earth, and of them that are farre off in the e ſea.
6 Hee eſtabliſheth the mountaynes by his power: and is girded about with ſtrength.
7 He appeaſeth the f noyſe of the ſeas and the noyſe of the waues thereof, and the tumultes of the people.
8 They alſo, that dwell in the vttermoſt partes of the earth, ſhalbe afraide of thy ſignes: thou ſhalt make "the East and the Weſt to reioyce.
9 Thou g viſiteſt the earth, and watereſt it: thou makeſt it verie riche: the h Riuer of God is full of water: thou prepareſt them corne: for ſo thou appointeſt it.
10 Thou k watereſt abundantly the furrowes thereof: thou cauſeſt the raine to deſcend into the valleis thereof: thou makeſt it ſoft with ſhoures, and bleſſeſt the bud thereof.
11 Thou croweſt the yere with thy goodnes, and thy ſteps dropp fatnes.
12 They droppe vpon the paſtures of the wildernes: and the hilles ſhall be compaſſed with gladnes.
13 The paſtures are clad with ſheepe: the valleys alſo ſhalbe couered with corne: therefore they ſhoute for ioy, l and ſing.

a Thou giueſt daily newe occaſion to thy Church to praiſe thee.
b Not onely the Iewes, but alſo the Gentiles in the kingdome of Chriſt.
c He imputeth it to his ſinnes and to the ſinnes of the people, that God, who was accuſtomed to aſſiſt them, withdraweth his ſuccour from them.
d Thou wilt declare thy ſelfe to be the preſeruer of thy Church in deſtroying thine enemies, as thou didſt in the red ſea.
e As of all barbarous nations and farre off.
f He ſheweth that there is no part nor creature in the world, which is not gouerned by Gods power and prouidence.
"Ebr. the going forth of the morning and of the euening.
g To wit, with raine.
h That is, Shiloah, or, the raine.
i Thou haſt appointed y earth to bring foorth food to mans vſe k By this deſcription he ſheweth that all the order of nature is a teſtimonie of Gods loue toward vs, who cauſeth all creatures to ſerue our neceſſitie.
l That is, the dumme creatures ſhall not onely reioyce for a time for Gods benefites, but ſhall continually ſing.

PSAL. LXVI.

1 He prouoketh all men to praiſe the Lord, and to conſider his workes. 6 Hee ſetteth foorth the power of God to affray the rebels, 10 And ſheweth how God hath deliuered Iſrael from great bondage and afflictions. 13 He promiſeth to giue ſacrifice, 16 And prouoketh all men to heare what God hath done for him and to praiſe his Name.

¶ To him that excelleth. A ſong, or Pſalme.

1 Reioyce in God, a all ye inhabitants of the earth.
2 Sing forth the glory of his Name: make his praiſe glorious.
3 Say vnto God, How terrible art thou in thy workes! through the greatnes of thy power ſhall thine enemies be b in ſubiection vnto thée.
4 All the world ſhall worſhip thée, & ſing vnto thée, euē ſing of thy Name. Selah.
5 c Come & beholde the workes of God: hee is terrible in his doing toward d the ſonnes of men.
6 He hath turned the ſea into dry land: they paſſed through the riuer on foote: there did we reioyce in him.
7 Hee ruleth the world with his power: his eyes behold the nations: the rebellious ſhall not e exalt themſelues. Selah.
8 Praiſe our God, ye people, and make the voyce of his praiſe to be heard.
9 Which f holdeth our ſoules in life, and ſuffereth not our féete to ſlip.
10 For thou, O God, haſt proued vs, thou haſt tried vs as ſiluer is tried.

a He propheciſeth that all nations ſhall come to y knowledge of God, who then was onely known in Iudea. b As the faithfull ſhall obey God willingly: ſo the infidels for feare ſhal diſſemble themſelues to be ſubiect.
c Hee toucheth the ſlothfull dulnes of man, who is colde in the conſideration of Gods workes.
d His prouidēce is wonderfull in maintayning their eſtate.
e He proueth y God will extend his grace alſo to y Gentiles, becauſe he puniſheth among them ſuch as wil not obey his calling.
f He ſignifieth ſome ſpecial benefite, that God had ſhewed to his Church of the Iewes, in deliuering them from ſome great danger: wherof or of the like he promiſeth that the Gentiles ſhalbe partakers.

g The condition of the Church is here described, which is to be led by gods prouidéce into troubles, to be subiect vnder tyrants, and to enter into manifold dangers.

11 Thou hast brought vs into the snare, and laid a strait chaine vpon our loynes.
12 Thou hast caused men to ride ouer our heades: we went into fire and into water, but thou broughtest vs out into a wealthy place.
13 I wil go into thine h house with burnt offrings, and will pay thée my vowes, 14 Which my lippes haue promised, and my mouth hath spoken in mine affliction.
15 I will offer vnto thée the burnt offrings of fat rammes with incense: I will prepare bullocks and goates. Selah.
16 i Come and hearken, all ye that feare God, and I will tell you what he hath done to my soule.
17 I called vnto him with my mouth, & he was exalted with my tongue.
18 k If I regard wickednes in mine heart, the Lord wil not heare me.
19 But God hath heard me, and considered the voyce of my prayer.
20 Praised be God, which hath not put backe my prayer, nor his mercy from me.

h The duetie of the faithfull is here described, which are neuer vnmindefull to render God praise for his benefites.

i It is not inough so haue receiued Gods benefites and to be mindfull thereof, but also we are bound to make others to profite thereby, and praise God.

k If I delite in wickednes, God will not heare me: but if I confesse it, he will receiue me.

PSAL. LXVII.

1 A prayer of the Church to obtaine the fauour of God and to bee lightened with his countenance, 2 To the ende that his way and iudgements may be knowen throughout the earth. 7 And finally is declared the kingdom of God, which should be vniuersally erected at the comming of Christ.

¶ To him that excelleth on Neginoth. ¶ A Psalme or song.

1 God be mercifull vnto vs, and blesse vs, and a cause his face to shine among vs. Selah.
2 That b they may knowe thy way vpon earth, and thy sauing health among all nations.
3 Let the people praise thee, O God: let all the people praise thee.
4 c Let the people be glad and reioyce: for thou shalt iudge the people rightously, & gouerne the nations vpon the earth. Selah.
5 Let the people praise thee, O God: let all the people praise thee.
6 Then shall d the earth bring foorth her increase, and God, euen our God shall blesse vs.
7 God shall blesse vs, and all the endes of the earth e shall feare him.

a That is, moone our hearts with his holy Spirit, that we may feele his fauour towards vs.

b That both Iewes and Gentiles may know Gods couenant made with them.

c By these oft repetitions he sheweth, that y people can neuer reioyce sufficiently, and giue thankes for the great benefites that they shall receiue vnder the kingdome of Christ.

d Hee sheweth that where God fauoureth, there shalbe abundance of all other thinges.

e When they feele his great benefites both spirituall and corporall towardes them.

PSAL. LXVIII.

1 In this Psalme Dauid setteth foorth as in a glasse the wonderfull mercies of God toward his people: 5 Who by all meanes & most strange sortes declared himselfe to them. 15 And therefore Gods Church by reason of his promises, graces & victories doth excell without comparison all worldly thinges. 34 He exhorteth therefore all men to praise God for euer.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme or song of Dauid.

1 God a will arise, and his enemies shal be scattered: they also that hate him, shall flee before him.
2 As the smoke vanisheth, so shalt thou driue them away: and as waxe melteth before the fire, so shall the wicked perish at the presence of God.
3 b But the righteous shal be glad, and reioyce before God: yea, they shall leape for ioy.
4 Sing vnto God, and sing praises vnto his name: exalt him, that rideth vpon the heauens, in his Name c Jah, and reioyce before him.
5 He is a Father of the fatherlesse, and a Iudge of the widowes, euen God in his holy habitation.
6 God d maketh the solitarie to dwell in families, & deliuereth them that were prisoners in stockes: but the rebellious shall dwell in a e drie land.
7 f O God, when thou wentest forth before thy people: when thou wentest through the wildernes, (Selah)
8 The earth shooke, & the heauens dropped at the presence of this God: euen Sinai was moued at the presence of God, euen the God of Israel.
9 Thou, O God, sentest a gracious raine vpon thine inheritance, and thou didst refresh it when it was weary.
10 Thy Congregation dwelled therein: for thou, O God, hast of thy g goodnes prepared it for the poore.
11 The Lord gaue matter to the h women to tell of the great armie.
12 Kings of the armies did flee: they did flee and i she that remained in the house, deuided the spoile.
13 Though ye haue lien among k pots, yet shal ye be as the wings of a doue that is couered with siluer, and whose fethers are like pelow golde.
14 When l Almightie scattered kings in it, it was white as snow in Zalmon.

a The Prophet sheweth that albeit God suffreth the wicked tyrants to oppresse his Church for a time, yet at length he will be reuenged of them.

PSAL. LXIX.

1 The complaints, praiers, feruent zeale & great anguish of Dauid is set forth as a figure of Christ and all his members: 21 The malitious cruelties of the enemies, 22 And their punishments also, 26 Where Iudas and such traytours are accursed. 30 Hee gathereth courage in his affliction, and offreth prayses vnto God, 32 Which are more acceptable then all sacrifices: whereof all the afflicted may take comfort. 35 Finally he doeth prouoke all creatures to praises, propheciyng of the kingdome of Christ, & the preseruation of the Church, where all the faithfull, 37 And their seede shall dwell for euer.

¶ To him that excelleth vpon a Shoshannim. A Psalme of Dauid.

1 Saue mee, O God: for the b waters are entred euen to my soule.
2 I sticke fast in ꝺ deepe mire, where no c stay is: I am come into deepe waters, and the streames runne ouer me.
3 I am wearie of crying: my throte is dry: mine d eyes faile, whiles I waite for my God.
4 They that hate me without a cause, are mo then the heares of mine head: they that would destroy me, and are mine enemies e falsly, are mighty, so that I restored that which I f tooke not.
5 O God, thou knowest my g foolishnes, and my faultes are not hid from thee.
6 Let not them that trust in thee, O Lorde God of hostes, be ashamed for h me: let not those that seeke thee, be confounded through me, O God of Israel.
7 For thy sake haue I suffred reproofe: shame hath couered my face.
8 I am become a stranger vnto my brethren, euen an aliant vnto my mothers sonnes.
9 i For the zeale of thine house hath eaten me, & the rebukes of them that rebuked thee, are fallen vpon me.
10 I k wept and my soule fasted, but that was to my reproofe.
11 I put on a sacke also: and I became a prouerbe vnto them.
12 They that l sate in the gate, spake of me, and the drunkards sang of me.
13 But Lorde, I make my prayer vnto thee

f They iudged me poore innocent as a thiefe, and gaue my goods to others, as though I had stolen them.
g Though I be giltie to the ward, yet am I innocent toward them.
h Let not mine euill intreatie of the enemies be an occasion, that the faithfull fall from thee.
i When I sawe thine enemies pretende thy Name onely in mouth, and in their life denie the same, thine holy Spirit thrust me forward, to reproue them and defend thy glory.
k My zeale moued me to lament and pray for my saluation.
l The more hee sought to winne them to God, the more they were against him both poore and riche.

m Knowing that albeit I suffer now trouble, yet thou hast a time wherein thou hast appoynted my deliuerance.

in an [m]acceptable time, euen in the multitude of thy mercie: O God, heare mee in the trueth of thy saluation.

14 Deliuer me out of the myre, that I sink not: let me be deliuered from them that hate me, and out of the [n]deepe waters.

n He sheweth a liuely faith, in that that he assureth himselfe, that God is fauorable to him, whē he seemeth to be angrie: & at hand, whē he seemeth to be farre off.

15 Let not the water flood drowne me, neither let the deepe swallowe me vp: and let not the pit shut her mouth vpō me.

16 Heare me, O Lord, for thy louing kindnes is good: turne vnto mee according to the multitude of thy tender mercies.

17 And [o] hide not thy face from thy seruant, for I am in trouble: make haste and heare me.

o Not that he feared that God would not heare him, but that care made him to thinke that God deferred long.

18 Drawe neere vnto my soule and redeeme it: deliuer me because of mine enemies.

19 Thou hast knowen my reproofe and my shame, and my dishonour: all mine [p] aduersaries are before thee.

p Thou seest that I am beset as a sheep amōg manie wolues.

20 Rebuke hath broken myne heart, and I am full of heauinesse, and [q] I looked for some to haue pitie on me, but there was none: and for comforters, but I found none.

q He sheweth that it is in vaine to put our trust in men in our great necessities, but that our comfort onely dependeth of God: for man rather increaseth our sorowes, then diminisheth them, Ioh. 19. 29.

21 For they gaue me gall in my meate, and in my thirst they gaue me vineger to drinke.

r He desireth God to execute his iudgementes against the reprobate, which cannot by anie meanes be turned, Rom. 11. 9.

22 Let their [r] table be a snare before them, and their prosperite their ruine.

23 Let their eyes be blinded that they see not: and make their [s] lopnes alway to tremble.

s Take both iudgement and power frō them. Acts 1. 20.

24 Powre out thine anger vpon them, and let thy wrathfull displeasure take them.

25 * Let their [t] habitation be voyde, and let none dwell in their tents.

t Punish not only them, but their posteritie, which shalbe like vnto them.

26 For they persecute him, whom thou hast smitten: and they adde vnto the sorow of them, whom thou hast wounded.

27 Lay [u] iniquitie vpon their iniquitie, and let them not come into thy righteousnesse.

u By their cōtinuance and increasing in their sinnes let it be knowen that they be of the reprobate.

28 Let them be put out of the [x] booke of life, neither let them be written with the righteous.

x They which seemed by their profession to haue bene written in thy booke, yet by their fruites proue the contrarie, let them be knowen as reprobate.

29 When I am poore and in heauinesse, thine helpe, O God, shall exalt me.

30 I will praise the name of God with a song, and magnifie him with thanksgiuing.

y There is no sacrifice, which God more esteemeth, then thankesgiuing for his benefites.

31 This also shall please the Lorde better then a [y] yong bullock, that hath hornes and hoofes.

32 The humble shal see this, and they that seeke God, shalbe glad, and your heart shall liue.

33 For the Lorde heareth the poore, and despiseth not his [z] prisoners.

z For as he deliuered his seruant Dauid, so will he doe al that are in distresse, and call vpon him.

34 Let heauen and earth praise him: the seas and all that moueth in them.

35 For God will saue Zion, and build the cities of Iudah, that men may dwell there and haue it in possession.

36 The [a] seede also of his seruants shal inherite it: and they that loue his Name, shall dwel therein.

a Vnder the terme of all promes of the land of Canaan he comprehendeth the promes of life euerlasting to the faithfull and their posteritie.

PSAL. LXX.

1 He prayeth to be right spedily deliuered.
2 He desireth the shame of his enemies, 4 And the ioyfull comfort of all those that seeke the Lord.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid to put in [a] remembrance.

a Which might put him in remembrance of his deliuerance. Psal. 40. 13.

1 O * God, [b] haste thee to deliuer mee: make haste to helpe me, O Lord.

b He teacheth vs to be earnest in prayer, though God seeme to stay: for at his time he will heare vs.

2 Let them be [c] confounded and put to shame, that seeke my soule: let them be turned backward and put to rebuke, that desire mine hurt.

c He was assured that ỹ more they raged, the neerer they were to destruction, & the neerer to his deliuerance.

3 Let them be turned backe for a reward of their [d] shame, which said, Aha, aha.

d Hereby we are taught not to mocke at others in their miserie, least the same fall on our owne neckes.

4 But let al those that seeke thee, be ioyful and glad in thee, and let all that loue thy saluation, say alwayes, God be praised.

e Because he had felt Gods helpe before, he groundeth on experience, and boldely seeketh vnto him for succour.

5 Nowe I am [e] poore & needie: O God, make haste to mee: thou art mine helper, and my deliuerer: O Lord, make no tarying.

PSAL. LXXI.

1 He prayeth in faith, established by the word of the promes, 5 And confirmed by the worke of God from his youth. 10 He cōplaineth of the crueltie of his enemies, 17 And desireth God to continue his graces toward him, 22 Promising to be mindfull and thankefull for the same.

1 In * thee, O Lord, I trust: let me neuer be ashamed.

Psalme. 31. 1.

2 Rescue mee and deliuer mee in thy [b] righteousnes: incline thine eare vnto me and saue me.

a He prayeth to God with full assurance of faith, that he wil deliuer him from his aduersaries.

3 Be thou my strong rocke, whereunto I may alway resort: thou [c] hast giuen commaundement to saue me: for thou art my rocke, and my fortresse.

b By declaring thy selfe true of promes.

4 Deliuer me, O my God, out of the hand [d] of the wicked: out of the hand of the cruell and cruel man.

c Thou hast infinite meanes, and all creatures are at thy commādement: therefore shewe some signe, wherby I shalbe deliuered.

5 For thou art mine hope, O Lord God, euen my [e] trust from my youth.

6 Vpon thee haue I bene staied from the wombe: thou art he that tooke me out of my mothers bowels: my praise shall be alwaies of thee.

d That is, from Absalom, Ahithophel and that conspiracie.

e He strengtheneth his faith by the experience of Gods benefites, who did not onely preserue him in his mothers belly, but tooke him thence, and euer since hath preserued him.

7 I am

f All the worlde wondereth at me, because of my miseries, as wel they in auntentie, as ỹ common people: yet being assured of thy fauour I remained stedfast.

g Thou ỹ dideſt helpe me in my youth, whē I had more strength, helpe me now so much the more in mine olde age and weakenes.

h Thus the wicked both blaspheme God and triumph against his Saintes, as though he had forsaken them, if he suffer them to fall into their hands.

i In calling him his God, he putteth backe the false reportes of the aduersaries, that sayd, God had forsakē him.

k Because thy benefits toward me are innumerable, I cannot but continually meditate and rehearse them.

l I wil remaine stedfast, being vpholden w the power of God.

m He desireth that as he hath begun, he would so continue his benefites, ỹ his liberalitie may haue perfite praise.

n Thy iust performance of thy promise.

7 I am become as it were a [f] monster vnto many: but thou art my sure trust.
8 Let my mouth be filled with thy praise, and with thy glory euery day.
9 Cast me not off in the time of [g] age: forsake me not when my strength faileth.
10 For mine enemies speake of me, and they that lay waite for my soule, take their counsel together, 11 Saying, [h] God hath forsaken him: pursue and take him: for there is none to deliuer him.
12 Go not farre from me, O God: [i] my God, haste thee to helpe me.
13 Let them be confounded & consumed that are against my soule: let them be couered with reproche & confusion, that seeke mine hurt.
14 But I wil waite continually, and wil praise thee more and more.
15 My mouth shall daily rehearse thy righteousnes, and thy saluation: [k] for I know not the number.
16 I wil [l] go forward in ỹ strength of the Lord God, & will make mention of thy righteousnes, euen of thine onely.
17 O God, thou hast taught me from my youth euen vntill now: therefore wil I tell of thy wonderous workes, 18 [m] Yea, euen vnto mine olde age & grape head, O God: forsake me not, vntill I haue declared thine arme vnto this generation, & thy power to all them, that shall come.
19 And thy [n] righteousnes, O God, I will exalte on high: for thou hast done great things: O God, who is like vnto thee!
20 Which hath shewed mee great troubles and [p] aduersities, but thou wilt returne and reuiue mee, and wilt come again, and take mee vp from the depth of the earth.
21 Thou wilt increase mine honour, and returne and comfort me.
22 Therefore will I praise thee for thy [q] faithfulnes, O God, vpon instrument & viole: vnto thee will I sing vpon the harpe, O Holy one of Israel.
23 My lips wil reioyce when I sing vnto thee, and my [r] soule, which thou hast deliuered.
24 My tongue also shal talke of thy righteousnes daily: for they are confounded & brought vnto shame, that seeke mine hurt.

o His faith breaketh through all tentations, & by this exclamation he prayseth the power of God. p As he confesseth that God is the only autour of his deliuerance: so he acknowledgeth that these euils were sent vnto him by Gods prouidence.

q He confesseth that his long tariance was wel recōpensed, whē God performed his promes. r For there is no true praysing of God, except it come from the heart: and therefore he promiseth to delite in nothing, but wherein God may be glorified.

PSAL. LXXII.

1 He prayeth for the prosperous estate of the kingdome of Salomon, who was the figure of Christ. 4 Vnder whome shall be righteousnes, peace and felicitie, 10 Vnto whome all Kings and all nations shall doe homage, 17 Whose name and power shall indure for euer, and in whome all nations shalbe blessed.

A Psalme [a] of Salomon.

GIue thy [b] iudgements to the King, O God, & thy righteousnesse to the Kings [c] sonne.
2 Then shall he iudge thy people in righteousnes, and thy poore with equitie.
3 The [d] mountaines and the hilles shall bring peace to the people by iustice.
4 He shal [e] iudge the poore of the people: he shal saue the children of the needie, & shal subdue the oppressor.
5 They shall [f] feare thee as long as the sunne and moone endureth, from generation to generation.
6 He shall come [g] downe like the rayne vpon the mowen grasse, and as the showers that water the earth.
7 In his daies shal the righteous flourish, and abundance of peace shall be so long as the moone endureth.
8 His dominion shalbe also from [h] sea to sea, and from the ruer vnto the endes of the land.
9 They that dwell in the wilderne, shall kneele before him, and his enemies shal licke the dust.
10 The kings of [i] Tarshish & of the yles shal bring presents: the kings [k] of Sheba and Seba shal bring gifts.
11 Yea, all kings shall worship him: all nations shal serue him.
12 For he shal deliuer the poore when he crieth: the needie also, & him that hath no helper.
13 He shall be mercifull to the poore and needie, and shall preserue the soules of the poore.
14 He shall redeeme their soules from deceite and violence, and [l] deare shal their blood be in his sight.
15 Yea, he shall liue, & vnto him shal they giue of the [m] golde of Sheba: they shall also pray for him continually, and daily blesse him.
16 An handfull of corne shall be sowen in the earth, euen in the top of the mountaines, & the [n] fruite thereof shall shake like the trees of Lebanon: and the children shall flourish out of the citie like the grasse of the earth.
17 His name shall be for euer: his name shal indure as long as the sunne: all nations shall blesse [o] him, and be blessed in him.

a Composed by Dauid as touching the reigne of his sonne Salomon.

b Endue ỹ King with the spirit of wisdome and iustice, ỹ he reigne not as do the worldly tyrants.

c To wit, to his posteritie.

d When iustice reigneth, euen the places most baren shalbe enriched with thy blessings.

e He sheweth wherefore the sworde is committed to Kings: to wit, to defend the innocent, & suppresse the wicked.

f The people shal embrace thy true religion, when thou giuest a king, that ruleth according to thy word.

g As this is true in all godly Kings: so is it chiefly verified in Christ, who with his heauēly dewe maketh his Church euer to flonsh.

h That is, from the red sea to ỹ sea called Syriacum, and from Euphrates forward: meaning, that Christes kingdom should be large & vniuersal.

i Of Cilicia and of all other countries beyond the sea, which he meaneth by the yles.

k That is, of Arabia that rich countrie, whereof Sheba was a part bordering vpon Ethiopia.

l Though tyrants passe not to shed blood, yet this godly king shal preserue his subiectes from all kind of wrong.

m God wil both prosper his life, & also make the people most willing to obey him.

n Vnder such a king shalbe most great plentie, both of fruite & also of the encrease of mankinde.

o They shal pray to God for his continuance, and know that God doeth prosper them for his sake.

p He confesseth that except God miraculously preserue his people, that neither the King nor ſ kingdome can continue.

18 Blessed be the Lord God, euen the God of Israel, which onely doeth p wonderous things.
19 And blessed be his glorious Name for euer: and let all the earth be filled with his glorie. So be it, euen so be it.

HERE END THE q prayers of Dauid, the sonne of Ishai.

q Cõcerning his sonne Salomon.

PSAL. LXXIII.

1 The Prophet teacheth by his example that neither the worldly prosperitie of the vngodly, 14 Nor yet the affliction of the good ought to discourage Gods children: but rather ought to moone vs to consider our Fathers prouidence, and to cause vs to reuerence Gods iudgements, 19 Forasmuch as the wicked vanish away, 24 And the godly enter into life euerlasting. 28 In hope whereof he resigneth him selfe into Gods hands.

¶ A Psalme committed to Asaph.

1 YEt a God is good to Israel: euen to the pure in heart.
2 As for mee, my feete were almost gone: my steps had welneere slipt.
3 For I freated at the foolish, when I saw the prosperitie of the wicked.
4 For there are b no bands in their death, but they are lustie and strong.
5 They are not in trouble as other men, neither are they plagued wth other men.
6 c Therefore pride is as a chayne vnto them, & crueltie coureth them as a garment.
7 Their eyes stand out for fatnes: "they haue more then heart can wish.
8 They are licentious, & speake wickedly of their oppression: they talke presumptuously.
9 They d set their mouth against heauen, and their tongue walketh through the earth.
10 Therefore his e people turne hither: for waters of a full cuppe are wrung out to them.
11 And they f say, How doth God know it: or is there knowlege in ẏ most High?
12 Loe, these are the wicked, yet prosper they alway, and increase in riches.
13 Certainely I haue cleansed mine heart in vayne, and washed mine handes in innocencie.
14 For daily haue I bene punished, and chastened euery morning.
15 If I say, g I will iudge thus, behold the generation of thy children: I haue transgressed.
16 Then thought I to knowe this, but it was too paynefull for me, 17 Vntil I went into the h Sanctuarie of God: then vnderstoode I their ende.
18 Surely thou hast set them in slipperie places, and castest them downe into desolation.
19 How suddenly are they destroyed, perished and i horribly consumed.
20 As a dreame when one awaketh! O Lorde, when k thou raysest vs vp, thou shalt make their image despised.
21 Certainely mine heart was vexed, and I was pricked in my reynes:
22 So foolish was I & ignorant: I was a l beast before thee.
23 Yet I was alway m with thee: thou hast holden me by my right hand.
24 Thou wilt guyde me by thy counsell, and afterward receiue me to glorie.
25 Whome haue I in n heauen but thee? and I haue desired none in the earth with thee.
26 My flesh fayleth and mine heart also: but God is the strength of mine heart, & my o portion for euer.
27 For loe, they that withdrawe themselues from thee, shall perish: thou destroyest all them that p goe a whoring from thee.
28 As for me, it is good for me q to drawe neere to God: therefore I haue put my trust in the Lorde God, that I may declare all thy workes.

a As it were betwene hope and despaire, he bursteth forth into this affection, being assured that God would continue his fauour toward such as were godly in deede, and not hypocrites.

b The wicked in this life liue at pleasure, and are not drawen to death like prisoners: that is, by sicknes, which is deaths messenger.

c They glorie in their pride as some do in their chaines: and in crueltie, as some do in apparel.

" Ebr. they passe the desires of the heart.

d They blaspheme God and feare not his power, and rayle vpon men, because they esteeme themselues aboue all others. e Not only the reprobate, but also the people of God oftentimes fall backe, seeing the prosperous estate of the wicked, & are ouerwhelmed with sorowes, thinking that God considereth not aright the state of the godly. f Thus the flesh mooueth euen the godly to dispute with God touching their poore estate & the prosperitie of ẏ wicked. g If I giue place to this wicked thought, I offende against thy prouidence, seeing thou disposest all things most wisely, and preseruest thy children in their greatest dangers.

h Vntil I entred into thy schole & learned by thy worde and holie Spirit, that thou ordereſt all things most wisely and iustly.

i By thy feare-full iudgement.

k When thou openest our eyes to consider thy heauenly felicitie, we contemne all their vayne pompe.

l For the more that man goeth about by his owne reason to seeke out Gods iudgements, the more doeth he declare himselfe a beast.

m By faith I was assured that thy prouidence did watche alwayes ouer me to preserue me.

n He sought neither helpe nor comfort of any saue of God onely. o He teacheth vs to denie our selues, to haue God our whole sufficiencie, and onely contentment.

p That is, forsake thee to seeke others. q Though all the worlde shrinke from God, yet he promiseth to trust in him and to magnifie his workes.

7 They haue cast thy Sanctuarie into the fire, and raised it to the grounde, and haue defiled the dwelling place of thy

8 They said in their [e] hearts, Let vs destroy them altogether: they haue burnt al the Synagogues of God in the land.
9 We see not our signes: there is not one

10 O God, howe long shal the aduersarie reproche thee? shall the enemie blaspheme thy Name for euer?
11 Why withdrawest thou thine hande,

15 Thou brakest vp the fountaine and ri-uer: thou driedst vp mightie riuers.
16 The [m] day is thine, and the night is thine: thou hast prepared the light and the sunne.
17 Thou hast set all the borders of the earth: thou hast made sommer and winter.
18 Remember this, that the enemie hath reproched the Lord, and the foolish people hath blasphemed thy Name.
19 Giue not the soule of thy [n] turtle doue gregation of thy poore for euer.

20 Consider thy couenant: for [o] the darke places of the earth are full of the habitations of the cruell.
21 Oh let not the oppressed returne ashamed, but let the poore and needie praise thy Name.
22 Arise, O God: maintein thine owne cause: remember thy daily reproche by the foolish man.
23 Forget not the voice of thine enemies:

thee, [p] ascendeth continually.

PSAL. LXXV.

1 The faithfull doe praise the name of the Lord, 2 Which shall come to iudge at the time appointed, 8 When the wicked shal-be put to confusion, and drinke of the cup of his wrath. 10 Their pride shalbe abated, and the righteous shalbe exalted to honour.

¶ To him that excelleth. [a] Destroy not. A Psalme or song committed to Asaph.

1 WE wil praise thee, O God, we wil praise thee, for thy Name is neere: therefore [b] they will declare thy wonderous workes.
2 [c] When I shal take a conuenient time,
I wil iudge righteously.
3 The earth and all the inhabitantes thereof are dissolued: but I wil establish the pillars [d] of it. Selah.
4 I said vnto the foolish, Be not so foolish, and to the wicked, Lift not vp [e] horne.
5 Lift not vp your [e] horne on high, neither speake with a stiffe necke.
6 For to come to preferment is neither from the East, nor from the West, nor from the South,
7 But God is the iudge: he maketh lowe and he maketh hie.
8 For in the hand of the Lord is a [f] cup, and the wine is red: it is full mixt, and he powreth out of the same: surely all the wicked of the earth shall wring out and drinke the dregges thereof.
9 But I will declare for euer, and sing prayses vnto the God of Iaakob.
10 All the hornes of the wicked also will I breake: but the hornes of the [g] righteous shalbe exalted.

¶ For the excellent musician a Jeduthun. A Psalme committed to Asaph.

1 My a voyce came to God, when I cried: my voyce came to God, and he heard me.
2 In the day of my trouble I sought the Lord: b my sore ranne and ceased not in the night: my soule refused comfort.
3 I did thinke vpon God, & was b troubled: I prayed, and my spirit was full of anguish. Selah.
4 Thou keepest mine eyes c waking: I was astonied and could not speake.
5 Then I considered the dayes of old, and the yeeres of ancient time.
6 I called to remembrance my d song in the night: I communed with mine owne heart, and my spirite searched c diligently.
7 Will the Lord absent himselfe for euer? and will he shewe no more fauour?
8 Is his f mercie cleane gone for euer? doth his promes faile for euermore?
9 Hath God forgotten to be mercifull? hath he shut vp his tender mercies in displeasure? Selah.
10 And I saide, This is my g death: yet I remembred the yeeres of the right hand of the most High.
11 I remembred the workes of the Lorde: certainely I remembred thy wonders of olde.
12 I did also meditate al thy workes, and did deuise of thine actes, saying,
13 Thy way, O God, is h in the Sanctuarie: who is so great a i God as our God!
14 Thou art ꝑ God that doest wonders: thou hast declared thy power among the people.
15 Thou hast redeemed thy people with thine arme, euen the sonnes of Iaakob and Joseph. Selah.

PSAL. LXXVIII.

1 He sheweth how God of his mercie chose his Church of the posteritie of Abraham, 8 Reproching the stubborne rebellion of their fathers, that the children might not only vnderstand, 11 That God of his free mercie made his couenant with their ancestours, 17 But also seeing them so malitious and peruerse, might be ashamed and so turne wholy to God. In this Psalme the holy Ghost hath comprehended, as it were, the summe of all Gods benefites, to the intent the ignorant and grosse people might see in fewe wordes the effect of the whole histories of the Bible.

¶ A Psalme to giue a instruction, committed to Asaph.

1 Heare my b doctrine, O my people: incline your eares vnto ꝑ wordes of my mouth.
2 I will open my mouth in a parable: I will declare high sentences of olde.
3 Which we haue heard and knowen, and our c fathers haue tolde vs.
4 We will not hide them from their children, but to the generation to come wee will shewe the prayses of the Lorde, his power also, and his wonderfull works that he hath done:
5 For he set established a d testimonie in Iaakob, and ordeined a Law in Israel, which he commanded our fathers, that they should teache their children:
6 That the c posteritie might knowe it, and the children, which should be borne, should stande vp, and declare it to their children:
7 That they might f set their hope on God, and not forget the works of God but keepe his commandements:

a Reade Psalme 32.
b The Prophete vnder the Name of a teacher calleth the people his, and the doctrine his, as Paul calleth ẏ Gospel his, whereof he was but the preacher, as Rom. 2. 16. & 16. 25.
c Which were the people of God.
d By the testimonie and lawe, he meaneth the lawe written, which they were commanded to teache their children, Deut. 6. 7.
e He sheweth wherein the children should be like their fathers, that is, in maintening Gods pure religion. f Hee sheweth wherein the vse of this doctrine standeth: in faith, in the meditation of Gods benefites and in obedience.

8 And

8 And not to be as their [s] fathers, a disobedient and rebellious generation: a generation that set not their heart aright, and whose spirit was not faithfull vnto God.
9 The children of [h] Ephraim being armed and shooting with the bow, turned backe in the day of battell.
10 They kept not the couenant of God, but refused to walke in his Lawe, 11 And forgate his Actes, & his wonderfull workes that he had shewed them.
12 He did marueilous things in the sight of their [i] fathers in the lande of Egypt: euen in the fielde of Toan.
13 * He deuided the Sea, and led them through: he made also the waters to stand as an heape.
14 * In the daye time also he led them with a cloude, and all the night with a light of fire.
15 * He claue the rockes in the wildernes, and gaue them drinke as of the great depths.
16 * He brought floods also out of the stonie rocke, so that he made the waters to descend like the riuers.
17 Yet they [k] sinned still against him, and prouoked the Highest in the wildernes, 18 And tempted God in their heartes in [l] requiring meate for their lust.
19 * They spake against God also, saying, Can God [m] prepare a table in the wildernes?
20 * Beholde, he smote the rocke, that the water gushed out, and the streames ouerflowed: can he giue bread also? or prepare flesh for his people?
21 Therfore the LORD heard and was angrie, & the * fire was kindled in Iaakob, and also wrath came vpon Israel, 22 Because they beleeued not in God, & [n] trusted not in his helpe.
23 Yet he had commanded the [o] cloudes aboue, & had opened the doores of heauen, 24 And had rayned downe MAN vpon them for to eate, and had giuen them of the wheate of heauen.
25 * Man did eate the bread of Angels: he sent them meat enough.
26 He caused the [p] Eastwinde to passe in the heauen, and through his power he brought in the Southwinde.
27 He rained flesh also vpō them as dust, and feathered foule as the sande of the sea.
28 And he made it fall in the middes of their campe, euen round about their habitations.
29 So they did eate and were well filled: for he gaue them their desire.
30 They were not turned frō their [q] lust, but the meate was yet in their mouthes, 31 When the wrath of God came euen vpon them, and slewe [r] the strongest of them, and smote downe the chosen men in Israel.
32 For all this, they [s] sinned still, and beleeued not his wonderous workes.
33 Therefore their dayes did he consume in vanitie, and their yeres hastily.
34 And when he [t] slew them, they sought him and they returned, and sought God earely.
35 And they remembred that GOD was their strength, and the most high God their redeemer.
36 But they flattered him with their mouth, and dissembled with him with their tongue.
37 For their [u] heart was not vpright with him: neyther were they faithfull in his couenant.
38 Yet he being mercifull [x] forgaue their iniquitie, and destroyed them not, but oft times called backe his anger, & did not stirre vp all his wrath.
39 For he remembred that they were flesh: yea, a winde that passeth and commeth not againe.
40 How oft did they prouoke him in the wilderne? & grieue him in the desert?
41 Yea, they [y] returned, & tempted God, and [z] limited the Holy one of Israel.
42 They [a] remembred not his hande, nor the daye when he deliuered them from the enemie, 43 Nor him that set his signes in Egypt, and his wonders in the field of Toan, 44 And turned their riuers into blood, & their floods, that they could not drinke.
45 He sent [b] a swarme of flies among the, which deuoured them, & frogs, which destroyed them.
46 Yee [c] gaue also their fruites vnto the caterpiller, and their labour vnto the grassehopper.
47 He destroyed their vines with haple, and their wilde figtrees with the haple stone.
48 He gaue their cattel also to the haple, and their flockes to the thunderbolts.
49 He cast vpon them the fiercenesse of his anger, indignation and wrath, and veration by the sending out of [d] euill Angels.
50 He made a way to his anger: he spared not their soule from death, but gaue their life to the pestilence, 51 And smote all the first borne in Egypt, euen the * beginning of their strength

g Though these fathers were the seede of Abraham & the chosen people, yet he sheweth by their rebellion, prouocatiō, falshode and hypocrisie, that the children ought not to followe their examples.
h By Ephraim he meaneth also the rest of the tribes, because they were most in nomber: whose punishment declareth that they were vnfaithfull to God, & by their multitude and authoritie had corrupt all others.
i He proueth that not only the posteritie, but also their forefathers were wicked and rebellious to God.

t Such was their hypocrisie, that they sought vnto God for feare of punishment, though in their heart they loued him not.

54 And he brought them vnto the borders

55 * Hee cast out the heathen also before of Israel to dwell in their tabernacles.

56 Yet they tempted, and prouoked the 57 But turned backe and dealt i falsly like

58 And they k prouoked him to anger

68 By building the Temple & establishing the kingdom, hee declareth that the signes of his fauour were among them.
71 He sheweth wherein a Kinges charge standeth: to wit, to prouide faithfully for his people, to guide them by counsell, and defend them by power.

PSAL. LXXIX.

The Israelites complayne to God for the great calamitie and oppression that they suffered by Gods enemies, 8 And confessing their sinnes, flee to Gods mercies with full hope of deliuerance, 10 Because their calamities were ioyned with the contempt of his Name, 13 For the which they promise to be thankefull.

A Psalme committed to Asaph.

O God, a the heathen are come into thine inheritance: thine holy Temple haue they defiled, and made Jerusalem heapes of stones.
2 The b dead bodies of thy seruats haue they giuen to bee meate vnto foules of the heauen: and the flesh of thy Saintes vnto the beastes of the earth.
3 Their blood haue they shed like waters round about Jerusalem, and there was none to c burp them.
4 We are a reproch to our d neighbours, euen a scorne & derision vnto them that are round about vs.
5 Lorde, howe long wilt thou be angrie, for euer? shall thy gelousie * burne like fire?
6 * Powre out thy wrath vpon the heathen that haue not knowen thee, and vpon the kingdomes that haue not called vpon thy Name.
7 For they haue deuoured Jaakob and made his dwelling place desolate.
8 Remember not against vs the e former iniquities, but s make haste and let thy tender mercies preuent vs: for we are in great miserie.
9 Helpe vs, O God of our h saluation, for the glorie of thy Name, and deliuer vs, and be merciful vnto our sinnes for thy Names sake.
10 Wherefore shoulde the heathen saye, Where is their God? let him be knowe among the heathen in our sight by the vengeance of the blood of thy seruantes that is shed.
11 Let the sighing of the i prisoners come before thee: according to thy mightie arme preserue k the children of death, 12 And render to our neighbours seuen folde into their bosome their reproche, wherewith they haue reproched thee, O Lord.
13 So we thy people, and sheepe of thy pasture shal praise thee for euer: & from generation to generation l wee will set forth thy praise.

i Who though in respect of God they were iustly punished for their sinnes, yet in consideration of their cause, were vniustly murthered.
k Which were captiues among their enemies, and could looke for nothing but death.
l We ought to desire no benefite of God, but on this condition to prayse his Name, Isa.43.21.

PSAL. LXXX.

1 A lamentable prayer to God to helpe the miſeries of his Church, 8 Deſiring him to conſider their firſt eſtate, when his fauour ſhined towardes them, to the intent that he might finiſhe that worke which he had begonne.

¶ To him that excelleth on Shoſhannim Eduth. A Pſalme committed to Aſaph.

a This Pſalme was made as a prayer for to deſire God to be mercifull to the ten tribes.

1 HEare, a O thou Shepheарde of Iſrael, thou that leadeſt Ioſeph like sheepe: ſhewe thy brightneſſe, thou that ſitteſt betweene the b Cherubins.

2 Before Ephraim and Beniamin and Manaſſeh ſtirre vp thy ſtrength, and come to helpe vs.

3 c Turne vs againe, O God, & cauſe thy face to ſhine that we may be ſaued.

4 O Lord God of hoſtes, howe long wilt thou bee d angrie againſt the prayer of thy people?

b Mooue their hearts that they may returne to worſhip God aright: that is, in the place where thou haſt appointed.

c Ioyne thy whole people & all thy tribes together againe.

d The faithfull feare Gods anger, when they perceiue y their prayers are not forthwith heard

5 Thou haſt fed them with the bread of teares, and giuen them teares to drinke with great meaſure.

6 Thou haſt made vs a e ſtrife vnto our neighbours, and our enemies laugh at vs among themſelues.

e Our neighbours haue continuall ſtriſe and warre againſt vs.

7 f Turne vs againe, O God of hoſtes: cauſe thy face to ſhine, and we ſhall be ſaued.

f Becauſe that repentance only commeth of God, they moſt inſtantly and oft times cal to God for it as a meane, whereby they ſhalbe ſaued.

8 Thou haſt brought a g vine out of Egypt: thou haſt caſt out the heathen, and planted it.

9 Thou madeſt roume for it, and diddeſt cauſe it to take roote, and it filled the lande.

10 The mountaines were couered with the ſhadow of it, & the boughes thereof were like the h goodly cedars.

11 She ſtretched out her branches vnto the Sea, and her boughes vnto the i River.

12 Why haſt thou then broken downe her hedges, ſo that all they, which paſſe by the way, haue plucked her?

13 The wilde k boze out of the wood hath deſtroyed it, and the wilde beaſtes of the fielde haue eaten it vp.

14 Returne we beſeeche thee, O God of hoſtes: looke downe l from heauen and behold and viſite this vine,

15 And the vineyard, that thy right hand hath planted, and the yong vine, which thou madeſt m ſtrong for thy ſelfe.

16 It is burnt with fire & cut downe: and they perish at the n rebuke of thy countenance.

17 Let thine hande be vpon the o man of thy right hande, and vpon the ſonne of man, whom thou madeſt ſtrong for thine owne ſelfe.

g This is, aſwel they that hate our religion as they that hate our perſons. k They gaue not place to tentation, knowing that albeit there were no helpe in earth, yet God was able to ſuccour them from heauen. l So that no power can preuaile againſt it, & which as a yong budde thou raiſeſt vp againe as out of the burnt aſhes. m Onely when thou art angry, and not with the ſworde of the enemie. n That is, vpon this vine, or people, whome thou haſt planted with thy right hande, that they ſhould be as one man or one bodie.

18 So will not we go backe from thee: o reuiue thou vs, and we ſhal call vpon thy Name.

19 Turne vs againe, O Lorde God of hoſtes: cauſe thy face to ſhine and we ſhalbe ſaued.

o For none can call vpon God, but ſuch as are rayſed vp, as it were, from death to life, & regenerate by the holy Spirit.

PSAL. LXXXI.

1 An exhortation to prayſe God both in heart and voyce for his benefites, 8 And to worſhip him onely. 11 God condemneth their ingratitude, 12 And ſheweth what great benefits they haue loſt through their owne malice.

¶ To him that excelleth vpon a Gittith. A Pſalme committed to Aſaph.

a An inſtrument of muſike brought from Geth.

1 SIng b ioyfully vnto God our ſtrength: ſing loude vnto the God of Iaakob.

b It ſeemeth y this Pſalme was appointed for ſolemne feaſts and aſſemblies of the people, to whom for a time theſe ceremonies were ordeyned, but now vnder the Goſpel are aboliſhed.

2 Take the ſong and bring forth the timbrell, the pleaſant harpe with the viole.

3 Blow the trumpet in the c new moone, euen in the time appointed, at our feaſt day.

c Vnder this feaſt he comprehendeth all other ſolemne dayes.

4 For this is a ſtatute for Iſrael, and a Lawe of the God of Iaakob.

5 He ſet this in d Ioſeph for a teſtimonie, when hee came out of the lande of Egypt, where I heарde a language, that e I vnderſtood not.

d That is, in Iſrael: for Ioſephs familie was counted the chiefe before that Iudah was preferred.

6 I haue withdrawen his ſhoulder from the burden, and his hands haue left the f pottes.

e God ſpeaketh in the perſon of the people, becauſe he was their leader.

7 Thou calledſt in affliction and I deliuered thee, and g anſwered thee in the ſecret of the thunder: I proued thee at the waters of h Meribah. Selah.

f If they were neuer able to giue ſufficient thankes to God for this deliuerance from corporall bondage, how much more are we indetted to him for our ſpirituall deliuerance from the tyrannie of Satan and ſinne? g By a ſtrange and wonderfull facion. h Or, contention, Exod. 17. 7.

8 i Heare, O my people, and I will proteſt vnto thee: O Iſrael, if thou wilt hearken vnto me,

9 And wilt haue no ſtrange god in thee, neither worſhip any ſtrange god,

10 (For I am the Lorde thy God, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt) k open thy mouth wide and I will fill it.

h He condemneth all aſſemblies, where the people are not attentiue to heare Gods voyce, and to giue obedience to the ſame. i God accuſeth their incredulitie, becauſe they opened not their mouthes to receiue Gods benefites in ſuch abundance as he powreth them out. k God by his word calleth all, but his ſecret election appointeth who ſhall heare with fruite.

11 But my people would not heare my voyce, and Iſrael would none of me.

12 So I gaue them vp vnto the hardnes of their heart, and they haue walked in their owne counſels.

13 l Oh that my people had hearkened vnto me, and Iſrael had walked in my wayes!

14 I would soone haue humbled their enemies, & turned mine hand [i] against their aduersaries.

15 The haters of the Lorde shoulde haue bene subiect vnto him, and their time [m] should haue endured for euer.

16 And God woulde haue fed them with the [n] fatte of wheate, and with honie out of the rocke woulde I haue sufficed thee.

i If their sinnes had not letted.

m If the Israelites had not broken couenant with God, he would haue giuen them victorie against their enemies.

n That is, with most fine wheate and abundance of honie.

PSAL. LXXXII.

1 The Prophet declaring God to be present among the Iudges & Magistrates, 2 Reproueth their partiality, 3 And exhorteth them to do iustice. 5 But seeing none amendmēt, 8 He desireth God to vndertake the matter, and execute iustice himselfe.

¶ A Psalme committed to Asaph.

1 GOD [a] standeth in the assemblie of gods: hee iudgeth among gods.

2 Howe long will ye iudge vniustly, and accept the persons of the [b] wicked? Selah.

3 Do right to the poore and fatherles: do iustice to the poore and needie.

4 Deliuer the poore & [c] needie: saue them from the hande of the wicked.

5 They know not & vnderstand nothing: they walke in darkenesse, albeit all the [d] foundations of the earth be moued.

6 I haue said, Ye are gods, and ye all are children of the most High.

7 [e] But ye shall die as a man, & ye princes, shall fall like others.

8 O God, arise, therefore iudge thou the earth: for thou shalt inherite [f] all nations.

a The Prophet sheweth that if princes and Iudges do not their duetie, God, whose authorite is aboue them, will take vengeance on the b For thieues & murderers finde fauour in iudgement, when the cause of the godly can not be heard.

c Not only when they crie for helpe, but when their cause requireth aide and support.

d That is, all things are out of order, either by their tyrannie, or careleſse negligence.

e No title of honour shal excuse you, but you shall be subiect to Gods iudgement, and render accompt as well as other men.

f Therfore no tyrant shal plucke thy right & autority from thee.

PSAL. LXXXIII.

1 The people of Israel pray vnto the Lorde to deliuer them from their enemies both at home & farre off, which imagined nothing but their destruction. 9 And they desire that all such wicked people may, according as God was accustomed, be stricken with the stormie tempest of Gods wrath, 18 That they may know that the Lord is most high vpon the earth.

¶ A song, or Psalme committed to Asaph.

1 KEepe [a] not thou silence, O God: be not still, and cease not, O God.

2 For lo, thine [b] enemies make a tumult: and they that hate thee, haue lifted vp the head.

3 They haue taken crafty counsel against thy people, and haue consulted against thy [c] secret ones.

4 They haue said, Come and let vs [d] cut them off from being a nation: and let the name of Israel bee no more [m] remembrance.

5 For they haue consulted together [e] in heart, and haue made a league [f] against thee:

6 The tabernacles of Edom, & the Ishmaelites, Moab and the Agarims:

7 Gebal and Ammon, and Amalech, the Philistims with the inhabitantes of [g] Tyrus:

8 Ashur also is ioyned with them: they haue bene an arme to the children of Lot. Selah.

9 Doe thou to them as vnto the [h] Midianites: as to Sisera & as to Iabin at the riuer of Kishon.

10 They perished at En-dor, and were [i] dung for the earth.

11 Make them, euen their princes like [k] Oreb and like Zeeb: yea, all their princes like Zebah and like Zalmuna.

12 Which haue said, Let vs take for our possession the [l] habitations of God.

13 O my God, make them like vnto a [l] wheele, and as the stubble before the winde.

14 As the fire burneth the forest, & as the flame setteth the mountaines on fire:

15 So persecute them with thy tempest, & make them afraid with thy storme.

16 Fill their faces with shame, that they may [m] seeke thy name, O Lorde.

17 Let them be confounded and troubled for euer: yea, let them be put to shame and perish.

18 That they may [n] knowe that thou, which art called Iehouah, art alone, euen the most High ouer all the earth.

a This Psalme seemeth to haue bene composed, as a forme of prayer against the dangers that the Church was in, in the daies of Iehoshaphat.

b He calleth them Gods enemies, which are enemies to his Church.

c The elect of God are his secret ones: for he hideth them in the secret of his tabernacle, and preserueth them from all dangers.

d They were not content to take the Church as prisoner, but sought vtterly to destroy it.

e By all secret meanes.

f They thought to haue subuerted thy counsell, wherein the perpetuitie of the church was established.

g The wickednes of Ammonites and Moabites is described, in they prouoked these other nations to fight against Israelits their brethren.

h By these examples, they were confirmed God would not suffer his people to be vtterly destroyed, Iudg. 7.22. & 4.15.

i Troden vnder feete as mire. Iud. 7.25. and 8.21.

k That is, Iudea: for where his Church is, there dwelleth he amōg them.

l Because the reprobate could by no meanes be amended, he prayeth that they may vtterly be destroyed, be vnstable and led with all windes.

m That is, be compelled by thy plagues to cōfesse thy power.

n Though they beleeue not, yet they may proue by experience, that it is in vaine to resist against thy counsel in establishing thy Church.

PSAL. LXXXIIII.

1 Dauid driuen forth of his country, 2 Desireth most ardently to come againe to the Tabernacle of the Lorde & the assemblie of the Saintes to praise God, 4 Pronouncing them blessed that may so doe. 6 Then he praiseth the courage of the people, that passe through the wildernesse to assemble themselues in Zion. 10 Finally with praise of this matter & confidence of Gods goodnes he endeth the Psalme.

¶ To him that excelleth vpon Gittith. A Psalme committed to the sonnes of Korah.

the [b] courtes of the Lord: for mine heart and my flesh reioyce in the liuing God.
3 Yea, the sparrowe hath found her an house, and the swallowe a nest for her, where she may lay her yong: euen by thine [c] altars, O Lord of hostes, my king and my God.
4 Blessed are they that dwell in thine house: they will euer praise thee. Selah.
5 Blessed is the man, whose [d] strength is in thee, & in whose heart are thy wayes.
6 They going through the vale of [e] Baca, make welles therein: the raine also couereth the pooles.
7 They goe from [f] strength to strength, till euery one appeare before God in Sion.
8 O Lord God of hostes, heare my prayer: hearken, O God of Iaakob. Selah.
9 Beholde, O God, our shield, and looke vpon the face of thine [g] Anointed.
10 For [h] a day in thy courtes is better then a thousand other where: I had rather be a doore keeper in the house of my God, then to dwell in the Tabernacles of wickednes.
11 For the Lorde God is the sunne and shielde vnto vs: the Lord will giue grace and glory, and no [i] good thing will he withholde from them that walke vprightly.
12 O Lord of hostes, blessed is the man that trusteth in thee.

b For none but the priests could enter into the Sanctuarie, and the rest of the people into the courtes.
c So that the poore birds haue more libertie then I.
d Who trusteth nothing in himselfe, but in thee onely, and learneth of thee to rule his life.
e That is, of mulbery trees which was a barren place so that they which passed through, must digge pits for water: signifying that no lets can hinder them that are fully bent to come to Christes Church, neither yet that God wil euer faile them.
f They are neuer weary, but increase in strength and courage till they come to Gods house. g That is, for Christes sake, whose figure I represent. h Hee would wish to liue but one day rather in Gods Church, then a thousand among the worldlings. i But wil from time to time increase his blessings towards his more and more.

PSAL. LXXXV.

1 Because God withdrewe not his rods from his Church after their returne from Babylon, first they put him in mind of their deliuerance, to the intent that he should not leaue the worke of his grace vnperfit. 5 Next they complaine of their long affliction: 8 And thirdly they reioyce in hope of felicitie promised. 9 For their deliuerance was a figure of Christes kingdome, vnder the which shoulde be perfite felicitie.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme committed to the sonnes of Korah.

1 LOrde, thou hast bene [a] fauourable vnto thy land: thou hast brought again the captiuitie of Iaakob.
2 Thou hast forgiuen the iniquitie of thy people, and [b] couered all their sinnes. Selah.
3 Thou hast withdrawen all thine anger, and hast turned backe from the [c] fiercenes of thy wrath.
4 Turne vs, O God of our saluation, and release thine anger towards vs.
5 Wilt thou be angry with vs [d] for euer? and wilt thou prolong thy wrath from one generation to another?
6 Wilt thou not turne againe and quicken vs, that thy people may reioyce in thee?
7 Shew vs thy mercy, O Lord, & graunt vs thy [e] saluation.
8 I wil hearken what the Lord God will say: for he will speake [f] peace vnto his people, and to his Saintes, that they turne not againe to follie.
9 Surely his saluation is nere to them that feare him, that glory may dwell in our land.
10 Mercy and trueth shall mete: righteousnes and peace shall kisse one another.
11 Trueth shal bud out of the earth, and righteousnesse shall looke downe from heauen.
12 Yea, the Lorde shall giue good things, and our land shall giue her encrease.
13 [h] Righteousnes shal go before him, and shall set her steppes in the way.

a They confesse that Gods free mercy was the cause of their deliuerance, because he loued the land which he had chosen.
b Thou hast buried them that they shall not come into iudgement. c Not onely in withdrawing thy rod, but in forgiuing our sinnes, and in touching our hearts to confesse them.
d As in times past they had felt Gods mercies: so nowe being oppressed by the long continuance of euils, they pray vnto God, that according to his nature he would be mercifull vnto them. e He confesseth that our saluation commeth onely of Gods mercy.
f He wil send all prosperitie to his Church, when he hath sufficiently corrected them. also by his punishments the faithful shall learne to beware if they returne not to like offences. g Though for a time God thus exercise them with his rods, yet vnder the kingdome of Christ they should haue peace and ioy. h Iustice shall then florish and haue free course & passage in euery place.

PSAL. LXXXVI.

1 Dauid sore afflicted and forsaken of all, prayeth feruently for deliuerance: 5 Sometimes rehearsing his miseries, 5 Sometimes the mercies receiued, 11 Desiring also to be instructed of the Lorde, that he may feare him and glorifie his Name. 14 Hee complaineth also of his aduersaries, and requireth to be deliuered from them.

¶ A prayer of Dauid.

1 INcline [a] thine eare, O Lorde, & heare me: for I am poore and needie.
2 Preserue thou my soule, for I am [b] mercifull: my God, saue thou thy seruant, that trusteth in thee.
3 Be mercifull vnto me, O Lorde: for I [c] cry vpon thee continually.
4 Reioyce the soule of thy seruant: for vnto thee, O Lord, do I lift vp my soule.
5 For thou, Lorde, art good and [d] mercifull, and of great kindnes vnto all them, that call vpon thee.
6 Giue eare, Lorde, vnto my prayer, and [e] hearken to the voyce of my supplication.
7 In the day of my trouble I will call vpon thee: for thou hearest me.
8 Among the gods there is none like thee, O Lord, and there [f] is none that can do like thy workes.
9 All nations, whome thou hast made, shall come and [g] worship before thee, O a Dauid persecuted of Saul, thus prayed, leauing the same to the Church as a monument, how to seeke redresse against their miseries.

b I am not enemie to them, but pitie them, though they be cruel toward me.
c Which was a sure token that he beleeued that God would deliuer him.
d He doth confesse that God is good to all, but only mercifull to poore sinners. e By crying and calling continually, hee sheweth howe we may not be weary, though God graunt not foorthwith our request, but that we must earnestly, and often call vpon him. f Hee condemneth all idoles, forasmuch as they can do no workes to declare that they are gods. g This proueth that Dauid prayed in the name of Christ the Messias, of whose kingdome he doth here prophecie.

h He confesseth himselfe ignorant till God hath taught him, and his heart variable and separate from God, till God joyne it to him, and confirme it in his obedience.

Loyd, and shall glorifie thy Name.
10 For thou art great and doest wonderous things: thou art God alone.
11 h Teach me thy way, O Loyd, & I will walke in thy trueth: knit mine heart vnto thee, that I may feare thy Name.
12 I will praise thee, O Loyde my God, with all mine heart: yea, I will glorifie thy Name for euer.
13 For great is thy mercy toward me, and thou hast deliuered my soule from i the lowest graue.
14 O God, the proude are risen against me, and the assemblies of violent men haue k sought my soule, and haue not set thee before them.
15 But thou, O Loyde, art a pitifull God and mercifull, slowe to anger and great in kindnes and trueth.
16 Turne vnto me, and haue mercie vpon me: giue thy strength vnto thy seruant, and saue the l sonne of thine handmaide.
17 Shew a token of thy goodnes toward me, that they which hate me, may see it, and be ashamed, because thou, O Loyd, hast holpen me and comforted me.

i That is, from most great danger of death: out of the which none, but onely the mighty hand of God, could deliuer him.

k He sheweth that there can be no moderation nor equitie, where proud tyrants reigne, and that the lacke of Gods feare is as a priuiledge to all vice and crueltie.

l Hee boasteth not of his owne vertues, but confesseth that God of his free goodnes hath euer bene mercifull vnto him, and giuen him power against his enemies, as to one of his owne household.

PSAL. LXXXVII.

1 The holy Ghost promiseth that the condition of the Church, which was in miserie after the captiuitie of Babylon, should be restored to great excellencie, 4 So that there shoulde be nothing more comfortable, then to be numbred among the members thereof.

¶ A Psalme or song committed to the sonnes of Korah.

1 God layed his a foundations among the holy mountaines.
2 The Loyd loueth the gates of Zion aboue all the habitations of Iaakob.
3 b Glorious things are spoken of thee, O citie of God. Selah.
4 I will make mention of c Rahab and Babel among them that know me: beholde Palestina and Tyrus with Ethiopia, d There is he borne.
5 And of Zion it shall be said, e Many are borne in her: and he, euen the most High shall stablish her.
6 The Loyd shal count, when he f writeth the people, That he was borne there. Selah.
7 As well the singers as the players on instrumentes shall praise thee: all my s springes are in thee.

a God did chuse that place amõg the hils to establish Ierusalem and his Temple.

b Though thy glorious estate do not yet appeare, yet waite with patience & God will accomplish his promes.

c That is, Egypt and these other countreys shall come to ỹ knowledge of God.

d It shalbe said of him, that is regenerate and come to the Church, that hee is as one that was borne in the Church.

e Out of all quarters they shall come into the Church and be counted as citizens.

f When he calleth by his word them into the Church, whome hee had elected and written in his booke.

g The Prophet setteth his whole affections and comfort in the Church.

PSAL. LXXXVIII.

1 A grieuous complaint of the faithfull, sore afflicted by sickneſſe, persecutions and aduersitie, 7 Being as it were left of God without any consolation: 13 Yet hee calleth on God by faith and striueth against desperation, 18 Complayning himselfe to be forsaken of all earthly helpe.

¶ A song or Psalme of * Heman the Ezrahite to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah for him that excelleth vpon Malath a Leannoth.

1 O Loyde God of my saluation, I crye day and night b before thee.
2 Let my prayer enter into thy presence: incline thine eare vnto my crye.
3 For my soule is filled with euils, and my life draweth nere to the graue.
4 I am counted among them that goe downe vnto the pitte, and am as a man without strength:
5 c Free among the dead, like the slaine lying in the graue, whom thou remembrest no more, and they are cut off from thine d hand.
6 Thou hast laied me in the lowest pit, in darkenes, and in the deepe.
7 Thine indignation lieth vpon me, and thou hast vexed me with al thy e waues. Selah.
8 Thou hast put away mine f acquaintance farre from me, and made me to be abhorred of them: g I am shut vp, and cannot get forth.
9 h Mine eye is sorowfull through mine affliction: Loyd, I call daily vpon thee: I stretch out mine handes vnto thee.
10 Wilt thou shewe i a miracle to the dead? or shal the dead rise & praise thee? Selah.
11 Shall thy louing kindnes be declared in the graue? or thy faithfulnes in destruction?
12 Shall thy wonderous workes bee knowen in the darke? and thy righteousnes in the land k of oblition?
13 But vnto thee haue I cryed, O Loyde, and early shall my prayer come before thee.
14 Loyd, why doest thou reiect my soule, and hidest thy face from me?
15 I am afflicted & at the point of death: l from my youth I suffer thy terrours, doubting of my life.
16 Thine indignations goe ouer me, and thy feare hath cut me off.
17 They came round about me daily like water, and compassed me together.
18 My louers and friendes hast thou put away from me, and mine acquaintance * hid themselues.

a That is, to humble. It was the beginning of a song, by the tune whereof this Psalme was sung.

b Though many cry in their sorowes, yet they cry not earnestly to God for remedy as he did: whom he confessed to be the autor of his saluation.

c For hee that is dead, is free from all cares and busines of this life: & thus hee saith, because he was vnprofitable for all matters concerning mans life, and as it were cut off from this world.

d That is, from thy prouidence and care, which is meant according to ỹ iudgement of the flesh.

e The stormes of thy wrath haue ouerwhelmed me.

f He attributeth the losse and displeasure of his friends to Gods prouidence, whereby he partly punisheth and partly trieth his.

g I see none end of my sorowes.

h Mine eyes and face declare my sorowes.

i He sheweth that the time is more conuenient for God to helpe, when men call vnto him in their dangers, then to tary till they be dead and then rayse them vp againe.

k That is, in the graue, where onely the body lyeth without all sense and remembrance.

l I am euer in great dangers and sorowes, as though my life should vtterly be cut off euery moment.

praise the goodnesse of God, 23 For his testament and couenant, that hee had made betweene him and his elect by Iesus Christ the sonne of Dauid. 38 Then doeth hee complaine of the great ruine, & desolation of the kingdome of Dauid, so that to the outward appearance the promesse was broken. 46 Finally he prayeth to be deliuered from his afflictions, making mention of the shortnes of mans life, & confirming himselfe by Gods promises.

¶ A Psalme to giue instruction, of Ethan the Ezrahite.

a Though the horrible confusion of things might cause the to despaire of Gods fauour: yet the manifolde examples of his mercies cause them to trust in God, though to mans iudgement they sawe none occasion.

b As he that surely beleeued in heart.

c As thine inuisible heauen is not subiect to any alteration & change: so shall the trueth of thy promes bee vnchangeable.

d The Prophet sheweth what was the promes of God, whereon he grounded his faith.

e The Angels shall praise thy power & faithfulnesse in deliuering thy Church.

f That is, in the heauens.

g Meaning, the Angels.

h If the Angels tremble before Gods maiestie & infinite iustice, what earthly creature by oppressing the Church, dare set himselfe against God?

1 I Will [a] sing the mercies of the Lord for euer: with my mouth will I declare thy truth from generation to generation.
2 For I [b] sayde, Mercy shalbe set vp for euer: thy trueth shalt thou [c] stablishe in the very heauens.
3 [d] I haue made a couenant with my chosen: I haue sworne to Dauid my seruant,
4 Thy seede will I stablish for euer, and set vp thy throne from generatiõ to generation. Selah.
5 O Lord, euen the [e] heauens shall praise thy wonderous worke: yea, thy trueth in the [f] congregation of the Saints.
6 For who is equall to the Lorde in the heauen? and who is like the Lord among the [g] sonnes of the gods?
7 God is very terrible in the assembly of the [h] Saintes, & to be reuerenced aboue all, that are about him.
8 O Lord God of hostes, who is like vnto thee, which art a mightie Lorde, and thy trueth is about thee?
9 [i] Thou rulest the raging of the sea: when the waues thereof arise, thou stillest them.
10 Thou hast beaten downe Rahab as a man slaine: thou hast scattered thine enemies with thy mighty arme.
11 The heauens are thine, the earth also is thine: thou hast laied the foundation of the worlde, and all that therein is.
12 Thou hast created the North and the South: [k] Tabor and Hermon shall reioyce in thy Name.
13 Thou hast a mightie arme: strong is thine hand, and high is thy right hand.
14 [l] Righteousnes and equitie are the stablishment of thy throne: mercy & trueth go before thy face.
15 Blessed is the people, that can [m] reioyce in thee: they shall walke in the light of thy [n] countenance, O Lord.
16 They shall reioyce continually in thy Name, & in thy righteousnes shall they exalt themselues.
17 For thou art the [o] gloy of their strength, and by thy fauour our horne shall be exalted.
18 For our [p] shielde appertaineth to the Lorde, and our King to the holy one of Israel.
19 Thou spakest then in a vision vnto [q] thine holie one, and saydest, I haue laied helpe vpon one that is [r] mighty: I haue exalted one chosen out of the people.
20 I haue found Dauid my seruant: with mine holy oyle haue I anointed him.
21 Therfore mine hand shalbe established with him, and mine arme shall strengthen him.
22 The enemie shal not oppresse him, neither shall the wicked hurt him.
23 But I will [s] destroy his foes before his face, and plague them that hate him.
24 My trueth also and my [t] mercy shalbe with him, and in my Name shall his [u] horne be exalted.
25 I will set his hand also in the sea, and his right hand in the [x] floods.
26 He shall crie vnto me, Thou art my [y] father, my God and the rocke of my saluation.
27 Also I will make him my first borne, higher then the kings of the earth.
28 My mercy will I keepe for him for [z] euermore, and my couenant shall stande fast with him.
29 His seede also will I make to endure [a] for euer, and his throne as the dayes of heauen.
30 But if his children forsake my Lawe, and walke not in my iudgements:
31 * If they breake my statutes, & keepe not my commandements:
32 Then will I visite their transgression with the rodde, and their iniquitie with strokes.
33 [b] Yet my louing kindnesse will I not take from him, neither will I falsifie my trueth.
34 My couenant will I not breake, nor [c] alter the thing that is gone out of my lippes.
35 I haue sworne once by mine holines, [d] that I will not faile Dauid, saying, 36 His seede shal endure for euer, and his throne shalbe as the sunne before me.
37 He shalbe established for euermore as the moone, and as a faithfull [e] witnes in the heauen. Selah.

b For God in promising hath respect to his mercy and not to mans power in performing. "Ebr. if I lie vnto Dauid: which is a maner of othe.

c As long as the sunne and moone endure, they shalbe witnesses to me of this promes.

d Because of the horrible confusion of things, the Prophet complaineth to God as though he sawe not the performance of his promes. And thus discharging his cares on God, he resisteth doubt & impaciency.

e By this he meaneth ỹ horrible dissipation and renting of the kingdome, which was vnder Ieroboam: or els by the Spirit of prophecy Ethan speketh of those great miseries, which came soone afterward to passe at ỹ captiuity of Babylō.

PSAL. XC.

1 Moses in his prayer setteth before vs the eternall fauour of God toward his, 3 Who are neither admonished by the breuitie of their life, 7 Nor by his plagues to be thākfull. 12 Therefore Moses prayeth God to turne their hearts & continue his mercies toward them, and their posteritie for euer.

A prayer of Moses, the a man of God.

1 LOrde, thou hast bene our b habitatiō from generation to generation.
2 Before þ c mountaines were made, and before thou hadst formed the earth, and the world, euen from euerlasting to euerlasting thou art our God.
3 Thou d turnest man to destruction: & saiest, Returne, ye sonnes of Adam.
4 e For a thousand yeres in thy sight are as yesterday when it is past, and as a watch in the night.
5 Thou hast f ouerflowed them: they are as a sleepe: in the morning they are growen like the grasse:
6 In the morning it flourisheth & groweth, but in the euening it is cut downe and withereth.
7 For we are consumed by thine anger, and by thy wrath are we troubled.
8 Thou hast set our iniquities before thee, and our secrete sinnes in the light of thy countenance.
9 For all our dayes are past in thine anger: we haue h spent our yeeres as a thought.
10 The time of our life is three score yeres and ten, and if they be of strength, i four score yeres: yet their strength is but labour and sorowe: for it is cut off quickly, and we flee away.
11 k Who knoweth the power of thy wrath? for according to thy feare is thine anger.
12 Teach vs so to number our daies, þ we may apply our hearts vnto l wisdome.
13 Returne (O Lord, m how long?) and be l pacified toward thy seruants.
14 Fill vs with thy mercie in the morning: so shall we reioyce and be glad all our dayes.
15 Comfort vs according to þ daies that thou hast afflicted vs, & according to the yeeres that we haue seene euill.
16 n Let thy worke be seene towarde thy seruantes, and thy glorie vpon their o children.
17 And let the p beautie of the Lorde our God be vpon vs, and q direct thou the worke of our handes vpon vs, euen direct the worke of our handes.

a Thus the scripture vseth to call the Prophets.
b Thou hast bin as an house & defence vnto vs in all our troubles and trauels now this foure hundreth yeres.
c Thou hast chosen vs to be thy people before the foundations of the world were layed.
d Moses by lamenting the frailtie and shortnes of mans life mooueth God to pity.
e Though mā thinke his life long, which is in deede most short, yea though it were a thousand yeeres: yet in Gods sight it is as nothing, and as the watch that lasteth but three houres.
f Thou takest them away suddenly as with a flood.
g Thou calleſt vs by thy rods to consider the shortnesse of our life, and for our sinnes thou abridgest our daies.
h Our dayes are not onely short, but miserable, for as much as our sinnes daily prouoke thy wrath.
i Meaning, according to the cōmon state of life.
k If mans life for the breuitie be miserable, much more, if thy wrath lie vpon it, as they, which fear thee, onely knowe.
l Which is, by considering the shortnesse of our life, & by meditating the heauenly ioyes.
m Meaning, wilt thou be angry?
Or, take comfort in thy seruants.
n Euen thy mercy, which is thy chiefest worke.
o As Gods promises appertained aswel to their posteritie, as to them, so Moses prayeth for the posteritie.
p Meaning, that it was obscured, when hee ceased to doe good to his Church.
q For except thou guide vs with thine holy Spirit, our enterprises can haue no good successe.

1 Here is described in what assurance hee liueth that putteth his whole trust in God, and committeth himself wholy to his protection in all tentations. 14 A promes of God to those that loue him, knowe him and trust in him, to deliuer them, & giue them immortall glorie.

1 WHo so dwelleth in the a secrete of the most High, shall abide in the shadow of the Almightie.
2 b I will say vnto the Lorde, O mine hope, and my fortresse: he is my God, in him will I trust.
3 Surely hee will deliuer thee from the c snare of the hunter, and from the noysome pestilence.
4 He will couer thee vnder his winges, and thou shalt bee sure vnder his feas a He that meketh God his defence and trust, shal perceiue his protection to be a most sure safegard.

b Being assured of this protection, he prayeth vnto the Lord, whether Satan assaile vs secretly, which hee calleth a snare: or openly, which is here ment by the pestilence.

d That is, his faithful keeping of promes to helpe thee in thy necessitie.

thers: his [d] truety shalbe thy shield and buckler.
5 [e] Thou shalt not be afraide of the feare of the night, nor of the arrow that flieth by day;
e The care that God hath ouer his, is most sufficient to defend them from all dangers.
6 Nor of the pestilence that walketh in the darkenes: nor of the plague that destroyeth at noone day.
f The godly shal haue some experience of Gods iudgemẽts against the wicked euen in this life, but fully they shall see it at that day, when all things shalbe reueiled.
7 A thousand shal fall at thy side, & tenne thousand at thy right hande, but it shall not come nere thee.
8 Doubtles with thine [f] eyes shalt thou beholde and see the rewarde of the wicked.
g God hath not appointed euery man one Angel, but many to be ministers of his prouidence to keepe his and defend them in their vocation, which is the way to walke in without tempting God.
9 For thou hast saide, The Lorde is mine hope: thou hast set the most high for thy refuge.
10 There shall none euil come vnto thee, neither shall any plague come nere thy tabernacle.
11 ‖ For he shall giue his Angels charge ouer thee to kepe thee in all thy wayes.
12 They shall beare thee in their handes, that thou hurt not thy foote against a stone.
13 Thou shalt walke vpon the lion and aspe: the [h] yong lion and the dragon shalt thou tread vnder feete.
h Thou shalt not only be preserued from all euil, but ouercome it whether it be secret or open.
14 [i] Because he hath loued me, therefore will I deliuer him: I wil exalt him because he hath knowen my name.
15 He shall call vpon me, and I wil heare him: I will be with him in trouble: I will deliuer him, and glorifie him.
16 With [k] long life wil I satisfie him, and shew him my saluation.

i To assure the faithfull of Gods protection, he bringeth in God to confirme the same. k For he is contented with that life, that God giueth: for by death the shortnes of this life is recompensed with immortalitie.

PSAL. XCII.

1 This Psalme was made to be sung on the Sabbath, to stirre vp the people to acknowledge God and to prayse him in his workes: the Prophet reioyceth therein. 6 But the wicked is not able to consider that the vngodly, when he is most flourishing, shall most speedily perish. 12 In the ende is described the felicitie of the iust, planted in the house of God to praise the Lord.

A Psalme or song for the [a] Sabbath day.

a Which teacheth that the vse of ‖ Sabbath standeth in praysing God, & not onely in ceasing from worke.

1 It is a good thing to praise the Lorde, and to sing vnto thy Name, O most high, b For Gods mercie and fidelitie in his promises toward his, bind them to praise him continually both day and night.
2 To declare thy louing kindnes in the [b] morning, and thy truety in the night,
3 Vpon an [c] instrument of ten stringes, and vpon the viole, with the song vpon the harpe.
4 For thou, Lorde, hast made me glad by thy [d] workes, and I will reioyce in the workes of thine handes.
c These instruments were then permitted, but at Christes comming abolished. d He sheweth what is the vse of the Sabbath day: to wit, to meditate Gods workes.
5 O Lord, how glorious are thy workes! and thy thoughts are very deepe.
6 An [e] vnwise man knoweth it not, and a foole doth not vnderstand this,
7 (When the wicked grow as the grasse, and all the workers of wickednes doe flourish) that they shall be destroyed for euer.
e That is, the wicked consider not Gods works, nor his iudgements against them, and therefore most iustly perish.
8 But thou, O Lorde, art [f] most high for euermore.
9 For loe, thine enemies, O Lord: for loe, thine enemies shall perish: all the workers of iniquitie shalbe destroyed.
f Thy iudgements are most constant against the wicked, and passe our reach.
10 ‖ But thou shalt exalt mine horne, like the vnicornes, and I shall be anointed with fresh oyle.
g Thou wilt strengthen them with all power, and blesse them with all felicitie.
11 Mine eye also shall see my desire against mine enemies: & mine eares shall heare my wishe against the wicked, that rise vp against me.
h Though the faithful seeme to wither & be cut downe by ‖ wicked: yet they shal grow againe and florish in the Church of God, as ‖ Cedars do in mount Lebanon.
12 The righteous shall [h] flourish like a palme tree, and shal grow like a cedar in Lebanon.
13 Such as be planted in the house of the Lorde, shall flourish in the courtes of our God.
i The children of God shall haue a power aboue nature, and their age shall bring forth most fresh fruites.
14 They shal still bring forth fruite in their age: they shalbe fat and flourishing, 15 To declare that the Lorde my rocke is righteous, and that none iniquitie is in him.

PSAL. XCIII.

1 He praiseth the power of God in the creation of the worlde, and beateth downe all people which lift them vp against his maiestie, 5 And prouoketh to consider his promises.

1 The Lorde [a] reigneth, and is clothed with maiestie: the Lord is clothed, and girded with power: the world also shalbe established, that it cannot be moued.
a As God by his power and wisdome hath made and gouerneth the world: so must the same be our defence against all enemies and dangers.
2 Thy [b] throne is established of old: thou art from euerlasting.
3 [c] The floods haue lifted vp, O Lord: the floods haue lifted vp their voyce: the floods lift vp their waues.
b Wherein thou sittest & gouernest the world.
4 The waues of the sea are marueilous though the noyse of many waters, yet the Lord on high is more mighty.
5 Thy [d] testimonies are very sure: holines becommeth thine house, O Lorde, for euer.
c Gods power appeareth in ruling the furious waters. d Besides Gods power and wisdome in creating and gouerning, his great mercie also appeareth in that he hath giuen his people his word and couenant.

PSAL. XCIIII.

1 He prayeth vnto God against the violence and arrogancie of tyrantes, 10 Warning them of Gods iudgements. 12 Then doth he comfort the afflicted by the good issue of their afflictions, as he felt in himselfe, and did see in others, and by the ruine of the wicked, 23 Whom the Lorde will destroy.

4 For the gouernement of the worlde, and the election of his Church. 8 An admonition not to follow the rebellion of the old fathers, that tempted God in the wildernes: 11 For the which they myght not enter into the land of promiſe.

1 O Lord God [a] the auenger, O God the auenger, ſhew thy ſelfe [b] clerely.
2 Exalt thy ſelfe, O Iudge of the world, & render a reward to the proud.
3 Lord, howe long ſhall the wicked, howe long ſhall the wicked [c] triumph?
4 They prate and ſpeake fiercely: all the workers of iniquitie vaunt themſelues.
5 They [d] ſmite downe thy people, O Lord, and trouble thyne heritage.
6 They ſlay the widow and the ſtranger, and murther the fatherleſſe.
7 [e] Yet they ſay, The Lord ſhal not ſée: neither will the God of Iaakob regard it.
8 Vnderſtand ye vnwiſe among the people: and ye fooles, when will ye be wiſe?
9 He that [f] planted the eare, ſhall hée not heare? or he that formed the eye, ſhal he not ſée?
10 Or he that chaſtiſeth the [g] nations, ſhal he not correct? hee that teacheth man knowledge, ſhall he not know?
11 The Lorde knoweth the thoughtes of man, that they are vanitie.
12 Bleſſed is the man, whome thou [h] chaſtiſeſt, O Lorde, and teacheſt him in thy Lawe, 13 That thou mayeſt giue him reſt from the dayes of euill, whiles the pit is digged for the wicked.
14 Surely the Lord will not faile his people, neither will he forſake his inheritance.
15 For [i] iudgement ſhal returne to iuſtice, and all the vpright in heart ſhall followe after it.
16 Who will riſe vp with me againſt the wicked? or who will take my part againſt the workers of iniquitie?
17 If the Lorde had not [k] holpen me, my ſoule had almoſt dwelt in ſilence.
18 When I ſaide, [l] My foote ſtideth, thy mercy, O Lord, ſtayed me.
19 In the multitude of my [m] thoughts in mine heart, thy comforts haue reioyced my ſoule.
20 Hath the throne of iniquitie [n] fellowſhip with thée, which forgeth wrong for a Lawe?
21 They gather them together againſt the ſoule of the righteous, & condemne the innocent blood.
22 But the Lord is my refuge, & my God is the rocke of mine hope.
23 And hee will recompence them their wickednes, and [o] deſtroy them in their owne malice: yea, the Lorde our God ſhall deſtroy them.

a Whoſe office it is to take vengeance on the wicked.
b Shew by effect that thou art Iudge of the world to puniſh the wicked.
c That is, brag of their crueltie & oppreſſion: or eſteeme themſelues aboue all other.
d Seeing the Church was then ſo ſore oppreſſed it ought not to ſeeme ſtrange to vs, if we ſee it ſo now, & therefore we muſt call to God to take our cauſe in hād.
e He ſheweth ẏ they are deſperat in malice, for as much as they feared not God, but gaue themſelues wholy to do wickedly.
f He ſheweth that it is impoſſible but God ſhould heare, ſee and vnderſtand their wickednes.
g If God puniſh whole nations for their ſinnes, it is meere folly for any one man, or els a fewe to thinke that God will ſpare them.
h God hath care ouer his & chaſtiſeth them for their welth, that they ſhould not periſh for euer with the wicked.
i God wil reſtore the ſtate and gouernement of things to their right vſe, & then the godly ſhall followe him cherefully.
k He complaineth of them, which would not helpe him to reſiſt the enemies: yet was aſſured that Gods helpe would not faile.
l When I thought there was no way but death.
m In my trouble and diſtreſſe I euer found thy preſent helpe.
n Though the wicked iudges pretend iuſtice in oppreſſing the Church, yet they haue not that authoritie of God.
o It is a great token of Gods iudgement, when the purpoſe of the wicked is broken, but moſt, when they are deſtroyed in their owne malice.

1 An earneſt exhortation to praiſe God

1 Come, let vs reioyce vnto the Lord: let vs ſing [a] aloude vnto the rocke of our ſaluation.
2 Let vs come before his face with praiſe: let vs ſing loude vnto him with Pſalmes.
3 For the Lorde is a great God, & a great king aboue all [b] gods.
4 In whoſe hand are the déepe places of the earth, & the [c] ſtrights of the mountaines are his:
5 To whome the Sea belongeth: for hee made it, and his hands formed the dry land.
6 Come, let vs [d] worſhip and fall downe, and kneele before the Lord our maker.
7 For he is our God, & we are the people of his paſture, & the ſhéepe of his [e] hand: to day, if ye will heare his voyce,
8 [f] Harden not your heart, as [g] in Meribah, and as in the day of [h] Maſſah in the wildernes.
9 Where your fathers [*] tempted mee, prooued me, though they had ſéene my worke.
10 Fourtie yeres haue I contended with this generation, and ſaide, They are a people that [s] erre in heart, for they haue not knowen my wayes.
11 Wherefore I ſware in my wrath, ſaying, Surely they ſhall not enter into my [k] reſt.

a He ſheweth that Gods ſeruice ſtandeth not in dead ceremonies, but chiefly in the ſacrifice of praiſe and thankesgiuing.
b Euen the Angels (who in reſpect of men are thought as gods) are nothing in his ſight: much leſſe the Idoles which mans braine inuēteth.
c All things are gouerned by his prouidence.
d By theſe three wordes he ſignifieth one thing: meaning, that they muſt wholy giue themſelues to ſerue God.
e That is, the flocke whom he gouerneth with his owne hand. He ſheweth wherein they are Gods flocke: that is, if they heare his voyce, f By the contemning of Gods word.
[*] Or, in ſtrife: whereof the place was ſo called. [g] Or, tentation, read Exodus 17.7. [*] Exod. 17.2. numb. 14.22.
g They were wout iudgement & reaſon.
h That is, into the land of Canaan, where he promiſed them reſt.

1 An exhortation both to the Iewes and Gentiles to praiſe God for his mercy. And this ſpecially ought to be referred to the kingdome of Chriſt.

1 Sing [a] vnto the Lord a newe ſong: ſing vnto the Lord, all the earth.
2 Sing vnto the Lorde, and praiſe his Name: declare his ſaluation from day to day.
3 Declare his glory among all nations, and his wonders among all people.
4 For the Lorde is [b] great and much to be praiſed: he is to be feared aboue al gods.
5 For all the gods of the people are [a] idols: but the Lord [c] made the heauens.
6 [d] Strength and glory are before him: power & beautie are in his Sanctuarie.
7 Giue vnto the Lorde, ye families of the people: giue vnto the Lorde glorie a The Prophet ſheweth that the time ſhall come, that all natioos ſhall haue occaſion to praiſe the Lorde for the reueiling of his Goſpel.

b Seeing he will reueile himſelfe to all nations contrary to their owne expectatiō, they ought all to worſhip him cōtrarie to their owne imaginations, and onely as he hath appointed.
[a] Or, vanities.
c Then the idols, or whatſoeuer made not the heauens, are not God.
d God cannot be knowen, but by his ſtrength and glory: the ſignes whereof appeare in his Sanctuarie.

and e power.
8 Giue vnto the Lorde the glorye of his Name: bring f an offring, and enter vnto his courtes.
9 Worship the Lord in the glorious Sanctuarie: tremble before him all the earth.
10 Say among the nations, The Lord reigneth: surely the worlde shal be stable, and not moue, and hee shall iudge the people h in righteousnesse.
11 Let the heauens reioyce, and let the earth be glad: let the sea roare, and all that therein is.
12 Let the field be ioyful, and all that is in it: let all the i trees of the wood then reioyce 13 Before the Lord: for he commeth, for he commeth to iudge the earth: he will iudge the worlde with righteousnes, & the people in his truetie.

e As by experience ye see that it is onely due vnto him.
f By offring vp yourselues wholy vnto God, declare y you worship him only.
g He prophecie th that the Gentiles shalbe partakers with the Iewes of Gods promes.
h He shal regenerate them anewe with his Spirit, and restore them to the image of God.
i If the insensible creatures shall haue cause to reioyce, when God appeareth, much more we, from whom he hath taken maledictiō and sinne.

PSAL. XCVII.

1 The Prophet exhorteth all to reioyce for the comming of the kingdome of Christ, 7 Dreadfull to the rebelles and idolaters, 8 And ioyfull to the iust, whom he exhorteth to innocencie, 12 To reioycing & thankesgiuing.

1 THe a Lord reigneth: let the earth reioyce: let the b multitude of the ples be glad.
2 c Cloudes and darkenes are rounde about him: righteousnes and iudgement are the fundation of his throne.
3 There shall goe a fire before him, and burne vp his enemies round about.
4 His lightninges gaue light vnto the worlde: the earth sawe it & was d afrayd.
5 The mountaines melted like ware at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the Lorde of the whole earth.
6 The heauens declare his righteousnes, and all the people see his glorye.
7 e Confounded be all they that serue grauen images, & that glorye in idoles: worship him f all ye gods.
8 Sion heard of it, and was glad: and the g daughters of Iudah reioyced, because of thy iudgements, O Lord.
9 For thou, Lord, art most high aboue all the earth: thou art much exalted aboue all gods.
10 Ye that h loue the Lorde, hate euil: he preserueth the soules of his Saintes: he will deliuer them from the hande of the wicked.
11 i Light is sowen for the righteous, and ioye for the vpright in heart.
12 Reioyce ye righteous in the Lord, and giue thankes for his holy k remembrance.

a He sheweth y where God reigneth, there is all felicitie and spirituall ioy.
b For the Gospell shall not be only preached in Iudea, but thorough all yles and countreis.
c He is thus described to keepe his enemies in feare, which cōmonly cōtemne Gods power.
d This feare brin geth not y wicked to true obedience, but maketh thē to run away from God.
e He signifieth y Gods iudgements are in a readines to destroy the idolaters.
f Let all that which is esteemed in y world, fall downe before him.
g The Iewes shall haue occasion to reioyce that the Gentiles are made partakers with them of Gods fauour.
h He requireth two things of his children: the one that they detest vice, the other, that they put their trust in God for their deliuerance.
i Though Gods deliuerance appeare not suddenly, yet it is sowen and laid vp in store for them, k Be mindful of his benefites, and onely trust in his defence.

PSAL. XCVIII.

1 An earnest exhortation to all creatures to praise the Lord for his power, mercie & fidelitie in his promes by Christ, 10 By whom he hath communicated his saluation to all nations.

1 A Psalme.
SIng a vnto the Lord a new song: for he hath done marueilous thinges: his right hand, and his holy b arme haue gotten him the victorie.
2 The Lord declared his c saluation: his righteousnes hath he reuealed in the sight of the nations.
3 He hath d remembred his mercie & his truth toward the house of Israel: all the endes of the earth haue seene the saluation of our God.
4 All the earth, sing ye loude vnto the Lorde: crye out and reioyce, and sing praises.
5 Sing praise to the Lord vpon the harpe, euen vpon the harpe with a singing voyce.
6 With e shalmes and sound of trumpets sing loud before the Lord the King.
7 Let the sea roare, and all that therein is, the world, and they that dwel therein.
8 Let the floods clap their handes, and let the mountaines reioyce together
9 Before the Lord: for he is come to iudge the earth: with righteousnes shall he iudge the worlde, and the people with equitie.

a That is, some song, newly made in token of their wonderful deliuerance by Christ. Isa. 59.16.
b He preserueth his Church miraculously.
c For the deliuerance of his Church.
d God was moued by none other meanes to gather his Church of the Iewes and Gentiles, but because he would performe his promes.
e By this repetition and earnest exhortation to giue praises with instruments, and also of y dumme creatures, he signifieth that the world is neuer able to praise God sufficiently for their deliuerance.

PSAL. XCIX.

1 He commendeth the power, equitie & excellencie of the kingdome of God by Christ ouer the Iewes and Gentiles, 5 And prouoketh them to magnifie the same & to serue the Lorde, 6 Folowing the example of the ancient Fathers, Moses, Aaron, Samuel, who calling vpon God, were heard in their prayers.

1 THe Lorde reigneth, let the a people tremble: he sitteth betwene the b Cherubims, let the earth be moued.
2 The Lorde is great in Sion, and he is high aboue all the people.
3 They shall c praise thy great and fearfull Name (for it is holy)
4 And the Kinges power, that loueth iudgement: for thou hast prepared equitie: thou hast executed iudgement and iustice in Iaakob.
5 Exalt the Lord our God, & fall downe before his d footestoole: for he is holy.
6 Moses and Aaron were among his Priestes, e and Samuel among such as call vpon his Name: these called vpon the Lord, and he heard them.
7 He spake vnto them in the cloudie pillar: they kept his testimonies, and the lawe that he gaue them.

a When God deliuereth his Church, all y enemies shal haue cause to trēble. Exod. 25.22.
b Though the wicked rage against God, yet the godly shall praise his Name and mightie power.
c That is, before his Temple or arke, where he promised to heare when they worshipped him, as now he promiseth his spirituall presence, whereseouer his Church is assembled.
d Vnder these three he comprehendeth the whole people of Israel, with whom God made his promes.

8 Thou

e For the more liberally ỹ God dealeth with his people, the more doeth he puniſh them that abuſe his benefites.

8 Thou heardeſt them, O Lord our God: thou waſt a fauourable God vnto thē, though thou dideſt take vengeance of *their inuentions.
9 Exalt the Lord our God, and fal down before his holy Mountaine: for þ Lorde our God is holy.

PSAL. C.

He exhorteth all to ſerue the Lorde, 3 Who hath choſen vs and preſerued vs, 4 And to enter into his aſſemblies to praiſe his Name.

¶ A Pſalme of praiſe.

a He propheciеth that Gods benefite in calling the Gentiles, ſhalbe ſo great, that they ſhall haue wonderfull occaſion to praiſe his mercie, and reioyce.
b He chiefely meaneth, touching the ſpirituall regeneration, whereby we are his ſheepe and people. c He ſheweth that God will not be worſhipped, but by that meanes, which he hath appointed. d He declareth that we ought neuer to be wearie in praying him, ſeeing his mercies towarde vs laſt for euer.

1 a SIng *ye loude vnto the Lord, all the earth,
2 Serue þ Lord with gladnes: come before him with ioyfulneſſe.
3 Know ye that euen the Lorde is God: he hath bmade vs, & not we our ſelues: we are his people, and the iheepe of his paſture.
4 cEnter into his gates with praiſe, and into his courts with reioycing: praiſe him and bleſſe his Name.
5 For the Lorde is good: his mercie is deuerlaſting, and his trueth is from generation to generation.

Dauid deſcribeth what gouernment he wil obſerue in his houſe and kingdome. 5 He wil puniſh and correct, by rooting forth the wicked, 6 And cheriſhing the godly perſons.

¶ A Pſalme of Dauid.

a Dauid conſidereth what maner of king he would be, when God ſhould place him in ỹ throne, promiſing openly, that he would be mercifull and iuſt.
b Though as yet thou deferreſt to place me in the kingly dignitie, yet will I giue my ſelfe to wiſedome and vprightnes, being a priuate man.
c He ſheweth that magiſtrates doe not their dueties, except they be enemies to all vice.
d In promiſing to puniſh theſe vices, which are moſt pernicious in them that are about Kinges, he declareth that he will puniſh all. e He ſheweth what is the true vſe of the ſword: to puniſh the wicked, and to maintaine the good. f Magiſtrates muſt immediatly puniſh vice, leſt it growe to farther inconuenience: and if heathen Magiſtrates are bound to doe this, howe much more they that haue the charge of the Church of God?

1 a I Will *ſing mercie & iudgement: vnto thee, O Lord, will I ſing.
2 I will doe wiſely in the perfite way b till thou commeſt to me: I will walke in the vprightnes of mine heart in the middes of mine houſe.
3 I will ſet no wicked thing before mine eies: I hate cthe worke of them that fal away: it ſhall not cleaue vnto me.
4 A froward heart ſhal depart from me: I will know none euill.
5 Him, that priuily dſlaundereth his neighbour, will I deſtroy: him that hath a proude looke and high heart, I cannot ſuffer.
6 Mine eies ſhalbe vnto the *faithfull of the lande, that they may dwel with me: he that walketh in a perfite way, hee ſhall ſerue me.
7 There ſhall no deceitfull perſon dwell within mine houſe: he that telleth lyes, ſhall not remaine in my ſight.
8 fBetimes will I deſtroy all the wicked of þ land, þ I may cut off al þ workers of iniquitie from þ Citie of þ Lord.

PSAL. CII.

It ſeemeth that this praier was appointed to the faithful to pray in the captiuitie of Babylon. 16 A conſolatiō for the building of the Church: 18 Whereof followeth the praiſe of God to be publiſhed vnto all poſteritie. 22 The conuerſion of the Gentiles, 28 And the ſtabilitie of the Church.

¶ A praier *of the afflicted, when he ſhal be in diſtreſſe, and powre forth his meditation before the Lord.

a Whereby is ſignified, that albeit we be in neuer ſo great miſeries, yet there is euer place left for prayer.
b He declareth that in our prayer we muſt liuely feele that, which wee deſire and ſtedfaſtly beleeue to obteine.
c Theſe exceſſiue kindes of ſpeach ſhew howe much the affliction of the Churche ought to wound the hearts of the godly.
d My ſorowes were ſo great, that I paſſed not for mine ordinarie foode.
e Euer mourning and ſolitarie, caſting out fearefull cries.
f Haue conſpired my death.
g I haue not riſen out of my mourning to take my refectiō.
h He ſheweth that the afflictions did not only thus moue him, but chiefly the feeling of Gods diſpleaſure.
i Howſoeuer we be fraile: yet thy promes is ſure & the remēbrance thereof ſhal confirme vs for euer.

1 O Lord, heare my praier, and let my bcrie come vnto thee.
2 Hide not thy face from me in the time of my trouble: incline thyne eares vnto me: when I call, make haſte to heare me.
3 For my dayes are cconſumed lyke vnoke, and my bones are burnt like an herth,
4 Mine heart is ſmitten and withereth like graſſe, becauſe I forgate dto eate my bread.
5 For the voyce of my groning my bones doe cleaue to my ſkinne.
6 I am like a epelicane of the wildernes: I am like an owle of the deſerts,
7 I watche and am as a ſparowe alone vpon the houſe toppe.
8 Mine enemies reuile me dayly, and they that rage againſt me, haue ſworne againſt me.
9 Surely I haue eaten aſhes as bread, and mingled my drinke with weeping, 10 Becauſe of thine bindignation & thy wrath: for thou haſt heaued me vp, and caſt me downe.
11 My dayes are like a ſhadowe that fadeth, and I am withered like graſſe.
12 But thou, O Lorde, doeſt iremaine for euer, and thy remembrance from generation to generation.
13 Thou wilt ariſe and haue mercie vpon Sion: for the time to haue mercie thereon, for the kappointed time is come.
14 For thy ſeruants delite in the ſtones thereof, and haue pitie on the duſt thereof.
15 Then the heathen ſhall feare þ Name of the Lorde, and all the kinges of the earth thy glorie.
16 When the Lorde ſhall builde vp Sion, and ſhall appeare min his glorie, 17 And ſhall turne vnto the prayer of the deſolate, and not deſpiſe their prayer.
18 This ſhalbe written for the generation to come: and the people, which ſhalbe ncreated, ſhall praiſe the Lord.

k That is, the ſeuentie yeeres, which by the thou dideſt appoint, Iere. 29. 12. l The more that the Church is in miſerie and deſolation, the more ought the faithfull to loue and pitie it. m That is, when he ſhall haue drawen his Church out of the darkeneſſe of death. n The deliuerance of the Church is a moſt excellent benefite, and therefore he compared it to a newe creation: for in their baniſhment the body of the Church ſeemed to haue bene dead, which by deliuerance was as it were created anewe.

o Who now in their baniſhmẽt could looke for nothing but death.

19 For hee hath looked downe from the height of his Sanctuarie: out of the heauen did the Lord behold the earth,

20 That he might heare the mourning of the priſoner, and deliuer the *childꝛen of death:

p He ſheweth that Gods name is neuer more prayſed, then when religiõ floriſheth and the Church increaſeth: which thing is chiefly accompliſhed vnder the kingdome of Chriſt.

21 That they may declare the name of the Lorde in Sion, and his prayſe in Ieruſalem, 22 When the people ſhalbe gathered *to: gether, and the kingdomes to ſerue the Lord.

q The Church lamẽt that they ſee not the time of Chriſt, which was promiſed, but haue but fewe yeres and ſhort dayes.

23 He *abated my ſtrength in the waye, and ſhortened my dayes.

24 And I ſaid, O my God, take me not away in the middes of my dayes: thy yeeres endure from generation to generation.

r If heauen and earth periſh, much more man ſhal periſh: but the Church by reaſon of Gods promes endureth for euer.

25 Thou haſt aforetime laid the fundation of the earth, and the heauens are the worke of thine handes.

26 *They ſhall periſh, but thou ſhalt endure: euen they all ſhall waxe olde as doth a garment: as a veſture ſhalt thou change them, and they ſhalbe changed.

27 But thou art the ſame, and thy yeeres ſhal not faile.

28 The children of thy ſeruants ſhal continue, and their ſeede ſhall ſtand *faſt in thy ſight.

ſ Seeing thou haſt choſen thy Church out of the worlde, & ioyned it to thee, it can not but continue for euer: for thou art euerlaſting.

1 He prouoketh all to praiſe the Lord, which hath pardoned his ſinnes, deliuered him from deſtruction, and giuen him ſufficiens of all good things. 10 Then he addeth the tender mercies of God, which he ſheweth like a moſt tender father towards his children. 14 The frailtie of mans life. 20 An exhortation to man and Angels to praiſe the Lord.

¶ A Pſalme of Dauid.

a He wakeneth his dulnes to praiſe god, ſhewing that both vnderſtanding & affections, minde & heart are too litle to ſet forth his prayſe.

1 MY ſoule, *praiſe thou the Lord, and all that is within mee, prayſe his holy Name.

b This is the beginning & chiefeſt of all benefites: remiſſion of ſinne.

2 My ſoule, praiſe thou the Lord, & forget not all his benefites.

PSAL. CIIII.

1 An excellent Pſalme to praiſe God for the creation of the world, and the gouernance of the ſame by his marueilous prouidence, 35 Wherein the Prophet praieth againſt the wicked, who are occaſions that God diminiſhed his bleſſings.

1 MY ſoule, praiſe thou the Lorde: O Lord my God, thou art exceeding great, thou art *clothed with glorie and honour.

a The Prophet ſheweth that we neede not to enter into the heauens to ſeeke God, forasmuch as all the order of nature, with the proprietie & placing of the elements, are moſt liuely mirrours to ſee his maieſtie in.

2 Which couereth himſelfe with light as with a garment, and ſpreadeth the heauens like a curtaine.

3 Which layeth the beames of his chambers in the waters, and maketh the cloudes his chariot, and walketh vpon the wings of the winde.

4 Which *maketh the ſpirites his meſſengers, & a flaming fire his miniſters.

b As the Prophet here ſheweth that all viſible powers are ready to ſerue God: ſo the Apoſtle to the Hebr. 1.7. beholdeth in this glaſſe, how the very Angels alſo are obedient to his commandement.

5 He

5 He set the earth vpon her foundations, so that it shal neuer moue.
6 Thou coueredst it with the c deepe as with a garment: the d waters woulde stand aboue the mountaines.
7 But at thy rebuke they flee: at the voyce of thy thunder they haste away.
8 And the mountaines ascend, & the valleys descende to the place which thou hast established for them.
9 But thou hast set them a bounde, which they shal not passe: they shal not returne to couer the earth.
10 Hee sendeth the springes into the val-leis, which runne betweene the moun-taines.
11 They shal giue drinke to al the e beasts of the fielde, and the wilde asses shall quench their thirst.
12 By these f springs shal the foules of the heauen dwel, and sing among the branches.
13 Hee watereth the mountaines from his g chambers, and the earth is filled with the fruit of thy workes.
14 He causeth grasse to grow for the cattell, & herbe for the vse of h man, that he may bring forth bread out of the earth, 15 And wine that maketh glad the heart of man, and oyle to make the face to shine, & bread that strengtheneth mans heart.
16 The high trees are satisfied, euen the cedars of Lebanon, which hee hath planted,
17 That the birds may make their nestes
there: the stork dwelleth in þ firre trees.
18 The high mountaines are for þ goates:
the rockes are a refuge for the conies.
19 He appointed the i moone for certaine seasons: k the sunne knoweth his going downe.
20 Thou makest darkenes, & it is night, wherein al the beasts of the forest creepe forth.
21 The lions roare after their praye, and seeke their meate l at God.
22 When the sunne riseth, they retire, and couch in their dennes.
23 m Then goeth man forth to his worke, and to his labour vntil the euening.
24 O Lorde, howe n manifolde are thy workes! in wisdome hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches.
25 So is this sea great and wide: for there in are thinges creeping innumerable, both smal beastes and great.
26 There go the shippes, yea, that o Leuiathan, whome thou hast made to playe therein.
27 p All these waite vpon thee, that thou mayest giue them foode in due season.
28 Thou giuest it to them, & they gather it: thou openest thine hande, and they are filled with good thinges.
29 But if thou q hide thy face, they are troubled: if thou take awaye their breath, they dye and returne to their dust.
30 Againe, if thou r sende forth thy spirit, they are created, and thou renewest the face of the earth.
31 Glory be to the Lorde for euer: let the Lord reioyce in his workes.
32 He looketh on the earth and it trembleth: he toucheth the mountaines, and they s smoke.
33 I will sing vnto the Lord all my life: I wil praise my God, while I liue.
34 Let my wordes bee acceptable vnto him: I wil reioyce in the Lord.
35 Let the sinners be t consumed out of the earth, and the wicked till there bee no more: O my soule, praise thou the Lord.
Praysye the Lord.

c Thou makest the sea to be an ornament vnto the earth.
d If by thy power thou didest not bridle ỹ rage of the waters, it were not possible, but ỹ whole world should be destroyed.
e If God prouide for the very beastes, much more will he extend his prouident care to men.
f There is no part of the world so barren, where most euident signes of Gods blessings appeare not.
g From the cloudes.
h He describeth Gods prouident care ouer man, who doeth not onely prouide necessarie things for him, as herbs & other meate: but also things to reioyce and comfort him, as wine and oyle or oyntments.
i As to separate the night from the day, and to note dayes, moneths and yeres.
k That is, by his course, either farre or neere, it noteth sommer, winter & other seasons.
l That is, they only finde meate according to Gods prouidēce, who careth euen for the brute beastes.
m To wit, when the day springeth: for ỹ light is as it were a shield to defend man against the tyrannie & fiercenes of beastes.
n He confesseth that no tongue is able to expresse Gods workes, nor minde to comprehend them.
o God is a most nourishing Father, who prouideth for all creatures their dayly foode.
p As by thy presence all things haue life: so, if thou withdrawe thy blessings, they all perish.
q As the death of creatures sheweth that we are nothing of our selues: so their generation declareth that we receyue all things of our Creator.
r Gods mercifull face giueth strength to the earth, but his seuere countenance burneth the mountaines.

6 We haue d sinned with our fathers: we haue committed iniquitie, and done wickedly.
7 Our fathers vnderstood not thy wonders in Egypt, neither remembred they the multitude of thy mercies, but rebelled at the Sea, euen at the red sea.
8 Neuertheles he e saued them for his Names sake, that he might make his power to be knowen.
9 And he rebuked the red Sea, & it was dried vp, and he led them in the deepe, as in the wildernes.
10 And he saued them from the aduersaries hand, and deliuered them from the hand of the enemie.
11 And the waters couered their oppressours: not one of them was left.
12 Then f beleeued they his woordes, and sang praise vnto him.
13 But incontinently they forgate his woorkes: they waited not for his counsell, 14 But lusted with concupiscence in the wildernes, and tempted God in the desert.

x Which he confirmeth to the posteritie, in whom after a sorte the dead liue and enioy the promises.

y When the Egyptians lamented and were destroyed.

z This is the end, why God preserueth his Church, because they should worship, and call vpon him in this world.

a The Prophet exhorteth the people to praise God for his benefites past, that thereby their minds may be strengthened against all present troubles and despaire.

b He sheweth that it is not ynough to praise God w mouth, except y whole heart agree thereunto, and all our life be thereunto framed.

c Let the good will that thou beareste to thy people, extend vnto me, that thereby I may be receiued into the nomber of thine.

d By earnest confession aswel of their owne, as of their fathers sinnes, they shew that they had hope that God according to his promes would pitie them.

e The inestimable goodnes of God appeareth in this, that he woulde change the order of nature, rather then his people should not be deliuered, although they were wicked. Exod.14.27.

f The wonderfull workes of God caused them to beleeue for a time, and to praise him. g They would preuent his wisdome & prouidence

15 Then

15 Then he gaue them their desire: but he sent h leanenesse into their soule.
16 They enuied Moses also in the tentes, and Aaron the holy one of the Lord.
17 Therefore the earth opened and i swallowed vp Dathan, & couered the companie of Abiram.
18 And the fire was kindled in their assemblie: the flame burnt vp the wicked.
19 They made a calfe in Horeb, and worshipped the molten image.
20 Thus they turned their k glorie into the similitude of a bullocke, that eateth grasse.
21 They forgate God their Sauiour, which had done great thinges in Egypt, 22 Wonderous workes in the lande of Ham, and fearefull thinges vp the red Sea.
23 Therefore he minded to destroy them, had l not Moses his chosen stand in the breache before him to turne away his wrath, lest he should destroy them.
24 Also they contemned that m pleasant land, and beleeued not his word, 25 But murmured in their tentes, and hearkened not vnto the voyce of the Lorde.
26 Therefore n he lifted vp his hande against them, to destroy them in the wildernesse, 27 And to destroy their seede among the nations, and to scatter them throughout the countries.
28 They ioyned themselues also vnto o Baal-peor, and did eate the offerings of the p dead.
29 Thus they q prouoked him vnto anger with their owne inuentions, and the plague brake in vpon them.
30 But r Phinehas stoode vp, and executed iudgement, and the plague was staied.
31 * And it was s imputed vnto him for righteousnes from generation to generation for euer.
32 They angred him also at the waters of t Meribah, so that u Moses was punished for their sakes, 33 Because they vexed his spirit, so that he spake vnaduisedly with his lippes.
34 Neither destroyed they the people, as the Lord had commanded them, 35 But were mingled among the heathen, and learned their workes, 36 And serued their idoles, which were their ruine.
37 Yea, they offred their x sonnes, and their daughters vnto deuils, 38 And shed innocent blood, euen y blood of their sonnes, and of their daughters, whom they offered vnto the idoles of Canaan, and the land was defiled with blood.
39 Thus were they stained with their owne workes, and went z a whoring with their owne inuentions.
40 Therefore was the wrath of the Lorde kindled against his people, and he abhorred his owne inheritance.
41 And he gaue them into the hand of the heathen: and they that hated them, were lordes ouer them.
42 Their enemies also oppressed them, and they were humbled vnder their hand.
43 Manie a time did hee deliuer them, but they prouoked him by their counsels: therefore they were brought downe by their iniquitie.
44 Yet he sawe when they were in affliction, and he heard their crie.
45 And he remembred his couenant towarde them, and b repented according to the multitude of his mercies, 46 And gaue them fauour in the sight of all them that led them captiues.
47 Saue vs, O Lord our God, and c gather vs from among the heathen, that we may praise thine holy Name, and glorie in thy praise.
48 Blessed be the Lorde God of Israel for euer and euer, and let all the people say, So be it. Praise ye the Lord.

h The abundance that God gaue them, profited not, but made them pine away, because God cursed it.
i By the greatnes of the punishment the hainous offence may be considered: for they that rise against Gods ministers, rebell against him.
k He sheweth that all idolaters renounce God to be their glorie, when in stead of him they worship any creature, much more wood, stone, metall or calues.
l If Moses by his intercession had not obteined Gods fauour against their rebellions.
m That is, Canaan, which was as it were an earnest peny of the heauenly inheritance.
n That is, he sware. Sometime also it meaneth to punish.
o Which was the Idole of the Moabites.
p Sacrifices offered to the dead idoles.
q Signifying, that whatsoeuer man inuenteth of himselfe to serue God by, is detestable and prouoketh his anger.
r When all other neglected Gods glorie, he in his zeale killed the adulterers and preuented Gods wrath.
Nom. 25. 12. s This acte declared his liuely faith, & for his faiths sake was accepted.
x Then true chastitie is to cleaue wholly and onely vnto God.
y The Prophet sheweth y neither by menaces, nor promises we can come to God, except we be altogether newely reformed, and that his mercie ouercouer and hide our malice.
z Not that God is changeable in himselfe, but that then he seemeth to vs to repent, when he altereth his punishment, and forgiueth vs.
a Gather thy Church, which is dispersed, & giue vs constancie vnder the crosse, that with one consent we may all praise thee.

PSAL. CVII.

1 The Prophet exhorteth all those that are redeemed by the Lorde, and gathered vnto him, to giue thankes 9 For this mercifull prouidence of God, gouerning all things at his good pleasure, 20 Sending good and euil, prosperitie & aduersitie to bring men vnto him. 42 Therefore as the righteous thereat reioyce, so shall the wicked haue their mouthes stopped.

1 PRaise t the Lord, because he is good: for his mercie endureth for euer.
2 Let them, u which haue bin redeemed of the Lorde, shew how he hath deliuered them from the hande of the oppressour,
3 And gathered them out of the landes, from the East and from the West, from the North and from the x South.
4 When they wandered in the desert and wildernes out of the way, and found no citie to dwell in,
5 y Both hungrie and thirstie, their soule fainted in them.
6 Then they cried vnto the Lorde in their trouble, & he deliuered them from their distresse,
7 And led them forth by the right way, that they might goe to a citie of habitation.
8 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnes, and his wonderfull workes before the sonnes of men.
9 For he satisfied the thirstie soule, and filled the hungrie soule with goodnes.
10 They,

a This notable sentence was in the beginning vied, as the foote or tenor of the song, which was oftentimes repeated.
b As this was true in the Iewes, so is there none of Gods elect, that feele not his helpe in their necessitie.
t Or, from the sea: meaning the red sea, which is on the South part of the lande.
c He sheweth that there is none affliction so grieuous, out of the which God will not deliuer his, and also exhorteth them, that are deliuered, to be mind full of so great a benefite,

10 They, that dwel in darknes and in the shadow of death, being bound in misérie and yron, 11 Because they [d] rebelled against the wordes of the Lord, & despised the counsell of the most high,
12 When her humbled their heart with heaunes, then they fell down and there was no helper.
13 Then they [e] cryed vnto the Lorde in their trouble, & he deliuered them from their distresse.
14 He brought them out of darknes, and out of the shadowe of death, and brake their bands asunder.
15 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnes, and his wonderful woorks before the sonnes of men.
16 For he hath broken [f] gates of brasse, and brast the barres of yron asunder.
17 [g] Fooles by reason of their transgression and because of their iniquities are afflicted.
18 Their soule abhorreth all meate, and they are brought to deaths doore.
19 Then they cry vnto the Lorde in their trouble, & he deliuereth them from their distresse.
20 [h] He sendeth his worde and healeth them, and deliuereth them from their [i] graues.
21 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnes, and his wonderful woorks before the sonnes of men.
22 And let them offer sacrifices of [k] praise, and declare his woorkes with reioycing.
23 They that go down to [l] sea in ships, and occupy by the great waters, 24 They see the woorkes of the Lorde, and his wonders in the deepe.
25 For he commandeth and raiseth the stormie winde, & it lifteth vp the waues thereof.
26 They mount vp to the heauen, & descende to the deepe, so that their soule [m] melteth for trouble.
27 They are tossed to and fro, and stagger like a drunken man, and all their [n] cunning is gone.
28 Then they cry vnto the Lorde in their trouble, & he bringeth them out of their distresse.
29 He turneth the storme to calme, so that the waues thereof are still.
30 Whe they are [o] quieted, they are glad, and he bringeth them vnto the hauen, where they would be.
31 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnes, and his wonderful woorks before the sonnes of men.
32 And let them exalt him in the [p] Congregation of the people, and praise him in the assemblie of the Elders.
33 He turneth the floods into a wildernes, and the springs of waters into drinesse, 34 And a fruitfull lande into [q] barrennesse for the wickednesse of them that dwell therein.
35 Againe he [r] turneth the wildernes into pooles of water, and the drie lande into water springs.
36 And there he placeth the hungrie, and they build a citie to dwell in,
37 And sow the fields, & plant vineyards, which bring forth fruitefull [s] increase.
38 For he blesseth them, and they multiplie exceedingly, and he diminisheth not their cattel.
39 [t] Againe men are diminished, & brought low by oppression, euill and sorow.
40 He powreth [u] contempt vpon princes, and causeth them to erre in desert places out of the way.
41 Yet he raiseth vp the poore out of misérie, and maketh him families like a flocke of sheepe.
42 The [x] righteous shall see it, & reioyce, and all iniquitie shal stop her mouth.
43 Who is wise that he may obserue these things? for they shal vnderstand the louing kindenes of the Lord.

d Then the true way to obey God, is to follow his expresse cõmandements also hereby all are exhorted to descend into themselues, forasmuch as none are punished, but for their sinnes.
e He sheweth that the cause why God doeth punish vs extremely, is because we can be brought vnto him by none other meanes.
f When there seemeth to mans iudgement no recouerie, but all thinges are brought to despaire, then God chiefly sheweth his mighty power.
g They y haue no feare of God, by his sharp rods are brought to call vpon him, & so finde mercy.
h By healing them he declareth his good wil toward them.

k Praise & confession of Gods benefites are the true sacrifices of the godly.
l He sheweth by the Sea what care God hath ouer man, for in that that he deliuereth them from the great dangers of the sea, he deliuereth them, as it were, from a thousande deaths.
m Their feare and danger is so great.
n When their arte and meanes fayle them, they are compelled to confesse that onely Gods prouidence doeth preserue them.
o Though before euery droppe seemed to fight one against another, yet at his commandement they are as stil, as though they were frosen.
p This great benefite ought not onely to be considered particularly, but magnified in all places and assemblies.
q For the loue that he beareth to his Church he chãgeth the order of nature for their cõmoditie.
r Continual increase & yerely.
s As God by his prouidence doth exalt men, so doeth he also humble them by afflictions to know themselues.
t For their wickednes and tyrãnie he causeth the people and subiects to contemne them.

PSAL. CVIIII.

This Psalme is composed of two other Psalmes before, the seuen & fiftieth and the sixtieth. The matter here conteined, is,
1 That Dauid giueth himself with heart and voyce to praise the Lorde, 7 And assureth himselfe of the promes of God concerning his kingdome ouer Israel, and his power against other nations: 11 Who though he seeme to forsake vs for a time, yet he alone wil in the ende cast downe our enemies.

A song or Psalme of Dauid.

1 O God, mine heart is [a] prepared, so is [b] my tongue: I will sing and giue prayse.
2 Awake viole and harpe: I will awake earely.
3 I will prayse thee, O Lord, among the [b] people, & I will sing vnto thee among the nations.
4 For thy mercy is great aboue the heauens, and thy trueth vnto the cloudes.
5 [c] Exalt thy selfe, O God, aboue the heauens, and let thy glory be vpon all the earth, 6 That thy beloued may bee deliuered: [d] helpe with thy right hande and heare me.

a This earnest affection declareth that he is free from hypocrisie, and that sluggishnes slayeth him not.
b Or, my glorie, because it chiefly setteth forth the glorie of God.
c He prophecieth of y calling of the Gentiles: for except they were called, they could not heare the goodnes of God.
d When God by his benefites maketh vs partakers of his mercies, he admonisheth vs to be earnest in prayer to desire him to continue and finish his graces.

e As he hath spokē to Samuel concerning me, so wil he shewe himselfe cōstant, and holy in his promes, so that these nations folowing shal be subiect vnto me. Psal.60.8.

7 God hath spoken in his holines: therfore I will retopce, I shall deuide Shechem & measure the valley of Succoth.
8 Gilead shalbe mine, & Manasseh shalbe mine: Ephraim also shalbe the strength of mine head: Juda is my lawe giuer.
9 Moab shalbe my washpot: ouer Edom wil I cast out my shoe: vpon Palestina wil I triumph.
10 Who will leade me into the strong cities? who wil bring me vnto Edom?
11 Wilt not thou, O God, which haddest forsaken vs, and didest not go forth, O God, with our armies?
12 Giue vs help against trouble: for vaine is the helpe of man.
13 Through God we shal doe valiantly: for he shal tread downe our enemies.

f From the sixt verse of this Psalme vnto the last, read the exposition in the lx. Psalme, and sift verse.

PSAL. CIX.

1 Dauid being falsly accused by flatterers vnto Saul, prayeth God to helpe him and to destroy his enemies. 8 And vnder them he speaketh of Iudas the traitor vnto Iesus Christ, & of all the like enemies of the children of God: 27 And desireth so to be deliuered, that his enemies may know the worke to be of God. 30 Then doth he promise to giue praises vnto God.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

1 HOlde not thy tongue, O God of my [a] prayse.
2 For the mouth of the wicked, and the mouth ful of deceit are opened vpon mee: they haue spoken to me with a lying tongue.
3 They compassed mee about also with words of hatred, and fought against me without a cause.
4 For my friendship they were mine aduersaries, [b] but I gaue my self to prayer.
5 And they haue rewarded mee euill for good, and hatred for my friendship.
6 [c] Set thou the wicked ouer him, and let the aduersarie stand at his right hande.
7 When he shalbe iudged, let him be condemned, and let his [d] prayer be turned into sinne.
8 Let his dayes be fewe, and let another take his [e] charge.
9 Let his children be fatherlesse, and his wife a widowe.
10 Let his children bee vagabondes and begge & seeke bread, comming out of their places destroyed.
11 Let [f] the extortioner catche all that hee hath, and let the strangers spoyle his labour.
12 Let there be none to extend mercy vnto him: neyther let there be any to shewe mercy vpon his fatherles children.
13 Let his posteritie be destroyed, and in the generation following let their name be put out.
14 [g] Let the iniquitie of his fathers be had in remembrance with the Lord: and let not the sin of his mother be done away.
15 But let them alway be before the Lord, that he may cut off their memoriall frō the earth, 16 Because [h] he remembred not to shewe mercy, but persecuted the afflicted and poore man, and the sorowful hearted to slay him.
17 As he loued cursing, [i] so shall it come vnto him, and as he loued not blessing, so shal it be farre from him.
18 As hee clothed himselfe with cursing like a rayment, so shall it come into his bowels like water, & like oyle into his bones.
19 Let it be vnto him as a garment to couer him, and for a girdle, wherewith he shalbe alway girded.
20 Let this be the reward of mine aduersaries [k] from the Lorde, and of them, that speake euil against my soule.
21 But thou, O Lord my God, deale with me according vnto thy [l] Name: deliuer me, (for thy mercy is good) 22 Because I am poore and needie, and mine heart is wounded within me.
23 I depart like [m] shadow that declineth, and am shaken off as the [m] grashopper.
24 My knees are weake through fasting, and my flesh [n] hath lost all fatnes.
25 I became also a rebuke vnto them: they that looked vpon mee, shaked their heads.
26 Helpe me, O Lord my God: [o] saue me according to thy mercy.
27 And they shal know, that this is thine hand, and that thou, Lord, hast done it.
28 Though they [p] curse, yet [q] wilt blesse: they shall arise and bee confounded, but thy seruant shal retopce.
29 Let mine aduersaries be clothed with shame, and let them couer themselues with their confusion, as with a cloke.
30 I will giue thankes vnto the Lorde greatly with my mouth, & prayse him among the multitude.
31 For he will stand at the right hande of the poore, to saue him from them that would [r] condemne his soule.

a Though all the world condemne me, yet thou wilt approue mine innocencie, and that is a sufficiēt prayse to me.
b To declare that I had none other refuge, but thee, in whome my conscience was at rest.
c Whether it were Doeg or Saul, or some familiar friende y had betrayed him, he prayeth not of priuate affectiō, but moued by Gods spirit, y God would take vengeance vpon him.
d As to the elect all thinges turne to their profite: so to the reprobate euen those things, that are gond, turne to their damnation.
e This was chiefly accomplished in Iudas, Act.1.20.
f He declareth that the curse of God lyeth vpon y extortioners: who thinking to enriche their children by their vnlawfull gotten goods, are by Gods iust iudgement depriued of all.
g Thus punisheth the Lorde to the third, and fourth generation the wicked.
h He sheweth that God accustometh to plague them after a straūge sort, that shew themselues cruel toward other.
i Thus giueth the Lorde to euery man the thing, wherein he delighteth, that the reprobate cannot accuse God of wrong, when they are giuen vp to their lusts and reprobate mindes.
k For being destitute of mans helpe, he fully trusted in the Lord, that he would deliuer him.
l As thou art named merciful, gratious & long suffring, so shew thy self in effect.
m Meaning, that he hath no stay nor assurance in this world.
n For hunger, that came of sorow, he was leane, and his natural moisture failed him.
o The more grieuous that was he in prayer.
p They shal gayne nothing by cursing me.
q Not only in confessing it secretly in my self, but also in declaring it before all the Congregation.
r Hereby he sheweth that he had not to do with them, that were of litle power, but with the iudges and princes of the world.

PSAL. CX.

1 Dauid prophecieth of the power & euerlasting kingdome giuen to Christ, 4 And of his Priesthood, which should put an ende to the Priesthood of Leui.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

1 THe [a] Lord said vnto my Lord, Sitte thou at my right hād, vntil I make thine enemies thy foote stole.

a Iesus Christ in the two & twentie of Matt. vers. 44. giueth the interpretatiō hereof, and sheweth that this cannot properly be applied vnto Dauid, but to himself

2 The Lorde shall sende the rodde of thy power out of [b] Sion: bee thou ruler in 1 the middes of thine enemies.
3 Thy people shall come willingly at the time of assembling [c] thine armie in holy beautie: the youth of thy wombe shalbe as the morning dewe.
4 The Lorde sware and will not repent, Thou art a Priest for euer after the order of [d] Melchi-zedek.
5 The Lord, that is at thy right hand, shal wounde kings in the day of his wrath.
6 He shal be Iudge among the heathen: he shall fill all with dead bodies, & smite the [e] head ouer great countries.
7 He shall [f] drinke of the broke in the way: therefore shall he lift vp his head.

b And thence it shall stretch through all the worlde: and this power chiefely standeth in the preaching of his worde.
c By thy word thy people shalbe assembled into thy Church, whose increase shalbe so abundant and wonderfull, as the drops of [g] dewe.
d As Melchizedek the figure of Christ was both King and Priest: so the effect cannot be accõplished in any King, saue onely in Christ, Hebre. 7.26. e No power shall be able to resist him. f Vnder this similitude of a captaine, that is so greedie to destroy his enemies, that he will not scarce drinke by the way, he sheweth howe God will destroy his enemies.

PSAL. CXI.

1 Hee giueth thankes to the Lorde for his mercifull workes towarde his Church, 10 And declareth wherein true wisedome and right knowledge consisteth.

¶ Prayse ye the Lord.

1 I Will [a] prayse the Lord with my whole heart in the assembly and Congregation of the iust.
2 The workes of the Lord are [b] great, and ought to be sought out of all them that loue them.
3 His worke is beautifull & glorious, and his righteousnes endureth for euer.
4 He hath made his wonderful workes to be had in remembrance: the Lorde is mercifull and full of compassion.
5 He hath giuen [c] a [a] portion vnto them that feare him: he will euer be mindfull of his couenant.
6 He hath shewed to his people [d] power of his workes in giuing vnto them the heritage of the heathen.
7 The [e] workes of his handes are trueth & iudgement: all his statutes are true.
8 They are stablished for euer and euer, and are done in trueth and equitie.
9 He sent redemption vnto his people: hee hath commanded his couenant for euer: holy and fearefull is his Name.
10 [f] The beginning of wisdome is [g] feare of the Lord: all they that obserue [h] them, haue good vnderstanding: his prayse endureth for euer.

a The Prophete declareth that he will praise God both priuately & openly, and that from the heart, as hee that consecrateth himselfe wholy and onely vnto God.
b He sheweth [f] Gods workes are a sufficient cause, wherefore we should praise him, but chiefly his benefites towarde his Church.
c God hath giuẽ to his people all that was necessary for them, and wil do still euen for his couenãts sake. and in this sense the Ebrew worde is taken, Prou. 30.8. and 31.15. [a] Or pray, and feede. d As God promised to take the care of his Church: so in effect doeth he declare himselfe iust and true in the gouernment of the same. e They onely are wise, that feare God, and none haue vnderstanding, but they that obey his word. f To wit, his commandements, as vers. 7.

PSAL. CXII.

1 He praiseth the felicity of the that feare God, 10 And condemneth the cursed state of the contemners of God.

¶ Prayse ye the Lord.

1 BLessed is the man, that [a] feareth the Lord, & delighteth greatly in his commandements.
2 His seede shall be mightie vpon earth: the generation of the righteous shall be blessed.
3 [b] Riches & treasures shalbe in his house, & his righteousnes endureth for euer.
4 Vnto the [c] righteous ariseth light in darkenes: he is mercyful and full of compassion and righteous.
5 A good man is mercifull and [d] lendeth, and will measure his affaires by iudgement.
6 Surely he shall neuer be moued: but the righteous shalbe had in euerlasting remembrance.
7 He will not be afraide of euill tidings: for his heart is fixed, & beleeueth in the Lorde.
8 His heart is stablished: therefore he will not feare, vntill he see his desire vpon his enemies.
9 He hath [e] distributed and giuen to the poore: his righteousnes remaineth for euer: his [f] horne shall be exalted with glorie.
10 The wicked shall see it and be angrie: he shal gnashe with his teeth, and [g] consume away: the desire of the wicked shall perish.

a He meaneth that reuerent feare, which is in the childrẽ of God, which causeth them to delite only in the word of God.
b The godly shal haue abundance & contentment, because their heart is satisfied in God onely.
c The faithfull in al their aduersities know that all shall go well with them: for God wil be mercifull and iust.
d He sheweth what is the fruit of mercy: to lend freely and not for gaine, and so to measure his doings, that he may be able to help where need requireth, & not to bestowe all on himselfe. e The godly pinche not nigardly, but distribute liberally, as the necessity of the poore requireth, and as his power is able. f His power and prosperous estate. g The blessings of God vpon his children shall cause the wicked to die for enuie.

PSAL. CXIII.

1 An exhortation to praise the Lorde for his prouidence, 7 In that that contrarie to the course of nature he worketh in his Church.

¶ Prayse ye the Lorde.

1 PRaise, O yee seruantes of the Lorde, [a] praise the Name of the Lorde.
2 Blessed be the Name of the Lorde from henceforth and for euer.
3 The Lordes Name is praised from the rising of the sunne vnto the going downe of the same.
4 The Lord is high aboue al [b] nations, and his glorie aboue the heauens.
5 Who is like vnto the Lorde our God, that hath his dwelling on high!
6 Who abaseth him selfe to behold things in the heauen and in the earth.
7 He raiseth the needie out of the dust, & lifteth vp the [c] poore out of the dung,
8 That he may set him with the princes, euen with the princes of his people.
9 He maketh the barren woman to dwel with a familie, and a ioyfull mother of children. Prayse ye the Lord.

a By this often repetition he stirreth vp our colde dulnesse to praise God, seeing his workes are so wonderfull, and that we are created for the same cause. b If Gods glorie shine through all the worlde, and therefore of all ought to be praised, what great condemnation were it to his people, among whome chiefely it shineth, if they should not earnestly extoll his Name? c By preferring the poore to high honour, and giuing the barren children, he sheweth that God worketh not only in his Church by ordinarie meanes, but also by miracles.

PSAL. CXIIII.

How the Israelites were deliuered foorth of Egypt, and of the wonderfull miracles, that God wrought at that time. Which put vs in remembrãce of Gods great mercie toward his Church, who,whē the course of nature faileth, preserueth his miraculously.

Exod.13.3.

1 When *Israel went out of Egypt, & the house of Iaakob from the [a] barbarous people,

2 Iudah was [b] his sanctification, & Israel his dominion.

3 The Sea sawe it and fled: Iorden was turned backe.

4 The [c] mountaines leaped like rams, and the hils as lambes.

5 What ailed thee, O Sea, þ thou fleddest? O Iorden, why wast thou turned backe?

6 Ye mountaines, why leaped ye like rams, and ye hils as lambes?

7 The [d] earth trembled at the presence of the Lorde, at the presence of the God of Iaakob, 8 Which [e] turneth the rocke into waters powles, and the flint into a fountaine of water.

a That is, from them that were of a strange language.

b The whole people were witnesses of his holy maiestie in adopting them, and of his mighty power in deliuering them.

c Seeing that these dead creatures felt Gods power, and after a sort sawe it, much more his people ought to consider it & glorify him for the same. d Ought then his people to be insensible, when they see his power and maiestie? e That is, caused miraculously water to come out of the rocke in most abundance, Exod.17.6.

PSAL. CXV.

A praier of the faithfull oppressed by idolatrous tyrants, against whome they desire that God would succour them, 9 Trusting most constantly that God wil preserue them in this their neede, seeing that he hath adopted & receiued them to his fauour, 18 Promising finally that they wil not be vnmindfull of so great a benefite, if it woulde please God to heare their prayer, & deliuer them by his omnipotent power.

1 NOt [a] vnto vs, O Lord, not vnto vs, but vnto thy Name giue the glorie, for thy louing mercy & for thy truethes sake.

2 Wherefore shal þ heathen say, [b] Where is now their God?

3 But our God is in heauen: hee doeth whatsoeuer he [c] will.

4 Their idoles are [d] siluer and gold, euen the worke of mens hands.

5 They haue a mouth & speake not: they haue eyes and see not.

6 They haue eares and heare not: they haue noses and smell not.

7 They haue [e] hands and touch not: they haue feete and walke not: neither make they a sound with their throte.

8 They that make them are [f] like vnto them: so are all that trust in them.

9 O Israel, trust thou in the Lorde: for he is their helpe and their shielde.

10 § O house of Aaron, trust ye in þ Lord: for he is their helpe and their shield.

11 Ye that feare the Lorde, trust in the Lorde: for hee is their helper and their shielde.

12 The Lorde hath bene mindefull of vs: hee will bleſſe, he [h] will bleſſe the house of Israel, he will bleſſe the house of Aaron.

13 He will bleſſe them that feare the Lord, both small and great.

14 The Lorde will increase his graces toward you, euen toward you & toward your children.

15 Ye are blessed of the Lord, which [i] made the heauen and the earth.

16 The [k] heauens, euen the heauens are the Lordes: but he hath giuen the earth to the sonnes of men.

17 The dead praise not the Lord, neither any that [l] goe downe into the place of silence.

18 But wee will praise the Lorde from henceforth and for euer. Praise ye the Lorde.

a Because God promised to deliuer them, not for their sakes, but for his name Isa.48.11, therefore they grosid their prayer vpon this promes.

b When the wicked see that God accomplisheth not his promes as they imagine, they thinke there is no God.

c No impediments can let his worke, but he vseth euen the impediments to serue his will. d Seeing that neither the matter, nor the forme can commend the idoles, it followeth that there is nothing, why they should be esteemed. e He sheweth what great vanitie it is to aske helpe of them, which not only haue no helpe in them, but lacke sense and reason. f As much without sense, as blocks & stones.

g For they were appoynted by God as instructers & teachers of faith & religion for others to folowe.

h That is, he wil cõtinue his graces toward his people.

i And therefore doth stil goueth and continue all things therein.

k And they declare inough his sufficiencie, so that the world serueth him nothing, but to shew his fatherly care towarde men.

l Though the dead set forth Gods glory, yet he meaneth here, that they praise him not in Congregation.

PSAL. CXVI.

Dauid being in great danger of Saul in the desert of Maon, perceiuing the great and inestimable loue of God toward him, magnifieth such great mercies, 13 And protesteth that hee will be thankefull for the same.

1 I [a] loue the Lord, because he hath heard my voyce and my prayers.

2 For hee hath inclined his eare vnto mee, when I did call vpon him [b] in my dayes.

3 When the snares of death cõpassed me, and the griefes of the graue caught me: when I found trouble and sorowe,

4 Then I called vpon the Name of the Lord, saying, I beseech thee, O Lord, deliuer my soule.

5 The Lorde is [c] merciful and righteous, and our God is full of compassion.

6 The Lord preserueth the simple: I was in miserie and he saued me.

7 Returne vnto thy rest, O [d] my soule: for the Lorde hath bene beneficial vnto thee.

8 Because thou hast deliuered my soule from death, mine eies from teares, and my feete from falling.

9 I shall [e] walke before the Lorde in the land of the liuing.

10 [f] I beleeued, therefore did I speake: for I was a He granteth that no pleasure is so great, as to feele Gods helpe in our necessity, neither that any thing more stirreth vp our loue toward him.

b That is, in conuenient time to seeke helpe, which was when hee was in distresse.

c He sheweth forth the fruite of his loue in calling vpon him, confessing him to be iust and merciful, and to helpe them that are destitute of aide and counsell. d Which was vnquieted before, now rest vpon the Lord: for he hath bene beneficiall towards thee. e The Lorde will preserue me, & saue my life. f I felt al these things, & therefore was moued by faith to confesse them, 2.Cor.4.13.

g In my great distresse I thought God would not regard man, which is but lies and vanitie, yet I ouercame this tentation, and felt the contrarie.

I was sore troubled.
11 I said in my g feare, All men are liars.
12 What shal I render vnto the Lord for all his benefites toward me?
13 I will h take the cup of saluation, and call vpon the Name of the Lord.
14 I will pay my vowes vnto the Lord, euen nowe in the presence of all his people.
15 Precious in the sight of the Lord is the i death of his Saintes.
16 Behold, Lord: for I am thy seruant, I am thy seruant, and the sonne of thine handemayde: thou hast broken my bondes.
17 I will offer to thee a sacrifice of praise, & will call vpon the Name of the Lord.
18 I wil pay my k vowes vnto the Lord, euen nowe in the presence of all his people, 19 In the courtes of the Lordes house, euen in the middes of thee, O Ierusalem. Praise ye the Lord.

h In the Lawe they vsed to make a banket, when they gaue solemne thankes to God, and to take the cup and drinke in signe of thankesgiuing.

i I perceiue that God hath a care ouer his, so that he both disposeth their death and taketh an accounr. k I wil thanke him for his benefites: for that is a iust paiment, to confesse that we owe all to God.

PSAL. CXVII.

1 Hee exhorteth the Gentiles to praise God, because he hath accomplished as well to them as to the Iewes, the promise of life euerlasting by Iesus Christ.

Rom. 15. 11.

1 All l nations, praise ye the Lorde: all ye people, praise him.
2 For his louing kindnes is great toward vs, and the m trueth of the Lorde endureth for euer. Praise ye the Lord.

a That is, the most certaine & continuall testimonies of his Fatherly grace.

PSAL. CXVIII.

1 Dauid reiected of Saul and of the people, as the time appointed obtayned the kingdome. 4 For the which hee biddeth all them, that feare the Lord, to be thankeful. And vnder his person in al this was Christ liuely set foorth, who should be of his people reiected.

1 Praise n ye the Lorde, because hee is good: for his mercy endureth for euer.
2 Let Israel nowe say, That his mercy endureth for euer.
3 Let the house of Aaron nowe say, That his mercy endureth for euer.
4 Let them, that feare the Lorde, now say, That his mercy endureth for euer.
5 I called vpon the Lord in o trouble, and the Lord heard me, and set me at large.
6 The Lorde is with me: therefore I will not feare what p man can doe vnto me.
7 The Lord is with me among them that helpe me: therefore shall I see my desire vpon mine enemies.

a Because God by creating Dauid King, shewed his mercy toward his afflicted Church, the Prophet doeth not onely him selfe thanke God, but exhorteth all the people to doe the same.

b We are here taught that the more that troubles oppresse vs, the more ought we to be instant in prayer. c Being exalted to this estate, hee assured himselfe to haue man euer to be his enemie. Yet he doubted not, but God would maintaine him because he had placed him,

8 It is better to trust in the Lord, then to haue confidence q in man.
9 It is better to trust in the Lord, then to haue confidence in princes.
10 All nations haue compassed me: but in the Name of the Lord shall I destroy them.
11 They haue compassed me, yea, they haue compassed me: but in the Name of the Lord I shall destroy them.
12 They came about mee like bees, but they were quenched as a fire of thornes: for in the Name of the Lorde I shall destroy them.
13 r Thou hast thrust sore at mee, that I might fall: but the Lorde hath holpen me.
14 The Lord is my strength and s song: for he hath bene my deliuerance.
15 The t voyce of ioy and deliuerance shal be in the tabernacles of the righteous, saying, The right hand of the Lorde hath done valiantly.
16 The right hand of the Lord is exalted: u the right hand of the Lorde hath done valiantly.
17 I shal not die, but liue, and declare the workes of the Lord.
18 The Lord hath chastened me sore, but he hath not deliuered me to death.
19 Open ye vnto me the x gates of righteousnes, that I may goe into them, and praise the Lord.
20 This is the gate of the Lord: the righteous shall enter into it.
21 I will praise thee: for thou hast heard me, and hast bene my deliuerance.
22 y The stone, which the builders z refused, is the head of the corner.
23 This was the Lordes doing, and it is marueilous in our eyes.
24 This is the a day, which the Lord hath made: let vs reioyce and be glad in it.
25 b O Lorde, I pray thee, saue nowe: O Lord, I pray thee now giue prosperitie.
26 Blessed be hee, that commeth in the Name of the Lorde: c we haue blessed you out of the house of the Lord.
27 The Lord is mighty, & hath giuen vs d light: binde the sacrifice with cordes vnto the hornes of the altar.
28 Thou art my God, and I will praise thee, euen my God: therefore I will exalt thee.
29 Praise ye the Lord, because he is good: for his mercy endureth for euer.

d He sheweth that he had trusted in vaine, if he had put his confidence in man, to haue bene preferred to the kingdom, and therefore he put his trust in God and obtayned.

e He noteth Saul his chiefe enemie.

f In that he was deliuered, it came not of him selfe, nor of the power of man, but onely of Gods fauour: therefore he will praise him.

g He promiseth both to render graces himselfe, and to cause others to do the same, because that in his person the Church was restored.

h So that all, that are both farre and neere, may see his mighty power.

i He willeth the dores of the Tabernacle to be opened, that he may declare his thankefull mind. Isa. 28. 16.

PSAL. CXIX.

1 The Prophet exhorteth the children of God to frame their liues according to his holy word. 123 Also he sheweth wherein the true seruice of God standeth: that is, when we serue him according to his word, and not after our owne fantasies.

ALEPH.

a Here they are not called blessed, which thinke themselues wise in their owne iudgement, nor which imagine to themselues a certaine holines, but they whose conuersation is without hypocrisie.

1 BLessed are a those that are vpright in their way, and walke in the lawe of the Lord.
2 Blessed are they that keepe his testimonies, and seeke him with their whole heart.
3 Surely they worke b none iniquitie, but walke in his wayes.
4 Thou hast commaunded to keepe thy preceptes diligently.
5 c Oh that my waies were directed to keepe thy statutes.
6 Then shoulde I not be confounded, when I haue respect vnto all thy commandements.
7 I will praise thee with an vpright d heart, when I shall learne the e iudgements of thy righteousnes.
8 I will keepe thy statutes: forsake mee not f ouerlong.

b For they are ruled by Gods Spirit and imbrace no doctrine but his. c Dauid acknowledgeth his imperfection, desiring God to reforme it, that his life may be conformable to Gods word. d For true religion standeth in serning God without hypocrisie. e That is, thy precepts, which containe perfice righteousnes. f He refuseth not to be tried by tentations, but he feareth to faint, if God succour not his infirmitie in time.

BETH.

a Because youth is most giuen to licentiousnes, he chiefly warneth them to frame their liues betime to Gods word.

9 Wherewith shal a a yong man redresse his way? in taking heede thereto according to thy word.
10 With my whole heart haue I sought thee: let me not wander from thy commaundements.
11 I haue b hid thy promise in mine heart, that I might not sinne against thee.

b If Gods word be grauen in our heartes, we shall be more able to resist the assaults of Satan: and therefore the Prophet desireth God to instruct him dayly more and more therein.

12 Blessed art thou, O Lord: teach me thy statutes.
13 With my lips haue I declared all the iudgements of thy mouth.
14 I haue had as great c delight in the way of thy testimonies, as in all riches.
15 I will meditate in thy precepts, & consider thy wayes.
16 I will delite in thy statutes, and I will not forget thy word.

c The Prophet doth not boast of his vertues, but setteth foorth an example for others to follow Gods word and leaue worldly vanities.

GIMEL.

a He sheweth that we ought not to desire to liue but to serue God, and that we cannot serue him aright, except he open our eyes and mindes.

17 Be beneficial unto thy seruant, that I may a liue and keepe thy word.
18 Open mine eyes, that I may see the wonders of thy lawe.
19 I am a b stranger vpon earth: hide not thy commandements from me.
20 Mine heart breaketh for the desire to thy iudgements alway.
21 Thou c hast destroyed the proude: cursed are they that do erre from thy commaundements.

b Seeing mans life in this world is but a passage, what should become of him, if thy word were not his guide? c In all ages thou hast plagued all such, which maliciously and contemptuously depart from thy trueth.

22 Remoue from me shame & contempt: for I haue kept thy testimonies.
23 d Princes also did sit, & speake against me: but thy seruant did meditate in thy statutes.
24 Also thy testimonies are my delite, and my counsellers.

d When the powers of the world gaue false sentence against me, thy word was a guide and counseller to teach me what to doe, and to comfort me.

DALETH.

25 My soule cleaueth to the a dust: quicken me according to thy word.
26 I haue b declared my wayes, & thou heardest me: teach me thy statutes.
27 Make me to vnderstand the way of thy preceptes, and I will meditate in thy wonderous workes.
28 My soule melteth for heauines: raise me vp according vnto thy c word.
29 Take from me the d way of lying, and graunt me graciously thy lawe.
30 I haue chosen the way of trueth, and thy iudgements haue I layd before me.
31 I haue cleaued to thy testimonies, O Lord: confounde me not.
32 I wil runne the way of thy commandementes, when thou e shalt enlarge mine heart.

a That is, it is almost brought to the graue, and without thy word I cannot liue. b I haue confessed mine offences, and now depend wholy on thee. c If God did not maintaine vs by his word, our life would drop away like water. d Instruct me in thy word, whereby my mind may be purged from vanitie, and taught to obey thy will. e By this he sheweth that we can neither chuse good, cleaue to Gods word, nor runne forward in his way, except he make our hearts large to receiue his grace, and willing to obey.

HE.

33 Teach f mee, O Lorde, the way of thy statutes, and I will keepe it vnto the ende.
34 Giue mee vnderstanding, and I will keepe thy law: yea, I will keepe it with my whole b heart.
35 Direct me in the path of thy commandements: for therein is my delite.
36 Incline mine heart vnto thy testimonies, and not to c couetousnes.
37 Turne away mine d eyes from regarding vanitie, & quicken me in thy way.
38 Stablish thy promise to thy seruant, because he feareth thee.
39 Take away e my rebuke that I feare: for thy iudgements are good.
40 Behold, I desire thy comandements: f quicken me in thy righteousnes, a He sheweth that he cannot follow on to the end, except God teach him oft times, and leade him forward. b Not onely in outward conuersation, but also with inward affection. c Hereby meaning all other vices, because that couetousnes is the roote of all euill. d Meaning, all his senses. e Let mee not fall to thy dishonour, but let mine heart still delite in thy gracious worde. f Giue me strength to continue in thy word euen to the ende.

VAV.

41 And let thy a louing kindnes come vnto me, O Lorde, and thy saluation according to thy promise.
42 So shall I b make answere vnto my blasphemers: for I trust in thy word.
43 And take not the word of trueth vtterly out of my mouth: for I waite for thy iudgements.
44 So shall I alway keepe thy lawe for euer and euer.

a He sheweth that Gods mercie and loue is the first cause of our saluation. b By trusting in Gods word, he assureth himself to be able to confute the slanders of his aduersaries.

45 And

c They, that simply walke after Gods word, haue no lets to intangle them, where as they, that do contrary, are euer in nets and snares.

45 And I will [c] walke at libertie: for I seeke thy precepts.
46 I will speake also of thy testimonies before [d] Kings, and will not be ashamed.
47 And my delight shalbe in thy commandements, which I haue loued.
48 Mine hands also will I lift vp vnto thy commandements, which I haue loued, and I will meditate in thy statutes.

d He sheweth that the children of God ought not to suffer their fathers glorie to be obscured by the vaine pompe of princes.

ZAIN.

a Though he feele Gods hand still to lie vpon him, yet he resteth on his promes & comforteth himselfe therein.

49 Remember [a] the promes made to thy seruant, wherein thou hast caused me to trust.
50 It is my comfort in my trouble: for thy promes hath quickened me.
51 The [b] proud haue had me exceedingly in derision: yet haue I not declined from thy Lawe.

b Meaning the wicked, which contemne Gods word, & treade his religion vnder foote.

52 I remembred thy [c] iudgements of old, O Lord, and haue bene comforted.
53 [d] Feare is come vpon me for the wicked, that forsake thy Lawe.
54 Thy statutes haue bene my songs in the house of my [e] pilgrimage.

e That is, the exiples, wherby thou declarest thy selfe to be 55 I haue remembred thy Name, O Lorde, in the [f] night, and haue kept thy Law.

iudge of the world. d That is, a vehement zeale to thy glorie, and indignation against the wicked. e In the course of this life and sorowfull exile. f Euen when other sleepe. g That is, all these benefites.

CHETH.

a I am persuaded that to keepe thy Lawe is an heritage & great gaine for me.

57 O Lorde, that are my [a] portion, I haue determined to keepe thy wordes.
58 I made my supplication in thy presence with my whole heart: be mercifull vnto me according to thy promes.
59 I haue considered my [b] wayes, and turned my feete into thy testimonies.
60 I made haste and delaied not to keepe thy commandements.
61 The bandes of the wicked haue [c] robbed mee: but I haue not forgotten thy Lawe.
62 At midnight will I rise to giue thanks vnto thee, because of thy righteous iudgements.
63 I am [d] companion of all them that feare thee, and keepe thy precepts.
64 The earth, O Lorde, is ful of thy mercie: [e] teach me thy statutes.

b He sheweth that none can embrace the worde of God, except he consider his owne imperfections and wayes.

c They haue gone about to drawe me into their companie.

d Not onely in mutual consent, but also with aide and succour. e For the knowledge of Gods worde is a singular token of his fauour.

TETH.

a Hauing proued by experiẽce that God was true in his promes, he desireth that he would increase in him knowledge and iudgement.

65 O Lord, thou hast dealt [a] graciously with thy seruant according vnto thy word.
66 Teache me good iudgement & knowledge: for I haue beleeued thy commandements.
67 Before I was [b] afflicted, I went a- strap: but now I keepe thy word.

b So Ieremie sayeth, that before the Lord touched him, he was like a calfe vntamed: so that the vse of Gods rods is to call vs home to God.

68 Thou art good and gracious: teache me thy statutes.
69 The proude haue imagined a lie against me: but I will keepe thy precepts with my whole heart.
70 [c] Their heart is fat as grease: but my delight is in thy Law.
71 It is [d] good for me that I haue bene afflicted, that I may learne thy statutes.
72 The Law of thy mouth is better vnto me, then thousands of gold and siluer.

c Their heart is indurate and hardned, puffed vp with prosperitie and vaine estimation of themselues.

d He confesseth that before that he was chastened, he was rebellious, as man by nature is.

IOD.

a Because God leaueth not his worke, that he hath begun, he 73 Thine hands haue [a] made me and fashioned me: giue me vnderstanding therefore, that I may learne thy commandements.

74 They that [b] feare thee, seeing me, shall reioyce, because I haue trusted in thy word.
75 I know, O Lord, that thy iudgements are right, & that thou hast afflicted me "iustly.
76 I pray thee that thy mercy may comfort me according to thy promes vnto thy seruant.
77 Let thy tender mercies come vnto me, that I may [c] liue: for thy Law is my delite.
78 Let the proude be ashamed: for they "haue dealt wickedly and falsly with me: but I meditate in thy precepts.
79 Let such as feare thee [d] turne vnto me, and they that [e] know thy testimonies.
80 Let mine heart be vpright in thy statutes, that I be not ashamed.

desireth a newe grace: that is, that he would continue his mercies.

b When God sheweth his grace toward any, he testifieth to others that he faileth not them that trust in him.

"Ebr. in truth.

c He declareth, that when he felt not Gods mercies, he was as dead.

d That is, be cõforted by mine example. e He sheweth that there can be no true feare of God without the knowledge of his word.

CAPH.

a Though my strength faile me, yet my soule groneth and sigheth, resting still in thy word.

81 My soule [a] fainteth for thy saluation: yet I waite for thy word.
82 Mine eies faile for thy promes, saying, When wilt thou comfort me?
83 For I am like a [b] bottel in the smoke: yet do I not forget thy statutes.
84 How many are the [c] daies of thy seruant? When wilt thou execute iudgement on them that persecute me?
85 The proude haue [d] digged pits for me, which is not after thy Law.
86 All thy commandements are true: they persecute me falsely: [e] helpe me.
87 They had almost consumed [f] me vpon the earth: but I forsooke not thy precepts.
88 Quicken me according to thy louing kindnes: so shall I keepe the testimonie of thy mouth.

b Like a skinne bottel or bladder that is parched in the smoke.

c How long wilt thou afflict thy seruant?

d They haue not onely oppressed me violently, but also craftily cõspired against me. e He assureth himselfe, that God will deliuer his and destroy such as vniustly persecute them. f Finding no helpe in earth, he lifteth vp his eyes to heauen.

LAMED.

a Because none should esteeme Gods word according to the changes of things in this world, he sheweth that it abideth in heauen, and therefore is immutable.

89 O Lord, thy word endureth for euer in [a] heauen.
90 Thy truth is from generation to generation:

b Seeing y earth and all creatures remaine in that estate, wherein thou hast created them, much more thy trueth remaineth constant and vnchangeable.

c He prooueth by effect, that he is Gods childe, because he seeketh to vnderstand his word.

d There is nothing so perfect in earth, but it hath an ende: onely Gods worde lasteth for euer.

neration: thou hast laid the foundation of the earth, and it abideth.
91 They [b] cõtinue euẽ to this day by thine ordinances: for all are thy seruants.
92 Except thy lawe had bene my delite, I should nowe haue perished in mine affliction.
93 I will neuer forget thy precepts: for by them thou hast quickened me.
94 I am [c] thine, saue mee: for I haue sought thy precepts.
95 The wicked haue waited for mee to destroy me: but I wil consider thy testimonies.
96 I [d] haue seene an ende of all perfection: but thy commandement is exceeding large.

MEM.

a He sheweth that we cannot loue Gods word, except we exercise our selues therein and practise it.

b Whosoeuer doeth submit himselfe onely to Gods worde, shall not onely be safe against the practises of his enemies, but also learne more wisedome, then they that professe it, and are men of experience.

97 Oh howe loue I thy lawe! [a] it is my meditation continually.
98 By thy commandementes thou hast made me wiser then mine enemies: for they are euer with me.
99 I haue had more [b] vnderstanding then all my teachers: for thy testimonies are my meditation.
100 I vnderstoode more then the ancient, because I kept thy precepts.
101 I haue refrained my feete from euery euill way, that I might keepe thy word.
102 I haue not declined from thy iudgements: for [c] thou diddest teach me.
103 Howe sweete are thy promises vnto my mouth! yea, more then honie vnto my mouth.
104 By thy precepts I haue gotten vnderstanding: therfore I hate all [d] waies of falsehoode.

c So then of our selues we can do nothing, but when God doeth inwardly instruct vs with his Spirite, we feele his graces sweeter then honie.

NVN.

a Of our selues we are but darkenesse, and can not see, except we be lightened with Gods word.

b So all the faithfull ought to binde themselues to God by a solemne othe and promes, to stirre vp their zeale to imbrace Gods word.

c That is, my prayers and thankesgiuing, which sacrifice Hosea calleth the calues of the lippes, Chap. 14 verse 3.

105 Thy worde is a [a] lanterne vnto my feete, and a light vnto my path.
106 I haue [b] sworne & will performe it, that I will keepe thy righteous iudgements.
107 I am very sore afflicted: O Lord, quicken me according to thy word.
108 O Lorde, I beseeche thee accept the [c] free offrings of my mouth, and teach me thy iudgements.
109 My [d] soule is continually in mine hand: yet doe I not forget thy Lawe.
110 The wicked haue layed a snare for mee: but I swarued not from thy precepts.
111 Thy testimonies haue I taken as an [e] heritage for euer: for they are the ioy of mine heart.
112 I haue applied mine heart to fulfill thy statutes alway, euen vnto the ende.

d That is, I am in continuall danger of my life. e I esteemed no worldly things, but made thy word mine inheritance.

SAMECH.

113 I hate [a] vaine inuentions: but thy Lawe doe I loue.
114 Thou art my refuge and shielde, and I trust in thy word.
115 [b] Away from me, ye wicked: for I will keepe ỹ commandements of my God.
116 Stablishe mee according to thy promes, that I may liue, and disappoint me not of mine hope.
117 [c] Stay thou me, & I shall be safe, and I wil delite continually in thy statutes.
118 Thou hast troden downe all them that depart from thy statutes: for their [d] decete is vaine.
119 Thou hast taken away all the wicked of the earth like [e] drosse: therefore I loue thy testimonies.
120 My flesh [f] trembleth for feare of thee, and I am afraide of thy iudgements.

d The craftie practises of them that contemne thy Law, shalbe brought to nought. e Which infecteth thy people, as drosse doeth the metall. f Thy iudgements do not onely teach me obedience, but cause me to feare, cõsidering mine owne weaknes, which feare causeth repentance.

AIN.

121 I haue executed iudgement & iustice: leaue me not to mine oppressours.
122 [a] Answer for thy seruãt in that, which is good, & let not the proud oppresse me.
123 Mine eyes haue failed in waiting for thy saluation, and for thy iust promes.
124 Deale with thy [b] seruant according to thy mercy, & teach me thy statutes.
125 I am thy seruant: graunt me therefore vnderstanding, that I may knowe thy testimonies.
126 It is [c] time for thee Lorde to worke: for they haue destroyed thy Lawe.
127 Therfore loue I thy cõmandements aboue golde, yea, aboue most fine golde.
128 Therefore I esteeme all thy precepts most iust, and hate all false [d] wayes.

a Whosoeuer will embrace Gods worde aright, must abhorre all fantasies & imaginations both of himselfe and of others.

b And hinder me not to keepe the Lawe of the Lorde.

c He desireth Gods continuall assistance least he should faint in this race, which he had begun.

a Put thy selfe betweene mine enemies and me, as if thou were my pledge.

b He boasteth not that he is Gods seruant, but hereby pureteth god in mind that as he made him his by his grace, so he wold continue his fauor toward him.

c The Prophet sheweth ỹ when the wicked haue brought al things to confusion, & Gods word to seme cõtemp, then is it Gods time to helpe & send remedie.

d That is, whatsoeuer dissenteth from the puritie of thy word.

PE.

129 Thy testimonies are [a] wonderfull: therefore doth my soule keepe them.
130 The entrance into thy [b] words sheweth light, and giueth vnderstanding to the simple.
131 I opened my mouth and [c] panted, because I loued thy commandements.
132 Looke vpon me and be merciful vnto me, as thou vsest to doe vnto those that loue thy Name.
133 Direct my steps in thy worde, and let none iniquitie haue dominion ouer me.
134 Deliuer me from ỹ oppression of men, and I will keepe thy precepts.
135 Shew ỹ light of thy countenance vpon thy seruant, and teach me thy statutes.
136 Mine eies gush [d] out with riuers of water, because they keepe not thy Lawe.

a Containing high and secrete mysteries, so that I am moued wt admiration and reuerence.

b The simple idiots, that submit themselues to God, haue their eyes opened, & their minds illuminated so sone as they begin to read Gods word.

c My zeale toward thy worde was so great.

d He sheweth what ought to be the zeale of Gods children, when they see his word contemned.

TSADDI.

137 Righteous art thou, O Lord, and iust are a We cannot confesse God to be righteous, except we liue vprightly & truely, as he hath commaunded. Psal.69.9. iohn 2.17. b Gold hath need to be fined, but thy worde is perfection it selfe. c This is the true triall, to prayse God in aduersity. d So ỹ the life of man without the knowledge of God is death.

are thy iudgements.
138 Thou hast commaunded a iustice by thy testimonies and trueth especially.
139 b My zeale hath euen consumed mee, because mine enemies haue forgotten thy wordes.
140 Thy word is proued b most pure, & thy seruant loueth it.
141 I am c small and despised: yet doe I not forget thy precepts.
142 Thy righteousnes is an euerlasting righteousnes, and thy Lawe is trueth.
143 Trouble and anguish are come vpon me: yet are thy commandements my delite.
144 The righteousnes of thy testimonies is euerlasting: graunt mee vnderstanding, and I shall d liue.

KOPH.

145 I haue a cried with my whole heart: heare me, O Lord, and I will keepe thy statutes.
146 I called vpon thee: saue mee, and I will keepe thy testimonies.
147 I preuented the morning light, and cryed: for I waited on thy word.
148 Mine eyes b preuent the night watches to meditate in thy word.
149 Heare my voyce according to thy louing kindnes: O Lord, quicken me according to thy a iudgement.
150 They drawe nere, that follow after c malice, and are farre from thy Lawe.
151 Thou art nere, O Lorde: for all thy commaundements are true.
152 I haue knowen long since d by thy testimonies, that thou hast established them for euer.

a He sheweth that all his affections and whole heart were bent to Godward for to haue helpe in his dangers. b He was more earnest in the study of Gods worde, then they that kept the watch, were in their charge. a Or, custome. c He sheweth the nature of the wicked to be to persecute against their conscience. d His faith is grounded vpon Gods word, that hee would euer be at hand when his children be oppressed.

RESH.

153 Beholde mine affliction, and deliuer me: for I haue not forgotten thy Lawe.
154 Pleade my cause, & deliuer me: quicken me according vnto thy a word.
155 Saluation is farre from the wicked, because they seeke not thy statutes.
156 Great are thy tender mercies, O Lorde: quicken mee according to thy b iudgementes.
157 My persecutours & mine oppressours are many: yet do I not swarue from thy testimonies.
158 I sawe the transgressours and was c grieued, because they kept not thy word.
159 Consider, O Lorde, howe I d loue thy precepts: quicken me according to thy louing kindnes.
160 The e beginning of thy word is truth, and all the iudgementes of thy righteousnes endure for euer.

a For without Gods promise there is no hope of deliuerance. b According to thy promise made in the Law, which because the wicked lack, they can haue no hope of saluation. c My zeale consumed me, when I saw their malice & contempt of thy glory. d It is a sure signe of our adoption, when we loue the Law of God. e Since thou first promisedst, euen to the ende all thy sayings are true.

SCHIN.

161 Princes haue a persecuted me without cause, but mine heart stoode in awe of thy wordes.
162 I reioyce at thy worde, as one that findeth a great spoyle.
163 I hate falsehoode and abhorre it, but thy Lawe do I loue.
164 b Seuen times a day do I prayse thee, because of thy righteous iudgements.
165 They, c that loue thy Law, shal haue great prosperitie, and they shall haue none hurt.
166 Lord, I haue d trusted in thy saluatiō, and haue done thy commandements.
167 My soule hath kept thy testimonies: for I loue them exceedingly.
168 I haue kept thy precepts and thy testimonies: e for all my wayes are before thee.

a The threatenings & persecutions of princes could not cause me to shrinke to confesse thee, whom I more feare then men, b That is, often and sundry times. c For their conscience assureth them, that they please thee, whereas they, that loue not thee, haue the contrary. d He sheweth that we must first haue faith, before we can worke and please God. e I had no respect of men, but set thee alwayes before mine eyes, as the iudge of my doings.

TAV.

169 Let my complaint come before thee, O Lord, & giue me vnderstanding, a according vnto thy word.
170 Let my supplication come before thee, and deliuer mee according to thy promise.
171 My lippes shall b speake prayse, when thou hast c taught me thy statutes.
172 My tongue shal intreat of thy word: for all thy commandements are righteous.
173 Let thine hand helpe me: for I haue chosen thy precepts.
174 I haue longed for thy saluation, O Lord, and thy Lawe is my delite.
175 Let my soule liue, and it shall prayse thee, and thy d iudgementes shall helpe me.
176 I haue e gone astray like a lost sheepe: seeke thy seruant, for I do not forget thy commaundements.

a As thou hast promised to be the scholemaster vnto all them, that depend vpon thee. b The word signifieth to powre foorth continually. c All his prayer, and desire is, to profite in the word of God. d That is, thy prouident care ouer me, and wherewith thou wilt iudge mine enemies. e Being chased to and fro by mine enemies, and hauing no place to rest in.

PSAL. CXX.

1 The prayer of Dauid being vexed by the false reportes of Sauls flatterers. 5 And therefore hee lamenteth his long abode among those infidels, 7 Who were giuen to all kinde of wickednes and contention.

¶ A song of a degrees.

1 I Called vnto the Lord in my b trouble, and he heard me.
2 Deliuer my soule, O Lord, from lying lips, and from a deceitfull tongue.
3 What doeth thy c deceitfull tongue bring vnto thee? or what doth it auaile thee?

a That is, of lifting vp the tune and rising in singing. b Albeit ỹ children of God ought to reioyce when they suffer for righteousnes sake, yet it is a great griefe to the flesh to heare euil for well doing. c Hee assured himselfe that God would turne their craft to their owne destruction.

4 It is as the [d] sharpe arrowes of a mighty man, and as the coles of iuniper.
5 Woe is to me that I remaine in [e] Meshech, and dwel in the tentes of [f] Kedar.
6 My soule hath too long dwelt with him that hateth peace.
7 I seeke peace, & when I speake thereof, they are bent to warre.

d He sheweth that there is nothing so sharpe to pearce, nor so hote to set on fire as a slanderous tongue.
e These were people of Arabia, which came of Iaphet, Gen. 10. 2.
f That is, of the Ismaelites.
g He declareth what he meaneth by Meshech, & Kedar: to wit, the Israelites, which had degenerate from their godly fathers, and hated and contended against the faithfull.

PSAL. CXXI.

1 This Psalme teacheth that the faithfull ought onely to looke for helpe at God, 7 Who onely doth maintaine, preserue and prosper his Church.

¶ A song of degrees.

1 I Will lift mine eyes [a] vnto the mountaines, from whence mine helpe shall come.
2 Mine helpe commeth from the Lorde, which hath made the [a] heauen and the earth.
3 Hee will not suffer thy foote to slippe: for he that keepeth thee, will not [b] slumber.
4 Beholde, he that keepeth Israel, will neither slumber nor sleepe.
5 The Lorde is thy keeper: the Lord is thy shadow at thy right hand.
6 The sunne shall not [c] smite thee by day, nor the moone by night.
7 The Lorde shall preserue thee from all euill: he shall keepe thy soule.
8 The Lord shal preserue thy [d] going out, and thy comming in from henceforth and for euer.

[a] Or, aboue the mountaines: meaning, that there is nothing so high in this world, wherein he can trust, but onely in God.
a He accuseth mans ingratitude, which can not depend on Gods power.
b He sheweth that Gods prouidence not only watcheth ouer his Church in generall, but also ouer euery member thereof.
c Neither heate nor colde, nor any incommoditie shall be able to destroy Gods Church: albeit for a time they may molest it.
d Whatsoeuer thou doest enterprise, shall haue good successe.

PSAL. CXXII.

1 Dauid reioyceth in the name of the faithfull, that God hath accomplished his promise, and placed his Arke in Zion. 5 For the which he giueth thankes, 8 And prayeth for the prosperitie of the Church.

¶ A song of degrees, or Psalme of Dauid.

1 I [*a] Reioyced, when they saide to me, We will goe into the house of the Lord.
2 Our [b] feete shall stand in thy gates, O Ierusalem.
3 Ierusalem is builded as a citie, that is [c] compact together in it selfe:
4 Whereunto [d] the Tribes, euen the Tribes of the Lorde goe vp according to the testimonie to Israel, to praise the Name of the Lord.
5 For there are thrones set for iudgement, euen the thrones of the house of [e] Dauid.
6 Pray for the peace of Ierusalem: let them prosper that loue thee.
7 Peace be within thy [f] walles, and prosperitie within thy palaces.
8 For my brethren & neighbours sakes I will wish thee now prosperitie.
9 Because of the House of the Lorde our God, I will procure thy wealth.

1. Chro. 29. 9.
a He reioyceth that God had appointed a place, where the Arke should still remaine.
b Which were wont to wander to and fro, as the Arke remoued.
c By the artificiall ioyning and beautie of the houses, he meaneth the concord, and loue that was betweene the citizens.
d All the Tribes according to Gods couenant shall come and pray there.
e In whose house God placed the throne of Iustice, and made it a figure of Christes kingdome.
f The fauour of God prosper thee both in and without.
g Not onely for mine owne sake, but for all the faithfull.

PSAL. CXXIII.

1 A prayer of the faithful, which were afflicted either in Babylon or vnder Antiochus by the wicked worldlings and contemners of God.

¶ A song of degrees.

1 I Lift vp mine eyes to thee, that dwellest in the heauens.
2 Beholde, as the eyes of [a] seruantes looke vnto the hand of their masters, & as the eyes of a mayden vnto the hand of her mistresse: so our eyes wayte vpon the Lord our God vntill he haue mercy vpon vs.
3 Haue mercie vpon vs, O Lorde, haue mercie vpon vs: for we haue [b] suffred too much contempt.
4 Our soule is filled too full of the mocking of the wealthy, and of the despitefulnes of the proude.

a He compareth the condition of the godly to seruants that are destitute of all helpe, assuring that when all other helps faile, God is euer at hand and like himselfe.
b He declareth that when the faithfull are so full, that they can no more endure the oppressions, and scornings of the wicked, there is alway helpe aboue, if with hungry desires they call for it.

PSAL. CXXIIII.

1 The people of God, escaping a great peril, do acknowledge themselues to be deliuered, not by their owne force, but by the power of God. 4 They declare the greatnes of the perill, 6 And praise the Name of God.

¶ A song of degrees, or Psalme of Dauid.

1 If the Lord had not [a] bene on our side, (may Israel now say)
2 If the Lord had not bene on our side, when men rose vp against vs,
3 They had then swallowed vs vp [b] quicke, when their wrath was kindled against vs.
4 Then the [c] waters had drowned vs, & the streame had gone ouer our soule:
5 Then had the swelling waters gone ouer our soule.
6 Praised be the Lorde, which hath not giuen vs as a pray vnto their teeth.
7 Our soule is escaped, euen as a bird out of the [d] snare of the foulers: the snare is broken and we are deliuered.
8 Our helpe is in the Name of the Lorde, which hath made heauen and earth.

a He sheweth that God was ready to helpe at neede, and that there was none other way to be saued, but by his only meanes.
b So vnable were we to resist.
c He vseth most proper similitudes to expresse the great dager that the Church was in, and out of the which God miraculously deliuered them.
d For the wicked did not onely furiously rage against the faithfull, but craftily imagined to destroy them.

PSAL. CXXV.

1 He deſcribeth the aſſurance of the faithfull in their afflictions. 4 And deſireth their welth. 5 And the deſtruction of the wicked.

¶ A ſong of degrees.

1 THey that truſt in the Lorde, ſhalbe as mount Sion, which can not be [a] remoued, but remaineth for euer
2 As the mountaines are about Ieruſalem: ſo is the Lorde about his people from henceforth and for euer.
3 For the [b] rod of the wicked ſhall not reſt on the lot of the righteous, leſt the righteous put forth their handes vnto wickednes.
4 Doe well, O Lorde, vnto thoſe that bee good and true in their hearts.
5 [c] But theſe that turne aſide by their crooked waies, them ſhall the Lord leade with the workers of iniquitie: but peace ſhalbe vpon Iſrael.

a Though the world be ſubiect to mutations, yet the people of God ſhall ſtand ſure and be defended by Gods prouidence.
b Though God ſuffer his to be vnder the croſſe, leaſt they ſhould imbrace wickednesſe, yet this croſſe ſhall not ſo reſt vpon them, that it ſhould driue them from hope.
c He deſireth God to purge his Church from hypocrites and ſuch as haue no zeale of ye trueth.

PSAL. CXXVI.

1 This Pſalme was made after the returne of the people from Babylon, and ſheweth that the meane of their deliuerance was wonderfull after the ſeuentie yeares of captiuitie foreſpoken by Ieremie, chap. 25. 12. and 29. 10.

¶ A ſong of degrees or Pſalme of Dauid.

1 WHen [d] the Lorde brought againe the captiuitie of Sion, wee were like them [a] that dreame.
2 Then was our mouth [b] filled with laughter, & our tongue with ioy: then ſaide they among the [c] heathen, The Lord hath done great things for them.
3 The Lorde hath done great thinges for vs, whereof we reioyce.
4 O Lord, bring againe our captiuitie, as the [d] riuers in the South.
5 They that ſowe in teares, ſhall reape in ioye.
6 They went weeping and caried [e] pretious ſeede: but they ſhall returne with ioy and bring their sheaues.

a Their deliuerance was as a thing incredible, and therefore tooke away all excuſe of ingratitude.
b He ſheweth howe the godly ought to reioyce, when God gathereth his Church or deliuereth it.
c If the Infidels confeſſe Gods wonderful work, the faithfull can neuer ſhew themſelues ſufficiently thankefull.
d It is no more impoſſible to God to deliuer his people, then to cauſe the riuers to runne in the wildemeſſe and barren places.
e That is, ſeede which was ſcarce and deare: meaning, that they which truſted in Gods promes to returne, had their deſire.

PSAL. CXXVII.

1 He ſheweth that the whole eſtate of the world, both domeſticall and politicall ſtandeth by Gods mere prouidence and bleſſing. 3 And that to haue children wel nurtred, is an eſpeciall grace and gift of God.

¶ A ſong of degrees or Pſalme of Salomon.

1 EXcept the Lorde [a] builde the houſe, they labour in vaine that builde it: except the Lord keepe the [b] citie, the keeper watcheth in vaine.
2 It is in vaine for you to riſe early, and to lie downe late, and eate the bread of ſorowe: but hee will ſurely giue [c] reſt to his beloued.
3 Beholde, children are the inheritance of the Lord, and the fruite of the wombe his reward.
4 As are the arrowes in the hand of the ſtrong man: ſo are [d] children of youth.
5 Bleſſed is the man, that hath his quiuer full of them: for they [e] ſhall not be aſhamed, when they ſpeake with their enemies in the gate.

a That is, gouerne and diſpoſe all things perteining to the familie.
b The publike eſtate of the common welth.
c Which watch and warde, & are alſo magiſtrates, and rulers of the citie.
d Either that, which is gotten by hard labour, or eaten with griefe of minde.
e Not exempting them from labour, but making their labours comfortable, and as it were a reſt.
f That is, indued with ſtrength and vertues from God: for theſe are ſignes of Gods bleſſing, and not the nomber.
g Such children ſhalbe able to ſtoppe their aduerſaries mouthes, when their godly life is maliciouſly accuſed before iudges.

PSAL. CXXVIII.

1 He ſheweth that bleſſednes appertaineth not to al vniuerſally, but to them only that feare the Lord, and walke in his wayes.

¶ A ſong of degrees.

1 BLeſſed is euery one that feareth the Lord and walketh in his [a] wayes.
2 When thou eateſt the labours of thine [b] hands, thou ſhalt be bleſſed, and it ſhalbe well with thee.
3 Thy wife ſhalbe as the fruitefull vine on the ſides of thine houſe, & thy [c] children like the olive plantes round about thy table.
4 Lo, ſurely thus ſhal the man be bleſſed, that feareth the Lord.
5 The Lord out of Sion ſhall [d] bleſſe thee, and thou ſhalt ſee the welth of [e] Ieruſalem all the dayes of thy life.
6 Yea, thou ſhalt ſee thy childrens children, and peace vpon Iſrael.

a God approueth not our life except it be reformed, according to his word.
b The worlde eſteemeth them happie, which liue in wealth and idlenes: but the holy Ghoſt approueth them beſt, that line of the meane profite of their labours.
c Because Gods fauour appeareth in none outwarde thing more then in increaſe of children, he promiſeth to enrich the faithfull with this gift.
d Because of the ſpirituall bleſſing, which God hath made to his Church, theſe temporall thinges ſhalbe granted.
e For exceept God bleſſed his Church publikely, this priuate bleſſing were nothing.

PSAL. CXXIX.

1 He admoniſheth the Church to reioyce though it be afflicted. 4 For by the righteous Lorde it ſhalbe deliuered, 6 And the enemies for all their glorious ſhewe, ſhall ſuddenly be deſtroyed.

¶ A ſong of degrees.

1 THey haue oftentimes afflicted me from my youth (may [a] Iſrael now ſay)
2 They haue oftentimes afflicted me frō my youth: but they could not preuaile againſt me.
3 The plowers plowed vpon my backe, and made long furrowes.
4 But the [b] righteous Lorde hath cut the cordes of the wicked.
5 They that hate Sion, ſhalbe all aſhamed and turned backward.

a The Church now afflicted ought to remember, how her condition hath euer bene ſuch from the beginning: to be moleſted moſt grieuously by the wicked: yet in time it hath euer bene deliuered.
b Because God is righteous, he cannot but plague his aduerſaries, and deliuer his, as oxen out of the plowe.

c The enemies ſ lift them ſelues moſt high, & as it were, approch neere to ſ ſunne, are conſumed w the heate of Gods wrath, becauſe they are not grounded in godly humilitie.
d That is, ſ wicked ſhall periſh and none ſhall paſſe for them.

6 c Thep ſhalbe as the graſſe on the houſe toppes, which witherety afoze it commeth forth.
7 Wherefoꝛe the mower filleth not his hand, neither the glainer his lap:
8 d Neither thep, which goe bp, ſay, The bleſſing of the Lord be upon pou, oꝛ, We bleſſe pou in the Name of the Lord.

3 They confeſſe their ſinnes and flee vnto Gods mercie.

¶ A ſong of degrees.

a Being in great diſtreſſe and ſoꝛowe.
b He declareth that we cannot be iuſt before God, but by foꝛgiueneſſe of ſinnes.
c Becauſe of nature thou art mercifull: therefoꝛe the faithfull reuerence thee.
d He ſheweth to whom the mercie of God doeth appertaine: to Iſrael, that is, to the Church, and not to the reprobate.

1 OVt of the a deepe places haue I called vnto thee, O Lord.
2 Lorde, heare my voyce: let thine eares attend to ꝑ voyce of my prayers.
3 If thou, O Lord, ſtraightly marke iniquities, O Lord, b who ſhall ſtand?
4 But mercie is with thee, that thou c mairſt be feared.
5 I haue waited on the Lorde: my ſoule hath waited, and I haue truſted in his woꝛde.
6 My ſoule waiteth on the Lorde more then the morning watch watcheth foꝛ the morning.
7 Let Iſrael waite on the Lorde: foꝛ with the Lord is d mercie, and with him is great redemption.
8 And he ſhall redeeme Iſrael from all his iniquities.

¶ A ſong of degrees oꝛ Pſalme of Dauid.

a He ſetteth forth his great humilitie, as an example to al rulers and gouernours.
b Which paſſe the meaſure and limits of his vocation.
c He was voyde of ambition and wicked deſires.

1 LOꝛd, mine heart is not hautie, neither are mine eyes loftie, neither haue I walked in great b matters and hid from me.
2 Surely I haue behaued my ſelfe, like one waned from his mother, and kept ſilence: I am in my ſelfe as one that is c waned.
3 Let Iſrael waite on the Lorde from henceforth and foꝛ euer.

1 The faithfull, grounding on Gods promes made vnto Dauid, deſire that hee would eſtabliſh the ſame, both as touching his poſteritie & the building of the Temple, to pray there as was foreſpoken, Deu. 12.5

¶ A ſong of degrees.

a That is, with howe great difficultie he came to the kingdome, and with howe great zeale and care he went about to builde thy Temple.
b Becauſe the chiefe charge of the King was to ſet forth Gods glory, he ſheweth, that he could take no reſt, neither would go about any worldly thing, were it neuer ſo neceſſarie, before he had executed his office.

1 LOꝛd, remember Dauid with all his a affliction.
2 Who ſware vnto the Lord, and vowed vnto the mightie God of Iaakob, ſaying,
3 I b will not enter into the tabernacle of mine houſe, noꝛ come vpon my paleſt oꝛ bed,
4 Noꝛ ſuffer mine eies to ſleepe, noꝛ mine eye lids to ſlumber,
5 Vntil I finde out a place foꝛ the c Lord, an habitation foꝛ the mightie God of Iaakob.
6 Lo, we heard of it in d Ephrathah, and found it in the fieldes of the foreſt.
7 Wee will enter into his Tabernacles, and worſhip before his footeſtoole.
8 Ariſe, O Lorde, to come into thy e reſt, thou, and the Arke of thy ſtrength.
9 Let thy Prieſts be clothed with f righteouſneſſe, and let thy Saintes reioyce.
10 Foꝛ thy ſ ſeruant Dauids ſake refuſe not the face of thine Anoynted.
11 The Lorde hath ſwoꝛne in trueth vnto Dauid, and he will not ſhrinke from it, ſaying, Of the fruite of thy bodie will I ſet vpon thy throne.
12 If thy ſonnes keepe my couenant, and my teſtimonies, that I ſhall teach them, their ſonnes alſo ſhall ſit vpon thy throne foꝛ h euer.
13 Foꝛ the Lorde hath choſen Zion, and loued to dwell in it, ſaying, 14 This is my reſt foꝛ euer: here will I dwell, foꝛ I haue a deſire therein.
15 I will ſurely bleſſe her vitailes, and will ſatiſfie her poore with bread, 16 And will clothe her Prieſts with i ſalvation, and her Saintes ſhall ſhoute foꝛ ioye.
17 There will I make the k horne of Dauid to bud: foꝛ I haue ordered a light foꝛ mine Anoynted.
18 His enemies will I clothe with ſhame, but on him his crowne ſhall flouriſhe.

a That is, the Arke, which was a ſigne of Gods preſence.
d The common bruite was that the Arke ſhould remaine in Ephrathah: that is, in Beth-lehem a plentifull place: but after, we perceiued that thou wouldeſt place it in Ieruſalem, which was baren as a foreſt, and compaſſed about onely with hilles.
e That is, Ieruſalem, becauſe ſ afterwarde his Arke ſhould remoue to none other place.
f Let the effect of thy grace both appeare in the Prieſts and in the people.
g As thou firſt madeſt promes to Dauid, ſo continue it to his poſteritie, ſ whatſoeuer they ſhall aſke for their people, it may be graunted.
h Becauſe this cannot be accompliſhed but in Chriſt, it followeth that the promes was ſpirituall.
i Meaning, for his owne ſake, and not for the plentifulnes of the place: for he promiſeth to bleſſe it, declaring before, that it was baren.
k That is, with my protection, whereby they ſhalbe ſafe.
l Though his force for a time ſeemed to be broken, yet he promiſeth to reſtore it.

1 This Pſalme containeth the commendation of brotherly amitie among the ſeruants of God.

¶ A ſong of degrees oꝛ Pſalme of Dauid.

a Becauſe the greateſt part were againſt Dauid, though ſome fauoured him, yet when he was eſtabliſhed King, at length they ioyned all together like brethren: and therefoꝛe he ſheweth by theſe ſimilitudes the commoditie of brotherly loue.
b The ointment was a figure of the graces which come from Chriſt the head vnto his Church.
c By Hermon and Zion he meaneth the plentifull countrey about Ieruſalem.
d Where there is ſuch concord.

1 BEholde, how good and how comelie a thing it is, thep bren to dwell euen a together.
2 It is like to the pꝛecious b ointment vpon the head, that runneth downe vpon the beard, euen vnto Aarons beard, which went down on the boyder of his garments:
3 And as the deawe of c Hermon, which falleth vpon the mountaines of Zion: foꝛ d there the Lord appointed the bleſſing and life foꝛ euer.

PSAL. CXXXIIII.

1 He exhorteth the Leuites, watching in the Temple, to praiſe the Lord.

¶ A ſong of degrees.

1 BEhold, prayſe ye the Lord, all ye [a] ſeruants of the Lorde, ye that by night ſtand in the houſe of the Lord.
2 Lift vp your [b] hands to the Sanctuarie, and prayſe the Lord.
3 The Lorde, that hath [c] made heauen & earth, bleſſe thee out of Zion.

a Ye that are Leuites, & chiefly appointed to this office.
b For their charge was not onely to keepe the Temple, but to pray there and to giue God thankes.
c And therefore hath al power, bleſſe thee with his fatherly loue declared in Zion. Thus the Leuites vſed to praiſe the Lord, and bleſſe the people.

PSAL. CXXXV.

1 He exhorteth all the faithfull, of what eſtate ſoeuer they be, to praiſe God for his marueilous workes, 12 And ſpecially for his graces towarde his people, wherein he hath declared his maieſtie, 15 To the confuſion of all idolaters, and their idoles.

¶ Prayſe ye the Lord.

1 PRaiſe the Name of the Lord: ye ſeruants of the Lord, prayſe him.
2 Ye that ſtand in the [a] houſe of the Lord, and in the [b] courts of the houſe of our God,
3 Prayſe ye the Lord: for the Lord is good: ſing prayſes vnto his Name: for it is a comely thing.
4 For the Lord hath [c] choſen Iaakob to himſelfe, and Iſrael for his chiefe treaſure.
5 For I know that the Lord is great, and that our Lord is aboue all gods.
6 Whatſoeuer pleaſed the Lord, that [d] did he in heauen and in earth, in the ſea, and in all the depths.
7 Hee bringeth vp the cloudes from the endes of the earth, & maketh the * lightnings with the rayne: he draweth forth the winde out of his treaſures.
8 * He ſmote the firſt borne of Egypt both of man and beaſt.
9 He hath ſent tokens and wonders into the mids of thee, O Egypt, vpon Pharaoh, and vpon all his ſeruants.
10 * He ſmote many nations, and ſlewe mightie kings:
11 As Sihon King of the Amorites, & Og King of Bashan, and all the kingdomes of Canaan:
12 And * gaue their lande for an inheritance, euen an inheritance vnto Iſrael his people.
13 Thy Name, O Lord, endureth for euer: O Lord, thy remembrance is from generation to generation.
14 For the Lorde will [f] iudge his people, and be pacified towards his ſeruantes.
15 The [g] idoles of the heathen are ſiluer & golde, euen the worke of mens hands.
16 They haue a mouth, and ſpeake not: they haue eyes and ſee not.
17 They haue eares and heare not, neyther is there any breath in their mouth.
18 They that make them, are like vnto them: ſo are all that truſt in them.
19 Prayſe the Lorde, ye houſe of Iſrael: prayſe the Lord, ye houſe of Aaron.
20 Prayſe the Lorde, ye houſe of Leui: ye that feare the Lord, prayſe the Lord.
21 Prayſed bee the Lorde out of Zion, which dwelleth in Ieruſalem. Prayſe ye the Lord.

a Ye Leuites that are in his Sanctuarie.
b Meaning the people: for the people and Leuites had their courtes, which were places of the Temple ſeparate.
c That is, hath freely loued the poſteritie of Abraham.
d He ioyneth Gods power & his will, to the intent that we ſhould not ſeparate them: and hereby he willeth Gods people to depend on his power, which he confirmeth by examples. Ier.10.13. Exo.12.29. Numb 21.24.34.
e He ſheweth what fruite the godly conceiue of Gods power, whereby they ſee how he deſtroyeth his enemies, and deliuereth his people.
f That is, gouerne & defende his people.
g By ſhewing what puniſhment God appoynteth for the heathen idolaters, hee warneth his people to beware the like offence, ſeeing that idoles haue neither power nor life, and that their deliuerance came not by idoles, but by the mighty power of God, read Pſal.115. verſ.4.

PSAL. CXXXVI.

1 A moſt earneſt exhortation to giue thankes vnto God for the creation & gouernance of all things, which ſtandeth in confeſſing that he giueth vs all of his meere liberalitie.

1 PRaiſe ye the Lorde, becauſe hee is good: for his [a] mercie endureth for euer.
2 Prayſe yee the God of gods: for his mercie endureth for euer.
3 Prayſe ye the Lorde of lordes: for his mercy endureth for euer:
4 Which onely doth great wonders: for his mercie endureth for euer:
5 Which by his wiſdome made the heauens: for his mercie endureth for euer:
6 Which hath ſtretched out the earth vpon the waters: for his [b] mercy endureth for euer:
7 Which made great lights: for his mercie endureth for euer:
8 As the ſunne to rule the daye: for his mercy endureth for euer:
9 The moone and the ſtarres to gouerne the night: for his mercie endureth for euer:
10 Which ſmote Egypt with their firſt borne (for his mercie endureth for euer)
11 And [c] brought out Iſrael from among them (for his mercy endureth for euer)
12 With a mightie hande and [d] ſtretched out arme: for his mercie endureth for euer:
13 Which deuided the redde Sea in two parts: for his mercy endureth for euer:
14 And made Iſrael to paſſe through the middes of it: for his mercie endureth for euer:
15 And ouerthrewe Pharaoh & his hoſte in the red Sea: for his mercie endureth for euer:
16 Which ledde his people through the [e] wildernes: for his mercie endureth for euer:
17 Which ſmote great kinges: for his mercie endureth for euer:
18 And ſlew [f] mighty kings: for his mercie endureth

a By this repetition he ſheweth that the leaſt of Gods benefites binde vs to thankeſgiuing: but chiefly his mercie, which is principally declared towards his Church.
b This was a common kind of thankeſgiuing, which the whole people vſed, when they had receyued any benefite of God, as 2.Chro.7.6. and 20.21: meaning, that God was not onely merciful to their fathers, but alſo continued the ſame to their poſteritie.
c Gods mercifull prouidence toward man appeareth in all his creatures, but chiefely in that that he deliuered his Church from the thraldome of their enemies.
d In doing ſuch a worke as was neuer done before, nor that any other could do.
e Where for the ſpace of fourtie yeres he ſhewed infinite and moſt ſtrange wonders.
f Declaring thereby that no power nor authoritie was ſo deere vnto him, as the loue of his Church.

cie endureth for euer:
19 As Sihon king of the Amorites: for his mercy endureth for euer:
20 And Og the king of Basban: for his mercy endureth for euer:
21 And gaue their lande for an heritage: for his mercy endureth for euer:
22 Euen an heritage vnto Israel his seruaunt: for his mercy endureth for euer:
23 Which remembred vs in our g base estate: for his mercie endureth for euer:
24 And hath reskued vs from our oppressours: for his mercie endureth for euer:
25 Which giueth foode to all h flesh: for his mercy endureth for euer.
26 i Praise ye the God of heauen: for his mercie endureth for euer.

g In our greatest affliction & slauerie, when we looked for nothing lesse then to haue had any succour.
h Seeing that God prouideth, euen for the beastes: much more hath he care ouer his.
i Seeing that all ages haue had most plaine testimonies of Gods benefites.

PSAL. CXXXVII.

The people of God in their banishment seeing Gods true religion decay, liued in great anguish & sorow of heart: the which grief the Chaldeās did so litle pity. 3 That they rather increased the same dayly with taunts, reproches and blasphemies against God. 7 Wherefore the Israelites desire God, first to punish the Edomites, who prouoked the Babylonians against them, 8 And moued by the Spirit of God, prophecie the destruction of Babylon, where they were handled so tyrannously.

1 By the riuers of Babel we a sate, and there wee wept, when we remembred Sion.
2 We hanged our harpes vpon the willowes in the middes b thereof.
3 Then they that led vs captiues, required of vs songs & mirth, when we had hanged vp our harps, saying, Sing vs one of the songs of Zion.
4 How shal we sing, said we, a song of the Lord in a strange land?
5 d If I forget thee, O Jerusalem, let my right hand forget to play.
6 If I doe not remember thee, let my tongue cleaue to the roofe of my mouth: yea, if I preferre not Jerusalem to my e chiefe ioy.
7 Remember the children of f Edom, O Lorde, in the g day of Jerusalem, which sayde, Raise it, raise it to the foundation thereof.
8 O daughter of Babel, worthy to be destroyed, blessed shal he be that rewardeth thee, as thou hast serued vs.
9 h Blessed shal he be that taketh and dasheth thy children against the stones.

a That is, we abode a long time: & albeit that the countrey was pleasant, yet could it not stay our teares, nor turne vs from the true seruice of our God.
b To wit, of that countrey.
c The Babylonians spake thus in mocking vs, as though by our silence we should signifie that we hoped no more in God.
d Albeit the faithfull are touched with their particular griefs, yet the common sorowe of the Church is most grieuous vnto them, and is such as they can not but remember & lament. e The decay of Gods religion in their countrey was so grieuous, that no ioy could make them glad, except it were restored. f According as Ezekiel 25.13. and Ieremie 49.7. verse prophecied: and Obadiah vers. 10 sheweth that the Edomites, which came of Esau, cōspired with ỹ Babylonians against their brethren & kinsfolke. g When thou dideſt visit Ierusalem. h He alludeth to Isaies prophecie chap. 13. & 16. vers. promising good successe to Cyrus & Darius, whom ambition moued to fight against Babylon: but God vsed them as his rods to punish his enemies.

PSAL. CXXXVIII.

Dauid with great courage prayseth the goodnes of God toward him, the which is so great, 4 That it is knowen to forreyne princes, who shal praise the Lord together with him. 6 And he is assured to haue like comfort of God in the time folowing, as he hath had heretofore.

A Psalme of Dauid.

1 I Will praise thee with my whole heart: euen before the a goddes will I praise thee.
2 I will worshippe towarde thine holie b Temple & praise thy Name, because of thy louing kindnes, & for thy truethe: for thou hast magnified thy Name aboue all things by thy word.
3 When I called, then thou heardest me, & hast c encreased strength in my soule.
4 All the d kings of the earth shal praise thee, O Lorde: for they haue heard the words of thy mouth.
5 And they shall sing of the wayes of the Lorde, because the glorie of the Lorde is great.
6 For the Lord is high: yet he beholdeth the lowly, but the proude hee knoweth e afarre off.
7 Though I walke in the mids of trouble, yet wilt thou reuiue mee: thou wilt stretch forth thine hand vpon the wrath of mine enemies, and thy right hande shall saue me.
8 The Lorde wil f perfourme his worke toward me: O Lorde, thy mercie endureth for euer: forsake not the workes of thine handes.

a Euen in the presence of Angels, & of them that haue autoritie amōg men.
b Both the Temple and ceremoniall seruice at Christes comming were abolished: so that now God will be worshipped onely in spirite and trueth, Iohn 4.23.
c Thou hast strēgthened me against mine outward & inward enemies.
d All the world shall confesse that thou hast wonderfully preserued me, & performed thy promes.
e Distance of place can not hinder God to shew mercie to his, & to iudge the wicked, though they thinke that he is farre off.
f Though mine enemies rage neuer so much, yet the Lorde, which hath begun his worke in me, will continue his grace to the ende.

PSAL. CXXXIX.

Dauid to cleanse his heart from all hypocrisie, sheweth that there is nothing so hid, which God seeth not, 13 Which he confirmeth by the creation of man. 14 After declaring his zeale and feare of God, he protesteth to bee enemie to all them that contemne God.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

1 O Lord, thou hast tried me & knowen mee.
2 Thou knowest my a sitting & my rising: thou vnderstandest my thought afarre off.
3 Thou b compassest my paths, and my lying downe, and art accustomed to all my wayes.
4 For there is not a word in my c tōgue, but lo, thou knowest it wholly, O Lord.
5 Thou holdest me straite behind and before, and layest thine d hand vpon me.
6 Thy knowledge is too wōderful for me: it is so high that I cānot attaine vnto it.

a He confesseth that neither our actions, thoughts or any part of our life can be hid to God, though he seeme to be farre off.
b So that they are euidently knowen to thee.
c Thou knowest my meaning before I speake.
d Thou so guidest me ỹ thine hand, that I can turne no way, but where thou appointest me.

7 Whi-

e From thy power and Knowledge?
f Thy power doth so fast hold me, that I can escape by no meanes from thee.
g Though darknes be an hinderance to mans sight, yet it serueth thine eyes as well as the light.
h Thou hast made me in all parts and therefore must needes knowe me.
i Considering thy wonderfull worke in forming me, I can not but prayse thee, and feare thy mightie power.
k That is, in my mothers wombe: which he compareth to the inward partes of the earth.
l Seeing that thou dideste know me before I was composed of eyther flesh or bone, much more now must thou knowe me when thou hast facioned me, m Howe ought we to esteeme the excellent declaration of thy wisedome in the creation of man!
n Icontinually see newe occasions to meditate in thy wisdome & to praise thee.
o He teacheth vs boldly to contemne all the hatred of the wicked, and friendship of the worlde, when they would let vs to serue God syncerely.
p Or any heinous way or rebellious: meaning, that though hee were subiect to sinne: yet was he not giuen to wickednesse and to prouoke God by rebellion.
q That is, continue thy fauour towards me to the ende.

7 Whither shall I go from thy [e] Spirit? or whither shall I flee from thy presence?
8 If I ascend into heauē, thou art there: if I lie downe in hell, thou art there.
9 Let me take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the vtternost parts of the sea:
10 Yet thither shal thine [f] hand leade me, and thy right hand holde me.
11 If I say, Yet the darkenesse shall hide me, euen the night shalbe [g] light about me.
12 Yea, the darkenesse hideth not from thee: but the night shineth as the day: the darkenesse and light are both alike.
13 For thou hast [h] possessed my reines: thou hast couered mee in my mothers wombe.
14 I will praise thee, for I am [i] fearefully and wonderously made: marueilous are thy workes, and my soule knoweth it well.
15 My bones are not hid frō thee, though I was made in a secrete place, and facioned [k] beneath in the earth.
16 Thine eyes did see mee, when I was without forme: for in thy booke were all thinges written, which in continuance were facioned, when there was none of them before.
17 How [m] deare therfore are thy thoughts vnto mee, O God! howe great is the summe of them!
18 If I should count them, they are moe then the sand: when I wake, [n] I am still with thee.
19 Oh that thou wouldest slay, O God, the wicked and bloudie men, to whom I say, Depart ye from me:
20 Which speake wickedly of thee, & being thine enemies are lifted vp in vain.
21 Doe not I [o] hate them, O Lorde, that hate thee? and doe not I earnestly contende with those that rise vp against thee?
22 I hate them with an vnfained hatred, as they were mine veter enemies.
23 Trie mee, O God, and knowe mine heart: proue me & know my thoughts, 24 And consider if there be any [p] wap of wickednes in me, and leade me in the [q] wap for euer.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

1 Deliuer me, O Lord, from the euill man: preserue me from [a] cruel man:
2 Which imagine euill thinges in their [b] heart, and make warre continually.
3 They haue sharpened their tongues like a serpent: [c] adders poyson is vnder their lippes. Selah.
4 Keepe [d] me, O Lorde, from the handes of the wicked: preserue mee from the cruell man, which purposeth to cause my steppes to slide.
5 The proud haue laid a snare for me, and spred a net with cords in my pathway, and set grennes for me. Selah.
6 Therefore I sayde vnto the Lord, Thou art my God: heare, O Lorde, the voyce of my prayers.
7 O Lord God the strength of my saluation, thou [e] hast couered mine head in the day of battell.
8 Let not the wicked haue his desire, O Lorde: [f] performe not his wicked thought, least they be proude. Selah.
9 As for [g] the chiefe of them, that compasse me about, let the mischiefe of their owne lippes come vpon them.
10 Let coles fall vpon them: let [h] him cast them into the fire, and into the deepe pits, that they rise not.
11 For the backbiter shall not be established vpon the earth: euill shall [i] hunt the cruell man to destruction.
12 I know that the Lord will auenge the afflicted, and iudge the poore.
13 Surely the righteous shall prayse thy Name, and the iust shall [k] dwell in thy presence.

a Which persecuteth me of malice and without cause.
b That is, by their false cauillations and lyes they kindle the hatred of the wicked against me.
c He sheweth what weapons the wicked vse, when power and force faile them.
d He declareth what is the remedie of the godly, when they are oppressed by the world lings.
e He calleth to God with liuely faith, being assured of his mercies, because he had beforetime proued, that God helped him euer in his dangers.
f For it is in Gods hand to ouerthrowe the counsels and enterprises of the wicked.
g It seemeth that he alludeth to Saul.
h To wit, God: for Dauid sawe that they were reprobate, and that there was no hope of repentance in them.
i Gods plagues shall light vpon him in such sort, that he shall not escape.
k That is, shall be defended and preserued by thy fatherly prouidence and care.

PSAL. CXLI.

Dauid being grieuously persecuted vnder Saul, onely fleeth vnto God to haue succour, 3 desiring him to bridle his affections, that he may patiently abide till God take vengeance of his enemies.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

1 Lord, I [a] call vpon thee: haste thee vnto me: heare my voyce when I crie vnto thee.
2 Let my prayer be directed in thy sight as incense, and the [b] lifting vp of mine handes as an euening sacrifice.
3 Set a watch, O Lord, before my mouth, and keepe the [c] doore of my lippes.
4 Incline not mine heart to euill, that I shoulde commit wicked workes with a He sheweth that there is none other refuge in our necessities, but onely to flee vnto God for comfort of soule.

b He meaneth his earnest zeale and gesture, which he vsed in prayer: alluding to the sacrifices, which were by Gods commandement offered in the olde lawe.
c He desireth God to keepe his thoughtes and wayes eyther from thinking or executing vengeance, men

men that worke iniquitie: and let mee not eate of their [d] delicates.

d Let not their prosperity allure me to be wicked as they are.

5 Let the righteous smite me: for that is a benefite: and let him reproue me, and it shalbe a precious oyle, that shall not breake mine head: for within a while I shall euen [f] pray in their miseries.

e He coulde abide all corrections, that came of a louing heart.

6 When their iudges shalbe cast downe in stonie places, they shall [g] heare my wordes, for they are sweete.

f By patience I shall see the wicked so sharpely handled, that I shall for pitie pray for them.

7 Our bones lie scattered at the [h] graues mouth, as he that heweth wood or diggeth in the earth.

g The people, which followed their wicked rulers in persecuting ỹ Prophet, shall repent and turne to God, when they see their wicked rulers punished.

8 But mine eyes looke vnto thee, O Lord God: in thee is my trust: leaue not my soule destitute.

9 Keepe mee from the snare, which they haue laid for me, and from the grennes of the workers of iniquitie.

10 Let the wicked fall into [i] his nettes [k] together, whiles I escape.

h Here appeareth that Dauid was miraculously deliuered out of many deaths, as 2. Cor. 1. 9, 10.

i Into Gods nettes, whereby he catcheth the wicked in their owne malice.

k So that none of them escape.

PSAL. CXLII.

1 The Prophet neither astonied with feare, nor caried away with anger, nor forced by desperation, woulde kill Saul: but with a quiet mind directed his earnest prayer to God, who did preserue him.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid, to giue instruction, and a prayer, when he was in the caue.

1 I Cried vnto the Lord with my voyce: with my voyce I [a] prayed vnto the Lord.

2 I powred out my meditation before him, and declared mine affliction in his presence.

3 Though my spirit [*] was in perplexitie in me, yet thou knewest my path: in the way, wherein I walked, haue they priuily laid a snare for me.

4 I looked vpon my right hand, and beheld, but there was none that would know me: all refuge failed me, & none [b] cared for my soule.

5 Then cried I vnto thee, O Lord, & said, Thou art mine [b] hope, and my portion in the land of the liuing.

6 Hearken vnto my crie, for I am brought very lowe: deliuer mee from my persecuters, for they are too strong for me.

7 Bring my soule out of [c] prison, that I may prayse thy Name: then shall the righteous [d] come about me, when thou art beneficiall vnto me.

a Dauids patience and instant prayer to God condemneth their wicked rage, which in their troubles either dispaire and murmure against God, or els seeke to others, then to God, to haue redresse in their miseries.

[*] Ebr. was folden or wrapped in me: meaning, as a thing that coulde haue none issue.

b Though all meanes failed him, yet he knew that God would neuer forsake him.

[b] Or, sought for my soule.

c For hee was on all sides beset with his enemies, as though he had bene in a most straight prison.

d Either to reioyce at my wonderfull deliuerance, or to set a crowne vpon mine head.

PSAL. CXLIII.

1 An earnest praier for remission of sinnes, acknowledging that the enemies did thus cruelly persecute him by Gods iust iudgement. 8 He desireth to be restored to grace, 10 To be gouerned by his holy Spirit, that he may spend the remnant of his life in the true feare and seruice of God.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

1 HEare my prayer, O Lord, & hearken vnto my supplication: answere me in thy [a] truth and in thy [b] righteousnes.

a That is, as thou hast promised to be faithfull in thy promes to all that trust in thee.

2 (And enter not into iudgement with thy seruant: for in thy [c] sight shal none that liueth, be iustified)

b That is, according to thy free goodnes, whereby thou defendest thine.

3 For the enemie hath persecuted my soule: he hath smitten my life downe to the earth: he hath laid me in the darknesse, as they that haue bin dead [d] long agoe:

c He knew that his afflictions were Gods messengers to call him to repentance for his sinnes, though toward his enemies he was innocent, and that in Gods sight all men are sinners.

4 And my spirit was in perplexitie in me, and mine [e] heart within me was amased.

d He acknowledgeth that God is the onely and true physicion to heale him: and that he is able to raise him to life, though hee were dead long agoe, and turned to ashes.

5 Yet doe I remember the time [f] past: I meditate in all thy workes, yea, I doe meditate in the workes of thine hands.

e So that onely by fayth, and by the grace of Gods spirite he was vpholden.

6 I stretche forth mine handes vnto thee: my soule desireth after thee, as the thirstie land. Selah.

7 Heare me speedily, O Lord, for my spirit faileth: hide not thy face from me, else I shalbe like vnto them that goe downe into the pit.

8 Let me heare thy louing kindnes in the [g] morning, for in thee is my trust: [h] shew me the way, that I should walke in, for I lift vp my soule vnto thee.

9 Deliuer me, O Lord, from mine enemies: for [i] I hid me with thee.

10 [k] Teach me to [l] do thy will, for thou art my God: let thy good Spirite leade me vnto the land of righteousnes.

11 Quicken me, O Lord, for thy Names sake, and for thy righteousnes bring my soule out of trouble.

12 And for thy mercie [m] slay mine enemies, and destroy all them that oppresse my soule: for I am thy [n] seruant.

f To wit, thy great benefites of old, and the manifold examples of thy fauour toward thine.

g That is, speedily and in due season.

h Let thine holy Spirit counsell me how to come forth of these great cares & troubles.

i I hid my selfe vnder the shadow of thy wings, that I might be defended by thy power.

k He confesseth that both the knowledge and obedience of Gods will commeth by the Spirit of God, who teacheth vs by his worde, giueth vnderstanding by his Spirit, and frameth our heartes by his grace to obey him.

l That is, iustly and aright: for so soone as we decline from Gods will, we fall into errour.

m Which shalbe a signe of thy fatherly kindnesse towarde me.

n Resigning my selfe wholy vnto thee, and trusting in thy protection.

PSAL. CXLIIII.

1 He prayseth the Lord with great affection and humilitie for his kingdom restored, and for his victories obteined, 5 Demanding helpe and the destruction of the wicked, 9 Promising to acknowledge the same with songs of prayses, 15 And declareth wherin the felicitie of any people consisteth.

¶ A Psalme

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

1 BLessed be ꝑ Lord my strength, which a teacheth myne handes to fight, and my fingers to battel.

2 He is my goodnes and my fortresse, my towre and b my deliuerer, my shield, and in him I trust, which subdueth my b people vnder me.

3 Lorde, what is man that thou c regardest him! or the sonne of man that thou thinkest vpon him!

4 Man is like to vanitie: his dayes are like a shadow, that vanisheth.

5 d Bow thine heauens, O Lorde, & come downe: touch the mountaines and they shall smoke.

6 e Cast forth the lightning and scatter them: shoote out thine arrowes, & consume them.

7 Send thine hand from aboue: deliuer me, and take mee out of the great f waters, and from the hand of strangers,

8 Whose mouth talketh vanitie, & their ryght hande is a ryght hande of falsehoode.

9 I will sing a g newe song vnto thee, O God, and sing vnto thee vpon a viole, & an instrument of ten strings.

10 It is hee that giueth deliuerance vnto kings, and rescueth Dauid his h seruant from the hurtfull swoord.

11 Rescue me, & deliuer me from the hand of strangers, whose mouth talketh vanitie, & their right hand is a right hande of falsehoode:

12 That our i sonnes may be as ꝑ plants growing vp in their youth, and our daughters as the corner stones, grauen after the similitude of a palace:

13 That our k corners may be full, and abounding with diuers sorts, & that our sheepe may bring forth thousands and ten thousand in our streetes:

14 That our l oxen may bee strong to labour: that there bee none inuasion, nor going out, nor crying in our streetes.

15 Blessed are the people, that be m so, yea, blessed are the people, whose God is the Lorde.

a Who of a poore shepherd hath made me a valiant warriour and mighty conquerour.

b Ebr. my deliuerer vnto me: for the Prophet can not satisfie himselfe with any wordes.

b He confesseth that neither by his owne autoritie, power nor policie his kingdome was quier, but by the secret grace of God.

c To giue vnto God iust praise, is to confesse our selues to be vnworthie of so excellent benefits, and that he besteweth them vpon vs of his free mercie.

d He desireth God to continue his graces and to sende helpe for the present necessitie.

e By these maner of speaches he sheweth that all the lets in the worlde can not hinder Gods power, which he apprehended by faith.

f That is, deliuer me from the tumults of them that should be my people, but are corrupt in their iudgement and enterprises, as though they were strangers.

g For though they shake hands, yet they keepe not promes.

h That is, a rare and excellent song, as thy great benefites deserue.

i Though wicked kings be called Gods seruants, as Cyrus, Isai 45.1, forasmuch as he vseth them to execute his iudgementes: yet Dauid because of Gods promes, and they, that rule godly, are properly so called, because they serue not their owne affections, but set forth Gods glorie.

k He desireth God to continue his benefits toward his people, costing the procreation of children and their good education among the chiefest of Gods benefites.

l That the verie corners of our houses may be full of store for the great abundance of thy blessings.

m He attributeth not onely the great commodities, but euen the least also to Gods fauour.

n And if God giue not to all his children all these blessings, yet hee recompenseth them with better things.

PSAL. CXLV.

This Psalme was composed, when the kingdome of Dauid florished. 1 Wherein hee describeth the wonderfull prouidence of God, as wel in gouerning man, as in preseruing all the rest of his creatures. 17 Hee praiseth God for his iustice and mercie, 18 But specially for his louing kindnes toward those that call vpon him, that feare him, and loue him: 21 For the which he promiseth to praise him for euer.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid of praise.

1 OVp God and King, a I will extoll thee, and will bleste thy Name for euer and euer.

2 I wil bleste thee daily, and praise thy Name for euer and euer.

3 b Great is the Lord, and most worthy to be praised, and his greatnes is incomprehensible.

4 Generation shal praise thy workes vnto c generation, and declare thy power.

5 I will meditate of the beautie of thy glorious maiestie, and thy wonderfull workes,

6 And they shall speake of the power of thy d fearefull Acres, and I will declare thy greatnes.

7 They shal breake out into the mention of thy great goodnesse, and shall sing aloude of thy righteousnesse.

8 *The Lord is gracious and *mercifull, slow to anger, and of great mercie.

9 The Lorde is good to all, and his mercies are ouer all his workes.

10 All thy workes praise thee, O Lord, and thy Saints bleste thee.

11 f They shew the glory of thy kingdome and speake of thy power,

12 To cause the sonnes of men to be knowen to the sonnes of men, and the glorious renoume of his kingdome.

13 Thy *kingdome is an euerlasting kingdom, & thy dominion endureth throughout all ages.

14 The Lord vpholdeth all h that fal, and lifteth vp all that are readie to fall.

15 The eyes of i all waite vpon thee, and thou giuest them their meate in due season.

16 Thou openest thine hand, and fillest al things liuing of thy good pleasure.

17 The Lorde is k ryghteous in all his wayes, and holy in all his workes.

a He sheweth what sacrifices are pleasant and acceptable vnto God: euen prayse and thankesgiuing, and seeing that God stil continueth his benefites towardes vs, we ought neuer to be wearie in prayising him for the same.

b Hereby he declareth that all power is subiect vnto God, and that no worldly promotiō ought to obscure Gods glory.

c Forasmuch as the end of mans creation, and of his preseruation in this life, is to praise God, therfore he requireth ꝑ not onely we our selues do this, but cause all other to do the same.

d Of thy terrible iudgements against ꝑ wicked Exo 15.34 6.

e He describeth after what sort God sheweth himselfe to all his creatures, though our sinnes haue prouoked his vengeance against all: to wit, merciful, not only in pardoning the sinnes of his elect, but in doing good euen to the reprobate, albeit they cannot feele the sweete comfort of the same.

f The praise of thy glory appeareth in al thy creatures: and though the wicked woulde obscure the same by their silence, yet the faithful are euer mindeful of ꝑ same.

g He sheweth that all things are out of order, but onely where God reigneth. Luk. 1.33. dan. 7.14.

h Who being in miserie and affliction would faint & fall away, if God did not vphold them, & therfore they ought to reuerence him, that reigneth in heauen, and suffer themselues to be gouerned by him.

i To wit, aswell of man, as of beast.

k He praiseth God, not onely for that he is beneficial to all his creatures, but also in that that he iustly punisheth the wicked, & mercifully examineth his by the crosse, giuing them strength and deliuering them.

18 The Lord is neere vnto all that call vpon him: yea, to all that call vpon him in [l] truely.

19 He will fulfill the [m] desire of them that feare him: he also will heare their crie, and will saue them.

20 The Lord preserueth al them that loue him: but he will destroy all the wicked.

21 My mouth shal speake the praise of the Lorde, and all [a] flesh shall bielle his holie Name for euer and euer.

l Which onely appertaineth to the faithfull: and this vertue is cõtrary to infidelitie, doubting, impatiencie, and murmuring.

m For they will aske or wish for nothing, but according to his will. 1.Ioh.5.14.

n That is, all men shalbe bounde to prayse him.

PSAL. CXLVI.

Dauid declareth his great zeale that hee hath to praise God, 3 And teacheth, not to trust in man, but onely in God almightie, 7 Which deliuereth the afflicted, 9 Defendeth the strangers, comforteth the fatherles, and the widowes, 10 And reigneth for euer.

¶ Prayse ye the Lord.

1 Praise thou the Lord, O my [a] soule.

2 I will prayse the Lorde during my life: as long as I haue any being, I will sing vnto my God.

3 Put not your trust in [b] princes, nor in the sonne of man, for there is none help in him.

4 His breath departeth, and he returneth to his earth: then his [c] thoughts perish.

5 Blessed is he, that hath the God of Iaakob for his helpe, whose hope is in the Lord his God.

6 Which made [d] heauen and earth, the sea, and all that therein is: which keepeth his fidelitie for euer:

7 Which executeth iustice [e] for the oppressed: which giueth bread to the hungrie: the Lord loseth the prisoners.

8 The Lord giueth sight to the blinde: the Lorde rapseth vp the crooked: the Lorde [f] loueth the righteous.

9 The Lorde keepeth the [g] strangers: he relieueth the fatherles & widow: but he ouerthroweth the way of the wicked.

10 The Lord shal [h] reigne for euer: O Zion, thy God endureth from generation to generation. Prayse ye the Lord.

a He stirreth vp himselfe and all his affections to prayse God.

b That God may haue the whole praise: wherein he forbiddeth al vaine cõfidence, shewing that of nature we are more inclined to put our trust in creatures, then in God the Creator.

c As their vaine opinions, whereby they flattered themselues, and so imagined wicked enterprises.

d He encouradgeth the godly to trust onely in the Lord, both for [f] his power is able to deliuer them from all danger, and for his promes sake his wil is most readie to do it.

e Whose faith & patience for a while he trieth, but at length he punisheth the aduersaries, that he may be knowen to be iudge of the worlde.

f Though he visit them by affliction, hunger, imprisonment & such like, yet his Fatherly loue and pitie neuer fayleth them, yea rather, to his these are signes of his loue.

g Meaning all them, that are destitute of worldly meanes & succour.

h He assureth the Church that God reigneth for euer for the preseruation of the same.

PSAL. CXLVII.

The Prophet prayseth the bountie, wisedome, power, iustice, & prouidence of God vpon all his creatures, 2 But specially vpon his Church, which he gathereth together after their dispersion, 19 Declaring his worde & iudgements so vnto them, as he hath done to none other people.

1 Praise ye the Lorde, for it is good to sing vnto our God: for it is [a] a pleasant thing, and prayse is comely.

2 The Lord doth build vp [b] Ierusalem, & gather together the dispersed of Israel.

3 He healeth those that are [c] broken in heart, and bindeth vp their sores.

4 He [d] counteth the nomber of the starres, and calleth them all by their names.

5 Great is our Lord, & great is his power: his wisedome is infinite.

6 The Lord releeueth the meeke, and abaseth the wicked to the [e] ground.

7 Sing vnto the Lorde with prayse: sing vpon the harpe vnto our God,

8 Which [f] coūereth the heauen with cloudes, and prepareth rayne for the earth, and maketh the grasse to growe vpon the mountaines:

9 Which giueth to beasts their foode, and to the yong rauens that [g] crie.

10 He hath not pleasure in the [h] strength of an horse, neyther delyteth hee in the legs of man.

11 But the Lord deliteth in them that feare him, and attend vpon his mercy.

12 Prayse the Lord, O Ierusalem: prayse thy God, O Zion.

13 For hee hath made the barres of thy gates [i] strong, and hath blessed thy children within thee.

14 He setteth peace in thy borders, and satisfieth thee with the "flowre of wheate.

15 He sendeth forth his [k] commandement vpon earth, & his worde runneth verie [l] swiftly.

16 He giueth snowe like woll, and scatereth the hoare frost like ashes.

17 He casteth forth his yce like morsels: who can abide the colde thereof?

18 He sendeth his word & melteth them: he causeth his winde to blowe, and the waters flowe.

19 He sheweth his [m] word vnto Iaakob, his statutes and his iudgementes vnto Israel.

20 He hath not delt so with euery nation, neyther haue they [n] knowen his iudgements. Prayse ye the Lord.

a He sheweth wherin we ought to exercise our selues cõtinually, and to take our pastime: to wit, in praysing God.

b Because the Lorde is [f] founder of [f] Church, it cannot be destroyed, though the members thereof be dispersed, & seeme, as it were, for a time to be cut off

c With affliction, or sorow for sinne.

d Though it seeme to mainteine credible, [f] God should assemble his Church, being so dispersed, yet nothing can be too harde to him, [f] can number and name al the starres.

e For the more high that [f] wicked clime, the greater is their fall in the ende.

f He sheweth by the examples of Gods mightie power, goodnes & wisdome, that we can neuer want most iust occasion to prayse God.

g For their crying is as it were a confession of their neede, which cannot be relieued, but by God onely: then if God shew himselfe mindfull of the most contemptibe foules, can he suffer the to die with famine, whome he hath assured of life euerlasting?

h Though to vse lawfull meanes is both profitable & pleaseth God, yet to put our trust in them, is to defraude God of his honour.

i Hee doeth not only furnish his Church with all things necessary, but preserueth also the same, and maketh it strong against all outward force. " Ebr. fat.

k His secret working in all creatures is as a commandement to keepe them in order, and to giue them mouing and force.

l For immediatly and without resisting all things obey him.

m As before he called Gods secret working in all his creatures his worde: so he meaneth here, by his word, [f] doctrine of life euerlasting, which he hath left to his Church, as a most precious treasure.

n The cause of this difference is Gods free mercy, which hath elected his in his Sonne Christ Iesus to saluation: and his iust iudgement, whereby he hath appointed the reprobate to eternall damnation.

PSAL.

PSAL. CXLVIII.

1 He prouoketh all creatures to praise the Lorde in heauen and earth and all places,
14 Specially his Church, for the power that he hath giuen to the same after that he had chosen them and ioyned them vnto him.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

1 Praise ye the Lorde from the heauen: praise ye him in the high places.
2 Praise ye him, all ye [a] his Angels: praise him, all his armie.
3 Praise ye him, [b] sunne & moone: praise ye him all bright starres.
4 Praise ye him, [c] heauens of heauens, and [d] waters, that be aboue the heauens.
5 Let them praise the Name of the Lord: for he commanded, and they were created.
6 And he hath established them for euer and euer: he hath made an ordinance, which shall not passe.
7 Praise ye the Lorde from the earth, ye [e] dragons and all depths:
8 [f] Fire and haile, snowe and vapours, stormie winde, which execute his worde:
9 Mountaines & all hilles, fruitfull trées and all cedars:
10 Beasts and all cattel, creeping things and fethered foules:
11 [g] Kings of the earth & all people, princes and all iudges of the worlde:
12 Yong men & maidens, also olde men and children:
13 Let them praise the Name of the Lord: for his Name onely is to bee exalted, and his praise aboue the earth and the heauens.
14 For he hath exalted the [h] horne of his people, which is a praise for all his Saints, euen for the [i] children of Israel, a people that is neere vnto him. Praise ye the Lorde.

a Because they are members of the same body, he setteth them before our eyes, which are most willing hereunto, and by their prompt obedience teache vs to doe our duetie.
b In that Gods glory shineth in these insensible creatures, this their beautie is as a continuall praising of God.
c Not that there are diuers heauēs: but because of the spheres and of the situation of the fixed starres and planets, he comprehendeth by this word the whole heauen.
d That is, the raine, which is in the middle region of the aire, which he here comprehendeth vnder the name of the heauens. e Meaning, the great and monstrous fishes, as whales and such like. f Which come not by chance or fortune, but by Gods appointed ordinance. g For the greater gifts that any hath receiued, and the more high that one is preferred, the more bounde is he to praise God for the same: but neither high nor lowe condition or degree can be exempted from this duetie. h That is, the dignitie, power and glory of his Church. i By reason of his couenant made with Abraham.

PSAL. CXLIX.

1 An exhortation to the Church to praise the Lord for his victory & conquest, that hee giueth his Saintes against all mans power.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

1 Sing ye vnto the Lord [a] a new song: let his praise be heard in the Congregation of Saints.
2 Let Israel reioyce in him that [b] made him, and let the children of Zion reioyce in their [c] King.
3 Let them praise his Name with the flute: let them sing praises vnto him with the timbrell and harpe.
4 For the Lord hath pleasure in his people: he will make the meeke glorious by deliuerance.
5 Let the Saintes be ioyful with glory: let them sing loude vpon their [d] beddes.
6 Let the high Actes of God be in their mouth, and a two edged sword in their handes,
7 [e] To execute vengeance vpon the heathen, & corrections among the people:
8 To binde [f] their Kings in chaines, & their nobles with fetters of yron, 9 That they may execute vpon them the iudgement that is [g] written: this honour shall be to all his Saintes. Praise ye the Lorde.

a For his rare and manifolde benefites bestowed on his Church.
b In that that they were preferred before all other nations, it was as a newe creation, and therefore, Psal. 95.7, they were called the sheepe of Gods hands.
c For God as he is the Creator of the soule and body, so will he that both two serue him, and that his people be continually subiect vnto him, as to their most lawfull King.
d He alludeth to that continuall rest, and quietnes, which they should haue, if they woulde suffer God to rule them. e This is chiefely accomplished in the kingdome of Christ, when Gods people for iust causes execute Gods iudgements against his enemies: and it giueth no libertie to any to reuenge their priuate injuries. f Not only the people, but the kings that were their enemies, should be destroyed. g Hereby God bindeth the hands and mindes of all his to enterprise no farther then he appointeth.

PSAL. CL.

1 An exhortation to praise the Lord without cease by all maner of wayes for all his mightie, and wonderfull workes.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

1 Praise ye God in his [a] Sanctuarie: praise ye him in the [b] firmament of his power.
2 Praise ye him in his mightie Actes: praise ye him according to his excellent greatnes.
3 Praise ye him in the sound of the [c] trumpet: praise ye him vpon the viole and the harpe.
4 Praise ye him with timbrel and flute: praise ye him with virginalles and organs.
5 Praise ye him with sounding cymbals: praise ye him with high sounding cymbales.
6 Let euery thing that hath [d] breath praise the Lord. Praise ye the Lord.

a That is, in the heauen.
b For his wonderfull power appeareth in the firmamēt, which in Ebrewe is called a stretching out, or spreading abroad, wherein the mightie worke of God shineth.
c Exhorting the people onely to reioyce in praising God, he maketh mention of those instrumēts which by Gods commandement were appointed in the olde Lawe, but vnder Christ the vse thereof is abolished in the Church. d He sheweth that all the order of nature is bound to this duetie, & much more Gods children, who ought neuer to cease to praise him, till they be gathered into that kingdome, which hee hath prepared for his, where they shall sing euerlasting praise.

THE *PROVERBES OF Salomon.

* This word prouerbe, or parable signifieth a graue and notable sentence, worthy to be kept in memorie: and is sometime taken in ỹ euil part for a mock, or scoffe

THE ARGVMENT.

THe wonderfull loue of God toward his Church is declared in this booke: forasmuch as the summe & effect of the whole Scriptures is here set foorth in these briefe sentences, which partly containe doctrine, and partly maners, and also exhortations to both. Whereof the nine first Chapters are as a preface full of graue sentences, and deepe mysteries, to allure the hearts of men to the diligent reading of the parables that followe: which are left as a most precious iewell to the Church, of those three thousand parables mentioned 1. King. 4. 32, and were gathered and committed to writing by Salomons seruants, and indited by him.

CHAP. I.

1 The power and vse of the word of God. 7 Of the feare of God and knowledge of his word. 10 We may not consent to the intisings of sinners. 20 Wisdome complaineth that she is contemned. 24 The punishment of them that contemne her.

1 THe Parables of Salomon the sone of Dauid king of Israel,

2 To knowe wisdom, [a] and instruction, to vnderstand [b] wordes of knowledge,

3 To receiue [c] instruction to do wisely, by [d] iustice and iudgement and equitie,

4 To giue vnto the [e] simple sharpnes of witte, and to the childe knowledge and discretion.

5 A wise man shall heare and increase in learning, and a man of [f] vnderstanding shall attaine vnto wise counsels,

6 To vnderstande a parable, and the interpretation, the wordes of the wise, and their darke sayings.

7 ¶ *The feare of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge: but fooles despise wisdome and instruction.

8 Ohy sonne, heare thy [g] fathers instruction, and forsake not thy [h] mothers teaching.

9 For they shall be " a comely ornament vnto thine head, and as chaines for thy necke.

10 ¶ Ohy sonne, [i] if sinners do intise thee, consent thou not.

11 If they say, Come with vs, we will lay waite for [k] blood, and lye priuily for the innocent without a cause:

12 We will swallowe them vp aliue like a [l] graue euen whole, as those that go downe into the pit:

13 We shal find all precious riches, & fill our houses with spoyle:

14 Cast in thy lot among vs: we will all haue one [m] purse:

15 Ohy sonne, walke not thou in the way with them: refraine thy foote from their [n] path.

16 For their feete runne to euill, & make haste to shed blood.

17 Certainely as without cause the net is spred before the eyes of all that hath wing:

18 So they lay waite for blood and lie priuily for [o] their liues.

19 Such are the wayes of euery one that is greedie of gaine: he would take awap the [p] life of the owners thereof.

20 ¶ [q] Wisdome crieth without: she vttereth her voyce in the [r] streetes.

21 She calleth in the hie streete, among the preasse in the entrings of the gates, and vttereth her wordes in the citie, saying,

22 O ye [s] foolish, how long wil ye loue foolishnes? and the scornful take their pleasure in scorning, & the fooles hate knowledge?

23 (Turne you at my correction: lo, I wil powre out my minde vnto you, & make you vnderstand my wordes)

24 Because I haue called, and ye refused: I haue stretched out mine hande, and none would regard.

25 But ye haue despised all my counsell, and would none of my correction.

26 I wil also [t] laugh at your destruction, and mocke, when your feare commeth,

27 When " your feare commeth like sudden desolation, and your destruction shall come lyke a whirlewinde: when affliction and anguish shall come vpon you,

28 Then shal they cal vpon me, but I wil not answere: they shal seeke me early, but they shal not [x] finde me, 29 Because they hated knowledge, & did not chuse the feare of the Lord.

30 They would none of my counsel, but [y] despised all my correction.

31 Therefore shall they eate of the [z] fruite of their owne way, & be filled with their owne deuices.

32 For [a] ease slayeth the foolishe, and the prosperitie of fooles destroyeth them.

33 But hee that obeyeth mee, shall dwell safely, and be quiet from feare of euil.

a That is, what we ought to know & followe, and what we ought to refuse.
b Meaning, the word of God wherein is ỹ only true knowledge.
c To learne to submit our selues to the correction of those that are wise.
d By liuing iustly, and rendring to euery man that which appertaineth vnto him.
e To such as haue not discretion to rule them selues.
f As he sheweth that these parables conteining the effect of religion as touching maners & doctrine do appertaine to the simple people: so doeth he declare that the same is also necessarie for them that are wise and learned.
Psal. 111. 10.
eccles 1. 16.
g He speaketh this in the Name of God, which is the vniuersall Father of al creatures, or in the name of the pastor of the Church, who is as a father.
h That is, of the Church, wherein the faithfull are begotten by the incorruptible seede of Gods word.
" Ebr. increase of grace.
i To wit, the wicked, which haue not the feare of God.
k He speaketh not only of the sheading of blood with hand, but of all craftie practises which tend to the detriment of our neighbour.
l As the graue is neuer satiate, so the auarice of the wicked and their crueltie hath none end.
m He sheweth whereby the wicked are allured to ioyne together, because they haue euery one part of the spoyle of the innocent.
n That is, haue nothing at all to doe with them.
o He sheweth that there is no cause to moue these wicked to spoile the innocent, but their auarice and crueltie.
p Whereby he concludeth that the coueto⁹ mā is a murtherer.
q This wisdome is the eternall worde of God.
r So that none can pretend ignorance.
s Wisdome reproueth three kindes of men: ỹ foolish or simple, which erre of ignorance, & the mockers, that cānot suffer to be taught, and the fooles which are drowned in worldly lustes, and hate the knowledge of godlines.
t This is spoken according to our capacitie, signifying that the wicked, which mocke and iest at Gods word, shall haue the iust rewarde of their mocking.
u That is, your destructiō, which thing you feared.
x Because they sought not with an affection to God, but for ease of their owne griefe.
y Shewing that without faith and obedience we cannot call vpon God aright.
z They shall feele what commoditie their wicked life shal giue them.
a That is, the prosperitie, and sensualitie wherein they delight.

CHAP. II.

1 Wisdome exhorteth to obey her. 5 She teacheth the feare of God. 6 She is given of God. 10 She preserueth from wickednes.

1 My sonne, if thou wilt receiue my wordes, and [a] hide my commandements within thee,
2 And cause thine eares to hearken vnto wisdom, and encline [b] thine heart to vnderstanding,
3 (For if thou callest after knowledge,
[c] and criest for vnderstanding:
4 If thou seekest her as siluer, and searchest for her as for [d] treasures, 5 Then shalt thou vnderstand the feare of the Lord, and finde the [e] knowledge of God.
6 For the Lord giueth wisdom, out of his mouth commeth knowledge and vnder-standing.
7 He [f] preserueth the state of the righteous: hee is a shielde to them that walke vprightly,
8 That they may keepe the wayes of iudgement: and he preserueth the way of his Saintes)
9 Then shalt thou vnderstand righteousnes, and iudgment, & equitie, and euery good path.
10 ¶ When wisdome entreth into thine heart, and knowledge deliteth thy soule, 11 Then shall [f] counsell preserue thee, and vnderstanding shall keepe thee, 12 And deliuer thee from the euill way, & from the man that speaketh frowarde things, 13 And from them that leaue the [g] wayes of righteousnes to walke in the wayes of darknes:
14 Which reioyce in doing euil, and delite
[h] in the frowardnes of the wicked, 15 Whose wayes are crooked and they are lewde in their paths.
16 And it shall deliuer thee from the strange [i] woman, euen from the stranger, which flattereth with her words, 17 Which forsaketh the [k] guide of her youth, and forgetteth the [l] couenant of her God.
18 Surely her [m] house tendeth to death, and her pathes vnto [n] the dead.
19 All they that goe vnto her, returne not againe, neither take they holde of the wayes of life.
20 Therefore walke thou in the way of good men, and keepe the wayes of the righteous.
21 For the iust shal dwel in the [o] land, and the vpright men shall remaine in it.
22 But the wicked shall be cut off from the earth, and the transgressers shalbe rooted out of it.

a That is, keepe them in thine heart.
b If thou giue thy selfe to the true knowledge of God without hypocrisie.
c Meaning, that we must seeke the knowledge of God with care and diligence.
d Shewing that no labour must be spared.
e This (saith he) is the true wisdome, to know and feare God.
f Or, hideth the saluation.
g That is, the word of God, which is the only light, to follow their owne fantasies which are darknes.
h When they see any guiltes as they are.
i Meaning, that wisdome, which is the word of God, shall preserue vs from all vices: naming this vice of whordom where unto man is most prone.
k That is, her husband, which is her head and guide to gouerne her, from whome she ought not to depart, but remaine in his subiection.
l Which is, the promise made in marige.
m Her acquaintance with her familiars, and them that haunt her.
n To them that are dead in body and soule.
o They shal enioy the temporal and spirituall promises of God, as the wicked shall be voyde of them.

CHAP. III.

1 The word of God giueth life. 5 Trust in God. 7 Feare him. 9 Honour him. 11 Suffer his correction. 22 To them that follow the word of God, all things shall succeede well.

1 My sonne, forget not thou my law, but let thine heart * keepe my commandementes.
2 For they shal increase the length of thy [a] dayes and the yeeres of life, and thy prosperitie.
3 Let not [b] mercy and trueth forsake thee:
binde them on thy [c] necke, & write them
vpon the table of thine [d] heart.
4 So shalt thou finde fauour and good vnderstanding in the sight of God and man.
5 ¶ Trust in the Lord with all thine heart, and leane not vnto thine owne wise-dome.
6 In all thy wayes acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy wayes.
7 ¶ Be not wise in thine owne eyes: but feare the Lord, and depart from euill.
8 So health shalbe vnto thy [e] nauell, and marow vnto thy bones.
9 [f] Honour the Lorde with thy riches, and with the first fruites of all thine increase.
10 So shall thy barnes be filled with abundance, and thy presses shall burst with newe wine.
11 ¶ My sonne, refuse not the chastening of the Lord, neither be grieued with his correction.
12 * For the Lord correcteth him, whome hee loueth, euen as the father doeth the childe in whom he deliteth.
13 Blessed is the man that findeth wise-dome, and the man that getteth vnder-standing.
14 For the marchandise thereof is better then the marchandise of siluer, and the gaine thereof is better then gold.
15 It is more precious then pearles: and all things that thou canst desire, are not to be compared vnto her.
16 Length of dayes is in her right hande,
[h] and in her left hand riches and glory.
17 Her wayes are wayes of pleasure, and all her paths prosperitie.
18 She is a tree [i] of life to them that laye holde on her, and blessed is he that retay-neth her.
19 The Lord by wisdome hath layed the [k] foundation of the earth, and hath stablished the heauens through vnderstanding.
20 By his knowledge the depths are broken vp, & the cloudes droppe downe the dewe.
21 My sonne, let not these things depart

a Long life is the blessing of God which he giueth to his, so farre foorth as it is expedient for them.
b By mercie and trueth, he meaneth the commandements of the first and second table: or els the mercy and faithfulnes that we ought to vse toward our neighbours.
c Keepe them as a most precious iewel.
d Haue them euer in remembrance.
e By this part he comprehendeth the whole body, as by health he meaneth all the benefites promised in the Lawe both corporall and spirituall.
f As was commanded in the Law, Exod. 23. 19. Deut. 26. 2. & by this they acknowledged God was the giuer of all things, & that they were ready to bestowe all at his commandement.
g For to the faithfull distributer God giueth in greater abundance.
h Meaning, that he that seeketh wisdome: that is, suffreth himselfe to be gouerned by the word of God, shal haue all prosperitie both corporall and spirituall.
i Which bringeth forth such fruit that they that eate therof, haue life: and he alludeth to the tree of life in Paradise.
k Hereby hee sheweth that this wisdome, whereof hee speaketh, is euerlasting, because it was before all creatures, and that all thinges, euen the whole world were made by it.

from thine eyes, but obserue wisdome, and counsell.
22 So they shalbe life to thy soule, & grace vnto thy [p] necke.
23 Then shalt thou walke safely by thy way: and thy foote shall not stumble.
24 If thou sleepest, thou shalt not be afraide, and when thou sleepest, thy sleepe shalbe sweete.
25 Thou shalt not feare for any sudden feare, neither for the [l] destruction of the wicked, when it commeth.
26 For the Lorde shall be for thine assurance, and shall preserue thy foote from taking.
27 ¶ Withholde not the good from [m] the owners thereof, though there be power in thine hand to do it.
28 Say not vnto thy neighbour, Go and come againe, and to morow wil I giue thee, if thou now haue it.
29 ¶ Intend none hurt against thy neighbour, seeing hee dooth dwell [n] without feare by thee.
30 ¶ Striue not with a man causeleſſe, when he hath done thee no harme.
31 ¶ Be not [o] enuious for the wicked man, neither chuse any of his wayes.
32 For the froward is abomination vnto the Lorde: but his [p] secret is with the righteous.
33 The curse of the Lord is in the house of the wicked: but he blesseth the habitation of the righteous.
34 Surely he scorneth the scornefull [q] but he giueth grace vnto the humble.
35 The wise shal inherite glory: but fooles dishonour, though they be exalted.

[p] Or, shrote, read Chap. 19.
l For when God destroyeth the wicked, he will saue his, as he did Lot in Sodom.
m Not onely from them to whom the possession belongeth, but also thou shalt not keepe it frō them, which haue neede of the vse thereof.
n That is, putteth his trust in thee.
o Desire not to be like vnto him.
p That is, his couenant and fatherly affection which is hid and secret from the world.
q He will shewe by his plagues & their scornes shall turne to their owne destruction, as Chap. 1. 26.

CHAP. IIII.

1 VVisdome and her fruites ought to be searched. 14 The way of the wicked must be refused. 20 By the worde of God the heart, eyes and course of life must be guided.

1 HEare, O ye children, the instruction of a [a] father, and giue eare to learne vnderstanding.
2 For I doe giue you a good doctrine: therefore forsake ye not my lawe.
3 For I was my fathers sonne, tender and [b] deare in the sight of my mother,
4 When [c] hee taught me, and saide vnto me, Let thine heart hold fast my words: keepe my commandementes, and thou shalt liue.
5 Get wisdome: get vnderstanding: forget not, neither decline from the words of my mouth.
6 Forsake her not, & she shall keepe thee: loue her and she shall preserue thee.
7 [d] Wisdome is the beginning: get wisdome therefore: and aboue all thy possession get vnderstanding.
8 Exalt her, and she shall exalt thee: she shall bring thee to honour, if thou embrace her.
9 She shall giue a comely ornament vnto thine head, yea, she shall giue thee a crowne of glory.
10 ¶ Heare, my sonne, and receiue my words, and the yeres of thy life shalbe many.
11 I haue [e] taught thee in the way of wisdome, and led thee in the paths of righteousnes.
12 When thou goest, thy gate shal not be [f] straite, and when thou runnest, thou shalt not fall.
13 Take holde of instruction, & leaue not: keepe her, for she is thy life.
14 ¶ Enter not into the way of the wicked, and walke not in the way of euill men.
15 Auoid it, and goe not by it: turne from it, and passe by.
16 For they cannot [g] sleepe, except they haue done euill, and their sleepe departeth, except they cause some to fall.
17 For they eate the bread of [h] wickednes, and drinke the wine of violence.
18 But the way of the righteous shineth as the light, that [i] shineth more & more vnto the perfite day.
19 The way of the wicked is as the darknes: they knowe not wherein they shall fall.
20 ¶ My sonne, hearken vnto my words, incline thine eare vnto my sayings.
21 Let them not depart from thine eyes, but keepe them in the middes of thine heart.
22 For they are life vnto those that finde them, and health vnto all their [k] flesh.
23 Keepe thine heart with all diligence: for thereout commeth [l] life.
24 Put away frō thee a froward mouth, and put wicked lips farre from thee.
25 Let thine eyes beholde the right, and let thine eye lidden direct thy way before thee.
26 [m] Ponder the path of thy feete, and let all thy wayes be ordered aright.
27 Turne not to the right hand, nor to the left, but remoue thy foote from euill.

a He speaketh this in the person of a preacher and minister, which is as a father vnto the people, reade Chap. 1. 8.
b In Ebrew it is Only: for though she had three others, as 1. Chro. 3. 5. yet, so tenderly she loued Salomon, that he was vnto her, as her onely sonne, c Meaning, Dauid his father.
d He sheweth that we must first begin at Gods word, if so be we wil that other thinges prosper with vs, contrary to the iudgement of the world, which make it their last study, or els, care not for it at all.
e Salomō declareth what care his father had to bring him vp in the true feare of God: for this was Dauids protestation.
f Thou shalt walke at libertie without offence.
g Meaning, ỻ to do euil is more proper & natural to the wicked, then to sleepe, eate or drinke.
h Gotten by wicked meanes and cruel oppression.
i Signifying that ỻ godly increase daily in knowledge & perfection, til they come to ful perfection, which is, when they shall be ioyned to their head in the heauens.
k That is, they shal haue health of body: vnder the which all other blessings promised in the law are contayned.
l For as ỻ heart is either pure or corrupt, so is the whole course of mans life.
m Keepe a measure in all thy doings.

CHAP. V.

3 VVhoredome forbidden, 9 And prodigalitie. 15 He willeth a man to liue on his labours & to helpe others, 18 To loue his wife. 22 The wicked taken in their owne wickednes.

1 MY sonne, hearken vnto my wisdome, and incline thine eare vnto my [a] knowledge,
2 That thou mayest regard counsell, and thy lips obserue knowledge.
3 For the lips [a] of a strange woman drop as an hony combe, and her mouth is more soft then [b] oyle.
4 But the end of her is bitter as wormewood, and sharp as a two edged sword.
5 Her [c] feete goe downe to death, and her steps take holde on hell.
6 She weigheth not the way of life: her paths are [d] moueable: thou canst not know them.
7 Heare ye me now therefore, O children, and depart not from the wordes of my mouth.

[a] Or, vnderstanding.
a That is, an harlot which giueth her selfe to an other then to her husband.
b By oyle & honie he meaneth flattering and craftie intisements.
c All her doings leade to destruction.
d She hateneth newe meanes to allure to wickednes.

8 Keepe

8 Kepe thy way farre from her, & come not neere the doore of her house, 9 Least thou giue thine [c] honour vnto others, and thy yeres to the cruell:
10 Least the stranger should be filled with thy strength, and thy [f] labours be in the house of a stranger, 11 And thou mourne at thine end, (when thou hast consumed thy flesh and thy bodie)
12 And say, How haue I hated instruction, and mine heart despised correction!
13 And haue not obeyed the voyce of them that taught me, nor enclined mine eare to them that instructed me!
14 I was almost brought into all euill in the middes of the Congregation and assemblie.
15 ¶ Drinke the water of [k] thy cisterne, and of the riuers out of the middes of thine owne well.
16 Let thy fountaines flow forth, and the riuers of waters in the streetes.
17 But let them be thine, euen [i] thine one, and not the strangers with thee.
18 Let thy [k] fountaine be blessed, & reioyce with the wife of thy [l] youth.
19 Let her be as the louing hinde & pleasant roe: let her breastes satisfie thee at all times, and delite in her loue continually.
20 For why shouldest thou [l] delite, my sonne, in a strange woman, or embrace the bosome of a stranger?
21 For the wayes of man are before the [m] eyes of the Lord, and he pondereth all his pathes.
22 His owne iniquities shall take the wicked himselfe, and he shal be holden with the cordes of his owne sinne.
23 He shall [n] die for fault of instruction, & shall go astray through his great folie.

f That is, thy strength & goods to her that will haue no pitie vpon thee: as is read of Samson, and the prodigal sonne.
g Although I was faithfully instructed in the truth, yet had I almost fallen to vtter shame and destruction, notwithstanding my good bringing vp in the assembly of the godly.
h He teacheth vs sobrietie, exhorting vs to liue of our owne labours, and to be beneficial to the godly that want.
i Distribute thē not to the wicked and infidels, but reserue thē for thy selfe, thy familie, & them that are of the houshold of faith.
k Thy children which shal come of thee in great abūdance, shewing that God blesseth mariage & curseth whoredome. l Which thou diddest marrie in thy youth. [l] Or, goe astray with a stranger?
m He declareth that except man doe ioyne to his wife both in heart and in outward conuersation, he shall not escape the iudgements of God. n Because he will not giue eare to Gods worde and be admonished.

CHAP. VI.

1 Instruction for sureties. 6 The slouthfull and sluggish is stirred to worke. 12 Hee describeth the nature of the wicked. 16 The things that God hateth. 20 To obserue the worde of God. 24 To flee adulterie.

1 My sonne, if thou be surretie for thy neighbour, & hast stricken handes with the stranger,
2 Thou art [a] snared with the wordes of thy mouth: thou art euen taken with the wordes of thine owne mouth.
3 Do this now, my sonne, and deliuer thy selfe: seeing thou art come into the hand of thy neighbour, go, & humble thy self, and solicite thy friends.
4 Giue no sleepe to thine eies, nor slumber to thine eye lidders.
5 Deliuer thy self as a doe from the hand of the hunter, and as a birde from the hand of the fouler.
6 ¶ Go to [b] the pismire, O sluggarde: behold her waies, and be wise.
7 For that hauing no guide, gouernour, nor ruler,
8 Prepareth her meate in the sommer, and gathereth her foode in haruest.
9 Howe long wilt thou sleepe, O sluggarde? when wilt thou arise out of thy sleepe?
10 [c] Yet a litle sleepe, a litle slumber, [d] a litle folding of the hands to sleepe.
11 Therefore thy pouertie commeth as one that [d] trauaileth by the way, and thy necessitie like [e] an armed man.
12 The vnthriftie man [f] and the wicked man walketh with a froward mouth.
13 He maketh a signe with his eyes: he [g] signifieth with his feete: he [h] mistreth with his fingers.
14 Lewde things are in his heart: he imagineth euill at all times, and raiseth vp contentions.
15 Therefore shall his destruction come speedily: he shall be destroied suddenly without recouerie.
16 ¶ These six things doeth the Lord hate: yea, his soule abhorreth seuen:
17 The hautie eies, a lying tongue, and the hands that shead innocent blood, 18 An heart that imagineth wicked enterprises, feete that be swift in running to mischiefe, 19 A false witnes that speaketh lies, and him that raiseth vp contentions among brethren.
20 ¶ My sonne, keepe thy fathers commandement, & forsake not thy mothers instruction.
21 Binde them alway vpon thine [i] heart, and tie them about thy necke.
22 It shall leade thee, when thou walkest: it shall watche for thee, when thou sleepest, and when thou wakest, it shall talke with thee.
23 For the [k] commandement is a lanterne, and instruction a light: and [i] corrections for instruction are the way of life, 24 To keepe thee from the wicked woman, & from the flatterie of the tongue of a strange woman.
25 Desire not her beautie in thine heart, neither let her take thee with her [m] eie lidders.
26 For because of the whorish woman, a man is brought to a morsell of bread, and a woman will hunt for the precious life of a man.
27 [n] Can a man take fire in his bosome, and his clothes not be burnt?
28 Or can a man go vpon coles, and his feete not be burnt?
29 So hee that goeth in to his neighbours wife, shall not be innocent, whosoeuer toucheth her.

a He forbiddeth vs not to become surretie one for another, according to the rule of charitie, but that we consider for whome and after what sort, so that the creditour may not be defrauded.
b If the word of God can not instruct thee, yet learne at the litle pismire to labor for thy selfe, & not to burden others. Chap. 24. 33.
c He expresseth liuely the nature of the sluggards, which though they sleepe neuer so long, yet haue neuer ynough, but euer seeke occasions thereunto.
d That is, suddenly, and when thou lookest not for it.
e It shall come in such sort as thou art not able to resist it.
f He sheweth to what inconuenience the idle persons and sluggards come, by calling them vnthriftie, or the men of Belial, & slanderous.
g Thus all his gesture tendeth to wickednes.
h Meaning, the raging affections which cary a man away in such sort that he cannot tell what he doeth. [n] Or, neighbour.
i Reade Chap. 3. 3.
k By the commandement he meaneth the word of God: and by the instruction, the preaching & declaration of the same, which is committed to the Church.
l And reprehensions when the word is preached bring vs to life.
m With her wanton lookes and gesture. n Meaning, that shee will neuer cease till shee haue brought thee to beggerie, and then seeke thy destruction.

o He approueth not theft, but ſheweth that it is not ſo abominable as whoredome, forasmuch as theft might be redemed: but adulterie was a perpetuall infamie, & death by the lawe of God.

p Meaning, for very neceſſitie.

*Ebr. ſaileth in heart.

q That is, death appointed by the Lawe.

30 Men do not o deſpiſe a theefe, when he ſtealeth, to ſatiſfie his p ſoule, becauſe he is hungrie, 31 But if he be found, he ſhal reſtore ſeuen folde, or he ſhall giue all the ſubſtance of his houſe.
32 But he p committeth adultery with a woman, he *is deſtitute of vnderſtanding: he p doeth it, deſtroieth his owne ſoule.
33 He ſhall finde q a wound & diſhonour, & his reproche ſhal neuer be put away.
34 For ielouſie is the rage of a man: therefore he wil not r ſpare in the day of vengeance.
35 He cannot beare the ſight of any raunſome: neither will he conſent, though thou augment the giftes.

r He ſheweth that man by nature ſeeketh his death, that hath abuſed his wife, and ſo concludeth, that neither Gods Lawe nor the Lawe of nature admitteth any raunſome for the adulterie.

CHAP. VII.

An exhortation to wiſedome & to the words of God, 5 VVhich will preſerue vs from the harlot, 6 VVhoſe manners are deſcribed.

1 My ſonne, keepe my woordes, & hide my commandements with thee.
2 Keepe my commandements, and thou ſhalt liue, and mine inſtruction as the *apple of thine eyes.
3 Binde them vpon thy fingers, & write them vpon the table of thine heart.
4 Say vnto wiſdom, Thou art my ſiſter: and call vnderſtanding thy kinſewoman,
5 That they may keepe thee from the ſtrange woman, euen from the ſtranger that is ſmooth in her woords.
6 b As I was in the windowe of mine houſe, I looked through my window,
7 And I ſaw among the fooles, & conſidered among the children a young man c deſtitute of vnderſtanding,
8 Who paſſed through the ſtréete by her corner, and went toward her houſe, 9 In the twilight in the euening, when the night began to be c blacke & darke.
10 And behold, there met him a woman with an harlots *behauiour, and ſubtill in heart.
11 (She d is babbling & loud: whoſe féete cannot abide in her houſe.
12 Now ſhe is without, now in the ſtréetes, and lieth in waite at euery corner)
13 So ſhe caught him and kiſſed him and *with an impudent face ſaid vnto him, 14 I haue e peace offrings: this f day haue I paied my vowes.
15 Therefore came I forth to méete thee, that I might ſéeke thy face: and I haue found thee.
*Ebr. ſhe ſtrengthened her face.
16 I haue deckt my bed with ornaments, *carpets and laces of Egypt.
17 I haue perfumed my bed with myrrhe, aloes, and cynamom.
18 Come, let vs take our fill of loue vntil the morning: let vs take our pleaſure in dalliance.
19 For mine husbande is not at home: he is gone a iourney farre off.
20 He hath taken * with him a bagge of ſiluer, and wil come home at the day appointed.
21 Thus with her great craft ſhe cauſed him to yeelde, and with her flattering lippes ſhe entiſed him.
22 And hee followed her ſtraightwayes, as an g oxe that goeth to the ſlaughter, and b as a fole to the ſtockes for correction,
23 Till a dart ſtrike through his liuer, as a birde haſteth to the ſnare, not knowing that *he is in danger.
24 ¶ Heare me now therefore, O children, & hearken to the woords of my mouth.
25 Let not thine heart decline to her waies: wander thou not in her pathes.
26 For ſhe hath cauſed many to fal down wounded, and the i ſtrong men are all ſlaine by her.
27 Her houſe is the way *vnto the graue, which goeth downe to the chambers of death.

*Or, garment.
*Or, bid.
d He deſcribeth certaine conditions, which are peculiar to harlots.
*Ebr. she hath ſtrengthened her face.
e Because that in peace offrings a portion returned to them that offred, ſhe ſheweth him that ſhe hath meate at home to make good cheere with: or els ſhe would vſe ſome cloke of holineſſe till ſhee had gotten him in her ſnares.
f Which declareth that harlots outwardly wil ſeeme holy & religious; both becauſe they may the better deceiue others, & alſo thinking by obſeruing of ceremonies & offrings, to make ſatisfaction for their ſinnes.
*Or, carued works.

g Which thinking he goeth to his paſture, goeth willingly to his own deſtruction.
h Which goeth cheerefully, not knowing that he ſhalbe chaſtiſed.
*Ebr. it is for his life.
i Neither wit nor ſtrength can deliuer thé that fal into the hãds of the harlot. Chap. 2. 18.

CHAP. VIII.

VViſedome declareth her excellencie, 11 Riches, 15 Power, 22 Eternitie. 32 She exhorteth all to loue and follow her.

1 Doeth not a wiſedome cry? and vnderſtanding vtter her voice?
2 She ſtandeth in the top of the high places by the wape in the place of the paths.
3 She crieth beſides b the gates before the citie at the entrie of the doores,
4 O men, I call vnto you, and vtter my voyce to the children of men.
5 Ye foliſh men, vnderſtand wiſdome, and ye, O fooles, be wiſe in heart.
6 Giue eare, for I will ſpeake of excellent things, & the opening of my lippes ſhall teach things that be right.
7 For my mouth ſhal ſpeake the trueth, and my lippes abhorre wickednes.
8 All the woords of my mouth are righteous: there is no lewdnes, nor frowardnes in them.
9 They are all c plaine to him that will vnderſtande, and ſtreight to them that would finde knowledge.
10 Receiue mine inſtruction, & not ſiluer, and knowledge rather then fine golde.
11 For wiſedome is better then pretious ſtones: and all pleaſures are not to be compared vnto her.
12 I wiſedome dwel with d prudence, & I finde forth knowledge and counſels.
13 The feare of the Lord is to hate * euil: as pride, and arrogancie, and the euil way: and a mouth that ſpeaketh lewd things I doe hate.
14 I haue counſell and wiſedome: I am vnderſtanding, and I haue ſtrength.

Chap. 1. 20.
a Salomon declareth that man is cauſe of his owne perdition, and that he can pretend no ignorãce, forasmuch as God calleth to all men by his word, and by his works, to follow vertue and to flee from vice.
b Where the people did moſt reſort, & which was the place of iuſtice.
c Meaning, that the word of God is eaſie vnto all that haue a deſire vnto it, and which are not blinded by the prince of this worlde.
d That is, except a man haue wiſdome, which is the true knowledge of God, he can neither be prudent, nor good counſeller.
e So that he that doeth not hate euill, feareth not God.

15 By 15 By me, kings f reigne, and princes decree iustice.

16 By me princes rule, and the nobles, and all the iudges of the earth.
17 I loue them that loue me: g they that seeke me e earely, shall finde me.
18 Riches & honour are with me: h euen durable riches and righteousnes.
19 My fruit is better then gold, euen then fine gold, and my reuenues better then fine siluer.
20 I cause to walke in the way of righteousnes, and in the middes of the paths of i iudgement:
21 That I may cause them that loue me, to inherite substance, and I will fill their treasures.
22 The Lord hath possessed me in the beginning of his way, i was before his workes of olde.
23 I was set vp from euerlasting, from the beginning and before the earth.
24 When there were no deepes, was I begotten, when there were no fountaines abounding with water.
25 Before the mountaines were settled: and before the hilles, was I begotten.
26 He had not yet made the earth, nor the open places, nor the height of the dust in the world.
27 When hee prepared the heauens, I was k there, when hee set the compasse vpon the deepe:
28 When hee stablished the cloudes aboue, when he confirmed the fountaines of the deepe, 29 When he gaue his decree to the sea, p the waters should not passe his commandement: when hee appointed the foundations of the earth,
30 Then m was I with him as a nourisher, and I was daily his delight reioycing alwaye before him.
31 And tooke my n solace in the compasse of q his earth: and my delite is with the children of men.
32 Therefore nowe hearken, O children, vnto mee: for blessed are they that keepe my wayes.
33 Heare instruction, and be ye wise, and refuse it not: blessed is the man that heareth me, watching daily at my gates, and giuing attendance at the posts of my doores.
34 For he that findeth me, findeth life, & shall obteine fauour of the Lord.
35 But hee that sinneth against me, hurteth his owne soule: and all that hate me, loue death.

f Whereby he declareth that honor, dignitie, or riches come not of mans wisdome or industrie, but by the prouidence of God.
g That is, study the worde of God diligently, and with a desire to profite.
h Signifying, that he chiefly meaneth the spiritual treasures and heauenly riches.
i For there can be no true iustice or iudgement, which is not directed by this wisdome.
k He declareth hereby the diuinitie and eternitie of this wisdome, which hee magnifieth and praiseth through this booke: meaning thereby the eternal Sonne of God Iesus Christ our Sauiour, whome Saint Iohn calleth the word that was in the beginning, Iohn 1.1.
l He declareth the eternitie of the Sonne of God, which is met by this word Wisdome, who was before all time, and euer present with the Father.
m Some reade a chiefe worker: signifying that this Wisdome, euen Christ Iesus, was equall with God his father, and created, preserueth, and stil worketh with him, as Ioh. 5. 17.
n Whereby is declared that the worke of the creation was no paine, but a solace vnto the wisdome of God.
o By earth he meaneth man, which is the worke of God in whom wisdome tooke pleasure: in so much as for mans sake the Diuine Wisdome tooke mans nature, and dwelt among vs, and filled vs with vnspeakeable treasures: and this is that solace and pastime whereof is here spoken.

CHAP. IX.

3 Wisdome calleth all to her feast. 7 The scorner will not be corrected. 10 The feare of God. 13 The conditions of the harlot.

1 Wisdome hath built her a house, & hewen out her b seuen pillars.
2 She hath killed her beastes, drawen her wine, and c prepared her table.
3 She hath sent foorth her d maidens and cryeth vpon the highest places of the citie, saying,
4 Who so is e simple, let him come hither, and to him that is destitute of wisdome, she saith,
5 Come, & eate of my f meate, and drinke of the wine that I haue drawen.
6 Forsake your way, ye foolish, and ye shall liue: and walke in the way of vnderstanding.
7 He that reproueth a scorner, purchaseth to himselfe shame: and he that rebuketh the wicked, getteth himselfe a blot.
8 Rebuke not a g scorner, lest he hate thee: but rebuke a wise man, and he will loue thee.
9 Giue admonition to the wise, and he will be the wiser: teache a righteous man, and he will increase in learning.
10 The beginning of wisdom is the feare of the Lord, and the knowledge of holy things, is h vnderstanding.
11 For thy dayes shalbe multiplied by me, and the yeeres of thy life shall be augmented.
12 If thou be wise, thou shalt be wise for h thy selfe, and if thou be a scorner, thou alone shalt suffer.
13 ¶ A i foolish woman is troublesome: she is ignorant, and knoweth nothing.
14 But she sitteth at k doore of her house on a seate in the hie places of the citie,
15 To call them that passe by k way, that goe right on their way, saying,
16 Who so is simple, let him come hither, and to him that is destitute of wisdom, she saith also,
17 Stollen waters are sweete, and hidde bread is pleasant.
18 But he knoweth not, that the dead are there, & that her ghestes are in the depth of hell.

a Christ hath prepared him a Church.
b That is, many chiefe stayes and principall partes of his Church, as were the Patriarkes, Prophets, Apostles, Pastors and Doctors.
c He compareth wisdome with great princes that keepe open house for all that come.
d Meaning, true preachers, which are not infected with mans wisdome.
e He f knoweth his owne ignorance, & is voyde of malice.
f By the meate and drinke, is ment the word of God and the ministration of the sacraments, whereby God nourisheth his seruants in his house, which is the Church.
g For the wicked will contemne him and labour to defame him.
h Meaning, them that are incorrigible, which Christ calleth dogs and swine: or, he speaketh this in comparison, not that the wicked should not be rebuked, but he sheweth their malice, and the small hope of profit.
i He sheweth what true vnderstading is, to know the wil of God in his word, which is ment by holy things.
k Thou shalt haue the chiefe profit and commoditie thereof.
l By the foolish woman, some vnderstand the wicked preachers, who counterfaite the worde of God, as appeareth verse 16, which were the wordes of the true preachers, as verse 4: but their doctrine is but as stollen waters: meaning that they are but mens traditiõs, which are more pleasant to the flesh then the worde of God: and therefore they themselues boast thereof.

CHAP. X.

In this chapter and all that follow vnto the thirtieth, the wise man exhorteth by diuers sentences, which he calleth parables, to follow vertue, and flee vice: & sheweth also what profit commeth of wisdome, and what hinderance proceedeth of foolishnes.

THE PARABLES OF SALOMON.

1 A Wise * sonne maketh a glad father: but a foolish sonne is an heauinesse to his mother.

Chap. 15. 20.

a That is, wickedly gotten.

b Though he suffer the iust to want for a time, yet he wil send him comfort in due season.
*Or, deceitfull.

c When their wickednes shall be discouered, they shall be as dumme, and not know what to say.

d Shalbe vile & abhorred both of God and man, contrary to their owne expectatiō, which thinke to make their name immortall.
*Ebr. lippes.
*Or, surely.

e Hee that beareth a faire coūtenance, & imagineth mischiefe in his heart, as Chap. 6. 13.

f For the corruption of his heart is knowen by his talke. 1. Cor. 13. 4. 1. pet. 4. 8.

g That is, God will find him out to punish him.

h And so maketh him bolde to do euil, whereas pouertie brideleth the poore from many euil things.

i For thei speake trueth and edifie many by exhortations, admonition & counsell.

k Meaning, † all worldly things bring care, and sorow, whereas they that feele the blessings of God, haue none.

2 The treasures of wickednesse * profite nothing: but righteousnes deliuereth from death.
3 The Lord will [b] not famish the soule of the righteous: but he casteth away the substance of the wicked.
4 *[a] slouthfull hand maketh poore: but the hand of the diligent maketh riche.
5 He that gathereth in sommer, is [c] sonne of wisdome: but he that sleepeth in harnest, is the sonne of confusion.
6 Blessings are vpon [d] head of the righteous: but iniquitie shal couer [d] mouth of [e] the wicked.
7 The memoriall of the iust shall be blessed: but the name of the wicked shall [d] rotte.
8 The wise in heart wil receiue commandements: but the foolish in [*] talke shalbe beaten.
9 *He that walketh vprightly, walketh * boldly: but hee that peruerteth his wayes, shalbe knowen.
10 He that [e] winketh with the eye, worketh sorowe, and he that is [f] foolish in talke, shalbe beaten.
11 The mouth of a righteous man is a wellspring of life: but iniquitie couereth the mouth of the wicked.
12 Hatred stirreth vp contentions: * but loue couereth all trespasses.
13 In the lippes of him that hath vnderstanding wisdome is found, and [g] a rod shalbe for the backe of him that is destitute of wisdome.
14 Wise men lay vp knowledge: but the mouth of the foole is a present destruction.
15 The rich mans goods are his [h] strong citie: but the feare of the needie is their pouertie.
16 The labour of the righteous tendeth to life: but the reuennes of the wicked to sinne.
17 He that regardeth instruction, is in the way of life: but he that refuseth correction, goeth out of the way.
18 He that dissembleth hatred with lying lips, and he that vttereth slaunder, is a foole.
19 In many wordes there cannot want iniquitie: but hee that refraineth his lips, is wise.
20 The tongue of the iust man is as fined siluer: but the heart of the wicked is litle worth.
21 The lips of the righteous doe [i] feede many: but fooles shall die for want of wisdome.
22 The blessing of the Lorde, it maketh riche, and hee doeth adde [k] no sorowes with it.
23 It is as a pastime to a foole to do wickedly: but wisdome is vnderstanding to a man.
24 That which the wicked feareth, shall come vpon him: but God wil graunt the desire of the righteous.
25 As the whirlewinde passeth, so is the wicked no more: but the righteous is as an euerlasting foundation.
26 As vineger is to the teeth, & as smoke to the eyes, so is the slouthfull to them that [l] send him.
27 The feare of the Lorde increaseth the daies: but the yeres of the wicked [m] shal be diminished.
28 The patient abiding of the righteous shalbe gladnes: but the hope of the wicked shall perish.
29 The way of the Lord is strength to the vpright man: but feare shall be for the workers of iniquitie.
30 The righteous shall [n] neuer be removed: but the wicked shal not dwel in the land.
31 The mouth of the iust shall be fruitful in wisdome: but the tongue of the froward shalbe cut out.
32 The lips of the righteous know what is acceptable: but the mouth of the wicked speaketh froward things.

l He is but a trouble, & griefe to him that serueth him about any busines.
m The time of their prosperitie shalbe short, because of their great fal, though they seeme to liue long.
n They enioy in this life by faith and hope, their euerlasting life.

CHAP. XI.

1 FAlse [a] balances are an abomination vnto the Lord: but a perfite [*] weight pleaseth him.
2 When pride commeth, then commeth [b] shame: but with the lowly is wisdom.
3 The vprightnes of the iust shall guide them: but the frowardnes of the transgressers shall destroy them.
4 *Riches auaile not in the day of wrath: but righteousnes deliuereth from death.
5 The righteousnes of the vpright shall direct his way: but the wicked shall fall in his owne wickednes.
6 The righteousnes of the iust shall deliuer them: but the transgressers shall be taken in their owne wickednes.
7 *When a wicked man dieth, his hope perisheth, and the hope of the vniust shal perish.
8 The righteous escapeth out of trouble, and the wicked shall come in his [c] stead.
9 An [d] hypocrite with his mouth hurteth his neighbour: but the righteous shall be deliuered by knowledge.
10 In the prosperitie of the righteous the citie [e] reioyceth, and when the wicked perish, there is ioy.
11 By the * blessing of the righteous, the citie is exalted: but it is subuerted by the mouth of the wicked.
12 He that despiseth his neighbour, is destitute of wisdom: but a man of vnderstanding will [f] keepe silence.
13 He that goeth about as a slanderer, discouereth a secrete: but hee that is of a faithful heart, concealeth a matter.
14 Where no counsell is, the people fall: but where many [g] counsellers are, there is health.
15 He shalbe sore vexed, that is suretie for a [h] stranger, and he [i] that hateth suretiship, is sure.
16 A * gracious woman attaineth honor, and the strong men attaine riches.

a Vnder this word he condemneth all false weights, measures and deceit.
*Ebr. stone.
b When man forgetteth himselfe, and thinketh to bee exalted aboue his vocation, then God bringeth him to confusion. Ezek. 7. 19.
eccles. 5. 1.
c That is, shall enter into trouble.
d A dissembler that pretendeth friendship, but is a priuie enemie.
e The country is blessed, where there is godly men, and they ought to reioyce when † wicked are taken away.
*Or, prosperitie.
f Will not make light report of others.
g Where God giueth store of men of wisdom, and counsell.
h Whose conuersation hee knoweth not.
i He that doth not without iudgement, and consideration of the circumstances put himselfe in danger, as Chap. 6. 1.
*Or, modest.

k Is both good to himselfe, and to others.
*Or, neighbour.
l Though they make neuer so many friends, or thinke thẽselues neuer so sure, yet they shall not escape.
*Or, is of vncomely behauiour.
m They can loke for nothing but Gods vengeance.
n Meaning them that giue liberally, whom God blesseth.
o That is, the nigarde.
*Ebr. the soule of blessing shalbe made fat.
p That prouideth for the vse of them that are in necessitie.
q The couetous men that spare their riches to the hinderance of their families, shalbe deprined thereof miserably.
r For though the wicked be riche, yet are they but slaues to the godly, which are the true possessours of the gifts of God.
s That is, bringeth them to the knowledge of God.
t Shalbe punished as he deserueth, as 1. Pet. 4. 18.

17 He that is mercifull, k rewardeth his owne soule: but he that troubleth his owne *flesh, is cruell.
18 The wicked woorketh a deceitfull worke: but hee that soweth righteousnes, shall receiue a sure reward.
19 As righteousnes leadeth to life: so hee that followeth euill, seeketh his owne death.
20 They that are of a froward heart, are abomination to the Lord: but they that are vpright in their way, are his delite.
21 l Though hand ioyne in hande, the wicked shall not bee vnpunished: but the seede of the righteous shall escape.
22 As a iewell of golde in a swines snout: so is a faire woman, which *lacketh discretion.
23 The desire of the righteous is onely good: but the hope of the wicked m is indignation.
24 There is that scattereth, n and is more increased: but he p spareth more o then is right, surely commeth to pouertie.
25 The "liberall person shall haue plentie: and hee that watereth, shall also haue raine.
26 Hee that withdraweth the corne, the people will curse him: but blessing shall be vpon the head of him that p selleth corne.
27 He that seeketh good thinges, getteth fauour: but he that seeketh euill, it shal come to him.
28 Hee that trusteth in his riches, shall fall: but the righteous shall florish as a leafe.
29 Hee that troubleth his owne q house, shall inherite the winde, and the foole shalbe r seruant to the wise in heart.
30 The fruite of the righteous is as a tree of life, and hee that s winneth soules, is wise.
31 Behold, the righteous shalbe t recompensed in the earth: howe much more the wicked and the sinner?

CHAP. XII.

1 He that loueth instruction, loueth knowledge: but hee that hateth correction, is a foole.
2 A good man getteth fauour of the Lord: but the man of wicked imaginations will he condemne.
3 A man cannot be established by wickednes: but the a roote of the righteous shall not be mooued.
4 A "vertuous woman is the crowne of her husband: but she that maketh him ashamed, is as corruption in his bones.
5 The thoughts of the iust are right: but the counsels of the wicked are deceitfull.
6 The talking of the wicked is to lye in waite for blood: but the mouth of the righteous will b deliuer them.
7 God ouerthroweth the wicked, & they are not: but the house of the righteous shall stand.

a They are so grounded in the fauour of God, that their roote shall prosper continually.
"Ebr. strong, or painefull.
b As their conscience is vpright, so shall they be able to speake for themselues against their accusers.

8 A man shalbe commended for his wisdome: but the froward of heart shal be despised.
9 He that is despised, c and is his owne seruant, is better then he that boasteth himselfe and lacketh bread.
10 A righteous man d regardeth the life of his beast: but the mercies of the wicked are cruell.
11 "He that tilleth his land, shall be satisfied with bread: but he that followeth the idle, is destitute of "vnderstanding.
12 The wicked desireth the e net of euils: but the f roote of the righteous giueth fruite.
13 The euil man is snared by the wickednes of his lips, but the iust shal come out of aduersitie.
14 A man shalbe satiate with good things by the fruite of his mouth, and the recompense of a mans handes shall God giue vnto him.
15 The way of a foole is g right in his owne eyes: but hee that heareth counsel, is wise.
16 A foole in a day shal be knowen by his anger: but he h that coureth shame, is wise.
17 He that speaketh truth, will shew righteousnesse: but a false witnesse vseth deceite.
18 * There is that speaketh words like the pickings of a i sword: but the tongue of wise men is health.
19 The lippe of trueth shalbe stable for euer: but a lying tongue varieth incontinently.
20 Deceit is in the heart of them that imagine euill: but to the counsellers of peace shalbe ioye.
21 There shall none iniquitie come to the iust: but the wicked are full of euil.
22 The lying lippes are an abomination to the Lord: but they that deale truely are his delite.
23 A wise man concealeth knowledge: but the heart of the fooles publisheth foolishnes.
24 * The hand of the diligent shall beare rule: but the idle shalbe vnder tribute.
25 Heauines in the heart of man doeth bring it downe: but a k good worde reioyceth it.
26 The righteous l is more excellent then his neighbour: but the way of the wicked will deceiue them.
27 The deceitful man rosteth not that he m tooke in hunting: but the riches of the diligent man are precious.
28 Life is in the way of righteousnes, and in that pathway there is no death.

c The poore man that is cõtemned and yet liueth of his owne trauaile
d Is mercifull, euen to the very beast that doeth him seruice.
Chap. 28. 19.
eccles. 20. 27.
*Or, defence.
e Continually imagineth meanes howe to doe harme to others.
f Meaning, their heart within, which is vpright and doeth good to all.
g He standeth in his owne conceit, & condemneth all others in respect of him selfe.
h Which brideleth his affectiõs.
Chap. 14. 5.
i Which seeke nothing more then to prouoke others to anger,

Chap. 10. 4.
k That is, words of comfort, or a cheerefull mind, which is declared by his words, reioyceth a man, as a couetous mincie killeth him.
l That is, more liberal in giuing.
m Although he get much by vnlawfull meanes, yet will he not spend it vpon himselfe.

CHAP. XIII.

1 A Wyse sonne will obey the instruction of his father: but a scorner will heare no rebuke.
2 A man shall eate good thinges by the fruite * of his mouth: but the soule of the trespassers shal suffer violence.
3 Hee that keepeth his mouth, keepeth his a If he vse his tongue to Gods glory, and the profite of his neighbour, God shall blesse him.

his life: but he that openeth his lippes, destruction shalbe to him.

b He euer desireth, but taketh no paines to get any thing.

4 The sluggarde b lusteth, but his soule hath nought: but the soule of the diligent shall haue plentie.

5 A righteous man hateth lying words: but the wicked causeth slaunder and shame.

6 Righteousnes preserueth the vpright of a life: but wickednes ouerthroweth the sinner.

a Ebr. way.

7 There is that maketh himselfe riche, and hath nothing, & that maketh him selfe poore, hauing great riches.

8 A man wil giue his riches for the raunsome of his life: but the poore c can not heare the reproch.

c For his pouertie, he is not able to escape the threatnings, which the cruell oppressers vse against him.

9 The light of the righteous reioyceth: but the candle of the wicked shal be put out.

10 Onely by pride d doth man make contention: but with the well aduised is wisedome.

d When as euery man contendeth to haue the preeminence, and will not giue place to another.

11 The e riches of vanitie shall diminish: but he that gathereth with f the hand, shall increase them.

e That is, goodes euill gotten.

f That is, with his owne labour.

12 The hope that is deferred, is the fainting of the heart: but when the desire commeth, it is as a tree of life.

13 He that despiseth g the worde, he shalbe destroyed: but he that feareth the commandement, he shalbe rewarded.

g Meaning, the worde of God, whereby he is admonished of his duetie.

14 The instruction of a wise man is as the wellspring of life, to turne away from the snares of death.

15 Good vnderstanding maketh acceptable: but the way of the disobedient is hated.

16 Euery wise man wil worke by knowledge: but a foole will spreade abroade folly.

Chap. 25. 13.

17 * A wicked messenger falleth h into euill: but a faithfull ambassadour is preseruation.

h Bringeth manie inconueniences both to himselfe and to others.

18 Pouertie and shame is to him that refuseth instruction: but he that regardeth correction, shalbe honoured.

19 A desire accomplished delyteth i the soule, but it is an abomination to fooles to depart from euill.

i As he is partaker of their wickednes, and beareth with their vices, so shall he be punished alike as they are.

20 He that walketh with the wise, shall be wyse: but a companion of fooles shalbe k afflicted.

k Read Iob 27. 16, 17.

21 Affliction followeth sinners: but vnto the righteous God will recompense good.

l God blesseth the labour of the poore, and consumeth their goodes, which are negligent, because they thinke they haue ynough.

22 The good man shall giue inheritance vnto his childrens children: and the l riches of the sinner is layde vp for the iust.

Chap. 23 13. eccles. 30. 1.

23 Much foode is in the field of the l poore: but the fielde is destroyed without discretion.

24 * Her that spareth his rodde, hateth his sonne: but he that loueth him, chasteneth him betime.

25 The righteous eateth to the contentation of his minde: but the bellie of the wicked shall want.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 A Wise woma a buildeth her house: but the foolish destroyeth it with her owne handes.

a That is, taketh paine to profite her familie & to doe that which concerneth her duetie in her house.

2 * He that walketh in his b righteousnesse, feareth the Lorde: but he that is lewde in his wayes, despiseth him.

3 In the mouth of the foolish is the c rod of pride: but the lippes of the wise preserue them.

Iob. 12. 4.

b That is, in vprightnes of heart and without hypocrisie.

c His proude tongue shall cause him to be punished.

4 Where none d oxen are, there the crib is emptie: but much increase commeth by the strength of the oxe.

d By the oxe is ment labour, and by the crib the barne: meaning, without labour there is no profit.

5 A faithfull witnes will not lie: but a false recorde will speake lyes.

6 A scorner e seeketh wisedome, & findeth it not: but knowledge is easie to him that will vnderstand.

e For the maintenance of his owne ambition and not for Gods glorie, as Simon Magus.

7 Depart from the foolish man, when thou perceiuest not in him the lippes of knowledge.

8 The wisedome of the prudent is to vnderstand his way: but the foolishnesse of the fooles is deceit.

f Doeth not know the grieuousnes thereof, nor Gods iudgements against the same.

9 The foole maketh a mocke f of sinne: but among the righteous there is fauour.

10 The heart knoweth the bitternes of his soule, and the stranger shall not meddle with his ioye.

g As a mans conscience is witnes of his owne grefe: so another can not feele the ioy and comfort, which a man feeleth in himselfe.

11 The house of the wicked shalbe destroyed: but the tabernacle of the righteous shall florish.

12 * There is a way that seemeth right to a man: but the issues thereof are the wayes of death.

Chap. 16. 25.

13 Euen in laughing the heart is sorowfull, g and the ende of that mirth is heauines.

h He sheweth the allurement vnto sinne seemeth sweete, but the ende thereof is destruction.

14 The heart that declineth, h shalbe satisfied with his owne wayes: but a good man shall depart from him.

15 The foolish will beleeue euery thing: but the prudent wil consider his steps.

16 A wise man feareth, & departeth from euill: but a foole rageth, and is careles.

i He that is hastie to anger, committeth follie, and a * busie body is hated.

17 He that is hastie to anger, committeth follie, and a * busie body is hated.

18 The foolish doe inherite follie: but the prudent are crowned with knowledge.

19 The euill shall bowe before the good, and the wicked i at the gates of the righteous.

i He that forsaketh God, shalbe punished, and made wearie of his sinnes wherein he delited.

20 The poore is hated euen of his owne neighbour: but the friendes of the rich are many.

21 The sinner despiseth his neighbour: but he that hath mercie on the poore, is blessed.

* Ebr, the man of imaginations.

22 Doe not they erre that imagine euil? but to them that think on good things, shalbe mercie, and trueth.

k If this come not dayly to passe, we must consider that it is because of our sinnes, which let Gods working.

23 In all labour there is abundance: but the talke of the lippes bringeth onely want.

24 The crowne of the wise is their riches, and the follie of fooles is foolishnes.

25 A faithfull witnesse deliuereth soules: but a deceiuer speaketh lyes.

26 In the feare of the Lorde is an assured strength, strength, and his children shall haue hope.

27 The feare of the Lord is as a welspring of life, to auoyde the snares of death.

l That is, the strength of a King standeth in many people.

28 In the multitude of the l people is the honour of a King, and for the want of people commeth the destruction of the prince.

29 Hee that is slowe to wrath, is of great wisedome: but hee that is of an hastie minde, exalteth folie.

*Or, bodie.

30 A sounde heart is the life of the *flesh: but enuie is the rotting of the bones.

*Chap.17.5.

31 *He that oppresseth the poore, reproacheth him that made him: but he honoreth him, that hath mercy on the poore.

32 The wicked shall be cast away for his malice: but the righteous hath hope in his death.

33 Wisedome resteth in the heart of him that hath vnderstanding, & is known m in the middes of fooles.

m For as much as they are conuict thereby, and put to silence.

34 Iustice exalteth a nation, *but sinne is a shame to the people.

*Or, and the mercy of the people is a sacrifice for sinne.

35 The pleasure of a King is in a wise seruant: but his wrath shalbe toward him that is lewde.

CHAP. XV.

*Chap.25.15.

1 A *soft answere putteth awaye wrath: but grieuous words stirre vp anger.

2 The tongue of the wise vseth knowledge aright: but the mouth of fooles *babbleth out foolishnes.

*Verse 28.

3 The eyes of the Lord in euery place beholde the euill and the good.

4 A wholesome tongue is as a tree of life: but the frowardnes thereof is the breaking of the minde.

5 A foole despiseth his fathers instruction: but he that regardeth correction, is prudent.

6 The house of the righteous hath much treasure: but in the reuenues of the wicked is a trouble.

a For though they haue much, yet it is full of trouble & care.

7 The lips of the wise do spread abroade knowledge: but the heart of the foolish doeth not so.

b That thing is abominable before God, which the wicked thinke to be most excellent, & whereby they thinke most to be accepted.

8 The b sacrifice of the wicked is abomination to the Lord: but the prayer of the righteous is acceptable vnto him.

9 The waye of the wicked is an abomination vnto the Lord: but he loueth him that followeth righteousnes.

c He that swareth from the worde of God, cannot abide to be admonished.

10 Instruction is euil to him that c forsaketh the way, and he that hateth correction, shal dye.

d There is nothing so deepe, or secret that can be hid from the eies of God, much lesse mens thoughts. *Chap.17.22.

11 d Hell & destruction are before the Lord: how much more the hearts of the sonnes of men?

*Ebr. heart.

12 A scorner loueth not him that rebuketh him, neither wil he go vnto the wise.

13 *A ioyfull heart maketh a cheerefull countenance: but by the sorowe of the heart the minde is heauie.

14 The heart of him that hath vnderstanding, seeketh knowledge: but the mouth of the foole is fed with foolishnes.

15 All the dayes of the afflicted are euil: but a good *conscience is a continuall feast.

*Ebr. heart.

16 *Better is a litle with the feare of the Lord, then great treasure and trouble therewith. *Psal.37.16.

17 Better is a dinner of greene herbes where loue is, then a stalled ox and hatred therewith.

18 *An angry man stirreth vp strife: but hee that is slowe to wrath, appeaseth strife. *Chap.29.22.

19 The waye of a slouthfull man is as an hedge of e thornes: but the way of the righteous is playne.

e That is, he euer findeth some let or stay, and dare not go forward.

20 *A wise sonne reioyceth the father: but a foolish man despiseth his mother. *Chap.10.1.

21 Foolishnes is ioye to him that is destitute of vnderstanding: but a man of vnderstanding walketh vprightly.

22 Without counsell thoughtes come to nought: but f in the multitude of counsellers there is stedfastnes. f Reade Chap. 11.14.

23 A ioye cometh to a man by the answere of his mouth: and how good is a worde g in due season?

g If we wil that our talke be comfortable, we must wayte for time and season.

24 The way of life is on high to the prudent, to auoyde from hell beneath.

25 The Lord wil destroy the house of the proude men: but he wil stablish the borders of the widow.

26 The thoughts of the wicked are abomination to the Lord: but the pure haue h pleasant words.

h That is, wholsome & profitable to the hearers.

27 He that is greedie of gaine, troubleth his own house: but he that hateth gifts, shal liue.

28 The heart of the righteous studieth to answere: but the wicked mans mouth babbleth euill things.

29 The Lord is farre off from the wicked: but hee heareth the prayer of the righteous.

i That suffereth himselfe to be admonished by Gods worde, which bringeth life: and so amendeth.

30 The light of the eyes reioyceth the heart, & a good name maketh the bones fatte.

31 The eare that hearkeneth to the i correction of life, shal lodge amõg the wise.

32 He that refuseth instruction, despiseth his owne soule: but he that obeyeth correction, getteth vnderstanding.

k Meaning, that God exalteth none, but them that are truely humbled.

33 The feare of the Lord is the instruction of wisedome: and before honour goeth k humilitie.

CHAP. XVI.

a He derideth the presumption of man, who dare attribute to him selfe any thing, as to prepare his heart or such like, seeing that he is not able to speake a worde, except God giue it him.

The a preparations of the heart are in man: but the answere of the tongue is of the Lord.

2 All the wayes of a man are b cleane in his owne eyes: but the Lord ponndereth the spirits.

3 *Commit thy workes vnto the Lord, and thy thoughts shalbe directed.

4 The Lord hath made all things for his owne sake: yea, euen the wicked for the day of c euill.

b He sheweth hereby, that man flattereth himselfe in his doings: calling that vertue which God termeth vice. *Ebr. role. c So that the iustice of God shal appeare to his glorie, euen in the destruction of the wicked. *Chap.21.21.

5 All that are proude in heart, are an abomination to the Lord: though *hande ioyne in hand, he shal not be vnpunished.

2 * The feare of the King is like the roaring of a lion: hee that prouoketh him vnto anger, b sinneth against his owne soule.
3 It is a mans honour to cease from strife: but euery foole will be medling.
4 The slouthfull will not plowe, because of winter: therefore shall hee begge in sommer, but haue nothing.
5 The counsell in the heart of c man is like deepe waters: but a man that hath vnderstanding, will drawe it out.
6 Many men will boast, euery one of his owne goodnesse: but who can finde a faithfull man?
7 Hee that walketh in his integritie, is iust: and blessed shall his children be after him.

8 He that increaseth his riches by vsurie and interest, gathereth c them for him that will be mercifull vnto the poore.

c For God will take away the wicked vsurer, and giue his goods to him that shal bestow them well.

9 He that turneth away his eare from hearing the Lawe, euen his prayer shall be d abominable.

d Because it is not of faith, which is grounded of Gods word, or Lawe, which the wicked contemne.

m Shal haue all things in abundance.

26 He that trusteth in his owne heart, is a foole: but he that walketh in wisdom, shalbe deliuered.

27 He that giueth vnto the poore, shal not lacke: but he that hideth his eyes, shall haue many curses.

28 * When the wicked rise vp, men hide themselues: but when they perish, the righteous increase. Chap. 29.2.

CHAP. XXIX.

A Man that hardeneth his necke, when he is rebuked, shall suddenly be destroyed and cannot be cured.

Chap.28.12,28. [a] Or, are increased.

2 *When the righteous [a] are in autoritie, the people reioyce: but when the wicked beareth rule, the people sigh.

3 A man that loueth wisdome, reioyceth his father: *but he that feedeth harlots, wasteth his substance. Luke15.13.

4 A king by iudgement maintaineth the countrey: but a man receiuing giftes, destroyeth it.

5 A man that flattereth his neighbour, [a] spreadeth a net for his steps. a He that giueth eare to the flatterer, is in dager as the bird is before the fouler.

6 In the transgression of an euill man is his [b] snare: but the righteous doth sing and reioyce. b He is euer ready to fall into the snare that he layeth for others.

7 The righteous knoweth the cause of the poore: but the wicked regardeth not knowledge.

8 Scornful men bring a citie into a snare: but wise men turne awap wrath.

9 If a wise man contend with [c] a foolish man, whether hee be angry or laugh, there is no rest. c He can beare no admonition, in what sort soeuer it is spoken.

10 Bloody men hate him that is vpright: but the iust haue care of his soule.

11 A foole powreth out all his minde: but a wise man keepeth it in till afterward.

12 Of a prince that hearkeneth to lies, all his seruants are wicked.

13 *The poore and the vsurer meete together, and the Lorde lighteneth both their eyes. Chap.22.2.

14 *A king that iudgeth [d] poore in truth, his throne shalbe established for euer. Chap.20.28.

15 The rod and correction giue wisdom: but a childe set at libertie, maketh his mother ashamed.

16 When the wicked are increased, transgression increaseth: but the righteous shall see their fall.

17 Correct thy sonne and he wil giue thee rest, and wil giue pleasures to thy soule.

d Where there are not faithful ministers of the word of God. 18 [d] Where there is no vision, the people decay: but hee that keepeth the Lawe, is blessed. e He that is of a seruile and rebellious nature.

19 A [e] seruant will not be chastised with wordes: though he vnderstand, yet he will not [b] answere. [b] Or, regard.

20 Seest thou a man hastie in his matters? there is more hope of a foole, then of him.

21 He that delicately bringeth vp his seruant from youth, at length he will be euen as his sonne.

Chap.15.18. 22 *An angry man stirreth vp strife, and a furious man aboundeth in transgression.

Ioh.22.29. 23 *The pride of a man shall bring him low: but the humble in spirit shal inioy glory.

24 He that is partener with a thiefe, hateth his owne soule: he heareth cursing, and declareth it not. f He that feareth man more then God, falleth into a snare and is destroyed.

25 The feare of man bringeth a [f] snare: but he that trusteth in the Lorde, shalbe exalted. g He needeth not to flatter the ruler: for what God hath appointed, that shal come to him.

26 Many doe seeke the face of the ruler: but euery mans [g] iudgement commeth from the Lord.

27 A wicked man is abomination to the iust, and he that is vpright in his way, is abomination to the wicked.

CHAP. XXX.

2 To humble our selues in consideration of Gods workes. 5 The word of God is perfit. 11 Of the wicked and hypocrites. 15 Of things that are neuer satiate. 18 Of others that are wonderfull.

THE WORDES OF [a] AGVR THE SONNE OF IAKEH.

1 The prophecie which the man spake vnto Ithiel, euen to [b] Ithiel, & Ucal. a Who was an excellent man in vertue & knowledge in the time of Salomon.

2 Surely I am more [c] foolish then a man, and haue not the vnderstanding of a man in me. b Which were Agurs scholers or friendes.

3 For I haue not learned wisdom, nor attained to the knowledge of holy things. c Herein he declareth his great humilitie, who would not attribute any wisdom to himselfe, but all vnto God.

4 Who hath ascended vp to [d] heauen, and descended? Who hath gathered the wind in his fist? Who hath bound the waters in a garment? Who hath established all the endes of the world? What is his name, and what is his sonnes name, if thou canst tell? d Meaning, to know the secrets of God, as though he would say, None. Psal.19.8. Deut.4.2. and 12.32.

5 *Euery word of God is pure: hee is a shield to those, that trust in him. e He maketh this request to God.

6 *Put nothing vnto his wordes, lest he reproue thee, and thou be found a liar.

7 Two [e] things haue I required of thee: denie me them not before I die. f Meaning, that they that put their trust in their riches, forget God, & that by too much wealth men haue an occasion to the same.

8 Remoue farre from me vanitie & lies: giue me not pouertie, nor riches: feede me with foode conuenient for me, g In accusing him without cause.

9 least I be full, and denie thee, and say, [f] Who is the Lord? or least I be poore & steale, and take the name of my God in vaine.

10 Accuse not a seruant vnto his master, lest he curse thee, & thou hast offended.

11 There is a generation that curseth their father, and doeth not blesse their mother.

12 There is a generation that are pure in their owne conceit, and yet are not washed from their filthines.

13 There is a generation, whose eyes are hautie, & their eye liddes are lifted vp.

14 There is a generation, whose teeth are as swordes, and their chawes as knives to eate vp the afflicted out of the earth, and the poore from among men.

15 The horseleach hath two [h] daughters which cry, Giue, giue. There be three thinges that will not be satisfied: yea, foure that say not, It is ynough. h The leache hath two forkes in her tongue, which here he calleth her two daughters, whereby she sucketh the blood, and is neuer satiate: euen so are the couetous extortioners insatiable.

16 The graue, and the baren wombe, the earth [g] cannot be satisfied with water, and [h] fire that saith not, It is ynough.

17 The eye that mocketh his father, and despiseth the instruction of his mother, let the rauens [i] of the valley pick it out, and the yong egles eate it. i Which haue in the valley for carions.

18 There be three things hidde from me: yea, foure that I know not. k She hath her desires, and after counterfaiteth as though she were an honest woman.

19 The way of an egle in the aire, the way of a serpent vpon a stone, the way of a ship in the middes of the sea, & the way of a man with a maide.

20 Such is the way also of an adulterous woman: she eateth and [k] wipeth her mouth, and saith, I haue not committed iniquitie.

21 For thise things the earth is moned: pea, for foure it cannot susteine it selfe:
22 For a seruant when he reigneth, and a foole when he is filled with meate, 23 For the hatefull woman, when she is married, and for a handmaide that is [m] heire to her mistres.
24 These be foure smal things in the earth, yet they are [n] wise and ful of wisdome:
25 The pismires a people not strong, yet prepare they their meat in sommer:
26 The conies a people not mightie, yet make they their houses in the rocke:
27 The graishopper hath no king, yet go they forth all by bandes:
28 The spider taketh holde [o] with her handes, and is in kings palaces.
29 There be thise things that order well their going: pea, foure are comely in going,
30 A lion which is strong among beasts, and turneth not at the sight of any:
31 A lustie graihound, a goate, & a king against whom there is no rising vp.
32 If thou hast bene foolish in lifting thy self vp, & if thou hast thought wickedly, lay thine hand [p] vpon thy mouth.
33 When one churneth milke, he bringeth forth butter: and he that wringeth his nose, causeth blood to come out: so he that forceth wrath, bringeth forth strife.

1 These commonly abuse the state whereunto they are called.
m Which is maried to her master after the death of her mistres.
n They conteine great doctrine & wisedome.
o If man be not able to compasse these common things by his wisdome, we can not attribute wisdome to man, but follie.
p Make a stay & continue not in doing euill.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 He exhorteth to chastity & iustice, 10 And sheweth the conditions of a wife and worthie woman.

1 THE WORDES OF KING [a] LEMUEL: The [b] prophecie which his mother taught him.
2 What my sonne? & what the sonne of [c] my wombe? & what, O sonne of my desires!
3 Giue not thy strength vnto wome, [d] not thy wayes, which is to destroy kings.
4 It is not for kings, O Lemuel, it is not for kings to drinke wine, nor for princes [e] strong drinke,
5 Least he drinke, & forget the decree, and change the iudgement of al the children of affliction.
6 Giue ye strong drinke vnto him that is readie to perish, and wine vnto them that haue griefe of heart.
7 Let him drinke, that he may forget [f] his pouertie, and remember his miserie no more.
8 Open thy mouth for the [g] dume in the cause of all the children of destruction.
9 Open thy mouth: iudge righteously, and iudge the afflicted, and the poore.
10 ¶ Who shal finde a vertuous woman? for her price is farre aboue the pearles.
11 The heart of her husband trusteth in her, and he shall haue no neede of [h] spoile.
12 She will do him good, and not euill all the dayes of her life.
13 She seeketh wooll and flaxe, and laboreth cheerefully with her handes.
14 She is like the shippes of marchants: she bringeth her foode from afarre.
15 And she riseth, while it is yet night: and giueth [i] the portion to her household, and the [k] ordinarie to her maides.
16 She considereth a fielde, & [l] getteth it: and with the fruite of her handes she planteth a vineyard.
17 She girdeth her loines with strength, and strengtheneth her armes.
18 She feeleth that her marchandise is good: her candle is not put out by night.
19 She putteth her handes to the wherue, and her handes handle the spindle.
20 She stretcheth out her hand to the poore, & putteth forth her handes to the needy.
21 She feareth not the snow for her family: for al her family is clothed with [m] skarlet.
22 She maketh her self carpets: fine linen and purple is her garment.
23 Her husband is knowen in the [n] gates, when he sitteth with the Elders of the lande.
24 She maketh [o] sheetes, & selleth them, and giueth girdels vnto the marchant.
25 [p] Strength & honour is her clothing, and in the latter day she shall reioyce.
26 She openeth her mouth [q] wisdome, and the [r] law of grace is in her tongue.
27 She ouerseeth the waies of her household, & eateth not the bread of idlenes.
28 Her children rise vp, & [s] call her blessed: her husbande also, and he praiseth her, saying,
29 Many daughters haue done vertuously: but thou surmountest them all.
30 Fauour is deceitfull, and beautie is vanitie: but a woman that feareth the Lord, she shalbe praised.
31 Giue her of the fruite of her handes, and let her owne workes praise her in the [t] gates.

a That is, of Salomon, who was called Lemuel, that is, of God, because God had ordeined him to be King ouer Israel.
b The doctrine, which his mother Bath-sheba taught him.
c By this often repetition of one thing she declareth her motherly affection.
d Meaning, that women are the destruction of Kings, if they haue them. e That is, the King must not giue himselfe to wantonnes and neglect his office, which is to execute iudgement.
f For wine doeth comfort the heart, as Psal. 104. 15.
g Defend their cause that are not able to help themselues.
h He shall not neede to vse any vnlawful meanes to gaine his liuing.
i She prepareth their meate betime.
k She purchaseth it with the gaines of her trauaile.
l In the assemblies and places of iudgement.
m After that he had spoke of the apparell of the body, he now declareth the apparell of the spirit.
n Her tongue is as a booke whereby one might learne many good things: for she deliteth to talke of the worde of God.
o That is, doth her reuerence.
p Confesse her diligent labours and commend her therefore.
q Forasmuch as the most honorable are clad in the apparel that she made.

1 Or, meate, as Psal. 111. 5.
2 Or, with double.
3 Or, linen cloth.

ECCLESIASTES, OR the Preacher.

THE ARGVMENT.

SAlomon, as a preacher & one that desired to instruct all in the way of saluation, describeth the deceiuable vanities of this worlde, that man should not be addicted to any thing vnder the sunne, but rather inflamed with the desire of the heauenly life: therefore he confuteth their opinions, which set their felicitie, either in knowledge, or in pleasures, or in dignitie and riches, shewing that mans true felicity consisteth in that that he is vnited with God & shal enioy his presence: so that all other things must be reiected, saue in as much as they further vs to atteine to this heauenly treasure, which is sure and permanent, and cannot be founde in any other saue in God alone.

CHAP. I.

2 All things in this world are ful of vanitie, and of none endurance. 13 All mans wisedome is but follie and griefe.

1 THe wordes of the a Preacher, þ sonne of Dauid king in Ierusalem.

2 b Vanitie of vanities, saith þ Preacher: vanitie of vanities, all is vanitie.

3 What remaineth vnto man in all his c trauaile, which he suffreth vnder the sunne?

4 One generation passeth, and another generation succeedeth: but the earth remaineth for d euer.

5 The sunne riseth, and the sunne goeth downe, & hasteth to his place, where he riseth.

6 The e winde goeth toward the South, and compasseth toward the North: the winde goeth rounde about, & returneth by his circuites.

7 *All the riuers goe into the sea, yet the sea is not full: for the riuers go vnto the place, f whence they returne, and goe.

8 All things are ful of labour: mã can not vtter it: the eye is not satisfied with seing, nor the eare filled with hearing.

9 g What is it that hath bene? that that shall bee: and what is it that hath bene done? that which shalbe done: and there is no new thing vnder the sunne.

10 Is there any thing, whereof one may say, Behold this, it is new? it hath bene already in the olde time that was before vs.

11 There is no memorie of the former, neither shall there be a remembrance of the latter that shall be, with them that shall come after.

12 ¶ h I the Preacher haue bin king ouer Israel in Ierusalem:

13 And I haue giue mine heart to search and find out wisdome by al things that are done vnder the heauen: (this sore trauaile hath God giuen to the sonnes of men, i to humble them thereby)

14 I haue considered all the workes that are done vnder the sunne, and behold, al is vanitie, and veration of the spirit.

15 That which is k crooked, cã none make straight: and that which faileth, cannot be nombred.

16 I thought in mine heart, & sayde, Behold, I am become great, & excel in wisdome al them that haue bene before me in Ierusalem: & mine heart hath sene much wisdome and knowledge.

17 And I gaue mine heart to know wisdome and knowledge, l madnes & folishnes: I knew also that this is a veration of the spirit.

18 For in the multitude of wisedome is much m griefe: and hee that increaseth knowledge, increaseth sorowe.

CHAP. II.

Pleasures, sumptuous buildings, riches & possessions are but vanitie. 14 The wise and the fools haue both one ende, touching the bodily death.

1 I Said in mine heart, Go to now, I wil proue a thee with ioye: therefore take thou pleasure in pleasant things: and behold, this also is vanitie.

2 I said of laughter, Thou art mad: and of ioy, What is this that thou dost?

3 I sought in mine heart "to giue my self to wine, and to lead mine heart in b wisdome, and to take holde of follie, till I might see where is that goodnes of the children of men, which they " enioy vnder the sunne the whole nomber of the daies of their life.

4 I haue made my great workes: I haue built me houses: I haue planted me vineyardes.

5 I haue made me gardens & "orchards, and planted in them trees of all fruite.

6 I haue made me cisternes of water, to water therewith the woods that growe with trees.

7 I haue gotten seruants & maides, and had children borne in the c house: also I had great possession of beues & sheepe aboue all that were before me in Ierusalem.

8 I haue gathered vnto me also siluer & golde, and the cheefe treasures of kings and prouinces: I haue prouided me men singers and women singers, & the d delites of the sonnes of men, as a woman e taken captine, and women taken captiues.

9 And I was great, & increased aboue al that were before me in Ierusalem: also my wisdome f remained with me.

10 And whatsoeuer mine eyes desired, I withheld it not from them: I withdrew not mine heart from any ioye: for mine heart reioyced in al my labour: and this was my g portion of all my trauaile.

11 Then I looked on all my workes that mine handes had wrought, and on the trauaile that I had laboured to do: and behold, all is vanitie and veration of the spirite: and there is no profite vnder the sunne.

a Salomon is here called a Preacher, or one that assembleth the people, because he teacheth the true knowledge of God, and howe men ought to passe their life in this transitorie worlde.

b He condemneth the opinios of all men that set felicitie in any thing, but in God alone, seing þ in this worlde all things are as vanitie and nothing.

c Salomon doth not condemne mans labour or diligence, but sheweth that there is no full contentation in any thing vnder the heauen, nor in any creature, forasmuch as all things are transitorie.

d One man dieth after another, & the earth remaineth longest, euen to the last day, which yet is subiect to corruption.

e By the sunne, winde & riuers he sheweth that the greatest labour & longest hath an end, and therefore there cã be no felicitie in this world. Eccles. 40. 11.

f The sea which compasseth al the earth, filleth the veines thereof, the which powre out springs & riuers into the sea againe.

g He speaketh of times and seasons, and things done in them, which as they haue bene in times past, so come they to passe againe.

h He proueth that if any could haue attained to felicitie in this worlde by labour and studie, hee chiefely should haue obteined it, because he had giftes and aides of God thereunto aboue all other.

i Man of nature hath a desire to knowe, and yet is not able to come to the perfection of knowledge, which is the punishment of sinne, to humble man, & to teache him to depende onely vpon God.

k Man is not able by al his diligence to cause things to go otherwise then they do: neither can he nomber the faults that are committed, much lesse remedie them.

l That is, vaine things, which serued vnto plea sure, wherin was no commoditie, but griefe and trouble of conscience.

m Wisdome and knowledge can not be come by without great paine of bodie and minde: for when a man hath attained to the highest, yet is his minde neuer fully content: therefore in this world is no true felicitie.

a Salomon maketh this discourse with him selfe, as though he would trie whether there were contentation in ease and pleasures.

"Ebr. draue my flesh to wine.

b Albeit I gaue my selfe to pleasures, yet I thought to kepe wisdome & the feare of God in mine heart, and gouerne mine affaires by the same.

"Ebr. do.

"Ebr. paradises.

c Meaning, of the seruants or slaues, which he had bought: so the children borne in their seruitude, were the masters.

d That is, whatsoeuer men take pleasure in.

e Which were the most beautifull of them that were taken in warre, as Iudges 5. 30. Some vnderstãd by these wordes, no women but instruments of musike.

f For all this God did not take his gift of wisdome from me.

g This was the fruit of all my labour, a certaine pleasure mixt with care, which he calleth vanitie in the next verse.

12 ¶ And

h I bethought with my selfe whether it were better to followe wisdom, or mine owne affections and pleasures, which he calleth madnes.

*Or, compare with the King. Prou. 17. 24.

i He foreseeth things, which the foole cannot for lack of wisdome.

k For both die and are forgotten, as verse. 16, or they both alike haue prosperitie or aduersitie.

l Meaning, in this world.

m He wondereth that men forget a wise man, being dead, assoone as they do a foole.

n That I might seeke the true felicitie which is in God.

o Among other griefes this was not the least, to leaue that which he had gotten by great trauail, to one that had taken no paine therefore, and whom he knew not whether hee were a wise man or a foole.

p When man hath all laboured, he can get no more then foode and refreshing, yet he confesseth also that this commeth of Gods blessing, as Chap. 3. 13.

q Meaning, to pleasures.

12 ¶ And I turned to behold [h] wisdome, and madnes and folly: (for who is the man that [i] will come after the King in things, which men now haue done?)
13 Then I saw that there is profit in wisdome, more then in folly: as the light is more excellent then darkenes.
14 [*] For the wise mans [k] eyes are in his head, but the foole walketh in darknes: yet I knowe also that the same [k] condition falleth to them all.
15 Then I thought in mine heart, It befalleth vnto mee, as it befalleth to the foole: Why therefore doe I then labour to be more wise? And I saide in mine heart, that this also is vanitie.
16 For there shalbe no remembrance of the wise, nor of the foole [l] for euer: for that that nowe is, in the dayes to come shall all be forgotten. And [m] howe dieth the wise man, as doth the foole?
17 Therefore I hated life: for the worke that is wrought vnder [n] sunne is grieuous vnto mee: for all is vanitie, and vexation of the spirit.
18 I hated also all my labour, wherein I had trauailed vnder the sunne, which I shall leaue to the man that shalbe after me.
19 And who knoweth whether he shal be wise or foolish? yet shall he haue rule ouer all my labour, wherein I haue trauailed, and wherein I haue shewed my selfe wise vnder the sunne. This is also vanitie.
20 Therefore I went about to make mine heart [o] abhorre all the labour, wherein I had trauailed vnder the sunne.
21 For there is a man whose trauaile is in wisdome, and in knowledge and in equitie: yet to a man that hath not trauailed therein, shall he [p] giue his portion: this also is vanitie and a great griefe.
22 For what hath man of all his trauaile and griefe of his heart, wherein he hath trauailed vnder the sunne?
23 For all his dayes are sorrowes, and his trauaile griefe: his heart also taketh not rest in the night: which also is vanitie.
24 There is no profite to man: but that he eate, & drinke, and [p] delight his soule with the profite of his labour: I sawe also this, that it was of the hande of God.
25 For who could eat, & who could haste to [q] outward things more then I?
26 Surely to a man that is good in his sight, God giueth wisdome, and knowledge, and ioy: but to the sinner hee giueth paine, to gather, and to heape to giue to him that is good before God: this is also vanitie, and vexation of the spirit.

CHAP. III.

1 All things haue their time. 14 The workes of God are perfite, and cause vs to feare him. 17 God shall iudge both the iust, and vniust.

TO all things there is an [a] appointed time, and a time to euery purpose vnder the heauen.
2 A time to be borne, and a time to die: a time to plant, and a time to pluck vp that which is planted.
3 A time to slay, and a time to heale: a time to breake downe, and a time to build.
4 A time to weepe, and a time to laugh: a time to mourne, & a time to daunce.
5 A time to cast awaye stones, and a time to gather stones: a time to embrace, and a time to be farre from embracing.
6 A time to seeke, and a time to lose: a time to keepe, and a time to cast away.
7 A time to rent, and a time to sowe: a time to keepe silence, and a time to speake.
8 A time to loue, and a time to hate: a time of warre, and a time of peace.
9 What profit hath hee that worketh, of the thing wherein he trauaileth?
10 I haue seene the trauaile that God hath giuen to the sonnes of men [b] to humble them therby.
11 He hath made euery thing beautifull in his time: also he hath set the [c] worlde in their heart, yet can not man finde out the worke that God hath wrought from the beginning euen to the ende.
12 I know that there is nothing good in them, but to reioyce, and to doe good in his life.
13 And also that euery man eateth and drinketh, and seeth the commoditie of all his labour: this is the [d] gift of God.
14 I know that whatsoeuer God shal do, it shalbe for [e] euer: to it can no man adde, and from it can none diminish: for God hath done it, that they shoulde feare before him.
15 What is that that hath bene? that is now: and that that shall be, hath nowe beue: for God [f] requireth that which is past.
16 And moreouer I haue seene vnder the sunne the place of iudgement, where was wickednes, & the place of iustice where was iniquitie.
17 I thought in mine heart, God will iudge the iust and the wicked: for time is [g] there for euery purpose and for euery worke.
18 I considered in mine heart the state of the children of men, that God had [h] purged them: yet to see to, they are in themselues as beastes.
19 For the condition of the children of men, and the condition of beasts are [i] euen as one condition vnto them. As the one dieth, so dieth the other: for they haue all one breath, and there is no excellencie of man aboue the beast: for all is vanitie.
20 All go to one place, and all was of the dust, and all shall returne to the dust.

a He speaketh of this diuersitie of time for two causes, first to declare that there is nothing in this world perpetuall: next to teache vs not to bee grieued, if we haue not all things at once according to our desires, neither enioy them so long as we would wish.

b Reade Chap. 1. 13.

c God hath giuen man a desire, and affection to seeke out the thinges of this world, and to labour therein.

d Read Chap. 2. 24. and these places declare that we should do all things with sobrietie, and in the feare of God, forasmuch as he giueth not his giftes to [g] intent that they should be abused.

e That is, man shall neuer be able to let Gods worke, but as he hath determined, so it shall come to passe.

f God only causeth that, which is past, to return.

g Meaning, with God, howsoeuer man neglect his duetie.

h And made them pure in their first creatiō.

i Man is not able by his reason, & iudgement to put difference betweene man and beast, as touching those things whereunto both are subiect: for [g] eye cannot iudge any otherwise of a mā being dead, then of a beast, which is dead: yet by the word of God & faith we easily knowe the diuersitie, as verse 21.

k Meaning, that reason cannot comprehēd that which faith beleeueth herein.

21 Who[k] knoweth whether the spirit of man ascend vpwarde, and the spirit of the beast descend downewarde to the earth?

22 Therefore I see that there is nothing better then that a man should [l] reioyce in his affaires, because that is his portion. For who shall bring him to see what shalbe after him?

l By the often repetition of this sentence, as Chap. 2. 24. and 3. 12, 22. and 5. 17. and 8. 15. hee declareth that man by reason can comprehend nothing better in this life then to vse the giftes of God soberly and comfortably: for to knowe farther is a speciall gift of God, reueiled by his Spirit.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The innocents are oppressed. 4 Mans labours are full of abuse and vanitie. 9 Mans societie is necessarie. 13 A yong man poore, and wise, is to be preferred to an olde King that is a foole.

1 So [a] I turned, and considered all the oppressions that are wrought vnder the sunne, and beholde, the teares of the oppressed, & none comforteth them: and loe, the strength is of the hande of them that oppresse them, & none comforteth them.

a He maketh here another discourse with himselfe concerning the tyranny of them that oppressed ſ poore.

2 Wherefore I praised the [b] dead which now are dead, aboue the liuing, which are yet aliue.

b Because they are no more subiect to these oppressions.

3 And I count him [c] better then them both, which hath not yet bene: for hee hath not [d] ne the euill workes which are wrong vnder the sunne.

c He speaketh according to the iudgemēt of the flesh, which can not abide to feele or see troubles.

d The more perfit that ſ worke is, the more is it enuied of the wicked.

4 Also I beheld all trauaile, and all [e] perfection of workes, that this is the enuie of a man against his neighbour: this also is vanitie and veration of spirit.

e For idlenes he is compelled to destroy himselfe.

5 The foole foldeth his handes, and [f] eateth vp his owne flesh.

6 Better is an handfull with quietnes, then two [g] ndfuls with labour and veration of spirit.

f Forasmuch as when man is alone, he can neither helpe him selfe nor others, he sheweth that men ought to liue in mutuall societie, to the intent they may be profitable one to another, and that their things may encrease.

7 Againe I returned, and sawe vanitie vnder the sunne.

8 There is one alone, and there is not a second, which hath neither sonne nor brother, yet is there none ende of all his trauaile, neither can his eye be satisfied with riches: neither doth he thinke, For whom doe I trauaile and defraude my soule of pleasure? this also is vanitie, and this is an euil trauaile.

g By this prouerbe he declareth howe necessarie it is, that men should liue in societie.

9 [f] Two are better then one: for they haue better wages for their labour.

10 For if they fall, the one will lift vp his fellow: but woe vnto him that is alone: for he falleth, and there is not a second to lift him vp.

11 Also if two sleepe together, then shall they haue heat: but to one how should there be heat?

12 And if one ouercome him, two shall stand against him: & a threefold [g] coard is not easely broken.

h That is, from a poore, & base estate, or out of trouble, and prison, as Ioseph did, Gen. 41. 14.

13 Better is a poore and wise childe, then an olde and foolish king, which will no more be admonished.

14 For out of the [h] prison hee commeth forth to reigne: when as hee that is borne in his kingdome, is made poore.

i Meaning, that is borne a King.

15 I beheld all the liuing, which walke vnder the sunne, [k] with the second child, which shall stand vp in his place.

k Which follow, & flatter ſ kings sonne, or him that shall succeede: to enter into credit with them in hope of gaine.

16 There is none [l] ende of all the people, nor of all that were before them, & they that come after, shal not reioyce in him: surely this is also vanitie and veration of spirit.

l They neuer cease by all meanes to creepe into fauour: but when they obtaine not their greedie desires, they thinke themselues abused, as other haue bene in time past, and so care no more for him.

17 Take heede to thy [m] foote when thou entrest into the house of God, and be more nere to heare then to giue the sacrifice of [n] fooles: for they knowe not that they do euill.

m That is, with what affection thou commest to heare the word of God.

n Meaning, of the wicked, which thinke to please God with ceremonies, and haue neither faith nor repentance.

CHAP. V.

1 Not to speake lightly, chiefly in Gods matters. 9 The couetous can neuer haue ynough. 11 The labourers sleepe is sweete. 14 Man when he dyeth, taketh nothing with him. 18 To liue ioyfully, and with a contented minde is the gift of God.

1 Be not [a] rash with thy mouth, nor let thine heart be hastie to vtter a thing before God: for God is in the heauens, and thou art on the earth: therefore let thy wordes be [b] fewe.

a Either in vowing or in praying: meaning ſ we should vse all reuerence to God ward.

b He heareth thee not for thy many wordes sake or often repetitions, but considereth thy faith, and feruent minde. Deut. 23. 21.

2 For as a dreame commeth by the multitude of busines: so the voyce of a foole is in the multitude of wordes.

3 When thou hast vowed a vow to God, deferre not to pay it: for her delighteth not in fooles: pay therefore that thou hast [c] vowed.

c He speaketh of vowes, which are approued by Gods word, and serue to his glory.

4 It is better that thou shouldest not vow, then that thou shouldest vow and not pay it.

5 Suffer not thy mouth to make thy [d] flesh to sinne: neither say before the [e] Angel, that this is ignorance: wherefore shall God be angry by thy voyce, and destroye the worke of thine handes?

d Cause not thy selfe to sinne by vowing rashly: as they do which make a vow to liue vnmaried, and such like.

6 For in the multitude of dreames, and vanities are also many wordes: but feare thou God.

e That is, before Gods messenger, whē he shal examine thy doing: as though thy ignorance should be a iust excuse.

7 If in a countrey thou seest the oppression of the poore, and the defrauding of iudgement and iustice, be not astonied at the matter: for he that is [f] higher then the highest, regardeth, & there be higher then they.

f Meaning, that God wil redresse these things, and therefore we must depend vpon him.

8 And the [g] abundance of the earth is ouer all: the king [h] also consisteth by the field that is tilled.

g The reuenues of the earth are to be preferred aboue all thinges, which appertaine to this life.

h Kings and Princes cannot maintaine their estate without tillage, which thing commendeth the excellencie of tillage.

9 He that loueth siluer, shall not be satisfied with siluer, and hee that loueth riches, shall be without the fruite thereof: this also is vanitie.

10 When goods increase, they are increased that eat them: and what good commeth to the owners thereof, but the beholding thereof with their eyes?

11 The sleepe of him that trauelleth, is sweete, whether he eate litle or much: but the i satietie of the rich will not suffer him to sleepe.

12 There is an euill sickenes that I haue seene vnder the sunne: to wit, riches k reserued to the owners thereof for their euill.

13 And these riches perish by euil trauell, and he begetteth a sonne, and in his l hand is nothing.

14 *As he came forth of his mothers belie, hee shall returne naked to goe as he came, and shall beare away nothing of his labour, which hee hath caused to passe by his hand.

15 And this also is an euill sickenes that in all pointes as he came, so shall he goe: and what profite hath hee that he hath trauelled for the m winde?

16 Also all his dayes he eateth in n darknes with much griefe, and in his sorow and anger.

17 Beholde then, what I haue seene good, that it is comely to o eate, and to drink, and to take pleasure in all his labour, wherein hee trauelleth vnder the sunne, the whole nomber of the dayes of his life, which God giueth him: for this is his portion.

18 Also to euery man to whom God hath giuen riches and treasures, and giueth him power to eate thereof, and to take his part, and to enioye his labour: this is the gift of God.

19 Surely hee will not much remember the dayes of his p life, because God answereth to the ioy of his heart.

i That is, his great abūdance of riches, or the surfeting, which commeth by his great feeding.
k When couetous men heape vp riches, which turne to their destruction.
l He doeth not enioy his fathers riches.
*Iob.1.21. wisd.7.6. 1.tim.6.7.
m Meaning, in vaine, and without profite.
n In affliction, & griefe of mind.
o Reade Chap. 3.22.
p He will take no great thought for the paines that he hath indured in time past.

CHAP. VI.

The miserable estate of him to whom God hath giuen riches, and not the grace to vse them.

1 THere is an euil, which I saw vnder the sunne, and it is much among men:

2 A man to whom GOD hath giuen riches and treasures and honour, and he wanteth nothing for his soule of all that it desireth: but a God giueth him not power to eate thereof, but a strange man shal eate it vp: this is vanitie, and this is an euill sickenes.

3 If a man beget an hundreth children and liue many yeeres, and the dayes of his yeeres be multiplied, and his soule be not b satisfied with good things, and he be not c buried, I say that an vntimely fruite is better then he.

4 For d he commeth into vanitie and goeth into darkenes: and his name shalbe couered with darkenes.

5 Also he hath not seene the sunne, nor knowen it: therefore this hath more rest then the other.

6 And if he had liued a thousand yeeres twise told, and had seene no good, shall not all goe to one place?

7 All the labour of man is for his mouth: yet the e soule is not filled.

8 For what hath the wise man more then the foole? what hath the poore that f knoweth howe to walke before the liuing?

9 The g sight of the eye is better then to walke in the lustes: this also is vanitie, and vexation of spirit.

10 What is that that hath bene? the name thereof is nowe named: and it is knowen that it is man: & he cannot striue with him that is h stronger then he.

a He sheweth that it is the plague of God when the rich mā hath not a liberal heart to vse his riches.
b If he can neuer haue inough.
c As we see often times, that the couetous mā either falleth into crimes that deserue death, or is murthered or drowned or hangeth himselfe or such like, and so lacketh the honour of buriall, which is the last office of humanitie.
d Meaning, the vntimely fruite whose life did neither profite or hurt any.
e His desire and affection.

CHAP. VII.

Diuers precepts to followe that which is good, and to auoyde the contrary.

1 SHeip there be many thinges that increase vanitie: and what auaileth it man?

2 For who knoweth what is a good for man in the life and in the nomber of the daies of the life of his vanitie, seeing he maketh them as a *shadow? For who can shewe vnto man what shalbe after him vnder the sunne?

3 *A good name is better then a good ointment, and the day of b death, then the day that one is borne.

4 It is better to go to the house of c mourning, then to go to the house of feasting, because this is the ende of all men: and the liuing shall lay it to his heart.

5 Anger is better then laughter: for by a sad looke the heart is made better.

6 The heart of the wise is in the house of mourning: but the heart of fooles is in the house of mirth.

7 Better it is to heare the rebuke of a wise man, then that a man shoulde heare the song of fooles.

8 For like the noyse of the d thornes vnder the pot, so is the laughter of the foole: this also is vanitie.

9 Surely oppression maketh a wise man e mad: and the rewarde destroyeth the heart.

10 The f ende of a thing is better then the beginning thereof, and the patient in spirit is better then the proude in spirit.

11 Be not thou of an hastie spirit to be angry: for anger resteth in the bosome of fooles.

12 Say not thou, Why is it that the former dayes were better then these? for thou doest not enquire wisely of this thing.

13 Wisedome is good with an h inheritance, and excellent to them that see the sunne.

14 For man shal rest in the shadow of wisedome, and in the shadow of siluer: but the excellencie of the knowledge of wisedome giueth life to the possessors thereof.

15 Beholde the worke of God: for who can make *straight that which he hath made crooked?

16 In the day of welth bee of good comfort, and in the day of affliction i consider: God also hath made this contrary a There is no state, wherein man can liue to haue perfite quietnes in this life. *Iob 14.2.

*Prou.22.1.
b He speaketh thus after the iudgement of the flesh, which thinketh death to be the ende of all euils: or els, because by this corporall death is entring into life euerlasting.
c Where we may see the hand of God and learne to examine our liues.
d Which crackle for a while and profit nothing.
e A man that is esteemed wise, when he falleth to oppression, becommeth like a beast.
f He noteth their lightnes which enterprise a thing, and suddenly leaue it off againe.
g Murmure not against God whē he sendeth aduersities for mans sinnes.
h He answereth to them that esteeme not wisdome, except riches be ioyned therewith, shewing that both are the giftes of God, but that wisedome is farre more excellent, and may be without riches. Chap.1.15.
i Consider wherefore God doth send it and what may comfort thee.

k That man should be able to controle nothing in his workes.

d Withdrawe not thy selfe lightly from the obedience of thy prince.
e That is, when time is to obey, and how farre he shoulde obey.
f Man of him selfe is miserable, and therefore ought to do nothing to increase the same, but to worke all thinges by wisedome and counsell.
g Man hath no power to saue his owne life, & therefore must not rashly cast himselfe into danger.

to that, to the intent that man shoulde finde k nothing after him.
17 I haue seene al things in the dayes of my vanitie: there is a iust man that perisheth in his l iustice, and there is a wicked man that continueth long in his malice.
18 Be not thou iust m ouermuch, neither make thy selfe ouerwise: wherefore shouldest thou be desolate?
19 Be not thou wicked n ouermuch, neither be thou foolish: wherefore shouldest thou perish not in thy time?
20 It is good o thou lay holde on this: but yet withdraw not thine hand from p that: for hee that feareth God, shall come forth of them all.
21 Wisedome shall strengthen the wise man more then ten mightie princes that are in the citie.
22 * Surely there is no man iust in the earth, that doeth good and sinneth not.
23 Giue not thine q heart also to all the wordes that men speake, lest thou doe heare thy seruant cursing thee.
24 For oftetimes also thine heart knoweth that thou likewise hast r cursed others.
25 All this haue I proued by wisedome: I thought I will be wise, but it went farre from me.
26 It is farre off, what may it be? and it is a profounde deepenes, who can finde it?
27 I haue compassed about, both I and mine heart to know s to enquire and to searche wisedome and reason, and to knowe the wickednesse of folie, and the foolishnesse of madnesse, 28 And I finde more bitter then death the woman whose heart is as nets and snares, and her handes, as bands: her that is good before God, shalbe deliuered from her, but the sinner shalbe taken by her.
29 Behold, saith the Preacher, this haue I found, seeking one by one to t finde the count:
30 And yet my soule seeketh, but I finde it not: I haue found one man of a thousande: but a woman among them all haue I not found.
31 Onely lo, this haue I found, that God hath made man righteous: but they haue sought many u inventions.

CHAP. VIII.

2 To obey Princes and Magistrates. 17 The workes of God passe mans knowledge.

1 Who is as the wyse man? and who knoweth the interpretation of a thing? the wisedome of a man doeth make his a face to shine: and the b strength of his face shalbe changed.
2 I aduertise thee to take heede to the c mouth of the King, and to the word of the othe of God.
3 d Haste not to goe forth of his sight: stand not in an euill thing: for he will do whatsoeuer pleaseth him.
4 Where the word of the King is, there is power, and who shall say vnto him, What doest thou?
5 He that keepeth the commandement, shall knowe none euill thing, and the heart of the wise shall knowe the e time and iudgement.
6 For to euery purpose there is a time and iudgment, because the f miserie of man is great vpon him.
7 For he knoweth not that which shalbe: for who can tell him when it shalbe?
8 Man is not lorde ouer the spirit to restreine the spirite: neither hath he power in the day of death, nor deliuerance in the battell, neither shall wickednesse deliuer the possessers therof.
9 All this haue I seene, and haue giuen mine heart to euery worke, which is wrought vnder the sunne, and I sawe a time that man ruleth ouer man to his owne h hurt.
10 And likewise I sawe the wicked buried, and i they returned, and they that came from the holy place, were yet forgotten in the citie where they had done right: this also is vanitie.
11 Because sentence against an euil worke is not k executed speedily, therefore the heart of the children of men is fully set in them to doe euill.
12 Though a sinner doe euill an hundreth times, and God prolongeth his daies, yet I know that it shall be well with them that feare the Lorde, and doe reuerence before him.
13 But it shall not be well to the wicked, neither shall hee prolong his dayes: he shalbe like a shadow, because he feareth not before God.
14 There is a vanitie, which is done vpon the earth, that there be righteous men to whom it cōmeth according to the m worke of the wicked: and there be wicked men to whom it commeth according to the worke of the iust: I thought also that this is vanitie.
15 And I praysed ioye: for there is no goodnes to man vnder the sunne, saue n to eate and to drinke and to reioyce: for this is adioyned to his labour, the dayes of his life that God hath giuen him vnder the sunne.
16 When I applied mine heart to know wisedome, and to beholde the business that is done on earth, that neither day nor night the eyes of man take sleepe, 17 Then I beheld o whole worke of God, that man can not finde out the worke that is wrought vnder o sunne: for the which man laboreth to seeke it, & cānot finde it: yea, and though the wise man thinke to knowe it, he cannot finde it.

CHAP. IX.

1 By no outwarde thing can man know whom God loueth or hateth. 12 No man knoweth his ende. 16 Wisedome excelleth strength.

1 I haue

1 I haue ſurely giuen mine heart to all this, and to declare all this, that the iuſt, and the wiſe, and their workes are in the hand of God: and no man knoweth either loue or [a] hatred of all that is before them.

2 All things come alike to all: and the ſame condition is to the iuſt and to the wicked, to the good and to the pure, and to the polluted, and to him that ſacrificeth, and to him that ſacrificeth not: as is the good, ſo is the ſinner, he that ſweareth, as he that feareth an othe.

3 This is euil among all that is done vnder the ſunne, that there is one [b] condition to all, & alſo the heart of the ſonnes of men is full of euill, and madnes is in their hearts whiles they liue, and after that, they go to the dead.

4 Surely whoſoeuer is ioyned to all the liuing, there is hope: for it is better to a [c] liuing dog, then to a dead lyon.

5 For the liuing know that they ſhal die, but the dead know nothing at all: neyther haue they any more a reward: for their remembrance is forgotten.

6 Alſo their loue, and their hatred, and their enuie is nowe periſhed, and they haue no more portion for euer, in al that is done vnder the ſunne.

7 Go, eat thy bread with ioy, and drinke thy wine with a chearefull heart: for God now [d] accepteth thy workes.

8 At al times let thy garmets be [e] white, and let not oyle bee lacking vpon thine head.

9 * [e] Reioyce with the wife whom thou haſt loued all the dayes of the life of thy vanitie, which God hath giuen thee vnder the ſunne all the dayes of thy vanitie: for this is thy portion in the life, and in thy trauaple wherein thou labourest vnder the ſunne.

10 All that thine hand ſhal finde to do, do it with al thy power: for there is neither worke nor inuention, nor knowledge, nor wiſdome in the graue whither thou goeſt.

11 I returned, and I ſaw vnder the ſunne that the race is not to the ſwift, nor the battell to the ſtrong, nor yet bread to the wiſe, nor alſo riches to men of vnderſtanding, neyther yet fauour to men of knowledge: but time and [f] chance commeth to them all.

12 For neither doth man know his time, but as the fiſhes which are taken in an euil net, & as the birdes that are caught in the ſnare: ſo are the children of men ſnared in the euill time when it falleth vpon them ſuddenly.

13 I haue alſo ſeene this wiſdome vnder the ſunne, and it is great vnto me.

14 A little citie and fewe men in it, and a great King came againſt it, and compaſſed it about, and buylded fortes againſt it.

15 And there was founde therein a poore and wiſe man, and he deliuered the citie by his wiſdome: but none remembred this poore man.

16 Then ſaid I, Better is wiſdome then ſtrength: yet the wiſdome of the poore is deſpiſed, and his wordes are not heard.

17 The wordes of the wiſe are more heard in quietnes, then the cry of him that ruleth among fooles.

18 Better is wiſedome then weapons of warre: but one ſinner deſtroyeth much good.

CHAP. X.

1 The difference of foolishnes and wiſdome. 11 A ſlanderer is like a ſerpent that cannot be charmed. 16 Of foolish Kings, and drunken princes, 17 And of good Kings and princes.

1 Dead flies cauſe to ſtinke, and preuriſe the oyntment of the apoticarie: ſo doeth a litle follie him that is in eſtimation for wiſedome, and for glorie.

2 The heart of a [a] wiſe man is at his right hande: but the heart of a foole is at his left hand.

3 And alſo when the foole goeth by the waye, his heart faileth, and he [b] telleth vnto all that he is a foole.

4 If the [c] ſpirit of him that ruleth, riſe vp againſt thee, leaue not thy place: for gentleneſs pacifieth great ſinnes.

5 There is an euil that I haue ſeene vnder the ſunne, as an [d] error that proceedeth from the face of him that ruleth.

6 Follie is ſet in great excellencie, and the [e] riche ſet in the lowe place.

7 I haue ſeene ſeruants on horſes, & princes walking as ſeruants on the ground.

8 * He that diggeth a pit, ſhall fall into it, and he that breaketh the hedge, a ſerpent ſhal bite him.

9 Hee that remooueth ſtones, ſhall hurt himſelfe therby, and hee that cutteth wood, ſhalbe in danger therby.

10 If the yron be blunt, and one hath not whet the edge, he muſt then put to more [f] ſtrength: but the excellencie to direct a thing is wiſedome.

11 If the ſerpent bite, whē he is not charmed: no better is a babbler.

12 The wordes of the mouth of a wiſe man haue grace: but the lippes of a foole deuoure himſelfe.

13 The beginning of the wordes of his mouth is fooliſhnes, and the latter ende of his mouth is wicked madnes.

14 For the foole multiplieth wordes, ſaying, Man knoweth not what ſhalbe: & who can tell him what ſhalbe after him?

15 The labour of the foolish doeth wearie him: for he knoweth not to goe into the [g] citie.

16 Woe to thee, O lande, when thy King is a [h] childe, and thy princes [i] eate in the morning.

17 Bleſſed art thou, O lande, when thy King is the ſonne [k] of nobles, and thy princes eat in time, for ſtrength and not for drunkennes.

18 By ſlouthfulnes the roofe of the houſe goeth to decay, & by the idleneſſe of the hands the houſe dropperth through.

b In outward things, as riches & powertie, ſickenes and health, there is no difference betweene the godly, & the wicked: but the difference is, that the godly are aſſured by faith of Gods fauour & aſſiſtance.

c He noteth the Epicures, & carnall men, which made their belly their god, & had no pleaſure but in this life, wiſhing rather to be an abiect, and vile perſon in this life, then a man of autoritie, and ſo to die, which is ment by the dog & lyon.

4 He that obſerueth the [d] winde, ſhal not ſow, and he that regardeth the cloudes, ſhal not reape.

5 As thou knoweſt not which is the way of the ſpirite, nor how the bones do grow in the woombe of her that is with child: ſo thou knoweſt not the worke of God that worketh all.

6 In the morning ſowe thy ſeede, and in the euening let not thine hand reſt: for thou knoweſt not whether ſhal proſper, this or [f] that, or whether both ſhal be alike good.

7 Surely the light is a pleaſant thing: & it is a good thing to the eyes to ſee the ſunne.

8 Though a man liue many yeeres, and in them all hee reioyce, yet hee ſhall remember the dayes of [g] darkeneſſe, becauſe they are many, all that commeth is vanitie.

9 [h] Reioyce, O young man, in thy youth, and let thine heart cheere thee in the dayes of thy youth: and walke in the wayes of thine heart, and in the ſight of thine eyes: but know that for all theſe thinges, God will bring thee to iudgement.

10 Therefore take away [i] griefe out of thine heart, and cauſe euill [k] to depart from thy fleſh: for childhood and youth are vanitie.

a That is, be liberall to the poore, & though it ſeeme to be as a thing ventred on the ſea, yet it ſhal bring thee profite.

b As the cloudes that are full, powre out raine, ſo the rich that haue abundãce, muſt diſtribute it liberally.

c He exhorteth to be liberall, while we liue: for after, there is no power.

d He that feareth inconueniences, when neceſſitie requireth, ſhal neuer do his duetie.

e Be not wearie of well doing.

f That is, which of thy workes are moſt agreeable to God.

g That is, of affliction and trouble.

h He derideth them that ſet their delite in worldly pleaſures, as though God would not call them to an account.

i To wit, anger, and enuie. k Meaning, carnall luſtes whereunto youth is giuen.

CHAP. XII.

1 To thinke on God in youth and not to deferre till age. 7 The ſoule returneth to God. 11 VViſedome is the gift of God, and conſiſteth in fearing him and keeping his commandements.

1 REmember nowe thy Creator in the dayes of thy youth, whyles the euill dayes come not, nor the yeeres approch, wherein thou ſhalt ſay, I haue no pleaſure in them:

2 Whiles the ſunne is not darke, nor the light, nor the moone, nor the ſtarres, nor the [a] cloudes returne after the rayne: —

3 When the [b] keepers of the houſe ſhall tremble, and the [c] ſtrong men ſhal bowe themſelues, and the [d] grynders ſhall ceaſe, becauſe they are fewe, and they waxe darke that [e] looke out by the windowes:

4 And the [f] doores ſhall be ſhut without by the baſe ſound of the [g] grinding, and he ſhal riſe vp at the voyce of the [h] bird: and all the [i] daughters of ſinging ſhalbe abaſed.

5 Alſo they ſhall be afrayde of the [k] hye thing, and feare ſhalbe in [l] the way, and the almonde tree ſhal [m] flouriſh, and the [n] graſſehopper ſhall be a burden, & concupiſcence ſhalbe driuen away: for man goeth to the houſe of his age, and the mourners go about in the ſtreete.

6 Whiles the [o] ſiluer coarde is not lengthened, nor the golden [p] ewer broken, nor the [q] pitcher broken at the [r] wel, nor the [s] wheele broken at the [t] ciſterne:

7 And duſt returne to the earth as it was, & the [u] ſpirite returne to God that gaue it.

8 Vanitie of vanities, ſaieth the Preacher, all is vanitie.

9 And the more wiſe the Preacher was, the more hee taught the people knowledge, and cauſed them to heare, and ſearched forth, and prepared many parables.

10 The Preacher ſought to find out pleaſant wordes, and an vpright writing, euen the wordes of trueth.

11 The words of the wiſe are like goads, and like naples [x] faſtned by the maſters of the aſſemblies, which are giuen by one [y] paſtour.

12 And of other thinges beſides theſe, my ſonne, take thou heede: for there is none ende in making many [z] bookes, and much reading is a wearines of the fleſh.

13 Let vs heare the ende of all: feare God and keepe his commandementes: for this is the whole duetie of man.

14 For God wil bring euery worke vnto iudgement, with euery ſecrete thing, whether it be good or euil.

a Before thou come to a continuall miſerie for whe the cloudes remaine after the raine, mans griefe is increaſed.

b The handes, which keepe the bodie.

c The legs.

d The teeth.

e The eyes.

f The lippes, or mouth.

g When the chawes ſhall ſcarce open and not be able to chewe no more.

h He ſhal not be able to ſleepe

i That is, the winde pipes, or the eares ſhalbe deafe, and not able to heare ſinging.

k To climbe hie becauſe of their weaknes, or they ſtoupe downe, as though they were afraid leaſt any thing ſhould hit them.

l They ſhall tremble as they go, as though they were afrayde.

m Their head ſhalbe as white as the bloſſomes of an almonde tree.

n They ſhalbe able to beare nothing.

o Meaning, the marowe of the backe bone and the ſinewes. p The little ſkinne that couereth the brayne, which is in colour like golde. q That is, the veines. r Meaning, the liuer. ſ Which is the head. t That is, the heart, out of the which the head draweth the powers of life. u The ſoule incontinently goeth eyther to ioye of torment, and ſleepeth not as the wicked imagine. x Which are well applyed by the miniſters, whom he calleth maſters. y That is, by God. z Theſe thinges can not be compriehended in bookes, or learned by ſtudie, but God muſt inſtruct thy heart that thou mayeſt onely know that wiſdome is the true felicitie, & the way thereunto is to feare God.

AN " EXCELLENT SONG
VVHICH VVAS SALOMONS.

" Ebr. a song of songs: so called because it is the chiefest of those 1005. which Salomon made, as is mentioned, 1 King. 4. 32.

THE ARGVMENT.

IN this Song, Salomon by most sweete and comfortable allegories and parables describeth the perfite loue of Iesus Christ, the true Salomon and King of peace, and the faithfull soule or his Church, which he hath sanctified and appointed to be his spouse, holy, chaste, & without reprehension. So that here is declared the singular loue of the bridegrome towarde the bride, and his great and excellent benefites wherewith he doth enrich her of his pure bountie and grace without any of her deseruings. Also the earnest affection of the Church which is inflamed with the loue of Christ, desiring to be more and more ioyned to him in loue, and not to be forsaken for any spot or blemish that is in her.

CHAP. I.

1 The familiar talke and mysticall communication of the spirituall loue betweene Iesus Christ and his Church. 5 The domesticall enemies that persecute the Church.

1 [a] LEt [a] him kisse mee with the kisses of his mouth: for thy loue is better then wine.
2 Because of the [b] sauour of thy good ointments thy name is as an ointment powred out: therefore the [c] virgins loue thee.
3 [d] Draw me: we will runne after thee: the King hath brought mee into his [e] chambers: we will reioyce and be glad in thee: we will remember thy loue more then wine: the righteous do loue thee.
4 I am [f] blacke, O daughters of Ierusalem, but comely, as the [g] tentes of Kedar, and as the [h] curteines of Salomon.
5 Regard ye me not because I am [i] black: for the [k] sunne hath looked vpon mee. The [l] sonnes of my mother were angrie against me: they made me the keeper of the vines: but I [m] kept not mine owne vine.
6 Shew me, [n] O thou, whom my soule loueth, where thou feedest, where thou liest at noone: for why should I be as she that turneth aside to the flockes of [o] thy companions?
7 [p] If thou know not, O thou the fairest among women, get thee forth by the steps of the flocke, and feede thy kiddes by the tentes of the shepherds.
8 I haue compared thee, O my loue, to the troupe of horses in the [q] charets of Pharaoh.
9 Thy cheekes are comely with rowes of stones, and thy necke with chaines.
10 Wee will make thee borders of golde with studdes of siluer.
11 [r] Whiles the king was at his repast, my spikenard gaue the smell thereof.
12 My welbeloued is as a bundle of myrrhe vnto mee: her shall lye betweene my [s] breastes.
13 My welbeloued is as a cluster of camphire vnto me in the vines of Engedi.
14 My loue, beholde, thou art [t] faire: beholde, thou art faire: thine eyes are like the doues.
15 My welbeloued, behold, thou art faire and pleasant: also our [u] bed is greene:
16 The beames of our house are cedars, our rafters are of firre.

a This is spoken in the person of the Church, or of the faithful soule inflamed with the desire of Christ, whom she loueth.
b The feeling of thy great benefites.
c They that are pure in heart & conuersation.
d The faithfull cōfesse that they cannot come to Christ except they be drawen.
e Meaning, the secret ioye that is not knowen to the worlde.
f The Church confesseth her spots and sinne, but hath confidence in the fauour of Christ.
g Kedar was Ishmaels sonne, of whom came the Arabians that dwelt in tentes.
h Which within were all set with precious stones and iewels.
i Consider not the Church by the outward appearance.
k The corruption of nature through sinne, and afflictions.
l Mine owne brethren, which should haue most fauoured me.
m She confesseth her owne negligence.
n The spouse feeling her faulte, fleeth to her husbande onely for succour.
o Whom thou hast called to the dignitie of pastours, and they set forth their owne dreames in steade of thy doctrine.
p Christ speaketh to his Church, bidding them that are ignorant, to goe to the pastours to learne.
q For thy spirituall beautie and excellencie there was no worldly treasure to be compared vnto thee.
r The Church reioyceth that shee is admitted to the company of Christ, s He shalbe most deare vnto me. t Christ accepteth his Church, and commēdeth her beautie.
u That is, the heart of the faithfull wherein Christ dwelleth by his spirite.

CHAP. II.

The Church desireth to rest vnder the shadowe of Christ. 8 She heareth his voyce. 14 She is compared to the dowe, 15 And the enemies to the foxes.

1 I Am the rose of the field, and the lilie of the valleis.
2 Like a lilie among the thornes, so is my [a] loue among the daughters.
3 [b] Like the apple tree among the trees of the forest, so is my welbeloued among the sonnes of men: vnder his shadowe had I delite, and sate downe: and his fruite was sweete vnto my mouth.
4 He brought me into the wine cellar, and loue was his banner ouer me.
5 Stay me with flagons, & comfort mee with apples: for I am sicke of loue.
6 His left hand is vnder mine head, and his right hand doth embrace me.
7 [c] I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, by the roes and by the hindes of the fielde, that ye stirre not vp, nor waken my loue, vntill she please.
8 [d] It is the voyce of my welbeloued: beholde, he commeth leaping by the mountaines, and skipping by the hilles.
9 My welbeloued is like a roe, or a yong hart: lo, he [e] standeth behinde our wall, looking forth of the windowes, shewing himselfe through the [f] grates.
10 My welbeloued spake and saide vnto me, Arise, my loue, my faire one, & come thy way.
11 For behold, [g] winter is past: the raine is changed, and is gone away.
12 The flowers appeare in the earth: the time of the singing of birds is come, & the voyce of the turtle is heard in our land.
13 The figge tree hath brought forth her a Thus Christ preferreth his Church aboue all other things.

b The spouse testifieth her great desire towarde her husband, but her strength faileth her, & therfore she desireth to be comforted, and felt it.
c Christ chargeth them which haue to do in the church, as it were by a solemne oath, that they trouble not the quietnes thereof.
d This is spoken of Christ, who tooke vpon him our nature to come to helpe his Church.
e For asmuch as his diuinitie was hid vnder the cloke of our flesh.
f So that we can not haue full knowledge of him in this life.
g That is, sinne and errour is driuen backe by the comming of Christ, which is here described by the spring time, when all thinges flourish.

pong

h Thou that art ashamed of thy sinnes, come and shewe thy selfe vnto me.

i Suppresse the heretikes whiles they are yong, that is, when they begin to shewe their malice and destroy the vine of the Lorde.

k The Church desireth Christ to be most readie to helpe her in all dangers.

a The Church by night, ỹ is, in troubles, seeketh to Christ, but is not incontinently heard.

b Shewing, that although we be e not heard at the first, yet we must still continue in prayer till we feele comfort.

c Which declareth, that wee must seeke vnto all, of whom we hope to haue any succour.

d Reade Chap. 2. 7.

e This is referred to ỹ Church of Israel, which was led by the wildernesse fourtie yeeres.

pong figges: and the vines with their small grapes haue cast a sauour: arise mp loue, mp faire one, and come awap.

14 Mp doue, that art in the [h] holes of the rocke, in the secret places of the staires, shewe me thp sight, let me heare thp vopce: for thp vopce is sweete, and thp sight comelp.

15 Take vs the foxes, the [i] litle foxes, which destroy the vines: for our vines haue small grapes.

16 Mp welbeloued is mine, and I am his: he feedeth among the lilies, 17 Vntill the dap breake, & the shadowes flee awap: returne, mp welbeloued, and be like a [k] roe, or a pong hart vpon the mountaines of Bether.

CHAP. III.

1 The Church desireth to be ioyned inseparably to Christ her husband. 6 Her deliuerance out of the wildernesse.

1 IN mp bed by [a] night I sought him that mp soule loued: I sought him, but I founde him not.

2 I will rise therefore now, and go about in the citie, by the streetes and by the open places, and will [b] seeke him that mp soule loueth: I sought him, but I founde him not.

3 The [c] watchmen that went about the citie, founde me: to whom I sayde, Haue pou seene him, whom mp soule loueth?

4 Whe I had past a litle from them, then I found him whom mp soule loued: I tooke holde on him and left him not, til I had brought him vnto mp mothers house into the chamber of her that conceiued me.

5 [d] I charge pou, O daughters of Ierusalem, by the roes and by the hindes of the fielde, that pe stirre not vp, nor waken my loue vntill she please.

6 Who is she that commeth vp out of ỹ [e] wildernesse, like pillars of smoke perfumed with mprrhe and incense, and with all the "spices of the marchant?

7 Behold his [f] bed, which is Salomons: threescore strong men are rounde about it, of the valiant men of Israel.

8 They all handle the swoꝛde, and are expert in warre, euerp one hath his swoꝛd vpon his thigh for the feare by night.

9 King Salomon made himselfe a [g] palace of the trees of Lebanon.

10 Hee made the pillars thereof of siluer, and the paurement thereof of golde, the hangings thereof of purple, whose middes was paued with the loue of the daughters of Ierusalem.

11 Come forth, pe [h] daughters of Zion, and beholde the King Salomon with the [i] crowne, wherewith his mother crowned him in the dap of his mariage, and in the dap of the gladnes of his heart.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The praises of the Church. 7 She is without blemish in his sight. 9 The loue of Christ towards her.

1 BEhold, thou art [a] faire, mp loue: behold, thou art faire; thine eyes are like the doues: among thy locks* thine heare is like the [b] flock of goates, which looke downe from the mountaine of Gilead.

2 Thp teeth are like a flocke of sheepe in good order, which goe vp from the washing: which euerp one bring out twinnes, and none is barren among them.

3 Thp lippes are like a thpede of scarlet, and thp talke is comelp: thp temples are within thp locks as a piece of a pomegranate.

4 Thp necke is as the tower of Dauid built for defence: a thousand shieldes hang therein, and all the targates of the strong men.

5 Thp two [c] breastes are as two pong roes that are twinnes, feeding among the lilies.

6 Vntill the dap breake, & the shadowes flie awap, I will goe into the mountaine of mprrhe and to the mountaine of incense.

7 Thou art all faire, mp loue, and there is no spot in ther.

8 [d] Come with mee from Lebanon, my spouse, euen with me from Lebanon, and looke from the top of Amanah, from the top of Shenir and Hermon, from the dennes of the lyons and from the mountaines of the Leopardes.

9 Mp [e] sister, my spouse, thou hast wonnded mine heart: thou hast wounded mine heart with one of thine [f] eyes, and with a chaine of thp necke.

10 Mp sister, my spouse, howe faire is thp loue? how much better is thp loue then wine? and the sauour of thine ointments then all spices?

11 Thp [g] lippes, my spouse, dioppe as honie combes: honie and milke are vnder thp tongue, and the sauour of thp garments is as the sauour of Lebanon.

12 Mp sister mp spouse is as a garden inclosed, as a spring shut vp, and a fountaine sealed vp.

13 Thp plants are as an orchard of pomegranates with sweete fruites, as camphire, spikenard, 14 Euen spikenard, and saffran, calamus, and cinnamom with all the trees of incense, mprrhe and aloes, with all the chiefe spices.

15 [h] O fountaine of the gardens, O well of liuing waters, and the springs of Lebanon.

16 Arise, O [i] North, and come O South, and blow on mp garden that the spices thereof map flowe out: let mp welbeloued come to his garden, and eate his pleasant fruite.

CHAP. V.

1 Christ calleth his Church to the participation of all his treasures. 2 She heareth his voice. 3 She excuseth her nakednes. 10 She praiseth Christ her husband.

4 [c] I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, that you stirre not vp, nor wake my loue, vntill she please.
5 (Who is this that commeth vp out of the wildernes, leaning vpon her welbeloued?) I rapsed thee vp vnder an apple tree: there thy mother conceiued thee: there she conceiued that bare thee.
6 [d] Set me as a seale on thine heart, & as a signet vpon thine arme: for loue is strong as death: zelousie is cruel as the graue: the coles thereof are hote coles, and a vehement flame.
7 Much water can not quench loue, neither can the floods drowne it: If a man should giue all the substance of his house for loue, they would greatly contemne it.
8 [e] We haue a litle sister, and she hath no breastes: what shall we doe for our sister when she shalbe spoken for?
9 [f] If she be a wal, we wil build vpon her a siluer palace: & if she be a doore, we wil keepe her in with boards of cedar.
10 [g] I am a wall, and my breastes are as towers: then was I in his eyes as one that findeth peace.
11 [h] Salomon had a vine in Baal-hamō: he gaue the vineyard vnto keepers: euery one bringeth for the fruite thereof a thousand pieces of siluer.
12 But my vineyard which is mine, is before me: to thee, O Salomon, appertayneth a thousand pieces of siluer, and two thousande to them that keepe the fruite thereof.
13 O thou that dwellest in the [i] gardens, the companions hearken vnto thy voyce: cause me to heare it.
14 O my welbeloued, [k] flee away, and be like vnto the roe, or to the yong hart vpon the mountaines of spices.

ISAIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

GOd, according to his promes Deut. 18.15. that he would neuer leaue his Church destitute of a Prophet, hath from time to time accomplished the same: whose office was not only to declare vnto the people ſ things to come, wherof they had a special reuelation, but also to interprete & declare the Law, & to applie particularly the doctrine contained briefly therein, to the vtilitie & profit of those, to whome they thought it chiefly to appertaine, & as the time and state of things required. And principally in the declaration of the Law they had respect to three things, which were the grounde of their doctrine: First to the doctrine contained briefly in the two tables: secondly to the promises and threatnings of the Law: and thirdly, to the couenant of grace and reconciliation, grounded vpon our Sauiour Iesus Christ, who is the ende of the Law. Whereunto they neither added nor diminished, but faithfully expounded the sense & meaning therof. And accordīg as God gaue them vnderstanding of thinges, they applyed the promises particularly for the comfort of the Church and the members thereof, and also denounced the menaces against the enemies of the same: not for any care or regarde to the enemies, but to assure the Church of their safegarde by the destruction of their enemies. And as touching the doctrine of reconciliation, they haue more clerely intreated it then Moses, and set forth more liuely Iesus Christ, in whome this couenant of reconciliation was made. In all these things Isaiah did excell all the Prophets, & was most diligent to set out the same, with most vehement admonitions, reprehensions, and consolations: euer applying the doctrine, as he sawe ſ the disease of the people required. He declareth also many notable prophecies which he had receiued of God, as touching the promes of the Messiah, his office, & his kingdome. Also of the fauour of God toward his Church, the vocation of the Gentiles, & their vnion with the Iewes. Which are as most principal poynts contained in this booke, & a gathering of his sermons that he preached. Which after certaine dayes that they had stande vpon the Temple doore (for the maner of the Prophetes was to set vp the summe of their doctrine for certaine dayes that the people might ſ better marke it, as Isa. 8.1. & Habak. 2.2.) the Priests tooke it downe & reserued it amōg their registers: & so by Gods prouidence these bookes were preserued as a monument to the Church for euer. As touching his person and time, he was of the kings stocke (for Amoz his father was brother to Azariah king of Iudah, as the best writers agree) & prophecied more then then 64 yeeres from the time of Vzziah vnto the reigne of Manaſſeh, whoſe father in lawe hee was (as the Ebrewes write) and of whome he was put to death. And in reading of the Prophets this one thing among other is to be obſerued, that they ſpeake of things to come as though they were nowe paſt, becauſe of the certaintie thereof, & that they could not but come to paſſe, becauſe God had ordeined them in his ſecret counſell, and ſo reuealed them to his Prophets.

CHAP. I.

1 Iſaiah reproueth the Iewes of their ingratitude & ſtubbornneſſe, that neither for benefites nor puniſhment would amend. 11 He ſheweth why their ſacrifices are reiected, and wherein Gods true ſeruice ſtandeth. 24 He prophecieth of the deſtruction of Ieruſalem, 25 And of the reſtitution thereof.

1 The viſion of Iſaiah, the ſonne of Amoz, which hee ſawe [b] concerning Iudah and Ieruſalem: in the dayes of [c] Vzziah, Ioatham, Ahaz & Hezekiah kings of Iudah.

2 Heare, O [d] heauens, and hearken, O earth: for the Lorde hath ſpoke, I haue nourished & brought vp [e] children, but they haue rebelled againſt me.

3 The [f] ore knoweth his owner, and the aſſe his maſters cribbe, but Iſrael hath not knowen: my people hath not vnderſtand.

4 Ah, ſinfull nation, a people laden with iniquitie: a [g] ſeed of the wicked, corrupt children: they haue forſaken the Lorde: they haue prouoked [h] the holy one of Iſrael to anger: they are gone backeward.

5 Wherefore ſhould ye be [i] ſmitten any more? for ye fall awap more and more: the whole [k] head is ſicke, and the whole heart is heauie.

6 Frō the [l] ſole of the foote vnto the head, there is nothing whole therein, but woundes, & ſwelling, & ſores full of corruption: they haue not bene wrapped, [m] nor bound vp, nor mollified with oile.

7 Your land is waſte: your cities are burnt with fire: ſtrangers deuour your land in your preſence, & it is deſolate like the ouerthrowe [n] of ſtrangers.

8 And the daughter of [o] Zion ſhall remaine like a cottage in a vineyarde, like a lodge in a garden of cucumbers, and like a beſieged citie.

9 Except [p] the Lorde of hoſts [q] had reſerued vnto vs, euen a ſmal remnant: we ſhould haue bene [r] as Sodom, & ſhould haue bene like vnto Gomorah.

10 Heare the worde of the Lorde, O [s] princes of Sodom: hearken vnto the lawe of our God, O people of Gomorah.

11 What haue [t] to do with the multitude of your ſacrifices, ſayth the Lorde? I am full of the burnt offrings of rammes, & of the fat of fed beaſtes: and I [u] deſire not the blood of bullocks, nor of lambes, nor of goates.

12 When ye come to appeare before me, who required this of your handes to treade in my courtes?

13 Bring no mo oblations, [x] in vaine: incenſe is an abomination vnto me: I can not ſuffer your newe moones, nor ſabbaths, nor ſolemne dayes (it is iniquitie) nor ſolemne aſſemblies.

14 Your ſoule hateth your [y] new moones & your appointed feaſts: they are a burde vnto me: I am weare to beare them.

15 And when you ſhall ſtretche out your handes, I will hide mine eies from you: & though ye make many prayers, I will not heare: for your hāds are ful of [z] blud.

16 [a] Waſh you, make you cleane: take away the euil of your workes from before mine eyes: ceaſe to doe euill.

17 Learne to [b] do well: ſeeke iudgement, relieue the oppreſſed: iudge the fatherleſs and defend the widow.

18 Come now, [c] & let vs reaſon together, ſayth the Lorde: though your ſinnes were as crimſin, they ſhalbe made [d] white as ſnowe: though they were red like ſcarlet, they ſhalbe as wool.

19 If ye [e] conſent and obey, ye ſhal eat the good things of the land.

20 But if ye refuſe & be rebellious, ye ſhal be deuoured with the ſwoorde: for the mouth of the Lorde hath ſpoken it.

21 How is the [f] faithfull citie become an harlot? it was full of iudgement, & iuſtice lodged therein, but nowe [g] they are murtherers.

22 Thy [h] ſiluer is become droſſe: thy wine

a That is, a reuelation or propheçie, which was one of the two meanes, wherby God declared himſelfe to his ſeruants in olde time, as Nomb. 12.6: and therefore the Prophets were called Seers, 1.Sam.9.9.

b Iſaiah was chiefly ſent to Iudah & Ieruſalem, but not only: for in this booke are propheçies concerning other nations alſo.

c Called alſo Azariah, 2 Kin.15. 1. of theſe Kings reade 2.King.1ſō Chap.14. vnto Chap.21. and 2. Chr.ſō Cha.25. vnto Chap.33.

d Becauſe men were obſtinate and inſenſible, he calleth to the dumme creatures, which were more prompt to obey Gods word, as Deut.32.1.

e He declareth his great mercie towarde the Iewes, forasmuch as he choſe them aboue all other nations to be his people & children, as Deut.10.15. f The moſt brute & dull beaſts do more acknowledge their duetie towarde their maſters, then my people do towarde me, of whome they haue receiued benefites without compariſon. g They were not onely wicked, as were their fathers, but vtterly corrupt, & by their euill example infected others. h That is, him that ſanctifieth Iſrael. i What auaileth it to ſeeke to ameēd you by puniſhmēt, ſeeing ye more I correct you, the more ye rebel? k By naming the chiefe parts of the body, he ſignifieth, that there was no part of ye whole body of the Iewes free from his rods. l Euery part of the body, as well the leaſt as the chiefeſt was plagued. m Their plagues were ſo grieuous that they were incurable, and yet they wouldo not repent. n Meaning, of them that dwell farre off, which, becauſe they looke for no aduantage of that, which remaineth, deſtroy all before them. o That is, Ieruſalem. p Becauſe that he will euer haue a Church to call vpon his Name.

q That is, all deſtroied. r Ye that for your vices deſerued all to be deſtroyed as they of Sodom, ſaue that God of his mercy reſerued a litle nomber, Lam. 3.22. ſ Although God commanded theſe ſacrifices for a time, as aids & exerciſes of their faith: yet becauſe the people had not faith nor repentance, God deteſteth them, Pſal.50.13 Iere.6.20. Amos 5.21. Micah 6.7. t Without faith and repentance. u Your ſacrifices offered in ye newe moones & feaſts he condemneth hereby hypocrites, which thinke to pleaſe God with ceremonies, and they themſelues are voide of faith & mercie. x He ſheweth that where men be giuen to auarice, deceit, crueltie & extortiō, which is meant by blood, there God will ſhewe his anger, & not accept them, though they ſeeme neuer ſo holy, as Chap.59.3. y By this outward waſhing, he meaneth the ſpirituall: exhorting the Iewes to repent & ameēd their liues. z This kind of reaſoning, by ye ſecōd table, the Scriptures vſe in many places againſt the hypocrites, who preteēd moſt holines & religiō in word, but whē their charity & loue toward their brethren ſhould appeare, they declare ye they haue neither faith nor religion. a To know if I do accuſe you without cauſe. b Leſt ſinners ſhould preteēd any rigor on Gods part, he only willeth thē to be pure in heart, & he will forgiue all their ſinnes, were they neuer ſo many or great. c He ſheweth ye whatſoeuer aduerſitie man indureth, it ought to be attributed to his owne incredulitie & diſobedience. d That is, Ieruſalē, which had promiſed fidelitie vnto me, as a wife to her huſband. e Giuen to couetouſnes & extortiō, which be ſignified before by blood, verſ.15. f Whatſoeuer was pure in thee before, is now corrupt, though thou haue an outwarde ſhewe, is mixt with water,

g That is, they maintaine the wicked and the extortioners, & not onely do not punish them, but are themselues such.

23 Thy princes are rebellious & companions of theeues: euery one loueth gifts, & followeth after rewardes: they iudge not the fatherles, neither doeth the widowes cause come before them.

24 Therefore saith the Lord God of hosts, the [h] mightie one of Israel, Ah, I will [i] ease me of mine aduersaries, & auenge me of mine enemies, 25 Then I will turne mine hande vpon thee, and purge out thy drosse, till it [k] be pure, and take away all thy tinne.

26 [l] And I wil restore thy iudges as at the first, and thy counsellers as at the beginning: afterwarde shalt thou be called a citie of righteousnesse, & a faithfull citie.

27 Zion shalbe redeemed in iudgement, & they that returne in her, in [m] iustice.

28 And the [n] destruction of the transgressours & of the sinners shall be together: and they that forsake the Lord, shall be consumed.

29 For they shall be confounded for the [o] okes, which ye haue desired, & ye shall be ashamed of the gardens, that yee haue chosen.

30 For ye shall be as an oke, whose leafe fadeth: and as a garden that hath no water.

31 And the strong shall be as [p] towe, and the maker therof, as a sparke: and they shall both burne together, and none shall quench them.

h When God will shewe himselfe mercifull to his Church, he calleth himselfe, The holy one of Israel: but when he hath to doe with his enemies, he is called Mightie, as against whom no power is able to resist.

i I wil take vengeance of mine aduersaries the Iewes, and so satisfie my desire by punishing them. Which thing yet he doeth with a griefe because of his couenant.

k Least the faithfull among them should be ouercome with this threatning, he addeth this consolation. l It is only the worke of God to purifie the heart of man, which thing he doth because of his promes, made concerning the saluation of his Church.

m By iustice is meant Gods faithfull promes, which is the cause of the deliuerance of his Church. n The wicked shall not be partakers of Gods promes, Psal 92.9. o That is, the trees and pleasant places, where ye commit idolatry, which was forbidden, Deut. 16.22. p The false god, wherein ye put your confidence, shalbe consumed as easily, as a piece of towe.

CHAP. II.

2 The Church shall be restored by Christ, and the Gentiles called. 6 The punishment of the rebellious and obstinate.

Micah 4.1.

1 The worde that Isaiah the sonne of Amoz saw vpon Iudah and Ierusalem.

a The decree & ordinance of God, touching the restauration of the Church, which is chiefely meant of the time of Christ.

2 [a] It shall be in the last dayes, that the mountaine of the house of the Lord shal be prepared in the top of the mountains, and [b] shalbe exalted aboue the hils, and all nations shall [c] flowe vnto it.

b In an euident place to be seene and discerned.

3 And many people shal go, & say, Come, and let vs go vp to [d] the mountaine of the Lord, to the house of the God of Iaakob, & he will teach vs his waies, & we wil walke in his paths: for the [e] Lawe shall go forth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from [f] Ierusalem, c Whē the kingdome of Christ shalbe enlarged by the preaching of the doctrine. Here also is declared the zeale of the children of God, when they are called. d Alluding to mount Zion, where the visible Church then was. Micah. 4.2. e Meaning, the whole doctrine of saluation. f This was accomplished, when the Gospel was first preached in Ierusalem, & from thence went through all the worlde.

4 And [g] he shall iudge among the nations, and [h] rebuke many people: they shall [i] breake their swordes also into mattockes, & their speares into sithes: nation shal not lift vp a sworde against nation, neither shall they learne [k] to fight any more.

g The Lorde, which is Christ, shall haue all power giuen him.

h That they may acknowledge their sins & turne to him.

i He sheweth the fruite of the Gospel should bring: to wit, that men should do good one to another, where as before they were enemies.

k He speaketh not against the vse of weapons & lawful warre, but sheweth how the hearts of the godly shalbe affected one toward another: which peace and loue doeth begin and grow in this life, but shalbe perfited, when we are ioyned with our head Christ Iesus

5 O house of Iaakob, come ye, & let vs [l] walke in the light of the Lorde.

l Seeing the Gentiles will be so ready, make you haste and shew them the way to worship God.

6 Surely thou [m] hast forsaken thy people, the house of Iaakob, because they are [n] full of the East maners, and are sorcerers as the Philistims, [o] and abound with strange children.

m The Prophet seeing the small hope, of the Iewes would conuert, complaineth to God, as though he had vtterly forsaken the for their sinnes.

n Full of the corruptions that reigned chiefely in the East partes.

o They altogether giue themselues to the fashions of other nations.

7 Their land also was ful of [p] siluer and golde, and there was none ende of their treasures: & their lande was ful of horses, and their charets were infinite.

p The Prophet first condemned their superstition and idolatrie: next their couetousnesse, and thirdly, their vaine trust in worldly meanes.

8 Their land also was ful of idoles: they worshipped the worke of their owne handes, which their owne fingers haue made.

q He noteth the nature of the idolaters, which are neuer satisfied in their superstitions.

9 And a man bowed himselfe, and a man [q] humbled himselfe: therefore [r] spare them not.

r Thus the Prophet spake, being inflamed with the zeale of Gods glory, & that he might feare them with Gods iudgement.

10 Enter into the rocke, & hide thee in the dust from before the feare of the Lorde, and from the glory of his maiestie.

s Meaning, as soone as God shall begin to execute his iudgements.

11 The hie looke of man shalbe humbled, and the loftinesse of men shalbe abased, and the Lorde onely shall bee exalted [s] that day.

t By high trees and mountaines are meant them that are proud, and lofty, and thinke themselues most strong in this worlde.

12 For the daye of the Lorde of hostes is vpon all the proud and hautie, and vpon all that is exalted: and it shall bee made lowe.

u He condemneth their vaine confidence, which they had in strong holdes, and in their riche marchandise, which brought in vaine pleasures, wherewith mens mindes became corrupt. Hosea 10.8. Iob 23.30. psal. 6.16. and 9 6.

13 Euen vpon all the cedars of Lebanon, that are hie and exalted, and vpon all the okes of Bashan,

14 And vpon all the high [t] mountaines, & vpon all the hilles that are lifted vp,

15 And vpon euery hie tower, and vpon euery strong wall,

16 And vpon [u] all the ships of Tarshish, and vpon all pleasant pictures.

17 And the hautinesse of men shall bee brought lowe, and the loftinesse of men shalbe abased, and the Lorde shall onely be exalted in that day.

18 And the idoles will he vtterly destroy.

19 Then they shall go * into the holes of the rocks, & into the caues of the earth, from before the feare of the Lorde, and from the glory of his maiestie, when he shall arise to destroy the earth.

20 At that day shall man cast away his

siluer idoles, and his golden idoles (which they had made themselues to worship them) x to the moules and to the backes, x They shal cast them into most vile and filthy places, when they perceiue that they are not able to helpe them.

21 To go into the holes of the rocks, and into the tops of the ragged rockes from before the feare of the Lorde, and from the glorie of his maiestie, when he shall rise to destroy the earth.

y Cast off your vaine confidence of man, whose life is so 22 Cease you from y man whose y breath is in his nostrels: for wherein is he to be estéemed?

fraile, that if his nose be stopped, hee is dead, and consider that you haue to do with God.

CHAP. III.

1 For the sinne of the people God will take away the wise men, and giue them foolish princes. 14 The euel vsuriousse of the gouernors. 16 The pride of the women.

1 FOr loe, the Lorde God of hostes will take awap from Jerusalem & from Judah the staf a and the strength: euen all the staf of bread, and all the staf of water, a Because they trusted in their abundance and prosperitie, he sheweth that they should be také from them.

2 The strong man, & the man of warre, b the iudge & the Prophet, the prudent and the aged,

b The temporal gouernour and the minister.

3 The captaine of fiftie, and the honorable, and the counseller, and the cunning artificer, and c the eloquent man.

c By these he meaneth that God would take away euery thing that was in any estimation, and wherein they had any occasion to vaunt themselues.

4 And I wil appoint d children to be their princes, and babes shal rule ouer them.

d Not onely in age, but in wit, maners, knowledge and strength.

5 The people shall be e oppressed one of another, and euery one by his neighbour: the children shall presume against the ancient, and the vile against the honourable.

e For lacke of good regiment and order.

6 When euery one shall f take hold of his brother of the house of his father, and say, Thou hast clothing: thou shalt be our prince, and let this fall be vnder thine hand.

f He sheweth that this plague shalbe so horrible, that contrary to the common maner of men, which by nature are ambitious, none shall be found able or willing to be their gouernour.

7 In that day shee shall s sweare, saying, I cannot be an helper: for there is no breade in mine house, nor clothing: therefore make me no prince of the people.

g Feare shal rather cause him to forsweare himselfe, then to take such a dangerous charge vpon him.

8 Doubtles Jerusalem is fallen, and Judah is fallen down, because their tongue and workes are against the Lord, to prouoke the eyes of his glorie.

9 The h triall of their countenance testifieth against them, yea, they declare their sinnes, as Sodom, they hide them not. Wo be vnto their soules: for they haue rewarded euill vnto themselues.

h When God shall examine their deedes, whereupon they nowe set an impudent face, he shal finde the marke of their impietie in their forehead.

10 i Say ye, Surely it shall be well with the iust: for they shall eate the fruite of their workes.

i Be ye that are godly assured that God will defend you in the middes of these troubles.

11 Wo be to the wicked, it shalbe euil with him: for the reward of his handes shall be giuen him.

12 k Children are extortioners of my people, and women haue rule ouer them: O my people, they that leade thee, cause thee to erre, and destroy the way of thy paths.

k Because the wicked people were more addict to their princes, then to the commandemets of God, he sheweth that he would giue them such princes, by whome they should haue no helpe, but that should be manifest tokens of his wrath, because they should be fooles and effeminate.

13 The Lord standeth vp to plead, yea, he standeth to iudge the people.

14 The Lorde shall enter into iudgement with the l Ancients of his people & the princes thereof: for ye haue eaten vp the vineyard: the spoile of the poore is in your houses.

l Meaning, that the rulers and gouerners had destroyed his Church, and not preserued it, according to their duetie.

15 What haue ye to do, that ye beate my people to pieces, m and grinde the faces of the poore, saith the Lord, euen the Lord of hostes?

m That is, ye shewe all cruelty against them.

16 The Lorde also saith, n Because the daughters of Zion are hautie, & walke with o stretched out neckes, and with p wandering eyes, walking and q mincing as they go, and making a r tinkling with their feete, n He menaceth the people, because of the arrogancy & pride of their women, which gaue themselues to all wantonnes and dissolution.

o Which declared their pride.

p As a signe, that they were not chaste.

17 Therefore shal the Lord make y heads of the daughters of Zion balde, and the Lord shal discouer their secret partes.

q Which showed their wantonnes.

18 In that day shall the Lorde take awap the ornament of the slippers, and the calles, and the round tires, r They delited then in slippers that did creake, or had litle plates sowed vpon them, which tinkled as they went.

19 The sweete balles, and the bracelets, and the bonnets,

20 The tyres of the head, & the sloppes, and the head bandes, and the tablets, and the earinges,

21 The rings and the mufflers,

22 The costly apparel and the vailes, and the wimpels, and the crisping pinnes,

23 And the glasses, and the fine linnen, and the hoodes, and the launces.

s In rehearsing all these thinges particularly, hee sheweth the lightnes, and vanitie of such as cannot be content with comely apparell according to their degree.

24 And in steade of sweete sauour, there shalbe stinke, and in steade of a girdle, a rent, & in strade of dressing of the heare, baldnes, and in steade of a stomacher, a girding of sackcloth, & burning in stead of beautie.

t Meaning, that God will not onely punish the women, but their husbandes, which haue suffered this dissolutenes, and also the common weale, which hath not remedied it.

25 Thy men t shall fall by the sword, and thy strength in the battell.

26 Then shall her gates mourne and lament, and she, being desolate, shal sit vpon the ground.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The small remnant of men after the destruction of Ierusalem. 2 The graces of God vpon them that remaine.

1 ANd in that day shal u seuen women take holde of one man, saying. We will eate our owne bread, and we will weare our owne garments: onely let vs be called by thy name, and take away our x reproche.

u When God shal execute this vengeance, there shal not be one man found to be head to many women, and they contrary to womanly shamefastnes, shal seeke vnto men, and offer themselues to any condition.

x Be thou our husband, and let vs be called thy wiues.

b Be thou our husband, and let vs be called thy wiues.

c For so they thought it to be without an head and husband.

d He comforteth the Church in this desolation, which shall spring vp like a bud, signifying that Gods graces should be as plentiful toward the faithfull, as though they sprang out of the earth, as Chap. 45.8. Some by the budde of the Lord meane Christ.

2 In that day shall the [d] bud of the Lord be beautifull and glorious, & the fruit of the earth shalbe excellent and pleasant for them that are escaped of Israel.

3 Then he that shalbe left in Zion, and he that shal remaine in Jerusalem, shal be called holy, and euery one shall be [e] written among the liuing in Jerusalem,

4 When the Lord shal wash the filthines of the daughters of Zion, & purge the [f] blood of Jerusalem out of the middes thereof vp the spirit of iudgment, and vp the spirit of burning.

e He alludeth to the booke of life, wherof read Exod. 32. 32: meaning Gods secret counsell, wherein his elect are predestinate to life euerlasting.

5 And the Lord shall create vpon euery place of mount Zion, and vpon the assemblies thereof, [h] a cloude and smoke vp day, and the shining of a flaming fire vp night: for vpon all the [i] glory shalbe a defence.

f That is, the crueltie, extortion, auarice, and all wickednes.

6 And a couering shalbe for a shadow in the day for the heate, and a place of refuge and a couert for the storme [k] and for the raine.

g When thinges shalbe redressed, that were amisse. h Hee alludeth to the pillar of the cloud, Exod. 13. 21: meaning, that Gods fauour and protection should appeare in euery place. i The faithfull are called the glory of God, because his image, and tokens of his grace shine in them. k God promiseth to be the defence of his Church against all troubles and dangers.

CHAP. V.

1 Vnder the similitude of the vine hee describeth the state of the people. 8 Of their auarice. 11 Their drunkennes. 13 Of their captiuitie.

a The Prophet by this song doth set before the peoples eyes their ingratitude, and Gods mercy.

1 NOwe will [a] I sing to my [b] beloued a song of my beloued to his vineyarde, [c] My beloued had a [c] vineyard in a very fruitfull hill, b That is, to God. Iere. 2. 21. mat. 21. 33.

2 And he hedged it, and gathered out the stones of it, and set planted it with the best plants, [d] and he built a towre in the middes thereof, and made a winepresse therein: then he looked that it shoulde bring foorth grapes: but it brought [e] foorth wilde grapes.

c Meaning, that he had planted his Church in a place most plentifull and abundant.

3 Nowe therefore, O inhabitants of Jerusalem and men of Judah, iudge, I pray you, [f] betweene me, and my vineyarde.

d He spared no diligence nor cost.

4 What coulde I haue done any more to my vineyard that I haue not done vnto it? why haue I looked that it should bring forth grapes, and it bringeth forth wilde grapes?

e In the seuenth verse he declareth what they were.

5 And nowe I will tell you what I will do to my vineyard: I [g] will take away the hedge thereof, and it shall be eaten vp: I will breake the wall thereof, and it shall be troden downe:

f He maketh them iudges in their owne cause, forasmuch as it was euident that they were the cause of their owne ruine.

6 And I will lay it wast: it shal not be cut, nor digged, but briers, and thornes shall growe vp: I will also commaund the clouds that they raine no raine vpon it.

g I will take no more care for it: meaning that he would take from them his worde and ministers, and all other comfortes, and sende them contrary plagues.

7 ¶ Surely the vineyarde of the Lorde of hostes is the house of Israel, & the men of Judah are his pleasant plant, and he looked for [h] iudgement, but beholde oppression: for righteousnesse, but beholde [i] a crying.

h Iudgement & righteousnes are true fruits of the feare of God, and therefore in the cruell oppressers there is no religion.

8 Woe vnto them that ioyne house to house, and lay field to field, til there be no [k] place, that ye may be placed vp your selues in the middes of the earth.

i Of them that are oppressed.

9 This is in mine [l] eares, saith the Lorde of hostes. Surely many houses shalbe desolate, euen great and faire, without inhabitant.

k To wit, for the poore to dwell in.

10 For ten acres of vines shall yeeld one [m] bath, and the seede of an [n] homer shall yeeld an [o] ephah.

l I haue heard the complaint, & cry of the poore.

11 ¶ Woe vnto them, that [p] rise vp early to follow drunkennes, and to them that continue vntill [q] night, till the wine doe inflame them.

m Which containeth about ten pottels: so that euery acre should but yeeld one pottel.

12 And the harpe and viole, timbrel, and pipe, and wine are in their feastes: but they regarde not the [r] worke of the Lord, neither consider the worke of his handes.

n Which containeth an hundreth pottels.

o An Ephah containeth ten pottels, and is in drie things as much as bath is in liquors.

13 Therefore my people [s] is gone into captiuitie, because they had [t] no knowledge, and the glory thereof are men famished, & the multitude thereof is dried vp with thirst.

p That spare no paine nor diligence to followe their lustes.

14 Therefore [u] hell hath inlarged it selfe, and hath opened his mouth, without measure, and their glory, and their multitude, and their pompe, and he that reioyceth among them, shall descende into it.

q Which are neuer weary of their rioting and excessiue pleasures: but vse all meanes to prouoke to the same.

15 And man shalbe brought downe, and man shalbe humbled, euen the eyes of the proud shalbe humbled.

16 And the Lorde of hostes shalbe exalted in iudgement, and the holy God shalbe sanctified in iustice.

r They regard not the prouident care of God ouer them, nor for what ende he hath created them.

17 Then shal [x] the lambes feed after their maner, and the strangers shall eate the desolate places of the fat.

s That is, shall certainly go: for so the Prophetes vse to speake, as though y thing which shal come to passe, were done already.

18 ¶ Woe vnto them, that draw iniquitie with [y] cordes of vanitie, and sinne, as with cart ropes:

t Because they would not obey the word of God.

19 Which say, [z] Let him make speede: let him hasten his worke, that we may see it: and let the counsell of the holy one of Israel draw neere and come, that we may know it.

u Meaning, the graue shal swalow vp them that shal die for hunger & thirst, and yet for al this great destruction it shal neuer be saciate.

20 Woe vnto them that speake good of euil, [a] and euil of good, which put darknes for light, & light for darkenesse, that put bitter for sweete, & sweete for bitter.

x God comforteth the poore lambes of his Church, which had bene strangers in other countreis, promising that they should dwel in those places againe, whereof they had bene depriued by y fat & cruel tyrants.

y Which vse all allurements, occasions, and excuses to harden their conscience in sinne.

z He sheweth what are the wordes of the wicked, when they are menaced with Gods iudgements, 2. Pet. 3. 4.

a Which are not ashamed of sinne, nor care for honestly, but are growen to a desperate impietie.

21 Wo vnto them that are [b] wise in their owne eyes, and prudent in their owne sight.

22 Wo vnto them that are [c] mightie to drinke wine, & to them that are strong to powre in strong drinke:

23 Which iustifie ꝑ wicked for a reward, and take awap the righteousnes of the righteous from him.

24 Therefore as the flame of fire deuoureth the stubble, and as the chaffe is consumed of the flame: so their [d] roote shall be as rottennesse, and their budde shall rise vp like dust, because they haue cast off the lawe of the Lorde of hostes, and contemned the worde of the holy one of Israel.

25 Therefore is the wrath of the Lorde kindled against his people, and he hath stretched out his [e] hande vpon them, and hath smitten them that the mountaines did tremble: and their carkeises were torne in the middes of the streets. And for all this his wrath was not turned awap, but his hand was stretched out still.

26 And he will lift vp a signe [f] vnto the nations a farre, & will hisse vnto them from the end of the earth: and beholde, they shall come hastily with spéede.

27 None shal [g] faint nor fal among them: none shall slumber nor sléepe, neither shall ꝑ girdle of his loines be loosed, nor [h] the latchet of his shoes be broken:

28 Whose arrowes shall be sharpe, & all his bowes bent: his horse hoofes shalbe thought like flint, and his wheéles like a whirlewinde.

29 His roaring shalbe like a lion, & he shal roare like lios whelps: they shal [i] roare, and lap hold of the prap: they shall take it awap, and none shall deliuer it.

30 And in that dap they shal roare vpon them, as the roaring of the sea: and if [k] they looke vnto the earth, behold darknesse, and sorowe, and the light shall be darkened in their [l] skie.

b Which are contemners of all doctrine and admonition.
c Which are neuer wearie, but shewe their strength, & brag in gluttonie and drunkennes.
d Both they and their posteritie, so that nothing shalbe left.
e He sheweth that God had so sore punished this people, that the dumme creatures, if they had bene so plagued, would haue bin more sensible, & therefore his plagues must cõtinue, til they begin to feele thẽ.
f He will make the Babylonians to come against thẽ at his becke, & to fight vnder his standerd.
g They shalbe prompt, and lustie to execute Gods vẽgeance.
h The enemie shall haue none impediment.
i Whereby is declared ỹ crueltie of the enemie.
k The Iewes shal find no succour.
l In the land of Iudah.

CHAP. VI.

1 Isaiah sheweth his vocation by the vision of the diuine maiestie. 9 He sheweth the obstinacie of the people. 11 The destruction of the land. 13 The remnant reserued.

IN ỹ pere of the death of King Vzziah, [a] I sawe also the Lord sitting vpon an [b] high throne, & lifted vp, and the lower [c] parts therof filled the temple.

2 The [d] Seraphims stode vpon it: euery one had sixe wings: with twaine hee couered his [e] face, and with twaine hee couered his [f] fete, and with twaine he did a flie.

3 And one cried to another, & said, [g] Holy, holy, holy is the Lorde of hostes: the whole [h] worlde is full of his glorp.

4 And the lintels of the doore chekes [k] moued at the voyce of him that cried, and the house was filled with smoke.

5 Then I said, [l] Wo is me: for I am vndone, because I am a man of polluted lippes, and I dwell in the middes of a people of polluted lippes: for mine eyes haue seene the King and Lord of hostes.

6 Then flew one of the Seraphims vnto me with an hote cole in his hande, which he had take from the [m] altar with the tongs:

7 And he touched my mouth, and said, Loe, this hath touched thy lippes, and thyne iniquitie shalbe taken awap, and thy [n] sinne shalbe purged.

8 Also I heard the voice of the Lord, saying, Whome shall I send? and who shal go for vs? Then I said, Here am I, send me.

9 And he said, Goe, & say vnto this people, [o] Ye shall heare in deede, but ye shal not vnderstand: ye shall plainly see, and not perceyue.

10 Make ỹ heart of this people fat, make their eares heauie, & shut their eyes, lest they see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and vnderstande with their hearts, and conuert, and be heale them.

11 Then said I, Lord, [p] howe long? And he answered, Vntill the cities be wasted without inhabitant, and the houses without man, and the land be vtterly desolate, 12 And the Lord haue removed men farre [l] away, and there be a great desolation in the middes of the land.

13 But yet in it shalbe [q] a tenth, and shall returne, and shalbe eaten vp as an elme [r] or as an oke, which haue a substance in them, when they cast their leaues: so the holy séede shalbe ỹ substance therof.

a God sheweth not himselfe to man in his maiestie, but according as mans capacitie is able to cõprehend him: that is, by visible signes, as Iohn Baptist saw ỹ holy Ghost in the fourme of a doue.
b As a iudge ready to giue sentẽce.
c Of his garmẽt, or of his throne.
d They were Angels, so called, because they were of a fierie colour, to signifie ỹ they burnt in the loue of God, or were light as fire to execute his will.
e Signifying, that they were not able to endure the brightnesse of Gods glorie.
f Whereby was declared that man was not able to see the brightnes of God in them.
g Which thing declareth the prompt obedience of the Angels to execute Gods commandement.
h This oft repetition signifieth, that the holy Angels cannot satisfie thẽselues in praising God, to teach vs that in all our liues we should giue our selues to the continuall praise of God.
i His glory doth not only appeare in the heauens, but through all the worlde, and therefore all creatures are bound to praise him.
k Which things were to cõfirme the Prophet, that it was not the voice of man & by the smoke was signified the blindnesse that should come vpon the Iewes.
l He speaketh this for two causes: the one, because he that was a mortall creature, and therefore had more neede to glorifie God thẽ the Angels, did it not: & the other, because the more neere that man approcheth to God, the more doeth hee knowe his owne sinne, and corruption.
m Of the burnt offrings, where the fire neuer went out.
n This declareth ỹ man cannot render true obedience to God, till he haue purged vs.
o Whereby is declared that for the malice of man God will not immediatly take away his word, but he will cause it to be preached to their condemnation, when as they wil not learne therby to obey his wil, & be saued: hereby he exhorteth the ministers to doe their duetie, & answereth to the wicked murmurers, that through their owne malice their heart is hardened, Mat. 13. 14. Act. 28. 26. rom. 11. 8.
p As he was moued with the zeale of Gods glory, so was hee touched with a charitable affection towarde the people.
q Meaning, the tenth part: or as some write, it was reueiled to Isaiah for the confirmation of his prophecie, that ten Kinges shoulde come before their captiuitie, as were frõ Vzziah to Zedekiah.
r For the fewnesse they shall seeme to be eaten vp: yet they shall after florish as a tree, which in winter loseth his leaues, & seemeth to be dead, yet in sommer is fresh, & greene.

CHAP. VII.

1 Ierusalem besieged. 4 Isaiah comforteth the King. 14 Christ is promised.

2.King.16.5.

1 And in the dayes of [a] Ahaz, the sonne of Iotham, the sonne of Vzziah King of Iudah, Rezin [b] king of [c] Aram [d] came vp, and Pekah the sonne of Remaliah King of Israel, to Ierusalé to fight against it, but he could not ouercome it.

2 And it was tolde the house of [e] Dauid, saying, Aram is ioined with [f] Ephraim: therfore his heart was [g] moued, and the heart of his people, as the trees of the forest are moued by the winde.

3 ¶ Then sayd the Lord vnto Isaiah, Go forth now to meete Ahaz (thou & [h] Shear-iashub thy sonne) at the ende of the conduite of the vpper pools, in the path of the fullers fielde,

4 And say vnto him, Take heed, & be still: feare not, neither be faint hearted for [i] two tailes of these smoking [k] firebrands, for the furious wrath of Rezin and of Aram, and of Remaliahs sonne:

5 Because Aram hath taken wicked counsell against thee, and Ephraim, and Remaliahs sonne, saying,

6 Let vs go vp against Iudah, and let vs waken them vp, & make a breach there in for vs, and set a King in the middes thereof, euen the sonne of [l] Tabeal.

7 Thus sayeth the Lorde God, It shall not stand, neither shall it be.

8 For the head of Aram is Damascus, & the head of Damascus is Rezin: & within fiue and [m] threescore yeere, Ephraim shall be destroyed from being a people.

9 And the head of Ephraim is Samaria, and the head of Samaria is Remaliahs sonne. If ye beleeue not, surely ye shall not be established.

10 ¶ And the Lord spake againe vnto Ahaz, saying,

11 Aske [n] a signe for thee of the Lorde thy God: aske it, either in the depth, or in the height aboue.

12 But Ahaz said, I will not aske, neither will I [o] tempt the Lord.

13 Then he said, Heare you now, O house of Dauid, Is it a small thing for you to grieue [p] men, that ye will also grieue my God?

14 Therfore the Lord [q] himselfe will giue you a signe. Behold, the virgine shall conceiue and beare a sonne, and she shall call his name [r] Immanu-el.

15 [s] Butter and honie shall he eate, till he haue knowledge to refuse the euill, and to chuse the good.

16 For afore the [t] childe shal haue knowledge to eschewe the euill, & to chuse the good, the land, that thou abhorrest, shall be forsaken of both her kings.

17 The Lorde shall bring vpon thee, and vpon thy people, and vpon thy fathers house (the dayes that haue not come from the day that [u] Ephraim departed from Iudah) euen the King of [x] Assyrie.

18 And in that day shal the Lord hisse for the [y] flie that is at the vttermost part of the floods of Egypt, & for the bee which is in the land of Assyrie, 19 And they shall come and shall light all in the desolate valleis, and in the holes of the rockes, and vpon all thornie places, and vpon all bushie [z] places.

20 In that day shal the Lord shaue with a rasor that is hired, euen by them beyond the Riuer, by the King of Assyrie, the head and the heare of the [a] feete, and it shall consume the beard.

21 And in the same day shal a man [b] nourish a yong kowe, and two sheepe.

22 And for the [c] abundance of milke, that they shall giue, he shall eate butter: for butter and honie shall euery one eate, which is left within the land.

23 And at the same daye euery place, wherein shall bee a thousande vines, shall be at a thousande pieces of siluer: it shall be for the byers and for the thornes.

24 With arrowes and with [d] bowe shal one come thither: because all the land shalbe byers and thornes.

25 But on [e] all the mountaines, which shalbe digged with the mattocke, there shal not come thither the feare of byers and thornes: but they shall be for the sending out of bullockes and for the treading of sheepe.

[1] Or, Syria.

a To wit, the second time: for in the first battel Ahaz was ouercome.

b Meaning, the Kings house.

c That is, Israel, because that tribe was the greatest, Gen. 48.19.

d For feare.

e That is to say, The rest shall returne: which name Isaiah gaue his sonne, to signifie, that the rest of the people shoulde returne out of their captiuitie.

f Which haue but a litle smoke & shall quickly be quenched.

g Which was an Israelite, and as some eth, enemie to the house of Dauid.

h Comming from the fore and mentioned yere of the reigne of Vzziah, at what time Amos prophecied this thing, and nowe Isaiah confirmeth that the Israelites should be led into perpetuall captiuitie, which thing came to passe within twentie yere after that Isaiah did this message.

i For the confirmation of this thing, that thine enemies shall be destroied and thou preserued.

k Not to beleeue Gods word without a signe, is to tempt God: but to refuse a signe when God offreth it for the aide and helpe of our infirmity, is to rebell against him. l You thinke you haue to doe with men, when ye contemne Gods messengers: but it is God, against whome you bende your selues. m Forasmuch as thou art vnworthy, the Lord for his owne promes sake wil giue a signe, which shalbe, that Christ the Sauiour of his Church, and the effect of all signes and miracles shall be reueiled. [1] Or, God with vs, which name can agree to none, but to him, that is both God & man. n Meaning, that Christ is not onely God, but man also, because he shall be nourished as other men, vntill the age of discretion.

o Not meaning Christ, but any childe: for before a childe can come to the yeres of discretion, the Kings of Samaria and Syria shalbe destroyed.

p Since the time that the twelue Tribes rebelled vnder Roboam.

q In whome thou hast put thy trust.

r Meaning, the Egyptians: for by reason the countrey is hote and moist, it is full of flies, as Assyria is full of bees.

s Signifying, that no place shalbe free from them.

t That is, that which is from the belly downe ward: meaning, that he would destroy both great and small.

u He that before had a great nomber of cattell, shalbe constrained with one kowe and two sheepe.

x The nomber of men shalbe so small, that a fewe beastes shall be able to nourishe al abundantly.

y As they that go to seeke wilde beastes among the bushes.

z The mountaines contrary to their wont, shalbe tilled by such as shall flee to them for succour.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The captiuitie of Israel and Iudah by the Assyrians. 6 The infidelitie of the Iewes. 9 The destruction of the Assyrians. 14 Christ the stone of stumbling to the wicked. 19 The wordes of God must be inquired at.

1 Moreouer, the Lorde saide vnto me, Take thee a [a] great role, & write in it [b] with a mans penne, Make speede to the spoile: haste to the pray.

2 Then I tooke vnto me [c] faithfull witnesses to recorde, Vriah the Priest, and Zechariah the sonne of Ieberechiah.

3 After, I came vnto the [d] Prophetesse, which conceiued, & bare a sonne. Then sayde the Lorde to mee, Call his name, a That thou mayest write in great letters to the intent it may be more easily read.

b Meaning, after the common fashion: because all men might read it.

c Because the thing was of great importance, hee tooke these two witnesses, which were of credite with the people, when hee set this vp vpon the doore of the Temple, albeit Vriah was a flattering hypocrite, 2.King.16.11.

d Meaning, to hys wife, and this was done in a vision.

[1] Ma-

a Or, Make speede to the spoile: haste to the praye.

b Before any childe be able to speake.

c That is, the armie of Assyria.

d Which was a fountaine at the foote of mount Zion, out of the which ran a smal riuer through the citie: meaning, that they of Iudah, distrusting their owne power, which was smal, desired such power and riches as they saw in Syria and Israel.

e That is, the Assyrians, which dwell beyond Euphrates.

f It shalbe ready to drowne them.

g He speaketh this to Messiah, or Christ, in whom the faithful were comforted, and who would not suffer his Church to be destroyed vtterly.

h To wit, ye that are enemies to the Church, as the Assyrians, Egyptians, Syrians &c.

i To encourage me that I should not shrinke for the infidelitie of this people, and so neglect mine office.

k Consent not ye that are godly, to the league & friendship that this people seeke with strangers and idolaters.

a Maher-shalal hash-baz.

4 For before ᵃ the childe shal haue knowledge to crie, My father, & my mother, ᵇ hee shall take away the riches of Damascus and the spoyle of Samaria, before the king of Assur.

5 ¶ And the Lorde spake yet againe vnto me, saying,

6 Because this people hath refused the waters of ᶜ Shiloah that runne softly, and reioyce with Rezin, and the sonne of Remaliah,

7 Nowe therefore beholde, the Lord bringeth vp vpon them the waters of ᵈ the riuer mighty and great, euen the king of Assur with all his glorie, and he shal come vp vpon all their riuers, and goe ouer all their bankes,

8 And shall breake into Iudah, and shall ouerflowe and passe through, and shall come vp to the ᵉ neck, and the stretching out of his winges shall fill the breadth of thy land, O ᵍ Immanu-el.

9 Gather together on heapes, O ʰ people, and ye shalbe broken in pieces, and hearken all ye of farre countreys: girde your selues, and you shalbe broken in pieces: girde your selues, and you shall be broken in pieces.

10 Take counsell together, yet it shall be brought to nought: pronounce a decree, yet shall it not stande: for God is with vs.

11 For the Lorde spake thus to me in taking ᵐ of mine hande, & taught me, that I shoulde not walke in the way of this people, saying,

12 Say ye not, ⁿ confederacie to all them, to whom this people saith a confederacie, neither feare you ᵒ their feare, nor be afraid of them.

13 ᵖ Sanctifie the Lorde of hostes, and let him be your feare, and let him be your dread.

14 And he shal be as a ᵠ sanctuarie: but as a stumbling stone, and as a rocke to fall vpon, to both the houses of Israel, and as a snare and as a net to the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

15 And many among them shal stumble, and shall fall, & shalbe broken and shall be snared, and shalbe taken.

16 ʳ Binde vp the testimonie: seale vp the Lawe among my disciples.

17 Therefore I will waite vpon the Lord that hath hid his face from the house of Iaakob, and I will looke for him.

18 Beholde, I and the ˢ children whome the Lorde hath giuen me, are as signes and as wonders in Israel, ᵗ by the Lord of hostes, which dwelleth in mount Zion.

19 And when they shal say vnto you, Enquire at them that haue a spirit of diuination, and at the southsayers, which whisper and murmure, ᵘ Should not a people enquire at their God? ˣ from the liuing to the dead?

20 To the ʸ Law, and to the testimonie, if they speake not according to this word: it is ᶻ because there is no ᵃ light in them.

21 Then he that is afflicted and famished, shall goe to and fro in ᵇ it: and when he shalbe hungry, he shall enen fret himselfe, ᶜ and curse his king and his gods, and shall looke vpward.

22 And when he shall looke to the earth, beholde trouble, & ᵈ darknesse, vexation and anguish, & he is driuen to darknesse.

b That is, will haste the prey.

c That is, the riuer of Iudah, where they shoulde haue had rest, if they had not thus grieuously offended God.

d That is, in Iudah, where they shoulde haue had rest, if they had not thus grieuously offended God.

e That is, the armie of Assyria.

f That is, the Assyrians, which dwell beyond Euphrates.

g That is, Assyrians, which dwell beyond Euphrates.

h That is, ye Assyrians, which dwell beyond Euphrates.

i It shalbe ready to drowne them.

k He speaketh this to Messiah, or Christ, in whom the faithful were comforted, and who would not suffer his Church to be destroyed vtterly.

l To wit, ye that are enemies to the Church, as the Assyrians, Egyptians, Syrians &c.

m To encourage me that I should not shrinke for the infidelitie of this people, and so neglect mine office.

n Consent not ye that are godly, to the league & friendship that this people seeke with strangers and idolaters.

o Meaning, that they should not feare ᵖ thing that they feared, which haue no hope in God.

p In putting your trust only in him, in calling vpon him in aduersitie, patiently looking for his helpe, and fearing to do any thing contrary to his will.

q He will defend you which are his elect, and reiect all the rest, which is ment of Christ, against whom the Iewes should stumble and fall, Luke 2 34. rom. 9 33 1. pet. 2. 7, 8.

r Though all forsake me, yet ye that are mine, keepe my word sure sealed in your heartes.

s Meaning, them that were willing to heare and obey the word of God, whome the worlde hated as though they were monsters and not worthy to liue.

t This was a consolation in their troubles, knowing that nothing could come vnto them, but by the will of the Lord.

u Answere the wicked thus, Should not Gods people seeke succour onely at him?

x That is, will they refuse to be taught of the Prophet, who is the mouth of God, and seeke helpe at ʸ dead, which is the illusion of Satan?

y Seeke remedy in the word of God where his wil is declared.

z They haue no knowledge, but are blinde leaders of ᵃ blinde.

a That is, in Iudah, where they should haue had rest, if they had not thus grieuously offended God.

b In whome afore they put their trust.

c They shal thinke that heauen & earth and all creatures are bent against them to trouble them.

CHAP. IX.

The vocation of the Gentiles. 6 A prophecie of Christ. 14 The destruction of the ten Tribes for their pride and contempt of God.

1 Yet ᵃ the darkenesse shall not be according to the affliction, ᵇ that it had when at the first hee touched lightly the land of Zebulun & the land of Naphtali, nor afterwarde when hee was more grieuous by the way of the sea beyonde Iorden in Galilie of ᶜ the Gentiles.

2 The people that ᵈ walked in darkenes, haue seene a great ᵉ light: they that dwelled in the lande of the shadowe of death, vpon them hath the ᶠ light shined.

3 Thou hast ᵍ multiplied the nation, and not increased their ioye: they haue reioyced before thee according to the ioye in haruest, & as men reioyce when they deuide a spoile.

4 For ʰ the yoke of their burthen, and the staffe of their shoulder, and the rodde of their oppressour hast thou broken as in the day of Midian.

5 Surely euery battell of the warriour is a He confirmeth the Church against all these great threatnings, promising to restore them to great glory in Messiah.

b Wherewith Israel was punished, first by Tiglath-pileser, which was a light scourge in respect of that which they suffred afterward by Shalmaneser who caried the Israelites away captiues.

c Where as the Iewes and Gentiles dwelt together by reason of those twentie cities, which Salomon gaue to Hiram.

d Which were captiue in Babylon: and the Prophet speaketh of that thing, which should come to passe threescore yeeres after, as though it were nowe done.

e Meaning, the comfort of their deliuerance.

f This captiuitie and deliuerance were figures of our captiuitie by sinne, and of our deliuerance by Christ through the preaching of the Gospel, Matth. 4. 15, 16.

g Their nomber was greater when they went into captiuitie, then when they returned, but their ioye was greater at their returne, Hag. 2. 10.

h Thou gauest them perfit ioye, by deliuering them and by destroying the tyrants that had kept them in cruel bondage, as thou didst deliuer them by Gidion from the Midianites, Iud. 7. 22.

1 He speaketh of the deliuerance of his Church, which he hath deliuered miraculously from his enemies, but specially by the comming of Christ, of whome he prophecieth in the next verse.

k The autor of eternitie, and by whome the Church and euery member thereof shalbe preserued for euer, and haue immortal life.

l His singular loue and care for his elect.

m This is an other prophecie against them of Samaria, which were mockers and contemners of Gods promises and menaces.

n We were but weake, when the enemie ouercame vs, but we will make our selues so strong, that we wil neither care for our enemies, nor feare Gods threatnings.

o Rezin king of Syria, who was in league with Israel, was slaine by the Assyrians, after whose death Aram, that is, the Syrians were against Israel, which on the other side were assailed by the Philistims.

p Wickednes as a bellowes kindleth the fire of Gods wrath, which cõsumeth all his obstinate enemies.

q Though there were no forren enemy, yet they shal destroy one another.

with noyse, and with tumbling of garments in blood: but this shall be with burning and deuouring of fire.

6 For vnto vs a Child is borne, and vnto vs a Sonne is giuen: and the gouernement is vpon his shoulder, and he shall call his name Wonderfull, Counseller, The mighty God, The euerlasting k Father, The prince of peace.

7 The increase of his gouernement and peace shall haue none ende: hee shall sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and vpon his kingdome, to order it, and to stablish it with iudgement and with iustice, from henceforth, euen for euer: l the zeale of the Lord of hostes will performe this.

8 ¶ The Lord hath sent a word into Iaakob, and it hath lighted vpon m Israel.

9 And all the people shall know, euen Ephraim, & the inhabitant of Samaria, that say in the pride and presumption of the heart,

10 The n bricks are fallen, but we will builde it with hewen stones: the wilde figge trees are cut downe, but we will change them into cedars.

11 Neuertheles the Lord wil raise vp the aduersaries of o Rezin against him, and ioyne his enemies together.

12 Aram before and the Philistims behinde, and they shal deuour Israel with open mouth: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hande is stretched out still.

13 For the people turneth not vnto him that smiteth them, neither do they seeke the Lord of hostes.

14 Therefore will the Lorde cut off from Israel head and taile, branche and rush in one day.

15 The auncient and the honorable man, hee is the head: and the prophet that teacheth lies, he is the taile.

16 For the leaders of the people cause them to erre: and they that are ledde by them, are deuoured.

17 Therefore shal the Lord haue no pleasure in their young men, neither will hee haue compassion of their fatherles and of their widowes: for euery one is an hypocrite and wicked, & euery mouth speaketh folly: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hande is stretched out still.

18 For wickednes p burneth as a fire: it deuoureth the briers and the thornes, & will kindle in the thicke places of the forest: and they shall mount vp like the lifting vp of smoke.

19 By the wrath of the Lord of hostes shal the land be darkened, & the people shall be as the meate of the fire: no man shall q spare his brother.

20 And he shal snatche at the right hand, and be hungry: & he shall eate on the left hand, & shall not be satisfied: euery one shal eate the r flesh of his owne arme.

21 Manasseh, Ephraim: and Ephraim Manasseh, and they both shalbe against Iudah: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hande is stretched out still.

r Their greedines shal be insatiable, so that one brother shal eat vp another, as though he should eat his owne flesh.

CHAP. X.

1 Of wicked lawmakers. 5 God will punish his people by the Assyrians, and after destroy them. 21 The remnant of Israel shalbe saued.

1 WO vnto them that decree wicked decrees, and a write grieuous things,

2 To keepe backe the poore from iudgement, & to take away the iudgement of the poore of my people, that widowes may bee their pray, and that they may spoyle the fatherles.

3 What wil ye do now in the day of visitation, and of destruction, which shall come from b farre? to whom will ye flee for helpe? and where will ye leaue your c gloy?

4 d Without me euery one shal fall among them that are bound, and they shall fall downe among the slaine: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

5 ¶ O e Asshur, the rod of my wrath: and the staffe in their handes is mine indignation.

6 I wil send f him to a dissembling nation, and I wil giue him a charge against the people of my wrath to take the spoile & to take the pray, and to tread them vnder feete like the mire in the streete.

7 But he thinketh not so, neither doth his heart esteeme it so: but he imagineth to destroy & to cut off not a fewe nations.

8 For he saith, Are not my princes all together kings?

9 Is not Calno as g Carchemish? Is not Hamath like Arpad? Is not Samaria as Damascus?

10 Like as mine hande hath founde the kingdomes of the idoles, seeing their idoles were aboue Ierusalem, and aboue Samaria:

11 Shal not I, as I haue done to Samaria, and to the idoles thereof, so doe to Ierusalem and to the idoles thereof?

12 ¶ But when the Lord hath accomplished h all his worke vpon mount Zion and Ierusalem, I will visite the fruit of the proud heart of the king of Asshur, and his glorious and proud lookes, 13 Because he said, By the power of mine owne hande haue I done it, and by my wisdome, because I am wise: therefore I haue removed the borders of the people, and haue spoyled their treasures, & haue pulled downe the inhabitants like a valiant man.

14 And mine hand hath founde as a nest the riches of the people, and as one gathereth egges that are left, so haue I gathered all the earth: and there was none to moue the wing or to open the mouth, or to whisper.

15 Shall

a Which write and pronounce a wicked sentence to oppresse the poore: meaning that the wicked magistrates, which were the chiefe cause of mischiefe, should be first punished.

b To wit, from Assyria.

c Your riches and autoritie, that they may be safe, and that ye may receiue them againe.

d Because they haue forsaken me, some shal go into captiuitie, & the rest shalbe slaine.

e God calleth for the Assyrians to be the executioners of his vengeance.

f That is, the Assyrians against the Iewes, which are but hypocrites: and in this sixt and seuenth verse is declared the difference of the worke of God and of the wicked in one very thing and acte: for Gods intention is to chastise them for their amendmẽt, and the Assyrians purpose is to destroy them to enriche themselues: thus in respect of Gods iustice, it is Gods worke, but in respect of their owne malice, it is the worke of the deuil.

g Seeing that I haue ouercome, aswell one citie as another, so that none could resist, shall Ierusalem be able to escape mine handes?

h When he hath sufficiently chastised his people (for he beginneth at his owne house) then will he burne the rods.

i Meaning, of Sancherib.

k Here we see ỹ no creature is able to doe any thing, but as God appointeth him, and ỹ they are al but his instruments to doe his worke, thogh the intentions be diuers, as verse. 6.

15 Shall the [k] axe boast it selfe against him that heweth therewith? or shal the sawe exalt it selfe against him that moueth it? as if the rodde should lift vp it selfe against him that taketh it vp, or the staffe shoulde exalt it selfe, as it were no wood.

16 Therefore shall the Lord God of hostes sende among his fat men, leannes, and vnder his glory hee shall kindle a burning, like the burning of fire.

l Meaning, that God is a light to comfort his people, and a fire to burne his enemies.

17 And the light of Israel shalbe as a [l] fire, and the Holie one thereof as a flame, and it shall burne, and deuoure [m] his thornes and his briers in one day:

m That is, the Assyrians.

18 And shall consume the glory of his forest, and of his fruitefull fieldes both soule [n] and flesh: and he shalbe as the [o] fainting of a standerd bearer.

n To wit, body & soule vtterly.

19 And the rest of the trees of his forest shalbe fewe, that a childe may tell them.

o When the battell is lost, & the standerd taken.

20 ¶ And at that day shall the remnant of Israel, and such as are escaped of the house of Iaakob, stap no more vpon him that smote them, but shall [p] stap vpon the Lorde, the holy one of Israel in trueth.

p This is ỹ ende of Gods plagues towards his, to bring them to him and to forsake all trust in others.

21 The remnant shall returne, euen the remnant of Iaakob vnto the mightie God.
